West Texas C. of C. Meeting May 15-16.

Preliminary program for the annual (23rd) West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention to be held in Mineral Wells, famed tourist-health center, was worked out this week by a joint committee from the WTCC and host chamber of commerce. Convention dates are Thursday-Friday, May 15 and 16—a two-day convention as against three days in past years. Major alteration, the decision to compress the convention within two days, was taken after a look at the national picture and from a desire to concentrate heavily on the business of West Texas, said officers of the regional chamber. It was added, however, that "the big show will, as always, lack nothing in bigness and color and entertainment that has made conventions of the West Texas chamber of commerce something to look forward to and plan for."

The Mineral Wells group gave fullest assurance that the convention city will be ready for the convention in every way. Boom town conditions incident to the building of Camp Wolters have passed, things are normal again, and the city's fine hotels will have ample accommodations at no price advances.

A large crowd is "in the bag" said WTCC officers. Each of the 171 West Texas affiliated towns has been asked to appoint and certify a delegation of not less than ten of its representative citizens picked for diversity of business interests, to come together at the convention for study of business problems and for a mass expression of the convention theme.

This — the theme — is: To Hell with Hitler. The convention will declare that West Texas is for strengthening and preserving the American democracy through invincible national defense and preparedness for whatever may come. Outstanding state and national figures, including commanding officers of West Texas defense projects, will speak to the theme.

The NEW geared pump head with 7 special features

If you require engine driven pumping equipment there's no better way to get best results than to use a Peerless Gearturbo right angle gear drive. Peerless was the first to successfully develop and put in to practical use this type of head. Remember, they require precision workmanship equal to the most accurate machine tool construction. Variety of speed ratios available; use with all types of engine drives. Ask for literature.

PEERLESS offers all forms of drive—belted and electric heads; also widest range of capacities from 10 g.p.m. to 15,000 g.p.m. in HI-LIFT and TURBINE types.

Salvation Army Enjoys Musical Program At Hall

A musical program was enjoyed at the Salvation Army Hall Wednesday evening of last week, when members of the colored church were present.

A colored quartette of 4 girls rendered several vocal numbers, as well as songs by other colored children.

Preacher Nnn of the Colored Church read the scripture.

The building hardly accommodated the large number who attended.

More Blankets Needed By Army

Capt. Eula Trummell, in charge of the local unit of the Salvation Army, reports that the quota of 100 blankets for British war relief had not been reached, and that she would appreciate it very much if all those who can, but have not contributed blankets would do so, and help this worthy cause.

Capt. Trummell pointed out that the blankets should either be new or freshly laundered, and should be at least 5 per cent wool on account of the damp climate in England.

4-H Club Girls Study Baby Chicks

In establishing a poultry flock, sanitation starts before the chicks arrive.

Approximately 200 4-H Club girls in Lamb county have been studying brooding baby chicks during March since that many will have a flock of baby chicks al-their own.

They have also learned that the brooder house should be thoroughly cleaned by sweeping the walls and ceiling and thoroughly disinfecting. A cheap yet suitable disinfectant can be improvised from one can of concentrated lye in 20 gallons of boiling water.

The floor and walls of the brooder house should be thoroughly scrubbed up to about two feet above the floor, and, if space is available, skid the house about 20 yards to clean ground.

Another bit of caution these girls will observe is to put the brooder in operation two days before the chicks arrive. This is to make sure it holds an even temperature of 95 to 98 degrees two inches from the floor at the edge of the hover.

Round off the corners of the house to prevent the chicks from crowding in the corners and smothering the weaker and smaller ones.

Have a fresh supply of chick starter on hand. A good commercial buttermilk starting mash is recommended. Don't economize on chick starter mash.

Club girls also remember that the brooder house should have an abundance of fresh air without drafts.

LAMB COUNTY LEADER

Last Rites For Mrs. John Evans

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Miller returned Monday of last week from Rocky Ford, Colo., where they attended funeral services for their daughter, Mrs. John Evans, who passed away March 26 at 5 a. m. at the Physician's Hospital, Rocky Ford, following an illness of over a month.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, March 28, at the First Baptist church, Rocky Ford, the pastor, Rev. Manker, officiating, and burial took place in the Fowler cemetery.

Mrs. Evans, as Lena June Miller, was born April 6, 1917, near Bristow, Okla., and lived at various times in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas.

On June 22, 1935, she was married to John Evans at Locke, Ark., to which union were born three children, Billy Ralph, aged four, Nelda Shirlene, aged 3, and Harry Thomas, aged one.

Surviving Mrs. Evans are her husband and three children; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Miller of Littlefield; four brothers, Joe Miller of Friona, Tex., Jack Miller of Littlefield, and Ross and Ernest Miller of Portland, Ore.; four sisters, Mrs. Grace Walker of Farwell, Tex., Mrs. Lola Sinclair and Miss Erma Miller of Littlefield and Mrs. Tressie Lawson of Portland, Oregon.

$12.60 Sent By Theatres To Greek War Relief Recently

Recently the Palace and Ritz Theatres of this city cooperated with the amusement industry in the raising of funds for the Greek War Relief.

In this connection, W. J. Chesher, manager of the local theatres, announced that $12.60 was deposited for this worthy cause in the Demand for Cotton Will Result from Defence Plan

"If you sell your 1940 cotton loan equity, be sure to get all its worth," was the advice William E. Bentley, chairman of the Lamb County AAA Committee, issued to cotton producers today.

"The relatively high domestic demand for cotton resulting from the defense program and the recent substantial increase in the price of spot cotton have made it possible for cotton producers to dispose of their 1940 cotton equities at substantial profits," the chairman declared.

Reports have reached the county boxes at the two theatres. This amount was forwarded last week by Mr. Chesher to Adolph Zukor, national chairman of Greek War Relief, New York, by cashier's check.

office, however, that certain abuses have developed in the disposal of equities; particularly in the use of the Commodity Credit Corporation Form R, which is provided by the CCC to be used to record the transfer of the producer's interest in the loan to the buyer.

"In some instances, Mr. Bentley said, 'producers are not receiving the full value of their equities and buyers are purchasing the equities without properly executing the form. The buyers then carry the forms for weeks, awaiting a rise in the market price, and then transfer the forms to a third party without actually ever possessing the cotton.'

Common abuses are: failure to date the document at the time of the sale, failure to insert in the form the exact amount the producer receives for his equity, failure of the first purchaser to sign the document, and failure to leave with the producer the green carbon copy which he should have.

Producers desiring to sell their equities in loan cotton should investigate to make certain they are receiving full value; also, they should be certain that Form R is filled out properly and that they are given their copy.

Lloyd Schroeder Sub-Alternate At Mesquite CCC Camp

Lloyd Schroeder, who has been sargeant at the Littlefield CCC camp has received an appointment as sub-alternate for the CCC camp at Mesquite.

He left recently for Mesquite, which is located about 12 miles from Dallas.

He was one of two camp enrollees selected in January from this area, to take special training course at Camp Ezel, near Fort Worth, and after completing this course, he was qualified for the appointment he received.

Mrs. Schroeder and son, Bill, will leave for Mesquite this week. She is the former Miss Ruth Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wells of Littlefield.

LOCAL SELECTIVE SERVICE BOARD SENDS SIX MEN

According to Mrs. Dorothy Cobb, secretary, the local Selective Service Board did not receive the medical reports on the men who had volunteered in time to complete arrangements for them to fill the April 3 call and, therefore, some changes were made, and the following men left Thursday:

Charlie Brown, Pep; Joe Tom Morgan, Littlefield; G. W. West, Sudan; Wood R. Stevenson, Sudan; Clifton E. Mayo, Sudan, and Alfred Hestand, Spring Lake.

Granville Randolph Billingsley and Glenn W. Gatewood of Sudan left here April 1 for El Paso. These were replacements.

Much Accomplished By Soil Conservation Service

Since the establishment of the CCC camp in Littlefield, July, 1935, much has been accomplished through the soil conservation service of the camp in helping farmers and ranchers solve their conservation problems.

