W. Ross Apparently Lone Littlefield Bidder

Contractors and firm representatives began to arrive in Littlefield today to place bids on the PWA financed $48,000 water improvement project while city and federal officials prepared to start bid tabulations at 11 o'clock.

Bidders must place estimates on the general contract, but the favored bidder may submit any of the four items of the contract, should it be desired. Plans were taken out by the following:

EIGHT TEAMS TO PLAY SOFTBALL WHEN SEASON OPENS HERE APRIL 1

Eight teams, with a roster of 15 men each, will open spring softball competition about April 1 on the lighted field, it was announced immediately following the meeting of the Littlefield Athletic association last Thursday night.

New officers elected were Pat Boone, president; Ed Seely, vice-president, and Dr. Wm. N. Orr, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Boone succeeds C. O. Stone, who now heads the athletic council. Dr. Orr succeeds himself. The 1935 board of directors includes C. O. Robbins, Dr. Ira E. Woods, E. S. Rowe, W. H. Madden, D. G. Hobbs, J. A. Hanks and W. J. Aldridge.

Last year's eight teams, in order to re-enter the league, must file written application with Secretary Orr by midnight, March 1. Entrance fee will be $15 per team to cover cost of balls, bats and other general club expenses.

Newly organized teams which did not compete last season have until March 10 to apply for league membership. This move was made in order to place every man who desires a team position. League chiefs figure that full organization will be effected by March 15.

Teamsters desiring to transfer from one team to another must make written application to the board, which will act on the transfer. The board will also settle any problems or issues which arise concerning rules and regulations.

Managers for teams will be named at a second meeting of league officers. Rules and regulations governing play will be drawn up immediately afterward. The board will put the final okay on rules.

President Boone appointed a committee to canvass city folk for donations to be used in sending Coach Robnetto's Kitties to the district cage tourney at Wilson March 1-2. On this group were C. O. Robbins, Mallory Etter, E. C. Cundiff and Secretary Orr.

See sport page for results of the canvass.

LAST RITES FOR MRS. SHOCKLEY WEDNESDAY

Dies Following Week's Illness From Pneumonia, and Heart Trouble

Mrs. Myrtis Shockley, 42, passed away at her residence 10 miles east of Littlefield Tuesday morning, February 26, at 11 o'clock, following an attack of pneumonia.

Deceased had been in bad health for the past ten years, suffering from heart trouble and high blood pressure, and confined to her bed at intervals. About a week ago she contracted pneumonia, and was believed to be making satisfactory progress towards recovery but Monday took a relapse. Her weak heart is believed to have caused her death. She was conscious until three hours before her death, and bade each one of her children farewell before the end came.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, Anton, which was not sufficient to house the large attendance of friends and relatives, who gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased, including a large number from Littlefield.

Rev. Russell, Pastor, officiated, assisted by Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Littlefield.

HOME LOAN ASS'N TO BE ORGANIZED

Many Other Issues Are Discussed Tuesday At C-C Meeting

A good representation of local business men were in attendance at the weekly Chamber of Commerce luncheon Tuesday noon in the basement of the Presbyterian Church Tuesday noon, when J. S. Hilliard, vice-president, presided.

Contract on Oil Mill Here
Mr. Hilliard reported that a contract drawn up and executed by W. A. Wadsworth in connection with the proposed oil mill had been received, and anyone interested in the proposition were privileged to read the document at the First National Bank here.

It was suggested that the Oil Mill Committee, of which A. R. Hendricks is chairman, take further action on behalf of the project.

Report Home Loan Progress
Dr. Ira Woods announced to the meeting that Calvin Henson, one of a group of local men, interested in the organization of a Home Building & Loan association, received a wire last week from Mr. Strauss, organizer for this territory, requesting that those interested meet him at Lubbock Saturday afternoon to discuss the proposition. He reported that a committee composed of himself, Joe Hale, W. D. T. Storey, J. W. Keithley and Calvin Henson conferred with Mr. Strauss at the Hilton Hotel in that city, whereupon he promised that in about a week or ten days he would be in Littlefield for the purpose of proceeding further with the organization of the local association.

MOTION PICTURE STUDIO ON WHEELS TO VISIT LITTLEFIELD

Through the influence of W. J. Chesher, manager of the Palace Theatre, arrangements were made today to have the elaborate Metro-Goldwyn Traveling Motion Picture Studio visit this city on its extensive goodwill exhibition tour of the world.

The lavishly equipped studio on wheels, constructed by the great motion picture company at a staggering cost of $150,000, is scheduled to arrive here next Thursday, March 7, and according to present plans will be open for public inspection from 12:00 until 2:30 p. m., in front of the Palace Theatre, the home here of Metro Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures.

Littlefield is exceedingly fortunate in having this Studio visit our city, because this is the smallest town in West Texas where they are scheduled to stop.

Wednesday night they will stop in Lubbock and Thursday night following their visit here they will stop in Plainview. All film fans wishing to see a real Sound Studio in action

Mr. Adam stated that since receiving the checks he had sent notices to all those benefited, and that same would be distributed from his office.

"There are still about 3100 checks owing by the Government, making a total of over $200,000 yet to come," said Mr. Adam.

State, County Taxes To Bear 2% Penalty After March 15th

According to Roy Gilbert, Tax Assessor and Collector, all penalty and interest which has been lifted, will again be placed on all delinquent state and county taxes after March 15, beginning at 2 per cent, with an additional 1 per cent for each month thereafter, until June 30th, 1935, after which time there will be 8 per cent penalty, and 6 per cent interest per annum.

For the convenience of the taxpayers of the county, and to give each and everyone an opportunity to pay their taxes before the penalty and interest is added, Mr. Gilbert has arranged to be at the various cities in the county. He will be at Sudan Friday, March 8; at Amherst Saturday, March 9; and at Littlefield Tuesday, March 12.

SORGHUM BREEDERS TO MEET AT TECH

The State Seed and Plant Board in cooperation with the Division of Agriculture of Texas Technological College, and Substation No. 8 of the State Experiment Station, Lubbock, Texas, will conduct a program on grain sorghum breeding, Saturday, March 2, beginning at 9:00 a. m., in the Agricultural Building at Texas Tech. The program is planned especially for the producers of certified planting seed, but others interested in plant breeding are invited.

