The regular monthly conservation work of the Lamb County office in the service office in Monday night, August 7, by the board of the district equipment conservation work was being placed at the various schools of the county under the supervision of the Vocational Agriculture Departments and FFA Chapters. Equipment made available to the vocational departments will consist of grass seeding drills, legume row drills and landplanes for leveling. The vocational clubs will receive a percentage of the money earned from the rental of this equipment. All farmers of Lamb County are urged by the district to participate in the conservation program and take advantage of the benefits to be derived from this cooperative effort. A special effort is being made to get winter crops planted. Fall seedings, where moisture is available, can be started by August 15th and should not be planted later than Oct. 1 for satisfactory results. Legumes recommended for fall seeding in row crops include: Madrid clover, hairy vetch, or Austrian winter peas. It is hoped that the legume row seeders being purchased by the district will be available in time to help supply this need. An increase in acreage of fall planted legumes is needed if Texas farmers are to maintain high production per acre of cotton and other cash crops and protect their land from further damage by erosion, it was pointed out.

Lamb Harvests 60,000 Bu. Wheat
 Lamb County played a very small part in the 12 million bushel wheat crop raised in the Texas Oklahoma Panhandle, South Plains and Eastern New Mexico area. The crop has a cash value of more than 25 million dollars, 12 million dollars more than the minimum crop of 1950, but still small compared to the bumper 183 million dollar crop raised in 1949. Lamb County only planted 15,000 acres of wheat this year, harvested 8 thousand acres with a total yield of 60 thousand bushels, an average of seven and a half bushels per acre. The top producer as far as total yield is concerned is Floyd County. (Continued on Back Page)

Tough General Guards Iranian Oil District

By James M. Long

ABADAN, Iran—The husky six-foot Iranian general whose troops reoccupied Azerbaijan from the Russians in 1945 is in command of dangerously explosive Khuzistan in the British-Iranian oil dispute.

He has three British warships at his port, an aroused Iranian populace determined that two thousand British must go — and he says: "We'll have no trouble here. I have at my disposal more than enough forces to assure complete security."

Looks Like Coach

He's 46 year old Gen. Azizolla Kamal (accent on the last syllable) military governor of Khuzistan where the British are slowly evacuating one of the richest oil fields under pressure of Iranian oil nationalization.

Take him out of his sun-bleached khaki and the squarejawed professional soldier in the army of the shah would look like an American football coach — greying a bit at the temples but in strapping fine physical condition.

He didn't get that way from athletics. "Never had time for sport," he says. "The Army has kept me busy."

He's busy now. His Tenth Iranian Division (Iranian divisions are only a fraction the size of American and European Army divisions) has been ordered from Teheran to make sure there is no trouble here.

For if it started it might lead to World War III, with Britain determined to see that her subjects are safe and with Uncle Ivan watching from the north to see that no western armies land here.

Numbers Secret

General Kamal refuses to say how many men he has for the job, or how they are deployed in this land that comes down from the snow-capped Zagros mountains to the desertland at the head of the Persian gulf.

"If you were playing poker," he says, "you'd hardly let the other players see your cards."

His Tenth Division is part of the Southern Iranian Military Command with headquarters at Ahwaz, 109 miles northeast of here.

That's where his tanks are in reserve—Shermans and light Stuarts that Iran got from American Army surplus stores. And that's his air force base, too, if he needs to call on Gen. Shah Bakhti, Iran's "tiger of the south" for air support.

But Kamal doesn't expect to need help. He said Teheran had offered him more troops and he replied "no need for them."

Troops Drafted

His force is composed of Iranian compulsory service troops mostly on the 18th month of their required 24 months service. They come mainly from this wasteland, accustomed to the blasting heat of 180 degrees in the sun and 120 in the shade in country where there is no shade.

Kamal studied military science at the French-run Ecole de la Guerre at Teheran.

He was born at Teheran, Iran's most modern city.

"But that was more or less accidental," he explains.

His family came from the salt desert country of the great plateau near ancient Qum southeast of Teheran. He was born when his father and mother were in the capital temporarily on business.