To date, 177,000 acres of cultivated and pasture land is under agreement in Lamb, Hockley, Bailey, Cochran, Hale and Lubbock counties, covering a radius of 25 miles from Littlefield.

One of the largest operating units under agreement is the Spade Ranch, which was added to the 336 cooperators in this section this year. Included in the agreement of 59,000 acres, will be the following types of work: pasture furrowing, fencing, gully control, sodding, and grazing control practices.

Approximately 2,000 miles of terracing has been completed since the camp started operation here; about 16,000 acres of pasture furrowing has been completed; 275,000 trees have been planted on farms for shelterbelt; farmstead plantings and field windbreaks.

Seventeen stock ponds or dams have been completed and several dams are under construction at the present time, it was reported this week from the local soil conservation office. Dams have been completed on the Janes estate or Foust and Smith ranch; the J. W. Hopping farm, and ranches owned by P. H. Smith, George White and Gordon Cobb in Hockley county and A. E. Lewis in Bailey county, and others.

Other practices completed include fencing, 1200 miles; contour strip cropping, 70,000 acres; minor roads and trails, 25 miles; spring development — one spring on the Janes estate.

The soil conservation department restricts grazing on all cultivated lands and pasture lands under agreement.

Officials from the SCS office reported that many applications were on file or on the waiting list that are outstanding, and they are starting the practices on the farms and ranches as soon as possible.

Considering that there are 1,250,000 acres of cultivated and pasture land in the radius of 25 miles from Littlefield, the accomplishments of the workers from the CCC camps are indeed to be praised through establishment of the practices on 177,000 acres in this area.

Since districts have been organized and set up in various counties in the state, farmers and ranchers in these counties will have opportunities to take advantage of soil conservation practices that are not reached through local camps.

Enrollees at the Littlefield CCC camp work under the leadership of competent men who have been here several years. The personnel in the SCS office include: A. B. Chapman, superintendent; H. B. Wallin, junior agronomist; Joe Krizek, engineer; J. Gould, range examiner; W. S. Patrick, soil conservationist; G. D. Lair, George Hull, J. D. Sanders and H. G. Walker, foremen; John D. Harmon, junior technician; Walter Tice, mechanic and J. N. Jackson, blacksmith.

Like World War Days

Reminiscent of World war crowds, Washington is teeming with business men and military leaders who are awaiting orders and assisting in plans for carrying out the President's program for making the United States an "arsenal for democracy." Hotels are crowded, rents are skyrocketing and the daily transient population of the city is higher than at any time in history. The position of the United States now has been crystallized by the President, who said in his recent speech broadcast all over the world: "The great task of this day, the deep duty which rests upon us is to move products from the assembly lines of our factories to the battle lines of democracy—now!"

Since the President's speech there has been a noticeable decline in speculation as to whether we will become an active participant in the war. The whole tenor of thought in Washington is that we are pledged to perform a miracle of production and that all future events will be influenced by how well that job is done. It is the common opinion that we may get into the war but that the only possibility of staying out is by sending a steady stream of equipment to Great Britain. Strikes in essential industries continue to interfere with defense production. Agriculture is expected to play an important part in the defense program for supplying food and materials to the democracies.

Scouts Of Troop 26 Presented Awards In Court Of Honor

Complete assignments were made last week by F. O. Boles, chairman of Scout advancement for Littlefield, of merit badge counselors for the 105 merit badges in the Scout advancement program. Forty-five counsellors were named to examine these merit badges. Boles announced that only these qualified examiners would be accepted for examination of Scout advancements hereafter. Scouts pass merit badge tests to advance in rank above first class rank. Examiners named are: T. J. One of the purposes of subscription campaigns is to get all readers paid up. If your Leader is in arrears at conclusion of contest your name will be taken from the list. Please cooperate and hand your renewal to a candidate. Help her earn a commission or cash prize.

Sudan Announces Reduction In City Tax Rate

Sudan City councilmen, meeting last week, announced a new 25 cent tax reduction on the city tax rate, making the rate now only $1.00 on the $100 valuation. This year marks the second successive reduction in the city's rate of taxation, the rate having been reduced last year from $1.50 to $1.25. The current one dollar rate is believed to be among the lowest offered by any municipality in this section of the state. In addition, the council announced the purchase of a new pumping unit for the city water plant which is expected to bring about a reduction in the key fire insurance rates for Sudan of between four and five cents. The new unit will be powered by natural gas, Mayor A. Stuart said in announcing the purchase, and when installed, the city will have two pumping units, one powered by electricity and the other by gas, available at the city wells. Herman Greener and sons, Sylvester and Benjamin of Pep, were transacting business in Littlefield Tuesday of last week.

These Three Loves

CHAPTER III Synopsis

Lovely, red-headed Gillian Meade lives with her uncle, Colonel Anselm Meade, at Rydal House, in eastern Canada. Realizing that the family fortunes are disappearing, Gillian makes up her mind to accept wealthy Jonathan Hillyer, whom she hopes to save the old home, and provide for her uncle and her seventeen-year-old sister, Deborah. Walking alone on the grounds of Rydal House, she encounters Simon Killigrew, best friend of the late Jaffry Clay, to whom Gillian had been engaged. Simon tells her that she was responsible for Jaffry's death. She goes back to the house, disturbed, and dresses to go out with Jonathan Hillyer.

They were in the living room sitting with Anse when she did the deed. Deborah had managed to get the handsome green suit and looked sweetly youthful in tan slacks and a blue sweater. Hillyer was smiling indulgently at her as she rolled big brown eyes at him and hung breathlessly at his every word. He dropped her gracefully when he saw Gillian. He came quickly, Gillian and there was an eager gleam in his gray eyes, a sudden animation in his ruddy, weathered face. The sun and the wind on the seven seas had done their work on Jon Hillyer. He had been around the world. He had done about every reckless thing, as he said, for the thrill of it. He knew now, as he looked at Gillian's eyes, as he saw the white wonder of her hair, the slimness of her youthful face, that all those thrills would be before the wonder of having love; that holding her, he would hold heaven in his arms; that if he would lose the best desire his heart had ever known, he would lose her. "How lovely you are!" His big hand encompassed hers. "How lovely you are! And a woman among wom-

