Proceeds Of School Bonds Are In Bank

The Littlefield School District Tuesday received the proceeds of the bond issue which was authorized a couple of months ago to build additional classrooms.

In addition to the $375,000 face value of the bonds, the district received $2655.15 in accrued interest. The bonds are dated April 4, 1954 and started drawing interest as of that date, but since the proceeds were not delivered until two months later, the bond buyers paid back to the district the interest which had accrued to them during that time.

A committee composed of W. O. Hampton and Earl Rodgers decided to place $175,000 of this amount on time deposit for six months and let it draw interest. The balance is in open account to pay for construction as it progresses.

Charley Hill said the ASC office in Amherst will be glad to explain any questions concerning this program.

County Will Get Four Lane Highway If It Can Buy $350,000 Right-of-Way

S. C. McCarty, district engineer of the Texas Highway department at Lubbock, has announced that the 1955-56 consolidated highway program has been approved and released for planning by the Texas Highway Commission in Austin.

Projects in Lamb county contemplated by the commission are two additional lanes from Littlefield to the Hockley county line and two additional lanes from Bailey county line southeast 1.7 miles in length.

Purpose of the program is to set out specific projects on which construction is contemplated in order that engineering work, plan preparation and specification may proceed and right-of-way secured, according to McCarty.

McCarty stated that it was considered desirable to get this planning work underway in anticipation of funds that would be made available to the Highway Department for the construction of this program of work. Resident Engineer W. H. Garrett would be in charge of the work in this area if right-of-way can be secured and other plans arranged. Right-of-way must be obtained by the county if the work is to be done.

County officials contacted concerning the possible construction said the cost to the county would be in the neighborhood of $350,000, necessitating a bond issue. Lamb county Judge Robert Kirk said a number of houses and irrigation wells are in direct line of the proposed two additional lanes, which would affect considerably the cost of securing the right-of-way, especially since at least two of the houses are brick and one is concrete block.

Kirk said, "The plans call for a super-deluxe highway if we had the mere $350,000."

The Highway department projects in Lamb county are listed as follows:

Lamb County, U.S. Highway 84, from Littlefield to Hockley County Line, 9.8 miles in length, consisting of grading, structures and surfacing for two additional lanes at an estimated cost of $417,000.

Lamb County, U. S. Highway 84, from Bailey County Line Southeast, 1.7 miles in length, consisting of grading, structures and surfacing for two additional lanes at an estimated cost of $51,000.

Has Christianity Failed?

By TOMMY WILLIAMS, Minister

When, in a nation that is called Christian, there are many evidences of moral corruption and spiritual decay, many are ready to say that Christianity has failed. Is that charge true?

Many of the greatest champions of Christianity, including Paul and other apostles, lived in a time of much corruption. There was Nero who could "fiddle" while the seat of the Roman Empire burned, then charge the catastrophe against Christians and slay many of them by cruel torture. But Christianity did not fail these faithful martyrs. It sustained them to the very death—and beyond.

There were times when Jesus could not help people as he otherwise could have, because of their unbelief. Read Matthew 13:53-58. The fault was not with the Teacher nor his message, but with the failure of others to apply the message to their lives. It was Jesus, himself who said "Strait is the gate, and narrow is the way which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it."

Men have sometimes failed Christianity but Christianity has never failed anyone, and it never will. "He that believeth on him shall not be put to shame" (1 Peter 2:5b—American Standard Version).

Home Wedding United Anna Vinyard And Ervin Lyonn Saturday Evening

WHITHARRAL — A quiet home wedding was solemnized Saturday night in the C. E. Vinyard home south of Whitharral when Miss Anna Vinyard became the bride of Ervin Lyonn.

Rev. Cecil Threadgill of Leveland read the ceremony before an arch of daisies, baby breath and blue cornflowers in the presence of the immediate families and friends. The bride wore a street length dress of pink pique decorated with rhinestones. Her corsage was of white carnations.

In the reception that followed, the bride's table was laid in lace over blue and centered with a beautiful tiered cake on which was a miniature bride and bridegroom. Miss Esther Vinyard cut the cake with Mrs. Vinyard and Mrs. Otis Lambert serving ice cream.

The bride daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Vinyard, attended Whitharral high school where she was a sophomore the past year. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Lyonn of south of Leveland attended Leveland school, but has been in service at Fort Bliss, El Paso since January.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. Vinyard, Mr. and Mrs. John Vinyard and sons of Mercedes, Mrs. Otis Lambert and children of Ft. Worth, Pvt. Glenn Salter of El Paso and Miss Esther Vinyard of Lubbock.

Compliment Miss Harmon Miscellaneous Gift Show

AMHERST — Miss Joy Harmon, bride-elect of Harvey Patterson, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Aubrey Jones on Springlake highway.

Sandra Harmon, Joy Holland and Gail Stagner alternated in presiding at the tea table and registering the guests.

An ecru lace cloth over aqua covered the serving table and was centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums in a crystal bowl. Yellow satin streamers were lettered "Joy and Harvey" and "June 13, 1954".

"The Shopping Bag."

They next went to Baldrice's bakery and were taken first to the display room where decorated cakes, etc. are on display. They watched bread being made, at the rate of 3200 loaves per hour. It was explained that the bread is only touched by human hands when the dough is picked up after being rolled out. They went through the sweets department where buns, etc., are made at the rate of 220 buns per minute. They watched the bread being cut by machinery and wrapped and saw the boxes it is carried in being made by machinery. That machine makes 200 to 500 boxes per minute.

From there they went upstairs and were served hot bread, butter and coffee or cold drinks. They were shown the truck storage, particularly the two huge trucks which haul 12,000 loaves of bread at a time and 26 smaller trucks that make deliveries. They went through the storage rooms and saw the various types of mixes that are used in bread, buns, cake, etc. This bakery employs 200 workers daily, never shuts down day or night. Bud Teel conducted them on the tour.

