STUDY AMERICAN AGRICULTURE AND FEEDING METHODS

Visitors Think American Way of Living Too Fast

When the chartered bus bringing the Turkish officials for a farm inspection tour of Lamb county unloaded at the Littlefield bus station Friday morning, it was difficult to tell the visitors from the welcoming committee of city and chamber of commerce officials. The curious on-looker who was expecting to see turbans, slippers with rolled up toes, and long, flowing robes was in for the biggest surprise of his life. Neither were there any Turkish cigarettes in evidence. The brands being smoked ranged all the way from Herbert Tarleton to Lucky Strike. The comment, given with a grin, was that American cigarettes were good.

The reason is as simple as Turkey's great admiration for the United States and its way of life. Thirty years ago when Turkey changed from the ancient monarchy to a democratic form of government, the country began an intensive program of complete westernization which embraced all phases of life in Turkey: social, economic, and political. As a part of this program, the delegation visiting in Lamb county are in this country to make a study of American agriculture and livestock feeding methods.

The ten members of the group are all graduates of various agricultural colleges in Turkey. They were chosen by the Ministry of Agriculture of the Turkish government to make this tour. Among them are county agents, agronomists, and veterinarians.

Lamb County Ready For Bloodmobile; To Arrive Here Wednesday, July 23

The Lamb County Committee of the American Red Cross has appointed five community committees to assume the responsibility of sponsoring the appearance of the Defense Blood Program's Bloodmobile in Littlefield on July 24. County chairman, Rev. J. Henry Cox, listed the following committee chairmen this week: Sudan, Joe Salem; Amberst, Claude Emmons; Earth, M. E. Kelley; Olton, Trullitt Side; and Littlefield, Bob Crowell. These chairmen and the members of their committees will arrange for publicity, volunteers, transportation, and donors. Their part in the "blood drive" also includes making arrangements for the showing of the film, "There is No Substitute" in their respective communities and reminding each donor of his pledge two hours in advance of the time scheduled for his donation.

Sam Choy, director of overseas students at Wayland College, Plainview, points to the Orient on the world globe as Bob Bratcher, Lubbock, (center) and Hiroshi Tanamachi, Fukuoka, Japan, look on. The picture was made just before, Bob, Wayland sophomore, departed on a five months preaching mission to the Orient. Hiroshi, Wayland junior, is spending the summer months in the Orient as interpreter for Dr. A. Hope Owen, pastor of First Baptist church, Plainview, who is on a summer preaching mission, and as missionary to his own people.

Each community committee consists of two or more additional members. On the Sudan committee are J. P. Arnold and Joe Smith; Amberst, H. G. Holt; Earth, W. L. Barton and Roger Harberer and Olton, M. O. Blackshear, G. H. Bley, and Paul Edwards. At Littlefield, Cecil Harp, Houston Hoover, Jack Alexander, and Mrs. Tom Matthews.

Represented by the committees are the following cooperating organizations: Sudan and Littlefield Rotary, Sudan, Earth, Olton and Littlefield American Legion, Amberst, Olton, Earth and Littlefield Lions club, Littlefield American Legion Auxiliary, VFW and Auxiliary, Jaycees and Jayceettes, Chamber of Commerce and Woodmen of the World.

The Bloodmobile will be at the educational building of the First Baptist church in Littlefield from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Committees have been set up for responsibility for the various parts of organization necessary for the appearance here of the unit. A (Continued on back Page)

In a general way, the investment in a drive-in equals an indoor theatre, and often costs more. Picture screen is about two-thirds larger than for indoors, and requires higher voltage to give brighter projection.

When asked about special problems at the drive-in recently, the manager of a big 800 car drive-in built at a cost of nearly a half million dollars, who has managed the atres for years, stated that he likes managing the outdoor theatre better than the indoor. He added, that kids, and kiddie matinees are not a problem at the drive-in, and no more adult discipline problems.

He also said: "We do have the same amount of hoodlums and trouble-makers, and a very special problem with the sound speakers, which are attached or handed out to each car. Some people drive off with them in the car, while others maliciously tear them out or otherwise damage them. They cost about $15 each, and the loss of these speakers add up to considerable cost."