This program is the same rendered at the Dallas meeting in January, and is being brought to this section through the efforts of W. H. Cunningham, secretary of the State Sorghum Seed Growers Association, of which W. M. Pool, Jr., Sudan, is president; and George Beakley, Levelland, vice-president.

COWS AND CHICKENS PAY NICE RETURN SAYS N. H. HUMPHREYS

That cows and chickens, in this section, even though one is required to buy considerable of their feed, will pay you returns is the statement made by N. H. Humphreys of five miles south of Littlefield.

Mr. Humphreys states that in 1934 Mrs. Humphreys sold 3000 lbs. of butter from seven cows. She now has only five cows but sells about 25 pounds a week. Several years ago Mrs. Humphreys had ten cows, and sold 57 pounds of butter weekly.

The White Leghorn is a favorite around the Humphreys farm. They have 230 of this breed. In January they sold 257 dozen eggs and are now gathering about 160 eggs daily. Laying mash and grain are fed the chickens, according to Mr. Humphreys, who states he believes it pays to take good care of your livestock. He says, "We have to buy a good deal of the feed right now, but even so, we feel the cows and chickens pay us a nice return."

THIS DEPRESSION

By J. B. Maddux, Littlefield

This depression's got us guessing Where our sap is coming from. How to make a silver dollar Buy a dress for Sis and Mom.

How we're going to pay our taxes, Whether we can get a car. If we're going to have the kale seed For the coal to build a fire.

Why the cost of living's soaring, Whether it will ever rain, If we can maintain our senses Or if we will go insane.

When our Congress will put over Or if it will ever mention Anything about the bonus. Whether it will ever pension.

Any time, or if ever We will get a decent chance To discard our ragged breeches And to buy a pair of pants.

Who is going to be elected President of U. S. A. And a hundred other whyfurs That molest us every day.

Why instead of jobs, we're jobless, Who will answer all of this. Where's that fellow that was calling Some of us a pessimist?

Yes, we'd like to know who caused this, Why conditions still drag on, Why the renters haven't rented And the owners lose their homes.

Just why everybody's busted, Whether this is here to stay, Why adjusters are not adjusted, And why things are just this way.

When will crooks cease to be crooked And the people growl and fuss, Will oppression still continue Till the devil gets all us.

Shall the cause of our forefathers Perish? Can it be they died in vain? May the liberty they gave us All unconquered rise again?

Will we plow up all the cotton, Kill the cows, destroy wheat? When the Nation has its millions Needing clothes, and food to eat

Let us stop this wanton monster, It's not just, nor is it right. And redeem our land and people From this sad and awful plight.

Total of 230,000 Head Cattle Bought By Government

South Plains farmers in 22 counties, sold more than 230,000 head of cattle to the government during the buying period for drought relief, as supervised by the bureau of animal industry of the U. S. department of agriculture. The period lasted from early July to January 15 and the report on which this figure is based was issued by Dr. H. L. Darby as of January 31.

The counties reported 232,042 head sold, representing 152,282 animals that were accepted for purchase and shipment, and 79,760 head that were condemned as unfit for human consumption. No report was available for the counties on the prices paid. However, a check from 18 counties showed approximately 197,000 head brought in the neighborhood of $2,200,000. On this basis the 232,000 head should approximate $2,250,000 to $2,500,000.

For the state, in a few less than 200 counties, up to January 31, 1935, some 1,969,387 were accepted and 677,084 were condemned and slaughtered.

Purchases of the area, 152,282, were 11.7 per cent of the state total for the 22 counties; condemnations were 11.78 per cent of the total of 677,084 head killed.

Condemned animals in the area were 30.66 per cent of the total bought; 69.34 per cent being accepted and shipped.

Comparative statements given by Dr. Darby showed the following:

Sheriff Cato Released Under $50,000 Bond

Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county, charged with murder in the slaying of Narcotic Agent Spencer Stafford, was released Thursday under $50,000 bond, following a trying day in court in Dallas.

Tom Morgan, farmer deputized by Sheriff Cato shortly before Stafford was shot to death at Post, Feb. 7, and also charged with murder, was released under $15,000 bond.

Earlier a federal grand jury indicted N. C. Outlaw, defense attorney. The indictments, of which there were three, named Outlaw alone on a charge of subornation of perjury, Outlaw jointly with C. M. Lee on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice through false testimony, and the lawyer with E. R. Braddock on the same charge.

Outlaw's bond was set at $5,000 on each of the two conspiracy charges, and $1,500 on the subornation count, for a total of $11,500.

COLD BLASTS AND FLYING SAND KEEP THINCLADS INDOORS THIS WEEK; SQUAD WILL BE PICKED Cold blasts and flying sand kept Coach Brack Barksdale's track and field aspirants indoors early this week while the Wildcat guide continued forming plans for selection of a regular squad with the advent of milder weather.

Late next week, Barksdale plans to pick the three best men in each event from his juniors and seniors to form a squad. Track events include the 100 yard dash, 220, 440, half mile, mile, 120 high hurdles, 220 low hurdles, and the relay. Field events include high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put, discus, and javelin.

The District Interscholastic meet, March 29-30 at Lubbock, looms as the major event in track and field competition. L. V. Pierce, long-legged senior pole vaulter, placed third at the District last year with a mark of 10 feet six inches. Pierce is Barksdale's best prospect thus far this season. The district pole vault record is 11 feet six inches.

Kitties To Meet Wilson in Opener Of District Play

Littlefield will face the Wilson ladies at 2 p. m. Friday when District 2 basketball play opens on the classy Wilson boards. Twelve teams will play six games Friday in the opening round. Tourney will close late Saturday, according to Coach Naomi Robnetto, secretary of the District 2 girls teams association.

Under the plan of play this year, each team must lose twice before eliminated. Representatives of 12 counties gathered Friday in the Hilton Hotel, Lubbock, and drew for first round play.

Losers will play winners, and winners losers, in the second round. Losers in the first round will not be eligible to win first place, but may continue competition for second place, Miss Robnetto says.

