DATES FOR FARMERS SHORT COURSE ARE ANNOUNCED

A. & M. COLLEGE WILL BE HOST TO TEXAS FARMERS

Demonstrations Planned; All Farmers Eligible To Attend

The annual Farmers Short Course has been announced to be held during the last week in July at the A. and M. College at College Station, Texas. Plans are being perfected to bring out actual demonstrations every day with milk, meats, leather, syrup, apples, figs, pine poles, lumber, wool, hair, and many other things that will be of interest.

Any farmer who wants to perfect himself in the different arts can do so, states D. A. Adam, county agent, at these meetings will be held every afternoon, and a farmer can attend as many as he desires to. The sorghum seed has been planted, and the trap mills ordered. The grape juice presses, strainers, and filters are already on the ground. Tanning vats are being built and the hides will be ready for the first afternoon.

This will be the best short course ever held, and farmers interested should now make arrangements to attend.

RAIN NEWS AS OBSERVED FROM THE WINDOWS OF THE LAMB COUNTY LEADER—

When rain commented falling Wednesday afternoon Joe Replin put a raincoat on display out in front of his store.

Seeing as how we shiver when a black cat runs in front of the car, and also that we don't walk under ladders, we wouldn't have hung out that raincoat for a whole heap of money.

But we guess Joe isn't bothered like we are about bad luck signs, because the rain continued to fall. We were worried about that rain coat and telephoned Joe for the best price that would buy it. He said that it would cost us $2.98, and not being able to convince the business manager that we needed that much to spend all at one time, we had to let the coat swing in the gentle breeze of that lovely velvety rain.

PRODUCE CHECKS ARE KEEPING THE WHEELS TURNING—

Produce checks, because numbers of them are issued every day in Littlefield and Lamb county, are given very little thought.

But we would think more about what they mean to this city and county if they should cease to be issued.

Few people realize just what the money from the sale of produce means to every one of us—farmer, workman, business man.

This county depends in very large measure on what are known as money crops and checks from the sale of produce.

The revenue from the money crops largely goes to pay obligations and make the larger purchases; the produce checks provide the farmer with the money for daily expenses, such as the buying of groceries.

Is it not reasonable to contend that the poultry and dairy industry of this county should be enlarged in order that more money would be

Of West Texas—For West Texas Anton's "West Texas Gypsies" Band Will Spread Good Will on Big Tour

Anton's "West Texas Gypsies" scored another triumph at the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, held at Big Spring, by being named the most outstanding band at the convention and the most wide-awake musical organization in Texas, and were again awarded the title of official band of the regional chamber for the ensuing year.

The Gypsies opened the convention with a bang early the first day of the convention and played their last number at the close of the convention

Saturday morning, having played almost continuously throughout the convention.

This colorful group held the center of the stage at all times and added much to the color and entertainment of the convention. West Texas should be, and is, very proud of this wonderful organization which is directed by Jimmie Thornhill, a native West Texan. The Gypsies are looking forward to the convention date next year; better look out, San Angelo. The Gypsies are well known throughout Texas and will be equally well known over the entire nation at the completion of a 60 day tour that will start early in June and on which they will visit the World's Fair in Chicago.

The Gypsies are making this tour to scatter good will for West Texas and will invite their audiences to come to West Texas for a visit and be royally entertained in true West Texas style. Their motto: "OF WEST TEXAS—FOR WEST TEXAS."

Bob Miller Struck By Lightning at His Home at Paint Rock

Bob Miller, former deputy sheriff of Lamb county, was struck by lightning Tuesday night at his home at Paint Rock. He was conscious only at intervals Wednesday.

The Littlefield Home Demonstration club met in regular session Thursday, May 18, in the home of Mrs. Mike Brewer, with eight members present and one visitor.

Following a short business session we had our lesson on "Making the Most of Sleep," Mesdames Perkins, Brewer, Dow and Roberts responding to their parts on the program. Every one enjoyed the discussion immensely.

At our last meeting we were pleased to have Grandmother Winding join us. She will soon be 88 years old, but regardless of age is anxious to learn the new and modern steps of home making.

All those interested in home making are welcome in our club, no matter how old or how young. If you do not wish to become a member, you are always welcome as a visitor.

It is desirous of the fair committee that each member be prepared to tell what they can concerning the fair this fall. It is very necessary that we get started early if we want to make a good exhibit.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Carl Lambert on June 1st.

County encampment will be the 8th and 9th of June, also the clothing contest on the same days. Every member is urged to make a dress. Let's all go and have a good time.

RAINS RECEIVED AT BEST TIME FOR THIS SECTION; LAMB AND ADJOINING COUNTIES GET RAINS EARLY SUNDAY

A slow drizzle Wednesday night, following a light rain of two or three hours in the afternoon, indicated that this section will likely receive additional valuable rains at this time.

Wednesday afternoon's rain was the second for this county within a few days.

Commencing about midnight Saturday Lamb and adjoining counties received rain of varying proportions, but sufficient to cause planting to become general Monday morning.

Littlefield received 1.65 inches, according to L. C. Cawthon, government weather observer.

Rains Come at Right Time

With a good bottom season in the ground, the rains coming at this time are now more valuable than if they had been received a month ago. Ideal planting conditions have been developed as a result of the rains. The ground is warm, causing rapid growth.

Rain, ranging from a heavy downpour to light showers, fell over a large section of the South Plains in the past few days.

