

Day... Tenth Anniversary of the Victory Bond marks another anniversary... perhaps not recalled...

as "Series E" bonds were placed first issue of what became known on sale in the local postoffice...

The first bond sold was of $25 denomination, which became due this month and for which Uncle Sam will pay us $25 in cash...

was kept of the purchaser of the first Saving Stamp sold, but the first $100 bond we believe went to Mrs. W. D. T. Storey...

The sale of those first bonds was seven months before Pearl Harbor and until that time no concerted drives were conducted...

tippled tremendously, as the need for more offense and defense dollars also soared, the Treasury in a move to save paper, halved the square-inches size of the paper bond...

Only the treasury department knows and of course they won't tell, how many of those first issued bonds still remain in private hands...

Others of them are represented in new homes, new cars, new farms, household appliances, irrigation wells and countless other improvements...

But going on back into the picture of those first war bond days, our files record that in a few months, not only the postoffices were selling bonds, but also the four banks of the County...

How many of the hundreds of war savings stamps that were sold at postoffices, were cashed, how many were lost will never be known...

Now, ten years after the issuance of the first bonds, as they fall due and are cashable at face value, they pose a new problem...

value, they pose a new problem. If everyone chooses to turn these bonds into cash, it would present a new problem of inflation...

You And Your Congress

Congress is getting down to cases again on cost-of-living legislation.

Specifically, it's beginning active consideration of what to do about, or with, the Defense Production Act (DPA).

Members will step gingerly in the process. Politically speaking, the situation is loaded. For being the main piece of anti-inflation legislation on the books, the DPA is aimed at the American pocketbook—a touchy target at best for Congress.

Days of testimony on how the DPA, which became law last September, has and should have worked, will be taken during the hearings of the House and Senate Banking committees.

The committee curtain raisers will be the changes in the DPA which the President has proposed to Congress.

These already have led a good many members of Congress to decide what they want to do about the DPA, for the time being at least. They simply want to extend it for 90 days or so to give Congress more time to investigate the entire government controls setup.

These members contend that Congress can't, or at least won't finish thrashing out all of the various proposed amendments to the DPA—many more will be introduced as the committee hearings move along—before the act's present expiration date of June 29. They point to both the breadth and controversial nature of Mr. Truman's recommendations.

They are broad indeed. Their highpoints cover: farm parity, subsidies of various types, rent and credit controls, government construction and operation of defense plants, tighter enforcement of DPA regulations.

As for controversy—well, take just the President's recommendation on parity alone as an example of what could generate debate of marathon proportions.

Parity, briefly, is a formula devised by Congress to sustain the buying power of the farmer's dollar. A basic ingredient of this formula is the cost of things farmers must buy.

Proportionately, these costs have risen faster than most farm prices since the fighting in Korea began. The DPA now prohibits farm prices from being controlled while they're below parity.

Mr. Truman wants to freeze parity temporarily, let the lagging farm prices catch up to it and then keep them even with it for a while by using controls.

If controls didn't do the trick, Mr. Truman told Congress recently, government subsidies might have to be used to absorb the difference between actual and ceiling prices.

Most farm state members of Congress, who prefer unfettered parity to subsidies, argue that a parity freeze would be unfair because farm prices follow rather than lead inflationary spirals.

These members tell the price controllers, in effect: "Take care of those other costs that influence the parity formula and you won't have to worry about the formula itself."

The price controllers reply: "How can we take care of the costs of the things farmers buy when labor, which helps make those things, demands wage increases because food prices are up?"

And so that argument will go—on and on.

Others questions also seem likely to touch off lengthy debate—such as these:

Should credit in the sale of used houses be controlled?

Is more rent control necessary?

Should a business be closed down for violating price controls?

There will be many others before June 30.

Kill Bugs and Save Money

The economic value of effective control of insect and parasite pests which prey upon Texas crops and stock was emphatically shown in 1950. Entomologists for the A. and M. College Extension Service estimate conservatively that systematic control work during the year saved Texas farmers and ranchmen $10,000,000.

The major portion of the year's entomological work was with cotton insects but with adequate attention being given to problems relating to animal parasites, fruit, vegetable and field crop insects, and grasshopper control. Of the 273 training meetings conducted 200 were in the field where farmers were given assistance in identifying cotton insects along with the instructions on how to make infestation counts and records. Dusting and spraying equipment also was demonstrated at these gatherings.