Cub Scout Den And Leaders Take Plane Trip From Lubbock To Plainview, Tour 'Coke' Plant, Creamery

By MRS. RALPH DOUGLAS

Nine Cubs, their den chief and the den Mothers of Den 2 will never forget the short but thrill-packed plane ride from Lubbock to Plainview they made on Monday.

The group left Littlefield at 9:30 a.m. in a highly decorated station wagon donated for the trip to Lubbock by Garland Motor company. They were met at the airport by officials of Pioneer Airlines, escorted through the weather station, into the tower and allowed to manipulate the landing lights at the airport before being taken into the plane. While other passengers were still not allowed aboard the airliner the boys were allowed to investigate the baggage compartment, the cockpit and other parts of the plane. The barrage of "What's this strap for?" "What does this little button do?" and "Why do they do that?" was all answered by the hostess, Miss January. The boys, of course, thought her name was funny.

The boys were allowed three at a time in the cockpit during flight and told how the flying is done. Fellow passengers on the flight were amused to hear the boys say as the plane went into the air, "Oh, Mrs. Brooke, it tickles!" The weather was rough for flying and one Cub, Spike Jones, had a bad time during the trip.

When the plane landed at Plainview, they were met by two employees of Pioneer Airlines, who were their escorts during the remainder of their stay in Plainview. They were also greeted by their former Den Mother, Mrs. L. H. Reams and her son, Robert, whom they recognized before they landed. Mrs. Reams had very thoughtfully brought a pick-up "just in case", but transportation was provided by the airlines for the entire party. Gayle Reams, former den chief, accompanied the group during the afternoon and made the return trip to Littlefield with the boys.

The boys were taken through the Cloverlake Creamery (with samples) and the Coca Cola Bottling plant (with samples), so when they were told they were to be taken to the milk farm they asked "Will they give us acow?" They were shown how cowfeed is mixed, taken to the calf farm, and followed the milk from the cow to the chocolate-covered ice cream stick.

The group was taken to a cafe for lunch at the expense of the airlines.

When they boarded the plane to return to Lubbock they watched a representative of Stetson Hat Co. take pictures of their hostess wearing a $1500 hat.

Besides the jokes on the boys, one den mother qualified, too. The boys had been cautioned about losing their belongings or leaving them on the plane, so Mrs. Young left her purse on the plane.

The group arrived back at Littlefield at 6:00 p.m. where they were met by Mrs. Charles Duval and Mrs. K. Hoak who presented the den mothers each with a beautiful hand painted plate on behalf of all of the mothers.

Larry Young told his mother it would be "all right" if he didn't fly to Abilene that night but that tomorrow he would really need to go. Maybe even Spike will fly again.

Can Children Have Too Much Imagination?

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
 Almost all good things can be overdone. We want our children to have imagination and to play at make-believe, but we don't want them to do it all the time.
 Susan's mother brought up the subject with a good bit of irritation.
 "Susan", she said, "has two imaginary playmates, Jane and Lucy.
 You would think they are real children the way she goes on about them. They have to come to the table—have real chairs to sit in,

3 or 4-year-old children will make up playmates now and then, but when it's carried to the extent Susan does, it's high time we took a look at Susan's life in general.
 Something is wrong to make Susan retreat from real life and make up a whole new life of her own.
 Susan is an only child of parents in their early forties. Mrs. Cadbury hadn't really wanted a child but had tried to do her best by the little girl. Susan had been given very adequate physical care but her mother had been too busy to spend much time playing with her.
 From the time she was an infant
 she had been left alone long hours each day. She never cried very much, so as she became older, her play times continued to be solitary. At mealtimes Mrs. Cadbury fixed good nourishing food, but Susan at her little table to eat and continued about her work.
 Susan ate quietly and without fuss.
 When Susan's life did become more satisfactory, Lucy and Jane got Susan into bed before Daddy came home in the evening.

 Susan was a well-dressed, well-fed, well-housed child with an abundance of toys, and all the other physical things a good middle class family could provide. But she was a sad, neglected, unloved, little girl, just the same.
 What she needed was love and warmth and companionship. She needed to make the beds with Mommie in the mornings, shake out the sheets and maybe hide under the blankets. She needed to go to market and push the little wagon, to play on the playground with other children and have a real playmate home for lunch.
 She needed to tussle with Daddy in the evening, before supper and chatter with both her parents at supper. She needed a cosy talk and a story at bedtime. And over the weekends a trip to the zoo with Daddy.
 When Susan's life did become more satisfactory, Lucy and Jane slowly faded out of the picture.

Palacio Vs. Demchuck In Championship Tournament

In what will serve to initiate an elimination tournament, the winner to be acclaimed as Southwest States, light heavyweight champion, Lou Palacio, pleasing Mexican from San Antonio returns to night to go against Johnny Demchuck, clever European-Canadian, who has all ready proven his popularity here, in the upper half of a double main event.

Hoping to latch on to the title in the 185 pound class, both men feel they have what it takes to attain victory. Johnny, former world's light heavyweight champ, will be certain to rely on his awesome rolling-toe-hold to bring his foe down. It is a give-up hold, and is the pleasant-mannered Demchuck's main method of attack.

Good-looking Lou has been in combat with Johnny before, knows his style and what to be on the defensive for. It should be something of a "clean" match, with science demonstrated on either side. They wrestle for two best out of three falls or for one hour.