Most sections of Lamb county, with the exception of Olton and Fieldton, received a good rain Saturday night and early Sunday. Olton was not in need of rain to the extent of the other sections of the county, having received previous rains.

Covers Large Area

The rain east of Littlefield was heavier than that received in Littlefield and immediately adjoining the city. There was a good rain west from Littlefield all the way to Pep.

Pep reported one and one-half inches of rain, with still heavier downpours at Bula and Enoch.

There were from two to three inches of rainfall at Pettit; one and one-half inches at Valley Gin and north of that place a lighter rain; one inch at Levelland; one-half inch at Whitharral and between that place and Anton; one inch at Anton and a heavier downfall north and east of that place; a light rain from one-half inch and greater extending from two or three miles north of Levelland to Lamb county line; a good rain on the Yellow House headquarters; one and one-quarter inches at Amherst; two inches at the Halsell ranch; a downpour at Center; a good rain as far north as 25 miles beyond Earth; a heavy rain at Sudan.

Some hail was reported at Amherst, Center and north of Earth.

The general rain extended east and west from Lubbock to Muleshoe.

Littlefield Fishing Party Returns Home

C. E. Cooper, Jim Davenport, Lon Campbell and Jim Etter returned Sunday night from a five-day fishing trip on the Devils river, northeast of Del Rio.

The party reported catching over 60 pounds of fish. The largest fish caught on the trip were two blue channel cats, weighing 25 and 18 pounds. The men returned to Littlefield with 40 pounds of cat fish.

Will Enforce Law Against Beer

County and precinct officers of Lamb county announced Wednesday that they will continue to enforce all liquor laws of the state. They made particular reference to the transporting and sale of 3.2 beer.

The first raid in Littlefield in which 3.2 beer was seized was last Thursday night. Officers obtained a quantity of the new beer and a large number of empty bottles. A young man was placed in jail.

The raid was made by Sheriff Len Irvin, Constable Sam Hutson and City Marshall Ab Anderson.

New County Seat Removal Law Passed

According to limited information received here a bill has been passed at Austin, providing that a county seat election may not be held in counties in which there is indebtedness on the court house.

Senator Arthur P. Duggan obtained passage in the Senate of an amendment, exempting Lamb county from provisions of the law, according to information received by Dr. Ira E. Woods, president of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce. But it is not expected locally that a similar exemption will be approved by the House.

Amherst and Olton are reported to have actively opposed Mr. Duggan's amendment.

Horse Race Betting Legalized in Texas

Legalized boxing in Texas, barred from the state since 1895, when Governor Charles A. Culberson called a special session of the legislature to enact a law to prevent a championship bout at Dallas, was approved Tuesday by the Texas house of representatives.

Senate action on the bill was needed to send it to the governor.

A bill legalizing the placing of bets on horse races has been passed by both houses and has been signed by Governor Ferguson.

No Cause For Worry

Helping Bring Back Prosperity

THE CONSTITUTION STILL STANDS

We know some good people who have been very greatly worried over what seems to them the usurpation of the powers of Congress by the President of the United States. They are alarmed over the extent of the power to manage the Nation's affairs which has been delegated to the President at his request.

It seems to us that Mr. Roosevelt stated the case very plainly in his recent radio talk. He said: "The functions of Congress is to decide what has to be done and to select the appropriate agency to carry out its will. That policy it has strictly adhered to. The only thing that has been happening has been to designate the President of the United States as the agency to carry out certain of the purposes of Congress. This was Constitutional, and is Constitutional and is in keeping with the American tradition."

What frightens some people is the fear that President Roosevelt may use the broad powers given to him unwisely. Others are worried because the system of letting the President be the Executive in fact has been more or less abandoned in the past fifty years. Congress has gradually assumed executive functions, insisting upon dotting the i's and crossing the t's of every law so that the President not only had to do precisely what Congress told him to do, but to do it in a precise, prescribed way, whether that way proved to be effective or not. No business organization in the world could make a success if its head had to hire and fire, buy and sell, according to fixed rules which might have been workable when they were laid down but which needed to be changed from day to day.

As to the wisdom of President Roosevelt, we have the opinion that he is the ablest executive that has been in the White House for a long time. By that we mean that he has his ear closer to the ground than most of his predecessors. He is keenly alive to what the people of the Nation are doing and saying and thinking. He is not, we believe, likely to do anything which will not receive the support of most of the voters of America. He may send up "trial balloons" by letting the report get out that he is contemplating this, that or the other course of action, but if a strong public sentiment is arrayed against the proposal he will be the first to abandon the idea. In fact, Mr. Roosevelt has already done just that in one or two instances.

So we aren't worrying any about the Constitution being violated. It is a pretty flexible document, after all. And no Constitution ought to be allowed to stand in the way of anything for the common welfare upon which there is general agreement.

FLOWERS FOR THE PROGRESSIVE

The article concerning Congressman Marvin Jones, which we are reprinting from the Wichita (Kansas) Beacon, was published several weeks ago by that newspaper. But, nevertheless, many will be interested in learning what the folks up Kansas way think about Congressman Jones.

Here's what the Kansas newspaper said:

"Behind the scenes of the political show in Washington there is usually an unsung hero. In the case of the consolidation of federal loaning agencies, and in the undertaking to refinance from mortgage indebtedness, the hero is Representative Marvin Jones, of Amarillo, Texas, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture."

"Chairman Jones' bill to take care of both these financial functions was introduced during the last session of Congress and according to the result of a thorough search of the records, his measure was the first to suggest the consolidation that has resulted in the abolishment of the federal farm board and the reorganization of farm loaning agencies."