Following is pairings for first round Friday, March 1:

- 1 p. m., Plainview vs. Abernathy.
- 2 p. m., Littlefield vs. Wilson.
- 3 p. m., Southland vs. Muleshoe.
- 4 p. m., Lorenzo vs. Shallowater.
- 5 p. m., Meadow vs. Ropes.
- 7 p. m., Merton vs. Patton Springs.

Kitties Again Downed On Shallowater Floor In 35-29 Heartbreak

The same old jinx, nerves and a slick playing floor, brought Kitty cagers another heartbreak last Thursday night at Shallowater. The Lubbock county ladies won 35-29.

Sisters Oma and Opal Carpenter were offensive spearheads for the Lamb county lassies. Oma bounced 18 points off the backboard while Opal basketed four times. Mason netted a field shot. Score by quarters, all favoring Shallowater, was 8-2, 18-18, 28-21. The Kitty second period flash was quickly muffled in the third quarter.

Smalley and Todd, forwards, led the Shallowater attack. Guards were Henderson and Maloney. Kitty guards were Kimmel, Edwards and McCurry.

SPORT WORLD

By BILL NORRIS

After a year of faithful service to one of the worthiest of causes, Littlefield athletics, Booster President C. O. Stone stepped aside to relinquish the chair to Pat Boone, another man who has proven his mettle as an athletic director.

To President Stone, a thousand thanks for a job well done. To President Boone, all the best wishes in the world for a smooth administration.

Thanks to these men, and a goodly number of others who have toiled unceasingly the past year, Littlefield athletics is now on a par with that of any other South Plains town you care to mention.

Hardly more than a year ago, this city, as a field for athletics, was almost barren. High school sports, under the worthy guidance of Coach L. T. Barksdale, was virtually Littlefield's only representation in athletics. And in spite of hard work by Mentor Barksdale and other school officers, interest in sports lagged.

Since that time a brilliant new chapter which marks a definite turn in the athletic tide, has been written. Conceived out of a crying need for city recreation, the Littlefield Athletic Booster Association was born—and at this point, local athletics figuratively turned the corner.

Today, we can point with civic pride to a pair of the finest football and softball fields in towns of comparative size on the South Plains.

Today, we can retrospect with glee on the record crowds which appeared at night football and softball games, crowds which marked the beginning of a new era in local athletics.

And today, we stand on the threshold of another promising softball season. We are equipped with a board of directors to keep the softball machine running smoothly, powerful lights to make night playing a pleasure, and above all, a sport-minded populace to make competition keener and the zest for play more lively.

Considerable talk about the organization of a South Plains Softball league for this season will either come to a head within the next month, or probably die out altogether until next year. Several towns, some of which have lighted fields, would unhesitatingly enter the league, once the wheels of organization started grinding.

This would be Littlefield's next step in the right athletic direction. Night playing in several towns hereabouts has proved beyond a doubt that citizens will follow their softball teams to another town for a game.

And as an advertising medium for this city, night games played at home with other towns would literally shout the word, "Littlefield" about the housetops.

While athletic powers chewed the softball fat at the city hall last week, mention was made of the 10 inch ball. Although the subject was put aside until a future date, there is a chance, however small, that the smaller ball will come in for discussion.

Of course, should Littlefield enter the South Plains league, she would have to fall in line with the league on a ball, size of which would be agreed upon. But the issue will probably bob up again before long.

ONE YEAR AGO—Teams and coaches from 16 counties began pouring into Littlefield for the district basketball tournament.

NEWS ITEM—John Doe, about 33, is resting easily at his Littlefield home. Doe received injuries, mostly mental, when he pitched headlong into a sand dune in front of a local confectionery late Sunday night.

With a six-city association still intact, and possibility looming that seven more towns will be added, the South Plains Golf league moguls gathered at Lubbock Sunday and laid plans for the approaching "hit-em-and-walk" campaign.

While a cold, sandy weekend kept ordinarily intrepid club-swingers at home by the fireside, hearts beat high with the hope that the season's opening tourney will be run off some bright Sunday early in March. The quicker the better, say we.

Muleshoe Jaunt Is Success As Kitties Win 41-31 Contest

A journey to Muleshoe proved successful Saturday night when Kitty cagers whipped their Muleshoe hostesses with 41-31 ease.

Oma Carpenter and Genave Mason headed the powerful Kitty offensive which left the Hockley county girls panting far in the rear every period. Score by quarters, Littlefield 14, Muleshoe 5; Littlefield 22, Muleshoe 16, and Littlefield 30, Muleshoe 23.

Oma Carpenter dropped 16 points through the hoop, Mason netted 14 and Opal Carpenter 6. Shafner and Chandler, forwards, accounted for major part of Muleshoe points.

Lamesa Is District Cage Winner; Olton Downed In Prelims

Lamesa's Golden Tornados Friday and Saturday marched roughshod through Olton, Lorenzo, Plainview and finally Lubbock Westerners to win District 3 Interscholastic basketball championship, for the third year in a row. Play was held in Texas Tech gym.

Olton, Lamb County's representative, bowed to the Tornado 31-25 in first round play Friday. Lamesa won from Lorenzo 30-26, Plainview Bulldogs in the semi-finals 35-19 and Lubbock Westerners in the final game late Saturday 37-35.

Levelland Lobos were downed by Westerners in a semi-final game 34-23. Highly touted Shallowater five was defeated by Westerners in a preliminary joust.

Sweater Awards Are Made to 18 Friday

Eighteen football sweaters were informally awarded to 15 gridgers, two student team managers and Assistant Grid Coach Earl Hobbs at Littlefield High school last Friday noon. Formal ceremonies were to have been held in regular assembly today.

Sweaters are dark maroon with a 7-inch white chamille letter. Players who received sweaters, and the number of seasons they have played are: Capt. Bob McKnight, three; O. K. Yantis, two; Randolph Bramley, 1935 captain-elect, two; Cecil Hall, three; Allen Kendrick, three; Leo Duffey, three; L. V. Pierce, one; Billie Dorman, one; Paul Chisholm, one; Hall Rowe, one; James Faust, one; Ray Smith, one; R. Lee Gibson, one; and Gerald Lakey, one.

Student managers now wearing sweaters are Olley Robbins and Sport Lakey.

