Damage Of Southern Pine Bark Beetle Is Decreasing

College Station, Tex. (AP) The Texas Forest Service says the attack of Southern Pine Bark Beetle in Southwest Texas appears to have lost its momentum.

It has killed 50 million board feet of sawtimber and 39,000 cords of pulpwood in the past two years, the service estimated.

The Beetle's natural enemies have been the primary cause for its decline, the service said. Chief among these is the Clerid Beetle. The epidemic of the Pine Bark Beetle was centered in northern Liberty County, southwestern Hardin County and northeastern Harris County.

2 tablespoons molasses, 1½ cups milk, 1½ cups ready-to-eat bran, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted).

Method: Into large mixing bowl sift flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt. Rinse raisins in hot water and drain well. Lone Star 4-H'er Wins Sectional Honors in Soil Conservation

Jerry C. McDaniel

Jerry C. McDaniel, 14, of Gainesville, Texas, was among the 16 4-H'ers named as sectional winners in the 4-H Soil and Water Conservation program. His award, a trip to National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, was provided by Firestone. He lives in a section of sandy land where a great deal of soil building is needed.

The family's 82-acre farm is worked almost entirely by Jerry and a younger brother, as their father is employed. The first move was terracing to stop washing away of land. After soil testing, intensive fertilization and contour plowing, the soil was ready for planting. Crop rotation and striping were practiced. Good pasture management has enabled them to graze 13 animals of improved stock.

Jerry uses vetch as both cover and green manure crop, and finds his program of conservation has increased farm production and improved their home life. He has held all of the offices in his club, has completed 32 projects and earned many awards.

This activity is conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

Panhandle Newspaper Publisher To Be Honored At Texas University Today

David M. Warren, Panhandle newspaper publisher and banker, will be honored for his interest in local history in ceremonies today (Thursday) at the University of Texas.

An Award of Merit will be presented to Warren and his Panhandle Herald by the American Association for State and Local History. The presentation will be made by Dr. H. Bailey Carroll, Texas State Historical Association director.

Dr. Carroll believes Warren, who is vice-chairman of the University's Board of Regents, is the first man ever to receive the award on recommendation of two state historical bodies. Both the Texas State Historical Association and Missouri Historical Society proposed his name for the Award of Merit.

Active in obtaining support for the Panhandle Plains Museum at Canyon, Warren is former president of the Panhandle Plains Historical Society, with headquarters at Canyon. He was a life member of the Texas State Historical Association before being named to the Board of Regents in November, 1944. He was re-appointed to the board in 1949 for a six-year term.

Warren received a bachelor of journalism degree from the University of Missouri in 1917 and came to Texas in 1918, beginning his newspaper career in Amarillo. Prior to 1931, he operated a chain of newspapers which blanketed the entire North Plains area.

As a member of the University's Board of Regents, he has taken special interest in the School of Journalism and its new building which will open in 1952.

His son, David M. Warren, Jr., is a senior business administration student at the University.

back to school; a young man who is a student at a law school; a fat middleaged, good-natured Italian woman and her children; the wealthy and naughty Mrs. Reginald Vanderventer, who looks down her nose at the other travelers. Then there is a nosey old maid, Miss Pidge McDeugal, who spends her time finding out other people's business—or trying to; a peculiar looking deaf man who has a mysterious old suitcase which he never lets out of his hands, thus whetting Miss Pidge's ingrowing curiosity. There is an engaged couple; the girl a flighty and domineering, and the young man hen-pecked but managing to escape her clutches now and then. The best comedy part is that of Silas Dobbins, who works around the station, sweeping and putting coal into the old stove. He keeps the others laughing with his natural wit.

"The crowd is thrown into pandemonium when Mrs. Vanderventer discovers that her $10,000 string of pearls is missing. Someone in the waiting room has them, but who? Miss Pidge, with her natural tendency for sleuthing, looks for them and finally locates them in the most unexpected place . . . the lunch basket of Mrs. Guarino, who is thus put in a very bad spot. In spite of the evidence against her, Bill Lindsay, the prospective lawyer, is convinced that she is innocent. He announces that he is going to hold a preliminary trial and appoints a judge, jury, etc. He himself will defend Mrs. Guarino. In a very clever way he clears her and exposes the guilty party. Then Miss Pidge puts over a smart trick and finds out what is in the mysterious suitcase—much to her regret."

The cast includes "Bill Lindsay, played by Mike Stevens, "John Morgan, Billy Jaquess; "Silas Dobbins," Don Erwin; "Oscar Pozenly, Leroy Williams; "Willie Woodson," Larry Rrice; "Pidge McDougal," Lena Mae Bass; "Antonio Guarino," Carrie Ivie; "Mrs. Guarino," Preble Lewis; "Flickie Nelson," Jean Onstead; "Jean Parker," Delores Chandler; "Betty Phillips," Edwina Schovajsa; "Mrs. Reginald Vanderventer," Doris M. ing east after having attended church services in Whitharral.

The three boys were in a 1950 Ford driven by Melton. They were enroute to hunt wildfowl, and also were driving east along the road.

Hockley county Sheriff Charles Bullock said his investigation indicated that at the moment Mrs. Timms prepared to make a left turn off the farm road into a road which led to her home, the second car attempted to pass her.

The car driven by Melton struck the left rear of the front car, pushing both beyond the intersection. Robbie Lee Timms was thrown from the car and onto the road. The impact of the collision slammed the car over her body, and she was pinned under the car until passers-by lifted the vehicle and freed her.

everywhere. He has promised he will talk some to the children while here if he is not too tired from his long trip.

Over a million children in Texas alone have thrilled to the sight of seeing Santa drive his animals and wave as he stood in his sleigh.

Reindeer Are Interesting
The parade will be a rare treat indeed to children and adults who have never seen live reindeer. The festive occasion in this city will provide a double thrill, for adults enjoy Santa Claus just as much as their children, and are caught up in the spirit of the occasion.

In all cities the crowds swarm the streets hours before the parade begins. As Saint Nick, his bright red sleigh and the reindeer come in sight, throngs almost block their way to see the animals.

Some want to spell out their names. Children's eyes blaze with excitement as they shout almost in unison, "Mother! Daddy! There's Santa Claus and his reindeer." Others want to see if the animals perspire, while a few want to touch the smooth antlers of the transplanted Arctic reindeer.

