American Legion Head Pays Visit To Big Spring; Speaks At Lions Club

Radio—
Here's a peep behind the scenes in the boiling radio situation. Anning S. Prall, Tammany congressman, is in a queer spot. He's just been appointed a Federal Radio Commissioner by the President and duly confirmed by the Senate. But he can't tell whether he wants the job.

There's a reason. It's one little phrase in the Constitution. That says no member of Congress may accept appointment to any federal job created by Congress "during the time for which he was elected." This doesn't bar Prall from the existing Radio Commission. He wasn't in the House when that was formed. The joker is hidden even deeper.

To get clear to the bottom of Prall's coyness in not resigning from the House and taking the fancy new post, recall a recent fact. Mr. Roosevelt only a few days ago asked Congress to set up a certain "Communications Commission."

There's the new twist to things. This all powerful agency would blot out the Radio Commission and all its work.

Bills—
If this session should enact either the Dill or Rayburn bills creating that new commission Prall would be out all around. The old Radio Commission job would terminate automatically and he couldn't be appointed to the new one.

Officially the Congressman says he is staying on in the House temporarily to see through some legislation expanding the FCC. The lawdown is he's waiting to find out whether this big idea of consolidating communications is going to reach a final vote this year or go over to the next Congress.

There's a good chance it'll go over. If Senator Dill really presses his bill the big broadcasting companies are going to face him in heavy battle. They don't object to the Rayburn measure so much but one section of Dill's draft is too tart for their appetites.

The Washington Senator's bill rewrites the Radio Act and just about everything else in the thirty pages of this particular title Dill gets down to pretty fine points about federal regulatory powers.

On the other hand Rayburn contented himself with proposing repeal of the Radio Act, creation of the new Commission and submission of all the weighty technical problems to that body.

Truce—
Everything considered a determined lobby by the radio interests probably would succeed in deferring action at this session. Too many more important pieces of legislation are still in the hopper and control of radio, telephone and telegraph isn't exactly an emergency proposition.

So after all Prall may let go of his House seat and swing over to the Radio Commission payroll.

Radio hasn't been one of the Tammany leader's hobbies. He'll have a lot to learn if he does.

Fencing—
Charlie Michelson, publicity director for the Democratic National Committee, has just demonstrated again why he is drawing his pay. Here's what's behind his move in withdrawing from publication a pamphlet entitled "One Year's Record." It was a review of the first year of the Roosevelt administration and was to have blanketed the country on March 4.

The notice to newspapers killing it said the Democratic Committee was anxious at this time "to avoid the issuance of any statement which can possibly be construed as..."

National Commander Says Legion Interested In Vets' Welfare

Edward A. Hayes, national commander of the American Legion, spent Tuesday night here and addressed the Lions club Wednesday. Active in Legion work since its organization, Hayes was elected to his post in the Chicago convention last year.

A lawyer by profession, Hayes makes his home in Decatur, Ill. For years prior to his elevation to the commandery, he had actively participated in a program for welfare of disabled men. During the war Hayes served in the navy.

State Head

Van Perkins, state legion commander, visited here Tuesday and Wednesday in company with Edward A. Hayes, National commander.

Perkins, like Hayes, was in the navy during the last war. He quit school to take up arms. Later he returned to San Marcos to finish his education. He was for ten years a prominent school man. His rise in legion activities has been steady and he was chosen last year at the Wichita Falls convention to be commander of the Texas department.

Defense Asks Re-Trial For Dr. Wynkeop, Who Gets 25 - Year Sentence

CHICAGO (AP)—Only a high court, or death itself, can save Dr. Alice Wynkeop from the penitentiary now.

A jury convicted her Tuesday night of slaying her daughter-in-law, Rheta, in an "operating table" murder that horrified the nation.

The jury fixed her sentence at twenty-five years. She heard the verdict and sat in her wheelchair without a sign or quiver.

Arguments for a new trial have been set for March 24.

If they are denied, defense said they would appeal to the highest courts.