AID TO MORGENTHAU

"He has been working with Chairman Henry Morgenthau, Jr., for several weeks, perfecting the plan, and his suggestions have been carried out to a large degree."

"It has been Chairman Jones' contention that if farmers were freed of the restrictive burden of short term credits, and excessive interest charges, a great part of his battle would be won."

"He believes that the heavy mortgage indebtedness of the farmer retards his endeavors. He does not feel that the farmers' credit should flow to him freely and without the application of sound protection for the government."

BELIEVES IN "FREE FARMERS"

"Mr. Jones is one of those who believe in the doctrine of the "free farmer." He contends that debts bind debtors, and that it naturally follows that farmers relieved of the threat of foreclosure and the overpowering load of debt, would be free farmers entitled to the pursuit of happiness."

"Mr. Jones says: 'If it were possible for every farmer in America to be free from debt so that he could plant his crops in proper season and grow them in independence, he would advance toward prosperity. If there could be linked with his freedom from debts the removal of the discrimination against him through trade barriers and excessive freight rates, he would have a chance for success on the same dead level with the other fellow, and a large portion of his problems would be solved.'"

"* * * * * Mr. Jones enjoys a record in the House of never having been defeated on any bill which he has brought to the floor from his committee. He has the confidence of members of his committee and of the House, and they have habitually followed his suggestions on farm legislation."

Duggan Resolution Is Approved by Both House and Senate

That Senator Arthur P. Duggan, of this district, is right on the job in behalf of his constituents is evidenced in a resolution he introduced in the Senate and caused to be concurrently introduced in the House at the same time and which passed both departments of the Legislature without a dissenting vote.

The resolution was based on a series of resolutions recently passed by the South Plains Good Roads association at its meeting held in Lubbock, April 28.

A copy of the resolution passed as introduced by Senator Duggan has been sent to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jesse Jones and to all members of the Texas delegation in Congress, according to a letter received Tuesday by the Journal from Mr. Duggan.

It is hoped that the activity of Texas along with 40 other states who are seeking an appropriation of $5,000,000,000 for highway improvements will be productive of favorable results in the near future.—Muleshoe Journal.

AWAKENED WOMAN

by ELINORE BARRY

Eleventh Installment SNYOPSIS

Synopsis: Joyce Ashton, poor stenographer, suffered loss of memory in a kidnapping taxicab accident in Chicago. One morning two years later she awoke, after a fall from her horse, memory restored, to find herself, Frills, the wife of Neil Packard, a California fruit packer. She determined to tell nobody of her predicament but set about learning what could of her life in the interval. From the conversation of her friends and letters in her desk she gathered she had been a heartless, pleasure-loving young woman. One letter troubled her was from a woman naming herself Sophie, blaming Frills for not giving a home to a baby she was caring for. Could it be a baby, Frills wondered! She also remembered herself involved in an affair with a man named Maitland. In San Francisco, where she went while her husband was away on business, she met Robert Ainsworth, a poet whose work she had always admired. When he returned home, she decided to be pleasant to Neil than Frills had been. But this line was dangerous, too, for Neil was pathetically anxious to win back Frills' love. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

At last they were all gone, and Packard, closing the front door, came back to the living room and began to put out the lights. He yawned widely. "Gee, I'm sleepy. Got to be up early tomorrow, too. Going to bed now, Frills?" he asked, pausing with his hand at the last light.

"Yes, I am," replied Joyce. She couldn't get the words out which she meant to say casually. Turning, she went upstairs, closely followed by Packard, who switched on the bed-

Suddenly the whistle stopped abruptly and she heard him ejaculate. "Damn! There goes the soap!" Then raising his voice he called, "Say, Frills, be a good kid and get me the soap, will you? I dropped it out and it skidded way over into the bedroom!"

Joyce was petrified by this simple request. She was so startled that she even failed to take refuge in what had been her salvation in other awkward movements, the conveniently temperamental disposition of Frills.

"Well, wait a minute, I'll . . . I'll get it," she returned, and holding her silk Coolie coat tightly about her she emerged from the closet, found the Presently she heard him rubbing himself vigorously and a few minutes later he appeared in the bedroom in blue pajamas and slippers, his hair sticking up in damp rumpled confusion. How funny a man looked without a collar, she thought, and the pajamas seemed so loose and baggy! Lowering her eyes she went past him into the bathroom. She shut the door after her and very quietly and carefully turned the little catch that locked it.

When she opened the door again she found the bedroom empty, but from the porch Packard implored her. "Say Frills, bring me a glass of water, like an angel, will you?"

Joyce wanted to retort crossly, but her naturally obliging disposition automatically asserted itself and getting the water she went to the sleeping porch which lay in the shadow. The moon made it light enough however, to see Packard's face vaguely.

He sat up in bed and took the glass which she handed him. As he did so she said hastily, "Good night! I'm . . . I'm going to sleep inside for a while." She turned away as she spoke, but she scarcely finished the sentence before Packard put down the glass and jumped out of bed. He stopped her at the door and drew her into his arms, not roughly but with a gently firm movement which she could not evade.

"Oh, say, sweetheart," he protested, "not my first night home, Frills? I've been so . . . so lonesome for you, dear."

Packard bent his head quickly and kissed her eagerly, not once but several times, then drew her closer still and kissed the hollow of her neck several times. "Oh, sweetheart, won't you love me a little?" he whispered, his cheek laid against hers. "Won't you love me? Somehow tonight you were so sweet, going out with me alone that way and I got to hoping you might—Oh, Frills, what can I do to make you come back to me?"

