

Connie Hopping Favored As Miss America Winner

Connie Hopping won the contest for many of the least of her height—she is 5 feet, six inches tall as tall as Miss America. She won the national title from between five feet eight inches tall. Galveston figured the best chance with the crown in Miss America contest. The average is 19 and so is measurements comnie has a full schedule. She came home to "rest a while" and design a wardrobe to be presented as her talent in the national contest, but photographers, luncheons, and engagements with the Lubbock Jaycees, who sponsored her, have kept her busy.

Designs Three Gowns
Three designs came off the drawing board of the talented beauty last Saturday. And it won't take a home ec major long to convert the picture into the stylish reality—with all seams straight and gathers smooth.

When Connie gets on the plane for Atlantic City, she will be the well-pressed product of the combined energies of hair dressers, retail stylists, and modeling coaches in Dallas. She will also take with her more than $500 worth of wardrobe, accessories, and luggage from Schwartz Clothing Store and the Galveston Jaycees.

Chooses New Wardrobe
Selecting her new wardrobe, which the blonde beauty and her mother did before leaving Galveston last week, was, according to Connie, one of the biggest thrills of winning the title.

"I've never had so many clothes in my whole life," she said.

For an evening gown she chose a Peggy Hunt of California creation of white nylon net with iridescent sequined strapless bodice and a very full skirt.

Cocktail clothes included an Arthur Weiss of Chicago black faille suit with iridescent burgundy tafeta bow, and a cocktail dress of black with rhinestone trim. Over the sheath style dress is worn a three-quarter sleeve jacket. For headwear she chose a Ranleigh original model of black velvet with bead trim.

Travel clothes included a blue suit by Lo Balbo of New York made of imported flannel of cade blue with satin faille trim. Her coat is another Lo Balbo creation of imported grey tweed with red flake and lined with bright red flannel.

Two blouses ended the day's selection of clothes for the national contest.

Full Year Of Entertainment
During the next year, whether

Connie cops the national crown or not, she will meet the leading figures of the state as she appears at various functions and celebrations as the state's leading beauty queen. She is the only official queen because the Texas Jaycees have seized the right to select her each year.

Connie has been described as "a typical coed." Although beautiful and shapely, she is not the "glamor type." She is what you might call a "typical college girl"—whole-some, ambitious, and fun-loving. She thinks boys are "nice."

Wants To Be Designer
Her principal aim is to become a dress designer. She wants to travel for one semester after receiving her degree next semester from Texas Tech at Lubbock. It is also her ambition to attend a fur rendezvous in Alaska before matriculating at Columbia University for her master's degree in home economics.

Along with being a beauty, Connie is strictly the intellectual type who believes in higher education. But she is full of paradoxes like all women because putting her "brains" aside for a moment, she brought the Galveston beauty pageant audience to its feet the night of her coronation when she gave her rendition of a torch song.

Texas' hopes in the national contest are placed on a veteran. Connie began her career as a beauty contest winner at the ripe young age of 18 months in a baby show.

She was named Miss Smile of '51 at the University of Texas and one of the 25 most beautiful girls on the campus.

But win or lose in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City, Connie and her mother, Mrs. Jim McGuire, want to return to Galveston when they can just "be vacationers enjoying the island." Such an invitation was extended to them just before they came home by Jack Hamilton, president of the Greater Galveston Beach association.

A. R. Schwartz, Jaycee president, said that all of Texas is placing high hopes of Connie Hopping bringing the Miss America title home to the Lone Star State on September 6.

Arrested Pair Admit Theft Of Radios In Littlefield Section, Police Report

Eight farm homes in Lamb county were the scenes of one of the strangest kinds of burglary ever heard of in this area.

Two brothers, one the father of 10 children, the other the father of seven, are accused of trying to corner the burglary market in radios—with food as a sideline.

Hollis Homer Martin, 33, resident of eight miles north of Abernathy and his brother, Marvin Garlon Martin, 41, Littlefield, were charged with burglary in Littlefield, acting Lamb County Attorney Matt Brown said.

