Nearly News By DOUGLAS POE

See where Hondo dedicated their new Army building last Saturday. Theirs is a National Guard unit and it took seven years for it to grow large enough to make it eligible for its own building. With the new reserve law, units are expected to grow much faster.

We wonder every month if our engraver is worth the money. It's one of those new gadgets which you can't buy—have to rent. It costs us more per month than our building does, plus the time we spend operating it. It enables us to run lots more pictures and later pictures than we could do if we sent all our pictures somewhere else to be engraved.

REDDY'S Farm Report

FROM THE AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT
SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

Elimination of risk with greater assurance of profit from flat storage of grain or seed, on the farm, is possible where the farmer has made provision for aeration of the stored grain.

Aeration prevents excessive moisture from forming on top of the grain and, in addition, cools the grain, thereby preventing insect and small rodent growth. Since grain is usually cut with a moisture content of about 13%, it is practical to maintain that percentage with aeration equipment.

The easiest way to accomplish aeration is to have a well advised installation consisting of a wire mesh tunnel running the length of the storage building, at one end of which is an electrically driven fan capable of pulling or pushing large volumes of air through the grain. Since aeration is simply a matter of cooling and maintaining quality after the grain has been dried to desirable moisture content, good aeration equipment can be used successfully for fumigation.

Some grain growers have attempted to dry high-moisture-content grain with aeration equipment, however, this practice is not recommended because upwards of ten to twenty-five times greater air moving capacity must be employed. In drying, air is "pushed" through the grain rather than "pulled" through as in aerating.

Farmers have found that by storing grain on the farm, with proper anti-spoilage equipment, they have good returns for labor performed, good return on investment through saving the usual storage fees and grain handling costs. In addition, the grower maintains control of his crop, and he can sell whenever the market looks best.

Information on grain storage equipment is available through college agricultural departments and equipment suppliers.

Most High School Boys Say

'College First - Then Go To Service'

Many high school seniors and juniors in Littlefield favor "going to college and then service," an abbreviated survey showed Monday after students had heard armed service representatives explain military obligations of the 18-year-old.

Representatives of all four branches of the service spoke to the students in separate groups after two of the service personnel had explained the present service set-up.

The largest groups were around air force and Marine representatives as students broke into segments to ask about specific plans of each separate service.

College First

Among the comments after the meeting were the following: "I plan on going to college first, then into the Air Force," said Mickey Ratliff, junior.

"I don't know yet, but I probably will get into the reserves," Paul Barker, senior, stated.

Mike Grver, a junior, said that he would "go to college, then into the Navy."

Another boy with college ambitions, Junior Andy Parker, said he would "enter the Marines" after his schooling.

To Enter ROTC

Two boys—Juniors Max Morris and Roger Lowe—said they would go to college and enter the Reserve Officer Training Corps.

"I'm going to barber college, then join the Navy," Gene Petree, junior, stated.

Several boys expressed an interest in the proposed Army Reserve Unit that may be established in Littlefield. Among them were Barker, and four other students—seniors Tommy Ewins, Kerry King, and Ray Rochelle, and junior Russell Carpenter.

Students learned that the first thing an 18-year-old must do is register with selective service. After that he may follow one of several courses.

If the young man does nothing but register with the draft and wait for induction, he will receive orders sometime between the ages of 18 and 26, unless he is granted a deferment. If for any reason he is deferred before reaching 26, then he is eligible for the draft until age 35.

Six Year Obligation

No matter what course he takes, he is obligated for six years of military service, at least two of which must be spent on active duty, according to the new reserve law.

There is one exception—young men between ages 17 and 18½ may enlist for a draft-deferred eight year duty to serve six months' active duty and seven and one-half years of participating in regular meetings.

At present, draftees are placed in the Army or Navy, according to the needs of the services. The Marine Corps and Air Forces are operating on a voluntary basis.

Men who join the reserves may take their six years by attending meetings for three years in the ready reserve, taking two years of active duty, and a final year of service in the standby reserve.

The difference between the ready and standby reserves is that men in the ready reserves may be called up in an emergency; those in the standby may be called only when Congress declares war.

Those who volunteer for the required two years in the Army, three in the Marine Corps or four each in the Air Force or Navy, must still complete the five years of combined active service and reserve participation; that is, if a young man enlists in the Marine Corps for three years, he must participate in the reserves for two more years, then be placed in the standby reserve for one year. In any case, the total will be six years.

