Watson Speaker At C-C Meeting
Tom Watson, assistant manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker at a regular luncheon of Littlefield C-C members Friday.

The luncheon is scheduled at noon in Mac's Downtown Cafe. Watson will talk on "Area Development," explaining how the growth of Lubbock helps Littlefield and vice versa.

City's Coin Collectors Will Organize Friday

Littlefield coin collectors will get together here Friday night in an organizational meeting at the Mangum-Hilburn Insurance Agency, 430 XIT Drive.

They'll meet at 7:30 p.m., set up plans for the new club and elect officers. Hall H. Hilton of Lubbock, a veteran coin collector, will speak.

The project was started by Fred Connally and Tom Hilburn and his son, Joe, 11, three of about 22 known coin collectors in town.

"There may be more coin collectors than that here," said Connally. "We hope that we can get a few more to take up the hobby." Connally himself is going into the coin collectors supplies business.

He admits that he won't have too much of a market, but he says his idea for going into the business in the first place was not to make a lot of money.

"I feel like we have enough coin collectors here to run a supplier. No one else in town handles these supplies, and this will keep collectors from having to leave town for them."

C-C Survey Replies Top 400 Mark

More than 400 completed questionnaires had been returned Tuesday in the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce's "buying habits" survey of the area, C-C Manager Jack Lacy Jr. reported.

Littlefield and area residents have until midnight Saturday to get their questionnaires into the mail and have their opinions counted in the survey.

Lacy said any questionnaires received with a postmark before midnight Saturday would be counted in the survey.

Object of the survey is to let Littlefield and area residents have their say about what Littlefield merchants can do to improve their services to customers.

More than 7000 copies of the questionnaire were mailed out. The C-C now is expecting about a 10 per cent return-about 700 completed questionnaires.

Completed in connection with the buying habits project earlier this week was a survey of high school students. Results of the student survey are scheduled to be announced later this week.

29 Area Choirs Seek State Honors Here Saturday In Region I Contests

Twenty-nine choirs from area high schools will compete here Saturday in the Interscholastic League's Region I choral contests.

An estimated 2,000 students are expected to be on hand for the event, largest of its kind ever held on the South Plains.

The choirs will begin arriving Saturday morning. Competition will begin at 9 a. m. in the high school auditorium.

The school choirs will be competing against the Interscholastic League standard for top ranking.

They'll also be vying for three trophies sponsored by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

These awards will go to the three schools with the most points at the end of the day.

All of the choirs will be trying for a "Special Award," highest honor given choirs in Texas.

The award requires a first division rating by at least two judges on prepared music sung in concert, and a first division in sightreading.

Three of Littlefield's four choirs won special awards last year when the contest was held in Plainview.

In concert, three judges rate each choir separately from the program each presents and at the sightreading contest, which follows the concert, each choir reads compositions first with piano accompaniment then without accompaniment. The compositions the choirs read are never seen by the members or the director before the contest.

Judges for concert are Dr. Houston Bright, West Texas State, Canyon, Leon F. Broan, North Texas State, Denton; David Scott, Eastern New Mexico University, Portales. Sightreading judge is Robert Michemer, director of choirs at Midland Schools.

Solo and ensemble contests will be entered by 250 of the choir members. Judges for the solo and ensemble competition are Robert Clinton, Snyder; Cloy, Webb, Perryton; and Richard Sligar, El Paso.

The choirs and the time each will sing, include:

"We want to urge as many parents as possible to attend this meeting," said Horne.

Boys 9-12 years of age who live in the Littlefield, Spade or Whitharral school districts are eligible to tryout for the Littlefield Little League.

Scheduled next Monday night is an organizational meeting of the Littlefield American Legion team. Manager Jimmie Chapman announced.

The meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the city hall courtroom. Boys who won't be 18 until after Sept. 1 are eligible for the Legion team.

Chapman urged both the parents and the boys to attend this meeting.

About Your Health

Let's say you're a member of a neighborhood ladies club. It's your turn to put on the program, and you fret for days trying to wheedle an idea from an unresponsive brain.

Over and over you say to yourself, "If I just had a film to show... but where could I get one to interest a group of housewives?"

There just happens to be a public agency that will be happy to help you off the horns of that dilemma you're hung on -- you or anyone else in a similar position.

It's the Texas State Department of Health. Or more precisely, the film library of the Department's Division of Health Education, with well over 1300 films available for free loan to responsible groups such as yours.

The loan business is booming. During December, January and February health films from the library were seen by an audience of more than 300,000 persons. Subjects ranged from communicable diseases to good human relations.