Golf League Play Will Be Started March 17

South Plains Golf league play will begin March 17, league members decided Sunday after a meeting in Lubbock's Hilton Hotel. Slaton, Petersburg, and Lubbock County Club and Meadowbrook club were represented.

Schedule of play will be drawn up as soon as roster of the league is determined. Seven other towns will be invited to join the league. Littlefield and Brownfield were not represented at Sunday's meeting, but will be active in tourney play.

ATHLETIC POWERS WILL FINANCE KITTY CAGERS ON ANNUAL JAUNT TO DISTRICT TOURNEY MARCH 1

Four Old Softball Teams Have Made City League Bids

Applications from managers of four last year's teams for reentrance into the City Softball league have been received by League Secretary Wm. N. Orr, he said Wednesday afternoon. One new team had also made application.

The Businessmen, Fireboys, Sunnysdale and the All Stars, with organization partly perfected, have applied, records show. The new team, managed by T. J. Watson of Watson Produce, was the only recently organized team to apply up to Wednesday, the secretary said.

Kitty-Spade Cage Race Is Clean Local Sweep

The clean Kitty sweep over Spade in the county championship scrap here a week ago Wednesday saw Mason and the Carpenter sisters hot from all over the court. Final count, 49-23.

Despite thrusts led by Nabers and Bird, Spade failed to get under way. Score by quarters, with Littlefield leading all the way, was 19-6, 27-16, and 35-19. Mason scored 20 points, Oma Carpenter 18 and Opal 18.

Kimmel, Edwards and McCurry saw regular defensive action while Wharton and Gillette played at intervals. Willis subbed at forward.

Littlefield Athletic association members raised about $50 in a cessful drive early this week to finance Kitty cagers on their annual jaunt to the district cage tourney, according to records of Secretary Wm. N. Orr.

"My girls are fairly tickled over this opportunity made for to attend the district meet without a burden of expense," declared Coach Naomi Robnetto Wednesday afternoon. "You may say for us we highly appreciate this kind assistance, and will go up there to win."

Some fifty business and professional men and firms contributed gladly. The tourney will be held at Wilson March 1 and 2. List of donors follows:

Arrangements just completed by Mr. Hawk will accommodate all who care to take advantage of rates unobtainable by individual travel... These arrangements include everything—transportation both ways, sight-seeing tours and stops at the eight most important points along the route, housing accommodations and all meals, except luncheons and dinners for the four days in Mexico City.

Sight-Seeing Tours... Stops will be made only at division points. Most of the travel between these points will be at night, allowing more time for sight-seeing tours.

Mason King, who has directed Globe-News tours to A Century of Progress, Mexico City and throughout the Southwest, has been named by Mr. Hawk as general manager of the Rotary Special.

Thousands To Be There... Mexico City is the Paris of the North American continent. Thousands upon thousands of persons from all sections of the world will be there for Rotary International.

The train, providing every service, including barbers, will be manned by an English-speaking Mexican crew. Clients of the tour will be taken on sight-seeing trips at Austin with a visit to the capitol.

Stops of three to eight hours will be made for these educational and entertaining side trips. The train will arrive early Monday morning, June 17, in Mexico City and remain until 11 o'clock on the night of Friday, June 21.

Reservations may be made now by making a deposit of only $25, the balance to be paid as late as five days before the special leaves Amarillo.

Beekeepers Face Ruin Through Dry Weather

TEMPLE, Tex., Feb. 27 (UP)—Beekeepers of Central Texas, who have become famous for the high quality of honey they have produced, are facing ruin as a result of the drouth.

The story of George Gresham, old timer of this section, is typical of others. Last May Gresham had 108 swarms of bees which he valued at $10 a swarm.

It wasn't hunger but rather lack of work that was troubling the bees, Gresham said. They had plenty of food because he did not rob the hives the year before.

For a while apiarists had hopes their swarms might return. Now, however, they have become reconciled to the fact that they will not come back.

Entering Our Eleventh Year This Week of Medical and Hospital Service in Littlefield

During this time we have served several thousand sick.

And in these years we have had probably more than our just share of charity work. While it is a fact that Doctors, Nurses and Hospitals do more charity work in a community than all other organized and unorganized charities combined, due to our having operated a small hospital through these years, we naturally have born a bigger burden than customarily and justly belong to us. We had hoped that before now our community could and would have established and operated a hospital for the benefit of our community, not necessarily as a paying proposition to anyone, but strictly as a matter of community service to humanity. However, in spite of the past hard years we are still able to do our reasonable share of the community work. Especially we thank the State Relief, Community, County, City, and other organizations for their contributions in this service.

And we feel that whatever success we have achieved has been largely due to HONESTY and SERVICE in act and not words . . . in deeds worthy of serious consideration.

We are proud of the success we have achieved. We have labored HARD and HONEST, and we wish to thank all who have co-operated with us in any way.

GROWTH OF ROTARY

The 30th anniversary of the founding of Rotary, on February 23, was celebrated by more than 3,700 cities all over the world.

An increase during the last five years of an average of one new club every three days has brought the membership of Rotary International to 3,730 Rotary clubs, with an individual membership of nearly 154,000 Rotarians, within a few hundreds of the highest total in the history of Rotary, and steadily increasing.

"If we will but observe the evident signs of encouragement," said President R. L. Hill, of Columbia, Missouri, "we shall realize that Rotary is succeeding. Everywhere I go I find a spirit of optimism in spite of trying times. Rotary is succeeding because Rotarians are striving for the things that count. We pick out the worthwhile things in life and do them."

The origin of this great world-wide movement had its inception in a meeting in Chicago, February 23, 1905, with Paul Harris, a lawyer, and three of his friends. It was the founder's purpose to bring together some of his friends and their friends in a club designed primarily to encourage fellowship among the leading business and professional men of a community.

Inspired by the enthusiasm generated in this first club, the founder began efforts to organize Rotary clubs in other cities. It was three years before the second club was organized in San Francisco, but within five years, sixteen of the largest cities in the United States had Rotary clubs.

At the convention in 1912, the name International Association of Rotary Clubs was adopted, and charters were issued to Rotary clubs in Winnipeg, Canada, London, England and Dublin, Ireland. The name was shortened to Rotary International in 1922.