Miller, Fleming Participate In Marine Exercise

BARKING SANDS, Hual, T. H. (FHTNC)—"Operation MAUKA," first full-scale assault by Marines of the 1st Provisional Marine Air-Ground Task Force, was marked with landings on this Hawaiian island from set and air recently.

Participating in the exercise with Headquarters and Service Company, 4th Marine Regiment is Cpl. Drew A. Miller, son of Mrs. Dorothy V. Miller of 509 W. Third, Littlefield, Texas, and with the 2nd Battalion, 4th Marine Regiment is Pfc. Carol B. Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Fleming of 816 Delano Ave., Littlefield.

Hitting the beach by amphibious craft or helicopter were the 4th Marines, ground component of the Task Force. They met immediate resistance from Marine "enemy" forces, the 1st Amphibious Reconnaissance Company, Fleet Marine Force.

Simulated naval gunfire, close air support and atomic bomb simulators added realism, as did sudden changes of situation injected by control groups.

Marine Aircraft Group 13, the Task Force's air arm, supported the nearly 8,000 Marines through-out the exercise with close air support, aerial transport of personnel and supplies, and fighter cover. Joining in this test of the newest concepts of amphibious warfare

In the atomic age were 20 ships and 5,000 personnel of the Navy's Amphibious Force 1. The Task Force is based at U. S. Marine Corps Air Station, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii.

GUESS I HAVE TIME FOR ONE LAST LOOK AT THE TOWN BEFORE I LEAVE IT FOR TWO YEARS!

KERRY DRAKE

I MUSTN'T FORGET WHERE THE LOCKER WITH MY SUITCASE IS LOCATED!

Recently when the Olton Chapter of the Future Teachers of America sponsored a variety show at the Olton High school, Yvonne Huff sang in a quartet and Mary Scribner participated in a stunt. Both girls are from Hart Camp.

Giving In...To His Practical Side!

We will tell you, in all honesty, that this gentleman was a little dubious when he first walked into the showroom.

There was no question, to be sure, about his wanting a Cadillac!

But, quite frankly, he wondered whether or not he was in a position to purchase a motor car as wonderful as the 1956 Cadillac.

But now he is learning some facts about this distinguished motor car that are removing the doubt from his mind.

First of all, he is learning that a Cadillac is relatively modest in its initial cost.

He is finding out about Cadillac's extraordinary dependability and freedom from repairs.

He is discovering the remarkable facts about Cadillac's traditionally wonderful resale value.

And, lastly, he is being told that, at this time of the year, his dealer is able to make Cadillac ownership even more practical than usual.

That's why we suspect that—having given in long ago to his heart—he is now giving in to his practical side. And that's a combination no man can resist!

If you have considered Cadillac the car in your future—but have postponed making the move for reasons of economy—we urge you to stop in soon.

As an experienced Cadillac dealer, we have established a wonderful relationship with fine-car motorists throughout the community. Our reputation for integrity is positive assurance of your satisfaction as a customer.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Don't Want State Or Federal Control, But . . .

Lubbock's City Fathers claim they can come to the Sandhills area of Bailey county, suck out up to 62 millions of water daily, and that this action will have no effect on the water supply of the vast irrigation area on the other side of which Bailey county is only a part. In this irrigation area claim it most certainly would affect the underground water supply of a huge prospecting area to the extent that it would precipitate the conditions of irrigation becomes uneconomical.

Lubbock city folks ought to be told: Most of our area bankers and business people believe the plan to run a long pipeline to the Sand Hills of Bailey County is unrealistic and basically unbusinesslike. If it is a possibility that supplemental water (if actually available) can be obtained elsewhere, we believe it certainly makes sense for the city to obtain it from those sources.

There is no certainty that the supply of water hoped for from the water rights area will continue for long (water tables are being lowered all over the irrigation district normal watering.)

We think Lubbock people ought to realize that land values have taken a terrific beating in the last few weeks. One acre farmer near Muleshoe told The Journal he values have declined as much as $150 per acre. Does it mean part of the Plains for land values to hit the skids in this manner?

Lubbock people ought to be told that it has been estimated that when the city pipeline removes water from the Sandhills at the maximum rate they expect to hit, they'll be using enough water to irrigate some 61 sections, figuring at 244 quarters to the quarter. 244 quarters of land in the Sandhills area would support a considerable number of cattle.