Ewe Has Offspring Of Seven In Little More Than A Year

One ewe with seven descendants in little more than a year is the boast of S. L. Lockhart, northeast of Big Spring, who has several hundred sheep on his place and in Borden county.

About a year ago an ewe gave birth to triplets. Each of these lambed this spring and the ewe is the mother of another lamb, according to Lockhart.

CWA Officials Refuse Airport Project Here

Watson Returns From Austin With Bad News For Improvements

LACK OF FUNDS GIVEN AS REASON

Watson To Take Matter Up With Harry Hopkins, Administrator

Hopes for airport improvements here have been dealt a staggering, if not a death blow by refusal of state CWA officials to approve the local project calling for $26,000 in construction work.

Lack of funds was given as reason for refusal to approve the application.

C. T. Watson, who presented the application on behalf of the city and airport corporation, was informed that funds for materials have been exhausted.

In January the project was given state and national approval providing the city held a lease on the port for five years. Action on this angle hung fire for little more than a month.

State authorities told Watson there was only one hope that the project could be obtained. That is by special consent of Harry L. Hopkins, national relief and CWA director.

Watson, who will leave Saturday with Elliott Barron, Midland county judge, for Washington in interest of drought stricken counties, will bring the matter to the attention of Hopkins, he said.

Youths Get $35 In Odessa Hijacking

ODESSA, (AP)—Officers here Tuesday were searching for two unidentified youths who, Monday morning, robbed Hub Taylor, shoe shop proprietor, of $35, leaving him securely trussed in his place of business.

Taylor, who had shortly earlier returned from depositing a much larger sum in the bank, described the pair as around 20, one a blond, the other quite dark. At the point of a pistol, the leader gave him orders to be still for an hour or he would be shot.

No trace of the robbers could be found when Taylor gave the alarm some ten minutes after the holdup.

Few Industries, However, To Be Exempt In Rule

WASHINGTON, (AP)—NRA code authorities will be asked by the administration Wednesday night to cut code working hours ten per cent for all industries that can stand it, with exemptions for those who are unable to comply.

This was made known Wednesday by Hugh Johnson, administration.

George Sloan, head of the cotton textile code authority, had said unquestionably many industries could take a further hour shortening, but that he considered it a grave mistake to make a false hope, because it would raise false hopes in the breasts of "every American working man in every home."

Rotary Hears Revs. Bickley And Culwell

Rev. W. M. Culwell, Stamford, who is leading the singing at the First Methodist church revival in this city, featured Tuesday's Rotary luncheon with two vocal solos, "Let the Rest of the World Go By" and an encore number "Somewhere I Hear a Voice Calling." Mrs. Charles Morris accompanied on the piano. Both numbers were well rendered, and greatly enjoyed by the club.

Rev. C. A. Bickley spoke in the club on "The Spare Tire of Life."

Rev. Bickley spoke on the service club as an excellent organization in which the moulding of lasting friendships between men may be gained and the spirit of cooperation perfected to a degree where the building of a community for the better may be obtained.

"But in making these friendships and working together for the upbuilding of the city, we should not forget the spiritual side of life."

The program was in charge of Harry Lester and W. W. Inkman.

Next week's program will be in charge of Jim Davis and B. Reagan.

Ziehn, Red Cross Representative, Also Speaks To Club Tuesday

Visiting Rotarian C. K. Rieckel, Fort Worth, was present. Noel Lawson, Garland Woodward, Mrs. Charles Morris, R. H. Ziehn, Rev. W. M. Culwell, Rev. C. A. Bickley were visitors for the day.

President Bennett announced a meeting of all club committee chairmen would be held at the Settles Friday evening at 7:30.

Two Held For Belt Thefts

Material Taken From Oil Machinery Is Found Under Bridge

Two men were being held in the Howard county jail Wednesday in connection with theft of belting from oil machinery in the Howard-Glasscock field.

They were arrested Tuesday by Sheriff Fred Ratliff of Glasscock county after license numbers of a car carrying stolen belts was taken.

Belts were recovered from under a bridge where they had been secreted in southwestern Howard county.

Among oil operators losing belts were Humble, Magnolia and Wood.

