

School Board Sets March 27 For Vote On Bonds

$375,000 Issue Will Care For Anticipated Growth Through Next Eight Years

At a special meeting Monday morning, the Littlefield School Board decided to call an election for March 27 to enable the school district to vote on a $375,000 bond issue. The decision came after the board examined a petition submitted to it by a group of local citizens. The petition carried 55 signatures, headed by Pat Boone, sr., who is reported to have headed the petition for every school improvement during the last two decades.

The petition specified that the money was to be used for "the purchase, construction, repair, or equipment of public free school building of materials other than wood."

More Classrooms

The school board was more specific. They said the money would be used to (1) build a new 23 classroom building for grades 5, 6 and 7, (2) add 12 more classrooms onto the primary building which will then house grades 1, 2, 3 and 4, (3) modernize the lighting and plumbing of the 2-year-old junior high building, (4) enlarge the cafeteria, (5) enlarge the vocational agricultural building.

600 More Pupils Due

The board says these additions will take care of the expected growth in enrollment through 1961, when elementary school pupils are expected to number 1,900, 600 more than now.

Principle purpose of the bond issue is to provide more and better space for the upper grades. Central, where the 4th, 5th and 6th grades are now housed, is not only too small for increasing enrollment but many parents consider the building a fire hazard and a health menace.

In order also to relieve the overcrowding in junior high, it is necessary to put the 7th grade in with the 5th and 6th in the new building and build extra rooms on the primary building to house the 4th grade.

Vote at Highschool

According to the board, the foundation, walls and roof of junior high are sound but the lighting and plumbing are primitive and the interior is badly in need of redecorating.

To take care of the new pupils expected to enroll during the next eight years, they say the cafeteria will have to be enlarged. The small vocational agricultural building will be replaced.

Vacant House Burns Sunday

Littlefield Volunteer Firemen answered two calls this week, the first to a small vacant house in College Heights. The house was almost a total loss, Fire Chief Bob Cox said.

The alarm was turned in at 9:45 Sunday night. Fire Chief Cox said he understood the house belonged to Jack Schiers, but it was vacant at the time of the fire.

Little or no damage was done Monday morning, according to Cox, when a mattress in a home in the north part of town caught fire. The alarm was turned in about 7:30 a.m.

State Jaycee President Visits Here

He was accompanied by L. D. Whitley of Lubbock, past state president.

Cook spoke at the luncheon, telling of the work of the state organization and urging Littlefield members to attend the state convention in El Paso late in April.

Local Election Tuesday
During the meeting, the local nominating committee submitted its report and it was announced election of officers will be held next Tuesday. Nominations can be made from the floor at that time.

The nominating committee's selections include:
For president, Marion Williams; for vice-president, Verle Lewis; for 2nd vice-president, Wayne Ramsey; for secretary, Van Coltharp; for treasurer, Cecil Andrews; for state directors, Judd Walker; for local directors, Truett Vinson and L. V. Pierce.

To Furnish Cars To Polls
An announcement also was made concerning the school bond issue election scheduled March 27, and it was decided Jaycees will furnish transportation to the polls. Voters desiring transportation election day can telephone 172 or 78.

Cook, a resident of Baytown, was named outstanding young man in his hometown in 1949. A University of Texas graduate in civil engineering, he is employed by an oil company.

What the School Bond Issue Will Mean in New Taxes...

The tax rate in the old part of the Littlefield School District is expected to go up to 25c per hundred dollars of assessed valuation if the proposed new bond issue is approved next week. The present rate is $1.25 in the old Littlefield District and $1.50 in the old Fieldton district. Requirement of servicing the new bonds and caring for the new buildings would require that the rate be $1.25 all over the new consolidated district.

It will take only 15c per hundred to raise the $17,000 per year needed to service the new bond issue, but it will take another 10c a hundred for additional operating costs. New buildings require more custodians, more supplies, more light, water and heat, and more maintenance, so the school board expects to go up to the constitutional limit of $1.50 per hundred if the issue is approved. They are actually authorized to collect that amount now, but have not found it necessary to do so.

State law limits the amount that can be used for paying interest and principal on bonds to 50c per hundred. Fieldton has been using the full amount to retire its indebtedness and the full $1 allowed for operating costs. The old Littlefield district has been using only 35c for debt service and 90c for operations.

If the district does collect the entire $1.50 permitted, it will mean that next year a taxpayer in the old Littlefield district, whose property is assessed at $5,000 will pay $12.50 more than in the past. Property owners in what was the Fieldton District cannot pay any higher rate than they have been. However, it may be that some will have a higher assessed value to pay on after the Equalization Board looks over the assessments and tries to put all on an equal basis with assessments in the balance of the new district. Equalization will take place, of course, regardless of whether the bond issue passes.

In order to be able to tell the voters exactly what the costs of the bond issue will be, the school board advertised for bonds, contingent upon their approval. Five bids were received and the board contracts for a rate of 2.994%. This is considered to be very low for school bonds.

Fikes Resigns To Take Temple Post As Head Coach; Littlefield Surprised

Culp Resigns As Patrolman In County

Highway Patrolman Clayton Culp, who has been stationed in Littlefield almost a year, resigned effective at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

No Replacement Yet

Culp said he will return to his hometown, Fort Worth, and complete work for a degree at Texas Wesleyan college. A physical education major, he was a senior when he left college to join the patrol two years ago.

Culp turned in his resignation Monday. His resignation leaves Lamb county with no patrolman stationed here. The county began 1954 with two troopers assigned here, Culp and Bill Warren. Warren resigned in January to return to farming.

District Units To Help

The Lubbock district office of the patrol told the Littlefield newspapers Wednesday new men will be assigned here "as soon as they're obtainable."

In the meantime, patrol units from Lubbock and Morton will work in this district, and the Lamb county sheriff's office will help out on accident reports.

Mr. and Mrs. Culp, who moved to Littlefield in May, 1953, made their home here at 711 W. Ninth.

$11,000 Damage Suit Settled For Payment of $500

A suit for $11,403.15 in damages was settled for $500, district court records show.

The suit was filed Tuesday by Johnnie G. Robinson, as next friend of William Whitley Farrar, against Nobia Lee Ball and Billy Guy Poteet.

The settlement was submitted to Judge E. A. Bills shortly after the suit was filed and he approved it. The agreement provides the defendants will pay the plaintiff $500.

The damage suit was filed in connection with a collision between a horse ridden by Farrar and a car driven by Poteet and owned by Nobia Lee Ball. The petition said the accident took place at 5:45 p.m. Jan. 3 in the 100 block on North Westside Ave. The petition said the 14-year-old Farrar and his horse both were thrown to the pavement. The suit asked $11,353.15 for damages involving Farrar and $50 for damage to the horse.

J. S. (Jay) Fikes, Littlefield highschool's football coach for the last 10 years, resigned Wednesday morning to take a higher position as head coach at Temple highschool.

Fikes, who was one of the first coaches on the South Plains to win a state championship, will replace Ted Dawson, who resigned to take the head coaching job at Bay City highschool.

Fikes went Tuesday to Temple to apply for the job and was hired by the school board there in the face of four other applicants under final consideration. He returned to Littlefield early Wednesday.

The local school authorities knew nothing of the resignation until Wednesday morning. The Temple people had given the news to the press, before Jay could return to talk to Supt.

Sheriff Stops Car, Seizes Large Beer and Liquor Haul

The biggest whiskey haul in Lamb county this year was seized by Sheriff Dick Dyer after an 8-mile chase early Tuesday.

County Thanks Ministers For Law Concern

A statement expressing appreciation came from the courthouse Wednesday in reply to a Ministerial Alliance resolution urging full enforcement of the law, regardless of race or position.

Members of the Littlefield Ministerial Alliance presented their resolution Saturday to County Attorney Curtis Wilkinson, County Judge Bob Kirk, Justice of the Peace G. S. Glenn and Sheriff Dick Dyer.