A map, published in Bulletin No. 5209, prepared by the Board of Water Engineers in cooperation with the Geological Survey, and called a "Cross section from the San River southeastward across the High Plains to the Sandhills, Texas," shows that our water bearing sands are far into New Mexico. Is there any wonder that the people of Eastern New Mexico, where irrigation is an important factor are alarmed at Lubbock's water plans?

Is there any wonder that they have joined forces with the people of the Texas Plains to help prevent consummation of Lubbock's announced plans?

No one in this part of Texas is willing even to discuss the idea of giving up local control of water. But . . .

NOW MR. PLAINS CITIZENS

Men and women of the counties affected here on the Plains: If you don't get alarmed, and if you don't aid the efforts that are being made to stop this pipeline, we just don't know, in view of all that's been printed and said, we just know what would alarm you.

By shutting your eyes and closing your mind to the fact (which flatly exists) you won't have to face it. But it is our firm conviction that if the plan goes through, and if the city of Lubbock takes as much as 62 million gallons a day out of our farming area, depleting the water area that is the Sand Hills, you will see the day when you will deeply regret any indifference you may show.

The Texas Poll Daniel Leads At This Point In 1956 Race For Governor

By JOE BELDON, Director, the Texas Poll
 A state-wide survey of voters by the Texas Poll indicates that U. S. Sen. Price Daniel has taken the lead in the race for Democratic nomination for governor, while Ralph Yarborough and W. Lee O'Daniel are battling for the second runoff position.

Daniel received 41 per cent of the first choice votes in the survey, Yarborough 21 per cent, and O'Daniel 18 per cent. THAT DANIEL IS now the most popular candidate is indicated not only by his lead in first choice votes but also by the fact that two of every three voters — 66 per cent — feel he is one of the best two candidates in the race.

Completed during the first week of April, this is the first survey by the Texas Poll to be conducted among voters who are qualified to vote in this year's elections. A cross-section poll last fall indicated that Yarborough, the Liberal leader, who is making his third try for the nomination, had the largest bloc of support at that time. Developments since last fall, including buildup of Sen. Daniel before the entry of former Gov. and U. S. Sen. O'Daniel in the race, have changed the picture considerably.

THE LATEST SURVEY measures the relative strength of six announced candidates and two others who were considered prospective candidates at the time the survey was launched.

Each voter was shown a card listing the names of the eight men. "Half a dozen or more candidates probably will run for governor of Texas this summer in the Democratic primary," the voter was told.

"Please read all of the names on this card before you give me your opinion."

Then the voter was asked these two questions:
 (1) "Which two, in your opinion are the best qualified to be governor?"
 (2) "Which one would be your first choice?"

The results follow:

	Best Two	First Choice
Price Daniel	66%	41%
R. Yarborough	49	21
W. Lee O'Daniel	31	18
R. Senterfitt	15	3
John C. White	10	3
James P. Hart	5	2
J. Evetts Haley	2	1
J. J. Holmes	1	—
Don't know, undecided	10	11

All of the men listed except James P. Hart, former Texas Supreme Court Judge, and John C. White, state agriculture commissioner, had announced for governor by the time interviewing started in this survey. Hart this week decided he would not run. White has not announced his decision. Even with both out of the race, however, the relative strength of the other candidates will be affected only slightly, for indications from the survey are that Hart's and White's first choice votes are likely to be split up fairly evenly among Daniel, Yarborough, O'Daniel and Senterfitt.

About nine of every 10 voters in the survey said they had heard or read about Daniel, Yarborough, and O'Daniel. Substantially fewer had heard or read about the others. Voters were asked to point out which of the candidates they remember "having read or heard anything about" before they were asked to give their opinion on which are the best two and which one is their first choice.

PERCENTAGES who said they had read or heard about each are as follows: O'Daniel 93 per cent; Price Daniel 91 per cent; Yarborough 90 per cent; Senterfitt, former speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, 38 per cent; White 37 per cent; Hart 17 per cent; Haley, former University of Texas historian and now a ranchman at Canyon, 17 per cent; Holmes, Austin contractor who has made one unsuccessful race for governor, 16 per cent.

A representative cross section of 500 qualified voters was interviewed in the survey. The sample was properly balanced to represent voters of every region of the state, including large cities, small cities, and rural areas. The voters were personally interviewed by a staff of 46 Texas Poll interviewers.