The 1950 cotton crop was produced under most unfavorable conditions emphasized by the second highest initial boll weevil population in the State's record. The Extension entomologists' concentration upon salvaging the crop from invading insects was responsible for 76 per cent, or 5,285,005 of the 6,912,000 acres harvested, being treated for control. Only 40 per cent of the 1949 acreage was treated. A leading factor in the high percentage of treatment was a leafworm infestation for the first time in several years. The 145,610 growers who followed insect control recommendations used more insecticides, both in dusting and liquid concentrate forms, than any preceding year.

Supplementing work in the field, a weekly insect infestation report was mailed to all cotton producing counties as well as daily and weekly newspapers, and radio farm directors.

The 1,022,574 domestic animals treated one or more times during 1950 for crew worms was occasioned by the most severe infestations of this parasite recorded in recent years. Treatments represented an estimated 93.91 per cent of known cases and thrice the number of animals receiving total treatment in 1949. There was a definite trend during the year toward the use of emulsified concentrates along with an increase in the number of power sprayers and decline in dipping vats. On the other hand, the number of farm premises sprayed for fly and mosquito control declined more than 75,000 as compared to 1949.

Thirty-six training meetings in animal parasite control were held in 1950 with 4,018 farmers and ranchmen attending. Thirty-eight counties were aided directly in this work, and all of the county agricultural agents in three Extension Service districts in addition to individual agents in all other districts were trained.

Although fruit trees did not produce normally in 1950, 44,775 acres of orchards received the specialists' attention. Spraying of pecan orchards was satisfactory, one 500-acre orchard producing more than 225,000 pounds of nuts, due mainly to insect control measures. Only 232,856 acres of vegetable crops—divided between home and commercial growers—received treatment. During the season, however, Extension specialists conducted 52 garden training meetings at which 2,462 growers received instructions.

Extension entomologists assisted at 4-H entomology contests conducted on district bases to select teams to compete in the State contest. The specialists prepared a kit to be used by county agricultural agents in training teams. The practical side of training teams was their help in making cotton infestation counts and assisting in town and community home garden insect control, county agents report.

Beyond their immediate field of service, Extension entomologists assisted the Texas Forest Service in planning and conducting a program for controlling out worms which are destructive to seedlings. This program will project into the future.

Talkative Parakeet Knows What He's Talking About

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. says Caesar. Then he sings, Caesar is talking to himself, of course, but in Caesar's case it's all right. He is a parakeet.

The bird's mistress, Mrs. Lois Bellinger, says he is a very unusual parakeet indeed—perhaps a genius among fowl. All parakeets can talk, if they want to, (many of them don't) but Caesar talks at if he knows what he's saying, and he has an extensive vocabulary.

"Most parakeets can only say about a dozen words," says Mrs. Bellinger, "but Caesar knows at least 80." As an example, of Caesar's seeming knowledge of the meaning of words, Mrs. Bellinger says that whenever she gets him ready for a visit to her sister, who also has a parakeet, Caesar will say:

"Come on, hurry up, hurry up—let's go bye-bye, see Tony." Then he adds rather archly, "the pretty baby."

Tony, of course, is the other parakeet. Mrs. Bellinger isn't sure that sort of thing is hard to tell, but she thinks Tony is a girl.

VIENNA—If you are a non-Communist publisher in the Russian occupied zone of Austria, you have to be fast in thinking up new names for your newspaper "Welt der Arbeit" (World of Work) was banned by the Russians, it reappeared under the name "Freies Wort" (Free Word). Recently it was banned again. The next week, it appeared under the name "Unser Recht" (Our Right).

The editors fear they may have to change the name again soon.

MOATS USED AS PROTECTION AGAINST REDS

MALACCA—It's going to be a lot tougher for Communist terrorists to get back into areas from which they have been driven by British eSecurity forces. One village, Simpang Bekoh, is being resettled with loyal and lawabiding citizens of Malaya, but it has a unique feature—it is to be surrounded by a moat. Dredgers now are at work, making a moat 14 feet wide around the village.

British authorities may carry out this scheme to help protect other villages which are being resettled after the areas are cleared of Communist terrorists.

It would seem that climate has nothing to do with it.

Karl Marx—who sported a real muf—had great effect on Russian thinking, apparently he had little on Russian manners of facial adornment. Engels and Lenin likewise wore beards.

Of course a great many famous Frenchmen have worn beards, but no matter how much you comb the evidence, it appears that Peter the Great's beard tax is really responsible for the lack of them in Russia.

In any case the fact stands out—there are more beards in Paris, a city of about 5,000,000 than there are in Moscow, a city of nearly 6,000,000 or 7,000,000.

State Fair Set For October 6-21 To Offer $83,074 in Premiums

The 1951 State Fair of Texas, October 6-21, will offer $83,074 in livestock premiums—$10,365 more than last year and the highest in the history of the 66-year-old exposition.

