NEW YORK'S WORLD'S FAIR

New York has announced its purpose to put on the greatest World's Fair in all history, in 1939. It will commemorate the 150th anniversary of George Washington's inauguration as the first President of the United States. Most folk have forgotten—indeed, a lot of us never knew—that New York was the first Capital of this Republic. General Washington took the oath of office at Federal Hall, at the corner of Broad and Wall Streets, and during his first year as President lived in a mansion on Cherry Hill, which was torn down 90 years later to make room for the approaches to the Brooklyn Bridge.

The 150th continuous year of our Federal Government under the Constitution certainly seems to be an occasion for a great celebration. And we can be sure that New York City will "put on a show" that will be well worth seeing. The site has been picked, on 1,000 acres of new park land bordering Flushing Bay in the Borough of Queens, close to the geographical and population center of Greater New York. The committee of citizens in charge of the preparation includes many of the ablest and most famous men in America. Unless the rest of the world should be otherwise occupied in war, it would seem that the metropolis of the United States should be able to make of this event a truly international exposition.

It is 77 years since New York staged a great exposition. That was the Crystal Palace in 1858. Since then we have had the Philadelphia Centennial Exhibition of 1876 and the Sesqui-Centennial of 1926; Chicago has had two great World's Fairs, in 1893 and 1933-34; while Omaha in 1899, Buffalo in 1901, St. Louis in 1904, Portland in 1905, Jamestown in 1907, San Francisco in 1915, and this year San Diego, have all put on successful international expositions.

New York has the resources, the location and the prestige to make its 1939 World's Fair the greatest ever seen. It seems to us something to look forward to with real enthusiasm.

House Votes To Tax Chain Stores

The House Thursday passed a bill levying a graduated tax on chain stores, including gasoline filling stations and appliance merchandising by utilities, to aid in paying old-age pensions and equalize competition with independent merchants.

The bill went to the senate, 117 to 19, after a stormy session in which Rep. Homer Leonard of McAllen, temporary speaker, was criticized by Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi for refusal to recognize Pope to offer two amendments.

Sponsors sought doggedly to exclude filling stations and utility merchandising on the theory it would be double taxation and render the bill void. Rep. J. Manley Head of Stephenville, floor leader, asserted the bill was being "loaded down with everything but the kitchen stove" and that oil and chain store lobbyists would be highly pleased.

Chain lumber yards were excluded, 78 to 47. Members of co-operative associations, known as "volunteer chains," were brought in despite assertions of sponsors it would be impossible to apply the bill to them.

Personal privilege speeches by Rep. B. E. Quinn of Beaumont and Pope after a motion had been made to cut off debate brought on a controversy. Members repeatedly objected to Quinn's and Pope's remarks as not being on privilege.

It was unofficially estimated the bill would yield about $3,000,000 annually. A stiff fight was anticipated in the senate.

Liquor control legislation advanced in both branches, the house setting three bills for special consideration and the senate defeating, 17 to 9, a motion to recommit a bill defining an open saloon and prohibiting sales by the drink.

Senator Clint Small of Amarillo warned "there can be no common meeting ground" if wet leaders sought to permit sale by the drink while Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, a wet, asserted the bill "would thwart the will of the people in amending the constitution" and throw the liquor traffic back into the hands of the bootlegger.

Governor Allred signed a bill to appropriate $200,000 for a supreme court building contingent on receipt of $700,000 federal funds.

The senate finance committee recommended an appropriation of $47,960 for the livestock sanitary commission to provide for an extended tick eradication campaign on the next two years.

MYTH TO BE REAL

Dallas, Tex.—(UP)—The Seven Cities of Cibola, mythical cities with streets paved with gold, which were vainly sought by Coronado, may become a reality at the Texas Centennial Exposition.

A suggestion incorporating the story of Coronado's search for these legendary cities has been placed before the executive committees of the exposition by Managing Director Walter D. Cline.

"I believe the execution of such a theme would give a glamorous background to the exposition," Cline said.

The first white man to hunt for the fabled cities in Texas was Cabeza de Vaca, who landed on the Texas coast in 1528 and learned from the Indians that the towns supposedly existed in Texas.

After seven years of captivity, De Vaca made his way to a Spanish mission in Mexico and the legends inspired treasure-seeking expeditions the one led by Coronado.

Divorce Court Murder—

derdale, on December 28, 1928. Jill Edmond, of course, was the bone of the fatal contention between Adele and Allen Rowland. A month before the past New Year, Mrs. Rowland had advertised for a secretary in the columns of several newspapers. The "ad" required a young and personable girl of more than average intelligence and ability. It would be her duty to attend to her employer's correspondence, manage her social engagements and in general serve as a companion. Of all the applicants, Miss Edmond, petite and neatly dressed, alert, clever and willing, had appeared most suitable for the post.