Officers said that belting stolen in West Texas was being sold in East Texas.

Tom Cranfill Dies In Dallas Tuesday

DALLAS, (AP)—Thomas E. Cranfill, 53, Dallas real estate and oil man, died Tuesday after an illness of two months.

Born at Turnerville, Coryell county, he came to Dallas in 1898 and entered the real estate business with his father-in-law. He later worked extensively in the Ranger, Wichita Falls, Mexia and East Texas oil fields.

Cranfill was president of the Texas Independent Petroleum association until three years ago when he sold his interests and went to East Texas. He organized the Cranfill-Reynolds Oil company and sold that to the Sun Oil company.

He was survived by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Cranfill; his widow and four daughters, Mrs. Robert L. Clark, Misses Bettie and Eleanor Cranfill of Dallas and Mrs. Charles Campbell of Lampasas.

Cranfill from boyhood was a member of the Baptist church. Funeral arrangements had not been made.

Cranfill underwent an operation for appendicitis and complications caused his death.

Withering Gun Fire From Guards Drive Prisoners Back

THREE PRISONERS SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Use Key Made In Workshop To Effect Their Escape From Cells

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Three of five convicts who attempted to scale the walls of the state penitentiary here early Wednesday in a bold bid for freedom were wounded by guards and the other two driven back by a withering gun fire.

The three prisoners wounded were Charley Frazier, under two 99-year sentences for robbery with firearms; Pete Finch and Edward McArthur, both under ten-year sentences for burglary. The other two were in solitary confinement for their part in an attempted break.

One was Roy Thornton, husband of Bonnie Parker, cigar-smoking consort of Clyde Barrow.

The other was Robert Hill, one of the "Santa Claus" bandits, who held up a Cisco bank in 1927. He is serving nine years.

Frazier was shot above the heart, Finch in the head and McArthur in the shoulder.

Physicians described their condition as serious.

The men, using a key made in a workshop, liberated themselves from cells. They made their way to a courtyard where they attacked a guard with a knife. Two other guards saw them and started shooting as they attempted to scale the wall on a ladder.

They dropped off a ladder and surrendered.

By ALAIN GOULD

Master James Foxx of Philadelphia isn't fooling a bit when he says it is his belief that his services are worth more than $11,000 a year.

Of all the fellows who have had their salaries chopped this season, Foxx stands out as the chief victim. He's 26 years old, just at the peak of his hitting powers.

"Maybe I'm getting slashed like that because I only hit 48 homers last summer," says Jimmie with appropriate irony. "I hit 58 the year before, so they may be mad at me.

WHAT HE'D BE WORTH

But if Ruth is worth $35,000 a season in his present state of fragility, and Lou Gehrig is worth $27,500, Chuck Klein $22,000, Wally Berger $18,000, and so on, how can you depreciate Foxx's value?

He'd make close to an American league champion of the Boston Red Sox, for one thing, and a pennant winner in that village would be worth, in one season, close to half a million dollars to Tom Yawkey.

Consider the difference Jimmie could make in the New York Yankees, playing third base, say, with Gehrig on first, Tony Lazzeri on second, and Red Rolfe at shortstop. He'd mean a pennant there, and in New York that's a cool $500,000.

If Connie Mack were tossing Jimmie into the open market and ask for bids, it's an even bet that the fellow who finally got the prize would have to go as high as $300,000.

A LONG-RANGE PREDICTION

Foxx doesn't want to quit baseball. He doesn't want to miss a single game or a day of spring training. But he'd like to know what future there is in baseball for him if he can only muster $11,000 for one season in his prime.

"I've got maybe 40 more years to earn my living," he says. "At the best I'll be in baseball 10 more years. That leaves 30 years in which I'm going to have to be doing something else anyway. I can't get ready for those days on that kind of a salary. So hadn't better get started planning right now."

That's a fair question. But of course when the ball season opens Foxx will be at first base for the Athletics. He'll get more than $11,000. And in 1935 he'll be playing with the Red Sox.