Ray W. Wilson, manager of the fair's livestock department, said the 1951 premium list will be mailed this week to 7,500 livestock breeders and exhibitors throughout the nation, and to all county agents and vocational agriculture teachers in Texas.

Topping the list of shows featuring 26 breeds of cattle, swine, horses, sheep and Angora goats will be the Pan-American National Hereford Show, Oct. 6-11. Premiums of $25,000 are offered for this show alone, the highest the fair has ever posted for any one show.

Total beef cattle premiums are $34,650, an increase of $12,300 over last year. Arrayed with the Herefords will be top Aberdeen-Angus, Brahma and Shorthorn cattle. All beef cattle shows run Oct. 6-11.

Dairy cattle premiums total $15,450. Guernsey, Holstein-Friesian, Jersey and Milking Short horn cattle will be shown Oct. 12-19.

The Junior Livestock Show Oct. 15-20 will offer premiums totaling $14,945, an increase of $3,695 over 1950. There will be classes for dairy cattle, steers, pigs and sheep.

Premiums for the nine breeds of swine to be shown total $9,152 and prizes for the six breeds of sheep that will be on display come to $2,977. Angora goat premiums amount to $850. Swine, sheep and goats will be shown Oct. 6-14.

Dates and premiums for the horse show will be announced later, Wilson said.

Of the $83,000 in premiums being offered at the 1951 fair, the State Fair of Texas will contribute $64,791 and national and state purebred livestock associations will contribute $18,283. This is an increase of $7,392 over premium money given by breed associations last year, Wilson said. This indicates a growing recognition of the fair's vast audience and its leadership in promoting better livestock, he pointed out.

YOU DIDN'T KNOW IT But More Beards Are Worn In Paris Than In Moscow

By EDDY GILMORE
AP Newsfeatures

PARIS—You can sight more beards in Paris on one day than you can on the streets of Moscow in a month.

This isn't meant to prove anything more. But Moscow is usually associated in foreign minds as the spiritual home of the beard.

The French truly go in for hair's adornment. Here you can at kinds.

In Russia one can see all kinds of beards, but you have to be on the lookout for them. And you won't encounter them in one day or a week. It might take you a month of searching.

Does France have fewer razor blades than the Russian's? Are there more barber shops in Russia? It should be pointed out that Peter the Great—an enemy of the beard on other people—did something about beards. He once imposed a tax on beards and made people pay for their facial fixtures. That might have had something to do with it.

It is true that Russians shave a great deal. During the war when foreign correspondents were taken to the Soviet-German front it was very rare to find a Russian officer or soldier with as much as a day's growth of beard.

Shaves are very cheap in the USSR. They cost the average Russian about the same price as six small boxes of matches and barber shops seem to be as abundant as samovars.

The French shave cost about the same price as ten small boxes of matches, but the barber shops are not so evident as they are, in Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev, Kharkov, or Minsk.

Because of the extreme cold in Russia one would assume that beards should be very handy things. They help to keep the face warm and who needs a scarf when he wears a beard?

France, on the other hand, is nothing like as cold as Russia so

Golden Wedding Anniversary Is Observed by Mr. and Mrs. Locker

Sunday, May 6, was the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Locker, a prominent and beloved Sudan couple, who formerly resided at Bula for 26 years, and in celebration of the event, open house was held at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Robinson.

Guests were greeted by the honor couple and the host and hostess, and were directed to a register where names were written in a bride's book.

Garden cut flowers were used in decorating for the occasion.

A three-tiered white wedding cake decorated with golden bells centered the dining room table, and was served to the guests.

The children of the honored couple and grandchildren who were present included Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Locker, and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Locker, of Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Locker, of Bula; Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Salyer and children, of Enoch; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gail, Alvin Lee, and Loretta and Mrs. E. A. Kendrick of Kress; and grandchildren, Patricia Locker, Donna Beth, and Delores Robinson and Linda, Betty and Glenn Salyer.

MR. AND MRS. W. A. LOCKER

A large number of friends called during the "open house" hours. Mr. and Mrs. Locker were married May 2, 1901, and are the parents of seven children, four daughters and three sons. Two daughters are deceased. One passed away in infancy, and the other, Mrs. H. A. Kendrick, of Wellington, passed away at the age of 34 in January, 1942. LET'S GO SWIMMING

LET'S GO SWIMMING
This pretty blonde aquamaid makes a trim picture in her short-maker suit of birdseye pique by Rose Marie Reid. She'll look just as crisp after her dip, for the cotton pique is "plasticrip" to keep its fresh look after many swims.