 So, we move along into another week. We can't see that it is very much different from other weeks — a little wind, a little dust and a little sunshine — no rain. However, we are having a rather nice share of candidates — they float in on the wind and float out on the dust, leaving behind a shower of cards. — Ropes Plainsman.

There are many of us who believe that the way a board member votes is the business of the electorate. We don't believe in secret voting. We wouldn't be satisfied for the U. S. And we feel exactly the same way about the school board. — Tulla Herald.

Official Memorandum
 BY
 ALLAN SHIVERS
 Governor of Texas
 AUSTIN, TEXAS

STRENGTH IN RESERVE — Important words for an important cause at an important time. The national security of the United States of America rests largely on the shoulders of the Armed Forces Reserve. STRENGTH is the key word to our power as a nation. RESERVE is the key word to our military strength.

April 22 to 26 has been designated as Military Reserve Week throughout the nation. It has been endorsed by the President, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of the Army and the Army Chief of Staff. Military Reserve Week is being sponsored by the National Security Committee and 19 Constituent Organizations. It is being supported by the National Security Training Commission.

It is incumbent upon us as Texans to give of our time and our efforts to the wholehearted support of our Reserve Forces. It is our privilege and our duty to honor these — our Military Reserve Forces — whose responsibility it is to defend our State and our nation in the event of an emergency.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate April 22 - 26, 1956, as

and urge every Texan to recognize the importance of our Reserve Forces in maintaining our Military strength.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 21st day of April, 1956.

Allan Shivers
 Governor of Texas

Sandhills Philosopher . . .

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm, as best we can figure, must have been looking at somebody's television set, his letter his week indicates.

Dear Editor:
 The trouble with science is that it never can live up to its claim. I came around to this conclusion once more this week while I was reading a newspaper article about the preferential primaries as they're called which are being held in some states to keep the people in the habit of voting. I guess, as I've never been able to see anything else they accomplished.

If you recall, when the radio was invented it was supposed to revolutionize politics, it was going to enable every man to sit in his own home and listen to the candidates and make up his own mind and this would result in a better quality of office-holder, the same as happened when they gave the women the vote.

Well, radios kept getting better and better, but the quality of the office-holder remained the same.

The farm bill this year is a good example of what happens when the Farm Bloc really starts rolling. President Eisenhower in January recommended a nine-point farm program. Secretary Benson strongly endorsed it.

The three general farm organizations were sharply divided in their legislative recommendations. The largest of the three, the Farm Bureau, strongly supported the Administration position favoring continuation of flexible price supports.

The Farmers Union, as it has for many years, urged that price supports for all farm commodities be put at 100% of parity. The National Grange favored a series of commodity programs, such as the two-price plan for wheat. All three favored the Soil Bank plan suggested by the President.

Last year, the Farm Bloc succeeded in getting a bill providing for 90% minimum supports for cotton, corn, wheat, rice and peanuts through the House.

An all-out joint Administration-Farm Bureau drive for continued flexible supports gave the Farm Bloc its first set-back when the Senate voted for flexibles. Immediately, Farm Bloc forces rallied and took complete charge in the Senate.

It added half a dozen amendments that would have the effect of nullifying the flexible law. It added a two-price plan for wheat and rice, raised dairy supports, boosted corn allotments by 20% and nearly doubled set-asides of surplus crops.

A joint Senate and House conference committee completed the rout of the Administration by restoring 90% of parity minimum supports for 1956. The Farm Bloc was in the saddle again and riding high.

There are many of us who believe that the way a board member votes is the business of the electorate. We don't believe in secret voting. We wouldn't be satisfied for the U. S. Senate to vote on a proposal, drastically affecting us, then glibly announcing to the public that the proposal carried or failed to carry. We want to know how our own Senators voted. And we feel exactly the same way about the school board. — Tulla Herald.

YOUR TEXAS WATER

Record lows in Texas streams, rains that didn't fall, steadily declining water storage in reservoirs, both underground and surface, cast a gloomy shadow over the state as Spring moves toward Summer.

For the month of March the statewide average rainfall was less than one-fourth of normal. In the first ten days of April, ominous clouds of top soil swirled and drifted across Texas.

Even the Neches river in moisture-blessed East Texas flowed only 21 per cent of normal. In varying degrees it's the same picture from Amarillo to Brownsville, from Texarkana to El Paso. Streams are dry, or trickling toward dryness.