a wreck of himself after she ceased to love him. "That reminds me" — his own thinking reminded him. He hesitated. Gillian opened her eyes, looked at him sleepily and said, "Yes?" "Does it hurt you to talk about Jaffry Clay, Gil?" "I think I'm past being hurt, Jon," she said, "but why do you wish to talk of him? You were about the only one—you and Anse—who didn't question me at the time, who didn't look at me as if I had done something terrible, as if I were some inhuman monster. I can't talk about it, Jon. I couldn't then, I can't now, I can't ever." "Child, I don't want you to talk about it or him. I mentioned his name only in a business connection. What passed between you and him, what sad story may be there, is none of my concern, even though I love you. What I wished to ask you about is the poor chap's work—his poetry—a novel he left—some other stuff. His work was good, eh?" "Yes," said Gillian quietly. "His work was good. He had published only one book of poems. It was well received. They said he had genius, that he would be great one day—" Her nails were sharp against her palms. "Yes," Jon's voice was dryly matter-of-fact. "That's what I thought. The book of poems was published privately. Clay and a young man named Simon Killigrew—" Simon Killigrew—a finger plucked at a chord in Gillian's heart and let it twang back and left it throbbing. She saw that tall, hard-muscled, angry-eyed youth, rising up out of Rydal Water, saw the accusation in his eyes before ever he spoke. "Now Killigrew wants to publish the rest of Clay's stuff. He's sort of a literary executor. I gather. But he needs capital. He approached me about it. I met him at the University Club a week or so back. He struck me as being in his life, the woman for love of whom he wrote these deathless things, the woman for whom he died!— Suddenly her hands covered her face. Jon stopped the car quickly and put his arms around her and held her trembling body close to him, soothing her, talking to her as one would talk to a child. "Don't Gillian don't! I'm a stupid idiot! I'll have nothing to do with the book or with Killigrew. Gillian, look at me! You're carrying too much in your heart," he said earnestly. "Too much of a burden." "You'll break, I tell you." Her mouth was stubborn and her chin. "I'll never break. Don't worry about me. There! I'm all right now. And, Jon, I'd like you to back the book, to give this Killigrew the chance to publish it. I want you to, Jon. Promise me you will do it!" He took his hands from her shoulders. "Since you ask it, then, I will. But I don't like it. There's something dark, something wrong about all this. I'd like to know what it is." They drove on. "By the way," said Jon, "I told Killigrew to drop in to see me this week end at the lodge. He's vacationing in this part of the province somewhere—gipsying around in his car." "I know. I saw him yesterday at Rydal. He was swimming in our river. I didn't know who he was at first. Quite a youth! He had hung his clothes on Anse's No Trespassing sign." "He would, from what I've seen of him. Well, I'll give him the backing he asks for, but there's to be no mention of you, Gillian." She laid her hand on the back of his that gripped the wheel. "You are so gentle with me, Jon. I'm not used to it, but I like it. I'm not really the shrinking little violet I seemed to be back there where you parked. I really can take it if I have to. It's just that I get tired sometimes and life seems a little too much for me." "Because you are facing it alone, Gillian. You're taking too much on those brave slim shoulders of yours. That must end. I'm taking your burdens. I want to look after you, protect you and keep from you anything and everything that might bring the slightest shadow on that lovely face. I want to build a wall around you—a wall made of love and devotion. And let anything try to scale that wall!" "It sounds heavenly, Jon." She looked at him. Square, stubborn chin, strong mouth, blunt nose. A fighters face. Strength in his wide shoulders, in the great hands that held the wheel. Life with him would be good—a sheltered, easy, colorful life. He had a great house in Westmount, the grand place at Lac St. Cloud, where they were going. She closed her heart to the voice of Anselm saying, "Do you love him?" Love was a cheat and a delusion. She would have no more of love that made one move in a world of dreams, a realm that had no reality beyond the lover and the loved. Jon Hillyer loved her. Jon did not care what anyone thought of her, and Jon was a man. Perhaps, she mused cynically, he will refuse to take any help from Jon when he finds out that I'm to be Jon's wife. But I wonder! What would he think if he knew Jon had asked me whether or not he should put his money into this venture? Oh, I suppose he'd say it was only a gesture on my part — my telling Jon to back the publication of Jaffry Clay's work. Only a gesture of perhaps something of a tonement. Trying to throw a sop to my soul for what I did—what I did—

... on forever, Jon," she murmured drowsily. "On and on . . ." "You are ready on time. Colonel Meade will leave you in hands as good as they are lovely." Deborah was dubious, and glanced nervously at the bright criminal-polish she had borrowed from Amy Sturgis. She told Gillian to have a good time and gave her a tragic, suffering look that made her sit among the cinders and scrub the kitchen floor. "While I sit among the cinders, walking to the door with you," she spoke to Gillian while Jon helped Hawtry stow Gillian's bag case in the rumble. Anse's face rested for a moment on hers. Anse's pale blue eyes held her. "I don't know how to pray," he said, "but if I did, Gillian, I'd be praying for you. I want you to make no mistake, but I want you to show me the road." "It's a prayer, Anse." The car rolled down the driveway between the tall cedars and the autumn wind was cool on her face and she could breathe and lean back against the cushions and her eyes. "Drive on forever, Anse," she murmured drowsily. "On and on." "Do you feel like that? Are you wouldn't want to be chauffeured after a few miles?" "I'm sure." "It's nice to hear, Gillian. I'd like to go on with you. But you're so young and I'd for you to know just what you want, while I—well, I don't know now." He laughed harshly—"the chances are I will know." "I wondered what had happened between her and Jaffry Clay. It was just one of those girl things that blaze up and then die as suddenly as they come. Still, it must have been more than that if, as people say, she had turned to and made a straightforward sort of fellow and I told him I'd look into it. His wife died while he was spending a year abroad. He was pretty well broken up over it. He doesn't need a great deal of money. He has a little place of his own—Simon's Printery—in Beaver Hall Square. But he thinks if the book is properly launched and well advertised it will be a smashing success. He's something of a fanatic when it comes to Jaffry Clay. Sort of hero worship. Not a good thing." "I've met this Simon Killigrew," said Gillian, "once, briefly. Yes, it's his hero worship with him. That's the only word for it." "Well, what's to do, Gil? I put it up to you." "To me! Why to me?" She shook her head vehemently. "You will have to decide yourself, Jon. All I can tell you is that Jaffry's stuff had something, some mystic captivating strain in it, and people liked it. You know how much they liked it—and him." "Well, then, shall I give this Simon Killigrew his chance? It means a lot to him, I know." "I could punish him, thought Gillian. I could pay him back a thousandfold for all the cruel, hurting things he said to me yesterday. She laughed softly, queerly. Jonathan Hillyer looked at her, brows lifted. "Give him his chance, Jon, by all means. Financially, I should think it a pretty sound investment. The book will sell. It will have had a lot of class—A advance publicity—you know how the papers were full of Jaffry's unhappy and premature end. Perhaps—her voice was strained, high-pitched—"they'd like me to give a statement or two, or even write a foreword." "You know, Jon, I was the woman from its windows and the music of a radio tinkled out to them as they stopped in front of the long piazza. The smell of wood smoke, pungent as incense, drifted down from the low chimneys, a manservant hurried down the steps to greet them and there were hails from a half-dozen people sitting on the porch. Gillian knew them all. Everyone knew she had only to say the word and she would be Jon's wife. She looked in vain for Simon Killigrew. She felt relieved that he had not yet come. She spoke briefly to the other guests and went up to her room. The fawn-colored tweed suit she had worn was discarded for a dress of pale green that revealed the slender beauty of her long-limbed body, that was a foil for the golden halo of her hair and the deep blue of her eyes. Jon was at the door when he opened his hand poised to knock. He stepped back, studied her with a smile adoring and possessive. He shook his head slowly and there was a reverent look in his eyes, a humble look. "So much of beauty, he said. "I think each time I see you, she can never look any lovelier." (To be continued)

Monthly Meeting Staged By Cubs

A monthly pack meeting was staged March 28 by the Littlefield Cub Scouts at the Methodist church. Between 45 and 50 were in attendance. A short program was given by each of the four dens. Eight Cubs received their advancement pins and certificates, thereby advancing them to the Wolf rank. Those advanced are as follows: Eddie Ray Jones, John Martin Jones, Clyde Edmonds, Bradford E. Cobb, Tommy Adkins, Nolan Ray Raney, Charles Franz and Bobby Joe Shahan. Two new members were admitted into the pack, making eight new Cubs for Pack 25 since organized last November. The next monthly meeting will be held April 25. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Foust and daughter, Mrs. Bill Aldridge, returned home recently after a week's visit in San Antonio. Mr. Foust's father, R. E. Foust, accompanied them to San Angelo and visited his daughter while the others went to San Antonio. Office supplies at the Leader.

Apr. 30 Deadline Mattress Program

April 30 has been set as the final date for Texas farm and ranch families to make application for cotton and ticking under the Department of Agriculture's 1941 cotton mattress demonstration program. Families may make application with the supervisors of the local centers where work is continuing. Where work has been closed applicants are advised to call at the AAA office in Amherst.

Car Damaged In Accident Near Stratford

When the new 1941 automobile owned by Homer Campbell of Sudan turned over near Stratford, Texas, early this week, the top was badly damaged, but no one was injured.

Mrs. Homer Campbell and Mrs. R. Crabb and two daughters were the occupants of the car when the accident happened. They were returning from a visit to Colorado, and were enroute to their home in Sudan, and about 12 miles north of Stratford when the mishap occurred.

Urge Mahon—

As chairman of the Senate military affairs committee, Sheppard was in charge of much important legislation in connection with the defense program.

For the first time since the removal of the Littlefield post office to the new federal building, the flag was lowered to half-staff Wednesday, after the death of Senator Sheppard. The flag continued to fly at half-staff today, Thursday, and will remain in that position all day.