The name "Rotary" was suggested by Paul Harris from the early custom of holding the meetings of the club in the offices of the members in rotation. The founder also devised the classification principle, restricting membership in the Rotary club to but one man in each distinct line of business or profession.

From the name "Rotary" and the thought of rotation among one's friends, came the inspiration for the Rotary emblem, first the simple wheel and later the cog wheel, officially adopted in 1924.

At the second convention, 1911, the expression: "He profits most who serves best" was adopted as the best expression of the principles of Rotary. Some years later the phrase "Service Above Self" was coined and the two expressions were united in 1916 to form the Rotary motto of today.

Summary of CHDA Work During 1934 Reveals Good Year

In January, meat canning demonstrations were given in the County, and plans made for exhibiting products at the district meat show at Lubbock in March. At this show several ribbons were taken in canned meat and the 4-H girls' meat canning team placed 4th in the district. Several ribbons were also taken at the Dairy Show at Plainview in April. A Lamb County woman won 2nd. place in the contest in judging Dairy Products. February was given to plant propagation and care, and as a result 8627 small fruit trees, grape and berry vines were added to the orchards in the county. During March and April 2284 ft. of garden tile was made and laid in 14 gardens. Tomatoes and strawberries were planted over the tile. The strawberries did especially well, and the tomato plants grew well, and bloomed and bloomed but did not bear heavily, however, I believe they did much better than surface irrigated tomatoes. Even though tomatoes were very scarce much interest was manifested in the demonstration in making tomato juice given in the County in September. People are looking forward to their future tomato crops. Another demonstration given in farm food supply work was that on making and canning English Plum pudding. Much interest was manifested in this demonstration and many women have their pudding all canned and on the shelves ready for Christmas gifts and Christmas dinner. The pantry shelves are not as laden with vegetables this year because of the drouth, but much fruit and protein foods have been canned and stored.

On wardrobe our aim was for every co-operator to get a foundation pattern, to make a dress by it, and exhibit it at the County Dress Contest. This demonstration was given in March and little interest was manifested. Another day was given to this work in May and interest was looming high. By the time of the wardrobe achievement programs in June, 82 patterns had been made and now 103 have been made, and 450 dresses and 164 other garments made by them. Sixty-one closets have been improved and many shelves and dresser drawers re-arranged. This was the third year of wardrobe work in this county, and I think the demonstration can be completed in 1935.

This was the second year for bedroom work with the 4-H girls in this county. Last year they studied rest and sleep, also pictures for the bedroom, and this year much of the time was given to developing standard beds. Alma Allen of this county placed third in the district in the bedroom demonstration.

VOCATIONAL COURSES HELP STUDENT IN THE CHOICE OF A FUTURE CAREER, IS BELIEF

By A. B. SANDERS

The problem of each and every high school pupil is "Where Do I Go From Here?" That is what can I do when I am through high school? There are several decisions that can be made about this all important matter. The influences that are brought to bear on the pupil by the community, home, and school during his high school age are largely responsible for the type of decision he is led to make.

It is in the school that the youngster is given a chance to discover and develop his abilities both physical and mental. By the time he has reached the point of graduation he has made up his mind about his ability along some lines at least. In addition to what he has learned about himself he needs the guidance of more experienced people.

The vocational courses are arranged to give an opportunity for acquaintance with some vocations that may be followed. It is true that the school cannot afford a taste of all the vocations but can supply them in a limited fashion. The vocational courses bring the pupil into actual contact with the more common vocations of the community. The teachers and professional men are the total source of personal guidance available to the youngster. Teachers are sympathetic with the problems of youth and are willing to aid in the solutions of their problems. The teacher can do his or her best when given the assistance of the folks who are actually making a living in the vocations about which the youngster is to learn. By the proper co-operation of the pupils, teacher and patron of the school the product of the school and community should be a person who is able to adjust himself in the community of his choice, serving in a vocation that contributes to the welfare of society.

A Workshop That Will Someday Be a Shrine

In a backyard workshop somewhere in America a nameless young inventor is at work. Under his tireless hands a strange machine is taking form—a machine whose name or use we may not even know.

But someday your grandchild will say: "How hard life must have been in 1935 without it!"

Such is the story of Electricity!

Before the invention of the countless numbers of modern electrical servants your mother and grandmother toiled day in and day out spending hours at jobs that today—thanks to Electricity—are a mere detail. They strained their eyes reading and studying by dim light; but today—thanks to electricity—artificial light may be had that's good as day!

Check over the household, the office, or shop today and see the saving of time and money that can be yours by the use of more electrical servants. Or, we would welcome an opportunity to visit your home or business and make helpful suggestions.

BUILDING CHARACTER SUBJECT OF ASSEMBLY SPEAKER THURSDAY

Character building was the theme stressed by Reverend Joe F. Grizzle in his talk to the student assembly Thursday.

Reverend Grizzle pointed out several eminent men of America and stated that all who had achieved eminence had been profound students of the Bible. The speaker further alleged that industry and temperance are essential to successful living. "An idle life never goes far, neither does an extravagant life go far," he said.

Students were urged to live superior to defeat and disappointment, and to keep climbing in spite of difficulties encountered. The speaker concluded his address by saying that, "Life is not what we find it, but life is what we make it," and that the Littlefield student body should resolve to reach the top rung of the ladder of life.

JOKES

Strauss: "Why is Cotton looking so pleased with himself?"
Emory: "He's just bought a car cheap."
Strauss: "Well, what are you grinning about?"
Emory: "Oh, I sold Tilde to him."

Mrs. Walters: "Don't be afraid of the meat, Lula."
Lula: "I'm not afraid of it. I've seen twice as much meat on my plate and it didn't frighten me a bit."

Opal: "I hear your rich uncle is dead. What was the complaint?"
Clyde: "None. Everybody was satisfied."

Cecil was roused from his sleep by sounds on the roof. "Mamma, I'm frightened," he called to his mother in the next room.

"Go back to sleep, dear," came the reassuring answer. "That's only daddy taking his shoes off before he sneaks through the skylight. He's been airplaning home from the club."

Strauss: "You look like a sensible girl. Let's get married."
Ellarene: "Nothing doing. I'm just as sensible as I look."

"I could die dancing," exclaimed Irby, dancing all over her feet.
"Maybe so," Oma agreed, "but we don't need to make a death pact out of it."