In the second section of the double feature, also for two out of three falls or one hour, a stranger enters the portals of the Southwest States domain, one Elmer "Peavey" Larsen of Williams Lake, British Columbia, Canada. He makes his initial appearance against one of the most capable and serious men in the wrestling business, handsome, well-liked Cowboy Orv Carlson from Montana. Larsen resembles a facsimile of Farmer Jones. Carlson looks like what he is, an ex-rodéo performer.

What develops could be considerable rough and tumble action.

Escape Can Be Beautiful . . . And Chic and Smart

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Let the kids have their comic books, the gentlemen their science fiction, westerns and adventure stories; I escape stern reality through the fashion magazines. The gent at the desk next of mine undoubtedly has a fine time vicariously riding a spaceship to Mars, saving the ranch for the murdered cattleman's daughter and swashbucklin all over the Spanish Main, but I find my kicks—sometimes in full color—dreaming myself into the costumes and personalities of the ladies who model the high style clothes.

In these halcyon moments, I'm about 20 years old, and I'm currently a tawny blonde with piquant features, cropped hairdo, heavily made up around the eyes, enormous earrings, and given to assuming the most bizarre and bone-displacing stances to show off my size 10 figure and chic clothes. Flipping through the pages, I lead the most glamorous existence. Sometimes in the MOST enchanting little-dressmaker and woven-under-water Panama, I feed the pigeons in the park, paying laughing attention to a distinguished banker type in homburg who is slightly out of focus but obviously very interested in my whim. Or, in chalk-white silk organdie with a skirt spread like a calla lily and rounded camisole neckline, I'm a femme fatale in a Louis XVI salon, ringed by adorners—slightly out of focus—toasting me gaily in champagne.

Perhaps I'm having a country week-end, in slim slacks and the most amusing blouse, with an assortment of gleaming garden tools neatly spread out around me, tenderly offering a perfect rose to the fuzzily photographed but so handsome young man in perfectly tailored sports clothes nearby.

I have fun dreaming my way through the home magazines, too, with their pictures of neat-as-a-pin living rooms bedrooms and gorgeously decorated kitchens, in which there is never an unplumped pillow, an ash-tray with cigarette stubs in it, an unmade bed, or unwashed dish. But the fashion magazines, peopled by women with infinitesimal waists, smart and apparently terribly rich, are count. They're interested in the National League standings, FHA regulations and the children's grades—not in feeding pigeons, toasting in champagne or being tossed perfect roses.

And finally I'm forced to take a look at me . . . this 2-year-old dress, a calot when it should be a wide-brimmed job, a hair-dresser's appointment needed, a darn in my glove, oh let's say 15 pounds overweight and three more payments to go on the refrigerator.

But we can have our harmless dreams, can't we?

LENNETH J. FOREMAN

for June 13, 1954

prophecy of Israel are simply up-to-date. They lived 1700 miles away from Jerusalem of years ago. Yet the prophecies of mankind are much more accurate than those of the present. The prophetic eyes could see what we cannot see today.

Dr. Foreman

fanatics who believe that the sin is by itself, and not by the country. No sin is committed by itself. Also it is when a country is destroyed, as Israel was, that the sin is more than one disease.

Amos named a number of sins which were eating the vitality of his nation and the consumption of liquor were the only thing that kept the country. He attacked with selfishness, greed, dishonesty and other features of the bad features of the country that it attaches itself to and makes them worse. It is speeding on the road even if everyone were to drink, but drinking makes the problem worse and accidents more often than really can't be such as a drunken driver—a driver who makes the road there would be murders had never been heard of every day murders are in the papers that would have been committed by everyone concerned had it not been for the time. Rape and murder are not unheard of in Mohammedan countries where alcoholic drinks are completely forbidden. But it is many young people who without it could not control their self-control and self-control with it in them, lose of Amos he took note of the "respectable" people who were drinkers. Church members first of all, people who drank wine "in the house of God." This of course has nothing to do with the service, a sacrament of Christ. He condemns those who go more than he does. It is worse for people to drink than it is for people to perhaps worst of all people. After all is said and done, people who know little or nothing about what is wrong, will think that a church member who is known to drink is a very temperate about it and more harm than a dozen people. Another respectable person mentions are the women and social position. It is not exactly respectful to be on the contrary he is specially fat kind of these days. Again, the harm done by wives of successful men who are leaders in communities, does more harm than all the drinking down the line. The harm done by the drinker is often what he does to himself.

Coming

predicted that his country would fall because of its sin. He did. No doubt the people of his day thought their sin helped them to overcome their troubles; Amos said that it only brought on more trouble. The truth about sin is that it is had from those who are its victims, more than from those who make it. Ministers, doctors, lawyers, see the situation and the standpoint of those who want to patch up the wrecks. Is there a strong America? Countries, like strong people, are made so by strong

Democracy Draws Flies, Doesn't Make Them Sweet

One of the pitfalls of democracy is the ready made issue sometimes leave laying around unsolved to be grabbed by demagogues. They then make a big show of leading the people to cure them. And sometimes they get themselves elected to public office simply because they make a show of curing the people. Frequently, they have neither the ability nor the desire to cure the evil which elected them. They merely serve as a vehicle to gain for them the power they desire.

In every instance, every man who values freedom is opposed to the infiltration of our free institutions, so loud and so powerful men get themselves elected to office as demagogues, when frequently their own practices are similar to those of the communists.

In another instance, almost every Texan feels like being overcharged for his telephone service, so loud and so powerful men with nothing else to recommend them for public office, grab the anti-telephone banner and shouting words of greed try to gain public office and public power by making to be champions of the people against the mighty telephone companies. Such men care nothing about us. And they do not cure the evil if they could. It would leave them without a cent.

Fortunately, Americans are getting better all the time, and at spotting these phonies and separating the wheat from the men and women who are truly interested in improving our self-government. But occasionally one is misled because sometimes we still vote for the slogans of demagogues at us over and over instead of voting for men who really talk sense.