The drive-ins, small town, hereabouts represent according to the builders an investment of $30,000 or upwards. The investment now or in the near future in Lamb county drive-ins will approximate $150,000.

The picture he painted was not

Last Rites Held Thursday For Wm. T. Morgan

Last rites for William Thomas Morgan, 79, who passed away in the Littlefield Hospital, June 24, at 12:35 p.m. were conducted at the graveyard in Littlefield Cemetery on Friday, June 27.

Services which had been planned for Thursday afternoon were postponed until the arrival of a son,
Joe T. Morgan, from Watford City,
North Dakota.

Rains Thursday, Friday Brings Needed Moisture

More moisture came to the Littlefield-Lamb county area in the late afternoon, Friday, June 27. The business district of Littlefield received a soaking downpour which lasted only fifteen minutes. One-quarter of an inch fell at Muleshoe, and about the same amount fell north of Morton. During the early morning of the same day, one inch fell in Spade and the adjacent area.

Early Friday night it was reported that a total of .57 of an inch of rain had fallen throughout a large portion of Lamb county.

According to local statistics, twelve-hundredths of an inch of rain fell in the Lamb county area during Thursday afternoon and night. Scattered parts of the county received more moisture.

The area between Littlefield and Anton received a good rainfall. It rained considerably between Hart
Camp and Springlake, but missed

Six miles east of Littlefield three-fourths of an inch fell. The western part of the county received no rain at all, but five miles east of Littlefield water was standing in the bar ditches.

The rainfall to date has been of a spotted and limited nature, but widely scattered thundershowers are still being forecast for the area.

Local totals of precipitation are as follows: .69 for the month of June and 4.67 inches for the year.

The showers Thursday brought cooler weather to the Littlefield area. The thermometer at the West Texas Gas Company recorded 79 as low and 94 as high for Thursday, with 69 as low and 91 as high for Friday.

"JACKIE"

THE SON OF A HARD BOILED COP

You think I'm a hard-boiled copper Writing tickets at forty-three.
Well, perhaps I'm thinking of Jackie,
And all that the lad meant to me.

How's that? Tell you about it?
Well, stranger, the boy was my son.
God! What I'd give to hear "Daddy"
Once more when the day's work is done.

The driver was just in a hurry;
He didn't intend any harm,
But the sun and the stars quit shining
When I picked up my boy's lifeless form.

Well, Mister, I'll not give you a ticket.
I don't want to "Pinch" anyone.
But I'd ride my motorcycle through hell
To protect another man's son.

So the next time you feel like speeding
Or passing a boulevard stop,
Just pause and remember my Jackie,
The son of a hard-boiled cop.

ing the Earth team, 12 to 6.
Gardner pitched for the locals
while Nuttall was catcher.

Plains team visited the local diamond Friday afternoon. The locals were again victorious to the score of 17 to 7.

It is significant, in the wake of his talk to the world's cotton men that his company for the past several months has been increasing its investments in this section.

They are building or acquiring gins,
and mills.

It would seem almost obvious that the head of the world's biggest cotton empire, visualizes our own section as being fully adapted, best to the needs of the future in continuing to produce cotton, even as cotton production in other sections of the country is on the decline.

And this section has been outstanding in rapid conversion to mechanization.

Aid Speeds Tanks French Factories McMahon Sees Atomic Energy As Key to Future Problems

By CLARKE BEACH
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON—The rise of atomic energy and Brien McMahon were parallel.

Connecticut had elected him to the Senate in 1944, and in the ordinary course of events as a freshman there, he would have been little known for years. But no sooner had the first atomic bombs been dropped in 1945 than McMahon identified himself with the new superforce.

It appalled and impressed him. He saw it as the keystone of the future—possibly the ruin or the salvation of civilization. He studied it like a beaver, made himself the Senate's expert on atomic energy.

Sponsored Atomic Legislation
He became the sponsor of the legislation to develop and control atomic energy in the United States, under civilian leadership—the Atomic Energy Committee, first in the Senate and then in the joint Congressional committee.