Kirk was the only official to issue a statement after receiving the resolution. Glenn earlier had said, "I think it's a good move."

Kirk's statement said, "The county appreciates the interest shown by the Ministerial Alliance in our problems and it's only by interest manifested by all citizens that the laws can be enforced."

"A handi' of officials in public office, without the support of the community, would be completely unable to enforce the laws."

Dyer arrested James Thornton of Littlefield on a charge of violating liquor laws. Thornton pleaded innocent and was freed under $500 bond.

Thornton has just paid the county a $250 fine and costs on an earlier charge of liquor law violation. Scheduled for trial in the term of county court beginning Monday on this earlier charge, he pleaded guilty and paid the $250 fine.

Dyer said he seized 96 quarts of beer, 36 half-pints of whisky, 6 half-pints of gin, 47 pints of wine, 2 fifths of whisky and a 6-can carton of beer.

He made the seizure four miles east of Littlefield on highway 54, about 4 a.m. Tuesday. He said he had chased the car containing the whisky for eight miles. The driver surrendered his load without resistance after Dyer stopped the car, the sheriff said.

European Girl Likes Everything But American Corn

By Billye Watson

Mrs. "Tex" Henslee, who has been "discovered" and "re-discovered" by newspapers in many of Texas' cities as a French war bride, is still earning that title although she has been married since June 5, 1946. Mrs. Henslee still rates the "Bride" title because of her youthful appearance and because of that trait of the European woman of praising her husband every time his name is mentioned.

Mr. and Mrs. Henslee, who have been in Littlefield only a few months, first met when he was stationed in Europe. He was among the American soldiers who returned the French prisoners held in the Buchenwald concentration camp at the future Mrs. Henslee was among the group.

She said that the handsome American soldier gave her his name and serial number saying, "You'll see me again."

After she returned to her home at Saint Lo, Normandy, she did see the young G.I. again. Their courtship lasted 18 months. Henslee had to volunteer for an extra year of overseas service to be near his girl during that time, but he did just that. Yvonne said her mother felt she would not be old enough to marry until she was 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Henslee had a double wedding in both respects of the term. Mrs. Henslee and her sister, now Mrs. Jack Cosperlich of Gulfport, Miss., were married simultaneously to American soldiers in a large formal ceremony at 10 a.m., June 5, 1946. A civil ceremony was held that afternoon at military headquarters.

At the reception following the ceremony, Mrs. Henslee said, "We served no cake, as is done here. We served biscuits, which are French cookies, and champagne. Instead of throwing rice, the American custom, we throw the American candy. That can be done in France, since the sand doesn't blow and the streets are clean."

Mrs. Henslee said her wedding slippers were white wooden shoes. Portions of her lacy veil are still beautiful and quite similar to those used in America for formal weddings. She said there was a fifteen day waiting period before the ceremony and afterward six months were required to get the papers fixed up.

"That may be one reason we have fewer divorces. Another is that in France we are not used to being so free, and don't always get to do what we want to do," Mrs. Henslee said. "We wouldn't consider dating at 13 and the average girl is 21 when she marries. The French boys usually have two years of service before they marry and average the age of 23."

Mrs. Henslee and her husband arrived separately in the United States. She arrived in New York by ship Aug. 14, 1946. She was met in El Paso by her sister-in-law, who lives at Fabens. Henslee arrived Sept. 14, 1946.

It Speaks a Universal Language!

It's the great 1954 Cadillac—and it speaks not only with great eloquence, but in a language which is known and understood wherever there are roads to travel... and people to behold.

First of all, it speaks of its owner—the minute its beautiful hood comes into view.

"Here is a man," it says—almost as plainly as the words are written here—"who has earned the right to sit at this wheel—by his industry and deportment and enterprise. Be he merchant or lawyer or businessman—or doctor or farmer or financier—the odds are great that he's a credit to his calling and to his fellow men.

"Accept him accordingly—and you'll likely be right in your judgment."

And then, as it comes closer, it speaks its special message for 1954—the story of its own advancement.

Its beautiful silhouette—graceful, free-flowing and dynamic—announces a whole new era in automotive design... "expect me to be copied for years to come!"

And its smooth, silent, easy movement—a true symphony in motion as it glides past and on and away—says with clarity and eloquence that the world's standard for performance has been raised again.

And remember—the wonderful "voice" of a 1954 Cadillac, with its significant message, comes as a bonus to the man who sits at the wheel.

It comes in addition to all the priceless fundamentals which make a Cadillac a Cadillac: unrivalled endurance and dependability—incomparable comfort and handling ease—and unbelievable economy of upkeep and operation.

Better come in—and let a Cadillac speak for you!

Girl Scouts Sell 2,366 Cookie Boxes

Lamb county Girl Scouts sold 2,366 boxes of cookies during their annual sale which ended last weekend, according to Mrs. Tom Hilbun, chairman of the Girl Scout county council.

Girl Scouts in Olton, Littlefield, Sudan and Amherst joined in the sale. Each girl was issued five to ten boxes of cookies to sell and 90 percent of the profits from each box were kept locally.

The proceeds from the cookies going to the individual troops pays the girls' registration fees for the following year of Girl Scouting. Mrs. Hilbun said that until last year troop members had each paid $1.00 for her registration fee. However the troop is supposed to make enough to pay the girls' registration fees and those of the troop leaders. The cookie sales, which began here last year, were decided on by county Girl Scout as the best method of earning their registration fees.

Mrs. Hilbun added that Virginia Burgess, from the national Girl Scout office in Dallas, was in Littlefield Tuesday and Wednesday for Leaders' training courses.

Latin-Americans Collect $32.50 For Church Site

Donations totaling $32.50 were received last week from Amherst firms to the Northside Guadalupe church fund, according to George Cabrera of Amherst. Cabrera and Alfredo Mastorez of Littlefield are co-chairmen of the fund drive to buy land for the prospective Catholic church for Latin-Americans.

Latin-American members of the Catholic faith have been attending the Sacred Heart Catholic church in Littlefield. They hope to use the old building when the new Sacred Heart Catholic church building is erected.

Funds collected will be used to purchase a site for the building in Littlefield. When the project is completed it will be the first time Catholic Latin-Americans in Littlefield have had a church of their own, Cabrera said.

"A Terror to Evil Works"
 By TOMMY WILLIAMS, Minister

For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil" (Romans 13:3).

We would like to think that we live in a society where men love good so well that fear of punishment for evil would not be necessary. But, alas, some will not be ruled except through fear of punishment. No society can long endure which does not recognize this fact and provide penalties for wrongdoing. God himself does not try to govern man without the threat of just punishment for evil. Unless there is a "terror to evil works," the lawlessness of even a small minority will corrupt any society and render existence in it a terror

Those who administer law must be men of integrity and honesty. Otherwise, they place themselves under this inescapable law of justice: "With what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged" (Matthew 7:3). But when men of high principles honestly attempt to apply law in justice and equity, they should have the cooperation of all God-fearing citizens, without any pressure or desire or partiality.

"Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil" (Ecclesiastes 8:11).

Henslee is employed at Plant X and his job requires them to move about a lot. They lived in Midland before coming here. When queried about the inconvenience the moves could cause, Mrs. Henslee said, "Oh, I like to travel and meet new people. And when my husband goes, I'm ready to go also. He has weekends off and we meet and visit lots of nice people. We've met lots of friends here."

"You eat so much different here," Mrs. Henslee said, pertaining to her greatest adjustment to life away from her native country. "I can't find the dishes I like."

She has a big American cookbook which has made her transition from French cookery easier, but it hasn't helped her taste for corn and cornbread yet, she said.

"We French use Wesson oil a lot," she said. "And I prefer to make my own bread. I miss the use of wine on so many dishes." Mrs. Henslee finds time to do all her own work, prepare her husband's meals, and enjoy coffeeing with the neighbors. "I always try to fix my husband's breakfast and lunch, and also also to have his dinner ready when he comes in," she said.

