Report On Problems, Assets Of Small Towns Is Released

Governor John Connally was released the first copy this report of the comprehensive study of the problems and potentials of small towns, released today by the Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Representative Bill W.T.C.C.'s Small Towns Force stated, "Because of expressed interest in the preservation of the small towns in Texas as a vital part of our state's economy and heritage, it is a great pleasure to present you with the first of this important study of the problems and potentials of small towns in Texas."

Small Town Task Force member blue ribbon panel of three West Texas leaders report is the result of compilation of community surveys of cities with population under 12,000 and numerous public hearings with reams of recorded testimony. It represents seven months of intensive work and detailed study.

Divisions of the study include the small towns' industrial, recreational, tourist and cultural opportunities and the role of metropolitan areas and local, state and national governments in their development.

The study also includes a discussion of small town leadership and a method of implementing a program for the development of a small town. This procedure is labeled "STEP" - Small Town Economic Progress.

Simultaneously with the presentation to Governor Connally, the study was presented to members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in convention session in Del Rio.

LONGER VACATIONS

About 2 out of 3 persons (68%) of the persons visiting Texas in 1966 reported their vacation period as two weeks or less. The most popular was one week. However, the Department's survey revealed longer vacations are becoming much more common. Sizable numbers reported 3 and 4 week vacations.

1966 Tourist Trade $1 Billion Business

The Texas Highway Department's 1966 Visitor Industry Report reveals that tourism entered the select circle of "billion-dollar" industries last year. A record 19,236,000 persons came to Texas by all forms of transportation spending a total of $1,080,000,000.

Again in 1966 the automobile was the overwhelming choice of transportation for the Texas visitor. The Department's survey shows a total of 14,157,000 out-of-state persons traveling by automobile visited the State in 1966 spending $723,847,000.

In addition, the Texas Tourist Council, an Austin headquartered association of travel-related businesses, estimates another 5,079,000 persons visited the State last year through the facilities of commercial carriers. The Council estimates the commercial carrier contribution to the total spending at $356,155,000.

In its survey to secure data on the State's rapidly developing Visitor Industry, the Texas Highway Department analyzed information from nearly 12,000 questionnaires returned by automobile visitors to Texas. These questionnaires were given to incoming tourists at the Department's port-of-entry Tourist Information Centers and were returned following completion of their trip. They provided data regarding expenditures, length of stay, purpose of visit, number in party, income groups, age groups and other key information.

While the total automobile visitors represented an 11.6% gain over 1965, the biggest gain for Texas was in their expenditures which increased by 18.1% or $110,699,000.

Average spending per person was $51.80 per day, while the average spending per tourist party was $25.52 per day. Spending per visitor increased 93 cents per day over the average in 1965.

While the record 14,157,000 automobile tourists represented an increase of 1,470,000 (11.6%) over 1965, the actual length of stay of the visitor decreased slightly. A record 6.1 days was recorded in 1965 compared to 5.8 days last year. Even with this 3 day decrease in the length of stay, the increase in numbers and money spent recorded 1966 as the banner year in Texas travel history.

At least a portion of the slight reduction in length of stay can be attributed to Texas' fine highway system. Today Texas' visitors can drive between distant points much faster. This shrinking of the state's size has a tendency to cut down their length of stay within Texas' borders.

The 20-page report, which reflects the combined activities of the Texas Tourist Development Agency and the Texas Highway Department, and in the private sector, the Texas Tourist Council, points out that the "billion-dollar" plus figure represents only money left in Texas by out-of-state visitors. This figure does not include expenditures of Texans traveling within their home state. Each year they make countless trips within the State's borders

Local Pastors Attend Meeting

The meeting was held at the Shepherd King Lutheran Church. The institute will offer advanced studies for pastors and laymen in deeper Biblical studies beginning sometime this fall.

SK FORCE . .

Small town high schools will be helpful in preparing students for job opportunities. Also, the availability of trained people will attract industries to the area because of the special facilities available in the labor force.

Small town activities of the town can be expanded by the facilities of nearby urban areas. Concert classes, dramatic productions offered in the urban centers provide excellent opportunity to town residents to see, participate in such programs.

Expanded library facilities with possible exchange programs were suggested as a means of broadening the cultural and educational programs in small towns.

Development of national and man-made tourist attractions was suggested as one of the greatest opportunities for the small towns in the state.

Industrial possibilities abound in the small town. Claude W. Brown, member of the Texas Industrial Commission and former mayor of the Small Towns Commission, who led the present industrial potential in the small town.

Report, entitled "The Small Town Economic Development," recommended several recommendations regarding industry potential for the small communities which included: establishment of regional centers for the development of cotton which would meet the demands that will be placed on the West Texas and growing conditions.

Assignment by the Texas Industrial Commission of its staff exclusively with small town development.

Establishment of a fibers research center at Texas Tech to study the uses of natural and chemical feedstocks.

Passage of legislation providing issuance of industrial revenue bonds by cities and counties; encouragement of home industries in the communities.

Apply the multiplier factor to raw products to increase income of farmers, processors and finishers by developing processing and finishing plants for raw materials in the West Texas area.

Metropolitan areas have a need for the growth and development of the small towns and Federal government.

Final section of the print report outlined Project "Small Town Economic Development," a program for the implementation of the suggestions and recommendations in this report as well as developed through the study inventories conducted in 1966.