Underground storage apparently is dropping at a crucial pace. Legendary Barton Springs at Austin had the lowest flow in 62 years of measurement during March.

Comal Springs at New Braunfels yielded less than one-fourth of the average flow produced over the past 28 years, dropping sharply below its February measurement.

Water levels in observation wells throughout the state continued downward. Texans cannot afford to ignore these warnings. Every gallon of wasted water is taking its toll.

Conservation and productive use of water must be the prime concern of every Texan, or every Texan is going to suffer.

True, it is a problem for government officials, for state agencies, for cities, villages, industry, agricultural. But, even more surely it is a problem for every individual who washes a car, waters a lawn, takes a bath or installs an air-conditioner.

A city reservoir is reassuring only so long as it holds water. A well is only as good as the underground source supplying it. The picture isn't pretty . . . but every Texan needs to study it carefully.

TODAY'S BIG SPECIAL

at a price that will open your eyes (and Purse)

If you're in the market for a real buy, take a good look at this one. It's a 1956 Buick SPECIAL—which means, of course it's a big car. But look again at the price news it carries. It tells you this big Buick SPECIAL can be yours for only a few dollars more than the price of the well-known smaller cars—for even less than some models of those very same cars. (And the price we'll show you proves how true that is.)

The gospel truth is—this brassy new beauty is the biggest bundle of high style and hot performance ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series. Even that, though, doesn't completely explain why Buick outsells every car in America except the two well-known smaller ones.

To understand the big reason, you've got to know something about how much pure automobile you get for your money in a 1956 Buick—

The extra satisfaction of commanding Buick's wallowing new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine—

The extra joy and comfort of Buick's new buoyant ride, Buick's matchless new handling ease, Buick's extra solidity of structure—

The extra thrill that comes from the world's most modern transmission. For, at your option, you can also have the new double-action take-off—and the extra gas-saving mileage—of Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo.†

Those are some of the things we'd like you to know, firsthand, about the 1956 Buick. And we'll let the car itself—and that low price tag—do the talking. Will you come in—real soon—this week maybe?

†New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

GMC

LEADS THE WAY

No other truck can offer you as much as a new 1956 GMC

LOOK at the facts—no matter what kind of truck you need. GMC's new light-duty power plants have as much as 16.2% greater displacement than the nearest competition. H.P.'s been upped as much as 20%. V8's are the latest in short-stroke design.

In the new half-tonners, a brand-new fast-ratio cruising axle gives you all the efficiencies of overdrive. And it's an option at a fraction of overdrive's usual price.

A new ride stabilizer gives Blue Chip light-duties remarkable new riding comfort. No need to fight the steering-wheel—even on the poorest roads.

All GMC's now have a 12-volt electrical system. Tubeless tires are standard equipment. And a new boulevard styling makes a GMC far and away the best advertisement you can run.

In short, new 1956 Blue Chip GMC's are just about as impressive a line as you've ever seen. Values are even more remarkable. Drop by and see for yourself!

FURR'S MENU of the WEEK

As Suggested By Jennie V. Wynne Home Economist - KCBQ-TV

BOILED STEAK	FRENCH FRIED POTATOES	BUTTERED CAULIFLOWER
CAESAR SALAD *	HOT FRENCH BREAD	YANKEE GINGERBREAD *
CAESAR SALAD: 2 cups croutons 2 heads chilled romaine 1-4 teaspoon dry mustard	1-4 teaspoon black pepper 1-2 teaspoon salt 1-2 cup grated Parmesan cheese	4 tablespoons olive oil Juice of 2 lemons 2 eggs

Prepare croutons by frying cubes of bread over a low flame in olive oil flavored with a split clove of garlic. Into a garlic-rubbed wooden bowl tear romaine into medium-sized pieces and sprinkle with mustard, pepper, salt and cheese. Add olive oil and lemon juice. Break eggs (some chefs prefer to cook them for 1-2 minutes) on the greens and toss enough to mix thoroughly, but not so vigorously as to bruise the greens, and until no trace of egg is to be seen. The leaves should be coated, but there must not be excess liquid in the bowl. Taste for seasoning. An instant before serving, add the croutons, tossing the salad briefly to mix in the croutons without making them soggy. Four or five fillets of anchovy are sometimes added to this salad, cut into small pieces; or 4 slices bacon cut into small pieces and fried until crisp may be added with the croutons. A dash of Worcestershire may also be added.

