

FARMERS TAKE A HAND IN COTTON SITUATION

The South is sick!
Our illness, looking at the condition from a superficial standpoint, is too little money for the staple products we grow and offer for sale.
What kind of medicine or surgery will finally cure us—well, we don't know.
But there's one thing that is a fact—the farmers of the South mean to find out just where they stand now and where they are headed for.
There is ample evidence that the problems of the cotton and wheat farmers have not been solved.
Perhaps the farmer can solve them for himself, and a whole lot quicker than those who have been working on the job.
At any rate, the farmer is more vitally affected than any of us, and there seems nothing wrong about him selecting his own doctor. Perhaps he will not select the right doctor, but if he shouldn't happen to make the right choice—well, that's nothing, others have seemingly failed, too.
United Action Necessary
At any rate, with the farmers united in an effort to solve the present problems, much more can be accomplished.
Unity of purpose with the farmer and the business man working together for the good of all, is the ideal situation.

Several hundred farmers of the Littlefield section gathered last Saturday and went on record in favor of the Long plan—in other words, the planting of no cotton in the Southern States in 1932.
Some people think that the Long plan will not work; some think that the Farm Board and the Cotton Co-op don't rate so high, some think that they are the cure-all; some folks think that the price of cotton will have to be low in the United States in order to meet the competition of foreign planters; some folks are not satisfied with the tariff—and some folks don't seem to care a whoop if the country goes plumb to the bow wows.
But, at any rate, the farmers are thinking and acting.
The Other Side
Under the caption, "More Cotton Plan Follies," the Cotton and Cotton Oil News says relative to the Long plan, that "the proposal is so absurd and is fraught with so many evil consequences to the cotton farmers themselves, that we have full confidence that the legislatures will reject it as they have rejected all other irrational and uneconomic projects in the past."
The editorial in Cotton and Cotton Oil News gives a great many reasons why the Long plan should not be adopted. It says that there is a surplus of all other staple agricultural products; that if other crops are not to be substituted, what will the cotton farmers do for the necessities of life which cannot be raised on the farm; that every farmer knows that in a properly ordered cropping plan he can raise his food and feed supplies and still raise cotton; that even at five cents a pound, if there is no expenditure for labor outside the family, cotton will make some return for the time that would otherwise be wasted; that foreign competition would be greatly stimulated; that while the interests of cotton farmers are paramount in this state, there are some other interests that any just commonwealth will consider.

Raining Gold in Dixie?
And here's something more on the subject of cotton: the Leader has received an anonymous circular in the mails which announces "15,000,000 Bales of Cotton at 6c a Pound," and concludes with the statement that "it is surely raining gold in Dixie now!" Wow! Ain't that something!
Now there you have it folks; it's all yours! The problem hasn't been solved. We didn't expect to solve the problem. We just put down the situation of the moment.
But, in any event, the farmers of the Littlefield section, of Lamb county, and of the South, are to be commended; they are doing some real hard thinking and acting relative to a matter that is vital to them—vital to the South.

GET THE SKILLET ON THE FIRE

Boys, get your skillets on. Our postmaster, J. E. Brannen, Mrs. Brannen and family, left early Wednesday morning for the mountains, 140 miles north of Santa Fe, N. M., where they will visit their son and brother, Huron Brannen, at Parkview, and indulge in bear hunting for the next four days. Mr. Brannen has promised to bring back some bear to all his friends who like bear. On warning the postmaster to come back "whole," and not leave his foot in a bear's mouth, and suggesting that Uncle Sam just could not do without him, he assured us that everything would be alright—that he was already practicing shooting over his shoulder, so that he could shoot and run at the same time.

Several years ago the writer was employed on the staff of the Minneapolis, Minnesota, Tribune.
Frederick E. Murphy was at that time, and is now, the publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune.
Charles F. Collisson was, and is now, the agricultural editor of the Tribune.

The Minneapolis Tribune is a large newspaper, employing several hundred men and women.
Mr. Murphy had a vision, and his vision was shared by Mr. Collisson.
That vision was also shared by Tom Dillon, the editor; by Ben Phillips, managing editor of the afternoon edition; by George Akerson, the managing editor of the morning edition and political writer, who later became one of President Hoover's secretaries; in fact, every man and woman in the entire Tribune organization shared in Mr. Murphy's vision. And every one of us did our part in making Mr. Murphy's vision a fact.