Catherine: "I'm sorry you don't think much of my voice, Miss Hopping. The people next door say I ought to go abroad to study."
Miss Hopping: "Yes, but I don't live next door."

Orville: "Can you keep a secret, Wilma?"
Wilma: "Sure thing, but it's always my luck to tell it to some girl who can't."

Mr. Sanders is so absent minded. This morning he kissed a pancake and poured syrup over his wife.

SYNOPSIS . . . Ellen Church, 17 years old, finds herself alone in the field with her artist mother's last painting ringing in her ears, to "love lightly." Of the world she knew little. All her life she had lived alone, first as a new baby, then as a child in an old brown house in a small rural community. A bubbling child then a charming young girl . . . she had posed for her talented mother who sold her magazine cover painting through an art agent in the city . . . Ellen, turned to the only contact she knew, an art agent in New York. Posing, years of posing, was to two leading artists, Dick Alven and Sandy Macintosh. Both used her as a model and both fell in love with her . . . but Ellen, trying to follow the warped philosophy of her mother to "love lightly," resists the thought of love. Her circle of friends is small, artists and two or three girl models. Ellen attends a ball with Sandy. While dancing a tall young man claimed her and romance is born. A ride in the park, proposal, the next day marriage to Tony, and wealth. But she'd "Love Lightly," Ellen told herself. She had only talent so she was introduced would never let him know how desperately she loved him, even though she were his wife. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Ellen found that the hatred of the massed friends was concentrating upon this unknown person who bore the label, not the name, of Jane.

He was talking to someone else. "The Sans Souci," he was saying. "Oh, as soon as you can make it. Don't dress. No, of course, I'm not kidding. Call up Jane, herself, if you don't believe me. It's someone you don't know! Someone you never heard of . . ."

Ellen was leaning against the screen. Claire hadn't a right, but she asked questions anyway. For once Ellen was grateful to Claire for an intrusion.

"Who is this Jane person?" asked Claire. "Why don't you ask her to the party? Seems as if she's got a real reason for wanting to meet Ellen."

Tony's tone, filled with the excitement of news-spreading, answered, "Jane's a girl I've known all my life," he said. "We've always gone places together—our families were friends. Yes, you're right, she should be asked. I'll call her . . ."

It was while Tony was talking to Jane that Ellen came out from behind the screen. She wanted to watch her husband's face while he talked with this other girl. His—

"This is Mr. Tony, James. Yes, I want to speak to Miss Jane," gave the cue. It meant a butler, and great familiarity with that butler. And then his delighted, "That you, Jane dear? Well, take hold of something, and prepare for a shock. Better sit down." And then, "Ready? Well, I'm married." And then, after a long pause, "Oh, but I couldn't have given you any hint, it was so sudden." And then, "I think you're being rotten, Jane. Of course, not a chorus girl . . ."

Ellen spoke. "Tell her, Tony," she said, and she didn't need the rouge now, there was plenty of color in her face. "Tell her it's even worse than she thinks. Tell her I'm a model." Tony, his brows raised, was staring at Ellen over the top of the phone. His voice was crisp when he spoke, finally, into the transmitter. "Got to go, now," he said shortly. "See you later, girl, at the Sans Souci. . ."

He laid down the phone. He turned to Ellen and made comment. "That's a dumb line to pull," he said.

"What's dumb about it?" asked Ellen hotly. "Being a model's the way I earn my living."

"The way you earned it," corrected Tony.

"Their first quarrel," Claire said, sotto voice, to Sandy.

Dick was suddenly standing beside Ellen.

"Don't!" he said sharply. "Don't act like crazy children—you've grown up now. This is important! If you love each other," his lips were twisted, he might have been suffering, "and you must love each other or you wouldn't have rushed into this marriage—why, love each other now. Kiss each other . . ."

Tony's arms were about Ellen hungrily. She didn't care, either, at the moment, that Dick had turned aside—that Sandy's eyes were cast ceilingward. Tony was kissing her; she was kissing him.

The Sans Souci should have been as gay as the Six Arts Ball, but it wasn't. It was a dark little place with only an aura of expense to keep it from utter dinginess. There was a cleared space for dancing.

"At that," said Gay, "I think we'd have had more fun back in Dick's studio. Sandy was at the counter, ordering something. Tony had said—

"Have everything your own way, the house is ours, tonight!" Gay had her arm around Sandy's neck. Claire was talking with a group of men, men who had arrived with Gay.

"Tony," called Ellen, "Tony! I've never had a drink in my life. May I, tonight, have champagne?"

"It's illegal, drinking," said Claire shortly, as she moved away.

"Myself," said Tony, and he was looking straight into her eyes. "I don't need champagne, darling—not tonight. Do you? Let the others get lit, if they must. It's our wedding party—ours—yours and mine!"

With a little nestling movement, Ellen was cuddled against Tony's side. No, she didn't need champagne—Tony was right. She was intoxicated on a sort of ethereal champagne.

"It's our—" she began. There was a sound of battering against the outer door, of fists beating against the panels, of feet kicking.

His friends . . . The door opened, and they came in, and Ellen found herself wondering how Tony could have possibly reached so many in so short a time. Tony rushed forward, dragged the friends over to meet her. Some shook her hand, some made wisecracks. Some of them, most of them, kissed her!

She met Tom. Tom had been an All American halfback only the year before. She met Herb—whose face was so familiar that she knew that she had seen it in many a roto section. She met the dark, chubby young woman whom Herb introduced as his "wop wife." She met Margie—as smart of looks, but not of brain, as Claire. She met Harris and Jim and Hilda. She met a score of others. And then she met—Jane.

Jane was tall where Ellen was short. She was long of hand and foot, aristocratically long; whereas Ellen's hand and feet were child-like.

Jane wore a straight dress of white satin, with long sleeves that came down in points over her hands, and on one of her hands she wore a great pearl. And she had a little white velvet jacket slung over her arm. She looked like the bride—not Ellen. Ellen looked like a bride's kid sister.

Tony said, and there was only the merest trace of self-consciousness in his voice. "This is my wife, Jane. This is Ellen."