May Raise Reindeer
The idea that reindeer would not be as far south as Texas did not deter Grady Garothers. Point is they are living on his ranch and this year he brought out twenty-three more to prove his idea even more correct. Included in the latest shipment were twelve females. So, some of these days there may be some tiny reindeer on th ranch.

So you wait and see . . . Santa Claus will be here with his sleigh and reindeer. Right now he's making up your list of toys you want for Christmas for Santa is working overtime in his huge toyshop at the North Pole to help satisfy every childish heart.

There's restless reindeer feet in Texas today. Donder and Blitzen have tried on their parade harness, and honestly they look splendid in it. Dancer and Prancer are getting shiny new harness, too. Santa is making feverish preparations for his visit to Littlefield and the sleigh is getting a new coat of flaming red at North Pole headquarters.

"Water Pastures" For Winter Survival Says Lamb County District Supervisor

Now is the time to irrigate pastures and legumes according to a report issued by the Lamb Co. district board of supervisors at their regular monthly meeting held Monday night in Amherst. It was pointed out by the board that young seedlings of alfalfa, clovers, vetch, winter peas and irrigated grasses will stand a better chance of surviving a severe winter if the root systems do not suffer from lack of moisture. Good use of wells can be made at this season to store much needed subsoil moisture which will reduce the amount of watering time needed for applications next summer when wells are in use irrigating row crops.

mediately to plow, chisel, or list their land, especially where cotton has been machine harvested, where plant cover is inadequate to hold the soil from blowing, and before land gets too hard to plow.

Several farmers over the district who have irrigation wells took the opportunity in late summer and fall to get cover crops planted in their cotton and grain sorghums and are in a much better position to hold their soil through the blowing season than those who did not, as well as having green pasture to graze with green manure crops to turn under in the spring for soil improvement. Legumes showing the most promise are madrid clover, austrian winter peas, hairy vetch, and mixtures of vetch and small grain.

Sudan Man Lost His Life In Fall From O. L. Shannon Co. Feed Mill

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, in Church of Christ at Sudan, for Roy West, 45, who lost his life, last Friday afternoon. Burial was in Sudan Cemetery with M. L. Payne Funeral Home at Amherst in charge of arrangements.

Mr. West lost his life Friday afternoon, in a 35 foot fall from a new feed mill, he was working on at Sudan. He was employed by the O. L. Shannon Elevator company.

Witnesses said that West, who had been at the top of the structure building cement forms, had put his foot on a ladder to descend to the ground for lunch when he apparently lost his balance and fell down into the interior of the building.

Before hitting the floor, he struck his head on the cement floor of the second level of the structure about 12 feet from the ground floor, then fell downward again through an opening left for a stairway. His head was crushed by the blow against the second story flooring.

Henry Stanley, another member of the crew working at the top of the structure, stood by the wooden ladder which was built up the side of the structure, waiting for West to descend so he could follow. He said the man "must have lost his footing."

O. L. Shannon said another worker at the top of the structure gave a report similar to Stanley's.

Mr. West had been a resident of Sudan for 20 years, and had been employed by the elevator for the past two years.

Survivors include his wife; and five sons, Kenneth West, Hobbs, N.M., and Keith, Tommy, Merle and Gary all at home.

Football Queen

Miss Pillion was escorted to the stage by Bill Brantley, and was crowned Queen by Joe Walden and Freddy Howard, co-captains of the football team, and they also presented her with a bouquet of red rosebuds. Her little nephew, Glynn Talley was crown bearer. Bob Irby sang "Because of You," accompanied by Rosa Lee Hemphill, who also played the processional and recessional.

For the coronation ceremony the sweetheart wore a lovely dress of white nylon net, fashioned with strapless, rhinestone bodice, with tightfitting waist, on which was gathered a short pep... and a full gathered skirt, of floor length. Her "Royal" Cape was of white satin.

Sorosis Sunday School Class Enjoy Luncheon

The Sorosis Sunday School class of the First Methodist church enjoyed a one o'clock luncheon and Christmas party held in the church parlor Tuesday afternoon.

Hostesses for the occasion included Mesdames W. C. Thaxton, J. C. Elms, Beryl Rogers and Leonard McNeese.

The tables were laid with white cloths, designed with poinsettias along the sides and at the corners. Centering the table was a unique Christmas arrangement of a "Methodist" church, made and designed by Stacy Hart, which is on display in the Hart-Thaxton window, and a huge Santa Claus, and "angels".

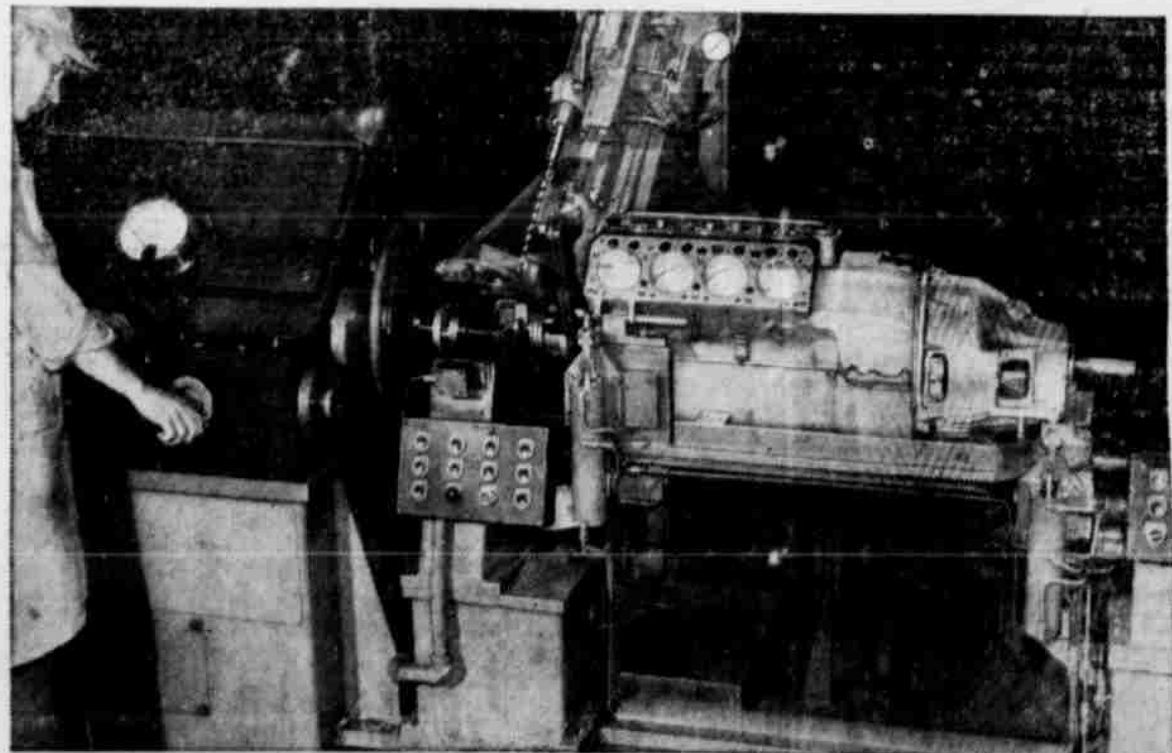

Mrs. Frank Beauchamp gave the devotional, and Mrs. J. D. Dodgen gave a Christmas reading.