YANKEE GINGERBREAD: 2 teaspoons ginger 2 teaspoons cinnamon 3 eggs	1 cup sugar 1 cup black molasses 3-4 teaspoon cloves 1 cup salad oil	2 teaspoons soda, dissolved in 2 tablespoons hot water 2 cups sifted flour 1 cup boiling water

Combine eggs, sugar, molasses, spices and salad oil, and beat well. Add soda and hot water. Gradually sift in flour. Mix thoroughly. Stir in boiling water. Place in a greased 9 x 9 inch pan. Bake at 350 F. for 45 minutes, or until done. Serve hot.

Texas Oil Pioneers -- Part 5

Jim Donohoe Among First To Mark Discovery Wells

By WILLIAM A. OWENS
(Editor's note: Sketch compiled from records of Oral History of Texas Oil Pioneers, University of Texas. Persons who can contribute additional information, documents, or photographs of early oil fields should write to the Archives Collection, Box 7767, University Station, Austin, Texas.)

Jim Donohoe of Batson is a bachelor, Irish to the bone, and a good teller of stories about the Gulf Coast oil fields. He is also an oil pioneer with a sense of history.

An Ohio farm boy and a Spanish-American War Veteran, he rambled down to Texas to see what the oil excitement was about. He came to San Antonio as an excursionist, and ended up a roughneck in the Batson Oil Field, February 12, 1905. While other roughnecks went from boom to boom, he stayed on in Batson, and prospered.

The boom was at its height when he arrived. In a little over a year Batson had grown from five families scattered about the saucer-like prairie to a population of about 10,000. They had cut back the edges of the Big Thicket to make room for themselves and their oil field machinery.

Batson was a 24-hour a day operation when he arrived—for workers in the oil fields, for gambling joint and saloon keepers in the shacks and tents of Fannin Street, for the various kinds of people who follow a boom.

Donohoe took a room at the Caledonia Boarding House, run by a Scotsman named Simpson. This was a two-story frame house with 10 or 12 rooms for sleeping, each furnished with two cots and nothing else. The roof leaked, and during rainy season the roomers had a hard time dodging drips. Men brought mud on their boots from streets and oil fields. They used hoes instead of brooms to scrape mud from the dining-room floor. There were no screens, and flies and mosquitoes made life miserable.

Donohoe had a turn at various jobs: fireman, pumper, tank gauger, roustabout, and superintendent of the lease.

For years he worked for $30 a month and paid $26 a month for room and board—a margin of profit that figured prominently in his career as an oil man. He saved his money carefully and invested every cent he could in the Batson field.

In 1915 he bought part interest in a lease. Through good times and bad he stayed on, adding to his holdings as large companies and individual owners pulled out. At last he was able to consolidate them in the Adabel Oil Company.

In spite of the inconveniences at the Caledonia, he stayed on until the building was destroyed in 1928, or, as he says, he wore it out. Then he built himself a nice bungalow adjoining his lease. He can sit in comfort on his front porch and watch his walking beams go up and down pumping his oil into his tanks.

As for his sense of history: Before many persons were interested in marking sites of discovery wells in Texas oil fields, Donohoe decided that a marker should be erected for the Batson discovery well—to show his appreciation and to give permanence if the Big Thicket should edge in again.

At his own expense he had a surveyor help him locate the old casing. Then he had a Texas granite market erected on the spot, at not a great distance from his own front porch. Afraid that a bronze plaque might find its way to a scrap heap in time of war, he had the words cut deep into granite.

The marker stands there with its message: "Discovery well, Batson Oil Field, Paraffine Oil Company Number One. Total depth—790 feet. Initial production—600 barrels. Completed October 31st, 1903."

The first Baptist church in America was founded in 1638 in Providence, R. I., by Roger Williams.

It's true that there is no time like the present, but a lot of people think there's no time to borrow into like the future.

"Who Knows What We'll Find!"

Dear Friends

As a part of their work in Humble's Refining Research Laboratory, Humble scientists bombard petroleum hydrocarbons with electrons in a 2-million volt Van de Graaff Accelerator.

But if you ask one of these scientists what he expects to find, he'll answer, who knows!

For this is fundamental research. Results may be quick or they may be a long time developing. Who knows?

... Perhaps the scientists will find a way to increase the yield of useful products from a barrel of crude oil.

... Perhaps they'll be able to make improvements in the fine products already supplied you.

... Perhaps they'll develop an entirely new group of petroleum products.