And Ellen found that she was shaking hands with Jane. Jane's hand was very cold as it touched her own, but not so cold as Jane's voice.

"She very pretty," said Jane, and Ellen might have been a child whom she was discussing, "very pretty. But I wouldn't have expected you to fall for the type, Tony!"

Gay had edged close. Gay had deserted Sandy, had already annexed Tom, the ex-halfback. She seemed even more diminutive than ever against his bulk.

"Sure she's pretty," agreed Gay, rudely. "So'm I. So are you. And we all talk, too, and eat, and not one of us if deaf and dumb!"

"Gay," murmured Ellen, "don't." But Jane was laughing.

"You're amusing," she said to Gay. "Now, if it were you—" her tone implied that, had it been Gay, she might have understood.

The dim little man with the accordion was beginning to play. His music wasn't dim; it was strange, passionate, throbbing music. It didn't belong in the heart of an accordion—or in a speakeasy. It made tears rush, unbidden to Ellen's eyes.

Jane was over at the wooden counter, now. Laughing with Sandy—a high unnatural laugh. Dick was at the bar, too.

Tony's arm was around Ellen's waist. "It was a waltz last night," he said, "remember?" And then, "May I have this dance, Mrs. Brander?"

They danced, their bodies close together, their hearts throbbing in time to the strange music. It wasn't fair—the music did things to one; it made forgetting a matter of course! Ellen felt that nothing, exactly, was fair. Why hadn't she been born like Jane—or normal, happy parents, who lived together in a house and had a butler? Parents who wouldn't have died apart—tragically.

"What are you thinking of," breathed Tony, into her ear, "Sweet-heart?"
Ellen knew she should have said the words he expected, but she couldn't.

"My mother!" she said. Tony might have been angry, but he wasn't. Instead, his lips touched Ellen's hair as they had during their first waltz together.

"I wish she were here, tonight," he said. "I wish mine were here, too. We'll tell each other about our mothers won't we, dear, one day?"

It was his sweetness that was so disarming. That was the word—sweetness! It made her love him more than ever.

"Yes," Ellen breathed. "yes, Tony, we will."

"Say," the boy's hand, holding hers, was hot and tense, his voice had thickened strangely. "Say, Ellen let's cut away from here. They'll never miss us. We've got to get away. I'll," he was repeating himself, "I'll never get to know you in this mad house! Let's go away—"

Ellen, too, was repeating the action of the night before. "I'll get my hat," she said. "No, they'll not miss us."

Into the magic moment cut the sound of Jane's voice, as cool and frosted as the glass she held in her hand.

"Your friend with the beard," she said to Ellen, "has been telling tales out of school! He says you're the best model in the city. He says your legs will be a great loss to the profession, now that they're wearing a ball and chain!"

Ellen wanted to sob, aloud. She felt a flush rising up over her chin. But she didn't sob—she said, instead—

"I'm not so sure that my legs live up to the advertising. But I am sure that they'll not be lost to art. Tony has said that he doesn't care if I go on with my work."

"Of course," Jane's voice held a tinkle of laughter; it, too, was like the tinkle of ice in the glass, "if Tony doesn't care—but I would have expected him to be against that sort of thing. Have you been in the profession—" said Jane, "long?"
"I posed," Ellen said, "for the first time, nude, on a fur rug. When I was almost a month old!"

Claire had sauntered over. Her eyes were on Dick.

"Honey," she drawled, annoyingly, "it's not your fight. Come away with mama."

Jane's eyebrows went up in a straight, dark line.

"It's not a fight at all," she said. "Really, you're so quaint—all of you. I've never seen so many chips on so many shoulders. Tony, come over to a table with me. I want another drink. We'll have champagne together. It'll be a stirrup-cup!" Her tone said,

"You and I, we don't belong here—these people are aliens. They are n't our people!"

Jane's tone spoke plainly, so did her hand on Tony's arm. Tony had to go. He didn't want to go, but how was Ellen to know that?

"I want champagne, too," said Ellen, turning to Dick. "I'm a married woman, now—" Her bravado was piteous.

Dick looked at her whitely. "Oh, God!" he said as swiftly, frantically, desperately, he bent above her.

"Oh, God," he said again as he kissed her quivering mouth.

It was strange that the whole room should have stood still as Dick kissed Ellen, for the whole room had been preoccupied before, utterly absorbed in its own varying devices. It was all very strange, indeed. But the strangest part of it all was the way in which Tony took it—for he didn't say anything. He just looked at Ellen, and spoke to one of the waiters who hovered near.

"Champagne," he said to the waiter. "It's an occasion. Champagne for everybody."

Ellen's crowd, Tony's crowd—came jamming forward. And Tony, raising his glass very high, made a toast.

"Here's to marriage," said Tony clearly, "to modern marriage. The sort that sells, over the counter, for so much per square foot. Here's to—"

Ellen was crowding forward. (What a man has he doesn't want—what a man has he holds carelessly!)

"I'll drink to that," said Ellen very clearly. Oh, Tony should have understood that Dick's kiss was as much of a surprise to her, coming then, as it had been to him! What she didn't understand was that the kiss had been in the nature of a surprise to Dick, too—for Dick was full of surprises this night. Personal ones—and impersonal ones.