The great vision was diversified farming—the elimination of the one-crop plan in farming, and the substitution of "the Cow—the Sow—and the Hen."
Every man and woman who has worked on the Minneapolis Tribune in the past decade knows something about diversified farming, and believes in it with all his heart.
We mention these things because they are very close to us.
But certainly of far greater importance is the fact that the Northwest caught Mr. Murphy's vision, and has profited immensely thereby.
We had been thinking a lot about diversified farming lately, and what it might be possible to accomplish by an active program along these lines for the Littlefield section and the South Plains, but the matter was brought very forcibly to our mind

Local Stores To Conduct Dollar Day; Fall Ready-to-Wear Is On Display

Extensive arrangements are being made by the Littlefield merchants for the third Dollar Day of the present year, which will be conducted Monday, September 7.

The previous two Dollar Days have each been an outstanding success, in view of the fact that purchasers of merchandise have made substantial savings, and the merchants have sold large quantities of goods.

Special interest is attached to this month's Dollar Day. The merchants are offering an especially large assortment of seasonable merchandise at very low prices. This gives the public an opportunity to buy at reduced outlay what they need for use immediately. For example the schools are opening at this time and the merchants are offering some extra good buys in school supplies and in wearing apparel.

Fall Ready-to-Wear On Display
Another reason for the fact that this month's Dollar Day will be an extra special event is that the new fall ready-to-wear is on display. Women especially will be interested in what the merchants are showing at this time. Particular attention is directed to the new hats, dresses and coats. They are very smart, and Littlefield merchants have a wide range of merchandise from which to select. It is, no doubt, wise to look over the new hats, dresses and coats while the selection is large.

The Lamb County Leader sponsors Dollar Day with the co-operation of the merchants of Littlefield, and on behalf of the merchants and this newspaper, a special invitation is extended to the men and women of Littlefield and Lamb county to participate in this great event Monday, September 7.

Urge Legislature To Pass Control Bill Immediately

Large Attendance At Mass Meeting Here Saturday Afternoon

Approximately 1,000 Lamb county farmers participated in a mass meeting at the First Baptist church Saturday afternoon, called for the purpose of giving the farmers an opportunity to express themselves on the matter of cotton acreage control.

The meeting was called primarily to receive the opinion of the farmers of Lamb county on the Long plan. Similar meetings were held throughout the state, because of the desire of Governor Sterling to learn the sentiment of the farmers of the State on acreage control.

Following short talks made by A. P. Duggan, president of Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, and J. W. Hale, secretary of the booster organization, a motion was made to wire Governor Sterling urging that a special session of the legislature be called and that a bill be passed precisely as the Long plan which would prohibit cotton being raised in Texas for marketing purposes during 1932, and only 50 per cent of the land being put in cotton during 1933 and 1934.

Motion Enthusiastically Approved
The motion was seconded by at least a half dozen farmers simultaneously. Oral approval of the motion was immediately expressed by all of the gathering with the exception of a few. A standing vote was called for by Mr. Duggan with similar results to that of the oral vote.

One of the men opposing the Long plan explained that he was in favor of a law prohibiting cotton being raised next year, but objected to the Long plan due to the possibility of foreign countries taking advantage of this regulation and increasing their acreage during 1932.
The body then voted unanimously

DR. TOM D. BROOKS IS HONOR GUEST AT LUNCHEON OF LOCAL ROTARY CLUB

Rotary is "worth working for," and must be maintained and strengthened," declared Dr. Tom D. Brooks of Waco, governor of the 41st district of Rotary, in an address before the Littlefield rotary club last Thursday.
Dr. Brooks, in a very interesting and entertaining address discussed in an original manner why men become Rotarians, and what Rotarians are doing for the betterment of national and community life and the business world.
Rotarians have high ethics in the conducting of business, and Dr. Brooks pointed out that the statement which had been made that cut-throat methods in business were to return was a challenge to Rotary.

Dr. Brooks pointed out that a Rotarian looks on the conducting of business as the performing of a service.
Dr. Brooks was the honor guest of the Littlefield club, which is located in the 41st district of Rotary.
Dr. Brooks spent last Thursday morning in conference with the officers, directors and chairmen of committees of the club.

President R. T. Badger presided at the luncheon, and introduced the honor guest and speaker.
One of the features of the visit of Dr. Brooks to Littlefield was the issuing of an "extra" by the Lamb County Leader, in honor of the visitor. This extra was distributed at the luncheon by Carson Glass, who acted as newboy.

SUGGEST THAT ORGANIZATION FUNCTION UNDER FARM BOARD

A meeting of the sudan growers of this section of the state, has been called for 8 p. m. Tuesday, September 8, at the Littlefield city hall.