"Oh, let's not talk tonight," she exclaimed impatiently. "I'm dead tired, I tell you." To her relief he did not follow her, but she heard his deep sigh as she went on into the other room and shut the door, her knees trembling a little.

Once in bed with the door locked, she lay and thought over what had happened. This victory was hers, but she did not feel quite the satisfaction in it that she had felt in circumventing Maitland.

Waking the next morning at her usual hour of seven o'clock she heard Packard whistling as he dressed and she debated whether to get up and have breakfast with him or to let him go away without seeing her.

She got out of bed and listened. It was so quiet that she concluded Neil had gone downstairs. She had just taken a dress from a hanger and had come out to put it on in front of the long mirror when she was startled by Packard appearing. "Good morning, wife!" he exclaimed, "how's the world?" "Oh! . . . Good morning," she responded, hastily pulling the dress on and watching his apprehensively in the mirror as she fastened her collar and tie.

"Gee, this is great. Are you going to eat breakfast this morning?" he asked, leaning against the foot of the bed.

"We'll give Roxie a surprise, eating breakfast together," she remarked, as they entered the dining room. "Good morning, Roxie, where's my blessed Dickie?"

"Out with Sam," responded Roxie. She too smiled, but there was a puzzled look about her face as she did so.

"Oh, then I'm going out to get him," exclaimed Joyce, "you start eating, I'll be right back," and she dashed out through the kitchen and called to Dickie, whom she saw lying with a bored expression outside the stable door.

"I wonder if he'd get too tired to go along with me if I go out to ride on Rosita. What do you think?" asked Joyce as she began her breakfast.

"Well, I wouldn't take him if you're going more than a short ride. I doubt if he's used to long runs."

"By the way, I heard that Mait had a new horse," remarked Packard toward the end of the meal. "What sort of a cayuse is it? Did he get it from MasBready?"

Joyce's heart thumped. Now was her chance, and she determined to take it. She spoke casually, though the knowledge that she was changing color disconcerted her slightly. "I'm sure I don't know," she replied, "I haven't seen Mait for nearly two weeks."

When she raised her eyes from her plate she encountered a look on Packard's face which filled her with sudden anger. It had always infuriated Joyce to realize that her word was doubted.

Suddenly her pleasure in the situation spoiled. A hurt feeling of resentment against him for ruining her happy mood seized her. She forgot the side of the affair and the things which Frills had done to make this reaction so natural.

She said nothing until they had left the table and were in the living room. Then suddenly she faced him and with flaming face said, "Look here, I want you to know that I wasn't lying just now when I said I hadn't seen Mait for two weeks."

Packard stared at her. He looked bewildered. An expression of eager hopefulness dawned in his face, but it was a cautious hope of one who had been hurt and disappointed too many times.

After fully five seconds' silence Packard said dully, "God knows I want to believe you, Frills, but after that New Year's thing . . ." He hesitated as if he were referring to some painful incident he could scarcely bear to mention.

Joyce was quivering all over. It seemed to her that nothing was more important than to make him believe her. She groped desperately for the right words to convince him. "But I'm telling the truth," she insisted, "you can ask Clarice . . . or ask Mait himself if you won't believe me."

Neil still looked as if he dared not believe and Joyce, exasperated at his obviously unconvinced manner, exclaimed, "Perhaps I was mistaken, perhaps you . . . you don't really care what I do—"

But at this Packard suddenly woke up. His face went white under the tan and taking a step forward he gripped her shoulders with his hands and said with an intensity of restrained force that frightened her, "By God, Frills, I won't stand for that! When have you ever cared what I thought? When have you ever done anything but give me the most careless sort of response? You've lied to me before. You know it and I know it. How can I help doubting you? I've done everything I could to try to try to make you happy. I've given you every bit of freedom and fun I could just so you might have a good time. I've protected you more than you knew against open scandal. I've stood so damn' much from you that I sometimes wonder what kind of a weak fool I am. But I can't help loving you in spite of it all. I've stood for all sorts of things—for your sake, and partly for my mother's. And when . . . when you've been a little nice to me, what has it ever meant? Some devilish scheme of yours to put something over on me. I don't know what your game is now, but even you can't tell me I don't really care what you do."

Joyce, listening fascinated to this explosion, recalled the words in "Jeery's" letter: . . . Just remember that a man like Neil won't stand pushing too far."

Says Her Husband Lost 16 Pounds In 4 Weeks

"I have never found a medicine that 'peps' you up like Kruschen Salts and better still, leaves you 'pepped up.' I take it two or three times a week—not to reduce but merely to feel good and clean. My husband took it to reduce, he lost 16 pounds in 4 weeks." Mrs. E. A. Ferris, Washington, D. C. (December 29, 1932.)

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drug store in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar.

3 RULES

big help to BOWELS

What a joy to have the bowels move like clockwork, every day! It's easy, you mind these simple rules of a famous old doctor:

1. Drink a big tumblerful of water before breakfast, and several times a day.
2. Get plenty of outdoor exercise without unduly fatiguing yourself.
3. Try for a bowel movement at exactly the same hour every day.

Everyone's bowels need help at times, but the thing to use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You'll get thorough cleaning-out, and it won't leave your insides weak and watery. This family doctor's prescription is just fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other helpful ingredients that couldn't hurt a child. But how it wakes up those lazy bowels! How good you feel with your system rid of all that poisonous waste matter.

cake of soap innocently lying on the blue carpet, picked it up, and entering the bathroom, hastily thrust it into Packard's wet outstretched hand. Then she turned hurriedly and left the room in a turmoil of emotions.

