

Rain, Hail Pelt Area; Twister Hits Barn

Cotton Delayed Grains Boosted

Rains which began around 3 o'clock Wednesday morning had reached a total of 1.40 by noon Wednesday, a check of Western Cotton Oil Co. gauge showed. This was an additional .55 inch Wednesday morning after the 8 a. m. measurement had shown .85 inch.

Roads late Wednesday were still flooded between Littlefield and Lubbock with traffic on U. S. 81 still being routed through Spade on State Highway 54.

Rains that were viewed with alarm by some farmers and welcomed by others dumped up to three inches of water on this area Monday and Monday night and then followed up with .85 inches more Tuesday night and Wednesday.

Around Whitharral, hail Monday did further damage to crops already lashed by hail 10 days before. For some crops the hail wrote finish, and land either must be planted over or seeded to other crops.

In general cotton farmers were a bit uneasy by the three rains for fear blight and insects, lessened by last week's hot sunshine, might return. But grain farmers were happy over the rain.

At least one mild twister was reported, Monday. Joe Ancinec, who lives three and a half miles east of Whitharral, lost a small cowbarn. The barn was picked up and dumped on his back porch while a 1.6 inch rain was falling on his farm. To add to damage, his crops were reported "hauled out" by Monday's blast by nature.

Another farmer who suffered heavy hail damage to his crops was Ed Johnson who lives north east of Whitharral. Two weeks ago his crops were damaged by hail, and Monday's pounding finished the job.

While most farmers in this area report a heavy rain in Monday afternoon's and Monday night's falls, the amount varied sharply. Hub Spraberry, who lives on the Anton highway, measured only .7 inch, and Mrs. Ella Hewitt in the same general area, reported her gauge showed only .4 inch. Mrs. Elva T. Crank of Whitharral says another who reported hail damage was Boots Crews northeast of Whitharral and Joel Burns in the same general area also reported damage from hail.

Whitharral Gets 2 1/2 Inches West of Whitharral the fall measured 2 1/2 inches Monday night at the John Waters' home. V. D. Hodges said his farm received a 2 inch soaking Monday night but was missed entirely in that afternoon's fall.

Ralph Wade said a highline pole near his home was snapped off, apparently by the same small twister which hit the Ancinec home.

Fun For Kids Object Of Camp

Four Littlefield children discovered the fun and excitement of spending some time at a camp this summer.

This alone is not as important as the fact that these four children are handicapped, but they were able to go to camp with the help of the local Lions Club.

The Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children located in Kerrville is set up by the Lions to take care of crippled children while offering them more fun than they can possibly have in the outdoors.

The camp is a state wide project of the Lions of Texas. There is no charge for any camper regardless of the economical status of the parents.

Through the local Lions chapter, the necessary physical facilities are provided along with the funds for the operation of the camp.

Those eligible for the camp are any boy and girl from Texas between the ages of 7 and 17. (Continued on Page Two)

James Lee will be installed as third vice president, and H. A. Mitchell as secretary. Jim Baxter will become treasurer, and Charles Jones, tail twister, Lion Turner will be Neil Wood.

The new directors are to be installed — Bill Lyman and Don Chak.

Aggie Expert Will Lecture At Short Course

W. W. Hall, vocational agriculture teacher at Littlefield High School, has announced that an entomology short course will be conducted in Littlefield beginning Monday.

Mr. H. A. Turney of the Texas A&M department of Entomology short course.

Subjects to be covered in the talks include the control of cotton insects and the control of external pests of livestock.

The meetings are scheduled to begin at 8 p. m. each evening and will continue through Friday July 15.

"I hope that everyone interested in the topics will attend," Hall said. "I think that every farmer in the area will benefit from the discussions, regardless of the type of farming that he does."

The meetings will be held in the vocational agriculture department at the high school. A fee of $2 has been set by the Texas Education Agency to defray expenses

Grand Jury Begins Work; 27 Cases Set For Study

With Buster Owens, Littlefield, as foreman, the grand jury began its work Wednesday morning in the courtroom of Judge J. B. Bills, District Judge.

Judge Bills told the jurors that only one murder case is due to come before them, and that other cases include a wide range of alleged offenses from theft to worthless checks and forgery.

Judge Bills also pointed out to the grand jury that they should consider the law carefully in the case of a murder before an indictment, studying the circumstances leading to the killing.

Only murder case pending is that of Bobby Gean Tucker, a Littlefield area carpenter, who has been charged with the April 29 gunshot slaying of James Marsh. (Continued on page three)

Parents In Jail, Tots Taken By County Pair

Two children are happy in the temporary custody of a deputy sheriff.

A Lamb County couple, who had been wanting to adopt another child or two, heard of the two tots and asked Judge Bills to put the children in their custody, subject to adoption later.

Judge Bills brought the real parents and the prospective foster parents to court. (Continued on Page Two)

Man Finds Grass All Round Crop

Do you have the problem of wanting other money crops?