The purpose of the meeting is to consider the forming of a sudan growers' co-operative association under the farm board.

The idea is to finance the crop until there is a demand for the seed. It is planned to carry out all financing under the farm board plan.

Fred Mangelsdorf of Atchison, Kansas, declared to be the largest sudan buyer in the world, and who is very well known in this section, is the originator of the idea to form a sudan growers' co-operative association.

APPEALS FOR QUICK ACTION

Governor Long's cotton acreage control plan is finding favor with the farmers. Therefore, what Governor Long says about his plan is of wide and general interest. A statement which he has just issued is of special interest, particularly in view of the fact that he says that "Texas means the success or failure of the plan." Governor Long's statement follows:

"BATONROUGE, La. —I make this appeal to the people and government of Texas. The world is waiting on Texas for its own salvation and for the salvation of the south. Had we rather have 20 cents for this year's cotton crop and have not cotton crop next year, or instead do we want five cents for this year's? Do the people of the cotton growing states want eight hundred million dollars or less for the combined cotton crops of 1931 and 1932. Or had we rather have nearly two billion dollars for the cotton crop of 1931 alone, and forget about the cotton crop for our next year? That is the question confronting the people and public officials of the cotton growing states at this time. If the cotton states will heed the call of the New Orleans Cotton Conference, we will have 20 cent cotton and prosperity in less than three weeks; but if the cotton states do not act, we will have five cent cotton and bankruptcy for every farmer and business man engaged in that industry. As the chairman of the New Orleans conference, which conference unanimously went on record calling for legislation to prohibit the planting of any cotton in the year 1932 so as to provide a fair market for the cotton crop grown this year, I call upon the farmers, merchants, bankers and public officials to exert every influence at their command to bring about legislation in their respective states to prohibit the planting of cotton in 1932. I call upon the people to meet at once so as to place their representatives in line as only immediate and drastic action will save the day. Any modification at all will do no good. We must have 100 per cent prohibition against raising cotton for 1932. Nothing else will be effective.

"The estimated cotton crop for this year is 15,600,000 bales. We have on hand, carried over from last year 9,000,000 bales more, being a total of 24,600,000 bales of American cotton on hand. The world only consumes 11,600,000 bales of American cotton per annum. Therefore, this year's cotton crop is enough for the demand of this year and next year, and then some. If we raise a cotton crop in 1932, when we already have more cotton on hand than we can use for the next two years, we may see cotton sell for two cents or three cents per pound next year, and we might have no market at all.

There is no danger of any particular increase in foreign cotton, and further we propose to negotiate trade agreements, as was done in the sugar case, to restrict cotton abroad as at home. But even should we fail, increased production abroad could not be significant.

"I urge the people to meet immediately in mass to call upon their governors and representatives to take every action possible to bring about their own salvation immediately. Immediate drastic action and no other will save the cotton states where we are now faced with bankruptcy. In the meantime I urge that the farmers for the next few days leave their cotton in the seed and pay no attention to any slight advance in cotton price that this work may bring about. We want the farmer to have the benefits of whatever results is accomplished. The courts have uniformly upheld similar action, and the plan proposed is constitutional.

"Texas means the success or failure of the plan."— Huey P. Long, governor and United States Senator Elect of Louisiana, Chairman New Orleans Cotton Conference."

EIGHT YEARS AGO IN LITTLEFIELD

Plans are being promoted this week for holding a livestock exhibit in Littlefield Saturday, September 15. On that date E. G. Courtney will hold his annual colt show, it being an exhibit of the colts sired by his registered Percheron stallion.

The Halsell Land Co. is this week erecting a building on lot opposite the drug store recently purchased by H. C. Pumphrey. It will be used for land office, R. C. Hopping being in charge.

Littlefield added two more scalps to her belt of trophies last Saturday and Sunday when she won two decisive victories from Olton and Rogers.

Alvin Mueller, a local boy, who played first base for the Hubbers this year, played short stop Saturday, handling five chances and made three hits in five times up, including two doubles, errors on the part of Olton players brought the final score up to 16-0. Battery for Olton was Helms and Jones; for Littlefield, Mueller and Blackburn.

Sunday the Littlefield Leaders went to Portales for a game with the fast Rogers aggregation, and defeated them 17-0.