Let's hope it doesn't happen in Texas this year.

Highlights And Sidelights From Your State Capitol

Tex. — Texas is moving to clean up its insurance reform proposals has been approved by the Texas Legislative Council, with a special committee of legislators in charge of the project. Other state agencies will participate.

Worthy, executive director of the council, said that Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey has asked all insurance companies in Texas, asking for their cooperation in the study.

Insurance companies have been in Texas since 1939, Worthy said the council will look at the records of these companies to see if they went bankrupt.

Yarborough's Charges

Ralph W. Yarborough, candidate for governor, charged that there had been "influence peddling" in the situation. Yarborough recommended: A complete investigation looking into retainers, bank accounts, expense accounts, income tax returns, and excessive personal expenditures of state government officials connected with insurance law administration in Texas.

Insurance News

Nearly everybody got into the insurance show. These included: Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, who recommended 29 charges in the state insurance laws, including state control over insurance company stock sales.

Chairman Garland A. Smith of the insurance commission, who denounced "blatant untruths and half-truths" in a Time Magazine article. Smith said the magazine was "joining with jealous big Eastern insurance companies in trying to smear the Texas insurance industry."

Good Business

Dr. John R. Stockton of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research says that a trade decline is over and recovery has started. Business activity rose two percent from March to April in Texas, Dr. Stockton found, representing "a recovery of approximately half of the decline from January, 1953, and January, 1954."

This finding indicates, Dr. Stockton said, "that the decline in business, which has been under way since the spring of 1953, is approaching an end."

Lots of Roads

A construction program for 1955-1956, costing about $211 million, was announced by the state highway commission.

It was the largest program ever approved in Texas.

Involved is the construction of 2,663 miles of roads, but, said commission chairman E. H. Thornton Jr., "it can only eliminate a minor percent of the critical deficiencies of the (highway) system."

About $43 million of the money will go for highways within cities. Thirty of the worst bridges will be repaired or replaced.

Political Scene

State political campaigns opened up, with principal interest in the governor's race.

There, the contenders are incumbent Allan Shivers; Ralph Yarborough, Austin attorney; and J. J. Holmes, Austin contractor.

Yarborough opened up with a speech in which he talked about "the need for integrity in state government and a sound program for the advancement of Texas."

Meanwhile, Austin political observers heard reports from the Rio Grande Valley that national CIO leaders are going all-out in an attempt to defeat Shivers. There reports said that the CIO has put up $250,000 to finance Yarborough and already has 300 paid workers in the field campaigning against Shivers.

Holmes, who is beginning to step up his pace in the race, says "I'm not mad at anybody. I just want to be Governor of Texas."

Shivers' Race

Shivers, returning from Korea, said that the thing for Texans to do is to keep our government at home, and not turn it over to outsiders.

At a press conference, the governor said he expected some opposition from Democrats who supported Adlai Stevenson last time. Shivers pointed out that he led the fight for Eisenhower because the Republican nominee saw eye-to-eye with him on the tidelands issue, whereas Stevenson thought to Texas a year ago, Shivers said, the tidelands ought to belong to the federal government.

Since the return of the tidelands this state has collected from them about $32 million in mineral rights, and this money goes to the state school fund.

Lieutenant Governor

Opposing Ben Ramsey for lieutenant governor were State Representative George T. Hinson of Minola and C. T. Johnson, Austin business man.

Hinson announced in favor of legislation which would require lobbyists to register with the state and force lawmakers to file a list of all the sources and the amount of their income.

Johnson plugged what he termed Johnson: "It's interesting to see those who have been in a position for years and years to clean up the insurance mess suddenly get stirred up about it."

Brewster Starts

Campaigning for the re-election of Few Brewster, associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court, began with the appointment of Franklin Spears of San Antonio as campaign manager.

William B. Carrow, Austin lawyer, heads up a statewide campaign committee. Brewster is opposed by Robert B. Keenan, of Gladewater and Alfred M. Scott of Austin.

Civil Appeals

I. N. Williams retired as associate justice of the Texas Court of Civil Appeals, and his place is being sought by Otto H. Atchley and Mat Davis.

Fourteen other judges on Texas civil appeals courts, up for re-election, are unopposed.

Executive Sessions

State executive committees of both the Democratic and Republican parties will meet here June 14 to prepare the July 24 first primary ballot and select sites for the September state conventions.

Republicans will choose a state chairman to succeed Alvin Lane, who resigned. George Sandlin of Austin has been chosen Democratic chairman, replacing Wallace Savage, who resigned to run for Congress.

Park Visitors

Four million people will visit Texas' parks this summer, says Gordon K. Shearer, executive director of the state parks board.

The number will be a record, biggest year heretofore having been 1952 when park visitors numbered 3,803,147. Various improvements have added to the attractiveness of the parks, Shearer said.

More Milk

Texas big dairy industry opened up a 30-day campaign, whooping it up about how much dairy products mean to the state's people.

Included in the program were guided tours through model dairy farms, speeches, menus on the newspaper food pages, exhibits, and advertising.

Formula for Grads

Note to June graduates: Do you want to succeed? If so, you must love work.

So says L. L. (Tex) Colbert, president of Chrysler Corporation, who addressed 1,300 in graduation exercises at the University of Texas.

Himself a Texas graduate — in 1925 — Colbert said, "I believe that for most Americans there is a deep moral satisfaction in turning out a good job."

In Duval County "the oppressed may take new hope," said Attorney General John Ben Shepperd. His comment was made upon the appointment of a new jury commission and grand jury panel in the violent South Texas domain.