Would the ladies be interested in an expert account of how foods should be preserved to avoid the possibility of food-borne diseases? Drop a card to the library and ask that "4 Billion Enemies" be booked to you.

On second thought, it might be simpler to call your local health department and tell them your plans. Chances are they will assume responsibility for getting the film and supplying a health specialist to make side comments and answer questions after the film is shown.

Perhaps you'd like to show club members an approved, step-by-step method of making baby's formula. There's a sequence in a film titled "Linda" to do exactly that.

One of the most powerful films in the library is called "The High Wall." It explores the development of prejudices and how it can be communicated to children through parental attitudes.

Most library films are purchased from commercial producers, but when one is needed with a strictly Texas application, division staff members write, direct, produce and photograph it themselves. There are some 20 "homemade"

Rules Of High Plains Water District Listed

Do you plan to drill an irrigation or commercial water well? If you do, and you expect to produce more than 69 gallons per minute from the well, you should read the following paragraphs.

The rules of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District provide that wells drilled within its bounds of jurisdiction and produce in excess of 69 gallons per minute be spaced certain minimum distances from wells in the immediate vicinity.

4-inch well must be a minimum distance of 200 yards from the nearest well.

5-inch well must be a minimum distance of 250 yards from the nearest well.

6-inch well must be a minimum distance of 300 yards from the nearest well.

8-inch well must be a minimum distance of 400 yards from the nearest well.

10-inch well must be a minimum distance of 400 yards from the nearest well.

The District's rules further provide that a person who desires to drill a well must first obtain a well drilling permit.

To assist either the landowner or his agent in filing an application for a well drilling permit, each county has an office and a Secretary.

Before contacting his local County Secretary, the well drilling applicant will need the following information:

1. Name and mailing address of the owner of the land on which the well will be drilled.
2. The legal description of the land.
3. The measured distance from the proposed drilling site to the nearest property lines or quarter-section lines. (Shown as lines "A" on drawing)
4. The measured distance from the proposed drilling site to the three nearest wells. Distances to wells that are over 400 yards from the proposed drilling site are not required. (Shown as lines "B" on drawing)

When the above information has been determined by the applicant, it is then prepared to contact his local county secretary and file his drilling permit application.

A deposit of $10 is required with the filing of each application.

When the application form is filled out completely and correctly, the applicant must then make certain that it is signed by three members of the local County Committee. This is most important and it must be done before drilling operations are commenced.

THIS NIGHT SHOT of the Chisholm Floral shows the ultra-modern design of the all new front and recently expanded building that is now complete. There will be an open house showing Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m.

Chisholm Opens Remodeled Floral Shop

The Chisholm Floral, 620 East 5th, will open its doors to the public from 1 to 6 p. m. Sunday, displaying its all new floral shop fronting and ultra-modern floral display rooms.

J. E. Chisholm reports that this is the fifth major expansion of the company since it opened for business in 1936. He invites everyone in to view the modern new building and special floral arrangements for Easter.

J. E. also invites the public to see the green houses, which will also be open.

The new building is mostly all glass front with blonde ash interior trim and modern bracketing at the west end. Eleven hundred square feet have been added to the size of the display facilities.

There will be a complete showing of Easter Lilies, Hydrangeas, pastel potted mums and a complete assortment of reasonable cut flowers and Easter corsages.

A beautiful carnation will be given everyone who attends the open house.

Designers Odell Mathews and Kip Cutshall will also be on hand to discuss the Sunday visitors.

TOWN and COUNTRY

by Wendell Tooley

If you're asking when it will rain, maybe you should ask yourself another question. . . . "Did I think the good Lord for the last rain we had?"

Maybe we're so busy spending the money from that all-time record crop of last year, that we haven't paused to give credit where credit is due. We used to have a neighbor who was always saying, "Wonder when old Massa is going to let it rain?" . . . he thought of the Lord as "Old Massa". Sometimes I figured that this neighbor probably wasn't on very good speaking terms with "Old Massa" anyway.

Ernest Mills comes up with as good a fish story as we've heard in a long time. While river fishing about 300 miles over into old Mexico, . . . he hooked about a 25-pound catfish, then another fish (about a 15-pounder according to Ernest) snapped onto the hooked fish. Well, Ernest started reeling them both in, . . . and as all good fish stories go the smaller fish got loose, and that was his story of the big one that got away.

Someone said the human brain is quite the thing. . . . It commenced working the instant a person was born and didn't stop until one got up in front of a group to speak. This was the case recently, at least that's the way we heard it.