At the last meeting of the school board it was ordered that an athletic council be created, which shall have complete oversight and control of athletics in the school during the year 1932-34. The first council will be composed of the following: A. E. White, chairman; E. D. Parnell, secretary-treasurer; B. M. Cogdill, Sidney Hopping and Miss Asa Shipman. E. C. Cundiff and E. S. Rowe will have some fine Rhode Island Red and Barred Plymouth Rock chickens for exhibit at Lamb county fair at Olton, the 28th. Mr. Cundiff also contemplates taking some of the ribbons at Plainview and Lubbock fairs.

Guy Willis, Ford representative at Olton, was in Littlefield Sunday after two cars to make delivery to his customers at that point.

The Polly Ann Beauty & Dress Shop, of which Mrs. Carl Jordan is owner and operator, have completely remodeled the interior of their establishment. The woodwork is finished in green and gold, with handsome rose drapes to divide the several booths which have been arranged. The furniture has all been redecorated in gold and black, and many hand painted little pictures hung, which add much to the establishment. "Pollyanna" and "Old Fashioned Girl," are carried out in the decorations and drapes throughout.

Mrs. Jordan has just recently purchased a new Perm-o-tiner combination croquignole and spiral permanent wave machine.

No admission will be charged to enter the fair grounds this year, according to Mr. Hawk. Fair dates are set for September 21 to 26 inclusive.

Vocational Students Of Local School To Feed Out Calves

Vocational agricultural students in Littlefield High school are planning to feed out from 5 to 75 head of beef calves and between 75 and 100 head of hogs as part of their project work this winter. R. A. Box, agricultural instructor, made this announcement Tuesday at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

"A large number of the boys who are planning to feed have from 5 to 15 acres of feed which will make from one to two tons of heads per acre. This will furnish them plenty of grain and roughage for their calves, which can easily be balanced with cottonseed meal. For pigs, grain and skim milk, or in case milk is not available, a supplement of half tankage and half cottonseed meal, will be all that is necessary. With feed selling at such low prices as are in prospect, boys who take feeding projects should find a good market for their feed crops in livestock," says Box.

These prospective feeders are having some difficulty in buying the kind of calves and pigs they want, but if their plans work out, they will have most of the animals in the feed lots by September 15. These animals will be shown at the Calf and Pig Show in Lubbock in March, or shipped co-operatively in carload lots.

Local Boy Scouts Enjoy Swimming Party

The local boy scouts, accompanied by Scout Masters, Eugene Latimer and I. D. Coley, spent Monday night of last week in camp at Cundiff's swimming pool. After a delightful swim, a treasure hunt was staged, resulting in much fun, running and climbing fences, finally winding up with a watermelon feast. This was followed by games, which were played until late.

Next morning after a short swim the boys returned to their homes.

The scouts wish to thank the Cundiff family for their kindness in inviting them to camp at the pool each month for the past three months, and wish them all the pleasure and happiness possible.

Winter killing causes nearly as heavy losses to the winter wheat crop as all wheat diseases combined. Using hardy varieties, sowing in stubble or cornstalks, preparing a firm seed-bed on fallowed land by means of a duck-foot cultivator, sowing with furrow drills at proper rates and dates, and mulching with straw, reduce winter injury of wheat.

skidded in loose dirt throwing the boy to the ground. It is supposed one of the wheels of the truck passed over his ankle. He was rushed to a Lubbock hospital where the broken bones were set.

Large crowds are being attracted by the Methodist revival in progress here. Rev. D. B. Doak, pastor of the Methodist church of Plainview, is doing the preaching.

Registration of pupils for the opening of the fall term in the Muleshoe school will begin Wednesday, September 9, according to H. A. Eckler, president of the school board.

That Bailey county will this year receive an additional state aid amounting to nearly $9,000, aside from the regular per capita payment, is the statement made recently by Superintendent J. E. Adams.

This is in accordance with a new law passed by the last legislature which provides that all schools having not less than 50 sections of land within their district boundaries are now entitled to state aid, such aid amounting to one-half the total cost of transportation in that district up to $400 per bus.

AMHERST

A petition signed by several hundred citizens of this territory was prepared and sent to Governor Sterling Pink L. Parrish, and A. B. Tarwater at Austin, asking these men to support the plan of Gov. Long of Louisiana, which asks for a law prohibiting the planting of cotton for one year, etc.

Messrs Parmer & Parmer of Dimmitt purchased last week the Amherst Cafe from N. A. Vaughter, and have taken charge.

According to information from the superintendent of schools for Lamb county, all common and independent schools in this county will receive $400.00 per truck from the State under the new truck law, providing the assessed valuation does not exceed the operating expenses.