Insurance Scandal

Looks like the big news this week will outshine the political spotlight. Scene of the drama: The 98th District Court room in Austin.

Stars in the show: Public Relations Man John Van Cronkhite; Maurice Acers, executive assistant to Governor Shivers; Attorney General John Ben Shepperd; State Insurance Board Chairman Garland Smith; and Chief Insurance Examiner L. W. Blanchard.

The five were ordered to appear for the trial in connection with the state's suit for a permanent injunction against Lloyd's of North America.

You can bet your bottom dollar that this case will echo and re-echo throughout the present political campaign.

Fish 'n Chips . . .

By Hiram B. Norris

It's human nature to want to "get up and go somewhere" when things are not breaking right. Somehow we get the idea that if we move on, a change for the better will occur. It's fallacious, of course, and a story they like to tell in Kentucky points up the fallacy in an amusing way.

A man arrived at the town of Tyrone, on the banks of the Kentucky River, to be ferried across to Versailles. The ferryman notified him that the charge was twenty-five cents. "I haven't got a quarter," the man said, "but I'd sure like to get across that river. If you ain't got two bits," the ferryman told him, "you won't be no better off over there than you are here." And the man was right.

West Virginia Phone Company Joins General

The General Telephone Company of the Southwest will have a neighbor-by-name as of July 1 when the Bluefield Telephone Co. officially becomes the General Telephone Company of the Southeast. The recently acquired company is the sixteenth to join the General Telephone System and brings the total number of telephones served by the System to 1,700,000. With the addition of the General Telephone Company of the Southeast, the General Telephone System added West Virginia and Virginia to the nineteen states already served by the System.

Announcement of the name change was made following a meeting of the board of directors in Bluefield, W. Va., May 26, 1954.

Don't Gamble With Speed!

"Don't gamble with speed — speeders always lose!"

This was the advice given by Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation to Texas motorists today. The speed control program is being sponsored by the Texas Safety Association Public Safety in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"When motorists drive at excessive speeds they lose out in many ways," he said.

According to Col. Tilley, speeders make a poor impression on friends and neighbors. "Anyone can jam his foot on the accelerator and roar down the street," he said, "but it requires good judgment to decide what is a safe speed under existing conditions. The speeder usually loses respect.

"Then there's the matter of economy," Col. Tilley said. "The car that burns up the road at a fast pace also burns up gas and oil at a much faster rate than the car that travels at a moderate speed, and it wears out its tires, brakes, etc., before their time. Speeders lose money.

"Very often," he said, "speeders even fail in their immediate objective — to get there fast. Traveling at a greater rate of speed than the traffic around them, cutting in

Olton Scouts Spend Weekend At Camp Haynes

OLTON — The Boy Scouts went to Camp Haynes recently, and used the new Scout bus for the first time.

Scoutmaster Clarence Grant, assistant Parley Myers, and leaders, Jerry McKenzie and Bailey Hair were along.

The purpose of the trip was to give the boys their tests in cooking out, swimming and other outdoor events.

Wednesday evening the boys motored to Plainview for swimming. McKenzie accompanied them.

and out, racing for stop lights, speeders gain little or no time over the driver who keeps a steady pace with the traffic stream.

"But," he warned, "the speeder's greatest loss is in safety. As his speed increases, the driver's control of his car decreases. His chances of having an accident are greater, and an accident occurring at high speed is far more likely to cause a fatal injury than one occurring at a low speed.

"Remember," Col. Tilley said, "speeders lose out — very often to the extent of losing their lives. It's a good policy to travel at a safe speed always, and the only safe speed is one that's determined by conditions of weather, road, traffic, mechanical fitness of your car and your own mental and physical state."

Florida Amateur Golfer All the Shots at 19

By E. HAFFELY
Special Features
 The golf ball about four inches away from the steel marker that is 500 yards behind the marker, so between him and the hole 300 yards down the hole. The club couldn't have the marker by more than a few inches.

Don Bisplinghoff, 19, University of Florida, who felt it was the best shot he could make while playing in the Florida state amateur tournament, where every stroke counts. Bisplinghoff won the title — his second straight — with a 72-hole score of 275, nine under par for the Ocala Country Club.

Don has played a lot of golf in his 19 years. He won the National USGA Junior Title and his first state amateur title while in high school.

Expert observers say Bisplinghoff has all the shots. He is long and straight off the tee and accurate to the greens. And his wrist-action putting may be the best part of his game.

Denny Champagne, pro at Bisplinghoff's home course, Dubsdread in Orlando, says: "He is a terrific driver and a great putter, two items necessary for good golf."

In this year's state tourney, Jack Penrose, former Philadelphia and South Jersey champ, set a record with an eight-under-par 63, but he finished second, nine strokes behind Bisplinghoff after 72 holes. Don had two rounds of 66 between a par 71 and a closing-day 72.

Bisplinghoff is a big eater. During the 1953 state, he ordered a meal in the Dubsdread clubhouse; steak, potatoes and salad.

The waiter brought two steaks, double potatoes and salad. It is a standing order there — everything he orders comes double.

Then he decided on a plate of radishes, but the dish was too small. The waiter came back with a huge bowl of radishes.

Bisplinghoff ate everything. He is a big, strong boy: 6 feet 2 and 210. He is friendly too, with a good memory for faces.

Andy Bracken, golf coach at the University of Florida, sees a wonderful future in Bisplinghoff.

"He is a fine golfer; a good competitor," says Bracken. "He likes the game and will be a great golfer when he gets a more mature mental attitude."

"Showmanship is something he places ahead of golf. He needs a more mature outlook on everything — studies, golf and team play included."

In Bracken's opinion, Bisplinghoff was the best golfer in the Southern Intercollegiate at Athens, Ga., this spring. But he shot 74-77 and missed qualifying for the final 36 holes.