He believes now that his knowledge of things atomic would make him especially able to do a good job as President, since atomic energy will have so much effect on the future course of both international and domestic affairs.

McMahon, 48, a chunky man of medium height and business-like appearance, was a lawyer and a municipal judge in Norwalk, Conn., his native city. He was graduated from Fordham University and Yale Law School.

Entered Department of Justice.
In 1933 he gave up private practice to enter the Department of Justice, where he remained until 1939. From then until he was elected for his first term in the Senate in 1944, he was in private practice.

In the Department of Justice, he was assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division that prosecutes cases against violators of federal laws. He believes that his experience there taught him much about the problems of fighting crime and racket on a national scale.

In 1938, when Harlan County, Ky., was seething with unrest and an internationalist approach, says "we must accept the responsibilities and duties of world leadership." He once startled his colleagues by proposing in the Senate that this country contribute a portion of its armament expenditures, perhaps 50 million dollars, toward economic aid to the other countries if Russia would agree to end its atomic bomb race.

McMahon is blue-eyed, black-haired and ruddy complexioned. He dresses conservatively, but obviously with great care. He married Miss Rosemary Turner in 1940, and the couple have one daughter, Patricia Rosemary.

Stevenson Sees A Demand For Ability Above Party

By LARRY KRAMP
AP Newsfeatures

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, a comparative newcomer to public office, regards politics as "the noblest career anyone can choose."

He contends the people are "sick and tired" of old-fashioned politics, fence and that they don't care much about party labels.

What they want, he says, is "honest, sincere, courageous performances," and if they don't get it, they'll change managers.

The balding, 52-year-old man of medium build is heir to five generations of public service, including a grandfather who was vice-president and a father who was Illinois secretary of state.

His First Elective Office
The governorship that Stevenson won in 1948 was his first try at elective office. He is only the fifth Democratic governor of Illinois since the Civil War.

Part of his personal appeal is explained by his lack of pretense.

Behind his executive desk, he usually appears in brown tweed sports jacket and odd trousers. His conversational manner is frank and easy to the average man, belying an education abroad and at Princeton, Harvard and Northwestern University.

On the platform, Stevenson is schooled in the art of opening a talk by poking fun at himself. He is a gifted speaker, with precise tones and a ready sense of humor.

Stresses Power of the People
One theme he expounds in speeches is the ability of people to keep government in their hands and to stem the "tendency to shift responsibility to higher levels."

Stevenson admits the job of running the state government is a tough one but that it's worth all the sacrifices and hard work.

Spry physically, he likes to play golf or tennis but doesn't find much time to do either. His 180 pounds are bunched a bit at the middle—partly as a result of long stints at his desk where he frequently spends a 14 to 16 hour working day.

Stevenson wasn't long in office before he exhibited a hard set purpose in getting what he wanted.

His Victory on Better Roads
What he wanted was a state gasoline tax increase to provide more funds for restoring the state's once-proud highway system. He bluntly said he would keep on seeking it until he won or the people got a new governor.

His persistence finally paid off when the legislature in 1951 voted approval of his program.

Before becoming governor, Stevenson spent much of his time in Washington in various positions. He was a lawyer in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, a special assistant to the late Secretary of Navy Frank Knox and served as a U.N. delegate.

He has comparatively few strong party ties and has installed Republicans in some key state positions.

What he wants from every state employe, he says, is a "full day's work for a full day's pay."

Leads a Quiet Life
In Springfield, Stevenson leads a rather solitary life in the century-old, 32-room executive mansion. His three sons, Adlai III, Boden and John Fell, attend eastern schools and his time with them is limited largely to vacations from their studies.

Stevenson's wife obtained a Reno divorce in December, 1949, ending their 22-year marriage. The governor did not contest it, although he said he was opposed to divorce.

Sunglass Eye Cues

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Summer belles would do well to make up their minds either to sit in the shade or to wear sunglasses.

Our precious orbs take a terrific beating during the summer. We expose them to blazing sunshine, sand and water reflections at the beach or on a boat or driving a car over hilly optavements. Then we wonder why our head aches and our eyes get bloodshot, often the cause of a ruined weekend or vacation.