An exchange of Christmas gifts was enjoyed following the program.

Approximately twenty-two members were present. Mrs. I. T. Shotwell, jr., is class teacher.

Those attending were Mesdames Dick Edwards, Joel Thomson, H. C. Elkins, Frank Beauchamp, J. T. Elms, W. C. Thaxton, John Wood, Tom Grant, Willis Giddens, R. A. Brotherton, W. H. Petty, Ben Japlin, J. D. Dodgen, Charles Calvert, J. E. McGee, Dutch Higgins, Van Clark, Beryl Rogers, Carl Arnold, J. E. Bussamus, Leonard McNeese, Bell Dow.

ELECTRONIC "BRAIN" BALANCES CHRYSLER ENGINES

Marking another advance in high-speed engine balancing is this machine which Chrysler Division of the Chrysler Corporation has put in operation on the FirePower V-8 engine assembly line to balance not only the 180-horsepower engine but its torque converter as well. Weighing 12 tons and costing $50,000, this balancing machine uses its electronic "brain" to determine the location and the amount of unbalance present in the engine. It then "tells" a welding unit the location and amount of strip to be welded to the torque converter and a drilling unit how much material must be drilled out of the dampener to bring the engine into perfect balance. The resulting elimination of vibration and the unparalleled smoothness of operation assures longer life and more efficient operation for FirePower engines.

SEATTLE—The blasting fists of Harry (Kid) Matthews will be shooting at larger targets in the future.

"We're tired of trying to force Joe Maxim (the light-heavy champ) to fight us," says Jack Hurley, Matthews' pilot.

"Evidently Maxim and his manager, Jack Kearns, have made up their minds to keep on ignoring us."

"So we'll just forget about them and start chasing the heavyweight champion, Joe Walcott, and contender Rocky Marciano. We'd like to fight Marciano first for the right to fight Walcott."

Hurley's efforts to get topnotch light-heavy opposition for Matthews had attracted nationwide attention and prompted a congressional investigation to determine if a boxing trust was in operation. The peak of the Kid's career, which includes 64 victories and a draw in his last 65 fights, was a decision over Irish Bob Murphy last winter in Madison Square Garden.

"Harry will be a strong 178 or 180 as a heavyweight," his manager says. "He's rapidly becoming one of the best finishers in the business. If he gets the other guy in trouble, look out."

Several heavyweights have been included in the Kid's list of victims.

Lamb County Leader THURSDAY AND SUNDAY SPORTS

LITTLEFIELD, TEXAS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1951

George Douglass of the Tulelake, Calif., 20-30 Club was one of the leaders in the project which resulted in 26 veteran patients of the U.S. Naval Hospital at Oakland being the guests of Tulelake for the opening of the California pheasant season. Douglass is shown piloting two veterans on the hunting fields. The gunners (l. to r.) are T/Sgt. Robert Kennemore of Oakland and Pfc. M. J. Meade of Madison, Wis. Both are Marines. The two veterans shot the pheasants and geese shown on the jeep hood.

Hunting Pheasants By Jeep Is Break For Wounded GI's

By JIM THOMAS

AP Newsfeatures
TULELAKE, Calif.—The joys of the hunting field were renewed here by 26 badly wounded war veterans who were guests of this little Northern California town at the opening of the pheasant season.

The disabled veterans, Marine patients in the U.S. Naval hospital at Oakland, were flown to Klamath Falls, Ore., where their hosts met and drove them to the various homes where they stayed for three days.

The project, in which the entire town and a goodly number of other persons in the area participated, was conceived by the Tulelake's 20-30 club, which has a membership made up largely of war veterans.

Because of their disabilities, regulations forbidding shooting from a vehicle were relaxed for the veterans, who happily banged away at Chinese pheasants, ducks and geese from jeeps piloted by the local men.

The disabled vets, some missing arms and legs, arrived at the airport, accompanied by hospital aides, the Friday morning before pheasant season opened. As soon as the veterans had been introduced to their hosts in the homes they were to stay, they were rushed away to the great Tule Lake and Lower Klamath Federal Waterfowl refuges, both of which are within a few minutes drive. Shotgun, ammunition and even state licenses were provided by the host club.

There, through the cooperation of Tom Horne, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service manager of the refuges, it was arranged for the veterans to be driven into the shooting grounds. Normally, hunters must park in a specified area and walk to the shooting spots.

Nearly all the veterans got a duck or a goose the first day, and on the second tried their hands at shooting pheasants on the first morning of the season. Sunday morning they had another try at the waterfowl and then took off for Oakland.

George Douglass, project chairman of the 20-30 club, handled the details of the excursion, but the entire town entered into the project when it became known. A banquet for the visitors Saturday night turned out to be one of Tulelake's biggest civic gatherings.

So great was the success of the venture, reports Douglass, that the club is thinking of making the project an annual affair, so long as there are wounded veterans who would like to hunt and can't get out on their own power.

North Texas Dominates All-Texas College Teams

Two former Littlefield football players have been named to the All-Texas College Football team selected by the Dallas Morning News in their first annual selection. Gene McCanlies, end for Howard Payne, and Sabin Hendrickson, back for McMurry have been named to the team.

Howard Payne and Abilene Christian College, co-champions of the Texas Conference, each placed two players on the offensive team, while the Christians from Abilene also landed an end, Stan Staples, on the defensive squad. Two Howard Payne gridders won honorable mention.

Particularly outstanding players were McMurry's Sabin Hendrickson and Texas A&I's Jack Sportsman, who were placed on the defensive backfield; Midwestern's Jack Stiles, a defensive guard, and North Texas' massive Jim Brewer and Bill Bishop. Gene McCanlies was one of the best pass receivers in the conference while Quincy Armstrong of North Texas is a candidate for Little-All-American honors.