If Bisplinghoff never makes a big splash in college golf — though most observers think he will — it will parallel his high school record. Though National Junior and state amateur champion as a schoolboy, he couldn't win the state high school title.

Two of his Florida teammates, Dave Ragan of Daytona Beach and Jim McCoy of Lake Worth, were finalists in the 1953 high school meet, Ragan winning.

Another Bisplinghoff teammate, Pat Schwab of Dayton, Ohio, beat

Schoolboy Switch Pitcher Started with Maimed Hand

By CHARLES F. STAFFORD
Pro at Boca Raton Club, Fla.
(Written for AP Newsfeatures)

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. — Marjion (Lefty) Majher, star pitcher of the Huntington High baseball team, is a righty, too. He pitches with either hand and does well with both.

It's a wonder Lefty throws at all.

When Majher was born 16 years ago, his right hand was bent parallel to his wrist. To straighten the hand, doctors broke every bone in the hand and reset them.

The operation stunted the growth of the youngster's hand. It is considerably smaller than his left.

When he first took an interest in baseball, Lefty figured it would strengthen his right hand if he learned to throw from starboard as well as portside. His determination paid off.

A batter never knows whether he's going to get a left or right-set to start his delivery. He pitches with a glove made for a right hander. Thus, when he throws left he wears the glove on the wrong hand.

Recently, the 6-foot-1, 175-pounder threw a five-inning no-hitter as his team defeated Wayne High.

10-0. In relief against Milton High, he put down a rally with his left arm and then pitched the rest of the game with his right because, "I wanted to save my left arm for a game the next day."

When he isn't pitching he plays the outfield, throwing with his right arm so he won't hurt his left.

And Lefty, no slouch at the plate, has three home runs this season. He also runs like a deer, having been a football halfback.

Young Majher hopes his athletic ability will get him a college offer. But he says he would change his mind about college for a professional baseball contract.

Furr Managers Have Frolic At Estes Park

ESTES PARK, Colo. — More than 220 persons gathered here Monday for the third annual Furr's Super Markets Managers' Convention. The meeting was held over three days, June 7, 8, and 9. Roy Furr, president of Furr's, Inc. with headquarters at Lubbock, Texas, has announced.

The group held the affair in the famous Stanley Hotel, opening with a Chuck Wagon Dinner on Monday evening. Any Girl Who Can Sew, Can Make A Bridal Veil

By Dorothy Roe
 Women's Editor

It's a sentimental gesture, as well as a thrifty one, for a bride to make her own wedding veil. Local sewing center experts have worked out directions for two veils that are lovely to look at and easy to sew.

A charming short veil, suitable for a home or garden wedding, is made from a square of lace and requires little stitching or fitting. Materials required are: 1 square yard of lace; 4 1/2 yards of lace banding about 5 inches wide, 1 bicycle clip about 1/2 inch wide, 3/4 yard of white satin ribbon about 1/2 inch wide and 8 orange blossoms. Daeron thread is suggested for stitching the lace.

To make the veil, first cut lace banding along heavy scalloped edge. If the lace to be used for the body of the veil is more than a yard wide, trim it to a 36-inch square. Pin lace edging all around the square, mitering the corners and making sure the miter does not fall in the middle of a scallop. Use a half-inch seam allowance. Baste banding in place, and use the zigzag attachment on your sewing machine to stitch. If you back the lace with tissue paper, your sewing job will be easier. Remove bastings and tissue paper and tie threads with dressmaker knots. Cut away seam allowance. Clip mitered seams to a 1/4 inch and press open.

You now have a finished square of lace. Cover the bicycle clip with white satin ribbon, wrapping it around and around and securing with tiny stitches. Find the middle of the clip and pin to the middle one corner of the lace square, at the seam, leaving the mitered point of edging to pull over the forehead. Pleat 1 1/2 inches on either side of the clip in 3-inch pleats and secure by tacking orange blossoms to each side. A dramatic long veil may be made of nylon tulle with rows of lace stitched at intervals the entire length of the veil, giving a sunburst effect when the veil is worn. Required materials are: 2 yards of nylon tulle 57 inches wide, 20 yards of 2-inch lace banding, 1 small buckram frame for headpiece, 1/4 yard of satin or fabric to match the gown, and 3/4 yard of grosgrain ribbon 3/4-inch wide.

The entire three-yard length of tulle is used for the veil. Lay the tulle on a sheet spread on the floor and trim ends so they are precisely straight. First pin and then baste a lace banding along the long edges, then measure nine inches apart for placement of the four other strips of lace. Again backing the tulle with tissue paper, zigzag stitch along both sides of each lace band. Tie threads, remove bastings and tissue. Gather one end of veil to measurement of back of head piece.

Now cover buckram frame with satin or with the fabric of the gown. Pleat remaining lace banding down the middle, using the ruffler attachment of your sewing machine, making 12 to 15 stitches

New engine power! New operating economy!

New Chevrolet Trucks... do more work per day... more work per dollar!

You save hours on the road. Thanks to new high-compression engine power, you can maintain faster schedules without driving at higher maximum road speeds. Increased acceleration and hill-climbing ability cut your time per trip.

You save extra trips. That's because of extra load space. New pickup bodies are deeper, new stake and platform bodies wider and longer. Also, they're set lower to the ground to make loading and unloading faster and easier.

You save time on deliveries. With new truck Hydra-Matic transmission, you can forget about clutching and shifting-for good! This proved, economical automatic transmission is optional at extra cost on 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton models.

You save on operating costs. The "Thriftmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235," and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost), deliver greater horsepower plus increased operating economy.