Mrs. Henslee explained that French women do not participate in many club activities and civic projects, and also that European couples don't go out much in the evenings. She feels that the French women do not feel as free to cultivate their individual interests outside the home.

The little blonde speaks five languages now, having added the fifth, English, after her arrival in the United States. When her sister-in-law met her in El Paso, Mrs. Henslee said she could only speak such pat phrases as "Hello", "Goodbye", and "Thank you."

Henslee speaks French and conducted his courtship in that language.

Mrs. Henslee's father and brother were killed at Nantz, France, as active members of the French underground. Her mother died in France four years ago. She has a brother and sister still in France and the sister in Mississippi, whom she hopes will visit Texas soon. Among her hobbies is knitting and she is currently working on two cardigans. She also enjoys reading the French version of Readers Digest, Selection, which is published in Canada.

been exceptional. He never had a losing team until last fall when his small, inexperienced squad finished with a 4-5 record. His teams won or tied 7 out of 10 District titles and placed second the other three years.

The Littlefield Wildcats under Fikes coaching won two regional titles and in 1949 defeated Mexia, 13-0 for the Texas state Class A championship.

Highschool Principal Ralph Schilling said, "I am sorry we are losing Coach Fikes, but I'm sure glad for him. This is an advancement for him. We haven't been thinking about a successor because we didn't know of his plans."

Superintendent Pearce told the Leader, "The school hates to see Coach Fikes leave. Everyone is familiar with his successful record as a coach in wins and losses, but I am impressed also with his success in handling boys and making a tremendous influence upon the youth of our schools and community. We know Jay will make good in his new opportunity."

School Board President W. O. Hampton told the Leader "this took us all by surprise and it will take several days to get the board together for a conference about a successor." Fikes said, "This is the hardest thing I have ever had to do in my life. I couldn't even bring myself to telling the boys at school Wednesday morning. No one knows how bad I hate to leave Littlefield. Everything and everybody in Littlefield have been perfect in these 10 years of coaching here. The working conditions and school authorities and fans have made it an ideal job for me. I hated to leave so bad, but just had to take the advancement for the sake of myself and family."

Fikes says he is keeping in contact with the Temple school and has the problem of working out assistants before him. His wife, who is a fourth grade teacher in Central school, plans to teach in Temple, also.

Fortenberry Heads Water District For Second Term

W. O. Fortenberry, Lubbock businessman and farmer, was re-elected as chairman of the board of directors for the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, at a meeting held recently in Lubbock.

Fortenberry, in his second term, will preside in the capacity of chairman until January of 1955.

Other board members elected were: Willis Hawkins, Hart, vice-chairman; Marvin Shurbert, Petersburg, secretary; V. E. Dodson, Hereford, and Gus Parish, Springlake, members.

Shurbert and Parish are new to the board. Board members elect officers at the first quarterly meeting each year.

At the election meeting, the directors passed a resolution for the holding of elections to bring the counties into the water district which are within the boundaries but are not actively participating. These counties are: Swisher, Oldham, Briscoe, Crosby, Dickens, Garza and Terry.

The board also passed a resolution to the effect that educational programs, designed to acquaint water users with the district functions and benefits, would be conducted in community cities of counties not participating. District Manager Tom McFarland will be in charge of the meetings.

It was resolved that the board would start any possible action with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service to provide a loan fund for farmers to use in installing underground tile or the purchase of aluminum pipe to be used in exceptionally sandy areas where underground tile is not too satisfactory. The board members explained it is their thinking that the underground tile system of irrigation is one of the greatest water conservation measures on the Plains.

One of the heights of disappointment is reached when a friend if long duration drops back into the limbo of mere acquaintances.

Let's Talk Livestock

By Ted Gouldy

FORT WORTH—Movement of sheep and lambs to market continued at a fairly heavy pace in Fort Worth as the week's trade opened to around 7,500 sheep in the yards.

Woolled fat lambs and good choice kinds sold from $21 to $22.50, the higher price on some club lambs from Cottle county, and some other choice woolled club lambs from Dickens and Kent counties topped at $23.

Shorn fat lambs of good and choice grades sold from $19 to $21.75. Cull, common and medium shorn slaughter lambs sold from $12 to $18. Stocker and feeder shorn lambs sold from $15 to $20.25 and woolled feeders reached $21.

New crop milk fed lambs of good and choice kinds sold from $23 to $25, and the medium and lower grades sold from $16 to $22. Yearlings and two-year-old wethers sold from $15 to $17.50, and aged wethers cashed at $10 to $14. A few slaughter ewes sold from $7 to $9.

The apparent scarcity of lambs for current marketing has led some observers to express the view that some of the fleshy lambs would do well with a quick turn in the feed lot here in the Southwest.

Reasoning behind this is the fact that the next liberal offering of fat lambs is due to come from the Southwestern area and the big movement of the Tennessee and Kentucky lambs will not be felt until late May or early June in the view of present conditions.

Cattle trade was again featured by highly sensitive reaction to supply and demand. Fed steers and yearlings were steady to 25 or 50 cents lower, and some of the medium to good kinds of lighter yearlings were fully 50 cents off and instances more.

Four games will be played in consolation championship between the Parkview women and the P-TA at 7:45 p.m.

The Men's Faculty-W.O.W. championship game will be the grand finale starting at 9:45 p.m. following the women's championship game between the Women's Faculty and the Jayceettes.

The closest game and most exciting proved to be the first men's game between the Men's Faculty and the Parkview Baptist church Monday night. The score ran nip and tuck with not more than four points difference throughout and as the buzzer went off the score was Men's Faculty 18 to Parkview 17.

Other close games were between the V.F.W. and Jaycees on Monday night, with the V.F.W. winning 25-23.

In the women's bracket the P-TA and the Forum Club played the closest game Tuesday night with the P-TA winning, 30-28.

The scores of the games were as follows:

Monday night, women's games—Telephone operators 37, P-TA 16; Jayceettes 25, Forum Club 20; Women's Faculty 36, Parkview Baptist 24.

Championship Wrestling Match At Lfd Sports Arena Saturday Night

After considerable deliberation, Dory Funk has agreed to put up his Southwest States junior heavyweight wrestling championship against the challenge of the popular Mexican, Luis Martinez, and the match is scheduled for the Littlefield Sports Arena Saturday night.

In a way, it is a return match. Martinez made a fine showing against the champ, as he usually does against any rival, on March 6 in Littlefield. Many fans figured that, in a title match, Martinez would have a better chance since Funk would be forced to be more careful. Said fans suggested to promoters that it was high time Littlefield had a championship match, anyway, and that Martinez was their choice for a challenger.

Funk, the durable blond cowboy who operates Flying Mare Ranch near Umbarger, Texas, has held the title more times and

The game, high point of Tech's spring training, will start at 8 p.m. in Jones stadium. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and children.

Finals Saturday in Spade Volleyball Tournament

Littlefield, Muleshoe and Plainview highschool girls advance to the quarter-finals in the Spade Girls Invitational Volleyball Tournament.

The Littlefield Wildcats downed the Pettit girls 7-15, 15-13, and 15-12 Tuesday night. Muleshoe won its games from Plainview "B," 15-3, 3-15 and 15-6. Plainview highschool "A" took its games from Petersburg, 12-15, 15-6 and 15-4.

The Littlefield "B" squad lost to Anton girls, 15-7 and 15-3.