Mrs. Rowland first had reason to suspect the girl's relations with her husband less than three weeks later. She had remained at home from a bridge party on the 23rd of the same month, because of a headache; but she retired without informing Miss Edmond of her indisposition. Descending unexpectedly from her room at four o'clock, she found her in the library, ostensibly writing letters at her desk, while Allen Rowland bent over her, his arm around her shoulder. Their nonchalant air in attempting to carry off the embarrassing situation did not deceive her.

Confronted by this discovery, Adele Rowland consulted her brother, who arranged to hire detectives to watch the couple. Both parties were to be trailed every moment wherever they went, whether separately or not.

There followed in the notes, a resume by the detectives of their movements in watching the subjects of their vigilance. On the Thursday afternoon after they began work, young Rowland kept a rendezvous with the secretary at a park in Germantown and took her to supper in town. Two days later they trailed Rowland alone to the Westview Apartments in West Philadelphia. Investigation revealed that for eight months he had had an establishment there under the name of Seymour King.

The crisis occurred on a Wednesday, February 1st, the girl's next holiday. At four o'clock that afternoon, so Mrs. Rowland related in her testimony, she accidentally noticed a scrap of paper in her husband's writing in the secretary's library wastebasket. Evidently he realized at last that they were suspected and employed this indirect method of communicating with her. In the note, he made an appointment to meet her that very evening at nine o'clock. Therefore, when the girl, during supper, specially requested to be excused from duty that night, her employer granted the favor. Rowland was not at the table nor had he been at home that afternoon.

In the meantime, Mrs. Rowland telephoned the detective and apprised him of her knowledge. Then they called Mr. Willard and prepared plans for trapping the faithless couple.

So it was that when Allen Rowland reached the rendezvous that Wednesday night, his wife, Mr. Willard and the detective were already hidden there (they watched unseen from the lawyer's car. Rowland drove up alone in a coupe on the hour, and his paramour joined him. They followed him beyond the city limits along the Bethlehem Pike as far as Quakertown. Forty-five miles from Philadelphia, Rowland turned off the main highway to reach the fashionable and expensive Sunset Inn, which, however, like many such roadhouses, possessed a questionable reputation. It was 10:30 when he arrived with his companion. As they went inside, the pursuers, careful lest their quarry observe them, halted a hundred yards from the building.

For some time they waited patiently. In ten minutes, a new light illumined one of the second floor rooms and Allen Rowland appeared at the window and lowered the shade. At 11:15 the three trailers entered.

The chamber the husband and his companion occupied was number 212 on the second floor. (Here the hotel book was placed on the record to prove Allen Rowland's registration for both of them as husband and wife. In his handwriting was the entry for Mr. and Mrs. King of Allentown, Pennsylvania.) Without warning, Mr. Willard knocked on the door; and when it opened, it revealed a scene that could hardly be more compromising. The guilty man stood in the doorway, chagrined and astonished, in colored pajamas, a robe and slippers, while Jill Edmond pale and breathless, sat on the bed in negligee.

It was at this precise juncture that Mr. Mortimer Keith stalked angrily into the Inn bedroom, took in the situation with a hurried glance and, offering no explanation, departed as abruptly as he had arrived.

When Rankin reached this amazing statement in the record, he sat back with a jerk, audibly expressing his bewilderment. It came from the private detective, volunteered casually in his complete description of what occurred in Room 212, after the invasion.

Minimum Age CCC Enrollees Lowered

Austin, Oct. 2.—Minimum age limit for CCC enrollees has been lowered from 18 to 17, State Enrollment Supervisor Neal E. Guy announced Saturday.

The ruling will apply for the October enrollment, when every eligible person in the state is expected to be given a chance to enlist in the CCC.

Enrollment will be open for all unmarried men between 17 and 28 whose families are on relief rolls. The dates are inclusive, and a person who has passed his seventeenth birthday is eligible, as is one who has not reached his twenty-ninth.

Mandatory discharges have been discontinued, and enrollees may stay in camps indefinitely. Also, persons honorably discharged may re-enlist, provided their previous service was not less than four months. Eligible enrollees, however, honorably discharged prior to October 21, 1933, may be re-selected without regard

Guy advised persons in the lower age brackets, particularly the 17-year-olds who are in school, to continue their schooling as long as possible, with the hope of enlisting later. ### Chevrolet Motor Company Enlarge Advertising Plan

Chevrolet Motor Company, which recently enlarged its national advertising program to include newspaper and magazine advertising of guaranteed used-cars, is receiving reports from its dealers throughout the country to the effect that used car sales have been greatly stimulated, and that an unusually large number of buyers are seeking reconditioned cars for winter driving.