OUT OF BANDBOX!

Hot summer days won't melt the crisp, out-of-the-bandbox look of this blonde beauty. She is wearing a fresh cotton frock with Dan River's wrinkle-shed finish. The checked cotton frock has a boat neckline trimmed with snowy pique applique that repeats the white of her jaunty cuffs.

Following the meeting, co-hostesses will include Mrs. Christian, Mrs. Kenneth Houk, and Mrs. A. C. Chester.

Mrs. Stephenson to Be Installed Worthy Matron Of Anton OES

Anton Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will install newly elected officers, in an installation ceremony, to be held in the hall, Thursday night, May 31st. Miss Lula Hubbard will be installing officer, with Mrs. Clara Keefer, installing marshal, and Mrs. Blanche Dodgen as installing secretary.

The newly elected worthy matron has selected rose colored crepe dresses for her officers for the ensuing year, and they will wear them the first time for the installation ceremony.

Refreshments will be served following the installation.

Club Breakfast to Be Given May 26

Correcting the facts dealing with the story published in Thursday edition concerning the Littlefield Woman's club May breakfast, printed in error in the Thursday edition, the annual May breakfast will be held Saturday morning, May 26th, instead of the 19th, as was formerly decided upon. The place will be at Littlefield Country Club, at 9 a. m.

Mrs. Jed Clarida and Mrs. C. O. Griffin will be co-hostesses to the club.

The program will be a cotton style show, with various merchants in the city participating.

A complete program will appear in next week's edition.

More Cotton Used in Feminine Frocks

The greatest amount of cotton in ten years went into women's dresses in 1950. Eighteen thousand more bales were used in cotton dresses last year than during the previous year. The increasing number of women's cotton dresses is attributed chiefly to new fabric finishes and to cotton's rising popularity for high-fashion clothing both winter and summer.

BLAZE OF GLORY

They call this slim, striped sun dress—"blaze of glory!" The cool cotton by Cole of California has a streamlined effect with its alternate bright colored and white blazen stripes. A jacket or stole provides a cover-up for this eye-catching cotton sun dress when the occasion demands.

"POLITICAL" KIDNAPPING

VIENNA —(AP)—"Political" kidnappings in Austria occur weekly. One of the latest was a six-year-old boy.

A divorce court awarded the mother custody of the child. The father successfully appealed, claiming the mother was a Communist and a drunkard. Deprived of the child, the mother went to the Russian Kommandantura. Russian ordered the father to hand the child back.

When the father was separated a second time from his son against the law, he decided to "kidnap" the child. He did so, and now is living as a "refugee" in western Austria, out of the reach of the Russians and his divorced wife.

Nearly 10,000 Pedestrians Killed In Motor Vehicle Accidents In One Year 5

Summer is here, and boys and girls will soon be out of school. More people usually drive in summer than at other times. There are more ball games and opportunities for chasing the ball out into the street to regain it. These, and many other summer situations, call for added caution to keep people safe says Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

According to statistics, 9,900 pedestrians were killed in motor vehicle accidents in our country in a year, and 230,000 persons were injured in a single year. These figures would indicate that both drivers and pedestrians have much to learn.

The pedestrian is often his own worst enemy. Ignorance of the rules of the road, failure to understand the problems of the driver, and carelessness about reading signs and observing safe walking habits are the causes of many pedestrian accidents.

Children interested in a game, or absorbed in a certain activity, are apt to run out into the street from the walk, or from behind a parked car and pay dearly for this action. People do not want to make children fearful, but through understanding safe practices, they want them to be confident and responsible for themselves.

Those who ride bicycles are the cause of certain types of accidents. A few safety rules for them are: ride close to the right curb or to the right side of the highway; obey all traffic rules; refuse handle bar rides; and refrain from hitching to autos, buses or street-cars.

When walking on a highway at night, wear or carry something white. This should be worn or carried as low as possible so that car headlights, which are directed downward will pick it up.

State Of Texas Leads Nation In Number Of Hospital Beds Added

AUSTIN, TEXAS—AP—Texas leads the nation in the number of hospital beds added in the last four years, a survey made by the federal security agency shows.

Bed space over that period was increased by 5,339 units as 160 new hospitals or hospital expansion projects were completed or gotten under way.

"Eighty towns and 75 counties have or will benefit directly by the additions," state health officer George Cox declares.

Here's the way the construction status of the 100 projects shapes up:

43 are complete, 37 are under construction, one is out for bids, 15 are on the drawing boards, four have been approved tentatively.