Among those homes entered where radios were stolen were the residences of James Feagley, L. B. Davis, Clyde Woods, and R. F. Enloe. Comer Hall's house was entered, but no radio was taken. The Hall's radio is a large, heavy model. The would-be thieves pushed it out from the wall, but abandoned removing it.

In the home of Jack Edwards burglars are alleged to have found a newly baked cake on the table. They are said to have taken it and a can of peaches for dessert. Eggs and other staples were missing from the residence of Balford Rochelle.

The two men were arrested near Abernathy Wednesday afternoon by Lubbock, Lamb, and Hale county sheriffs' officers. The pair, police report, admitted orally they had burglarized eight residences in the Littlefield section and one in Shallowater for a haul of eight or more radios.

Hollis was in the Lubbock county jail Wednesday night while Marvin was taken to Littlefield to recover radios.

Officers said the pair admitted burning one large console model radio near Littlefield. Several radios were recovered in a barn near Abernathy.

Collaborating on the captures were Deputy Sheriff T. C. Gilbert and Constable Fred V. Dillard, both of Littlefield, Deputy Sheriff Bill Daniels, Lubbock, and the Hale County officers.

Last Rites For C. B. Lemond

Funeral services for C. B. Lemond, 59, Whitharral resident, were held Friday, August 15 from the Southside Church of Christ in Whitharral. Bro. Carver officiated.

Interment under the direction of Hammons Funeral Home followed in Tech Memorial Cemetery near Lubbock beside the grave of his wife, Winnie Bell Lemond, 57, who died three weeks ago on July 29.

Mr. Lemond passed away Tuesday night at 11 o'clock in Littlefield Hospital as the result of a heart ailment.

Survivors include three sons, H. D. Lemond of Harling, L. W. Lemond and Glenn Dale of Brownsville; two daughters, Mrs. C. E. Mills, Route 2, Littlefield and Mrs. Earl Green of Lubbock; two sisters, Miss Lillie Lemond of Jacksboro and Mrs. J. W. Tanner of Portales, N.M.; three brothers, Claude Lemond of Durant, Okla., Clyde and Cecil Lemond of Salinas, California; and eleven grandchildren.

WHO'S WHICH CONFUSION GOES ON—Friends of the James B. Klare family of Corpus Christi are right back where they started—confused about which of the Klare twins, Barbara or Beverly they're talking to. They thought they had it solved recently when Barbara (right) or, left) fell and cut her chin, inasmuch as the three stitches it took to fix her up would leave a permanent scar. It didn't last long, though, because Beverly fell and cut her chin a few days later. Yep, three stitches and doctors say the scars—like everything else about the twins—will be identical. The girls will be three in December. —AP Photo

GET SMUGGLED OPIUM
SINGAPORE (AP)—Opium confiscated in Singapore is sent to the Crown agents for the colonies in London for sale to manufacturing pharmaceutical chemists. Last year 8,000 pounds of the drug was seized by Customs Department officers, the 1951 report of the Customs and Excise Department said. Despite continued activity against opium smugglers and keepers of opium-smoking saloons, the smoking of opium was still rife in the colony, the report said.

Earth Man Is Injured In Car Mishap Sunday

A 1952 pickup driven by Paul L. Martin, 33, of Route 2, Earth, turned over on its right side in a ditch 4 1/2 miles west of Earth at 3 a.m. last Sunday morning.

Because of a 2 1/2 inch rain that had fallen in the vicinity that night, water was running across the highway on which Martin was driving. When he applied his brakes, the car spun out of control, it is reported.

Martin was admitted to the South Plains Cooperative Hospital at approximately 5 a.m., suffering from a fractured left pelvic bone.

Ray Glascock, 35, of Earth, the other occupant of the vehicle, was brown clear and was uninjured.

City Commission Extends Fire Limits And Adopts Liberal Building Code

At Boys Ranch Rodeo

"Look out below," yells one of the young Boys' Ranchers as he leaves his temporary mount during practice for the big Eighth Annual Boys Ranch Rodeo. All the boys have been practicing for

New fire limits were set for the city by the City Commission at a meeting held last Wednesday at city hall.