Softball Hits Italy

VIVA LE REGAZZE (Hooray for the girls)—Young women in Milan, Italy, have learned a good deal about softball. Here Virginia Zambelli, captain of the Ambrosiana team, whips an underhand pitch.

By LUCIANO FERRARI

AP Newsfeatures
MILAN, Italy—A new kind of working girls' Saturday has come to Italy.

It's drawing pretty good crowds, too.

For the Milan Yankees and the Hit Mores have just finished Italy's first World Series—in girls' softball.

There are only about 50 teams, all started since the war. In Italy, any kind of baseball is new.

But softball, with working girls in blue slacks, is even newer.

The Yankees and the Hit Mores are the first two teams to be formed, both in Milan. Others are being organized in Rome, Turin, Bologna and Parma.

So far they've played a series of six games. The Hit Mores won four and Libertas, or the Yankees, two.

Libertas was formed a year ago by the Signora Jole Galeona, wife of Dr. Piero Galeone who is President of Milan's Libertas men's baseball club.

The team has recruited 15 players, captained by Bruna Finzio, an accountant in a Milanese printing house. Most of the other players also are working girls, averaging about 20 years old.

The Hit Mores, who are changing their name to Ambrosiana, were formed a few months ago under the coaching of Sergio Coradeschini, an architect.

His team of 22 players is captained by Virginia Zambelli, an accountant student. Youngest player on the team is Vittoria Zambelli, the captain's little sister.

Football's Atom Bomb -- That's Meyer Spread

AP Newsfeatures
FORT WORTH—The Meyer Spread—that formation aimed at a cascade of touchdowns—is being called the atom of football.

It's living up to its name this season with Texas Christian University. But, says Flem Hall, Fort Worth Star-Telegram sports editor who has been watching football for many years, "If they ever manage to set the full charge off they'll blow opponents into little pieces."

The spread, as originated in its modern form by Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer and as polished and perfected by the TCU staff over the last seven seasons, has a vast potential.

Southern California ran into it several weeks ago. Baylor felt its sweeping power more recently.

It has Texas Christian as a power in the Southwest Conference race.

"I guess I have been using it off and on ever since I was coaching the TCU freshmen," says Meyer. "and that was back in 1923. It all depends on the material that available. We're using it almost exclusively this year. We couldn't get any place using the single or double wing. And that's why we tossed aside the T-wing this year. We didn't have the players to make it go."

Meyer explains that his spread formation helps the team to offset the foes' edge in weight and manpower because the spread utilizes

DUTCH MEYER
 Boss of TCU Spread

angle blocking. As often as not a blocker will bang into a defensive player from a direction he isn't suspecting. In that way it's possible for an 180-pounder to manhandle a 210-pounder.

"It's so tough to stop, that our own kids hate to scrimmage against it," says Meyer. "Last year Frank Struska used to gripe every time he had to scrimmage against the spread. 'I get banged up more in scrimmage than I do in a game," he complained. In the spread, too, the hole is already there for the ball-carrier. All the blocker has to do is to keep the defensive man standing where he is. He doesn't have to move him. Just keep him in his holes."

Against Baylor, TCU committed eight fumbles, had two passes intercepted and no one knows how many missed signals and blocks. But the Meyer Spread got three touchdowns against one of the better defensive units of the country.

For only a few minutes in games with Arkansas and Texas A&M did the Horned Frogs get hot on offense, but in those brief spans they scored enough points to win. They earned four touchdowns against the fine Southern California team but tossed away at least two others.

In the past few years TCU has had the conference's total offense leader each time the quarterback worked with the Meyer Spread—Lindy Berry, Gil Bartosh, Mal Fowler and now Ray McKown.

"To do well as tailback of the TCU spread, a boy has to be both a fair runner and a good passer," Flem Hall says. "It helps if he punts, too. He must be versatile but not necessarily both a Sam Baugh and a Kyle Rote. His effectiveness pays off in ratio to the sharpness of his skill plus his ability to confuse the defense with fakes."

Here's a shot of the stretch and slide that's relay authentic. Catcher Clare Mazza holds her ground while awaiting the ball, but Anna Magri slides home safely in a Milan girls' softball game.

New Farm To Market Roads For County

The State Highway Commission has passed an order which designates Farm to Market road construction in Lamb County.

The work contemplated will be a part of the continuing State financed and State constructed Farm road program. This program was approved first by the Texas Legislature in 1949 and re-enacted this year. It is a cooperative program in that the right-of-way necessary for the development of the road is furnished by the property owners and the County. The selections were made after careful cooperative study by your County Officials and this Department, the objective being to include the most important county roads in the State Highway System. After the road is constructed, it will be maintained by the Texas Highway Department in the future years.

The Texas Farm to Market road system had its beginning at the close of World War II when the Texas Highway Department embarked on a program of construction of important Farm to Market roads to extend all-weather traffic service into the rural areas of this State. Each year, as additional funds have been made available to the Department for this specific purpose, we have been able to extend more and more of these important feeder roads into the rural areas of Texas. At the present time the State has added 19,000 miles of these roads which were formerly county roads, and this new program will add an additional 2,500 miles of such roads, making a total of 21,500 miles of rural roads that have either been constructed or financed for construction by the State of Texas since the close of World War II.

While it took this State 35 years to build a primary highway system of 16,000 miles, a larger mileage of State Farm to Market roads has been achieved in approximately six years. Thus the Farm to Market roads are generally new; the primary highways generally old. The Texas Farm to Market roads tie into the main primary highways, giving the citizens of this State a connected paved road system.

The Texas Highway Department considers it a privilege to have a part in adding such a large mileage of farm roads to the State Highway System. This rapid increase in the number and mileage of Farm to Market roads benefits not only the rural areas of Texas but assists the movement of motor vehicle traffic that is vital to our economic welfare.

Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Law

Public Safety Director Homer Garrison, Jr., emphasized in a statement recently that the state's new Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Law does not give his Department the slightest judicial authority to determine questions of fault before applying the law's full requirements to motorists who are involved in severe traffic accidents.

"The saddest mistake a motorist can make," Director Garrison said, "is to think the state cannot compel him to furnish proof of his ability to meet damage claims and suspend all of his motoring privileges meeting the new law's security requirements if he fails to do so, because he is quite sure he was not to blame. Those who imagine they can count until a court decides the issue of fault will find that they are wrong."