Texas is scheduled to use $24,555,440 in federal appropriations in making the big building stride. In fact, the state ranked up another nationwide "first" in total amounts appropriated for construction cost.

Dr. Cox explains that doubling the federal dollars gives an accurate picture of total money involved. This is true, he says, because the national administration and city and county governments split construction costs fifty-fifty.

A breakdown of expansion figures shows Texas ranking:

1. First in the number of general beds added.
2. Third in number of beds added for mental patients.
3. Tenth in the number added for tuberculosis patients.
4. Twelfth in the number of beds added for chronic disease patients.

Cities and counties have sponsored most of the work. Sixty new hospitals or expansions are city or county projects. Eleven will be church-owned, 14 run by non-profit associations, three run by the state and three operated by Co-ops.

Public health centers have been completed in Port Arthur, Houston and Brownfield and an addition has been made to the state laboratory in Austin. A health center for Austin is in the planning stage.

The largest hospital project undertaken in Texas is devoted to work on cancer. It is the 300-bed M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer research in Houston. The hospital is part of the University of Texas hospital system and has a state-wide clientele. Only seven per cent of the patients come from Harris County.

FRENCH OCEANIA PEARL DIVING TO BE BANNED

PAPEETE, Tahiti—AP—French authorities here have served notice that diving for mother-of-pearl shells will be banned for a five year period throughout the pearl atolls of Tuamotu when the current season ends in August. The ban is designed to save the shell beds from complete exhaustion.

Exceptionally high prices for mother-of-pearl shells last year resulted in the near depletion of all the principal pearl lagoons in this south Pacific archipelago.

WORK IS NEARING COMPLETION IN REMODELING OF L. B. STONE BUILDING

BRIDGE FOR SALE
SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—AP—Wanna buy a bridge? The county supervisors have one up for sale. It's a 1290-foot steel span, built at a cost of $174,992 in 1917, which crosses the Santa Ynez River north of here. It was made useless when the highway it served was rerouted.

The supervisors don't expect anyone to buy it for transportation to another site. They hope someone will be interested in salvaging the steel.

Work is nearing completion in the remodeling and redecorating of the L. B. Stone building, formerly occupied by the Renfro Grocery. Mr. Stone is dividing this building into three offices and a store building.

Tommy's Radio Service will move into the location at the corner of West Third Street and XIT Drive this week end and Judge Land of Memphis, Texas, may locate the middle office space.

Ceiling heaters are being installed in all the rooms as well as modern plumbing throughout.

Regulates Price From Cattle Hoof to Grocery Meat Sales

Price Stabilization of the Far West Texas district includes Lamb County, this week to put into effect beef regulations.

Orders covering beef, set up nearly half the retail price. District Price J. Taylor said, "Were this week of the ending and developing price program."

regulations will regulate of beef from cattle to the steak and hamburger corner grocery," he only unregulated prices between producers, stockyards."

ations are designed to bring prices of live cattle in line with retail prices," Taylor said, "This is for those slaughterers who have experience squeeze in the last because of uncontrolled" er move the OPS regime for lower retail fall, the first reduction August 1, when retail prices will be reduced by about 4 cents a pound, followed by a similar rollback October 1.

The wholesale ceiling prices became effective May 9, and the retail prices will go into effect May 14. However, retail stores have until June 2 to post their ceiling prices in their stores for beef.

Highlighting other pertinent pricing regulations, Taylor emphasized that the general ceiling price regulation, or "freeze" still covered practically every merchant who sells either goods or services—unless he has been specifically removed by subsequent "tailored" regulations.

Although the deadline for filing pricing charts by retailers of consumer goods (wearing apparel, furniture, notions, department store goods, etc. under CPR 7 and amendments) has been postponed until May 30, OPS officials are urging they be sent to the district office, Broadway Building, 1202 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas as soon as possible so that they may be acknowledged, processed, and filed.

There's a deadline for grocery stores, too, Taylor points out.

Grocery stores are scheduled to begin their operation under tail-

They were supposed to have filed their category report (form 5) in the district office by April 28. Taylor said a large percentage of them have done so; but he urged those who had not, to do so immediately.