Results of the study were presented to each of the mayors, judges and other community leaders in attendance at the annual meeting. These leaders will be expected to call on their own citizens to return home and start implementation of Project Small Town.

Members of the Small Town Task Force, WTCC officials and staff members will be assisting in the STEP program in each of the communities that request assistance, according to Shepperd.

Metropolitan areas are to be assisted by Wendell Mayes, Jr., radio executive, told.

WE ARE PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE THE ASSOCIATION OF Don Harrell AS USED CAR MANAGER AND SALESMAN Mitchell-Ford Inc.

the convention. The large towns depend upon the small towns as retailers of the good which the large towns distribute, according to Mayes.

Planning assistance, medical facilities, communication media, and industrial expansion assistance are all important assets available to the small towns from the metropolitan areas, the speaker stated. These assets to the small town should be asked for by the small town leaders to properly coordinate their own assets with those of the larger town.

Small towns were told to analyze the reasons for their continued existence. Too, they were admonished to develop their assets and advertise the good living conditions, the slower pace of living and the congenial atmosphere of the small communities.

Higher taxes, more aggressive leadership on the part of public officials and cooperation between governmental bodies were suggested as possible means of attaining goals in the small communities, when Mrs. Fred McCleskey of Stephenville, City Councilwoman, led the discussion on the role of city and county responsibilities in the development of the small towns.

Many towns, according to the surveys, listed low taxes as an asset, whereas the problems in the same towns were often listed as lack of facilities which are normally paid for with taxes. This paradox must be corrected, according to the report, before real progress can be achieved.

Elected officials should assume more of their civic responsibilities if they are to be kept in office and city and county governments, as well as school, hospital and water districts should coordinate their planning for the most effective utilization of the tax dollar, the study suggested.

Although the Task Force did not recommend specific Federal or State grant or aid programs that should be utilized by the small towns, it did suggest that a thorough analysis of available assistance from these sources in planning, as well as in financing, should be made by the leadership of the small towns.

"Do it yourself" programs were lauded in the study with specific examples cited of cities which have undergone tremendous revitalization through the efforts of local citizens and without the financial assistance

The film, "Texas—Land of Contrast," available with Spanish, German, French and English narrations, is the first of a series of travel films to be produced by the Department. This first film shows the variety of recreational facilities that can be found in Texas and seeks to erase the misconception that many out-of-staters have of Texas as one vast, barren wasteland.

Lamb County Extension Service Wants Answers

A while back County Agent Buddy Logsdon and his assistant, Sam Kuykendall, and Home Demonstration Agency Lady Claire Phillips began to look around for items to compile a history of Extension Service work in Lamb County.

The pictures on this page are some things they found. Now they have the pictures, but their problem is only half solved. It seems that many of them were taken very long ago, so some of the folks captured in the photos are not recognizable. Some of the pictures were taken at least 20 years ago, and judging from the dress of the people, a few of the pictures were taken even farther back than that.

Logsdon would like some identification of the folks in the photos, and when they were taken. Also, the Extension Service would like more pictures of this sort if any persons care to rummage through their attics or closets.

Some of the persons in the pictures are already identified, but we want to see if the readers can recognize the subjects, too.

PAUL HARVEY SAYS
Prejudiced Against People

Anybody who insists that "Government works best" is prejudiced against people. This is not supposed to be a "Government of the Government"; our Republic was designed to be a "Government of the people"; Oregon's Governor Hatfield says, "Continuing to accept everything Government prescribes, we will ultimately submit to dictatorship."
He was speaking specifically of the military draft.
The military draft is admittedly inefficient and unfair, yet we appear unwilling to wrest ourselves free from precedent, however illogical.
We consider ourselves to be so ultimately progressive, yet persist in getting stuck in the mud of outdated concepts.
The military draft is perpetuated by those who want to regiment everybody. Antipoverty Director Sargent Shriver admittedly wants to register all boys and girls at age 16 for military and non-military assignment by Government.
His view, however repugnant to some of us, however it contradicts our historic civilian tradition, follows the formula of the do-it-by-Government apostles. They would submerge all individualism under a Super-State in the name of efficiency. In essence, they are prejudiced against people.
Senator Ted Kennedy's incredible objection to an all-volunteer army is that it would be an "all-black army." How can we expect a fair committee hearing on the "draft-versus-freedom" when he is chairman of the committee?
Some protest that the draft must be perpetuated in order to stimulate voluntary enlistments. If they were really concerned about voluntary enlistments, these could be stimulated by:
(1) Staying out of wars which are not our business.
(2) Fighting, when our security is threatened, to win.
(3) Emphasizing technology in all military strategy; employing the decisive weapons.
(4) Commensurate pay and benefits for career military men.
(5) Allowing try-on enlistments of short duration.
Presently we insist that the enlistment serve three or four years while the draft is required to serve only two. This we call courage voluntary enlistment.
The two considerations—the military and military strategy—are inseparable. General Douglas MacArthur said it best: "Once war is forced upon us, there is no honorable alternative than to apply the available means to bring it to a swift end. War's very object is victory. Indeed, war there can be no substitute for victory. Anything less but begets new and bloodier war."
It's right now past time in Vietnam "apply every available means..."
With masses of marching footsoldiers, are no match for the limitless hordes of American mothers cannot possibly buy boy babies fast enough to turn that into solete weapons and tactics has us fighting "no-win wars" because we can't win these weapons!