"This does not mean that any motorist will be required to pay for damages he did not cause, or that he does not have full recourse to the courts if he feels that any order issued under the new law violates his rights. It does mean, however, that pending a final court decree on a question of liability, the involved owner or operator must satisfy the Texas Department of Public Safety that he is prepared to meet damage claims for which he is apparently responsible."

"Here are the circumstances that will prevail when the new law becomes effective on January 1:

"If you are involved in an accident resulting in death or injury to a person, or property damage exceeding $100 to any one person, including yourself, you must file a complete report with the Department not later than 10 days after the accident. If the report shows that you were properly insured at the time of the accident, you are not subject to the safety responsibility law because it recognizes insurance as proof of ability to meet damage claims up to $15,000.

"If you were not insured, the Department will determine the extent of damages for which you may be held liable, ranging from a minimum of $101 to a maximum of $15,000. You must then furnish the Department with satisfactory proof that you will be able to respond in the fixed amount, either by depositing collateral or posting a bond. You will not be required to furnish any security, however, if you have all other persons involved in the accident release you from liability, obtain a final court decree of non-liability, or execute a legal agreement providing for installment payment of claims. Neither will security be required if you show that your car was legally parked or being operated without your permission, or that all injuries and damages were confined solely to yourself.

"The law allows you a maximum of 70 days, however, in which to satisfy it in any one of these manners—10 days to file your safety responsibility report and 60 days thereafter to satisfy the security requirements. If within the stated period you have not satisfied the law, regardless of how innocent you think you may be, the Texas Department of Public Safety has no alternative but to suspend your operator's license and the registration plates for all cars owned by you.

"Should you later meet one of the security requirements, obtain a final court decree of non-liability, or if a year elapses without court action for damages being filed, the suspension will be lifted immediately; or if security was deposited, it will be returned. In the meantime, however, others involved in the accident have their rights protected, too. Thus our new law is fair to everyone."

Insurance After Discharge . . .

Two new types of low-cost Government life insurance are available to eligible veterans of the U.S. Armed Forces who served anywhere in the world since the Korean Campaign started on June 27, 1950.

The first of the set two types is a non-convertible five-year level premium term policy that may be renewed every five years at the premium rate for the then-attained age.

The second type is a special form of National Service Life Insurance, on either term or permanent plans, that may be issued to disabled veterans whose disabilities have been found to be service-connected.

In this article, the first of a series of four, we will discuss only the five-year level premium term plan. The special NSLI provided for disabled veterans will be discussed in the next article.

To qualify for the five-year level premium term policy (under Section 621 of the NSLI Act), veterans must have been ordered to active duty for 31 days or more; they must have served since June 27, 1950, and they must have been released from active service.

These veterans are eligible, without physical examination, for a five-year level premium term policy in amounts ranging from $1,000 to $10,000, less any other Government life insurance in force at the time of application.

They must apply in writing to Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D.C., within 120 days after their release or separation from active service, and pay the required first premium.

The premium rates for most ages under this policy are the lowest of any Government life insurance yet authorized by the Congress.

While this policy may be renewed every five years at the premium rate for the then-attained age, it is not convertible to any other plan of Government life insurance, nor will it earn dividends.

Because it is a term policy running for only five years, it does not have any loan value, cash surrender value, or extended insurance value. It merely provides life insurance coverage while premiums are being paid for the five-year period.

A veteran taking out this type of policy may name any person or persons, firm or corporation, or his estate as the beneficiary or beneficiaries to whom payments shall be made in event of his death while the policy is in force under premium-paying conditions.

Death payments made to the beneficiary or beneficiaries are exempt from taxation, but the exemption does not extend to any property bought with this money. These payments also are fully exempt from claims of creditors against the insured veteran or his beneficiary or beneficiaries, but this exemption does not apply against the United States.

Veterans who plan to apply for this insurance may do so immediately following separation or release from active service, but they must meet requirements within 120 days after separation or release.

For further information, veterans should contact their nearest VA office immediately after separation or release.

Muleshoe Man Killed In Wreck Buried In Oklahoma Thursday

The body of Ray Willeby, 43, of Muleshoe, was taken overland early Wednesday morning, November 28th to Blanchard, Oklahoma for funeral services and burial.

Willeby was killed instantly and his companion, Stallard Reeves, 33 also of Muleshoe, was injured when the car in which they were riding overturned about 3 p.m. Tuesday at an intersection on a dirt road a mile and one half north of the Shady Rest store west of Muleshoe.

Reeves suffered minor injuries, it was reported, unless there are internal injuries not yet discovered. He is a patient at Green hospital in Muleshoe.

Investigating officers said the car, owned by Reeves, apparently went out of control when it struck a rough spot in the intersection. Both men were thrown from the vehicle and Willeby was pinned beneath.

Fertilizer Needed For 1952 Crop are urged to order and apply now on fertilizers needed to produce the 1952 crop.

According to M. K. Extension agricultural Texas A. & M. College, certain fertilizer materials and labor and difficulties in the stored fertilizers can be stored with little or no loss, if kept dry and stacked in a well-ventilated shed around the amount of sulphuric acid that can be used for manufacturing phosphate fertilizers.

The demand for fertilizers on the other hand is expected to increase about 20 per cent. Farmers who take delivery now will be helping solve the storage and shipping problems and at the same time will be sure they have the fertilizers they need for 1952.

BOYS SHOOT SHARK

The World Greet's Christmas

By CHARLES LYONS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Although Christmas customs vary in many lands all have the same motivation of rejoicing at the birth of the Christ child.

In France the children put their shoes by the fireside when they go to bed Christmas Eve. The parents go to midnight church services and afterwards comes the grand feast, known as "le reveillon," in which geese are served with wine. Christmas is mostly for the children, a holy day and a day of feasting. The great adult feast is New Year's.

In Belgium and the Netherlands, St. Nicholas Day, Dec. 6, is celebrated with the significance of our Dec. 25. On that day in the Netherlands "Sint Nicolaas," robed in ecclesiastical red and white—not the American Santa Claus suit—comes to town. He is attended by Black Peter, his young Moorish servant who carries the presents. There is usually a parade through the city with "Sint Nicolaas" the center of attraction.

The children leave wooden shoes filled with straw and pumpernickel before the chimney for the saint's horse. Good boys get presents.