"I wish he'd hurry," she fumed, with a sigh of relief that that awkward moment was over, though her heart still thumped violently. "I'm tired. If that shower didn't have a glass door I'd go and take a bath now. I simply can't do it, though."

She sat down again and listened anxiously.

"Oh, sweetheart, won't you love me a little?" he whispered.

room light for her. "I sure have missed that sleeping porch. Seems as if I never had any real air in those hotel rooms," remarked Packard when they were in the bedroom. "Once you get used to sleeping out anything else seems stuffy."

This hardly seemed an appropriate time to announce that she had decided to sleep in the house hereafter and Joyce, in an agony of embarrassment and indecision wandered over to her dressing table where she sat down and lighted another cigarette.

If he would only go to his own rooms and let her alone! But Packard lingered taking off his tie and unbuttoning his shirt while he talked.

Neil was now taking off his shirt, and Joyce, catching sight in her mirror of the white top of his sleeveless underwear felt a wave of color burn her face and she sat rooted to the spot. To her great relief, however, he went off to finish his undressing elsewhere and she jumped up and hurried to the closet. Just as she had stripped her last garment and was reaching for a kimono she heard him again in the bathroom. She had left the door of the closet just a trifle ajar so that she could keep track of his movements and the bathroom door stood wide open.

"Shall I run a hot bath for you?" called Packard, "or are you going to take a shower?"

Joyce hastily called out, "No tub, thanks. I'll take a shower when you get through."

"You needn't wait. I'm not using the shower," he called back cheerfully. "I want a real soak after being on the train two nights!"

She sat huddled on a chair in the closet and listened tensely to the process of his bath. He splashed and whistled and to poor Joyce it seemed as if he would never finish.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

May 15, 1933

Time and again I am told—by my own organization and by others—that I penalize myself by quality.

Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.

But I know the difference.

I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives—he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen, comprises beauty of design, color and attractive accessories,—all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.

But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.

A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car—but two items we do not skimp are cost and conscience. A great many things could "get by"—the public would never know the difference. But we would know.

The new Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.

I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.

CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST
303 East 8th

In order that those who wish to attend the Baccalaureate service Sunday, we shall meet at 9:45 a. m. for our Bible classes, and get through with our regular worship by 10:45. Let's not forget that it is the Lord's Day, and it is His command that we put Him first.

7:45 p. m. Bible study at the church.

Monday 3:30 Ladies Bible class with Mrs. J. C. Hilman. We need you at every service.

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN

About two hundred and fifty Methodist sheep have strayed from the fold. When last seen they were browsing near the brink of a terrible precipice. Perchance they tumbled head long into oblivion. Do you know of their whereabouts? They are needed in the fold for now is the season of shearing—shearing of every known sin that will lead them astray.

Lost—what a terrible word! What if you knew a child of yours was lost or strayed or stolen? Would you not have every officer, every man in the whole country out searching for it? Many fathers and mothers in Littlefield have children who are lost—and yet they sit heedlessly by and seem not to care.

Won't you come to the Revival meeting and bring those lost children that they may find the way to a Savior. Just a few more services and the season of shearing will close. Come and help bring the lost to the fold of safety.

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Bible study met at the church Saturday afternoon at 2:30 with 15 present, finishing the book of Genesis. We will meet each Saturday at 2:30 at the church. We will take up the book of Exodus next meeting. We are glad to have all who will to come and meet with us.

We installed new officers last meeting. President, Mrs. Crow; vice-president, Mrs. Durman; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. James; reporter, Mrs. Mills; teacher Mrs. Hunter; song leader, Mrs. Crow; pianist, Mrs. Durman.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday, May 24

May we be in our places for Sunday school promptly at nine forty-five as we will dismiss early to give plenty of time to get to the service in the high school building on time. We will not have preaching in this church at either the morning or the evening hour, but will attend the revival in the Methodist church in the evening. However it is very necessary that we have the B. T. S. Sunday evening, and work out plans for the B. T. S. Revival to be held June 24 to 26. Miss Grace Conn of the State B. T. S. Department will be with us and lead in the Revival.

With the closing of school comes greater responsibilities for many of us on account of quite a number planning to be away for the greater part of the summer. It will be necessary for us to carry their part of the load until they return. Let's shoulder it and keep the Lord's work going forward though the load will be some heavier that what we are all here to help. Invite the visitor and stranger to worship with us. Bring your company. Let the summer visitors to our town know that we appreciate our church. Give them a chance to enjoy the hearty welcome this church offers to every one.

Side Quit Hurting, Got Stronger, Well; CARDUI Helped Her

Mrs. R. L. West, of Huntsville, Ala., writes: "I was weak and run-down. I had a pain in my side, and I kept losing weight. I grew nervous over my condition—this was unusual for me, for I am very cheerful when I am well and don't easily get nervous. I knew I ought to take something. My aunt told me I ought to try Cardui, which I did. I began to feel better. I kept it up until I had taken three or four bottles. My side quit hurting and I was soon feeling strong and well." Cardui is sold at drug stores here.