Old fire limits were extended to include four more blocks on Phelps ave, LFD and XIT drives, and East Fourth street; two blocks on East Third, West Third, West Second, West First, and Wedel streets, and one block on West Fourth and Griggs streets.

All industrial property between the Clovis highway and the Sante Fe railroad is included in the extension.

The council voted to adopt the National Building Code of 1949 in its abbreviated form. This liberalizes building restrictions by permitting certain types of construction not permitted under the old code.

According to a resolution adopted at the meeting, members of the Littlefield Volunteer Fire Department will receive an additional 5,000 gallons of water free monthly. Firemen have previously been getting a total of 20,000 gallons free for personal use in exchange for their services. The monthly total is now 25,000 gallons.

Coaches Attend "Little Red School" At Fort Worth

Coaches go to school too—just like the boys that they lead to local and sometimes national fame on high school football fields every fall. Texas High School Coaches Association conducted classes this year at Ft. Worth, August 3-8.

Littlefield's coaching staff left Sunday, August 3 to claim their chairs in the "little red schoolhouse" for football coaches. J. Fikes, Senior High coach; Forest Martin, "B" football coach; Charles Hester, assistant coach; and Gene McCanlies, junior high school coach all attended.

In the morning session the group heard lectures concerning theory and fundamentals of the game. The afternoon was taken up in demonstrations of plays using high school boys from all over the state who had been picked to play in a game later in the week.

Climaxing the 5-day coaches school was the North-South game Friday night in Texas Christian University stadium. South Texas walked over the northern players 28 to 7.

When asked if he learned anything, Coach Fikes said, "Nothing that I want printed yet. That would be letting the cat out of the bag." He meant a Wildcat, of course.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Findley are the parents of a son, Linden Clark, born August 12 in a Lubbock hospital. The infant weighed 7 pounds, 7 ounces.

Cotton Farmers Urged To Use Weather Data For Efficiency

Listen frequently to radio broadcasts of probable weather conditions and use this information in planning application of insecticides or defoliants.

That's advice to cotton farmers from the National Cotton Council.

Advance knowledge of weather not only may help the cotton farmer avoid waste of materials but also may increase efficiency of insecticides or defoliant applications, the Council reported.

In cotton insect control, weather conditions may determine the farmer's choice between dust or spray insecticides. By becoming acquainted with weather terminology and utilizing this weather data accordingly, farmers can better judge the best time to apply insecticides.

In some cases insect infestation may warrant the farmer's taking a chance on poisoning despite the fact that rainfall may be indicated. Such a choice rests with the individual farmer, the Council stressed.

Some defoliants are activated by dew or moisture on the leaf. In several of the more arid areas, probable dew conditions are indicated in weather broadcasts, thus providing a guide for efficient defoliation.

In some cases, probable wind velocities are forecast, a factor of particular importance since winds affect efficiency of defoliants or insecticide coverage.

Control Of Any Disease Must Be Based On Facts

The control of any disease must be based upon facts and not theory, asserts Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The reason for this statement is based on the numerous theories sent the State Health Department for the cure or prevention of polio, diarrhea and dysentery.

The spread of polio, for instance, has been blamed on weeds, air, bananas, milk, atomic radiation and many other items. All of these are theories and have no basis of fact. Facts in disease are arrived at in the laboratory, the sick room and the environment of the patient. Facts are necessary and must be the guidepost for the control of disease.

Dr. Cox is authorized by law to accept gifts and contributions for public health. The first gift to aid in research on the part played by flies and cockroaches in the spread of polio is two monkeys from Bellaire. Others will be needed to complete the study.

Education work in dysentery and diarrhea—which kills far more children than polio—is being hampered by lack of personnel to do the work. Cox said Texas has six times more dysentery and diarrhea than the national average. There were 1099 infants under one year of age who died of this cause in 1951.