Christmas is a family feast in Norway. All business stops at noon on Christmas Eve. The children go to church after the traditional luncheon at one o'clock. At the services they sing carols and receive a portion of fruit and marzipan. After the family dinner in the evening the candles on the tree are lighted and presents distributed. On Dec. 26 there is a party for relatives. Parties continue at the homes of various relatives all week.

In the Southern Hemisphere Christmas is celebrated in mid-summer heat. They still have the traditional turkey dinner. Families often got to the seashore or the hills for a picnic.

In England, the day after Christmas is Boxing Day when boxed presents are given to friends and retainers.

In the Middle East, Christmas in the place where Christ lived, has a touch of realism. The patriarch comes from Jerusalem with a troop of cavalry in gorgeous array. The service lasts from 10 p.m. until long after midnight. After the reading of the gospel the clergy and congregation leave the church and journey to the Grotto of the Nativity. A waxen image of the Infant in swaddling clothes is laid on the site where the manger is said to have been located on that first Christmas night.

DRINKING PAYS OFF
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—State Liquor Director William C. Bryant predicts the department's net profit will hit an all-time high of $20 million this year. Ohioans buy liquor through a system of state liquor stores. Bryant says 1951 sales should run between $170 million and $175 million. The previous record profit was $16,943,364 in 1947 on total sales of $137,528,157.

Information On Controlling Rats Given In New Leaflet Available

Warfarin, the new rat and mouse poison, has enabled a northeast Texas poultryman to make a considerable saving in chicken feed, according to the 1951 annual report of the Rodent Control Service. Rats were eating an average of 32 pounds of feed per day, worth $1.60 if valued at five cents a pound. Fifty-eight pounds of warfarin bait, which cost $14.50, killed 306 rats in a two-week period.

This is typical example of the results obtained with this new poison, which prevents blood from clotting and causes rats and mice to die from internal hemorrhages.

Information on controlling rats with warfarin is given in a new publication prepared cooperatively by the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U. S. Department of Interior and the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

Leaflet 148, "Use of Warfarin for Rat and Mouse Control," contains safety precautions for using warfarin, four warfarin bait formulas and instructions for mixing them, and instructions for putting the bait out. This leaflet is available from county Extension offices.

Warfarin can be obtained in the concentrate or the ready-to-use form from local drug, feed and insecticide stores. Bait prepared by the Rodent Control Service, San Antonio, is distributed through county-wide rat control programs.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

BY TEX EASLEY

AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Air-minded Texans rank second only to Californians in the matter of maintaining non-military aircraft in active operating status.

A recent report issued by the Civil Aeronautics Administration shows that as of July 1 there were 4,320 such planes active in Texas. California led all states with 6,496 Illinois was third with 3,168.

FEWER PRIVATE PLANES

In all three leading states the number was slightly below the figures for July 1, 1950. In this respect, they followed the National pattern. The total number of active civil aircraft in the United States was 56,915 on July 1, compared with 61,706 a year earlier. The July 1, 1950, figures for the top three states: California, 6,820; Texas, 4,438; Illinois, 3,489.

In addition to the 4,320 civil aircraft active in Texas as of last July 1, there were 2,384 such planes within the state classified as non-active, making a total 6,704. The total of a year earlier was 6,913.

One or more planes were active in all but 36 of the 254 Texas counties when the survey was taken in mid-1951. Those with no active planes were: Andrews, Austin, Burtleson, Camp, Coke, Cottle, Franklin, Glasscock, Goliad, Hardin, Irion, Jim Hogg, Kenedy, King, Live Oak, Llano, Loving, McMullen, Madison, Mills, Mitchell, Newton, Rains, Real, Roberts, Rockwall, Son Augustine, San Jacinto, Starr, Sterling, Stonewall, Trinity, Tyler, Upshur, Wilson, Zapata.

DALLAS LEADS STATE

Dallas county led the state with 511 active and an additional 337 classified an non-active.

Both Dallas and Tarrant (Fort Worth) counties actually showed increases in the number of planes active July 1 as compared with twelve months earlier. On July 1, 1950, Dallas had only 494 active planes and 336 non-active. Tarrant county had 291 active aircraft and 156 non-active on July 1, 1951, compared with 188 active and 161 non-active on July 1, 1950. A few counties among those less than 100 active planes also showed increases.

Four other Texas counties each had more than 100 civil planes active as of last July 1. The four, with the comparative figure for July 1, 1950, shown in parenthesis, are: Harris (Houston), 384 (406); Bexar (San Antonio), 282 (295); Cameron (Brownsville), 111 (122); Nueces (Corpus Christi), 107 (121).

Those counties with between 50 and 100 active civil aircraft within their boundaries as of July 1, with 1950 comparable figures shown in parenthesis, are:

Hidalgo, 97 (89); Wichita, 93 (96); Lubbock, 84 (64); El Paso, 76 (77); Jefferson, 76 (79); Travis, 70 (71); Potter, 67 (67); Hale, 60 (59); San Patricio, 52 (40); Gregg, 52 (57).

Draft For Men To Be Halted During The Holidays

The Selective Service and Defense department want young men facing induction to have "a merry Christmas."

They announced today that no men will be taken into the armed services between Dec. 22 and the first week in January.

The Defense department has asked Selective Service to meet the December quota of 16,900 men by Dec. 21.

Then, the agency said, drafting will be halted for the holiday period.

ON THE WRONG TRACK

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP)—August Lang of Bismarck heard a train whistle as his car approached a crossing. He looked to his left and saw a switch engine bearing down on him. Lang quickly turned his car to avoid being hit. He found himself driving down the tracks in front of the engine. Lang finally forced the car over onto another set of tracks. He then jumped into a ditch and was unhurt. The damage was four tires ruined and a steering mechanism thrown out of whack.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