Thursday night games in the Spade tournament will begin with the Olton grade school vs Whitharral grade school at 3:30 in the afternoon. The rest of Thursday's games are:

- 4:15, Olton and Whitharral Highs.
- 5:00, Pep vs Sudan grade schools.
- 5:45, Pep vs Sudan high-schools.
- 7:00, Three-Way vs Spade grades.
- 7:45, Three-Way vs Spade high-schools.
- 8:30, Abernathy vs Springlake grade schools.
- 9:00, Abernathy vs Springlake for a longer period of time than any other junior heavyweight. But there is some reasoning in the Martinez challenge. The Mexico City athlete has made a fine record in this sector and in other parts of the United States and Mexico. He's a likeable young man, modest almost to the point of shyness, but he is very strong, very well educated in professional wrestling holds and defenses. He prefers to wrestle "like a gentleman," applying science and power to legal methods. Funk probably will not let this system go on for long.

Bill Parks, younger brother of famous Herb Parks, comes in for an introduction to Littlefield fans when he meets wild Benny Trudell of Montreal, Canada, in the Saturday night semi-final. Parks also is from Canada, but a different part.

The fans are due to adopt the younger Parks as a favorite. The match runs two out of three falls or one hour as the first section of a double main event. Trudell, a bearded, French-Canadian, is typed as one of the rougher, meaner wrestlers.

Wayne Cunningham

It is good to see the variety of sports in the Littlefield highschool. Principal Ralph Schilling was a football player. He played for Cincinnati University and played pro ball for the Washington Redskins. However, Schilling will do anything possible to set up any sport that students or townspeople are interested in.

Horseshoes
The Doubles Horseshoe tournament at the Wildcat school wasn't finished because of the sandstorm and the Musical Chorus going to Rotary Thursday.

In the semi-finals, Yarbrough and Red Durham have to contest Bill Fore and Dan Howard. The winners of this match, sand permitting, will go against Boyd Mears and Ernest Gohlke in the finals for the doubles championship.

This will prove to be interesting. All 20 Wildcat participants throw the old-time end-over throw. If some kid came in and learned the modern sidetwist-and-a-half he'd clean up on singles and doubles.

The highschool lads undoubtedly whip the towners, Dads or Independents in football and basketball, but if the outsiders got some of the old timers in horseshoes it might prove embarrassing to the teenagers.

I brought up the subject of horseshoes in four different barbershops (the modern-day "grocery store round-table" in sports) and no interest could be generated.

Big Tale
The biggest tale of the week. We can't tell who told, 'cause you'll call him a liar. It came to me like this:

Amherst's Ag man Hudspeth and an Amherst farmer friend made their usual appearance at the golf course. The wind was up and sand a-blowing. The farmer hit a wedge and the ball disappeared in the sand against the wind. He immediately started up to the green to get his putter and after three steps the ball came back down and hit him on the shoulder.

That one is hard to believe. Oh, it's easy to believe that the Amherst men playing in the sandstorm for we've actually seen them out in three below (par), but the part about the ball coming back and tapping the player on the shoulder is pretty strong.

Vic Spooner
Texas Tech's Vic Spooner, of highschool. The Friday contests begin at noon and run through 10 p.m. The finals will be at 5 p.m. Saturday and finish at 10 p.m. The tournament has been running on schedule and charges 25 cents and 15 cents for admission.

SPORTS CAR QUEEN — Miss Pat McGinn, 20-year-old junior University of Texas Sweetheart has been chosen by the Sports Car Club of America as "Queen of the Lone Star National Sports Car Races" to be staged at Bergstrom Air Force Base March 28. (Official USAF photo)

Red Raider football fame, is quite a likable guy. He was in the Littlefield highschool gym Wednesday night playing in the Independent tournament for the Thompson Independents of Lubbock.

We never saw Vic make a mistake on the gridiron and don't see a thing wrong with his cage game.

Best Talent Still Loose
About the best basketballer in Littlefield still isn't enlisted on any of the crowded teams of Littlefield. That is highschool Coach Joe Simpson. Looks like some team (Furr's needs a player the most) would rope him in before the independent season closes.

A phone call asked when the Independent basketball season closes at Littlefield. I answered: When out-of-high schoolers can no longer get the gym. Boy! do they love that cage game. It gets in the blood. Even a wife and three kids couldn't keep one man from staying until 11:45 last week playing in the Pool Shoes-Piggly Wiggly game.

Winfred Stout brought in the "Frank Leahy" and "Jay Fikes" cying habits. He approached the game against Pool Shoe Store with this, "My boys haven't practiced at all. We'll be lucky to get a single point."

Who does he think he's kidding? He's been teaching those boys to sling meat, soap, cans and even big boxes for months. They've had more practice than all the Independent teams put together. Of course Ed Wisdom said there's a lot of difference between hitting the bucket with a basketball and slamming the groceries in a bag.

I told Mrs. Cunningham about a grocery team. She said, "No wonder those boys always put my bread on the bottom of the sack."

The Furr boys were really boys. Give them credit for trying. They never quit. Even when the Bozeman Auctioneers hit 100, they kept hustling.

Versatile Wildcat
Those Littlefield highschool

athletes are very versatile. Roger Newton played basketball, made the Honor Roll this year, rated the Who's Who in Science and got in the National Honor Society. Roger is one of the best young golfers around. This is his senior year and he's on the varsity Wildcat golf team. You can see that these Littlefield field athletes can do more than play ball.

We're a little envious of Coaches Jay Fikes and Joe Carter getting to see those state tournaments in Austin last week. According to the TV, they saw some real top basketball.

Top Sports Fan
My nomination for Littlefield's top 1953 sports fan would be none other than our friend, Al Chambers.

The one who contributed the most to this winter's sports award would go to Francis Smith of Sudan for the effort he went to get crowds out to see Sudan play basketball in the early season. Smith got names and addresses of tax paying lists or somewhere. Mailed free invitations to all in that territory to come see the Hornets play! Man! Those Hornet fans came a-swarming.

Mrs. Smith stayed up with her coach husband many a night past midnight helping the card writing. It still takes work to make success.

Skipper Smith, Claude Pool and Wayne Ramsey were responsible for the big Independent tournament success. The Jaycees can bring Littlefield two tournaments next year.

Many scholars believe that bathrooms were invented in ancient Egypt.

Seven Join Church After Revival Meet

HART CAMP, (Special)—Two persons were baptized Sunday night and five others were added to the Hart Camp Baptist church as the series of meetings conducted by Rev. Oscar Mayo of Vernon closed.

Eighty-four persons attended Sunday school and 72 were in training union.

Jack Armstrong of Lubbock led the singing and Mrs. Ivy Thompson was pianist.

Reverend Mayo, a Wayland college graduate, is a former pastor of the church. He left here in September, 1947.

Rev. Charles Vanlandingham, also a Wayland graduate, has been pastor of the Hart Camp Baptist church for six years. Many new members have been added during his pastorate.

When he took the church in 1948, there was only an auditorium, remodeled the old auditorium, remodeled the old auditorium into an educational building and added classrooms, and built a 3-bedroom parsonage.

POWERFUL NEW GASOLINES

Shamrock's NEW Blending Formula:

- 1 Adds Premium Qualities to NEW SHAMROCK TRAIL MASTER Giving Users of Regular Gasoline Extra Performance at No Extra Cost
- 2 Makes NEW SHAMROCK CLOUD MASTER the Finest Premium Gasoline For Superior Performance in High Compression Engines

THE Shamrock station near you now has in its pumps two of the world's finest motor fuels. This means that regardless of the make or model of your car one of the new Shamrock gasolines will give you MORE POWER... BETTER PERFORMANCE... GREATER ECONOMY... and, for no more than you would pay for any other leading brand of gasoline. Vitally important to the performance of your car is controlled volatility. Shamrock controls the volatility of the new gasolines with a wide range of light and heavy fractions... fractions that assure quick starts... clean burning, plus more mileage, more power and better performance. This careful control means that these new Shamrock gasolines will meet the varying requirements of your car from season to season. As a bonus... Shamrock gives you truly outstanding anti-knock qualities. Shamrock anti-knock qualities are now raised far above the requirements of the most powerful engines put in today's cars.