Early seeding of winter oats is necessary to get good returns from the crop. Experiments show that late seeding is often responsible for the low yield of fall-sown oats in the south.

PAINS QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief.

Farm Board Not To Buy Cotton

WASHINGTON—The farm board has abandoned the buying of cotton for price stabilization purposes. It has found after two years that the practice was not the remedy for the over-production situation.

The announcement was made by Acting Chairman Carl Williams, the board member for cotton. He said the agency was not considering "the purchase of cotton under any circumstances" because such practice was futile in view of continued excessive outputs. The same idea, he said, applied to wheat, the price of which is depressed by increased production.

With announcement on cotton, the board rejected the scores of suggestions by southern Senators and growers that it continue the purchase of the staple to maintain prices. It was made after a conference between Williams and members of the cotton advisory committee at which relief plans were discussed including that to reduce cotton acreage.

Special Session of Legislature Likely

While Governor Ross Sterling has made no announcement, it is expected that a special session of legislature will be called September 10 to consider the cotton situation.

Governor Sterling admits that the senate has been called to meet September 10, but declared that the purpose of his act was to consider the impeachment of a district judge.

Diversification—

when Mr. W. H. Badger, manager of the Yellow House Land Co., handed us a page cut from a recent edition of the Literary Digest.

THE LITTLEFIELD SECTION IS PRACTICING DIVERSIFIED FARMING TO SOME EXTENT. WHAT COULD BE ACCOMPLISHED FOR THIS SECTION IF DIVERSIFICATION BECAME THE GOSPEL OF EVERY FARMER AND BUSINESS MAN? IT SEEMS TO US THAT THE MATTER IS WELL WORTH GIVING VERY CAREFUL CONSIDERATION.

Evidence of what has been accomplished through Mr. Murphy's program is contained in the article in the Literary Digest. The article reads as follows:

"Cow-Sow-Hen-Sheep."

"That crisp combination is being offered to the harassed American farmer as the magic formula that will pay off his mortgage, and perhaps give him a car and a bank account.

"Today we are hearing a great deal about the wholesale accomplishments of diversified farming on a wide scale—the results of campaigns aiming to eliminate the huge and evergrowing surplus of such crops as wheat and cotton, from which the farmer can obtain no profit at prevailing prices.

"From the South come reports of successful steps of which the Georgia plan is an outstanding example to cut down cotton acreage and devote the land to other crops.

"From the Northwest comes the story of how the 'agricultural revolution' has dethroned wheat as king and greatly improved the condition of the farmer in the four States of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana.

"In eight years, the buying power of each farm in that section was increased by $1,679 a year, we read. A ten-year program of diversification—the cow-sow-hen-sheep formula—did it. And its sponsors are advocating the same formula for the nation—follow the cowpath to prosperity."

"Chief backer of the Minnesota plan, as it is sometimes called, is Frederick E. Murphy, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune. Another conspicuous leader in the movement is Charles F. Collisson, The Tribune's agricultural editor. Recently they brought to Washington and Wall Street the story of how the northwest got up one-crop farming. What has been done in the Northwest, they say can be done elsewhere. In Mr. Collisson's words, farmers are working out their farm relief by milking their own way out of debt on their own farms, not in Washington.

Amazed At Progress

"New York bankers and brokers 'heard with amazement' from Mr. Collisson, writes Bradley W. Trent, of the Consolidated Press Association, 'that diversified farming, replacing single-crop wheat, has increased ed the farm revenues of the four Northwestern States nearly $700,000,000 in the last ten years.'

"Minnesota, since the war, has cut down her wheat-growing 2,700,000 acres, now planted to potatoes and corn, hay and feeding crops, according to Mr. Collisson. Her wheat crop in the world's greatest flour-milling State brought only $21,000,000 in 1929, only $12,376,000 in 1930. Yet Minnesota barnyard biddies gave their owners $80,000,000 worth of eggs and poultry. Minnesota creameries lead all North America now in making butter, which sells for $125,600,000 annually.

"The dairy cow is now a $200,000,000 industry in Minnesota, $300,000,000 in the four Northwestern States. Minnesota's butter surpasses all the output of her iron-mines, valued at $90,000,000 a year. The Northwest income from dairy livestock and poultry products leapt forward 87 per cent in eight years, to the impressive total of $807,500,000 in 1929. This is four and one-half times the wheat crop's $178,500,000 in the four States. It is more than all the field crops—everything grown on northwestern soils.