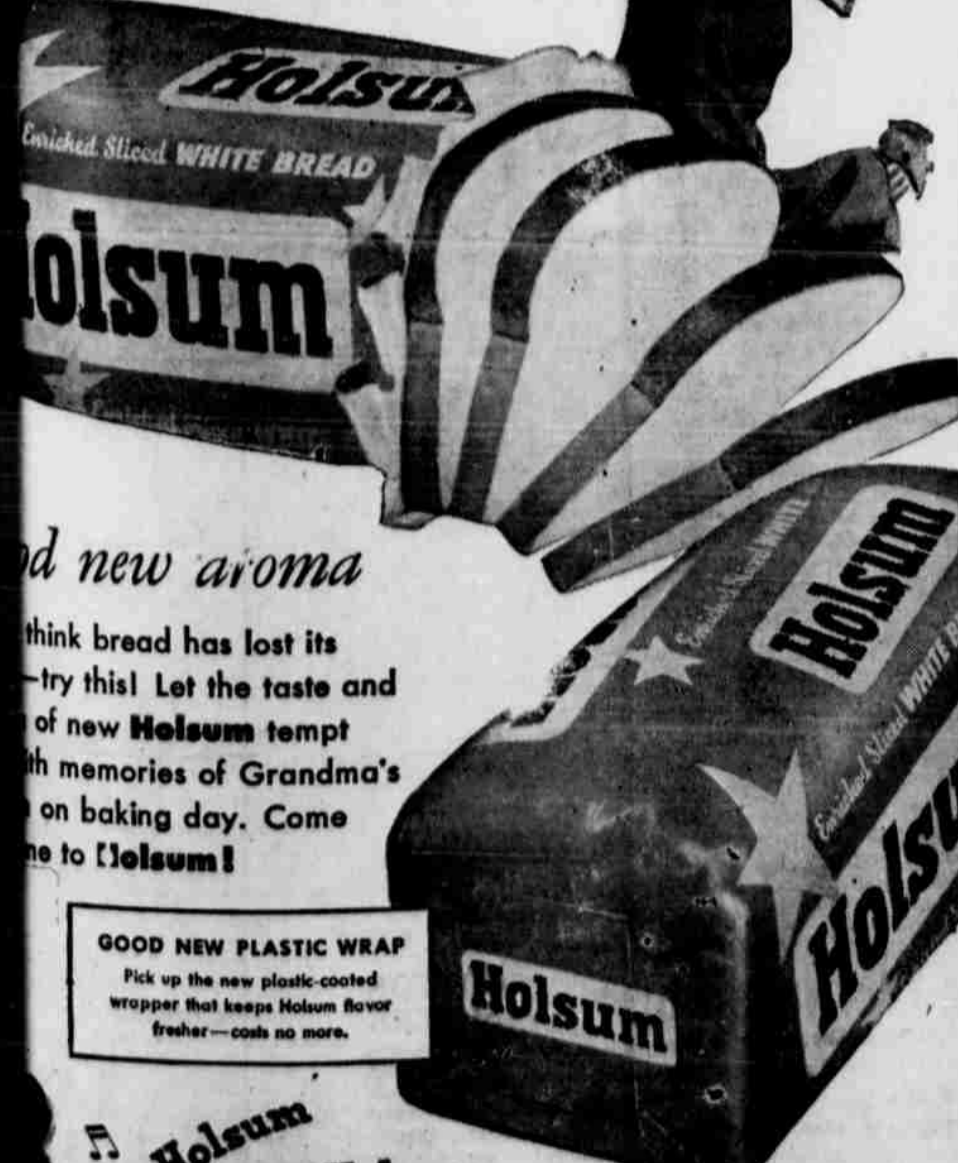

And there was a filing deadline for restaurants, soda fountains and other eating and drinking establishments, too. It was April 30 under CPR 11 when they were scheduled to have filed their food cost per dollar of sales with the district office. Although the deadline is passed, however, the reports continue to come in and OPS officials are urging that they be filed.

Another development of the past week was the extension of Ceiling Price Regulation 1 which means passenger automobiles will stay under present price ceilings indefinitely.

Officials reminded again that most businesses were covered by the General Ceiling Price Regula-

Information For Veterans

Q I want to take a GI Bill course in accounting, but the only one available doesn't start until the Fall of 1951. Can I enroll even though the July 25 cut-off date—which applies to me—will have passed?

A No. You actually must be enrolled in a GI Bill course by the July 25 cut-off date, except for interruptions for reasons beyond your control. You may not enroll for the first time after that date.

Q I interrupted my GI Bill training to enlist in the Army. Does VA consider an enlistment an interruption for a reason beyond my control? Will I be allowed to continue training after my discharge?

A Enlistment in the armed forces is considered an interruption beyond your control. Therefore you will be permitted to go ahead with your GI Bill training after your discharge—provided, of course, that you are discharged prior to the termination date for the BI Bill program.

Q I am receiving compensation for a service-connected disability. Recently I lost my sight as a result of an automobile accident. Will VA provide me with a seeing-eye dog and electronic and mechanical equipment for the blind?