Cephus Glover, a Lamb County Soil Conservation District co-operator, who farms two miles northeast of Littlefield, has found grass to be a good multi-purpose money crop.

The two major crops on the high plains are cotton and grain sorghum with cotton considered the money crop.

By diversifying his farming operation, Glover has developed another crop and is improving his land and getting more economic returns.

Glover uses his grass for grazing, hay and seed production in rotation with other crops. This way he has land to graze cattle and send them to market.

Glover figures that he will get more for his grain sorghum by marketing it in cattle. He has gotten the growth on his live stock by the most economical method, that is, by grazing a good pasture land.

Not only directly but indirectly is this a sound practice. From a conservation standpoint he is maintaining his soil fertility by the waste from his cattle deposited on the land, by having a cover crop on the land that prevents erosion, and by increasing the organic matter in the soil.

So, diversify for more profits and for continued productivity of the land.

Glover has a 12 acre field of Switchgrass. Glover cut the grass and made 1,000 bales.

'Grad' Comforts Expectant Father, Recalls Own Fatherhood Experience

By JOHN PETTY

A friend was pretty excited the other day when he leaped across the front porch of my house and nervously jabbered out the news that he was "gonna be a papa."

Even before he said what was getting him, it was easy to tell — he had all the symptoms.

He set me to thinking — and remembering. . .

With chin tilted and big, saucer eyes, uplifted, Kay, my wife, literally lit the fuse under me, when she shyly announced on a cozy February evening, "You're gonna be a daddy."

I flipped. Regaining consciousness, I could feel the cool dampness of the cloth in her hand reducing the fever of my brow. Reality crept back into my brain. "Honey," I cried, "I'm gonna have a baby."

and then smiled.

"Congratulations." The world seemed to take on a new dimension from that moment on. Everything I said or thought or did now was done in light of my son who would soon be born. The apartment suddenly grew too small. We moved to a house in the suburbs.

My coffee conversations with the boys ceased to be filled with arguments over Thunderbirds and Corvettes, Scotch versus bourbon and Freud's theory on sex. Instead I became interested in strollers and kiddie cars, canned milk versus fresh milk and Doctor Spock.

Every day a new problem arose which I faced with renewed vigor. They were in preparation for my son.

First came the nursery. Naturally, it had to be repainted a suitable color for him. I chose blue. Getting the paints, thinners, brushes, rags, and other assorted paraphernalia together, I attacked the four walls. After two hours of unceasing labor, the room and I were a beautiful color of sky.

COTTON blooms are beginning to pop out in Lamb county, although rains this week were expected to slow the process. Among the first blooms noted were those on the Mary Edith Yantis place three miles southeast of Littlefield, farmed by J. M. Srygley. He's shown holding two plants which he said first bloomed June 30. The cotton, Northern Star, was planted April 15. He has 69 acres of cotton.

Season Record Stands At 11-6

Legion Team Releases 1960 Batting Averages

Coach Jimmie Chapman this week announced the batting averages of the 16 players carried on his roster on the American Legion baseball team.

The team's record for the season is 11 victories against six defeats, the losses came at the hands of Lubbock Auto, three games; Plainview, Nazareth and Rabok, three of the losses were by a one run margin.

The team is currently leading the league through Tuesday night with seven victories and no defeats.

The local team was scheduled to play Olton here Tuesday night but the game was postponed until Saturday night due to wet grounds. The team was also scheduled to play Muleshoe there Wednesday night. They play their last home game of the season tonight against the Mules here at 7:30 P.M. at the Legion League Park with game time set at 8 p. m.

Ronnie Rice, De Pierce, Jerry Koller, Van Ashley, Larry Pollard and Gene Reeves are currently leading the hitters in district play. Rice has scored 18 runs off of 18 hits out of 26 times at bat to set a blistering pace of .690 through Saturday night. Rice has also got two of the 14 home runs racked up by the locals in league play.

Other boys having two home runs are Gene Reeves, De Pierce and Jerry Bridwell.

Getting single home runs are Van Ashley, Tony Estrada, Jerry Koller, Dagwood Canley, Larry Pollard and Joe Bellar.

Jerry Bridwell, captain of the team, who led the league last year with a hot .446 batting average out of nine district games, has collected only three hits out of 18 times at bat for an average of only .166.

Lead off man Pete Estrada has missed the last three district games with a sprained knee. He should be back into action Thursday night as well as pinner Tom Lewis who has missed all seven district games with a sprained knee.

Both Lewis and Estrada are being counted upon to help the Cats out if they get into the district tournament at Plainview July 18.

A win in any three of their remaining games will clinch a tie for a playoff berth. Muleshoe and Levelland are the only other teams that are still in the running.

Rotary Dumps Lions 6-1

Rotary pulled into a tie for the lead in the L.L. Major League standings by downing the Lions 6-1 Saturday night.