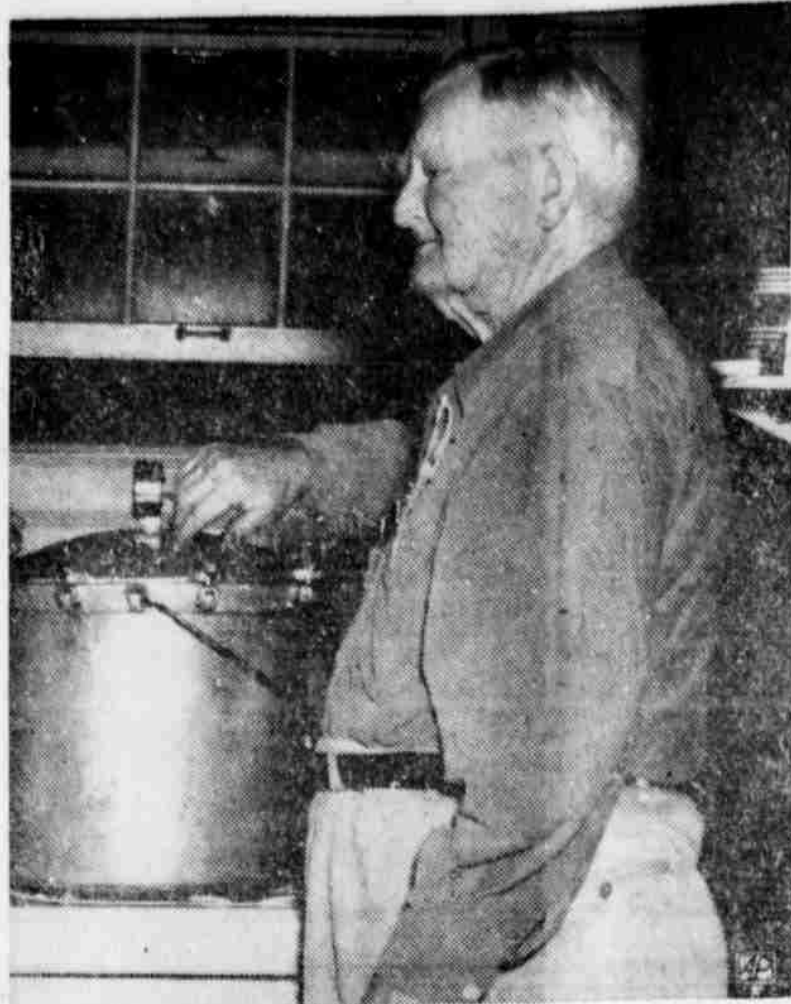

Your habits change a great deal when the cold winds put a damper on lots of the outdoor activities. And even such outdoor fun as you do seek is quite a bit different from that of the balmy fall days.

Fires, outdoors and indoors, are the biggest change in living habits during the winter and fires can also be one of the biggest threats to health. A fire is one example of the idea that a little bit of good thing in its proper place is a blessing whereas too much of a good thing in the wrong place is a great danger.

From infancy to old age, playing with fire is one of life's most dangerous habits, whether the fire be in a cooking stove, heater, camp fire or just on the end of a match. There are few accidents that leave deeper scars than those caused by fire, affecting not only the person burned but also those who love him. Injuries from fires are greatest during the month of December.

Burns are classified medically as first, second, and third degree burns. First degree burns are those in which the skin is reddened. They are painful but there is slight danger of scar or infection since only the top layer of skin is burned. Butter or some bland salve applied gently to the burn will usually relieve the pain and a loose bandage over the burn will cut down on any possible infection.

Second degree burns are the kind where blisters form and third degree burns are those that have destroyed several layers of skin. Since the skin, which forms a protective layer for the body, is destroyed to some extent in these two kinds of burns, it is easy for the germs to grow there and cause infections.

Second and third degree burns that cover 10 per cent or more of the body are considered major injuries and should receive medical attention as soon as possible. If medical attention is not immediately available, wet packs may be applied to the burned area. You mix three tablespoons of baking soda or Epsom salts with a quart of warm tap water and dip clean strips of cloth into the liquid; place that over the burns and cover the whole area with dry, clean towels.

Burns that cover a large portion of the body are called massive burns, and the person should be wrapped in a large clean sheet, covered with as much other wrapping as the weather demands, and taken to a hospital as quickly as possible. If the person is conscious, your doctor may advise you to give him a glass of salt water enroute to the hospital.

There is a state of shock which accompanies bad burns that cover a lot of the body. The body loses a lot of plasma, that yellowish salty part of the blood, when burns scar the skin, and salt water, if your doctor advises it, may help replace some of the plasma until real blood plasma can be given at the hospital.

In minor burns, the greatest danger lies in infection. In major burns there is always danger of infection and also danger to the person in a state of shock.

Fire is essential to life but all precautions must be observed to keep fire in its place. Just like the family car, life is much easier with an automobile but if that car isn't handled properly it can be a robber of life. Added to the year-round hazards of an automobile are the winter risks involved in starting the car in a closed garage and riding in the car with all windows up.

That air coming out of the exhaust pipe of your car contains carbon monoxide gas, a deadly poison. In an open place it is quickly thinned out in the air and is made harmless. In a closed place, however, it accumulates and when breathed into the lungs it causes suffocation. If all the windows of the car are up and no air is coming into the car, that carbon monoxide gas may accumulate in the car without your knowledge. It takes just a little circulation of air to make the odorless gas become harmless.

Suffocation by carbon monoxide poisoning is one kind of asphyxiation and the automobile is not the only source of the poisonous gas. Without proper ventilation, the gas heaters in the home can cause asphyxiation if they are not properly adjusted. Clogged chimneys and improperly operated dampers with an open fire can cause enough carbon monoxide to be pushed back into a tightly closed room to be a

Lets Go Back Twenty Years

Let's go back to the Leader files of the issued of December 3rd, 1931, twenty years ago, and see what was happening in Littlefield, during the "depression age."

A new development for the Littlefield section is a pure seed farm, to be established near the city on land purchased from the Yellow House Land Co., The farm, which contains 265 acres had been purchased by W. H. Cunningham of Rochester, in Haskell County, who is secretary-treasurer of the State Certified Grain Growers Asso.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boone entertained with a bridge party at their home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Etter, Mr. and Mrs. Mallory Etter, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Hopping, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pass, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jones and Mrs. M. M. Brittain.

Doctors T. B. Duke, J. R. Coen and J. T. Simpson gave diphtheria, smallpox and typhoid serum shots to all the school children at Spade schools.

Mrs. T. S. Sales assisted by Mrs. Roy Blessing, entertained with a party honoring her house guest, Miss Irma McDaniel of Waco.

Miss Lorene Eagan and Lynn Dobbs were united in marriage at the First Methodist church. Myrtle Porter of Lubbock and Eva Gertrude Chisholm, sang, and they were accompanied by Miss Johnnie Pace.

Dick Beisel bought an Eagle Aero-plane—a two passenger ship, and is preparing the plane to take to the air.

Nearly a page ad for Hewitt-Wilhamson Chevrolet Co., featured "The Great American Value" for 1932—a Chevrolet for $475. The "M" System Grocery was advertising Folgers coffee at 36c per lb., peanut butter, qt. 25c; brooms, 25c each; oranges, 15c dozen; longhorn cheese, 20c lb.