Who knows!

This much, however, is certain: Humble research scientists at Baytown use every device of physics, chemistry, mathematics and mechanics to provide you with more and better petroleum products.

Two quick examples: The specifications for Esso Extra gaso'line, the formula for Humble Unifile motor oil. These, without question, are the finest products you can use in your car.

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — An all-out campaign to elect Texas' Senior Senator, Lyndon Johnson, to the presidency of the United States, is under way.

It isn't just a drive to name him chairman of the Texas delegation. It isn't just a "favorite son" compliment. It definitely is an all-out effort to elect a Texan as President, on the Democratic ticket.

Held high as proof that it can be done is the 1952 election to the Presidency of Texas-born Dwight D. Eisenhower on the Republican ticket.

Popular Tom Miller, Austin's mayor, has been chosen to co-chairman the campaign, with Austin philanthropist and realtor E. H. Perry Sr.

Endorsements already received from out-of-state national figures indicate that the "favorite son" movement, which had been gaining momentum, has outgrown its Texas boundaries.

Johnson also is being boosted as chairman of the Texas delegation to the Democratic national convention in Chicago. Selection of a chairman will be made at the May 22 state Democratic convention in Dallas.

Gov. Allan Shivers, who also has been recommended to lead the delegation, pointed out Johnson as presidential timber as far back as 1954. However the two have clashed over the chairmanship.

Johnson has said he would accept both the designation as chairman of the delegation, and as Texas' favorite son candidate for President.

Shivers said he would serve as chairman, but is not interested in the favorite son role.

Over the state both sides are working to get their supporters to the May 5 precinct conventions.

Races Taking Shape
A rapid-fire series of announcements last bringing the summer political campaign into focus.

James P. Hart will not run for Governor. The former Supreme Court Justice said he did not find enough financial support. Barring the unexpected, Austin Attorney Ralph W. Yarbrough will be the only liberal candidate for governor.

Will Wilson, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, announced for attorney general. John Ben Shepperd is vacating that job. Judge James R. Norvell of San Antonio promptly announced for Wilson's post.

Now campaigning for Congressman-at-Large is W. F. "Bill" Elkins, formerly of Killeen, and now a Dallas real estate man. In the Lt. Governor's race for the first time, and with a strong organization, is Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris, one of the sponsors of the Gilmer-Aikin school bill.

Busy campaigning for re-election are Judge W. A. Morrison of the Court of Criminal Appeals; and Supreme Court Justice Meade F. Griffin.

High Po's Rate Feared
Texas may be headed for a major polio epidemic in 1956 unless vaccinations speed up, say State Health Department officials.

Doctors have been urged to use all available supplies of Salk vaccine, immediately. Number of cases already has hit 181 as compared to 114 for this time in 1955. Only four of the victims had received shots. Of the 1956 case, 96 were paralytic.

Some 90,000 new polio shots have been earmarked for shipment to Texas. Less than one-third of Texas children under 20 have received shots, says the Health Department. An estimated 962,415 children and pregnant women have had at least one shot, but there are 3,542,200 who are eligible.

Work Law Action Taken
Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd moved to protect Texas' "right to work" law.

He asked the U. S. Supreme Court to postpone ruling on a similar Nebraska case until fall. By then he hopes the Texas law, now involved in a suit in the State Supreme Court, can be considered jointly. He also filed a "friend of the court" brief supporting the Nebraska law. In the Texas suit unions contend the National Railway Labor Act authorizes closed shop contracts, which Texas law prohibits.

State Streams Dwindling

Avenges of Temple

"For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the lust of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world" (1 John 2:16). It was these three avenues set forth here that tempted.

The Lust Of The Flesh

Matthew 4:3: "And when the tempter came to him, he said, if thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread." It is not lustful to be hungry, but in this instance, it would have been wrong to the appetites of the body.

The Pride (Vainglory) Of Life

Matthew 4:5-6: "Then the devil taketh Him up into a holy city, and setteth him on a pinnacle of the temple, and saith unto him, If thou be the Son of God, thyself down."

The Lust Of The Eyes

Matthew 4:8-9: "Again, the devil taketh Him up into an exceeding high mountain, and sheweth him the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; saith unto Him, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me."

All temptations that any person has ever faced have through one or more of these three sources. All you ever have to face will come the same way. Jesus has shown how to successfully meet them by living close to God, having a ready knowledge of his word.