Larry Schovajsa, Rotary hurler allowed the Lions only one hit, a single in the first inning.

Hits by Larry Reese and Wilmer Williams and two walks off Lion pitching gave the winners a four run first inning which was more than enough for the victory.

The Rotarians scored on a pair in the third and once in the fifth.

Ralph Danner started for the Lions but left in the second inning in favor of Alfred Johnson this week.

Littlefield Socks Earth In Two, 16-2 And 24-0

Littlefield Legionnaires blasted Earth pitching for 27 hits and 24 runs Saturday to sweep both ends of a doubleheader 16-2 and 24-0.

Both games were called at the end of four innings.

In the first game, Jerry Bridwell handicapped the visitors by allowing only two hits — back to home runs by Hal Hudson and Kenneth Cannon — in the first inning.

Littlefield scored six times in the opening frame on a double by Joe Bellar and home runs by Ronnie Rice and Gene Reeves.

In the fourth, the locals teed off again Earth for four timely hits to score nine runs. Jerry Koller's double, two singles by Rice and a home run of the bat of Van Ashley were spaced among seven free passes.

Joe Bellar came on in the nightcap to set Earth down without a hit. He allowed only four men to reach base safely.

Bellar was backed up at the plate by his teammates as they shelled Earth hurling for 17 hits and 24 runs. Koller, Rice, Bridwell, Reeves and Larry Pollard all hit for the circuit for Littlefield.

The victories gave Littlefield a 7-0 record in American Legion game with three games left to play. They will finish out the season this week.

'Dean's 30 Game Record Will Stand' --- Frisch

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

It has been 26 years since Jay Hanna (Dizzy) Dean astounded the baseball world by racking up 30 victories for the St. Louis Cardinals.

On this anniversary of the great man's feat it seemed like a good time to call Dizzy's old manager, Frankie Frisch, at his New Rochelle, N. Y., home.

Dizzy was the last pitcher in either major league to collect 30 wins in one season. Robin Roberts got 28 for the 1952 Phillies, and in the American League Hal Newhouser of the 1944 Tigers turned in 29. But nobody has touched 30 since Dean's day.

"And I don't think anybody ever will during a 154-game schedule," says the 61-year-old Frisch. "We had eight pitchers going into the 1934 World Series with Detroit and used every man. Today if a manager doesn't have 10 pitchers he's short-handed. I say what good are pitchers if you can't use them."

"Years ago a pitcher wanted to start and he wanted to finish. When a manager came out to take the ball, the pitcher went nutty. Look at what happened when Boom Boom Beck threw that ball up against the right field band box wall in Philadelphia. He woke up Hack Wilson."

"There was the time Charlie Grimm went out to take the ball from Tex Carlton. Tex wouldn't give up the ball. When Grimm insisted, Carlton threw the ball up into the grandstand."

"If you had that much stuff in the game you'd still be pitching," Grimm told him.

"People tell all kinds of stories about Dizzy Dean winning the seventh and deciding game in the 1934 World Series against the Tigers. I had used Dizzy as a pinch runner in the sixth game, won by this brother Paul, 4-3, and Dizzy got hit in the head."

"After the game I walked under the shower with Dizzy and right then and there I know he would pitch the final game the next day."

"We'll beat 'em for sure tomorrow," I told Dizzy. "I got a great pitcher going — Bill Hallahan."

"What's wrong with me?" Dizzy asked.

"You won't get your rest if I tell you're pitching. That game tomorrow will mean anywhere from $50,000 to $100,000 to you — if you rested tonight."

"Dizzy must have got his rest. He shut out the Tigers with six hits, and we won 11-0 after getting seven in the third inning."

Dean, now a Saturday television announcer for CBS, is 48 and much heavier than when his last ball won 150 National League games. The native of Lucas, Ark., was only 23 when he won 30 games.

Three years later in the All-Star game, before President Roosevelt in Washington, a third-inning line drive from the bat of Earl Averill hit him on the left foot. When Dean reached the clubhouse an examination revealed the drive had broken a toe on his left foot. Dizzy never was the same pitcher.

"I still think Dizzy should have stayed in the game," says Frisch. "He should have gone to first base. He could hit, was a good runner and a great fielder. He could size up a play in a hurry and always knew to which base he should throw the ball. He was a natural."

"That ought to be enough on Dizzy. Think I'll go back and lie in my hammock."

(Continued From Page One) between the ages of seven and 16 who are cripple, blind, deaf or mute. The main restrictions for the campers is that they be able to participate in, and enjoy a carefully planned camping program for handicapped children.

Campers from Littlefield who have gone to Kerrville this year are Donna Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Smith of Littlefield; Caroline Martinez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gonzalo Martinez of Littlefield; Tommy Herring, son of M. and Mrs. Walter Herring of Littlefield and Troy Williams, son of Odessa Williams of Littlefield.