Seems a newly elected club official got up to announce the postponement of a future meeting and was to give the reason why. Becoming somewhat flustered this is what came out: "The next regular Monday meeting will be held on Tuesday next Wednesday instead of Thursday because Friday is a holiday."

Littlefield is happy to be host to around 2,000 students at the high school this Saturday for the Region I choral contests. Twenty-nine area choirs will be represented and we extend our welcome to these out-of-towners.

Littlefield's Chamber of Commerce is daily receiving the business questionnaires back and it urges everyone to quit putting it off and put them in the mail. It is the hope of the C.C. that this will enable more Littlefield merchants to stock what area patrons want, . . . and if there is a need for more businesses of certain types, then it can work toward this goal.

Littlefield would look like a brand new town if more merchants would follow the progress in storefront styling that J. E. Chisholm is showing at his open house Sunday.

The ultra-modern styling of the front and the additional display space make it look like a brand new building, 1959 style. Well, seeing is believing, so drop by from 1 to 6 p. m. Sunday. Free Carnations for everyone!

Fruit trees are beginning to bloom. . . . Good Friday isn't far away and that's pea planting day. . . . and from the looks of Tuesday, Spring is well on the way. Yet, we'll be safe and say look out for that "Easter Spell."

More good grocery buys in today's papers, and a lot of good drug specials.

Planting time isn't far away and most area farmers are pre-watering, . . . while waiting for that good spring rain. . . . downtown the wives and children are busily shopping for easter apparel. . . . so all in all everyone is busy and we hope happy.

Littlefield Labor Market

The following type of workers are needed immediately: farm hands, construction laborers, welders, clerks, waitresses, laundry laborers. Anyone seeking employment in this area should contact the local office at 104 East 5th St., said T. R. Jewell, local office manager.

Valerius Relates How Galilean Debated With Priests At Temple

...bles From A Roman — II

...money changers' tables and scattered the coins on the floor.

...It will illustrate the eternal boredom of this place — Titus says it is the heat — when I tell you that today I donned a plain tunic and went into the temple courtyard for it was said in the streets that the Galilean would be there to speak his beliefs.

...Our Galilean appears to be very much like any other person in this place — but with a difference that is hard to define.

...Perhaps it is his eyes. They are gentle yet penetrating — the eyes of a man who has seen evil and sin and has assumed their burden on his own frail shoulders. His eyes seem to plead with you to accept what their owner says as truth, not for his sake but for yours.

...Or perhaps it is his voice. He speaks earnestly, in low, quiet tones. He expounds his beliefs by means of little stories, stories so simple a child could understand. Yet he is every bit as compelling to his listeners as the most spell-binding orator of the Senate.

...The Galilean had not been speaking his beliefs very long before the priests came out of the inner temple — where non-Jews are not admitted — and questioned his authority to speak to the people. The Galilean, neither alarmed nor offended, replied with one of his little stories.

...He told them of a stone that had been rejected by builders which became the cornerstone of the building. In truth, he was comparing himself to the rejected stone and the priests to the unwise builders, which drove the priests into a frenzy.

...Some of them seemed about to lay hands on the frail Galilean but the temper of the people was against them and they retreated. Instead, they began to ask him questions about his beliefs, questions slyly designed to trap him into treason against the Caesar.

...“Do you think it lawful to give tribute to the Caesar?” asked one of the priests.

“IN TRUTH, the Galilean was comparing himself to the rejected stone and the priests to the unwise builders, which drove the priests into a frenzy.”

...The Galilean paused for a moment. I strained my ears for his answer. He held up a coin of Rome for all to see and he asked whose image and inscription appeared upon it. All agreed they were those of the Caesar.

...“Then,” said the Galilean, “you must give to the Caesar those things which belong to Caesar and you must give to God those things which are his due.”

...As I walked back to the Antonia, our garrison fortress, for the evening meal, I pondered his answer. Reasonable, to be sure, for are not all things due the Caesar? But I had not found it in me to reproach the Galilean. In fact, I found myself nodding agreement. Why was this?

...I also pondered, with some amusement, a remark I overheard in the courtyard. One man had told another — seriously, mind you — that the Galilean is not only king and savior but the son of ...the one god. Really now! He seemed very much flesh and blood to me.

...Nevertheless, I find the man intriguing. I think tomorrow I shall go into the streets again and seek out someone who can tell me more about him.

...Obediently
Valerius, thy son

State 51 — U.S. 385

Bascom Nelson in The Castro County News: It is difficult to see the advantages of having a federal highway passing through a community such as Dimmitt.