At the factory, W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager, who watches the progress of used car sales closely because of its value as an index of business, interprets the increased sales of guaranteed reconditioned cars as a sign of improved purchasing power resulting from increased business activity.

Wardrobe In County

Following are reports by Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. H. K. Wallace who placed first in classes respectively, in wardrobe work in Lamb County:

BEYOND THE IMPOSSIBLE

MRS. GEO. WALLACE
Center H. D. Club

Once told us, "Our wardrobe always three parts pain"—three nights of hopeless worry and a washed thumb explain my joy over a brand new wardrobe and span clothes closet."

Wardrobe of drought and flood in valley have left me almost licked, yet we are trying. The A. A. A. and Extension Service has been torches as the light of courage to us. The depression taught us the greatest bankruptcy is faith. Every time I thought I had a closet I was guilty of these greatest sins. My wardrobe blew away, hauled out and finally, I thought I had to do it.

My demonstration work asks adds in its favor and seems to have will that finds a way with that hope that springs eternal. I studied suggestions, read bulletins made my foundation pattern, kept careful records, followed shopping helps and the cheapest possible clothing budget prepared the cosmetic receipts, tried out the suggested cleaning methods remodeled my ironing equipment and dreamed of a closet I knew I could not have.

Then along came a lively little agent and Home Demonstration work entered the privacy of my closet surveyed, unrolled, photographs and extracted the skeletons therein. (I think we found a few ghosts too.)

Now I have a sanctuary of tidiness instead of a shame faced dust trap all for the price of a little hard work, a mashed thumb and eighty cents.

Difficulties are the things that prove our strength or weakness and OH! it is so easy to say "can't." Hard work is still as of old, the road to prosperity, for nothing makes one feel nearer prosperity than a task well done. That happy medium between discontent from a desire for better things, and contentment, from work well done answers for us that portion of the cadets prayer which says "encourage us in our endeavor to live above the common level and make us choose the harder right instead of the easier wrong."

My story is simple and usual—a new house left unfinished with a barry 16'x3' closet yawning doorless into two bed rooms. Some one had attempted to put up some goods box shelves and I think mashed their thumb and quit, leaving bent nails, broken hooks and plenty of dust in charge.

Using that feminine diplomacy, (wanting a dollar and asking for a dime) I begged a few stray boards from the empty grain bins, just to build a petition. This done I had a closet 8'x3' which I must complete for my demonstration, but how?

Summoning courage, I took my very, very flat purse and purchased material to make a door for eighty cents, but I had never made or hung a door. Bravely I began, and we shall never know what might have happened had not a neighbor carpenter came by just in time to save the door. He also had an offering of used hinges and a portion of old varnish and such a lovely door "we" made.

By this time my husband had caught the enthusiasm and stray boards and saw dust began to fly. Out of cracks and crevices came four 2'x3' shelves, four 2'x8" shelves, a laundry hamper with lid, shoe rack, hat racks, and two clothes rods. We needed lumber for shelves above the rods to which my co-carpenter lamented. "There's just one loose board on the place and it will turn out the boys, but here goes!" There we faced each other with the question, no paint or paper. I had an idea, so did he. While I went to the cellar for a pan of dirt he dug out a box of various scraps of wall paper. I mixed some water with my clutches, painted the ceiling and floor with mud and lo, a miracle came to pass. It dried a beautiful tinted pink, about the quality of kalsomine and dirt cheap too. The walls and shelves were finished with scrap wall paper turned wrong side out giving a light, clean, pretty appearance at zero cost.

My storage space is well lighted, well ventilated, convenient, neat, practical and well arranged. Nothing has to be moved to obtain any desired article. I have labeled storage boxes, and storage space for out of season, clothes well protected and curtained apart. Winter coats are protected with bags made from worn out dresses and cedar shavings. The remaining space forms a closet opening into the childrens bedroom. My boys (7 and 9) have been very interested in making their own shelves, shoe rack and clothes rod and arranging this closet like mother's.

Before everything had a place into which everything was placed, I might dress in half an hour, often leaving a disorderly home to which I dreaded to return. Now I can both dress and tidy my room in half that time. A well arranged closet helps make an orderly home, and so soothing on frazzled nerves!