"When we get rid of these two filth borne diseases, we will have done the best thing in the world to get rid of polio," he asserted. "But it takes resources to do it."

Fund and equipment shortages have been a stumbling block to the whole research program in Texas, Dr. Cox said. Despite the fact that the State Bureau of Laboratories has consistently won top honors in national competition for accuracy in disease identification.

School Board Meets Monday

At their regular meeting Monday night, the School Board discussed several matters pertinent to the opening of school.

Athletic insurance policies will continue as they were last year. Hospitals will be notified that any injury not covered by the policy will be responsibility of the parents. All athletes will be given specimen policies to take home for their parents' signatures, stating that the school pays the policy that provides benefits that are covered in the policy.

Plans for teachers sick leave were discussed and adopted as they have been in use for the past several years.

Bread for the school lunchroom will be purchased from the following bakeries: Donald Duck, Meads, Baldrige, and Holsum.

The board reviewed a list of transfers from near-by schools: Fieldton, 23; Spade, 19; and Sudan, 25.

Bus tires needed for the coming year were approved as follows: 20 8-ply tires and 6 8-ply tubes will be purchased through the State Board unless a better price can be obtained.

Consideration was given to the heating problem at the Central and Primary schools. At present, both buildings are being heated from a boiler in the Primary school. The resulting heating conditions in both schools are unsatisfactory.

The board made public an offer to accept bids for necessary repairs on some barracks to put them into suitable condition for classroom use at the Dunbar school.

The Boston Bruins have participated in the Stanley Cup playoffs in 23 years of the 28 they've been a member of the national Hockey League.

Keep Linoleum Bright and Shiny

The linoleum on the kitchen floor is more likely to get too much cleaning than too little. This information comes from Minnie Bell, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

To keep linoleum bright and shiny, Miss Bell points out that a mop or soft brush is better than a broom. Oil mops should never be used because they leave an oily coating that catches dirt. Too, oil discolors linoleum. Alkaline soap and abrasive cleaning compounds tend to soften, scratch and roughen the surface of linoleum.

It is a good idea to remove surface spots immediately, especially grease. The specialist suggests to clean linoleum use a damp mop with a solution of warm water and mild soap. This removes dirt, grease and old wax. Then use clear water for rinsing.

After the linoleum is thoroughly dry, several thin coats of self-polishing, water emulsion wax should be used. Paste wax is less satisfactory because it is difficult to get an even coat on the linoleum and once on it is more difficult to remove when time comes to re-wax.

Manufacturers warn that plastic finishes, lacquers and varnish will dim or yellow the colors in linoleum. To insure the best care, Miss Bell says ask the dealer for printed instructions that manufacturers prepare for the care of their products.

From Fresh Produce Into Pints

It is a time and money saver to know approximately the amount of fresh vegetables or fruits it takes to package a pint for the food freezer, says Louise Mason, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

When the homemaker lines up her work, dependable information of this kind enables her to know how many containers she should have, how much syrup for fruit to make and how much freezer space the new food will need.

Miss Mason says the following table is based on research in the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics. There is bound to be some variation because yield depends partly on quality and maturity of the food, the way it is cut or trimmed and the style of pack.

For 1 pint of frozen foods, there is needed approximately:
Beans, corn (in husks) and peas, 2 to 2½ pounds; All greens, peaches and plums, 1 to 1½ pounds; Cantaloupes and pears, 1 to 1½ pounds; Broccoli, 1 pound; Beans, snap, 2/3 to 1 pound; and Sweet potatoes, 2/3 pound.

What to do with all those little things we've picked up on vacation... shells, driftwood, fossils and other rocks, coins, butterflies and that collection of postcards and stamps we've just begun?

Most times we clutter up the house with these new-found treasures until Dad and Mom put a bit of pressure on getting us to dispose of them. One morning we look at our prize collections fondly and put them in the junk heap. It needn't be that way at all.