You save with lower upkeep, too. New Chevrolet trucks are built stronger to last longer. For example, there are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models, bigger clutches in light- and heavy-duty models, stronger frames in all models.

And your savings start the day you buy. In fact, they start with the low price you pay—and they never stop as long as you own a Chevrolet truck. Chevrolet, you know, is America's lowest-priced line of trucks.

For Literate Lassies... Book and Dress Sets

By DOROTHY ROE
 Associated Press Women's Editor

Newest idea for the toddler set is a matching book and dress set. Four-color transfers do the trick. On the easy-to-make play dress, elephants and kangaroos march two by two around the hem; a kangaroo pocket smack-dab on the tummy carries a picture of Noah's Ark.

The same transfers are used to make a little cloth book, with the Ark as cover illustration and the animals two to a page inside. Transfers are also used for the letters of the text, spelling out the name of each animal.

Although pattern directions are clear and complete, here are some tips from local sewing center expert. Use the gathering foot on your sewing machine to gather in the neckline of the dress, and the multi-slotted binder to make quick work of binding all raw edges.

To make the book, cut four strips of cloth measuring 6 x 14 inches, using pinking shears to prevent raveling. White muslin is perfect for the purpose, or you may use four different colors of solid color chambray or percale. Laying the four strips together, fold once, so each page measures 6 — inches. Bind along the fold with a brightly colored strip of seam binding. Using the zig-zag attachment of your machine,

DES MOINES (AP) — After lots of effort, Latin students at Callahan Junior High School have had to give up in their efforts to translate the song title, "Beer Barrel Polka", into the language of the ancient Romans. The difficulty was that the students could find no Latin word for beer, barrel or polka. Closest the young scholars could come was "Wine Cask Dance."

Use of Preventive Law Proves Helpful

Most people seem to be in agreement regarding the value of preventive medicine — the taking of precautions to insure against bad health. However, very few stop to think that preventive law fulfills the same function with regard to the legal difficulties arising as we go through life. Competent, responsible legal advice can head off many problems, and is within the reach of anyone.

A lawyer bases his fees upon the benefit you receive from his services and upon the time and effort he has expended in your behalf. But beyond this, if you can't afford to pay the customary fee, this fact is taken into consideration by the lawyer in fixing his fee. He assumes as his first responsibility the duty of seeing that every member of the community is able to secure a lawyer's service when in need of it.

Preventive law — legal guidance to avoid errors and prevent lawsuits — is therefore reasonable in cost. It is far less expensive than the cost of trying to rectify mistakes after they have been made.

Here is an example: Mr. N. was transferred by his company and needed a house. He finally found one, an old one in poor repair. The owner told him he could have the house on a 2 year lease if he would "fix it up." Mr. N. took the owner at his word, had the house painted and repaired and moved in.

Less than 3 months later he received notice to vacate. The owner had sold the house over his head.

Mr. N. then sought legal advice — only to discover too late that he should have had a written lease describing the length and terms of his occupancy. Mr. N. now feels like kicking himself. He could so easily have saved himself the annoyance and expense of litigation now necessary to establish such rights as he may have.

Another example: Miss H., a business woman, lived happily in her own home. She wanted a friend to have her property upon her death. Miss H., believing she knew how to accomplish her wishes, prepared a deed to the friend, signed it and placed it in her safety deposit box. Having made the deed, she made no will.

But her friend did not get the property upon the death of Miss H. Title did not pass because the deed had not been delivered during Miss H's lifetime. A deed is never effective so long as the grantor may recall it at his option. This is one distinguishing feature between a deed and will, which may be changed or revoked at any time before death of the maker. Today several of Miss H's distant relatives are suing each other over the property.

A will would have achieved the desired end. Legal advice in time would have insured the carrying out of Miss H's wishes.

These cases illustrate clearly the importance of consulting a lawyer in advance on matters involving a question of law.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Howard and sons, Dan and Dale, attended a reunion of the Forbea family in Waxahachie Sunday.

Mrs. Howard's brother, J. T. Forbes, and family of Tahoka, and her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Pollard and family of Lubbock, and Mrs. Howard's mother, Mrs. Ben Forbes, of Lubbock, also attended. The Howards returned late Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thaxton, Mr. and Mrs. Ewing C. Thaxton and Karen, Mrs. Stacy Hart, Stacy Claudette, and Larry, and Margene Miller attended the Thaxton reunion Friday through Sunday at Buffalo Gap.

The Ewing Thaxtons, Mrs. Hart and Larry and Margene returned Sunday night and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thaxton and Stacy Claudette returned to Littlefield on Monday.

About 65 people attended the reunion.

Miss Joyce Holden spent Saturday and Sunday visiting in Littlefield. She is spending the summer in Commanche with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hock and family left Tuesday for a two weeks vacation, visiting in Yellowstone National Park and other points of interest. They will go, also, to visit his sister in Trenton, Neb.

Andy Rogers Thanks Citizens And Asks For Their Support

It gave me deep satisfaction in 1951, as a State Representative, to help create our new 30th Senatorial District and thereby give West Texas a fair share of representation in Austin.

It has been an honor, a pleasure and a privilege to serve as the first Senator from that new District.

In reviewing my record, I would be the first to insist that I have made mistakes. No doubt, I shall make others. These will always be honest mistakes.

As your freshman Senator, I gained the following committees: Chairman of Stock and Stock Raising; Vice-Chairman of Agriculture; Vice-Chairman of Education, and member of Water Rights and Irrigation, Veterans Affairs and Public Printing.

Major legislation I introduced, and which is now law, includes an amendment to the Gilmer-Aiken school program which has saved our District $250,000.00 of your local school tax money; Texas' first Grain - Warehouse and Grain Storage Law, and an act creating the Water Authority to build a dam on the Red River near Clarendon and Hedley.