With the death of Senator Sheppard, and the regrettable necessity of immediate action toward the selection of a successor, a movement was set underway in Littlefield Wednesday to have our own West Texas Congressman, the young, enthusiastic and able George Mahon elected to the honorable position of United States Senator. Early and additional action along this line is expected to develop in the next few days.

How does your favorite candidate stand this week? More important, how will she stand when the ballot box closes on Saturday, April 19th? This is the last publishing standing, as next week's Leader is published so close to the closing hour that it would be impossible to keep track of any shifts that might occur during the week.

Rotary Pump—

Plans are to manufacture the pump in various sizes to meet the demands for which it is desired to use the equipment.

Finished Model in October
Mr. Baucum, who has been connected with drilling companies for the last 10 years, said that he conceived the idea for the new type of pump in 1938.

"I finished the model last October, and talked to several men about trying to put the pump on the market. I hitch-hiked in various parts of Texas, carrying this model, which had a small windmill on top of the pump. Mr. McCormick became interested in the project when I stopped at his service station late one night."

Baucum attended an engineering school in Connecticut, and while he worked with drilling companies his ideas were used many times in the perfecting of machinery.

The pump that is being used for the experiment was made by Riley Cox at the Cox Machine Shop, and Mr. Cox is anxiously watching the project for he believes that it will prove successful.

County Council P.T.A. Install Officers Saturday

The County Council of P.T.A. met at the High School Auditorium, Littlefield, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Littlefield P.T.A. as host when new officers for 1941-42 were installed as follows: Mrs. Henson of Spring Lake, President; Mrs. Warren Rutledge, Littlefield, Vice-President; Mrs.

Herman Haber of Spring Lake, Secretary; Mrs. Simon D. Hay of Sudan, Treasurer; and Mrs. W. S. Patrick of Littlefield, Reporter.

Mrs. A. D. Melton of Olton was outgoing President. Mrs. R. L. Drake of Spring Lake, who had served in the P.T.A. work for the past 13 years, was honored Saturday with a life membership to the State Congress of P.T.A. and was presented with a certificate.

This presentation is considered a great honor, and was made for the outstanding P.T.A. work by Mrs. Drake throughout the years.

Other P. T. A. Members who have received this honor in Lamb county are Mrs. Lester LaGrange of Amherst, and Mrs. Simon D. Hay of Sudan.

Mrs. O. T. Stinnett of Plainview, President of the 19th. District of P.T.A., attended the meeting, and made a talk on P.T.A. work. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Melton, outgoing President, was presented with a gift by the County Council of P.T.A.; and Mrs. Stinnett also received a gift presented her by the local P.T.A.

The next meeting of the County Council will be held at Olton.

'Protective Custody' for Axis Ships

When the U. S. seized Italian, German and Danish ships in American ports for "protective custody" to prevent sabotage, the axis powers soon protested the action to the state department. A typical scene as the U. S. stepped in is the above in which Italian seamen cheer an Italian flag surrounded by U. S. marines shortly after their ship was seized.

Sudan FFA Will Give Radio Broadcast Over KFYO, Lubbock Apr 21

Sudan Future Farmers chapter, high school vocational agriculture group, will present a radio program over station KFYO, Lubbock, on April 21. S. H. Russell, sponsor, announced this week. Time of the 15-minute broadcast will be announced later, he said.

The FFA boys also plan to attend a district leadership contest at Littlefield the following week. The Sudan chapter will enter conducting, public speaking, farm demonstration and news writing contests.

COUNTY GINNINGS HIGHER According to Warren Rutledge, Cotton Statistician for district, there had been ginned in Lamb County as of March 1, 1941, a total of 58,083 bales, as compared with 46, 809 bales for the same period from the 1939 crop. Castro County ginned 255 bales from the 1940 crop as of March 1, as compared with 2380 for the same period from the 1939 crop.

Good advice - "USE CERESAN!" MOST WIDELY RECOMMENDED COTTON SEED TREATMENT

Many cotton growers and cotton seed breeders of Texas and Oklahoma have proved how successfully seed treatment with CERESAN reduces seed rotting and sore-shin, improves stands, saves costly replanting, generally increases yields. From Temple, Texas, tests are reported in which "germination was doubled and seedling diseases greatly reduced." An Oklahoma circular states: "The investment is nominal . . . may be repaid many times in saving of seed and in improved stands and yields." Rely on CERESAN! Treat your own seed, or buy seed marked with the Ceresan Treatment Tag.

Spade Seniors Sponsor 3-Act Play

The senior class of Spade high school is very happy to announce the presentation of a three-act play on April 18. The play is entitled "The Mystery of Crazy Canyon Ranch."

The play is a rip-roaring western comedy. There will be fun all through the play, never a dull moment.

The Seniors boast that this play will be the best that has been presented at Spade for several years. Several good numbers and novelty acts will be presented between acts of the play.

Make your Power as you need it

THE only way to get power out of an engine is to burn fuel in it.

And it wouldn't be smart to burn enough gas to develop a hundred-plus horsepower all of the time—when it usually takes only a small part of that to give you the performance you want.

The sensible thing to do is to develop power as you need it—and that is precisely what the Buick FIREBALL eight with Compound Carburetion† does.

As long as one of the two carburetors in this system will do the job, that is the only one that functions.

But when you need extra power, extra pressure on the foot throttle throws an extra carburetor into action, feeding more fuel mixture into your engine and pouring more horsepower out.

Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedanet, $1006. White sidewall tires extra.*

"Best Buick Yet" EXEMPLAR OF GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

You thus make your power as you need it. You know the lift and life of plenty-power when it's wanted.

And you get such frugal operation over the whole range of your driving that two carburetors give as much as 10% to 15% more mileage than the same engines once gave with one!

Interesting? We think so too—especially now.

See your dealer and learn about FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion out on the road.

†Slight extra cost on Buick SPECIAL models, standard on all other Series.

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $915 for the Business Coupe. *delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

Bridal Showers Compliment Mrs. Gene Williams Recently

Two bridal showers complimented Mrs. Gene Williams, the former Miss Doris Reed, when Mrs. Alton Lee entertained at her home at Whitharral Thursday, March 27, and Mrs. R. W. Stanfield entertained at her home at Fieldton Friday, March 28.

Assisting at Whitharral were: Mrs. Bryan Hulse, and Mrs. Charlie Landers.

Various games were enjoyed before the honoree was presented with a large array of beautiful gifts. The Easter motif was used in the games and refreshments.

Those attending this affair were: Mesdames Graham Seagler, Fred Newsome, Charles Hauk, J. V. Callis, Eugene Yeager, A. J. Williams, M. M. Williams, Grady Taylor, Tom Rollins, and J. D. Lee and Miss Charlene Hauk, the hostesses and the honoree, Mrs. Williams.

Those sending gifts were: Mesdames O. D. Yeager, E. L. Bryant, Nellie Hodges, B. O. Hall, Roy B. Thurman, and W. E. Heselman.

Mrs. Clay Hale assisted Mrs. P. W. Stanfield with the entertainment Friday at Fieldton. The Easter motif was again used in the games and refreshments.

Those attending were: Mesdames J. E. Elliot, Wayne Barnett, J. B. Perry, C. G. Barnett, Ivis Hukill, Floyd McCain, N. F. Pattillo, Evelyn Franks, Evelyn Elliot, Clifton Robinson, Johnnie Jordan, R. A. Reed, Edith Lasiter, W. H. Montgomery, Imogene Qualls, Vera Buck, Maggie Davis, George Covne, C. G. Hukill, Marie Green, A. D. Green, E. F. Durham, R. W.

Stanfield, C. W. Armstrong, Marvin Armstrong, Marvin Qualls, M. J. Tomlinson, Elmer Thompson, Clara Adams, Jim Roberts, Jess Davis, Lofs Buck, A. R. Pool, Velma Muller, King Chaney, Addie Spikes, and Misses Geneva Downs, Jean Reed, Bertha Mae Johnson, Gwendolyn Durham, Gayle Mitchell, and Lynell Barnett, the hostesses and the honoree.