"Most people could look at a highway one day when it was under state control and look at it after it was designated a federal route and they wouldn't see any difference.

"The difference actually doesn't lie in the physical pavement.

"The difference comes in thousands of atlases and other maps which show only federal routes. Some people use these in planning trips. Dimmitt will begin to show up on maps of the United States along with Hereford, Amarillo and other towns on federal routes.

"US Highway 385, as it will be known, will be maintained by both the federal and state governments. There is some speculation that it will be made four-lane within the next ten years or so in keeping with the present federal highway modernization program.

"This federalization made a lot of difference. It may be a while before it's apparent, but before long there will be things happening as a result of the change."

Grassroots Opinion

The community physician is the most important man in cancer control, according to Dr. W. Bennett Clark, vice president of the American Cancer Society. In his view, if the community physician is not cancer conscious, the specialist may come into the picture too late. The society estimates that of 200,000 cancer deaths in this country, about 10,000 could be prevented by earlier detection and treatment.

Writing in The New York Times, J. H. Carmichael says that the pressure of Soviet oil exports on the markets of the free world is steadily increasing. The flow approaches 500,000 barrels a day, and it has become the Russian's main economic weapon in many cases. Moreover, he adds that the prospects are that the drive on free world oil markets has only started.

How much will it cost to send men into outer space? U. S. News & World Report places the price of a round trip ticket to the moon at $60 million, or $100 a mile. By way of comparison, flying around the world by airliner costs 7c a mile at tourist rates.

From Time: "Booms in hi-fi, boating, photography, travel, frozen and gourmet foods, all come from relatively new things that tempted consumers to part with their cash. This is a real road to growth, the innovation of exciting and useful new products and industries that Government alone cannot start. It can only provide the incentive for business to improve itself. As Harvard's Slichter says: 'You can't expand without demand for the product. We need less sales talk, less hot-air and better quality and more originality.'"

A curious Senator asked all federal agencies to send him copies of their current books and other literature. He received 83,000 works. Subjects included How to Trap Cats, Recipes For Flying Muskrats in Wine, and The Status of North American Fleas.

Clark Mollenhoff, a Pulitzer prize-winning newspaperman, says: "The tremendous power of the Teamsters now overshadows anything the business barons of sixty years ago could have envisioned. This is a power over every other union in America. It is a power that touches every home in America. We have this power augmented by large tax-exempt treasuries and special laws that make the operations immune from the anti-trust laws."

Economist Fred G. Clark points out that there are five costs which make up the selling price of any product, made anywhere in the world, under any system, at any time. These are: The cost of goods and services bought from others; the cost of payments to government (taxes); the cost of wearing out tools (depreciation); the cost of human energy (payrolls and benefits); the cost of using tools (profit).

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, TEX.—A possible shaft of light has pierced the murky tunnels of legislative tax study in the form of an "in-between" type money raising bill.

An omnibus tax measure introduced by Reps. R. L. Strickland of San Antonio and Wesley Roberts of Lamesa would tax a raft of things not previously hit, but avoid the label "general sales tax." It is regarded as a possible compromise between Gov. Price Daniel's tax program and Rep. Frates Seeligson's general sales tax, neither of which have attracted widespread support.

Strickland and Roberts estimate their proposal would raise from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 an impressive sum even in the face of current huge needs.

New tax sources it would include include sales of real estate, bonds, debentures, corporate stocks, transportation of persons and commodities, occupancy of a retail establishment, hotel and motel use, and trading stamps. It would increase the natural gas production tax and raise sales taxes on new cars, cosmetics, playing card radios and TV sets and raise taxes on telephone and telegraph companies.

"Springs" attached to the bill are that after the state deficit is paid off, the money raised could be used to provide school teachers a $200 a year raise, add $13,000,000 to higher education programs and $2,250,000 to the hospital program.

NO HURRY—In terms of decisions, the tax program has made no dramatic forward strides. Rep. Frates Seeligson of San Antonio, introduced his 1.5 per cent general sales tax measure. It would raise an estimated $67,000,000 annually earmarked for the school foundation program. Informal surveys indicate a majority of lawmakers pledged opposition to a general sales tax in their campaigns last summer.

Despite urging from Gov. Daniel, the House Tax Committee showed itself in no hurry to get out the bill that would raise corporation franchise taxes. Committee declined, on a 15-2 vote, to order a report from the subcommittee which holds the bill.