There is an unexplainable joy in knowing our clothes are well kept, that my linens, bedding, laundry, hats and out of season clothes are protected from dust. I can go blindly in the dark and find sheet or handkerchief, mail fire or tax-receipt where once was chaos in daylight.

Sewing was my weakest point as a home maker and my closet the most disorderly spot of my home. As a demonstrator I have learned for the first time the tingling pride of wearing a well stylish creation of my own handwork. I have those valuable lessons of considerate planning careful selection, proper care and wise expenditure. By carefully following the $25 budget I have a neat, practical, serviceable wardrobe. My total personal expenditures including all, from permanent waves to new shoe-heels has been $27. It includes eight wash dresses, three slips, three brassiers, one pair of pajamas, four night gowns, five pair of step-ins, all made from my foundation pattern at a cost of $8.60.

I have help make 17 foundation patterns and have help 8 others to cut patterns and to sew and I gave one demonstration on making ironing boards, and I cut one ironing and sleeve board patterns for others.

I have helped four ladies out of the county, made one foundation pattern for a lady out of the county, set up until midnight to make it, and cut patterns and sent by mail to another one, and the other I sewed for them. I have made 16 garments for children. I also learned how to mend my shoes where they wore holes in the heel of my hose. I cut a piece of leather and put in the heels of my shoes. I bought 5 cents worth of cement and fixed three pair and if I had bought them it would have cost me $1.00, so you see I saved $1.00 there. I have made a lace dress out of feed sacks and the cost of it was 25 cents for thread and my time. How come me to make it, we had made it a rule in our club to give birthday gifts every month so I was drawing a flour sack to make a cup towel and I saw how nice it was, so I thought I would make a dress, I am glad we have a C. H. D. A. for she has shown me how to buy and save. Before we had a C. H. D. A. I only had two pair of shoes, for there was no money for any more, but now I have learned how to buy and save and I have three nice pair of shoes for nice wear and one pair of shoes for every day.

I have also fixed my husband's closet the same size as the one I fixed for myself. Only I fixed a box for his soiled clothes. My husband is proud of his closet for now he says he can find his clothes without hunting all over the house. He says the more we put into club work the more we get out of it.

Back in my childhood some one gave me a framed motto, which I have endeavored to make my philosophy of life, "Never miss an opportunity of doing a kindness or making a friend." As a demonstrator, I have shared my joys and accomplishments with neighbors who think club work is "too much trouble." I have given 16 full days work outside my home to 10 non club members. I have helped make six foundation patterns, given bulletins, ideas and helps for five new closets, given cleaning, cosmetic making, ironing board demonstrations, helped six women convince their husbands they needed a new ironing and sleeve board, helped three finish smoked walls with clatche (for which invention I have no patent) and sprouted cuttings, gave plants and seed to 25. This record could also contain a long list of charity duties as cooking meals for sick and washing, ironing and mending for over burdened. I try to in some very small inconspicuous way to recognize every death, birth and marriage of my community. The club of which I am chairman, boasts 10 new foundation patterns, seven new clothes closets, four new ironing equipments. Our goal is ever member a good foundation pattern, closet and ironing and sleeve board.

No college course could be more beneficial to a home maker than this wardrobe work offered by extension service. No matter what our status educationally or financially, Home Demonstration work brings more efficiency, accuracy, convenience, economy and progress to we Texas farm home makers. It is the connecting link between the old and the new which we may have for the taking, offering the most scientific methods for correcting home making and achieving right living.

Come to Littlefield Saturday and First Monday. You'll find more than merely the South Plains' greatest business enterprises—more than just wonderful bargains in merchandise—You'll find a nucleus around which is gathered the most fertile agricultural resources of Texas.

Located on what was once one of the most important cattle-grazing acreages in the state, Littlefield is a powerful diversion point in livestock transportation. It is situated in the heart of a county which, agriculturally, leads its state.

In Littlefield, you'll find an adequate and modern water supply system. You'll find principal streets paved.—You'll find a beautiful city hall which amply bespeaks progress—And you'll find city parks which, in a short year or two, will be beautiful beyond comparison.

Too, you'll find a school system to which any city of equal size in West Texas might well point with pride.

Truly, Littlefield is on the verge of a great expansion, a remarkable growth. We, the Mayor, City Commissioners and City Secretary are proud to welcome you to Littlefield—not only for your material betterment.—But also for a vision of a city on the threshold of a wonderful future.

A STORY OF MY WARDROBE

By Mrs. H. K. Irvin, Sod House Club

The first thing I did on my second year wardrobe work was to take inventory and see what clothes that I could make into something that I could wear as I had gained in weight and size.