Those sending gifts were: members of the Lamb County Electric Co-Operative office, including Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Woodall, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hill, Dick Carl, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Sisson, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Herring; the directors of the REA, J. L. McGuire, Benn Gann, J. R. Kuykendahl, C. W. Smiley, C. M. Sanders, K. P. Brantner, C. A. Thomas, Doss Manor and J. J. Cook; and Mesdames Jess Johnson, Curtis Lane, W. C. Squires, Louise Cox, Lillie Muller, Ernest Jordan, Edgar Graham, Mary Edith Harmon, Frank Green, Chaney, Lydia Moore, Roy Blessings, Alvo Sullivan, Hollis, Ira Lee Hollis, Mrs. Jess Johnson, and W. P. Ferrell; and Miss Ranelle Chaney; and Mr. and Mrs. Hale and Miss Wanda Roberts and J. C. Champion of Lubbock, and Mrs. Dollie Williams of Sundown.

K. Y. Alexander of Anton Red & White Store was in town recently on business and paid the Leader a visit.

Edwin Coffman, student at Tech spent the past week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Coffman.

Heads Up

Proof that the first signs of spring go right to a woman's head are the two Easter bonnets pictured above. And this year's hats, though they include many happy flights of fancy, are fairly sensible, as hats go. The idea is to look feminine and charming—not cute. Small and designed to reveal a smartly designed coiffure—that's the rule. The one above, designed by Helen Liebert, is of red tulle with white polka dots. Its spanking taffeta bow frames the face and coiffure in a school-girlish manner. The lower one, made of straw and many flowers, is modeled by Ruth Hussey of the films.

Miss Juno Glascock Hostess To Study Club Thursday Night

Miss Juno Glascock was hostess to the Junior Study Club Thursday night, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Jones, on west second street.

During a business session Miss Laura Virginia Bills discussed the plans for the program for the County Federation meeting, which will be held here Saturday, April 19.

Miss Johnnie Pace, president, appointed a Finance committee to serve the remainder of the year. This committee included, Miss Margaret Bandy, chairman, and Miss Sybil Wigginton and Miss Gladys Jones.

Mrs. Myrtle Woodfin, president-elect, appointed a year-book committee, including Misses Johnnie Pace, Janelle Kirk, Maxine Cash, Ernestine Cundiff, Naomi Whitaker, Thelma Davidson, and Ellarene Vause. The group will meet next Monday night, April 14, and plan the year-books for the coming year.

Miss Margaret Bandy led the program on "Mexico—Latin America in North America!" She discussed "Into the Land of the Aztecs!"

Miss Eloise Hanes gave a very interesting discussion of "The Resurgence of a Nation", and Miss Fern Holland gave an interesting talk on "The Status of Women in Latin America!" Miss Holland and Miss Hanes have both visited Mexico.

After the program, the hostess served refreshments to Misses Eloise Hanes, Fern Holland, Gladys Jones, Johnnie Pace, Naomi Whitaker, Myrtle Woodfin, Helen Zoth and Margaret Bandy. Miss Cary Ivie was a guest.

Miss Oleta Tubbs And Hollis Gee Wed March 31

Miss Oleta Tubbs and Hollis Gee were united in marriage in a ceremony read at Sudan Monday night.

Spanish Students Attend Banquet At Lubbock Saturday Night

Nineteen members of the first and second year Spanish classes of the Littlefield nigh school, and their sponsor, Miss Eloise Hanes, attended a banquet for Spanish students at the Mexican Inn in Lubbock Saturday night.

Approximately 150 students attended the affair, which was a closing feature of Spanish contests in the district interscholastic league meet at Lubbock.

Dr. C. B. Qualla, director of the Spanish department at Tech, arranged the program. Spanish songs and dances were given.

Those attending from Littlefield were: Judy Jones, Bobby Foust, Joe Dick McClung, Truett Boles, Linda Beth Stokes, Eual Starr Odell, Betty Jordan, Hazel Holladay, Ida Jo Brewer, Joy Bildersback, James Ware, John Herry Chapman, Merle Lynsky, Geneva Sue Newton, Faye Repass, Onita Ratliff, Wilka Callis, and Melba Perkins, and Mary Frances Wells of Anton.

Number Attend Open House At Wayland College

A number of Y. W. A. Girls of the First Baptist Church of this city journeyed to Plainview Friday to attend Open House at Wayland College, Friday evening and Saturday.

Accompanied by Mrs. Bernie Rivers, Y.W.A. Counsellor, girls who went were: Misses Noreen McGee, Betty Jo McKinnon, Wilma Jackson, Dorothy Lindley, Laverne Raspberry, Ruth Pace, Josephine Roberts, and Rebecca Reddell.

March 31.

The bride wore a navy ensemble with black accessories. She is a daughter of Mrs. Ella Tubbs and attended the Littlefield high school. Mr. Gee moved to Littlefield several months ago with his parents, who reside in the College Heights addition.

Only attendants at the wedding were the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Workman, and Mr. Gee's brother and sister-in-law.

Easter Program Enjoyed At Rebekah Lodge Monday

Honored On Birthday Joyce McCormick

On the occasion of her fourth birthday Monday, Joyce McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCormick, was honored by a party at the home of her parents on East Seventh street.

Fourteen of Joyce's little friends gathered to help her celebrate, the occasion, and she received many lovely gifts.

Games, which included an Easter egg hunt, were enjoyed and refreshments of cake and punch were served to:

Patsy and Margie Gregg, Jackie and Sonny McCormick, Shirley Ann Weatherford, Billy Ann Nix, Wallace Earl Cockerham, Loretta Jean Brannen, Yvonne Meadows, David McCormick, Charline Didway, Bonnie Merle Cox and Peggy and Linda Beth McCormick.

An Easter program was enjoyed at the regular meeting of the Rebekah lodge Monday evening.

The hall was beautifully decorated with Lillies and other Easter decorations.

Following a short business session, the program was enjoyed, the candle light further accentuating the Easter spirit.

After the program the members spent some time in practice of competitive work in preparation for the convention to be held April 12 at Levelland.

About 30 attended.

Sub-Deb Club Sponsors Barn Dance April 2

Approximately 100 persons attended a Barn Dance Wednesday night, April 2, at the Legion Hotel which was sponsored by the Sub-Deb Club of the Littlefield high school.

A floor show consisting of a tap dance by Linda Beth Stokes and Georgia Lou Smith, and a waltz rendered by Noreen and Jean McGee, Ila Verne Luman, and Odel Pounds.

Lemonade and doughnuts were sold at the "horse-trough", by the Sub-Deb girls.

The girls and their escorts wore slacks, cowboy boots and big hats. Members of the club plan to make a trip sometime during the last weeks of school, using proceeds from the Barn Dance. Net proceeds amounted to approximately $10.00.

Miss Anna Mae Fleisher is sponsor of the Sub-Deb Club.

Eastern Star To Study At Aldridge Residence Friday

H. McFarland Returns To This Section; To Build New Home On Oklahoma Avenue

A. H. McFarland, one of the pioneers of this section, but has been living at Drummond, Oklahoma, for the past 22 years.

He sold his property there and moved back last week to his farm a mile east of town.

His farm on Oklahoma Avenue contains 450 acres and has been operated by M. C. Street and family who have been living there for the past eight years.

Mr. McFarland was accompanied by his wife and two children, Mrs. May and Maydell.

Mr. and Mrs. McFarland were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Peterman of Drummond, who spent a couple of days with the McFarland family here before returning Wednesday of last week to Drummond. This was their first trip to the South Plains, stated Mr. McFarland, who added—"They didn't like the sandstorm, but they sure will be back".

Before leaving Drummond, neighbors of the McFarland family honored them with a farewell party. About 150 neighbors gathered at the McFarland farm.

It is the plan of Mr. and Mrs. McFarland to build a beautiful new home on the Oklahoma Avenue property in the near future.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of expressing our sincere thanks to all of our friends and neighbors for their many deeds of kindness and the comforting words to us in our recent bereavement in the loss of our dear son and brother. We pray that God's richest blessing will reward each of you.