"In order to finance this development of live-stock farming, a loaning company was formed to lend money direct to the farmers."

The Georgia Plan

"As for the Georgia plan to reduce cotton acreage—it works," reports J. C. Royle, in one of his Washington dispatches on business subjects. And he tells us how the banks and farmers of that State pushed the plan to success—

"The scheme was originated after the 1930 cotton crop was gathered.

"It did not provide for any appeal for reduced acreage of cotton. Such plans had been made continuously for years without marked effect. It was aimed ostensibly at the diversification of crops, but the first effect it had was reduction of cotton acreage. The campaign was originated by the Georgia Bankers Association in conjunction with the State College of Agriculture.

"Efforts first were made to secure adoption of a balanced farm program in every one of the 161 counties of the State. In 117 counties the farmers adopted programs best suited for the individual needs of each county.

"The thing which makes the plan potent is the direction of agricultural credits by the bankers. A farmer, under the plan does not become eligible for a loan unless he has on his property chickens, cows, hogs, or other live stock, and sufficient food crops in prospect to feed his animals and his family.

"This has caused a revolution in Georgia crop planning, for each farmer has known that he must take care of feed and food crops for all those dependent on the land, both human and animal, before he does anything else. The banks require an inventory of his assets, and liabilities at the end of each year, and feed and food crops and animals are regarded as a major part of his assets."

"Editors seem to agree that any movement encouraging diversified farming will prove beneficial, although some point out, with the New York Herald Tribune, that the moral, Mr. Collisson draws is not a new one, 'nor can it be said that diversified farming will lift every farmer out of the slough of despond.'

"A South Dakota view of Mr. Murphy's speeches is provided by the Rapid City (S. D.) Journal.

"Mr. Murphy didn't picture this portion of the world as overflowing with wealth, but he did find it showing up well in comparison with the single-crop regions where the 'wall of distress is long and loud.' And, comparatively speaking, the point is well made."

"It would seem" add the Danville (111) Commercial News, "that the entire Central West must take to diversified farming to avoid producing a surplus of grain."

Schools To Receive Portrait-Poster of George Washington

Announcement was made by Congressman Marvin Jones that every schoolroom of every school in his district will within a few weeks after the opening of the new school term, receive a beautiful portrait-poster of George Washington, executed in colors.

The portrait to be used in these posters is a reproduction of the famous Gilbert Stuart painting and will be 22 inches by 28 inches in size. This poster was selected after a good deal of study and is considered the finest example of poster making available.

The poster-pictures featuring George Washington are being distributed by Congressman Jones in cooperation with the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission of Washington D. C., in order to stimulate interest among the thousands of school children of the district in the coming nine months celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of the Father of Our Country.

300,000 Cans Of Produce To Be Put Up in County

Last Year's Outstanding Record Will Be Broken

According to Miss Ruby Mashburn, women's home demonstration agent for Lamb County, the women of this county will put up this year at least 300,000 containers of fruits, vegetables and meats.

Splendid work in canning is being done by the club members and women throughout the county, in the way of canning for their own families and of loaning neighbors their cookers and sealers, giving vegetables and assisting in their canning.

In last year's canning report Lamb county ranked second in amount and first in value in the State of Texas, which was $183,654.55. This year a greater amount will be canned than last year, owing to the bumper crop and greater interest shown in this work, is the opinion of Miss Mashburn.

Littlefield To Play Hubbers at Lubbock Sunday Afternoon

The Littlefield baseball aggregation will be guests of the Lubbock Hubbers for another single contest, next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. in the Hubber baseball orchard.

These two clubs have engaged in numerous meetings the past summer, and have put up some genuine opposition that has resulted in close scores and created some real interest between both players and fans. The game next Sunday will be looked forward to with much concern since the Hubbers have been taking some of the medicine administered to the locals the first two or three engagements. In the last three games the local nine has won two out of the three games, 6-1 and 10-8.

After a week's rest following the games with Lubbock and Vernon, the boys should be in tip top form with a few preliminary workouts the balance of the week. The game next Sunday will be hotly contested and that without a doubt. Local fans are urged to accompany the team to stimulate a greater interest and boost the locals for another win.

Word has been received from Art Phelan (manager of the Ft. Worth Cats) stating that he and his team are planning on a trip out to this section of Texas immediately following the closing of the Texas League. On their two previous visits they were out here between the 20th and 25th of September. Further announcement will be made as soon as they have their schedule arranged.