You can do wonderful things with shells, for instance. Dress up your room by pasting them on the walls, follow out the salty decor by putting fish net (available in beautiful colors) at your windows. Dangle corks from the net. Make a large anchor of rope and paste it or attach it to a wall with transparent tape. Fish prints or photographs can add to the charm of your seashore room.

If you are a conchologist in earnest, then paste your little shells to black velvet, typewrite shell types under each and paste to a wall or insert in a pretty little box for all to admire.

Driftwood is fun used as decorations, dangling from the ceiling or made into lamps or placed on the back of your door with a recess holding philodendron, ivy or other trailing vines. A collection of driftwood in animal shapes can make an attractive hobby spot in any room.

An ordinary rock or fossil collection can make conversational pieces if they are properly identified and attractively displayed. Don't throw them in old coffee cans or jars and expect onlookers to be enthusiastic.

Postcards from places far or near may be pasted over an old deck and covered with a glass or placed symmetrically or fan-shaped on the wall around your mirror with tape. These shouldn't be thrown in a drawer to take up space until they are discarded.

Coins picked up while traveling in foreign lands make interesting necklaces or bracelets.

Butterfly collections make handsome accessories to a room. Insects as collections do not have as much appeal to girls as boys, says the American Hobby Federation. After a one-year national study of hobby clubs the federation has found that the top ten collective and creative hobbies are: seals and labels, autographs, model plane making, woodcraft, insect collecting, stamps, painting, dolls, photography, model railroading.

Stamp collecting is not as popular as formerly, they say, because weekly allowances have been cut, and kids are concentrating on other items. Seals and label hobbyists obtain them from household items such as food, cosmetics, clothing, confectionery, letters and packages. Other popular seals and labels include famous generals, presidents of the U.S.A., famous battles, photos of cities, mountains, monuments, parks, athletes.

Photography is a newcomer to the top ten hobby favorites of young people reports the federation with almost as many girls as boys fascinated by it.

Instead of taking photographs of giggling girls and reluctant boys, the camera hobbyist concentrates on trick shots or unusual scenery and sometimes manages to make the hobby pay off. Many photography prizes are taken by teenagers. A Jill or Johnny-on-the-spot lens enthusiast may be rewarded by snapping an important news picture for the local paper.

If you haven't a hobby, you are really missing something. You'll never be lonely or have time on your hands when you get interested in a hobby.

ANTON OFFERS $500 PREMIUM FOR FIRST BALE OF COTTON

The Lions Club of Anton will again sponsor the presentation of a premium for the first bale of cotton ginned in the community. The premium will be between $400 and $500. Merchants and ginners of the Anton trade territory are co-operating to make up this liberal premium.

Eligibility rules for the first bale have been planned this year to prevent any confusion about whose bale was ginned first. Any bale of legal weight ginned at any gin in the Anton trade territory will be eligible for the premium. Gins in the territory are the Bailey gins at Roundup, the Citizens Cooperative Gin south of Roundup, the Dial and Peters gin south of Anton, the Adams gin southwest of Anton, all gins in Anton, the Hopkins, Criswell, and Co-operative gins.

The cotton in the bale must be produced from the regular ginning area of the gins listed. A bale brought in from some other territory for the purpose of getting the premium will not be considered.

Make The Money For Uncle Sam

UNDER R. GEORGE Newsfeatures Writer ANTON—The tremendous demand for paper money, revenue stamps has the Bureau of Engraving one of the world's largest production plants. Each day the bureau prints 130 million items—notes, stamps, bonds and checks. While modern machinery and a force of 10,000 men make possible this production, the key work is done by a small group of artists. Specially-skilled engravers create the intricate designs. The tooling takes seven months of painstaking work.

A SEVEN-MONTHS' JOB—Matthew Fenton working on one of the steel-die engraving of a picture of Chief Justice Vinson.

engraver works with a steel die, aided by a glass. He cuts V-shaped lines in the soft metal. Occasionally he uses an emery in working out the design.

excepting war veterans, is from 16 to 21 years. Besides basic education and training requirements, applicants must demonstrate ability at free hand drawing.