New TRAIL MASTER

Shamrock's New Trail Master is the performance-plus motor fuel for users of regular gasoline. It costs no more than regular gasolines yet gives the anti-knock, extra-power, maximum mileage features you expect only in a more expensive, premium gasoline. New Trail Master offers the drivers of cars with lower compression engines all the performance advantages of recent gasoline improvements without requiring that they pay for a full premium gasoline. If you want the most from your car, get the best gasoline for lower compression engines... Shamrock's New Trail Master... the new, budget-wise gasoline with premium qualities.

New CLOUD MASTER

Today's powerful, high compression automobile engines make strong demands on the gasoline they use. But as a result of Shamrock's new blending formula, New Shamrock Cloud Master not only meets these requirements but far exceeds them. Shamrock Cloud Master... octane rating more than enough to positively eliminate even trace knock... octane rating more than enough to assure maximum mileage and the quickest starts, fastest warm-up, greatest power, smoothest performance your car was designed to deliver. No matter what kind of car you drive, if the engine knocks when using Shamrock Cloud Master Premium, there is something wrong with your engine.

One of these new gasolines is exactly right for your car. A series of distillation tests carefully check the volatility of Shamrock, making certain that it meets the requirements of the new blending formula. Special knock-test engines establish definitely that the new gasoline is of such high octane rating that there is no chance of your engine knocking. Not only can an engine knock waste a portion of every tank of gasoline you use, but the effect of the knock can seriously damage the engine itself. Other tests prove the absence of gum forming copper and corrosive sulphur. These new gasolines are the result of the development of two new fuels, each to fill a specific need of the motoring public. If there is any doubt in your mind about which of the two new gasolines you should use, consult your nearby Shamrock dealer. He is there to help you get the most mileage and best performance possible from your car.

You Can Make Magic With Hot Bread

Cecily Brownstone, Press Food Editor, has some handy tricks to help you vary those meals and give such a touch. Take these ready-mix, rolled in chips then baked with cheese in the center. It's delicious with a soup or perfect for an evening snack.

CHEESE CHIPS—Use them with soup or salad.

Cheese Chips
 Ingredients: 1 1/2 cups pancake mix, 1/2 cup enriched cornmeal, 1/2 cup shortening, 2-3 cup crushed potato chips, 1 cup melted butter, 1 cup small cubes processed cheese.
 Method: Mix together pancake mix and cornmeal. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add chips, stirring lightly until mixture is dampened. (It will be quite soft.) Using a tablespoon of the dough, shape into small balls. Place the balls on a lightly greased cookie sheet; make a print in the center of each ball. Fill each hole with a small cube of cheese. Bake in hot (400F) oven 10 to 15 minutes. Makes 18 to 20 biscuits.

 International Union
 Sunday School Lesson
 BY DR. KENNETH L. TOLSON
 Scripture: John 13-14
 Devotional Reading: 1 John
New Commandment
 Lesson for March 21

A MAN who could never breaking a single one of the Ten Commandments would be a good man, better than any other man. But from the Christian's point of view, that kind of goodness is not enough. A man can keep the rules of the game and be a good player. He can observe the laws of his state and not be a desirable citizen. Something more, something more positive, is needed, valuable though the Ten Commandments are. At the Last Supper Jesus gave his friends there, and through them he gave all his friends since, an elevated commandment which Christ intended to be more than all the others. It is the New Testament for believing not only in Jesus but in the moral law which he broke the Eleventh, but which he really keeps all the others. It is what Christ called the "Commandment"—of Love.

What's New About Love?
 Was Jesus exaggerating when he spoke of love as a "new commandment"? Had love never been heard of before? Is it in those two ancient laws, Leviticus 19:18-20 and Leviticus 19:11-15, and Love your neighbor as love yourself was not the world. But love to love itself was not the deed new. The careful notice that Jesus does with "Love one another" on to add, "—as I have loved you." Granted that even such had been seen in the world, the fact is that for these in the Upper Room, and of us if the truth be kind of self-loving love Christ had and was in something new. We are to love those that love us, love those who understand us, love those who are willing to love if we feel we are some return, so to speak investment. But which of Jesus' place would be others as he did? These were not at first what we call lovable people. They were not lovable as a rule, came to help sinners. That always bothered the sees was that Jesus loved people who did not to be loved. No Pharisee derstood this. It was new in their world.

Love Is Not a Blueprint
 Christians sometimes too enthusiastic about the Commandment. They say as if it did away with all of any need for thinking, intentions are good, the enough, they say. So through life with what they suppose are good intentions actually doing a lot of Jesus never meant this. The commandment as a sort of charm that would solve problems, get rid of all our cutties, conquer all our utions. Love is not a either. You cannot take "love alone" and govern a found a college or run a or a farm, just on pure something like the law of tion. You can't build so pigmy without paying attention to the law of gravitation that law does not tell you build the sky, nor a house skyscraper, though all are held together with tion's mighty power. So human institutions, the state, the school, and out the spirit of self-sacrifice. New Commandment they stand; yet self-sacrifice is print by itself. There is no tute for hard thinking and

Love Is Concern
 If self-sacrifice sounds let us come down the little. New-Commandment say the least of it, means for others. We all know is to be concerned about We take good care of we we look for our interests, for fear we may be left wayside somehow. We that we ourselves get the of anything. All persons complete fools are concerned rally about themselves. New Commandment stand to turn this concern in the direction. Be as interested other person's welfare as in your own.

Vary Lenten Meals With Sardines

By Cecily Brownstone

Associated Press Food Editor

Something different, something piquant is what we have for you today. So many times during Lent we hear: "I'm tired of serving fish the same old way. Hasn't anyone any new ideas?" That's a challenge we like!

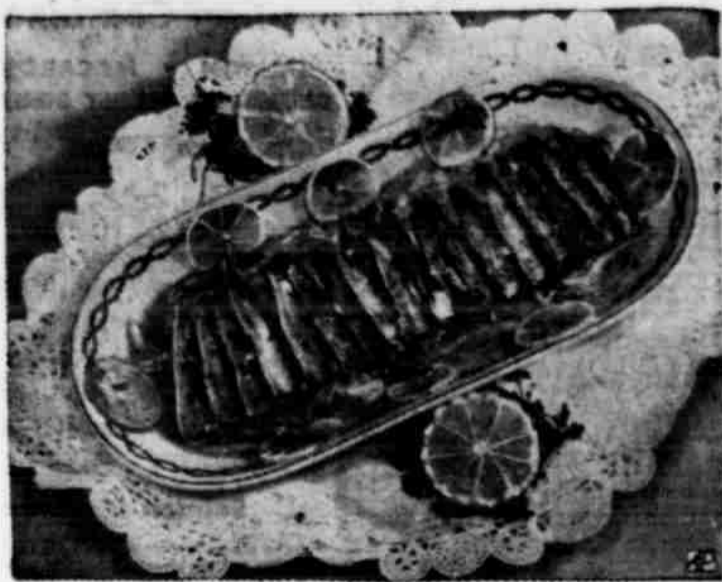

Here, cooks, is a dish created by one of New York's best chefs; then tried—and enjoyed—in this food editor's kitchen. The recipe features a seafood available to everyone—Norway sardines from handy cans.

A can of these savory tidbits tops this delicious and interesting first course, Sardines Viveur. When you serve this dish you'll be eating delightfully. We like Sardines Viveur for lunch followed by an omelette and a favorite variety of cheese then fruit and tea or coffee. If you use this menu, have lots of hard rolls on hand for both the Sardines Viveur and the cheese—and don't forget the sweet but-

You'll notice that this recipe calls for cutting the vegetables in matchstick size strips. Do observe this direction; they've taste best that way in this particular dish.

Sardine Viveur

Ingredients: 1 rib celery 2 medium-size carrots 1 small onion 1 tablespoon olive oil 1/4 cup cooking sherry, 1 bay leaf, 1 small clove garlic, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 8 thin slices lemon (peeled), one 3 1/2 ounce can Norway sardines.