GABLE WEARS FIRST UNIFORM IN "WHITE SISTER" TO BE SHOWN AT PALACE

For the first time since he worked as a "super," carrying a spear on the stage in a play with Jane Cowl, Clark Gable wears a uniform as part of his military outfit in "The White Sister," in which he is co-starred with Helen Hayes. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer wardrobe department assigned Gable the full regalia of an Italian officer with high neck, cape and regulation boots and spurs. The new talking-picture version of F. Marion Crawford's classic romance will be shown Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday at the Palace Theatre.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF TEXAS

S. J. R. No. 3.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article IX of the Constitution of Texas be amended by adding thereto a section to be Section 3, which shall provide:
"Section 3. (1) Holding the belief that the highest degree of local self government which is consistent with the efficient conduct of those affairs by necessity lodged in the Nation and the State will prove most responsive to the will of the people, and result to reward their diligence and intelligence by greater economy and efficiency in their local government affairs, it hereby is ordained:
"(2) Any county having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more according to the then last Federal Census may adopt a County Home Rule Charter, to embrace those powers appropriate hereto, within the specific limitations hereinafter provided. It further is provided that the Legislature, by a favoring vote of two-thirds of the total membership of both the Senate and the House of Representatives, may authorize any county, having a population less than that above specified, to proceed hereunder for the adoption of a Charter; however, as a condition for such authorization, it is required that notice of the intent to seek Legislative authority hereunder must be published in one or more newspapers, to give general circulation in the county affected, not less than once per week for four (4) consecutive weeks, and the first of such publications shall appear not less than thirty (30) days next prior to the time an Act making proposal hereunder may be introduced in the Legislature. No County Home Rule Charter may be adopted by any county save upon a favoring vote of the resident qualified electors of the affected county. In elections submitting to the voters a proposal to adopt a Charter (unless otherwise provided by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of each House of the Legislature) the votes cast by the qualified electors residing within the limits of all the incorporated cities and towns of the county shall be separately kept but collectively counted and the votes of the qualified electors of the county who do not reside within the limits of any incorporated city or town likewise shall be separately kept and separately counted, and unless there be a favoring majority of the votes cast within and a favoring majority of the votes cast without such collective cities and towns, the Charter shall not be adopted. It is expressly forbidden that any such Charter may inconsistently affect the operation of the General Laws of the State relating to the judicial, tax, fiscal, educational, police, highway and health systems, or any other department of the State's superior government. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to authorize the adoption of a Charter provision inimical to or inconsistent with the sovereignty and established public policies of this State, and no provision having such vice shall have validity as against the State. No Charter provision may operate to impair the exemption of homesteads as established by this Constitution and the Statutes relating thereto."
"(3) a. A Charter hereunder may provide: the continuance of a County Commissioners' Court, as now constituted, to serve as the governing body of a county to operate hereunder; or, may provide for a governing body otherwise constituted, which shall be elective and service therein shall be upon such qualifications, for such terms, under such plan of representation, and upon such conditions of tenure and compensation as may be fixed by any such Charter. The terms for service in such governing body may exceed two (2) years, but shall not exceed six (6) years. In any event, in addition to the powers and duties provided by any such Charter, such governing body shall exercise all powers, and discharge all duties which, in the absence of the provisions hereof, would devolve by law on County Commissioners and County Commissioners' Courts. Further, any such Charter may provide for the organization, reorganization, establishment and administration of the government of the county, including the control and regulation of the performance of and the compensation for all duties required in the conduct of the county affairs, subject to the limitations herein provided.
"b. A Charter hereunder may provide that Judges of County Courts (including that County Court designated in this Constitution), and Justices of the Peace be compensated upon a salary basis in lieu of fees. The jurisdiction of the County Court designated in this Constitution, and the duties of the Judges thereof, may be confined to that general jurisdiction of a probate Court which elsewhere is defined in this Constitution. The office of Justice of the Peace may be made either elective or appointive. Other than as herein provided, no such Charter shall provide for altering the jurisdiction or procedure of any Court. The duties of District Attorney and/or County Attorney may be confined to representing the State in civil cases to which the State is a party and to enforcement of the State's Penal Code, and the compensation of said attorneys may be fixed on a salary basis in lieu of fees."
"c. Save as hereinabove and hereinafter otherwise provided, such Charters, within the limits expressed therein, may invest the governing body to be established for any county electing to operate hereunder with the power to create, consolidate or abolish any office or department, whether created by other provisions of the Constitutions or by statute, define the duties hereof, fix the compensation for service therein, make the same elective or appointive and prescribe the time, qualifications and conditions for tenure in any such office; save, that no such Charter other than as hereinbefore authorized, shall provide to regulate the status, service, duties or compensation of members of the Legislature, Judges of the Courts, District Attorneys, County Attorneys, or any office whatever by the law of the State required to be filled by an election embracing more than one county. Excepting herefrom nominations, elections or appointments to offices, the terms whereof may not have expired prior to the adoption of this Amendment to the Constitution, at such time as a Charter provision adopted hereunder may be in effect (save as to those offices which must continue to be elective, as herein elsewhere specified), all terms of county officers and all contracts for the giving of service by deputies under such officers, may be subject to termination by the administrative body of the county, under an adopted Charter so providing, and there shall be no liability by reason thereof.