Coach Fikes, Interviewed at Coaching School, Just As Mum As Usual About Cats' Prospects; Some Not Out of Diapers

If Littlefield football fans are worried about what Coach Jay Fikes has been doing this summer and if he forgot football, they should have seen him in San Antonio last week while he was attending the Texas State Coaches Association School.

Joe Walden and Jimmie Chapman called on Jay early Friday morning upon arriving in San Antonio. He was registered at the Gunter Hotel in the same room with Coach Mullins, of Anson, where Fikes has been spending part of the summer while attending college in Abilene.

"You could tell" said Jimmie, "that they had had quite a night with the other coaches. Football plays, formations, and rules were scattered all over the room on scratch paper, evidence that the coaches were exchanging plays and suggestions with each other during the night."

JAY NOT TALKING MUCH

"All of the coaches would ask Jay what his team was going to be like this year and how many games he was going to win this year. What the coaches learned was that Littlefield's team was going to average about 115 pounds per man, some would still be wearing diapers and that they would be lucky to win two games. Good o' Jay, let's all hope he just misled the coaches."

Fikes asked Joe Walden (1951 Co-Captain of the Wildcats) how all the boys were getting along and how much each one weighed. He would call them off just by memory and I don't believe he missed one. Joe assured him that all "bl boys" were anxious to see him and then Jay said that he would return to Littlefield about August 20. Pat Patterson, assistant coach, will return about the same time.

BEST "T" BACKFIELD

"We were rather disappointed in the All-Star Game, when Gene Renfro didn't get to play but three plays in which he made one tackle," said Jimmie. "We were satisfied later when Fikes explained that Gene couldn't catch on to the single wing type formation used by the North All-Stars and to top that off he was playing the same po-

SOUTH SPILLS NORTH IN ALL-STAR BASKETBALL GAME; SCORE 60-55

The South pulled the greatest upset of the Texas Coaching school All-Star basketball game Saturday night at San Antonio by whipping the North 60-55 in a contest that produced the highest score in the seven-year history of the series.

The North was an overwhelming favorite to win because of superior height and better all-around ability — or so it was apparent before the game.

But the South, led by Kelly Jim Duncan of Cayuga and Pepperay sition as Tommy Fields of Wichita Falls, who was voted the most valuable player of the night.

Coach Frank Howard of Clemson University, coach of the North team, said Renfro was the best "T" backfield man on the squad and should go far in college football.

Renfro plans to enroll at Baylor University and may play in the East-West All-Star game at Odessa, August 17.

Those attending the game from Littlefield were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yarbrough, Dorothy Yarbrough, Paul Yarbrough, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Renfro, Margie Renfro, Mary Fox, Tommy Balles, Pat Patterson, Jay Fikes, Joe Walden, and Jimmie Chapman.

Little Tommy Hill of Lamar (Houston) was behind only twice — in the third period — and at one time led by eight points.

Lane Ties For Scoring Honors
Keith Lane, Berger giant, tied Duncan for high point honors, each with 17, but Duncan was voted the outstanding player of the game by a light margin. The 6-foot-6 Lane was the top man of the North, getting most of his points by capturing rebounds.

The game's 115 points was by far the largest total ever scored in this all-star game. The previous high mark was set in 1947 when the game produced 82 points.

It also was the South's second victory in the series. The South won the first game, played in 1946, but had gone without a mark until tonight. Coaching the victorious south was Forrest Anderson, head man of basketball at Bradley university. Cliff Wells of Tulane led the south.

A crowd of 1,620 sat in the steamy Alamo gymnasium and roared approval of the game which critics pronounced the best in the series.

Starting the fourth period the south held a 46-43 lead and ran it to an eight point margin on the basket sinking of Duncan.

I. B. Palmer Injures Hand

Paul Dobkowski's seventh inning home run gave the Lubbock Hubbers a 3-1 decision over the Lamesa Lobos at Rosenthal Field Monday night, with Ken Michael shading Ed Arthur in a fine pitcher's duel.

But the victory, which moved the Hubbers into undisputed possession of second place, was a costly one. I. B. Palmer split the fourth finger on his right hand in the eighth inning and will be lost to the club for at least three or four days.