Method: Clean celery and carrots; peel onion. Cut celery and carrots into matchstick size strips (julienne). Slice onion into thin strips. Heat the olive oil in an 8-inch skillet. Add celery, carrots and onion. Cook gently about 5 minutes, stirring a new time. Add sherry and bay leaf; crush garlic into skillet; mix thoroughly. Simmer until vegetables are tender-ripe and most of the liquid has evaporated—about 5 minutes. Chill about 6 hours to blend flavors. At serving time, remove bay leaf; arrange vegetables in serving dish, drain sardines and place over vegetables. Garnish with lemon slices; sprinkle with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Most 3 1/2-ounce cans of Norway sardines contain from 20 to 22 whole sardines.

For another interesting luncheon dish we like to serve a cheddar cheese sauce with sardines. We season the sauce with a little dry mustard, Worcestershire sauce and curry powder; then add some drained canned tomatoes. Just spoon the hot sauce over toast, then garnish with the sardines.

Another good combination is tomato aspic on salad greens with sardines. At this time of year we're likely to add some finely diced celery to the aspic for something crunchy; in summer it's usually cucumbers that go in. Try this combination, we think you'll like it.

Lots of 'Hoppers Expected in Area

COLLEGE STATION.—Grasshoppers, one of the nation's major agricultural pests, may be more abundant in some areas this year.

Barring weather and other natural conditions that might affect their populations, infestation surveys conducted last fall indicate these insects will need to be controlled over wide areas of the United States to avoid excessive crop and range damage.

On western ranges the survey showed grasshoppers in such numbers to warrant large-scale control efforts of 4,700,000 acres in parts of 13 states. If 'hoppers' develop normal, entomologists expect the greatest need for organized control to be centered in Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles, in north central New Mexico, south central Colorado and in central Idaho.

Garagemen Will Meet Monday

A dinner meeting of all garagemen and mechanics in the Littlefield trade territory will be held Monday at 7 p.m. in Fisher's Restaurant.

The meeting is sponsored by Motor Parts Co. and Thompson Steel Products, makers of valves, pistons and water pumps for automobiles. There will be door prizes and an entertaining program. Bill Jarrett, Thompson representative from Lubbock, will speak.

A. V. Wood, manager of Motor Parts Co., said 35 or 40 persons are expected to attend.

One sometimes hears talk about the "good old days." But were they really so "good"?

In 1890, when the Woodmen of the World was founded, most homes were heated by stoves, had no plumbing. Water was pumped from wells. Travel was afoot, by horseback or horse and buggy.

Things cost less. Butter was 15c a lb.; flour, $1.30 cwt.; milk, 5c qt.; eggs, 12c doz.; coffee, 29c a lb.; a suit, $5 to $25; shoes, $2 to $5. But grandpa worked 10 hours for $1.75.

With today's incomes the average family can afford electric lights, central heating, radio, television, an automobile, better clothes, movies, etc.

Today's higher standard of living calls for greater home protection. If you haven't recently reviewed your life insurance program, make sure that whatever happens, your family can maintain the home with its conveniences.

Call a Woodmen representative to help you analyze your protection and, if needed, select the safe, sound, legal reserve Woodmen life insurance certificate that best meets your needs.

Phones Come High

Stamford is a West Texas city of approximately the same size as Littlefield (1950 census showed it had 700 fewer people). And like Littlefield it this month granted a telephone rate increase.

At the end of the similarity ends. Stamford's new rate is higher than Littlefield's old rate. Southwestern Bell is expected to commence installation of a dial system next year. The company and the city commission upon what rates will be charged after the new equipment is installed, and those new rates are 15 percent lower than Littlefield are already paying for manual equipment.

State commission could even up these rates and give to all cities and all companies. City commissions are helpless to do so.

Public Should Know

Revelation by State Auditor C. H. Cavness that Duval school funds have been misused points up a condition which exists throughout the State of Texas. It is doubtful many instances of outright misappropriation of funds can be found, thanks to the honesty of men who as school trustees without any compensation whatsoever the opportunity exists, nevertheless. More money is spent by the average school board than by other local government body. Schools, generally, cost more money than any local business concern except a gas station. Yet, under Texas laws, no trustee or other school officer is required to make a public report on how this money is spent. At the same time no state law prevents making of such a report, but very few districts let the public know what is being done with the vast sums at their disposal. Just why, or how, the idea developed that school affairs should be kept so secretive is not known, but the policy is being followed throughout the state. Most school boards refuse to let representatives of the press to attend their meetings and the most part the public knows nothing of what takes place in board meetings.

Requirement of annual publication of financial statements for school districts was introduced in the last Texas legislative session but died on the calendar during the closing days of the session. Such a requirement would make for better schools. It would remove all suspicion of misused funds; it would force trustees to think more carefully about authorizing expenditures; it would make possible suggestions from the public as to ways and means of reducing expenses; it would give the public a clearer picture of school costs and simplify the problem when the need arises for more school funds. Observation of governing agencies whose policies call for the public posted on their activities shows that such agencies give the public more service per tax dollar than they should. We might well think of this as the legislature goes into special session to raise more tax money for public education.—Italy (Tex.) News Herald.

Outstanding Record

Spokesman for a large food chain, in discussing the surplus problem, said: "Develop consumer demand and merchandise will sell if the price is right." He cited instances in which retailers have greatly increased consumption of various farm products through intensive advertising and promotional campaigns. An outstanding example was last year's beef-retailer campaign to move the big beef supply. Chain beef sales leaped 51 per cent.

It is not claimed, of course, that such campaigns are the sole needed solution. But they certainly represent long steps in the right direction—which is to move products into the homes of consumers instead of into storage. The vigor and ability of competitive American retailing is a literally terrific distribution job has been proven beyond question—and in the fields of manufactured goods no more than in food. Our industrial production has, for many years, been running at almost incredible levels. Record after record has been smashed. Never has the miracle of mass production been better demonstrated. But this could never have happened unless we had a distribution system of comparable efficiency, drive and magnitude. The record speaks for itself.

Highlights And Sidelights From Your State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN—Top news out of Austin this week is the opening of the 30-day special session of the Legislature, which started Monday.

The last special session of the Texas Legislature was in 1950. It was called for 30-days, but lasted three months.

Four problems have been placed before the 1954 session by Governor Allan Shivers, along with his recommendations for raising taxes.

These were the tasks given the legislators.

1. To provide higher salaries for public school teachers.
2. To raise the pay of state employees.
3. To finance construction of needed new buildings at Southwestern Medical School, Dallas; the University of Texas Medical Branch, Houston; Texas School for the Deaf, Austin; and Eastham unit of the Texas Prison System.
4. To outlaw the Communist Party in Texas and provide for enforcement of this legislation.

Prior to making his tax recommendations, the governor talked with business leaders to get their views as to how the money should be raised.

It is thought that $30 to $35 million in new money will be needed to pay for higher salaries and building.

The money, Shivers said, should come from these sources:

1. A new and valid gas gathering tax, more or less like the one passed during the last regular session of the Legislature, and ruled unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court. Shivers thinks the law can be rewritten so that it will be valid.
2. A tax on franchises paid by corporations, except for charters issued to religious, educational, and charitable groups.
3. An increase in the present state tax on beer.

Submitted to the governor by the Texas Industrial Commission were bills to make Communist Party membership a felony and set punishment of fines up to $20,000 and imprisonment up to 20 years.

One of the bills would establish a state of subversive activities. Findings of the Board would be subject to appeal to the courts.

Penalties including death for Communist membership had been suggested by the governor, but the Board declined to go that far.

William J. Harris, president of the State Federation of Labor and a member of the Industrial Commission, expressed his opposition to one of the bills—that of setting up the Loyalty Board. "This proposed law," said Harris, "not only does not guarantee trial by jury; it leaves the way open for blackening the reputations and destroying the livelihood of loyal, law-abiding American citizens..."