Five Years In Training Bureau engravers serve five years of apprenticeship and are required to take three years of study at a recognized art school during that time. Generally they are not rated as full-fledged engraving artists until they have spent an additional five or six years at the work.

The salary of a letter-engraver is $8,100 a year. A picture-engraver receives from $8,100 to $10,000. Pay of an apprentice is on a six-month graduated scale basis. It ranges from starting pay of $1,940 a year to $5,153 at the end of the fifth year. At the beginning of the 11th year the salary goes up to $8,100.

When a new currency note or other engraved work is to be produced, a model is prepared by a design artist. It is based upon discussions with officials of the various government agencies interested in the product.

How Plate Is Made The model is then reproduced in soft steel by the engravers. This is known as a die. The die is heated in cyanide of potassium and then dipped in oil or brine to harden it.

Next the die is placed on the bed of a transfer press and under heavy pressure a cylinder of soft steel, called a roll, is rolled over the die. The soft steel of the roll is forced into the lines of the original engraving so that the lines stand out in relief on the roll.

The steel of the roll is hardened, and the design is transferred to soft steel plates again by rolling under heavy pressure. The steel plates with the cut-in impressions are hardened and cleaned and then are ready for the printer.

This printing by the engraved-plate method on a distinctive paper, with inks manufactured by the bureau, are the principal means of precaution against counterfeiting. The paper, composed of 50 per cent cotton and 50 per cent linen, contains small segments of red and blue fibers imbedded during the process of manufacture.

In the fiscal year 1951, the bureau produced a grand total of more than 47 billion items—currency notes, postage stamps, internal revenue stamps, war savings stamps, government checks and other documents. These documents had a total face value of $243 billion.

Internal revenue stamps issued numbered 22,505,000,000, postage stamps 21,793,000,000 and currency notes 2,189,000,000. The bureau used a total of 6,815 tons of paper and 2,400 tons of ink.

Cost of Production The cost of producing United States notes and silver certificates is approximately nine-tenths of a cent per note. The cost of producing the ordinary variety of postage stamps is 10½ cents per 1,000 stamps.

The bureau was started back in August 1862 when a force of two men and four women worked in a single room of the attic of the main Treasury Building. They separated, sealed and signed $1 and $2 notes which had been printed by private bank not companies.

Lt. and Mrs. Robinson To Take Over Command of Salvation Army Work Here

The Salvation Army headquarters in Littlefield will say "farewell" next week to Lt. and Mrs. R. E. Hall who have been in command at the hall since November 11, 1949. Lt. Hall and his wife are being transferred to Big Spring where they again take up Youth Center work as well as the other responsibilities of Salvation Army activities. Previous to coming to Littlefield, the couple had directed the Youth Center in Austin. Mrs. Hall said that she and her husband and their five-year-old daughter, Janet, had all enjoyed living in this community. She cited the friendliness of the people and their quick response to every appeal by the Army. "But," she smiled, "naturally we appreciate a promotion." Lt. and Mrs. John Robinson will assume their first command when they arrive in Littlefield on August 27. They have been assisting in the Lubbock Salvation Army work. The Robinsons have 4 children who will enter the Littlefield school this fall: Eugene, 14; Billy, 12; Roland, 10; and Elzena, 7.

Boys Ranch Schedule Two Day Rodeo

The young cowhands from America's First Boys' Ranch, coming out of the chutes on bucking broncos and bulls, will furnish all of the excitement of any professional affair at their Eighth Annual Boys' Ranch Rodeo over the Labor Day weekend.

Spectators will get a chance to see the results of months and sometimes years of practice on the part of the 152 boys at Boys' Ranch. Every boy at the Ranch will participate in at least one event of the show and there will be such added attractions as trick riding and roping and the clown acts. The boys have acquired skill associated with professionals and guarantee the audience plenty of spills and action.

Two performances of the rodeo are to be given over the weekend at the Tri-State Rodeo Arena in Amarillo. The first will be at 2:30, Sunday, August 31 and the second at 8:00, Monday, September 1.