Just as Mack sold Simmons, Dykes and Hans to the White Sox two years ago to recoup his losses, and Earnshaw, Grove, Cochrane, Bishop and Walberg this year, so

Chicago Cubs Boast Vets

Charlie Grimm Expects Bruins To Sweep National League

By HANK HART

There happens to be one man in our second largest city which expects the Chicago Cubs to sweep aside the New York Giants, as well as the rest of the National League teams. That man is none other than the Cub manager, Charlie Grimm. One of the things Charlie has done is to shorten the team's spring training.

Positions Uncertain Only the mittman will have a pinch on his position. Gabby Hartnett, veteran catcher, will again try to lead his pitchers into big money.

Inside the snacks, Grimm will have his troubles in trying to place four good men in three positions. Charlie will have Stanley Hack, Bill Jurgas, Woody English and Billy Herman to fight over second, short, and third.

Herman Will Try Again The outfield, too, will have its problems. Babe Herman will be coaxed alone, and will try to return to his once great form.

The pitching staff is expected to be composed of practically the same members as in 1933. Warnke, Malone, Bush, and Root will form the nucleus of this year's corps.

It will be hard to stop the Cubs if Grimm can start them off right. The Windy city fans are eager for another world series and the Cubs can be primed to give them what they desire.

The San Angelo high school Bobcats, state football semi-finalists last year, start spring work-outs Monday. Only two regulars of the West Texas champion team return for action.

return. Fifteen of the junior high school's 17 lettermen are to join the Bobcat squad. Coach Taylor is trying to book some good clubs for non-district exhibition games.

Directors of the Kat Klaw golf league will meet in Midland Sunday to perfect organization for the approaching season. Entries are expected from Seminole, Hobbs, Lamesa, Stanton, Midland and Crane, the latter town taking the place of Big Spring, which drew out of the league before the conclusion of last year's schedule.

The Kat Klaw expects to have stiff competition for places on the ladder. Qualifying scores must be turned in by Saturday night, over the 36-hole route. Matches to improve position on the ladder will begin Sunday.

Officials of both the Kat Klaw and the Sand Belt, senior circuit, say there will be at least three strong teams battling for positions on the two clubs. It is hoped that other golfers will qualify and keep themselves in readiness to shift to vacancies on either club, or accompany the Kat Klaw to play unofficial matches.

Big Spring Sand Belters will start teaming up within the next week or so. It's too bad Big Spring withdrew from the Kat Klaw league, as a strong team could be rounded up. Perhaps Municipal golfers would be interested.

Big Jim Cantrell, Colorado basketball mentor, had his dreams shattered by Brownwood in the Regional finals at Abilene last

"A bad man who went to heaven" was the object of the message brought Tuesday evening by Dr. G. L. Yates, leading in a revival at the First Baptist Church.

The previous evening Dr. Yates had told of a good man who went to hell. Taking his scripture from Luke, he quoted the publican's prayer as his text, "Lord be merciful to me, a sinner."

Dr. Yates then read the words of Christ concerning the event, "I tell you this man went down to his house justified."

The speaker pointed out that the publican was an immoral man, the very nature of his business indicating that. "He was an irreligious man," said Dr. Yates.

"Who is the most difficult man in this city to save? He is the self righteous man. Once when a woman washed Christ's feet with her tears and dried them with her hair, the Pharisee looking on did not see the woman, but the sinner. Christ saw the woman and forgave the sinner."

"I don't care how bad a sinner you are, I've got a saviour who can meet your need. I don't want to be pastor of any church that does not welcome sinners.

"What did this publican do? First, he took a sinner's place. There is just one hope for the sinner, when the Lions sank two gratis tosses in the closing minute. That's what makes coaches nervous and gray headed.

ner and that is Christ. "Salvation comes by the Grace of God through the atonement of Christ Jesus. It won't do for anybody but sinners.

"Tonight you will go out the doors of this church justified and unjustified.

"The deeper your senses of need, the surer He calls you to salvation." The song leader, C. T. Hodge, was heard in a special number. Mrs. Harry Staley accompanied him. Wednesday evening Dr. Yates is to speak on a "good man who was saved."