Another pre-session development was a conference between Shivers and House Speaker Reuben Senterfitt, who has differed with the governor over various aspects of the special session.

Notably, Senterfitt disagreed with Shivers' compromise plan for teacher pay and school financing.

Neither the governor nor the speaker would reveal to the press what was discussed.

Senterfitt has announced that he will be a candidate for governor this year. Shivers has not disclosed his plans—whether he will try for re-election, run for the U. S. Senate, or retire from public office.

District Judge J. Harris Gardner, speaking from his bench here, lashed out at the legislature on four counts. He found these flaws:

1. Juries in criminal cases have the responsibility of fixing punishment.
2. More stringent divorce laws are needed.
3. Funds are required for a workable adult probation system.
4. That provision should be removed from the statutes which makes "justifiable homicide" a defense in slayings committed by husbands in adultery cases.

There are some faults in Texas' insurance laws, says Garland Smith, chairman of the state's insurance commission, but he denies that the situation is as bad as it was described by Robert Gilmore, head of the National Association of Underwriters.

Gilmore, speaking at a meeting of his group at Knoxville, Tenn., said that Texas has the "worst insurance laws in the United States," and most of the companies writing health and accident policies with "tricky" provisions are "huddled in Texas."

While it is true that Texas laws do not specify the provisions of health and accident policies, the board has set up for those policies the same standards that are in effect in other states, Smith declared.

Duval county's strife continued as the United Mothers of that dukedom announced that they would visit Governor Shivers and "offer our services in the work that is being done to clean up our county government."

Mrs. Olive Trevino, chairman of the Duval women's group, said the main purpose of the organization is to assure the governor that "we are behind him in his efforts to help us."

Mrs. Trevino is a Benavides teacher and wife on an oil company employee. She said her group would ask the governor to leave the Rangers in Duval county.

Off again, on again was the old folks' march on the capital.

Russell Jack Ballard of Wichita Falls, self-appointed leader of the state's aged people, promised that swarms of the elderly would come here, camp on the capitol grounds, and ask for an increase in their assistance allotments and better treatment in state hospitals.

Ballard appointed Cyclone Davis of Dallas as leader of the expedition.

Davis, a perennial candidate for state office, filed with the Democratic Executive Committee for a place on the ballot as a candidate for governor.

He neglected to enclose his $600 filing fee.

Elsewhere on the political front, State Representative Dudley T. Dougherty of Beeville, a rancher and oil man, scotched reports that he would withdraw as a candidate for the U. S. Senate, opposing Lyndon B. Johnson, incumbent seeking another term.

"There were 87 excellent reasons which prompted me on February 7 to announce my candidacy for the United States Senate," Dougherty said, "and those 87 reasons, plus many more, will keep me in the race right down to the final line." Johnson won his office in 1948.

getting 87 votes more than former Governor Coke R. Stevenson, who contended that he lost because of 200 votes illegally added to returns from Box 13 in Jim Wells county after the polls had closed.

Robert S. Calvert announced his candidacy for re-election as state comptroller of public accounts.

And C. T. Johnson, Austin businessman, the first candidate to file for a state office actively campaigned as candidate for lieutenant governor by visiting 33 towns in Central Texas.

Johnson hammered at telephone rates as a major plank in his platform, saying that "most towns do not have the financial resources to match the battery of lawyers and accountants with which the telephone company launches its drive for rate increases."

Johnson proposes a gross income tax on telephone companies to help finance $100 per month pensions for persons 65 or more years old.

Busy making speeches over the state and still being talked about as a potential major candidate for governor is Ralph Yarborough, Austin attorney.

Liberal Young Democrats of Texas, pledged to support the National Party, will convene in San Antonio May 8 and 9.

Robert E. Hall of Austin, who called the meeting, denounced the recent Young Demos' session at Mineral Wells as a "fake" and claimed that the convention was dominated by "hand-picked conservatives."

For the first part of this year, Texas rainfall averaged far less than normal (a fifth of normal in February), heat records were being set in various cities, and drought conditions prevailed again.

One move to combat this situation was announced by Governor Shivers, who said that an expedited road construction program would be carried on in 12 Plains and Panhandle counties to help their economy.

It's the Law In Texas

There is no time like the present, while the great battle of Form 1040 is still fresh on your mind, to start a procedure that will aid you in next year's income calculations. That is to maintain a record of your income and outgo. Such a record can be simple and brief but it may save you tax dollars.

The average man who works for a wage or salary doesn't have to concern himself about keeping books and records—at least so he thinks. His employer keeps a reliable record of his earnings and Uncle Sam looks primarily to the employer for information on his earnings and for the withholding of various taxes out of his wages.

But whether or not you run a business of your own, you have a partner who each year is claiming a substantial interest in your personal income. And the law requires that you keep books for him in case he ever asks for an accounting.

Perhaps you own your home or are paying it out in installments. It's likely that some day you may sell that house. When you do you'll want to be able to prove whether you realized a gain or loss on that sale. If a gain in capital resulted, it probably will add to your income tax. If a loss was suffered, it probably will reduce your income tax.

You may have made certain capital improvements on the house while you lived in it, but unless you can show what out-of-pocket expense you incurred while making them, you may not get credit for them in your cost basis so as to prove that you had no capital gain or that you had a loss.

Or perhaps you received that little summer cottage on the lake as a gift from your father. If you ever sell it, you should be able to show Uncle Sam not only the cost of improvements you made on it while you owned it, but also what its fair market value was at the time Dad gave it to you.

It may be that you are receiving an annuity on an insurance policy. If so, do you know how much that policy costs you and how much of that cost you have recovered tax-free to date?

There are many kinds of transactions you enter into that may some day affect the computation of your personal income tax. The best proof of the cost of anything you've purchased is a receipted bill or canceled check. If one of these pieces of evidence relates to any transaction that may affect your income in later years, it's a good idea to keep it. Your "partner" may some day ask to see it.

Neighbors Brought New Life To County's Pleasant Valley Community

(This story and accompanying pictures are reprinted from The Farmer-Stockman magazine.—Ed.)

This story written from Lamb county, Texas, South Plains. By J. Gardand Smith, Correspondent, The Farmer-Stockman. Photos by the Author

F. L. "Prof." Shelby stood before the crowd in the Pleasant Valley community building and announced he had 3 items to sell at auction: A registered Aberdeen-Angus bull, a blanket, and a polo insurance policy.

"What you bid goes for a good cause," Prof said. "These items have been donated to our new community center fund. We've got $2,200 in the fund already."

Prof held up the papers on the bull donated by Mrs. Bonnie Haberer, and opened a chant. It was a chant with rough edges, but effective. Prof said he had mastered it when he taught vocational agriculture at Sasakwa, Okla. The crowd loved it.

In no time Prof had added $155 to the building fund. Gerald Allison paid $155 for the bull. The blanket, donated by a Muleshoe department store, went to Raymond Roubinek for $20. Dave Eaton, Lamb county agent, paid $20 for the polo policy donated by a Muleshoe insurance agency.

With co-operation like this and a generous response on the part of farmers as well as business men in nearby towns, the Pleasant Valley community center fund committee moved rapidly toward its goal of $5,000. Construction was scheduled to begin early this year and to be completed before spring planting in May and June.

This project, latest in a series of community-wide achievements, has distinguished Pleasant Valley as enterprising in West Texas agriculture. Farmers in the community are conservation-minded with soil and water. They get high production and then put their profits back on the land. Everybody is a good neighbor and works for a better community.

Over a big area of the South Plains others look at Pleasant Valley as an example to follow in neighborhood as well as family living and in profitable farming. Supervisors of the Lamb county soil conservation district, for instance, selected Pleasant Valley for the site of their last achievement tour.