We especially appreciate the beautiful floral offering, and may we at this time extend our heartfelt thanks to members of the Littlefield American Legion, who were so kind at this time.

Sudan Artist Becomes Member Of Southern States Art League

Through her recognized ability as an artist, Mrs. Joe B. Foster of Sudan has attained one of the most coveted honors that can come to an artist of the South—a membership in the Southern States Art League.

To receive this honor, one must have sent pictures to an exhibit where a jury of critic judges passes on the work of the proposed member. Another jury must then pass on the work before the artist is given the privilege of exhibiting with the league.

Mrs. Foster recently exhibited paintings which have passed the preliminary jury at a showing in Dallas and were then accepted by the exhibit jury at Shreveport, Louisiana, and is now a full-fledged member of the Southern States Art League.

Already a winner of several awards, including first place in the South Plains Art Exhibit at Lubbock in 1939-40, two year winner in the seventh District Federation Art Exhibit in 1939-40, and winner of first honorable mention at the State Federation meeting in Austin in 1940, Mrs. Foster is now represented in the exhibits of South Plains Artists at Lubbock and the Southern States Art League at New Orleans.

She works in oils, water colors, etchings, and ceramics. Mrs. Foster has studied with some of the best artists in America, including Xavier Gonzales of Sophia Newcomb College; Alexander Hogue of Dallas and Denton, and Grant Reynolds of New Jersey.

Mrs. Foster was the organizer and first president of the Sudan Art club, and has done a great deal to promote art and encourage local artists.

She was a charter member and historian of the Palo Duro Art club.

Hundreds Of New Readers Being Added To Leader's Lists

Contestants in the Lamb County Leader Circulation Contest, and the management and personnel of the Leader, are appreciative of the friendly cooperation extended all of us in our efforts to bring an increasing number of residents of this section into the already large family of readers of this newspaper.

New subscriptions are pouring in from all sections of Littlefield's trade territory, and present subscribers, many of them readers of the Leader since this newspaper was established in the early life of Littlefield, are renewing their subscriptions as rapidly as they are contacted by the contestants.

So great has been the response to the Leader Circulation contest that it has been impossible for our staff to place the names of new subscribers on the mailing lists as rapidly as we would like to do this work. And, in this connection, we are asking that our new subscribers take into consideration the big rush of work in our office in the event of a delay in the placing of their names on our mailing list. All subscribers will receive the Leader for the full length of time for which they subscribed.

The management and personnel of the Leader, together with the contestants in the circulation campaign, welcome our new subscribers into the Leader family and hope that they will enjoy the weekly visits of this newspaper. To our present readers we express our deep thanks for your renewal subscriptions. We will strive diligently to continue to merit your patronage by giving you a good newspaper each week.

Our circulation campaign is nearing the closing date . . . Saturday night, April 19. The contestants are busy in the field, seeking to pile up votes in their race for the big cash prizes. These votes are obtained only through the obtaining of new and renewal subscriptions. You can help the candidates by handing them your subscription when they call on you. Your kind cooperation will be much appreciated.

If you wish to subscribe for the Leader or renew your subscription and you do not find it convenient to get in touch with a candidate, please call at the Leader office and a member of our staff will take your new or renewal subscription. In leaving your subscription at our office we suggest that you designate the candidate to whom you wish the votes credited.

Remember, the closing date of the circulation campaign is very near . . . Saturday night, April 19. Some candidate needs your votes to win one of the big cash prizes. Turn in your new or renewal subscription today.

Many, many thanks for your cooperation.

Mrs. J. R. Wales Passes Away Here Monday Morning

Mrs. J. R. Wales, 64, passed away at a local hospital at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning, after an illness of several months. The remains were taken overland to Hart-Thaxton Funeral Home of Littlefield, to Florence, Monday afternoon, and funeral services were held from the First Methodist church at Florence Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Stevens, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Georgetown, was in charge of services, assisted by the Methodist pastor at Florence.

Interment was in the Florence cemetery, under the direction of a funeral home at Florence.

Mrs. Wales underwent an operation several months ago at a hospital in Austin, and stayed at the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. R. Martin in Georgetown about five months, before returning to her home in the Valleyview community in February. She was taken to a local hospital Sunday, March 30, where her condition was reported critical.

Minnie Surginer was born December 28, 1877 at Florence, Texas. She became a member of the First Methodist Church when she was quite young, lived a consistent christian life. She was married to Julien Robert Wales January 10, 1895, and to this union were born eight children, seven daughters and one son.

A daughter and the son preceded Mrs. Wales in death.

Mrs. Wales and her family moved to Lamb county in 1926, and their large number of friends in this section extend sympathies during this hour of their bereavement.

Survivors include the husband; and Miss Blanche Wales, Mrs. Roy Young, and Mrs. Mallory Etter, all of Littlefield, and Mrs. J. R. Martin of Georgetown, Mrs. Ansel Stone of Springfield, Mo., and Mrs. V. A. Montgomery of Florence. She is also survived by eight grandchildren.

Easter Cantata To Be Presented At Presbyterian Church

Approximately 30 persons will present an Easter Cantata, "Memories of Easter Morn", at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

Members of the choir from the First Methodist Church and the Presbyterian church will be presented in chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Ivan Fowler and Mrs. Chas. Flesher.

Miss Laura Virginia Bills will present the organ music.

The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend this service.

Local Citizens Cast Only 33 Votes In School Election

Only 33 votes were cast Saturday in the Littlefield school trustee election, and J. J. Harlan, Roy Hutson and J. W. Hopping were named trustees. Harlan and Hutson were candidates for reelection.

Pat Boone was elected county chairman of the county board of trustees, and H. L. Woody of near Littlefield, was elected county trustee for precinct 3, and Ray Kelly of Earth, for precinct 2.

George Bohner of Olton and Ira Holland of Amherst are members of the county board whose terms do not expire for some time.

The election in Littlefield was held at the First Methodist church.

David Storey Makes Annual Tour With Tech Tennis Players

David Storey, who is a student in Texas Technological college, Lubbock, left Friday night with five varsity partners for an annual tour of Texas colleges for tennis matches.

Saturday the group played their first games at Hardin-Simmons, Abilene, slugging out a 6-1 decision.

The Tech netters lost Monday to the Texas Christian University squad, five matches to one. David did not play in these matches.

Tuesday the University of Texas Longhorns swept a dual meet at Austin, winning five singles and two doubles matches from the Tech squad. Storey lost to David Parson.

The Red Raiders played at Texas A. & M. college Wednesday, and will play Baylor at Waco Thursday. Friday they journey to Dallas for matches with Southern Methodist University.

They will return to Lubbock Saturday by way of Abilene and will play the teams from the Abilene Christian college.

Senior Class To Present "No Foolin'!"

Members of the Senior class of Littlefield high school will present a three act play, "No Foolin'!" by Katherine Kavenaugh, Thursday night, April 24, at the high school auditorium.

Directed by Miss Eloise Hanes, senior sponsor, this play was written by the author of "Girl Shy" and "That Crazy Smith Family," other plays presented by Miss Hanes and her cast.

Member of the cast of "No Foolin'!" will be about the same as those in these other plays, Miss Hanes aid.

Farmers Sign Plan Sheets This Week

In connection with the Administration's program of assisting the farmers in their farming operations, farm plan sheets are being signed up in the various communities in the county this week.

Wednesday farmers gathered at the Bigam Gin here to sign the sheets. Today Speed farmers are meeting at the Dean Gin to sign up plan sheets; and Friday farmers will gather at the District Court Room, Olton; Saturday at the high school building, Spring Lake, where Spring Lake and Earth farmers will meet, and next Monday the sheets will be signed at the Cooperative Gin, Hart Camp.

This program is being carried out this year, instead of calling all the farmers to Amherst as heretofore.