"d. Any county electing to operate hereunder shall have the power, by Charter provision, to levy, assess and collect taxes, and to fix the maximum rate for ad valorem taxes to be levied for specific purposes, in accordance with the Constitution and laws of this State, provided, however, that the limit of the aggregate taxes which may be levied, assessed and collected hereunder shall not exceed the limit or total fixed, or hereafter to be fixed, by this Constitution to control counties, and the annual assessment upon property, both real, personal and mixed, shall be a first superior and prior lien thereon.
"e. In addition to the powers here provided, and in addition to powers included in County Home Rule Charters, any county may, by a majority vote of the qualified electors of said county, amend its Charter to include other powers, functions, duties and rights which now or hereafter may be provided by this Constitution and the statutes of the State for counties."
"(4) Any county operating hereunder shall have the power to borrow money for all purposes lawful under its Charter, to include the refunding of a lawful debt, in a manner conforming to the General Laws of the State, and may issue therefor its obligations. Such obligations, other than those to refund a lawful debt, shall not be valid unless authorized by a majority of all votes cast by those resident qualified voters of the area affected by the taxes required to retire such obligations, who may vote thereon. In case of county obligations, maturing after a period of five (5) years, the same shall be issued to mature serially, fixing the first maturity of principal at a time not to exceed two (2) years next after the date of the issuance of such obligations. Such obligations may pledge the full faith and credit of the county; but in no event shall the aggregate obligations so issued, in principal amount outstanding at any one time, exceed the then existing Constitutional limits for such obligations and such indebtedness and its supporting tax shall constitute a first and superior lien upon the property taxable in such county. No obligation issued hereunder shall be valid unless prior to the time of the issuance thereof there be levied a tax sufficient to retire the same as it matures, which tax shall not exceed the then existing Constitutional limits.
"(5) Such Charter may authorize the governing body of a county operating hereunder to prescribe the schedule of fees to be charged by the officers of the county for specified service, to be in lieu of the schedule for such fees prescribed by the General Laws of the State; and, to appropriate such fees to such funds as the Charter may prescribe; provided, however, no fee for a specified service shall exceed in amount the fee fixed by General Law for that same service. Such Charters as to all judicial officers, other than District Judges, may prescribe the qualifications for services, provided the standards therefor be not lower than those fixed by the General Laws of the State.
"(6) a. Subject to the express limitations upon the exercise of the powers by this subdivision to be authorized, such Charters may provide (or omit to provide) that the governmental and/or proprietary functions of any city, town, district or other defined political subdivision (which is a governmental agency and embraced within the boundaries of the county) be transferred, either as to some or all of the functions thereof, and yielded to the control of the administrative body of the county. No such transfer or yielding of functions may be effected, unless the proposal is submitted to a vote of the people, and, unless otherwise provided by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of each House of the Legislature, such a proposal shall be submitted as a separate issue, and the vote within and without any such city, town, district, or other defined governmental entity, shall be separately cast and counted, and unless two-thirds of the qualified votes cast within the yielding defined governmental entity, and a majority of the qualified votes cast in the remainder of the county, favor the proposed merger, it shall not be effected. In case of the mergers hereby authorized therefor, in so far as may be required to make effective the object of the proposed merger, the county shall succeed to all the appropriate lawful powers, duties, rights, procedures, restrictions and limitations which prior to the merger were reposed in, or imposed upon, the yielding governmental agency. Particularly, it is provided that the power to create funded indebtedness and to levy taxes in support thereof may be exercised only by such procedures, and within such limits, as now are, or hereafter may be, provided by law to control such appropriate other governmental agencies were they to be independently administered. Such mergers may be effected under proposed contracts between the county and any such yielding governmental agency, to be approved at an election as hereinbefore provided for. In order to increase governmental efficiency and effect economy the county may contract with the principal city of the county to perform one or more of its functions, provided such contracts shall not be valid for more than two (2) years.

"b. In cases of the partial or complete merger of the government of a city operating under a Home Rule Charter, with the government of a county operating hereunder, those city Charter provisions affected thereby shall cease to control, and the county Charter provisions shall control.
"c. When any embraced incorporated city or town elects to merge its governmental functions with those of the county under the provisions hereof, such Charter may provide for defining or redefining the boundaries of such cities and towns, provided, however, that in defining or redefining the boundaries of such cities and towns, such boundaries may be extended only to include those areas contiguous to such cities as are urban in character; and as to such cities or towns and for the benefit thereof of the county, in addition to the primary city and county tax herein authorized and any other lawful district tax, may levy and collect taxes upon the property taxable within such city or town as defined or redefined, within the limits authorized by Sections 4 and 5 of Article XI of this Constitution, (or any Amendment thereof) for incorporated cities according to the population, provided that no tax greater than that existing at the time of such merger or for any added purpose shall be imposed upon any such city or town unless authorized by a majority of all votes cast by the resident qualified voters of such city or town.
"d. Areas urban in character though not incorporated, under appropriate Charter provision may be defined as such by the governing body of the county, provided, however, that no portion of the county shall be defined as an urban area unless it has sufficient population to entitle it to incorporate under the then existing laws of the State; and no such urban area, when created, shall be vested with any taxing or bonding power which it would not possess if it were operating as a separate incorporated unit under the then existing Constitutional and Statutory provisions of this State; and provided further that the governing body of the county for the government of such areas shall have and exercise all powers and authority granted by law to the governing bodies of similar areas when separately incorporated as a city or town, and such areas shall be subject to additional taxation within the same Constitutional limits as control taxation for a city or a town of like population. Likewise such Charter may provide for the governing board of the county subject to existing Constitutional and statutory provisions to define, create and administer districts, and have and exercise the powers and authority granted by the Constitution and laws relative to the same.
"(7) No provision of this Constitution inconsistent with the provisions of this Section 3, of Article IX, shall be held to control the provisions of a Charter adopted hereunder, and conforming herewith. Charters adopted hereunder shall make appropriate provision for the abandonment, revocation, and amendment thereof, subject only to the requirements that there must be a favoring majority of the vote cast upon such a proposal, by the qualified resident electors of the county; and, no Charter may forbid amendments thereof for a time greater than two (2) years. The provisions hereof shall be self-executing, subject only to the duty of the Legislature to pass all laws (consistent herewith) which may be necessary to carry out the intent and purpose hereof. Further, the Legislature shall prescribe a procedure for submitting to decision, by a majority vote of the electors voting thereon, proposed alternate and elective Charter provisions."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the fourth Saturday in August, 1933, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:
"For the Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of Texas, adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more, to effect more efficient and economical government within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties as may from time to time be authorized by vote of the people therein."
"Against the Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of Texas, adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more, to effect more efficient and economical government within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties as may from time to time be authorized by vote of the people therein."
Each voter shall scratch out one of the above listed clauses on such ballot, leaving unscratched that particular clause which expresses his vote on the proposed Amendment to which it relates.
Section 3. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation ordering an election in conformity herewith to determine whether or not the proposed Constitutional Amendment set forth herein shall be adopted, and the Governor shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