So you want adequate ventilation without draftiness to ward off the threat of asphyxiation, whether you're at home or in the car during the cold winter months. It's as simple as that.

Aircraft manufacturing is the top defense industry in Fort Worth and Dallas. Employment at the Bell and Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation plants in Fort Worth is mushrooming. Consolidated, makers of the B-36 bombers, reports a total employment of 30,609 persons. This is larger than the plant employed during World War II. August C. Esenwein of Convair, said about 14,000 new employees have been added in the past year. Employment at Bell has reached 2,000. Bell also has announced plans for a new helicopter plant near Fort Worth. A slump in home building during the first 10 months of this year has been offset by commercial construction in the Fort Worth area.

Industriail Employem Climbs
A mobilization speedup in Dallas is shown best by the number employed in the city's aircraft industry. Some 20,000 persons now are employed by Chance-Vought Aircraft Corp. and Texas Engineering and Manufacturing Co. at Grand Prairie. M. R. Kelley of the TEC said the industry is hiring between 2,500 and 3,000 persons each month, including replacements.

"The area is changing over from a civilian economy to partial mobilization," Kelly said, "and probably will reach the peak in changeover in '1951."

Dallas' aircraft industry so far has taken less than half the peak of 44,000 workers it employed during World War II.

Tom Lester, oil editors of the Houston Chronicle, surveyed the mobilization effort in Houston. He found the area has so far felt little the impact of defense mobilization. The lusty peacetime boom in Houston still rolls along under its own momentum. Total non-farm employment in the area has reached nearly 340,000. Industrial construction is paced by refinery and chemical plant expansion.

Oil Industry Action
Construction planned as additions to refineries or new plants to serve the oil industry total about $200 million. Mobilization contracts however, are snowballing. About $25 million in defense contracts have been let, but percentage wise it is a small part of the total industrial output of the Houston area.

The Dickson gun plant has been reopened, and the Hughes Gun Company has been organized to operate it. The Brown & Root Construction Company has been awarded large contracts to recondition army tanks.

Ship yards, steel plants, and refineries are going full blast. Engineers, boilermakers and construction workers are in great demand. So are pipefitters and steamfitters. Shipping companies are hard pressed to find rated men to crew their ships. Scores of peacetime sailors have deserted the sea for jobs in industry.

Aluminum Production Starting
Despite material shortages, a boom in industrial construction is underway in the Corpus Christi area. Work is progressing steadily on the $80 million Reynolds Metal

Co. Plant. Production of aluminum is to begin by the end of 1951, although all the plant won't be completed. About 2,000 employees will be needed at the plant when finished. It will have a capacity of 150 million pounds of aluminum annually.

Plans have been announced for a $3 million addition to the present plant of American Smelting and Refining Co. near Corpus Christi. Production of an additional 2,000 tons of high grade zinc each month will be possible after the addition is completed.

Sunray Oil Corp. plans a $10 million refinery at Corpus Christi in heavy industry, much of it was planned before the Korean War, and the impact of mobilization planning hasn't fully hit the area yet.

The Orange (Tex.) Leader reports heavy industry pouring out goods in the southeast corner of Texas. Consolidated Western Steel Corporation's big pipe mill and fabricating plant are in full production. Trainloads of pipe for natural gas lines move away from the mill daily. Swarms of barges churn the Sabine river, towing fabricated material for the new plant being constructed by the Kaiser Aluminum Co. at New Orleans.

The Gulf Oil Corporation has announced the construction of a six-inch pipe line from Port Arthur to Orange to transport ethylene to the giant Dupont Chemical plant. Ethylene is a raw material for chemicals and plastics.

Other Areas Action
In Beaumont, there is little defense activity. Employment has risen less than 1,000 persons since last January. Home construction is off more than $1 million. Small metal fabricators are reported "hanging on" and thinking about switching to the repair and service business. They also are seeking substitute materials to use in place of the scarce coppers, tin and aluminum.

The biggest defense effort felt in Waco so far is the $12 million construction program now underway at James Connally Air Force Base. This year's drought in central Texas hurt retail sales, but the establishments of them Flying Training Air Force Headquarters in Waco and the construction at Connally AFB has helped dollar sales reach 1950's figures.

At Midland, the booming capital of the Spraberry trend in oil development, building permits in September alone hit $1,267,600. Employment is increasing and workers from office clerks to roughnecks are in demand. Development of the Spraberry as an oil reserve is considered vital to the mobilization effort.

Cal Farley Is Sudan Ginner

Cal Farley, the founder of famous Boys Ranch, 35 miles north of Amarillo at colorful Old Tascosa, was the guest speaker at the Sudan Rotary Club meeting Friday, November 23.

Farley conceived the idea of the ranch by having boys follow him around when he played baseball and wrestled. He tried to help the little fellows who hung around the ball park after games at the wrestling arena late at night. At the time he was president of Maverick Boys Club which he helped found in 1931. But it didn't reach the boys who really needed attention, 24 hours a day.

So, he conceived the idea of Boys Ranch, started in 1939 with the goal of taking boys who were in trouble with the law or who were homeless. The ranch started with ten boys. Today it has 120 boys. During its 11 years, the ranch has handled more than 500 boys. The ranch has

Sudan Ginner Handle Over 2500 Bales

Sudan Ginner, working on an 18 hour schedule, to date have ginned its own 12-grade school with seven teachers. Six grades are now being taught in the vocational department opened this year. It is hoped to secure a building and set up 14 trades, thus giving the boys a chance to choose a trade upon graduation from the ranch.

Some of the ranch graduates attend college, some take jobs, and several are in the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard. One is at Texas A. & M. and one at UCLA at the present time.

Cal Farley came to Amarillo to play baseball in the old Western League in 1923. He took over a defunct tire shop and built it into a successful "one-stop-does-it" store grossing over $700,000 a year when he sold it in 1947 to devote all his time to Boys Ranch without pay. Mrs. Farley is his able assistant in the ranch project.

Farley won the welterweight wrestling championship of the AEF and Inter-Allied Games in Paris, France in 1919, on the same team with Gene Tunney. He is past president of Amarillo Rotary Club, also past district governor of Rotary International.

more than 2,500 bales ton. Local ginner say take at least two months finish the 1951 crop, ginning, and expect to 2,500 bales for area ginner.

One local ginner set 50 percent of the crop gathered while another guess was about 60 percent had been harvested.