My bill to prohibit the sale, publication and distribution of lewd, lascivious and vulgar literature and pictures in Texas passed the Senate unanimously, but died in the House of Representatives.

I consider water, its development and conservation, to be our most pressing State problem. I shall continue to do all within my power to keep the control of underground water resources in the hands of those who own the land.

When you elected me two years ago at the age of 27, I was the youngest Senator ever to have had the honor of serving West Texas.

This is my fourth occasion to ask to serve the people of West Texas—twice as State Representative, and now, the second time as your State Senator.

This is the second time I have been unopposed. For this—and for all your kindness, help, encouragement, cooperation, friendship and understanding—I say "thank you" from the bottom of my heart. I will appreciate your vote and support and pledge my best to the opportunity of serving you again. I shall approach the job humbly and prayerfully.

Andy Rogers

PRO vs. DUFFER

By HERMAN SCHARLAU
 AP Newsfeatures

Most average golfers have trouble with their irons such as the 2, 3, 4 and 5.

Here's what I think about those irons and why the average golfer makes such a big mistake each time he takes one of these clubs from his bag.

The No. 2 iron is a club that should be used only by the better players. Few people can master the 2 iron. It is the hardest club with which to hit the ball into the air.

There is just a little difference with the No. 3 iron. Everybody foolishly tries to slug the ball with this club. That's so unnecessary.

The No. 4 iron should be used by the average golfer when he has a 150-yard shot to make. Many golfers have made the sad mistake of trying to hit a 4 iron shot 165 to 170 yards.

The No. 5 iron should be used when the distance is between 140 and 145 yards. It is always better to overclub than to underclub. By that I mean you should try to hit the ball at or past the objective.

Not many golfers make par by hitting short of the green or the hole.

(Scharlau recently won the Greenbrier Open beating Sam Snead and Jack Burke, Jr., in a playoff.)

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Williams and two sons of Seymour visited Thursday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gaston of Rock Gin community. Williams is a nephew of Mrs. Gaston.

Cop. 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
"I always like to clean Dr. Lefttig's office."

"Although 'Ma Kettle' talks rough," Miss Main says, "there's a softness about her that I try to capture. Ma has to look like a part of the community, but also a little different."

She achieves this effect by soft ruffles around the neck, or by fur sleeves.

Off the stage, Miss Main pays little attention to her clothes. "If someone would write me a script, I'd probably wear the right outfits," she says. "I don't agree that clothes makes the woman."

Miss Main, who has appeared in 75 films and nine stage plays, first played so many drab parts that she thought of changing her name to "Marjorie Deadend."

Then came her series with Wallace Berry, the Ma and Pa Kettle films with Percy Kilbride, the soon-to-be-released "The Egg and I", and her role in "The Matchmakers" which might start a third series of films.

In South Africa's Kruger park in South Africa, there is no restriction on the movements of wild animals, but the people who visit the park are forbidden to leave their cars except at specified points.

Yugoslavs Are Under Constant Police Observation

By Lisa Paulsen
In Yugoslavia the role of the policeman plays a twenty-four hour part in the ordinary life of any citizen.

Every street of every city in the country is under police observation. Each building that is residential has a supervisor or "conciierge" who regularly reports to the captain of the street. This man in turn makes his reports to a section chief who maintains authority over a number of streets.

Ordinary information on "how things are going" then is turned over to an official in the police department. The idea of this rather elaborate control is to make sure that no nests of spies or breeding places for political movements is permitted to function.

This network permits the local police agency to keep a "personalized" contact with every citizen in its zone. If Mrs. Yukovich, for example, has "subversive thinking" tendencies, then the house supervisor is pretty certain to discover it. It is the house supervisor's job to inquire about Mrs. Yukovich's health, her children, her friend whom she writes to in Greece, and her feeling about the new government currency controls. A good supervisor, the manual explains, is a good listener.

With so many people prepared to listen to your problems, it certainly feels like a friendly atmosphere!

From a police point of view, this system is ideal. It permits a central agency to keep tabs on the likes, dislikes, thoughts, etc. of millions of people and all with a very personal touch!

The building supervisor, too, is not forgotten. Off-hand raids are made and the efficiency of the person in charge is noted. If a tenant has a guest who has decided to sleep at the apartment for that evening, it is the supervisor's job to record this information and turn it in. Spot checks might reveal that Mrs. Yukovich has a lady friend staying for the night and the "house eye" has failed to report it. This will mean a replacement.

One might imagine that with all these restrictions and controls the people would be in a constant state of psychological rebellion. This, however, is not the case at all.

Given enough time, it is said, and people get used to anything. This seems to be the case here in Yugoslavia today. The situation is accepted, never questioned, and an ingrained part of everyday life. People don't speculate on what should be; they think about what should be; they think about how a ship's engine — after while the passengers don't hear it anymore.

Dowdiness an Art

AP Newsfeatures

NEW YORK — Blustering, lovable Ma Kettle, whose clothes never have placed her on a best dressed list, spends more loving care on her wardrobe than many a screen glamor girl.

Marjorie Main, in real life much like the down-to-earth Ma Kettle of her screen role, says: "Clothes interpret the part." She spends days selecting exactly the kind of tired house dresses a hardworking Western farm mother of 15 children would wear. She says:

"People out in Hollywood say I'm the only woman who carries on this way about clothes."

The 64-year-old actress always has selected her own screen clothes. Her verbal battles with wardrobe mistresses and directors usually end in a personal tour of piece goods stores in Beverly Hills. She silences critics with the argument:

"Would a woman who said that wear something like this?"

MA KETTLE OFFSTAGE... Marjorie Main concedes a point to dressiness and wears orchids on recent departure for Europe.