Part of the governor's plan was to get this bill passed in time to take effect May 1, as the added revenue from it could help offset this year's deficit. Committee also agreed to allow committee voted to send the bill to subcommittee for a week's study. Sam bill was voted out favorably by the House Committee.

Texas Municipal League is strongly opposed to the measure which they say is as palatable as having the federal government set wages and hours for Texas Highway Patrolmen. League's counter-measure would abolish state regulation of city firemen and policemen.

NO PEACE ON THE TRINITY—State Board of Water Engineers is caught in the middle of a king-sized struggle over Trinity River water. Houston asked the Board for a permit to construct a dam at Livingston and impound some 1,750,000 acre feet of water.

Trinity River Authority was joined by Dallas, Fort Worth and other Upper Trinity towns in howls of protest over Houston's "water-grabbing." TRA filed a petition asking that Houston's application be dismissed and also filed an application for the same permit Houston is seeking.

A hearing on Houston's application had been set for April 6, but the North Texans are asking for delay. Indications are that such a set-to-between Texas' major cities probably cannot be settled for some time.

HIGHER TUITION ASKED—Commission on Higher Education is recommending the Legislature adopt a new system of automatic tuition increases for state-supported colleges.

By the Commission's formula, tuition would be in proportion to the college's spending. If legislative appropriations to the college went up, so would tuition.

It was estimated the formula would raise present tuition for in-state students from $100 a year to about $125 to $137.50.

Many students protested that the hike would be an undue hardship on the 65 per cent who earn part or all their college expenses.

DON'T STOP NOW—Gov. Daniel's Statewide Water Committee is asking the Legislature to restore proposed cuts in the Water Board budget.

Governor Daniel told a meeting of the statewide water group that water development in Texas needs all the $1,700,000 asked by the Water Board. Legislative Budget Board recommended only $300,000. Daniel said he felt more water planning had been accomplished in the past two years than ever before in the state's history.

HANDS OFF LADIES' BILL—Attorney Gen. Will Wilson nimbly side-stepped efforts to get him to rule on the proposed equal rights for women amendment. Seaton had dodged the issue by asking for an attorney general's opinion on how the amendment would affect existing legislation concerning women. Wilson said the question was too general and that he didn't feel he should tell the Legislature what it should do.

Income Tax Fax

Questions and Answers about your individual Income Tax Report for 1958, as presented by the Texas Press Association.

The code specifically states you cannot deduct the following type of taxes: Federal Income Taxes, Federal Excise Taxes, (such as gas, jewelry, luggage, theatre and amusement taxes, transportation taxes, etc.), Federal Stamp Taxes, Estate and Gift taxes and taxes assessed for local improvements which tend to increase the value of your property. Automobile registration fees, Federal Social Security taxes, hunting and fishing licenses, taxes and fees are not deductible, nor are dog licenses.

Your deductible taxes are deducted on page 2 of the tax return form. They are deductible only if you itemize your deductions on long form 1040. The deductions are lost if you use form 1040-A, short form 1040 or use the standard deduction.

If there is not enough room on the tax return form to list all your deductible taxes, then make a separate schedule to attach to your tax return. Total the amounts paid and enter the total under Taxes on page 2 of the tax return.

Sandhills Philosopher Michigan Man Will Find Controls In Australia

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm, discusses the weighty problem of controls this week, with what results it's hard to say.

Dear editor: Every once in a while some "hinker," after wrestling with the farm problem generally from a desk in a city, comes out with the announcement that if a farmer can't make it on a farm, let him move to town.

I never have paid any attention to this, as I'm not planning on moving to town, as I don't know anything about a town that'd make me more efficient than I am out here on this Johnson grass farm, and the best I can judge, city people have about as many economic problems as country people.

But I'll admit I'm a little puzzled by a farmer in the state of Michigan who has announced government controls have finally gotten him down and he's selling out and moving to Australia.

Now if anybody wants to move to Australia, it's all right with me, but I'm afraid if that Michigan farmer thinks he's going to farm down there without any so-called controls, he'd better hold back enough money for a ticket to some place else. According to an article I read last night, an Australian farmer can plant what he wants to, but he can't sell to anybody except the government, at a price the government figures up after it buys all the stuff and sees what it can sell for.

If that Michigan farmer doesn't like that system, he can move to England, where the government not only has controls, but even will put off your land if you don't take care of it.

If that farmer doesn't like that system, he can move to Russia, where he could farm all right but couldn't own his land or what he grows. Come to think of it, I don't know where that farmer can move to to escape controls, and the way I see it, he may find Michigan isn't such a bad place after all.