Dr. Albert Perkins has made two trips to the camp this summer to transport the children in a small airplane. This makes the trip much faster and easier for the boys and girls.

The staff of the camp is considered to be quite adequate to handle the campers. An average of one staff member for every two campers plan and operate a well-rounded camping program for the children.

All staffers are qualified with training and experience. Any handicapped child can be considered for application to the camp. More information concerning the outings can be had by contacting a member of the local chapter of the Lions.

Stubble Mulching Favored In High Plains Farming

Stubble mulching has advantages in the long term farming programs in the High Plains that outweigh the immediate and temporary gains from burning the wheat stubble. Delbert Langford, associate agronomist at the High Plains Research Foundation, stated in a recent interview.

The advantages of plowing under the stubble are (1) maintaining the organic matter content of the soil which facilitates water penetration by improving the fish and structure of the soil; (2) returning plant food to the soil; (3) better aeration of the soil; and (4) prevention of diseases.

Temporary advantages of burning are (1) killing weeds, (2) killing insects, (3) immediate effect of released potash, and (4) double cropping.

Research tests have shown that burning stubble for a period of five years results in a considerable reduction in wheat yields as well as crops used in rotation. The loss in production from continuous burning of stubble over a period of time is very high.

Langford emphasized that the return of crop residues to the soil is a sound conservation practice in maintaining soil productivity. It will become more important as our underground water level declines, and we are more dependent upon rainfall for crop production.

Kermit Stars Trounce PONY Leaguers 8-5

Kermit's All-Stars knocked the PONY League All-Stars out of the Teenage Invitational Baseball Tourney in Lubbock by downing them 8-5 in a second round game Sunday.

The PONY All-Stars advanced to the second round by beating Trans-Western 25-7 in a game Friday afternoon.

Kermit scored first in the initial frame and then came out on top to run the score to 4-0 in the second inning. Phil Youngblood, Kermit sacker, socked a three-run homer for the margin.

Ray McKinney scored the locals in the third as he belted bases on three errors and a pitch.

Littlefield tied the score at the bottom of the fifth at 4-4. Forry Hughes and McKinney scored on a home run by Eddie Walker. Kermit's half of the game proved to be on the downswing. The winners scored four runs on three hits to take an 8-4 lead.

The Ponies scored at the bottom of the sixth on a home run by Charles Robison and a double by Donny Stevenson, but they didn't catch Kermit.

Gary Pigg started the Ponies in the seventh. Kermit will meet St. Louis in the Tourney final in Lubbock.

WOW Knocks Butane 5-0

Butane scored at the bottom of the fifth at 4-4. Forry Hughes and McKinney scored on a home run by Eddie Walker. Kermit's half of the game proved to be on the downswing. The winners scored four runs on three hits to take an 8-4 lead.

Whether for a shower or a home wedding reception, what could be prettier than a sunny punch bowl highlighted by a wedding ring of orange blossoms in ice?

Good way to decorate your punch and at the same time keep it chilled. If you cannot get the fresh blossoms, use the imitation ones which have been used as hat trimmings for years.

Convenient frozen concentrated Florida orange juice is a perfect choice for the base of your punch. You'll find it economical and healthfully refreshing, too. Besides the ice ring of blossoms, float a few thin slices of Florida oranges for added color.

Orange Blossom Punch
4 cans (6 ounces each) Florida frozen concentrated orange juice
5 cups cold water

1 quart water and ice cubes
1 quart chilled gingerale
2 Florida oranges, thinly sliced

Combine undiluted concentrate with the 5 cups cold water in punch bowl. Add additional water and ice cubes; stir until melted. Add gingerale. Garnish with halved orange slices and ice ring. Yield: 32 1/2-cup servings.

Note: If desired, recipe may be doubled. Champagne may be substituted for gingerale if desired.

Orange Blossom Ice Ring
Fill 5 cup ring mold with water. Float fresh orange blossoms or other small blossoms, small green leaves and small fruit of your choice, in the water and freeze. If you do not have a large freezing compartment, a similar arrangement can be done in an ice tray.

Queue Up For Chicken

When the aroma of chicken being cooked over coals permeates the air, the line up is long and appetites tremendous. No, you can't go wrong if you serve barbecued chicken at your outdoor feasts. Whether the chicken is roasted whole on a spit, or barbecued by halves or pieces on the grill, here's a sauce to produce a beautiful burnishing glaze and a scintillating flavor.

Cook Out Broilers
1/2 cup corn oil
1 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons unsulphured molasses

To prepare basting sauce: Measure corn oil, lemon juice, salt, unsulphured molasses, and pepper into saucepan. Heat to boiling. Keep hot for basting chicken. Mix thoroughly before each basting.