Heirs of the E. K. Warren Estate still own properties in Lamb and Bailey counties. Jack Epps, one of Pleasant Valley's most enthusiastic boosters, is foreman of the U-Bar Ranch or what is left of the old Muleshoe.

In 1921 the Warrens carved out of the old Muleshoe and donated a 2 1/2-acre plot for a public school. Pleasant Valley's school boomed for a time not only as an educational center but also as a rallying point for community activity. Then, like many another school, it died of consolidation.

"But they never took away the building and they never took the land because the Warrens had set it out in the deed," said Harry Ingelking, president of the Pleasant Valley Farm Bureau. "That was important because the school, though locked up and forlorn, was to be the rallying place for another generation in another day."

Pleasant Valley is just north of U. S. Highway 70 between Earth and Muleshoe in northwestern Lamb county. The community formerly was part of the old Muleshoe Ranch owned by the late E. K. Warren of Cracker Jack and ladies-ready-to-wear fame at Three Oaks, Mich.

For several years nobody really seemed to enjoy living at Pleasant Valley. In fact, there was little in the way of community life to live for. When the school died, the community died with it. Some families moved to town for no other reason than they said there was nothing to do.

Yet the community had all the natural resources anybody could ask Providence to bestow. The soil was fertile, much of it virgin. An abundance of water for irrigation was just below the surface. Pleasant Valley's first well, dug in the 1920's at only 40 feet, is still pumping. Most wells today are 120 feet deep with pumps set at 100.

New families began moving into the community in the 1940's. Doyle Turner, for example, moved from Lubbock. Gerald Allison came from Roswell, N. M. And Prof Shelby migrated from Oklahoma.

Prof, a raw-talking farmer with a delightful sense of humor, calls his 600-acre farm the "Shoe String" Ranch. His partner is Arthur Kingery, an oil well driller at St. Jo. Their neighbors describe them as Pleasant Valley's most diversified farmers—600 acres of alfalfa and a patch of strawberries.

"We raise alfalfa because we don't want to be in competition with our neighbors," Prof said. "They grow cotton."

Such an affable relationship between a farmer and his neighbors made it inevitable that the first sign of community-wide interest should develop around Prof. He was elected president of the Pleasant Valley Farm Bureau, the key organization which first brought families in the community together at the old school building in 1951. Seventy-one of 75 families at Pleasant Valley now are members of Farm Bureau.

Other groups shortly became active—a 4-H club for both boys and girls, the Pleasant Valley Social club, Boy Scouts and a square dance club. Lutheran worship services are held twice monthly in the community building.

To put their community on the map, Pleasant Valley farmers bought road signs and put their names on their mail boxes. Participation was 100 percent. Cotton growers sold Guy Nichols and his son, Pat, on the idea of installing a new electric gin. They ginned around 6,000 bales last fall, or an average of 80 bales per family. Farmers patched up the old school house to make it do as a community building until they could do better.

George Wuerlein, immediate past president of the Farm Bureau, supplied the idea for the new community center early in 1952. The project was discussed at several meetings. Last fall Prof was appointed chairman of the community center fund. Also on the committee were Mrs. Haberer, Wuerlein and Allison.

"Over at Muleshoe with the help of the Chamber of Commerce, we got $1,100 subscribed right away," Prof said. "The rest came from donations, benefit shows and such things as auctions."

Construction plans called for remodeling the old school and putting up the new building to be connected with a breezeway. Blue prints for the new structure included an auditorium, a kitchen, a dining room and rest rooms.

Future plans for Pleasant Valley also include participation in the Texas Rural Neighborhood Progress Contest sponsored by the Farmer-Stockman in co-operation with Texas A&M Extension Service. Said Doyle Turner optimistically, "I think we can win."

Texas Drouth Conditions More Severe Than in '53

Runoff deficiency in Texas streams during February indicate drouth conditions more severe than the same period a year ago. Average runoff in all streams was far below normal for the month. Small amounts of runoff occurred in the northeast Texas area. Storage in nine major reservoirs diminished slightly.

Statewide rainfall averaged less than one-fifth of normal.

Precipitation
Average precipitation over the state (excluding dust) was only 18 percent of normal for February. Averages varied by areas from 9 percent in Corpus Christi area to 35 percent normal in the area north and east of Dallas. The southern half of East Texas north of the coastal plain was the only area that received average rainfall as high as one inch. Houston recorded the second lowest rainfall for February (0.17 inches) since 1868. Lowest February rainfall in Houston was 0.03 inches in 1916.

Ground Water
The Board of Water Engineers has started the publication of a series of bulletins, each containing a small county map showing the locations of observation wells and all of the depth-to-water measurements of records.

The plan is to publish the water-level measurements for those counties that are heavily pumped and where records are available for a long period of time. These records are assembled for convenience of comparison so that the history of rise or fall of water levels can be obtained without reference to a large number of publications.

Water level measurements for Lubbock, Deaf Smith, Hale, Floyd, Swisher, and Lamb counties have already been published followed by supplementary maps showing the 1953-1954 declines.

Water level measurements for observation wells for seven counties in the north High Plains are being assembled under one cover and will be available for distributing about March 22.

In the Edwards limestone reservoir the water levels continued to decline and new record lows for February were established at San Antonio and Uvalde.

Stream Flow
All streams in Texas carried deficient flows during February.

Only the watersheds of the upper Sabine, Sulphur, and upper Trinity rivers produced even small amounts of runoff effected by precipitation. Canadian river near Amarillo flowed about 30 percent of the 18-year average and Red river near Terrell, Okla., decreased in flow to about 20 percent of the 14-year average. Neches river at Evadale carried the lowest average flow for February since 1925. The coastal streams and streams west of Trinity river declined in flow but did not reach the lows of 1952. Spring flow from the Edwards aquifer in Central Texas diminished steadily without having recovered to average as a result from fall rains in 1953.

In 1953, women voted for the first time in Costa Rica.

Farm Prices Up In January Over December Figures
 The January price level for farm products was 2 per cent more than December but 8 per cent less than January, 1953, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.
 The price increases plus fairly heavy seasonal marketing bolstered the January farm cash income total to just 1 per cent below the January, 1953, level. Meat animal prices accounted for a large portion of the increase.
 Wheat farmers hope for the best harvest in several years, with such success depending on replacement of surface moisture, seriously deficient in February, the report states. A shortage of storage space would greet a bumper crop, particularly if exports remain low and other market demands unchanged, the Bureau says.
 Livestock population is expected to increase in 1954, with new spring calves topping last year's total by 1/2 per cent and establishing an all-time record. A 5-to-10 per cent increase in pig farrowing is anticipated. Sheep and lambs should decline in number, keeping mutton prices in line with 1953 levels.
 U. S. Department of Agriculture figures indicate Rio Grande Valley winter vegetable crop prospects should approximate 411,488 tons, about 17 per cent above the 1953 total and 32 per cent higher than the 1949-52 average. Increased production is forecast for all crops except beets, spinach and winter potatoes. Although 1954 cotton quotas cut deeply into the Valley's total acreage, an increase over 1953 production level is seen. "Stand-by" water from new irrigation wells, Lake Falcon and late-1953 rains are the reasons for optimism.

TRY BEFORE YOU BUY

Your Reddy Kilowatt Appliance Dealer will install an electric clothes dryer in your home now for a 15 day trial. During the trial period, a Public Service Home Service Advisor will give you a complete dryer demonstration. Without obligation, you can "Try Before You Buy" and see for yourself how an electric clothes dryer makes washday completely automatic.

Why fight the weather—or wait for it—and then get a poor clothes drying result and a waste of time?

An electric clothes dryer, by actual test, is more sanitary than drying under perfect outdoor conditions. Easier on you, too, for it takes just 30 seconds to shift the clothes from the washer to the dryer, while it takes at least an hour every washday to carry the clothes to and from the line.

For five cents a load, there's no sense to drying the old-fashioned outdoor way.