A Yes. Blindness need not be service-connected, so long as you are entitled to receive compensation for any service-connected disability.

Q I have just entered military service and, because of my $5,000 commercial life insurance policy. Is there any help I can get to hold my policy?

A Under the Soldier's and Sailors' Civil Relief Act, the VA may take over your payments while you are in service and, if necessary, for two years afterwards. But after your discharge, you will have to repay VA for all the payments it made for you.

Mrs. Olene Gibson and Mrs. Joe Hutchinson, accompanied by Mrs. W. W. Brown and Miss Anna Neale of Spade attended a luncheon and meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma held at Plainview, Saturday.

THERE'S A HOT

One of the beauty contest judges this year was Jake Trussell, a Kingsville newspaperman. He and Mrs. Trussell decided to drive across the city about 9:30 p. m. Saturday night.

"Traffic was so thick, so jammed, and the streets so full of milling people that it took us an estimated 45 minutes to an hour to drive the two mile distance," Trussell recalled.

"About 1 a. m. Sunday morning we tried futilely to get an order of ham and eggs in Bandera. There were so many persons in every cafe that we either could not get served or, when we did get a waitress, it was the same story over and over: 'Out of food until tomorrow.'"

But the Trussells liked it. They blew their tops with the rest of them.

"I've seen my first Stompede, but it won't be my last. When the Free State of Bandera once again Stompedes from the Union in 1952, I'll be back."

PREPARING

There's some mighty good farmers out that way, and some mighty good neighbors, too. They knew that the Durham land should be knifed — and planted now — and they also knew that their neighbor in a hospital bed was not going to be able to do it.

And so last Wednesday morning, fourteen of those neighbors, who had talked about it—decided to do something more than talk. They assembled at the Durham farm and with them they brought tractors and equipment—and they went to work.

Some of them even brought a pair of tractors, and when work started not long after sun-up—well a dozen tractors can get over a lot of territory in one day, and before that day had ended, 100 acres of the Durham land, was knifed as neatly as you ever could see a plot knifed—and 100 acres of cotton seed was in the ground.

All of this is nothing new here in Lamb county, and on the Plains—it's just a neighborly custom, that makes farming life more worthwhile out our way. And of course the Durhams are mighty pleased and mighty proud of their helping neighbors—but that group of neighbors is equally pleased and equally proud, that they have been able to help a fellow farmer and a neighbor in an hour of need.

Mr. Durham was scheduled to be brought home from Lubbock the next day after this story was written (Thursday) but it will be some time before he will be able to do a full day's work on the farm—but his condition is definitely improved.

Planted under such auspicious circumstances, and good-will, it just may be that the Durham cotton this year will be the best in the entire neighborhood, at least everyone of his neighbors is hoping so.

Lumber Wood, Harry L. Woody, L. B. Robertson, Thurman McCain, Everett McCain, C. H. Parks, George Brown, Jess Watts, John Frank Axe, D. H. Allen, Jr., Norman Singer, D. H. Allen sr., J. W. Simms and Mr. McQuarters, all had a part in putting a smile on the face of Forrest Durham and his family.

Those men all believe that the "good neighbor policy" begins at home, and they practice at it.

LAMB FARMER

(Continued from Page 1) proceedings in which he was involved about six weeks ago, which probably led to his untimely death.

Survivors, besides the estranged wife, are a young daughter, who is with her mother, his father, and numerous other relatives.

His mother preceded him in death and he, with his family have made their home with his father, where he engaged in operation of the farm.

As of Friday afternoon, funeral arrangements were unannounced.

MOON GLOW

WAYNESBORO, Va. — (AP)—When the moon comes over the mountain there's no cause for alarm. That's the word from the Waynesboro fire department. Seems a frantic caller phoned to report: "The mountain back of Wolf Mountain is on fire."

Just as a fire fighting crew was being dispatched the same caller phoned again to report, rather quietly:

"Sorry. But it's just the moon coming over the ridge."

New Recruiting and Induction Plan Goes Into Effect Starting July 1

Nearly all male entrants in the armed forces, starting first of this week, will be divided among the four branches of services so that each will get a fair share of each mental grouping, according to information reaching T-Sgt. Gerald F. Cutchall, local recruiter for the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force, today.

The long-awaited plan to give the Army a fair share of the "brains" also calls for the use of the Army's minimum physical standards, as laid down in the army regulations, to determine eligibility for enlistment or induction. But there will be no attempts—although possibility of doing so was long studied—to distribute on the basis of physical profiles.