To prepare chicken: Hook wing tip behind shoulder joint into back. Place on grate. Brush both sides with sauce. Start cooking, cut side toward grate. Set 12 inches or more from heat. Cook slowly until tender, turning frequently and basting each time. Drumstick should twist easily out of thigh joint. Allow 1 to 1 1/4 hours total cooking time. Just before serving brush chicken with any left over sauce, or use it for dunking. Excellent results depend upon slow cooking, glowing coals, not flame, and proper distance from heat source.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Green of Lubbock spent the weekend in the home of Mrs. Goldie Green.

Attending a family gathering in Lovington, N. M. over the holiday weekend were Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Taylor, Billy and June, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Taylor and Robert and Maris Taylor, all of Earth.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Secord returned Wednesday from a two week trip to Torrore and other points in New Mexico. Mrs. Secord has been ill.

Cecil Meadows left Monday to attend the Lions Convention in Chicago. Enroute home he plans to visit his sister in Grant City, Ill., also a brother at Jonesboro, Ark. He will be gone about two weeks.

Grad' Comforts

"Honey," my wife supervised. "Wouldn't it be better if the windows were left unopened?"

"Kay," I cried, taken back at such thoughtlessness. "We have to have protection from kidnappers."

Furnishing the room came next. There was a bed to buy, and a chest of drawers. Then came a bassinet (for his really younger days), a portable bath tub, scales, utility table, night lights, day lights (we left the windows painted), and a horse to ride (Kay insisted on a wooden rocking horse even though I was able to find a very gentle quarterhorse that was reasonably priced. She would not allow it in his room.)

Clothes were the next hurdle. The drawers became stocked with gowns and diapers. Then there were pajamas and diapers, jackets and diapers, booties and diapers, and knit caps and diapers. Kay and I have always subscribed to the old saying that precludes safety in numbers.

Choosing a name was our most thought provoking chore. Fanciful ourselves of the modern generation, we decided to depart from the time honored custom of naming the first born "Junior" and went in search of something new, something different, something exotic in a name.

We traveled the world with such suggestions as Juan (too Spanish), Gino (sounded too much like wine), Pierre (the night grow a moustache), Heinrich (Kay thought this was the meaty part of a cow) and Ivan (as Kay said, he'd probably be investigated before we could get him released from the hospital. Turning from these, we tried to think of something rhythmic).

"Freddie Petty," she suggested, singing it out. "Or Eddie Petty, or maybe Laddie Petty."

"Name him after a dog!" I asked.

"She gave me a rather disdainful look. "That's Laddie, not Laddie."

I looked at her. "I thought Laddie was that wooden thing that vines grow around."

"No, darling," she said, sitting on her hands. "That is a lattice."

"What the hell have I been eating all year?"

As the months progressed, I began to get more nervous.

I packed a small bag to take to the hospital (slippers for walking and five cartons of cigarettes).

My appetite began to vary strangely from the meals that Kay prepared. Knowing that she was a Home Economics major in college, I had always enjoyed her well-planned meals. Now, I couldn't seem to eat them. A chocolate pizza at seven in the morning made me sick (was that morning sickness?), tomato and garlic salad, so full of vitamins, left me cold (I couldn't get past the whole buttons of garlic) creamed fish and green peas.

"Oh," I would cry at the night. "Please hurry, my stomach is starving me."

Through the entire day, Kay stood up, nancy-induced, amazingly well. She and peeted me, loved me, cherished and adored me.

Without her, I am if the baby would be born.

At last, the time of the blessed event to which I had been heading for so long. Kay grabbed her bag, I went and away we went.

At the reception, Kay whisked Kay down the corridor. I was alone. The minutes ticked into hours. I waited and waited, my mind off of things.

Picking up a deck of one of the tables, four bridge hands. I bid one spade, the third diamonds, the third clubs.

"My Gosh," I screamed to my feet. "I was a twin!"

Twins! I thought, we name them? Some goes together, I remember... The only thing of which was Null at the doctor came.

The doctor came. "It's a girl."

Life is about to get real at home now. My weight back on planned meals. The baby is a beautiful pink, in of a local painter and lar check of mine!

The baby's name called her Junior, after got to carry on with

DR. BILL D. MURPHY

Dr. Murphy New Physician Here

Dr. Bill D. Murphy, 26, is a new physician at Littlefield Hospital Clinic, it was announced Wednesday.

Dr. Murphy, who finished high school at Dimmitt in West Texas, took his pre-medical courses at Abilene Christian College, and graduated from the Southwest Medical School at the University of Texas, Dallas, June 1 last year.

His internship was served at St. Joseph Hospital in Fort Worth.

Dr. Murphy and his wife, Charlene, have four children, Andy, 7; Marianna, 5; Elizabeth, 3, and Lavanda, 1. They are members of the Church of Christ.

The 76-year-old Charneau began collecting Indian arrowheads and relics on his father's farm near Mount Clemens, Mich. The miniature collection began in 1900 with a medal, meerschaum pipe and jeweled bird picked up that year at the Paris Exposition while he was in the Navy.