I fixed over what I could and what was too short I gave to some one that needed them. I have added a new ironing board that our county H. D. A. gave me the pattern and a sleeve board. My iron board cost me 27 cents and my husband made it for me and my sleeve board I made out of my old board. I can say any one that doesn't have an ironing board and sleeve board like it don't know the pleasure they are missing when they go to iron for it is so nice and handy.

I have learned how to use my foundation pattern with the help of the County H. D. A. to make slips and other garments so you can see what we learn by having a C. H. D. A. and going to our club. And how much we can save. I feel like now and I am all ready to go and have something to wear. I have been to three demonstrations on making foundation patterns.

For storage space I have six shelves, one foot wide and 2 feet long, one foot wide and 4 feet long, and a place below my six shelves with a drop door for old shoes. I have added a laundry bag, and covered a

CHURCHES

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH
Premillennial Missionary Evangelical
Jno. R. Denning, Pastor.

We hear this cry on every hand:

"We need more plain preaching of God's Word; how He hates sin, but loves the sinner."

And that is just how we endeavor to do from this pulpit. The sinner expects it; the Child of God feeds upon it; the Holy Spirit blesses it."

We urge every Christian who loves the Bible and lost souls, to come and help us win Littlefield for Jesus Christ. Join our Sunday School, which meets at 9:45, and study with us direct from the Bible. It's really refreshing and edifying.

At eleven o'clock the pastor preaches on "Christ's Pattern for Effective Prayer."

The evening Song Service will begin at 7:45 after which the sermon will be the first of a series on "The Miracles of the Cross—THE MIDNIGHT DARKNESS AT NOON-DAY."

METHODIST CHURCH
John Witt Hendrix, Pastor

We have been gradually picking up speed since fall came and schools are in session. We are glad to welcome our new teachers, and a number of them who are of our persuasion have registered — have answered, "Present!" We deeply appreciate their co-operation. We have been to schools of several sorts and have been under the instruction of different teachers, and it is our genuine conviction that the better the teacher spiritually the better instructor!

Don't overlook the opportunity of the Church school hour—9:45 a. m. This sabbath part of our hour will be taken up with a program, featuring especially the kiddies. They will respond from different sizes and the superintendent will present them with such certificates and diplomas as their attendance warrants. You'll assuredly enjoy this program.

The day will feature two periods of public worship with the senior choir responding—sharing—in the program. The pastor will share also in the service, discussing this subject, "WHAT DO WE MEAN BY BUILDING A CHURCH?" The service moves in a worshipful mood from the very start.

For the evening hour some of the younger ladies of the church will present a pageant, "THE BROKEN SENTENCE." Those representing this play will be Mesdames Floyd Hill, Quinton Bellamy, and Miss Maxine Cash. The choir will furnish fitting music and among the numbers will be a quartette. The pastor will speak to the topic of the drama. It will be different and you'll doubtless enjoy the hour. The arrangement yields itself readily to plays, the stage, the curtains, ect. The lights are easily managed. Meet us there!

The Young People are offering an excellent program in their meeting, in their room at 7 p. m. Of a very high order last Sunday. Try one of 'em.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
East Fifth and South Harrel
Eugene Wood, Pastor

We expect to have two visiting ministers Sunday and also some visitors who will bring special messages in song at the night service.

In the morning A. K. Scott of Fort Worth, a minister of the Christian church will bring the message. At night a group of young people from the Abernathy church of the Nazarene will bring special messages in song and instrumental music. We also expect the pastor from Abernathy, F. R. Whitley to come with the young people and bring the message at 8 p. m.

Come and hear these messages in sermon and song.

SPEAK TO ASSEMBLY

Students of L. H. S. gathered in the assembly room Thursday, Septem-ber 26. We had two interesting men with us, Brother Hendrix, pas- tor of the Methodist church here, and Mr. J. M. Willson, of Floyd- ada. Mr. Willson is a business man of Floydada and governor of the 41st district of Rotary International. He has traveled extensively and recently returned from a trip around the world. He has crossed the Atlantic ocean seven times and been in thirty seven different states. He spoke to the students of high school on India. He spoke of the different lan- guages, customs and the costumes of India. He told of the different animals found in the jungles and said that they sometime roamed the streets. "It is against the law to kill these animals," he said.

He also told of the customs of burial. They put the dead between logs and set fire to this. They throw the ashes of the dead into the rivers. The death rates are so high every year, that this is the only way possible to dispose of the dead. Mr. Willson told many other things about India that held the student body tense with interest.