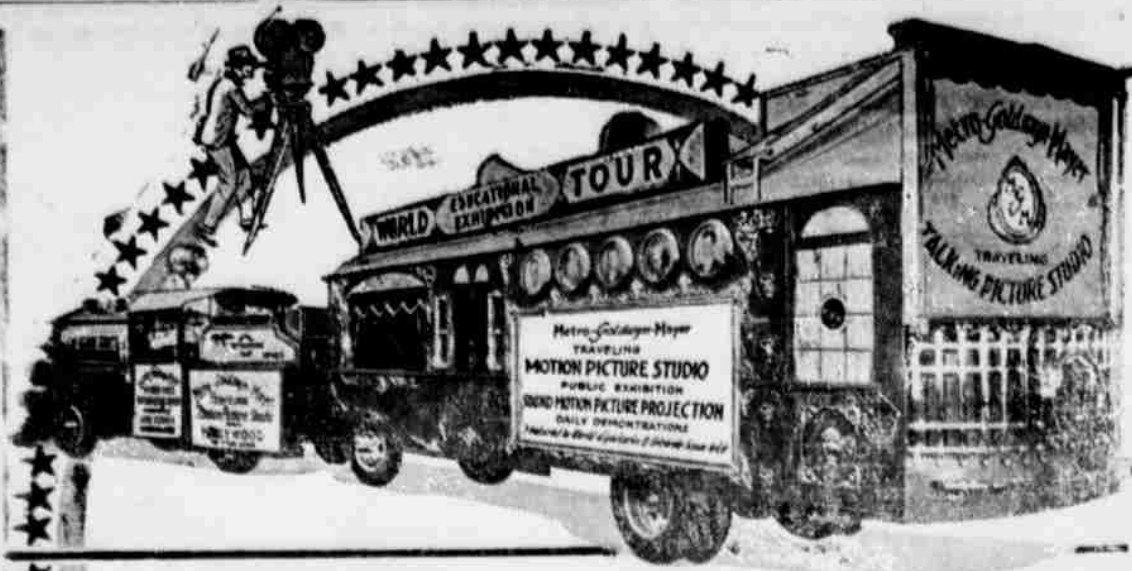

It was Jane, not Tony, who handed Ellen a glass of champagne. Across the bubbling brim of it she looked into Tony's face.

"Here's to our marriage," she said clearly. "Here's to the sort of marriage that hasn't any ties or responsibilities. Here's to our love—to the lightest sort of love. Here's—"

CUENOD'S DRY GOODS TO SPONSOR QUILT EXHIBIT APRIL 15-MAY 1

Coenod's Dry Goods Company have announced that they will feature another quilt exhibit at their store between April 15 and May 1.

"Rules and regulations governing the show have not been perfected as yet, but will probably be announced next week," said Mrs. T. S. Sales, under whose supervision the exhibit will be arranged.

A very elaborate quilt show, one of the largest ever to be shown on the South Plains, was sponsored by the Coenod's Dry Goods Company two years ago, which brought entrants and visitors from all over West Texas.

There were 114 quilts entered in the show, including pieced, appliqued, embroidered, painted, both old and new quilts, in the wedding Ring design, Dresden Plate, Log Cabin, Overall Boy and Girl, Lone Star, Butterfly, Flower Garden, also some very old quilts, which had home spun linen linings. Quilts that had won prizes in the St. Louis World Fair were also included in the exhibit.

The exhibit being planned for this year promises to be as large and interesting as the last show.

All persons interested are urged to begin their quilts now, so that they will be finished in plenty of time, as nothing but finished quilts will be exhibited.

Rev. W. H. Bessire Presents Indian Mission Picture

A large attendance was present to enjoy this educational and interesting picture.

IRENE DUNNE IN "SWEET ADELIN" TO BE FEATURED AT PALACE THEATRE

"Sweet Adeline" the sensational musical comedy hit by Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein II that set all New York a-whistling, now comes to the screen as the latest of the Warner Bros. gigantic musical specials, and is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday afternoon, Sunday night and Monday.

Irene Dunne, favorite singing star of both stage and screen, will appear in the stellar role, supported by an exceptionally talented cast of comedy and dramatic players. Miss Dunne's golden voice became famous in such Broadway hits as "Show Boat," "Irene," "Sweetheart Time" and others.

The picture is laid in the glamorous Broadway theatrical district; a fashionable trysting place for young bloods and their lady loves on the outskirts of the city and in a picturesque Hoboken beer garden of the gay nineties.

Irene Dunne has the role of the beer garden songbird, with Donald Woods portraying the young song writer.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

"BIG TREES" (SEQUOIA GIGANTEA)

AT ONE TIME, THE BIG TREES THRIVED IN THE NORTH TEMPERATE ZONE OF BOTH HEMISPHERES! NOW THEY ARE TO BE FOUND ONLY IN A SMALL AREA ON THE WESTERN SLOPE OF THE CALIFORNIA SIERRAS.

SOME OF THE TREES STANDING IN THIS AREA WERE LARGE TREES THOUSANDS OF YEARS BEFORE CHRIST WAS BORN.

The GENERAL SHERMAN TREE, WHICH STANDS IN SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK, IS CONSIDERED THE WORLD'S LARGEST LIVING THING! IT IS KNOWN TO BE THOUSANDS OF YEARS OLD AND HAS AN ESTIMATED WEIGHT OF 6,000 TONS.

FOREST FIRES HAVE LITTLE EFFECT ON THE THICK-BARKED GIANTS OF THE PLANT WORLD.

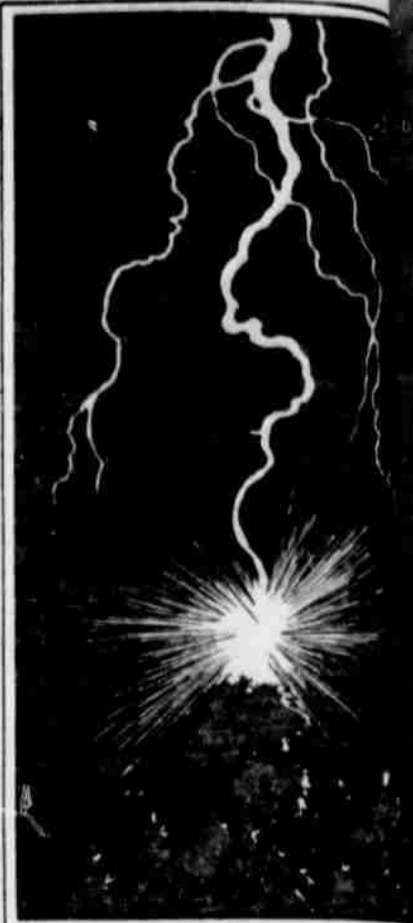

EVEN THE SEEDS OF THE BIG TREE SEEM INDESTRUCTIBLE.

CONES WHICH ESCAPE THE DRYING EYES OF SQUIRRELS MAY HANG ON THE TREES FOR YEARS — THE SEEDS RETAINING THEIR POWERS OF GERMINATION.

BUT SEQUOIAS MUST DIE, AND WHEN THESE 300-FOOT MONARCHS GO DOWN, THE ROAR DROWNS OUT THE THUNDER OF THE STORM THAT FELS THEM.