They run down to the Lord's Prayer reduced to the size of a point of a needle.

Sandhills Philosopher Philosopher Believes TV Helps Conventions

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his John Trueman grass farm is getting set for the summer National Political Conventions, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor: A neighbor of mine who has worked sixteen hours a day, dodging traffic, fighting to be the last to get out of his car near my house yesterday morning and was working on the spare on so he could rush on into town to get his tractor so he could get back to work and I was standing there helping, somewhat, at least I offered to help but he figured I'd be in the way, so he said, "No thanks, you probably want to get back in your field and get on with your work. Here, take this newspaper. I understand you like to read em. I never have time to read one myself."

I didn't say anything, but I took the paper and went back home, not to my field. I don't need outside advice on how to run this farm, and sat down on the porch and read where Harry Truman isn't going to the Democratic Convention in Los Angeles.

This news, the article said, stunned a lot of people, as Mr. Truman always has attended Democratic National Conventions. All the experts seemed baffled. Regardless of what reason Mr.

Most complex is a painting of Ecuador's 26,000-foot Mt. Chimborazo, including llamas grazing on the foothills, a red coated herder, and four people on the beach of a mountain lake. His daughter, Mrs. Clair Warren of Wenatchee, Wash., has another Ecuadorian landscape reduced to a pinhead by the same artist.

These are by no means the smallest items in the microscopic collection of Charneau, who carries in his wallet such things as four miniature Norwegian fish-jobs and "The world's smallest ball bearing."

The appraiser, who has shown parts of his collection around the

Meanwhile, though, when the Democratic convention starts in Los Angeles, and the Republican convention starts in Chicago, I'll be on hand, sitting comfortably at home on my Johnson grass farm out here, waiting to see which party really gets smart and writes a government-financed picture-tube replacement plank into its platform. That's one phase of the farm problem everybody seems to have overlooked.

AUSTIN — When the various states go to battle to capture new industries, other states go in with common-sense budgets. But not Texas.

Texas is, by comparison, fighting with a rubber band and spit balls. At least that's the view of the man who heads the Texas effort, Wilbur E. Dickerson.

Dickerson, an executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, directs himself. He has no staff and no secretary. Legislature allotted him $23,750 a year to do a job for which the neighboring "poor" state of Arkansas spends more than a half-million a year.

Dickerson uses his slim funds for a brochure on Texas and, since out-of-state travel is impossible, long-distance telephoning. He's also seeking additional funds from Texas firms to carry on the work.

Next winter, he'll be before the legislature to ask for more money to give Texas an even break in the intensely competitive industry-seeking field.

Dickerson's pleas come against a background of warnings that Texas manufacturing has not been growing fast enough to offset the decline of oil and agriculture. Some areas, such as the Gulf Coast, are becoming highly industrialized, but Texas needs more industry all over, say the economists. If it is to avoid a stall.

More manufacture of products for the Texas consumer market is especially recommended. Dickerson has data showing that Texans send $2,500,000,000 of their money out of state to buy manufactured products.

Dickerson also supports his urging for a beefed-up Industrial Commission with figures showing that new industry is literally "money in the bank" for a town and state.

For each industry with 100 employees — not a particularly big one — bank deposits jump $270,000 and retail sales $300,000 per year.

BUSINESS TOTALS TUMBLE — Texas most recent business activity reports are not entirely rosy, either.

Retail trade for May was down 2 per cent from April and 4 per cent from a year ago, according to the University Bureau of Business Research.

Building construction was also in a downward spiral, 3 per cent from April and 11 per cent from last year. Building decline between April and May was due to a sharp drop in home building. Non-residential construction was up 3 per cent.

Slow down in retail buying was unexpected, inasmuch as employment, income and savings are at an all-time high. An increase in home building is hoped for as a result of eased FHA down payment requirements. More home buying would, in turn, stimulate more retail buying, particularly furniture, appliances and hardware.

GAS TAX LOSES ROUND — Texas' new natural gas severance beneficiary tax flunked its first court test when an Austin district judge ruled it unconstitutional.

Judge Jack Roberts held the tax violated the U. S. Constitution's prohibition against levying a tax on interstate commerce. Severance beneficiary tax is aimed at the natural gas pipeline companies who, the tax's supporters contend, benefit from taking the gas from Texas soil and should pay a tax for these benefits. Most pipelines operate on a national scale. Producers, the people who actually take the gas from the ground, already pay a tax.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, representing the state, said he would appeal Roberts' decision, probably not in time for the next Legislature to know whether the state can count on any revenue from that source. Estimated yield is about $7,500,000 a year.

Gov. Price Daniel said he was "keenly disappointed" in the district court decision, especially in that it saw no difference between the severance beneficiary tax and the old gas gathering tax which lost out in the courts.