IF YOU LIVE IN the Panhandle YOU'RE IN THE OIL BUSINESS

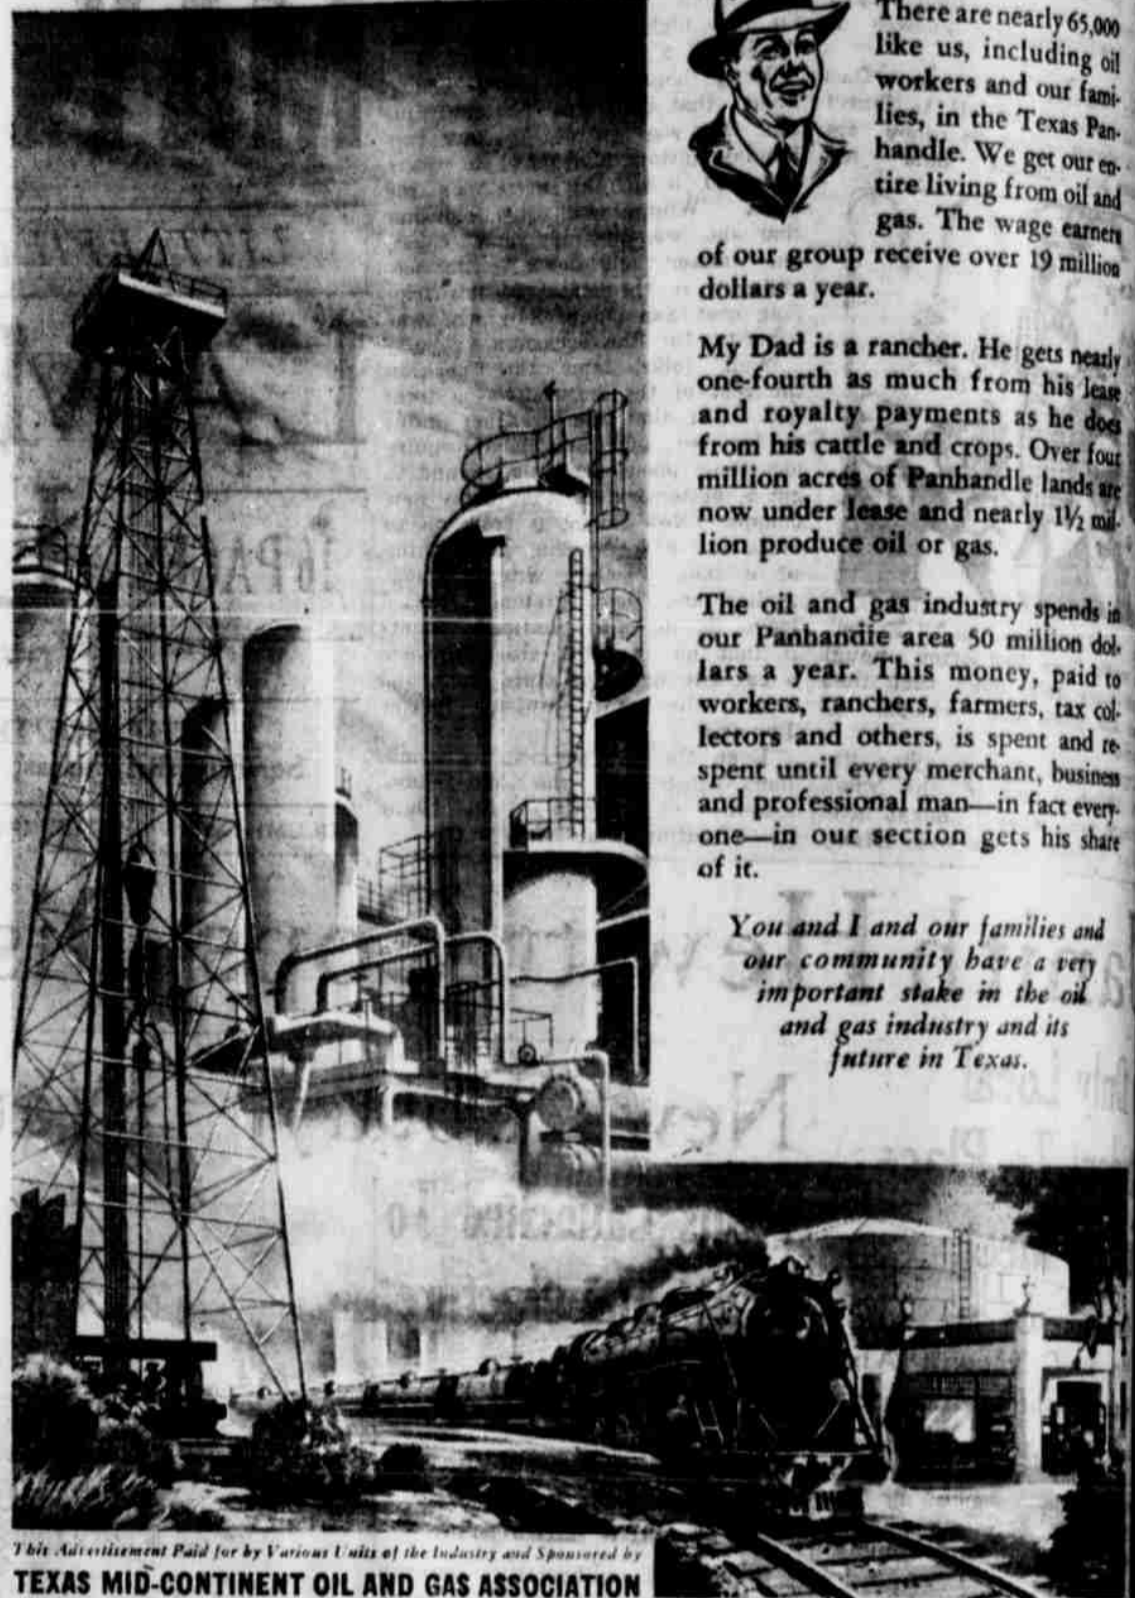

There are nearly 65,000 like us, including oil workers and our families, in the Texas Panhandle. We get our entire living from oil and gas. The wage earners of our group receive over 19 million dollars a year.

My Dad is a rancher. He gets nearly one-fourth as much from his lease and royalty payments as he does from his cattle and crops. Over four million acres of Panhandle lands are now under lease and nearly 1 1/2 million produce oil or gas.

The oil and gas industry spends in our Panhandle area 50 million dollars a year. This money, paid to workers, ranchers, farmers, tax collectors and others, is spent and re-spent until every merchant, business and professional man—in fact everyone—in our section gets his share of it.

You and I and our families and our community have a very important stake in the oil and gas industry and its future in Texas.

"Men of Boys' Town" At Palace Theatre Over This Week End

For three years, ever since the release of "Boys' Town", thousands of theatre-goers have asked for a sequel to that fascinating true-life film, telling further of Father Flanagan's fight for homeless and unwanted boys. "Men of Boys' Town", again starring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney, comes as the answer to those requests to the Palace Theatre, Saturday Midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday.

It is a dramatic, punchy, two-fisted story of Father Flanagan's battle against all forms of cruelty in the corrective treatment of youth. For Father Flanagan believes that there is no such thing as a bad boy, and has proved it at his City of Little Men where there are neither guards nor fences.

New Houses Are Under Construction In This Vicinity

Eight new houses are under construction in Littlefield and vicinity, it was reported this week by Foxworth-Gabraith Lumber Company, who are furnishing building materials for the houses.

Four modern stucco houses have been started on First street. They are owned by Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Yarbrough and Joe Brandstatt is the contractor.

A four room, with bath residence is under construction on the farm owned by Prof. A. C. Gattis of Baylor Belton, who resides at Denton. Mr. Black lives on the farm, located northeast of Littlefield. Joe Brandstatt is contractor on house.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Massengill are building a five-room modern house with a basement on their farm two and one-half miles southeast of Littlefield. Joe Henderson is the contractor.

Geo. D. Neely is contractor for a four-room house with bath, which is under construction for J. R. Montgomery, who resides seven miles west of Littlefield in the Sunnydale community.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Reese of 10 miles west of Littlefield, are building a four-room house with bath. The house will be stuccoed and C. D. Strange is the contractor.