Some women and men still resist sunglasses. Many think of sunglasses as surplus fashion. Others do not wear them because they feel they are unbecoming.

Sunglasses are available in a wide range of styles, colors and materials. Many users now have a wardrobe of glasses, preferring all-plastic frames for sports—light shades for blondes and white-haired women and vibrant colors such as auburn for brunettes. One fashion show of glasses recently showed plastic and gold combination of glasses for both men and women, the upper rims designed in a wide, winged effect, following the browline, and the lower rims in almost invisible gold. The highlight of the show was the new mint-toned green glass and frame combination.

One of the newer scientific devices to protect eyesight in summertime is "gradient density"—a special coating on the lens which is heaviest at the top and bottom, and lighter in the middle—designed originally for air pilots. The manufacturers say that this graduated, chrome-nickel alloy coating protects eyes against blinding overhead sunlight, water reflection, sand, concrete and shiny surfaces.

These protective lenses have been incorporated into a number of high-styles for men and women. Large metal frames and masculine tortoise shell plastics are for the men. The girls will find high-fashion shapes from upswepit tilts to more conservative styles. Colors are soft and gay.

EYES RIGHT—These "rayban" sunglasses have youthful uptilt as well as absorptive lenses which help prevent eye fatigue. New mint green frames match lenses. The large beach hat is designed by Lilly Dache.

Littlefield's Water Wells Produce Upwards of 1,800,000 Gallons

Littlefield's 7000 population members, including men, women and children, are consuming an average of approximately 250 gallons of water per day, strictly on a mathematical basis—actually, it isn't so.

because the vast bulk of that water is going onto lawns, through air-conditioners, car washing, etc.

Wherever or whatever it is used for, the fact remains—and it's a startling fact—the six wells which supply the city water system are daily producing upwards of 1,800,000 gallons, and if necessity arose could produce more.

Despite the intense heat of this June, the lack of moisture from the skies, has had no effect on the supply of underground water.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taack Observe Thirteenth Wedding Anniversary

On Sunday, June 8, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taack of Hart observed their thirteenth wedding anniversary at their home with a chicken dinner and all the trimmings. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Dale Maxwell of Bula, Mr. and Mrs. George Harms of Anton, Pete Taack, a friend from Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Beyer, Donnie and Vickie of Dimmitt, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Birkelback, Donell and Carlaw, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cape, Bobbie and Lonnie, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Beyer, all of Littlefield, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taack and Mary Louise, at home. Everyone had an enjoyable time. Mr. and Mrs. Taack received a large array of much appreciated gifts.

Shower Honors Mrs. Batson of Amherst

The home of Mrs. J. P. Brantley south of Amherst was the scene of a pink and blue shower Friday afternoon, June 27 which honored Mrs. Glenn Batson.

As each guest registered she was presented with a corsage of assorted flowers in pastel shades. Festivities centered about the lace-covered tea table at which Mrs. Glen Reader presided. A crystal bowl on the tastefully appointed table held pink and white sweet-peas sprayed with baby breath. At each end of the table were placed pink candles in crystal holders. During the afternoon, lime float, cake squares, mints, and salted nuts were served from the table.

From the hostesses the honoree received a baby's chest of drawers.

The hostesses were Mesdames Glen Reader, Maurice Brantley, W. E. McDaniel, J. P. Bramley, J. H. Bradley, N. A. Vaughter, James Holland, Paul D. Bennett, Claud Coffey, C. A. Duffy, Jr., E. L. Ross, Delbert Ross, Mutt Hufstader, Claud Emmons, T. T. Holland, Eugene Priddy, and Reynold Payne.

Rules that might be suspended or changed completely should not be included.

Some clubs have bylaws only, listing under each topic all the things that relate to it. Many clubs omit a preamble and have six separate articles like this:

- (1) Name (2) Purpose (3) Membership (4) Officers (5) Meetings (6) Amendments.

As your club progresses, you will want to ask yourself whether (1) you want others to join (2) whether you offer cooperation to other groups (3) Are we asked to help in other community or school projects (4) Can we get help for our new projects.