It is expected that this year's show will be the biggest and most colorful the boys have ever staged with such celebrities as the world famous Bit and Spur Riding Club of Kansas City, Bud Lucas and his Rodeo Acrobats, and to furnish music for the rodeo are the stars of stage, screen, radio and television, the Whipoorwill and Georgia Brown, who appear with Roy Rogers on his programs and in the movies.

Not only will the boys be interested in putting on a good show, but they will be competing for prize money and for the honor of being named the best all around cowboy for the year, which is de-

"All my life I've wanted to own a Buick"

Power Steering on the Roadmaster and Super

It seems that owning a Buick is something that a lot of folks dream about—plan for—and finally do.

We say that because, so many times, they say so in words like those above.

Those words make us happy, of course—happy to know we sell a car which means so much to those who own it.

But they make us feel just a little bit sad as well—sad to realize all the years of fun such folks have been missing for no good reason at all.

For the fact is this: If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.

You can afford the thrill of bossing around that big Fireball 8 Engine that purrs forth a mighty flow of power.

You can afford the gas bills—as any owner of a 1952 Buick will tell you—because that high-compression, valve-in-head marvel gets a lot of miles from a gallon of fuel.

You can afford the extra luxury of a real million dollar ride—the silken smoothness of Dynaflo Drive*—the extra room and comfort and style that have put Buick popularity right up at the top of the list, next to the "low-priced three."

So if you want to own a Buick—there's just one thing to do: Come in—pick the one of your choice—and let us show you how close the figure that goes on the bill of sale comes to what you'd pay elsewhere.

As we've said before, your first car can be a Buick. Why not take the Big Step right away—today?

French Food At Home

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

You can stay right at home for the rest of the summer—and eat some wonderful French dishes. All you need is a copy of "Paris Cuisine," by James A. Beard and Alexander Watt (Little, Brown, $5.00).

When the authors met in France last summer, they discovered that they both wanted to write a guide book to Paris restaurants that would also be a cook book. Mr. Watt, an exacting taster, had already done some of the work of sifting the restaurants and wheeling recipes from their chefs. Mr. Beard—well-known as the author of several fine cook books—helped the good work along; he put his extraordinary knowledge of French and American cooking to work and tested the recipes in his New York kitchen.

The descriptions of the 60 restaurants included in the book tell, with charm and practicality, just what you would want to know should you be lucky enough to be in Paris to visit them. The restaurants were chosen from three classes. Some come from that intermediate type of restaurant that may be found anywhere in Paris—in a railroad station or behind a cafe. The second group includes fashionable establishments dedicated to the classic and expensive French cuisine. In the third group are the bistros—the little restaurants with their humble appearance and prices, that nevertheless offer food of superb quality.

When I asked Mr. Beard why French cooking occupies its place of eminence, he said that in his opinion it was because the great recipes of France are never tampered with. As one generation after another uses them, there may be an occasional variation on a theme, but the variation is always made with the greatest discretion. He added that all French food isn't elaborate; many of the finest dishes are simple. The international flavor of the French cuisine is another delight and as an example of it Mr. Beard cited the spaghetti and seafood dish (Spaghetti aux Fruits de Mer) from "Paris Cuisine." He suggested that if you want to use it as the main dish for a buffet supper, you might make your first course melon and thin slices of Prosciutto (an Italian type of ham), have a green salad and crusty bread with the spaghetti-seafood dish, and end with Chocolate Mousse and coffee. Here is the main-dish recipe from "Paris Cuisine." If you haven't the shallots called for, use a small onion instead; and the saffron may be omitted if it is not available.

SPAGHETTI AUX FRUITS DE MER

Ingredients: 1/4 cup olive oil, 3 small onions (finely chopped), 6 shallots (finely chopped), 1 1/2 pounds tomatoes (peeled and seeded and chopped), 2 tablespoons fresh or 1 teaspoon dried tarragon, salt, pepper, pinch of saffron, 1 pound shrimp (shelled and deveined) or 2 packages frozen shrimp, 1 pound lobster meat, 1/2 pound spaghetti.