Daniel said he was confident this tax eventually would be upheld.

STRAY LIVESTOCK LAW IN FORCE — Farmers are warned to pen their livestock and keep them penned, or be subject to a $200 fine and impoundment of the animals.

The new law relates to horses, mules, donkeys, cows, bulls, loose on state and federal highways. Farm and ranch roads are not included.

An increasing number of deaths and injuries due to auto collisions with stray animals necessitated the law.

Heretofore the motorist was liable.

SCHOOL PROBLEM ERUPTS — At the instigation of Texas Commissioner of Education, J. W. Edgar, Brownboro school officials, both board and superintendent, are resigning en masse.

Decision was reached after an involved and rather heated hearing in Austin to review school conflicts that had resulted in a killing at a Brownboro school board meeting.

Homer Bass was appealing his dismissal by the Brownboro school board when his contract as superintendent still had two years to go. Board members charged Bass with instructing teachers how to vote in school board elections, handling school funds carelessly and failing to meet state accreditation standards.

Several board members said they felt mass resignation was a good solution that would enable the community to start afresh on a peaceable basis.

BIGGER BUDGETS ASKED — Three state agencies presented their requests for funds for the Sept. 1, 1961 - Aug. 31, 1963 period. All want more than they are now spending.

Legislative and governor's office budget staffs are reviewing the requests of State Health Department, State Board of Insurance and Texas Employment Commission.

Health wants an 18 per cent increase to a total of $17,000,000 for the coming biennium.

Bureau Presents to Democrats

President of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics has presented to the American Federation of Labor and Congress Industrial Organizations a report on the state of the agricultural economy.

The report, which was prepared by the Bureau's research and statistics division, shows that the agricultural economy is in a state of transition. It points out that the demand for agricultural products is increasing, but that the supply is not keeping pace with the demand.

The report also points out that the agricultural economy is being affected by a number of factors, including the increase in the cost of production, the decrease in the price of agricultural products, and the increase in the demand for agricultural products.

The report concludes that the agricultural economy is in a state of transition and that it is necessary for the government to take action to stabilize the economy. It suggests that the government should provide financial assistance to farmers and should take steps to increase the supply of agricultural products.

Texans Aided Visit By Sudan Man In North Carolina Is Good 'Medicine' For Ailing Brother Of Farm Bill

Four representatives of the West Texas Agriculture Employers Group were in Washington June 20-25 working in behalf of the Farm Labor bill, which was passed by the House last Thursday.

This bill called for the extension of Public Law 78, which governs the use of Braceros in agriculture labor in this country.

The House version of this bill called for a two-year extension and Washington representatives indicated the House version probably would be passed by the Senate later this summer, when Congress re-convenes.

Representing the WTAEG were A. M. Muldrow, Brownfield; W. G. Boyd, Lamesa; C. E. Jackson, O'Donnell; and Ed Dean, Lubbock, secretary.

The group worked through Congressman George Mahon and with other congressional representatives and met with the National Users Group to consider including legislation which called for curtailing Secretary of Labor Mitchell's power over domestic labor.

Representatives from Arizona, California and Wisconsin opposed such action and the National Users Group voted to work for the two-year extension although WTAEG representatives voted to stand firm to try and curb Secretary Mitchell's powers over domestic agricultural labor.

If the Senate passed the House version calling for an extension of Public Law 78 it will insure Bracero labor for agriculture for two more years, from June 1961 until June 1963.

The payment approach carries a "cheap food" philosophy; however, in actual practice it would encourage inefficiency and thereby result in high food and fiber costs. Limitations on payments to individuals are inevitable in payment programs. Such limitations would place a ceiling on opportunity in agriculture and level individual farm incomes downward.

Accompanying Foust to North Carolina were Mrs. Foust and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Workman, Arlington.

The newspaper said that the city now has "600,000 in '60." I'll vouch for it; they got 600,000 because all 600,000 of them were out on the highways and streets over the 4th of July. And those who weren't actually in the Oklahoma capital city during the 4th were on their ways back Monday afternoon. We know, we met them all.

But the old-time glamour of the 4th of July is gone. Here was this big city where the Martins said quick howdys to as many friends as possible during a long weekend, and there was nary a firecracker! What's the world coming to? No fire crackers. Out on the edge of the city a group of boys and girls were in a roped-off place where they were shooting off sissy-size firecrackers. It was one of those places that the city had set up for those who just must hear the pop of a firecracker nice, careful supervised fireproof areas where the boys and girls could shoot baby-size crackers to their heart's content. It was well supervised one - almost expected to see a uniformed fireman standing by with a fire extinguisher and an ambulance ready to take anyone injured in this "dangerous sport to the nearest hospital! It was all pretty sissy, and doubtless the departed grandfathers of some of the kids were rolling over in their graves in sheer embarrassment.