A superb ability to touch the deepest emotions of an audience has brought Ruth Chatterton her present tremendous popularity. Her characterizations are vivid, sincere. She sweeps people with her through romance and high drama with compelling realism.

Add to the unequalled Chatterton ability a story that abounds in dramatic power filled with tense situations, with a depth of feeling that brings a catch to the throat, and you have the elements of Ruth Chatterton's new drama, "The Magnificent Lie", which will be shown at the Palace theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

There are sob's in "The Magnificent Lie." There are laughs as well. And, more than anything, there is dramatic emotion, intensified by occasional flashes of humor.

Young, attractive, dramatically efficient Ralph Bellamy makes a brilliant bow in a featured role that gives him the greatest opportunity any young male actor has enjoyed in months of screen productions. One-time favorite stock player, more recently a Broadway star, he played his first moving picture role in "The Secret Six."

A stroke of real showmanship genius put Stuart Erwin into the featured cast. He adds a note of comedy mixed with dramatic pathos, that assures the production of well-rounded entertainment values. Francoise Rosay and Charles Boyer, French actors popular on the Parisian stage, contribute interesting character parts to the production, and Sam Hardy is in the cast.

Leonard Merrick's popular novel, "Laurels and the Lady," supplied the inspiration for the story of "The Magnificent Lie." Samson Raphaelson wrote the screen play, after completing work on the scripts of several recent outstanding pictures, "The Smiling Lieutenant," and "The Jazz Singer," "A Boudoir Diplomat" and "Serena Blandish."

Berthold Viertel, the director, is noted for his keen sense of the unusual in motion picture story presentation. His early picture-making training has gained in Germany. Since going to Hollywood, he has scenarized "The Four Devils" and directed "Seven Faces."

Littlefield To Celebrate Paramounts Twentieth Birthday Jubilee With Special Motion Picture Programs

Littlefield, in common with the country, will celebrate Paramount's twentieth Birthday Jubilee, from September 6 to 12, inclusive.

J. Chasber, manager of the theater, has arranged for a week-long program exclusively for Littlefield, and urges that the public take advantage of the splendid entertainment to be provided.

The program for the week will be as follows:

Ruth Chatterton in "The Maginot Line," Sunday matinee, Monday, Tuesday, September 6, 7, and 8.

Charles Ruggles in the "Girl Habit," Wednesday and Thursday, September 9 and 10.

Paul Lukas and Kay Francis in "Vice Squad," Friday and Saturday, September 11 and 12.

Paramount's 20th Birthday Jubilee is of world-wide interest. For the first time in the history of the motion picture industry.

In 1911, Mr. Zukor at his theater in New York, introduced the first double-bill picture, "The Passionate Heart." He installed the first organ in a picture house and a picture showing "The Rosary."

The instant response which these innovations, new and daring for their time, received from the public, the excitement and genuine inspiration which the crowded houses derived impressed Mr. Zukor deeply. He vowed to devote his life and fortune to the production and distribution of quality photoplays.

The ideal of the modern motion picture and of Paramount was born. His plans brought slowly but surely to fruition. Mr. Zukor in 1911 gave the world "Queen Elizabeth," starring Sarah Bernhardt. The succession of "famous players in famous plays"—James K. Hackett in "The Prisoner of Zenda," Mrs. Fiske in "The D'Urbervilles" and the rest of the royal line—started.

Down through two scores of crowded years Paramount has devoted itself to this ideal first conceived by Adolph Zukor.

ORGANIZATION IS ONLY PERMANENT SOLUTION OF VARIOUS FARM PROBLEMS SPEAKERS AT CO-OP MEET HERE SAY

Although acreage reduction is necessary to relieve the immediate situation confronting the cotton industry, permanent solution of various farm problems will come about only through organization, speakers at the Texas Cotton Cooperative association meeting here last Thursday night, pointed out.

For the first time in history, it was stated, cotton growers have an agency that guarantees correct grade and staple, which alone is worth a great deal in increasing cotton growers' purchasing power. Also, cotton growers now have the opportunity, it was explained, of carrying their cotton through low-price periods and having it marketed in an orderly, business-like manner without being forced to sell at a loss.

Increases Value of Crops

Speakers declared that some of the greatest economists including the Standard Statistic Service, estimate that the stabilization operations of the Farm Board last year increased the total value of the cotton crop at least $135,000,000.

The cotton that was taken off the market last year and placed in the seasonal pool of the association, and upon which 90 per cent of the market value was advanced, usually equalling street prices, has been financed with the assistance of the Farm Board until July 31, 1933, and will not be sold until higher price levels are reached.