Also starting on July 1, a member of main recruiting and induction stations of the armed forces will begin to process entrants for all four services (Army, Navy, Marines, and Air Force). Sgt. Cutchall said that he had not received any information as yet as to how this is going to be handled in this area. The U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting main station at Amarillo has been the induction station for the Panhandle area since the draft started, and it is reasonably thought that that station will be named.

The new plan ordered by Defense Secretary Marshall is so simple that little fear is entertained that it cannot operate properly.

It has been found that out of every 100 men who take the Armed Forces Qualification Test (AFQT) and found qualified for military service, eight, in the long run, fall in group I, with percentage scores 95 to 100. Thirty-two fall in group II, with scores running from 80 to 92. Thirty-nine fall in group III, scoring 61 to 84, and twenty-one fall in group IV, scoring 33 to 59.

Accordingly, each service will take its men in those proportions.

Should the Air Force, for example, have a goal of 10,000 men for any given two-month period, it will not enlist to exceed 800 men in group I, 2,200 in group II, 3,900 in group III and 2,100 in group IV.

The Air Force and Navy thus must accept personnel they previously have rejected, for a score between 33 and 59 (70 to 80) on the general classification test.

Each service may continue voluntary enlistments, but—except for defense approved quotas of officer candidates and aviation cadets and veterans must charge them against its quota. Reserve recalls are not charged to the quotas.

Sgt. Cutchall said that when this policy goes into effect May 1 there still will be a mad rush for the recruiting offices to get on the waiting lists of the Air Force and Navy. The Air Force and Navy will be able to fill their quotas within the first ten days of each month. The resumption of the Draft will come on in the very near future, without too much warning. Sgt. Cutchall advise those that want a choice of services to act now, without delay.

The U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station is located at 10 W. Fifth street, here in Littlefield.

OFFICERS NAMED AT COCHRAN WATER MEET

A Cochran County Water Conservation association was formed at Morton Wednesday night, when Glen W. Thompson was named president and Lloyd Miller was elected secretary in the organizational meeting attended by 50 persons in Morton.

Other officers will be named at a latter meeting, according to Homer Thompson, county agent. Posee Cunningham, Dimmitt, and Bob Thurman, Lubbock, spoke to the group and told of similar organizations in other South Plains counties.

Cochran county became the 15th group to organize a water conservation association, Cunningham said.

The High Plains Water Conservation and Users association is sponsoring petitions which will ask Texas Board of Water Engineers to create the district and call an election to determine if the farmers want the district, Thompson said.

Here's Tipping Guide For Your Vacation

NEW YORK — (AP) — Most hotel guests don't know how to tip properly. They either underdo it, or they overtip and don't know which employees they're supposed to tip, says one hotel owner here.

Irwin Kramer, boss of the Hotel Edison, says he has made a survey of the situation by studying data from 50 hosteliaries around the nation and by examining reports of tips given to his own hotel staff in the past year. First, Kramer states, the hotel clerk is not among the "tipping employees" in a hotel. Also, no

FEMININE FRIPPERIES

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Fashion Editor The Mother's Day gift that never goes wrong is some dainty, frout-trou lingerie.

No woman ever has too many slips or gowns or negligees. And usually the things she buys for herself are not as delightfully frivolous as those picked out by a doting family.

This year you have your choice of handsome pure silk, nylon, rayon and cotton in lingerie items. If Mom is planning a vacation trip, nylon will be just what she needs, because it's so easy to pack and launder. If she's the elegant type, silk is your best bet. If she has a yen for crisp summer cotton dresses, she'll like slips and gowns of fine cotton batiste, frilly with lace or eyelet trim. And if the budget is your first concern, dainty rayon lingerie is thrifty and practical.

Be sure you buy the right size, and consider Mom's wardrobe when selecting undergarments for her. She might like one of the new strapless slips, if she's a sun-dress addict; a rustling taffeta petticoat to wear beneath her new cocktail dress; or a slip loaded with lace to wear with her sheer blouses.

If she's the outdoor type, she'd like a new terry robe for the beach. And if she likes to look glamorous, she'll go for a sheer and lovely negligee of the new printed nylon tricot, airy as a cloud but much more durable.

FRANKFURT, Germany— (AP) — Open-hearted Americans are still showering Germany with gift parcels.

In 1946, when post-war Germany was destitute, a gift parcel service was begun in the United States. Day after day the total mounted until at the end of last month, West and East Germans had been sent 44,000,000 gift parcels. Officials estimate their combined value at $375,000,000.

Even today, as the German economy continues its upward trend, Americans still sent gift packages.