But 19 years ago when the Martins moved to that city it was a different story. The police threatened in those days, but that was about all the good it did. Junior - little and small - shot firecrackers - the big, kind - sized kind. It sounded like a miniature war.

Now those were the days! Of course a few for their eyes, blown out every 4th, and a few lost arms, legs and other assorted body parts, but look at the fun they had. (Or did they?) Now the picture is changed, and Junior who wants to live dangerously must shoot fireworks (miniature) in an enclosed and supervised pen.

All and all it was a pretty nice weekend. The friends whom we visited had aged considerably more than the Martins had, as is always the case. But when the Sunday issue went to bed, the place here closed its doors and the assorted employees took to their automobiles and rode rapidly off in all directions.

We chose Oklahoma City as the place we would favor with our presence. Had forgotten how humid it is farther east, and how crowded old U. S. 66 can get, especially on holidays. There were actually more motorists than there were patrol radar traps.

The old city had bulged considerably (as had some of our friends) during the going-on-three years that we have been away. There were new shopping centers everywhere each one seeming to vie with the others for which could cost the most to build. Never did actually get around to going downtown, but what city is growing in its downtown areas anyway? Uptown shopping centers have taken on care of such things, leaving the downtown boys worrying their heads off while the high rent goes on just the same.

And just as everywhere else these days, the folks were bouncing up and down on trampolines all over the place.

And just as here in Littlefield, people are from some other place. Folks get around more than they used to, and very few, it seems, live and die in the same house. Just like the young fellow working in the filling station in Oklahoma City Monday afternoon who said he is from Levelland, and the man who was paying his check at the cafeteria Monday noon at the same time we were said he grew up in Sudan. "How are crops?" he wanted to know.

And that's the way it goes. People migrate. A native anywhere these days is a fellow who has lived there for five years.

Having encountered such a large portion of motorized America on U. S. 66 between Amarillo and Oklahoma City Saturday afternoon, we decided to come back the "southern route" via Lawton, Vernon and west. The rest of motorized America seemed to have chosen the same route we did.

And then at Matador the automobile's generator expired, and we had to spend the night there, coming on in here early Tuesday and splashing through tons of water that tire clouds had dumped on West Texas during the night. There goes that new fall suit swapped out for an automobile generator!

And so ended another grand and glorious Fourth of July, U. S. A.

The United States has more than 7,000 hospitals.

SHAMROCK

NOW retain more squares and blossoms. Get larger bolls and increased yield on COTTON!

PX-1 SPECIAL-Z FOLIAR NUTRIENT

The benefits derived from leaf feeding phosphorus, in the form of PX-1, have been thoroughly established. Now, to meet needs of many areas, a companion product has been developed which provides both phosphorus and zinc! It is called PX-1 Special-Z.

It has been definitely determined that minute quantities of zinc are necessary to trigger certain growth processes, and in the development of normal growth regulating substances in any plant.

Cotton growers, in particular, will find the use of PX-1 Special-Z beneficial, as many of the cotton growing regions of California, Arizona and the Southwest have soil conditions in which zinc is not available in sufficient quantities to promote optimum development of the cotton crop. Field tests in these areas have shown that PX-1 Special-Z, applied at the onset of the reproductive phase of the cotton plant aids in holding more squares, blossoms and bolls, resulting in decidedly increased yield!

SAFE... PX-1 is harmless to people, pets, livestock and plants. INEXPENSIVE, TOO... Only 1 pint of PX-1 is used per acre, per application, and it may be applied with your insecticide to cut application costs.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

What do we mean when we say that in the United States we have a "government of law" and not a "government of men"? Basically we mean that we have certain individual rights, guaranteed by our federal and state constitutions and laws, which may not be denied by any governing body.

The early American colonists had their fill of government by men, and the Declaration of Independence, signed 184 years ago, set out their complaints against that type of government and revealed their belief in a principle which we now accept as basic to our American way of life.

The indictments set out in the document against King George III of Great Britain charged him with numerous violations of that principle. Among the complaints enumerated are the following:

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent for laws for establishing judicial powers."

"He has made judges dependent upon his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

"He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts or pretended legislation: . . . For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury; For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences; . . . For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments; . . . For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever."

Our forefathers who subscribed to the principles of the Declaration of Independence were willing to fight for their beliefs. The Revolutionary War followed, dragging through weary years of suffering and suspense. Each of us takes pride in their eventual triumph over gigantic obstacles.

In 1787, when the framers of our Constitution met at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence had been signed 11 years previously, they set to work to create a system of checks and balances in government which was to perpetuate the fundamental theory mentioned in the preamble of the earlier document:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

"That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; . . ."

Some 5 years later, the first 10 amendments to our Constitution were adopted at one time, specifically detailing various basic civil rights stemming from the underlying theory of the Declaration of Independence.

Our courts day by day guard these rights for us.