Cotton handled through the association this year, will "stand on its own feet," and have no relationship to cotton handled last year, it was pointed out. Also, all cotton handled by the association this year will be marketed in an orderly manner throughout the year.

Marketing Plans

The initial advance this year on cotton placed in the seasonal pool was said to be about equal to the 90 per cent advance of last year, but in order to simplify accounting, the method of making the advance on the seasonal pool cotton has been changed. Instead of advancing 90 per cent, the classed value of the cotton on the association basis will be determined by government licensed classifiers in the employ of the association and a flat one per cent per pound deducted from this value.

The amount advanced to the grower is within two or three dollars a bale of the net outright sales value at interior points, and the grower retains his equity in the cotton and with prices later in the season will profit accordingly. Cotton placed in the seasonal pool is not subject to any calls for margin as is the case when cotton is placed in the price fixation pool. In the price fixation pool the grower has the right to determine the day upon which the association shall fix the price for settlement with him. About 8 per cent of cotton handled by the association last year went into the seasonal pool.

Services of the association are being extended all over the state this year with the aim of providing growers even in remote points with a dependable market for every kind of cotton every day in the year. The competition of the association, it was said, has a tendency of keeping a greater amount of money in the hands of the producers to be spent in building up country towns.

All farm leaders, it was pointed out, are unanimous in the opinion that the big task that must be accomplished in the organizing of much larger numbers of farmers so that the full advantages and benefits of the agricultural market act can be realized.

J. T. Elms presided at the meeting here, and the speakers were E. R. Davis, a state director of the Lubbock district; C. M. Davis, district manager for this district, and M. S. Hudson, a state director for this district. A central branch office will be located in this city, and a cotton classifier will be stationed here. This will be the only central branch office west of Lubbock to the New Mexico line. Receiving agents will be located at all points in this section, but in view of the fact that the central branch office and the cotton classifier will be in Littlefield, a large amount of cotton will pass through here.

According to Mrs. Touchon she had taken the cans out of the cooker, and thinking one of the cans wasn't sealed tight enough, proceeded to tighten the top, when the can exploded throwing the hot liquid over her face, neck and arms. A local physician was called, and though Mrs. Touchon is confined to her bed, she is doing nicely.

Favor of Long Plan—

to urge the Federal government to prohibit foreign countries shipping cotton to this country during 1932. No precise plan was worked out along this line at the Saturday afternoon meeting.

In the event that Gov. Sterling complies with the desires of Texas farmers in calling a special session of the Legislature, the body selected three delegates and three alternates to attend the session in their interests.

Following the business meeting, Mr. Hale was called upon to explain the results of similar meetings held by farmers throughout the state.

In his talk, Mr. Hale stated that, in so far as he knew, none of the numerous meetings held voted disapproving the Long plan. He also complimented the audience on the interest displayed.

New Orleans Conference

The Long plan grew out of a cotton conference called by Huey P. Long, Governor of Louisiana, and held in New Orleans recently in which state legislatures of the south were called upon by the conference to pass acts to prevent planting of cotton in 1932.

The conference also adopted a proposal of United States Senator Thaddeus Caraway, of Arkansas, that the federal farm board purchase 8,000,000 bales of cotton at a price above the present market to be allocated to those farmers who agree not to plant any cotton next year, and to be sold at the farmers' orders and for their benefit.

Governor Huey P. Long, who called the conference in an effort to find relief from the overproduction and low price of cotton, was chosen chairman of a standing steering committee with authority to choose his associates later. The conference then adjourned sine die.

It was attended by more than 1,000 men and women, including three governors, two United States senators, half a dozen United States representatives and many southern state officials. Governor Long explaining his proposal, said it would prohibit by state law, planting or gathering of any cotton during the year.

On motion of J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture of Texas, a special committee was appointed to meet in executive session to report back to the full conference.

The committee voted resolutions of endorsement of the Long plan and the Caraway plan, and both were accepted by the conference by an overwhelming oral vote.

Conditions Outlined

Under the conference resolution none of the legislative acts would become binding unless similar legislation "shall be adopted by states producing not less than three-fourths of the cotton grown in the United States."

The conference voted down in a roar of "noes" a minority report of Mr. McDonald providing for southern state legislative action reducing the 1932 cotton area by one-third.

When the commissioner offered his minority report, Governor Long, who was presiding said: "We are going to vote that down." And the conference yelled a roar of noes that drowned out the ayes.