Method: Heat the olive oil in a large skillet and in it saute the onions and shallots until they are just soft. Add the tomatoes, tarragon, salt, saffron and pepper to taste; simmer for about 1 1/4 hours. Add the shrimp and lobster and continue cooking slowly for 10 minutes. Cook the spaghetti in boiling salted water until just tender (al dente). Drain and steam for 2 minutes over hot water. Arrange the spaghetti on a hot platter and top with the sauce. Serves 4 persons.

Note: If you use live lobster split it and let it cook in the sauce for 10 minutes. Remove the meat and cut into small pieces. Return to the sauce. If you use the frozen meat, cut it into small pieces and add to the sauce just long enough to heat it through.

TAKES ADVICE

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—An old man with no previous convictions appeared in court on a charge of riding a bicycle against traffic regulations.

Asked if he had anything to say, he said, "I do not quite know what to say. Sir, what would you say if you were in my place?" he asked a lawyer nearby.

The magistrate smiled. "Tell me," he addressed the old man, "what would you say if you were in my place?"

In a flash came the answer: "Old man you are discharged." And he was.

Political Gals Need TV Glamour

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Whatever else the recent double spectacle at Chicago proved, it is that woman's place—wherever else it may be—isn't on the political rostrum.

The gentlemen might just as well face the cold, hard fact that women are sneaking onto the top rungs of the political ladder. The nomination of two women for the vice presidential candidacy was a token gesture, but the mere fact that two nominating speeches were made has considerable significance. But if the girls are going to be up there, it might be well for both party councils to sit down right now and get some ground rules established.

By nature, by instinct, by physical construction and by the pitch of their voices, women are not orators. The sight of a woman in front of a battery of microphones, making like a flower-battered William Jennings Bryan and feebly aping the traditionally masculine gestures of the spell-binding trade is an unpleasant combination of comedy, pathos, embarrassment and boredom.

Speaking as one who remained glued to a television set through two of the hottest weeks July could produce, it is my measured and quite serious opinion that the one woman who came off well and who spoke with communicable conviction was a female television performer hired by the sponsor of one network's convention, coverage to plug ovens, washing machines, refrigerators and related kitchen appliances.

It must be conceded immediately that a handful of determined women, crusading vigorously for feminine rights, are largely responsible for the political advancement of women in the past 30 or 40 years.

I believe, however, that women are victims of mistaken reasoning when they seek to imitate the platform manners of the boys, now that they've won the right to speak and be heard. They might have got away with it in the days before public address systems and—most important—before television. But the searching eye of the talking camera is in the process of forcing some speedy political evolution for the masculine performers. The bull-throated, silver-tongued orator was a product of the days when it was necessary for the human voice, unfortified by electronics, to travel to the farthest reaches of the political arena, and when listening to memorized eloquence was one of the few free forms of entertainment.

Today there's a premium on brevity, simple language and understatement. Unfortunately most speakers at the recent conventions haven't caught up yet with the trend. The ladies, however, better catch on or the cause of women in politics will be set back to its Bloomer-girl status.

Women are at their best when they look pretty, crisp, cool and self-contained. They sound best when their voices are calm, pleasant and low-pitched and accompanied by graceful—not forceful—gestures. Women, as a matter of fact, are at their best in informal surroundings and speaking to small groups.

There has been a bit of grumbling that political parties have had a tendency to use the services of women partisans in such chores of drudgery as raising funds and ringing doorbells on behalf of their beliefs and candidates. Perhaps women really are better adapted to such jobs. Actually, however, I think that if women will adapt their role in politics to fit their role in life, their influence in party councils can be as great as their numerical strength.

I know, though, that if I were an important lady politician whose job was to win friends and influence people on a wholesale basis, I'd take a leaf from the notebook of the young woman plugging kitchen appliances. I'd slim down, pretty up, and I'd sell my political opinion with the poise, simplicity and conviction she used in talking informally about iceboxes and electric fans.