What are the business men in the cities going to do about enlarging the poultry and dairy industry? They can help in a big way.

THE DAIRY INDUSTRY—

We were much interested in reading an editorial which was published in the Portales Valley News under the caption, "Cream Pay Roll More Than $1,000 Day."

The editorial reads in part: "Did you realize that Portales has a pay roll of from $1,000 to $1,500 per day from cream alone?"

"Last Monday the cream checks issued here totaled around $1,700. With the showers of Sunday, the grass is improving and the cream flow will increase.

"Over $30,000 per month pay roll for Portales from cream means better business for the Portales merchants."

We Think— That a more systematic program should be worked out for the development of the dairy industry in Lamb county.

Briezel's team ran away and his leg was broken when he was thrown from the wagon during a snowstorm. Unable to crawl, he was in danger of freezing to death. He lighted a match and with the burnt end scribbled a note on a cigaret paper.

"Go straight home, fellow, and get the missus," he commanded after he had fastened the note to the dog's collar.

INDUSTRY—

Texas is nowhere near its potential strength industrially, yet manufactured articles figure increasingly in its export trade. Last year, rubber goods, textiles, refined copper, aircraft and oil machinery were important items in Texas' commerce.

To be a leader in exports and thereby attain permanent prosperity, this state must increase its manufactures.

It may seem strange to many readers of the Lamb County Leader that this newspaper repeatedly directs attention to the need for industrial growth in Littlefield and Lamb county.

Our answer is this: Is there anything under the shining sun to prevent Littlefield from becoming great industrially?

And, moreover, as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he.

Think about industries, work for industries, and we will grow industrially.

The law requires that when a Tonga youth reaches the age of 16 he shall receive eight and a quarter acres of land from the state. Eight acres of this he must plant as an insurance against starvation. The other quarter of an acre is a building plot in the village, and he has to put up a home on it. When a man dies, the land reverts to the crown and is allotted again.

SIDELIGHTS

—By— MARVIN JONES

Member of Congress from Texas

The emergency measure which has just been passed embodies the farm mortgage refinancing provisions as well as the currency program. It is frequently referred to as the most important and far-reaching legislation ever presented to the American Congress.

The Senate and House have now agreed on all of the provisions of the bill, and it has received executive approval.

Soon after the farm measure was sent to the Senate, I introduced the administration's farm mortgage bill and lead the fight for its adoption by the House of Representatives. It was adopted by an overwhelming vote.

Currency expansion measures were also pending in the House during this period and had been discussed by many members on the floor.

These measures were combined and the Thomas currency amendment added. The result of these various steps and combinations is one measure of tremendous importance to the farmer and to the nation in general.

In passing this combination, the Senate added 85 amendments. In order to iron out the differences in the measure as it passed the House and Senate, it was necessary for a joint conference committee to be selected to represent each body.

Because of the importance of this legislation, I felt greatly honored in being chosen to head the group of conferees from the House when the measure was thus taken up for final revision and adjustment by the two groups before its enactment into law.

The House and Senate both adopted the conference report, which was the last step before executive approval. It was my privilege to be present when it was approved, and the president presented me with a pen which he used in signing the measure.

The farm relief section of the composite bill is admittedly a new experiment, and it is intended to be used only in the present emergency. Under its provisions the Secretary of Agriculture is given broad powers to administer several plans in an effort to bring temporary relief to the farmer while a permanent program is being instituted.

The mortgage refinancing provisions have been discussed in the press reports. The necessity of farm refinancing was recognized by the President, with the result that such a measure has been approved by Congress. I believe that a controlled expansion of the currency will be a long step toward recovery, because it brings with it an increase in commodity prices and increased purchasing power.

The reflation, or expansion, amendment which has been added to the farm bill contains four major proposals, any or all of which may be used by the President for the purpose of increasing the commodity price level. The first relates to open-market operations by the Federal Reserve banks; the second provides for the issuance of Treasury notes within certain defined limits; the third relates to the acceptance of silver aggregating two hundred million dollars in payment of debts owed by foreign governments; and the fourth authorizes a change in the gold content of the dollar or the remonetization of silver.

With such a program as this in operation, accomplishing three important steps in the President's program of ultimate national recovery, I have every hope that the farmer will once more assume his proper place in our economic structure, and that America will be well on its way to better times.