Mrs. J. E. Norman has returned to her home here after several weeks visit with Mr. Norman's mother at Claude, Texas. Mrs. Norman, Sr., has been ill but is some better.

BY OLE BUCKEYE

to Nabors: One of these days I'll be Easter. I no because I pre-va. Yep, the ladies will come out with them night-headpieces, still knowed as Warning I got was last y. Ma got me off to church change (jest to show the er her husband dont jest at Christmas and Easter) besides I go just often enough many folks don't turn their and gawk and whisper in ways, what I was saying, the thinking I got of the whole ant was when I looked over a smile creep over Harry Wimpel's face and he winked broad as a barn door in my direction. There was something coming a-rite. Here come Winnie Teckle, one of the now high school teachers, down the ile in a new Easter hat.

Boys, honest to Good Friday night, that hat was so outrajus that Ma was feered ld bust my Sunday buttons and have to retire and laff it off by mme: on the quiet. Winnie was sure consusus that she was cutting some caper, and waltzed right down to the second row, in the center, nearly tripping over Sam-Jones' boy who was ushering for the occashun.

Well, folks, from this position the rest of the service was a total loss. Not that the preacher didnt do h's best, but some in the quire lost their pieces, craning around to get a better view of that dizzy new chappo. Now far be it from me to make lite of a woman, say nothing of a skoc teacher, with my poor apellen and poor gramma, but I leave it to the Patient Saints if that hn: want a cross between a cat file on china store shelf and a Sorcelist on a tantrum in the Badard-

Forty-Two States Install System And Texas May Follow

Supt. Hemphill, Prin. Dennis Go To Temple To School Conference

Supt. F. A. Hemphill and Orien Dennis, principal of the elementary school, left Wednesday at noon for Temple, where they are attending a school conference today, Thursday. Lon Smith, president of the school board, is also attending the conference.

Executives from schools of the state of Texas, and school board members are discussing the advantages of a 12-year school program, which will probably be established in all Texas schools next year.

Some of the basic reasons for the establishment of this program include: Before 1932, children started to school when they were seven years old and by the time they were ready to finish high school, they were at least 17 or 18 years old; It is very difficult for the average child to cover the public school work in 11 years, and the proposed program will offer another year to students, who otherwise finish high school too young, Mr. Hemphill said.

Forty-two states in the United States have adopted the 12-year plan for schools, and two other states are considering the program. One of these includes Texas. Many schools in Texas have already adopted the program, which was advocated in Texas six years ago. Mr. Hemphill, Mr. Dennis and Mr. Smith will return home Friday.

And Now It's Hats Off To J. R. Eagan

J. R. Eagan, local representative of the Amicable Life Insurance Co., has brought distinction to himself, his company, and to Littlefield and section.

"J. R." as he is known among a high percentage of the residents of this city and section, enjoys the distinction of leading all Amicable agents in volume of business production for March.

The Littlefield young man learned of his outstanding achievement in a telegram from his company late last week. The wire read as follows:

"Congratulations upon your leading all Amicable agents in volume of production for March. Rush photograph from which to make cut for Life Lines. Wire immediately when can expect photograph"

"J. R." rushed the photograph, then settled down to get over the shock of having beaten almost 300 Amicable agents.

He was second high man in October, achieving this nice distinction after having been with the company only two months.

West Texas sure does produce young men who know how to get the job done!

New Rotary Water Pump Successful

Plans Launched To Start Manufacture Of New Invention

Jack Baucom, Leonard McCormick Associated In A New Enterprise

Wide and enthusiastic interest has been demonstrated in a new rotary type pump for windmills and irrigation wells which it is planned to manufacture and market at an early date.

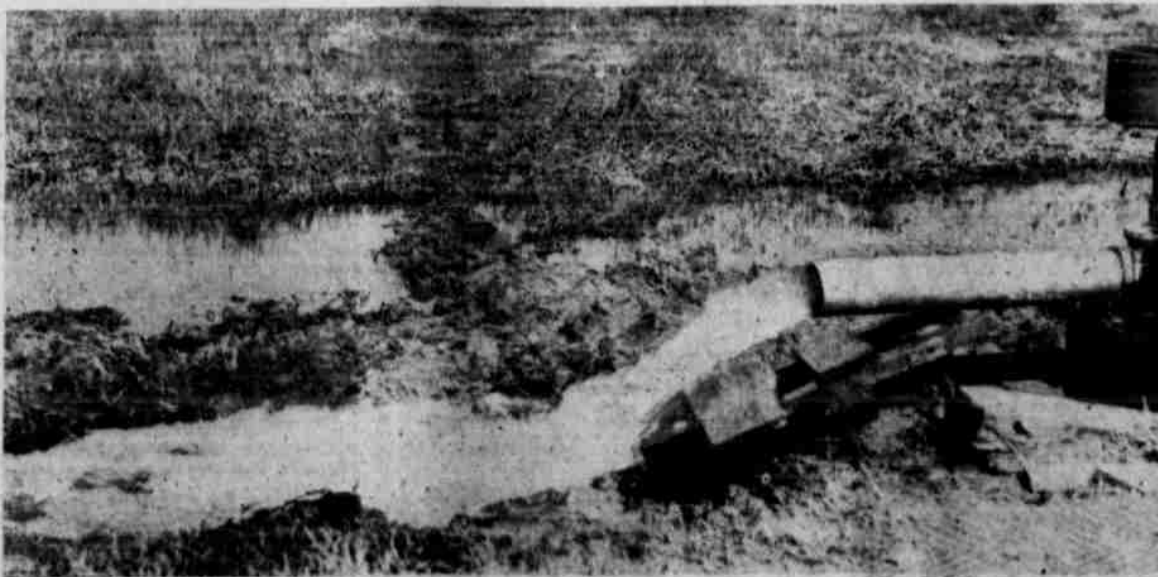

The new pump has been given preliminary tests, and the effectiveness of its operation has brought forth enthusiastic comments from engineers, business men and farmers.

The new pump is being demonstrated on the farm of Mrs. Nettie Allen, in the Blackwater Draw section, eight miles north of Littlefield. Placed in actual operation for the first time Saturday, the new type pump is producing a strong, large flow. Engineers, farmers and business men converged on the Allen farm in great numbers Saturday, and expressed enthusiastic approval of the new development.

Operates With Little Power

The new pump operates smoothly, easily, and requires a limited amount of power. Two rotary type gears, specially designed, timed and placed are the chief features of the mechanism. It is now operated by a tractor, but could be successfully driven by other kinds of power.

The model for the pump was made by C. E. (Jack) Baucom, (Continued on back page)

A new rotary type pump for windmills and irrigation wells was given an initial working test Saturday on the farm of Mrs. Nettie Allen, in the Blackwater Draw section, eight miles north of Littlefield. The model for the pump was made by C. E. (Jack) Baucom, formerly of Pampa, who interested Leonard McCormick, Littlefield, in commercially developing his invention. In the top picture are shown the model and the pump in operation, with Mr. Baucom at the left and Mr. McCormick at the right. In the bottom picture water is shown flowing from the well as the new type pump functions.

Leader's Circulation Contest Close Race

Question asked many times is, "Who is going to win the contest?" The question these people have asked is, "Who will be the consistent winner?" It is far too early to say anything about the contest to even attempt such thing as a prediction. The consistent winner will be $500 richer on Wednesday night.

Nine More Days
More days! Think how important they are! Every contestant one of those major prizes.

The efforts put forth during the next nine days may mean the difference between attainment and disappointment. These few days of credits will mean dreams come true to the contestant who takes full advantage of her opportunity.

Most of the candidates are employing every ounce of energy to secure the business that will gain for them the major prizes. Loyal friends are cooperating with them. The competition grows more intense. The rivalry is definitely keener. This will be a big battle down to the closing minutes with rewards going surely to the hardest working contestants.

The reception given the contest has been most gratifying from its very beginning. The strong hearted contestants have met with cheering responses in their canvassing, and there is ever good reason to believe the response during the final (Continued on back page)