Palmer was taken to the hospital and three stitches taken in the finger, after a foul tip from the bat of Glen Burns struck him early in the eighth frame.

Michael, who won his eighth victory of the year, was in fine form. He allowed only seven hits, three of them coming in the second inning when Lamesa scored its only run. He whiffed seven batters and walked only one.

Arthur, still trying for his 20th victory, took his ninth loss instead. He pitched a fine game, but 11 hits were too much. He fanned five and walked only one batter also.

The Lobos drew first blood when Arthur, Jess Jacinto and Glen Selbo singled in succession in the third.

Lubbock tied it up in the fourth when Earl Hochstatter singled with two out and scored from first on Al Kubski's double to deep left field.

Dobkowski won the game with two out in the seventh, hitting his ninth homer of the year just over the leftfield fence. And the final run in the eighth, which came on Ray Machado's freak single to left scoring Kubski, who had singled, clinched the game.

Machado took over first after Palmer was injured and Hochstatter finished the game behind the plate. Both turned in adequate performances.

Player help is believed to be on the way. A rumor to the effect that Bob Crues, former Amarillo outfielder and now with San Angelo, would join the club today was circulating last night.

Paul Dean, general manager, agreed that he was one of three players under consideration, but said that he would have to talk to Kubski before making any move. He also said that the pitching staff seemed set and that no additions were contemplated.

The U.S. cotton textile industry is surpassed only by that of the United Kingdom.

The power capacity of rivers in the U.S.S.R. is estimated to equal slightly less than one-third of the potential water power capacity of the world.

FROM THE GRANDSTAND

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

Southwest Conference Football coaches will probably never, never pick a halfback for his looks, but a fashionable profile won't hurt the lad's chances.

The glamour boy the magazine covers this year again is going to come from the Southwest Conference. This time it's Bob Smith of Texas A & M.

Nearly a half-dozen national magazines are going to feature the Aggie's bruising fullback this fall. He'll be on the cover of at least three.

Doak Walker and Kyle Rote, you'll remember, were the pin-up boys the last couple of years.

Bobby Wilson of Southern Methodist was probably the first to be highly publicized from the Conference. He made a movie in 1936 in which he spoke all of ten words.

Then along came Sammy Baugh of Texas Christian, and later "Jackrabbit" Crain of the University of Texas got a three-color spread in one of the slicker "slick" magazines.

John Kimbrough of A & M was another "Glamour Boy", but one magazine really pulled a boner. They ran brother Jack's picture under John's name.

Walker, of course, was the star of them all and he beamed at millions from dozens of magazine covers.

Rote didn't do badly either. Smith and Larry Isbell of Baylor will probably be the most photographed players this year.

What about next season? Well, Gilbert Bartosh of Texas Christian wouldn't be a bad bet.

fied for the ensuing year; and the County Administration budget was adopted for another year.

The election for the consolidation of Olton and Hart Camp Schools, which carried, was discussed.

The Board, after much discussion and listening to representatives from an area which presented a petition for annexation back to Spade from the newly created Olton District, the group decided to annex approximately 12 square miles, from the Southern part of Hart Camp District to the Spade School District for all school purposes.

Mr. Jones states that confirmation of this decision by Hale County School Board will be necessary since Olton is a County Line District and part of its district lies in Hale County.

Hart Camp, according to Mr. Jones, will continue to operate as a grade school, but will be a ward of the Olton Independent School District.

tractor around on the hardsurfaced roads and damage them and each of these offenses is subject to a fine. It is not the intention of this Grand Jury to make it hard on any one, but we do insist that you try to help in maintaining our public roads. If it is necessary to run water across a road, the statutes require that you put in a culvert sufficiently long and sufficiently deep, so as not to create a hazard. We suggest that you consider these things when installing such culverts. We also recommend that the Commissioners' Court work out some plan of eradication of Johnson grass and bind weed on our county roads.

"It is very necessary that you try to protect our roads from this waste water from your irrigation wells, if we continue to run this water into the roads as we have been doing, we will be sure to have State legislation that will require such water to be taken care of on the farm. In this set up it would work great hardships on most of us. We can do this of our own accord.