Committees should be appointed to carry out the club's projects. Committee members either volunteer, or appointed by the president, are suggested by other club members or are elected by the entire club. Every member should have the fun (and responsibility) of being on a committee some time.

Miss McDowell points out that frequent complaints from club members are that a group just doesn't have ideas, or that everybody wants to do something different. The club program should be planned, she says, to meet the needs and interests of the majority. If you are interested in what your group is doing, you should agree with the schedule.

Here is a list one club made of the qualifications its president would need: be able to remain neutral when differences arise, be dependable, have a sense of humor, be co-operative, make himself understood, not be a snob, like the job of president.

The main thing is be agreeable if you are going to belong to a club. You don't have to be wishy-washy and never get a clear-cut answer when voting.

Maintain Your Balance For Correct Putting

By PATTY BERG

One phase of golf which requires less of a physical nature than of a mental nature, is putting. Yet, we know from experience that putting is responsible for most of the golfers' woes.

There is not one method of putting which will guarantee the best results but remember that a comfortable stance is absolutely essential to the putting stroke.

You should adopt a stance which allows you to maintain your balance with little effort.

In taking the blade back, do it slowly, for no phase of the stroke should be rushed. The blade need not be lifted more than a couple of inches off the ground at the top of the backswing. Then, slowly come forward, retracing the same path used on the backswing, striking the ball just as the putter blade begins its upswing. This imparts overspin to the ball and causes it to roll smoothly toward the cup.

One of the most difficult factors in putting is that of reading the greens. It is a knack which must be practiced constantly on many different types of greens. Knowing which way the ball will break and how hard to stroke the ball are important.

After observing conditions on the green and planning the proper path for your ball, take your comfortable stance and tap the ball into the cup.

Patty Berg's putting stance and club action which combine to make her one of the best women golfers in history.

My dear Jennie: Your mother did have quite a bit of money but she spent very unwisely on some oil stocks which you will find in her old trunk in the top section. The stocks have a small nuisance value. This baby is your husband's and you will adopt it, and you will hold this threat over your husband for the rest of his life. Do not trust this man who works for your husband for he wishes to place you in an uncompromising position.

Dear Criswell: I dreamed of a Negro slave who begged me to buy him and set him free, and upon doing this he vanished into thin air. This dream is puzzling, can you interpret it for me? A. L.

My dear A. L.: This shows that in actual life you will be asked to lend your brother money with the proper security to pay off a pressing debt that he has. He will be very grateful for it for the burden will be lifted from him. The latter part of your dream signifies you will be married within the next definitely means the lifting of your year, for the vanishing of the object own personal loneliness. Look for November for action.

It's Cherry Time

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

Now's the time to use sweet red cherries in summer salad plates, in luscious pies and cakes, and for out-of-hand eating when the family wants a snack. The dark red Bing cherries that everyone looks forward to in summer, are followed by the deep red Lamberts. Both these varieties are fine for canning and freezing, to store away for next-winter meals.

Light Royal Annes follow Lambert cherries into the market, they are the variety used extensively for maraschino cherries. The last cherries to make an appearance are the tart red variety that gives such good tang to pies and tarts.

For buffet salad service arrange salad greens, orange sections, avocado halves, and melon balls on a large platter; top with fresh red cherries and serve with sour cream dressing. Then let guests help themselves.

Black Cherry and Rhubarb Pie
Ingredients: 2 cups pitted Bing cherries, 1 cup diced rhubarb, 2/3 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 2-crust pastry for 9-inch pie.

Method: Mix cherries, rhubarb, sugar, and tapioca; turn into pastry-lined 9-inch pie plate. Dot with butter. Place top crust over fruit; vent and seal. Bake in hot (425F.) oven 35 minutes.

Then take longer and longer intervals between watering and keep the soil moist. If you were growing these plants for sale, you would transplant them in early fall to pots, or other flats, to give them room to develop into more impressive specimens. This is good practice, but can be bypassed by the amateur who wants to avoid this work. The plants will develop satisfactorily in their early stages even though crowded and when moved to the garden next spring will soon attain vigorous growth and normal size. Human Parcel Post Abolished In Britain

By ALVIN STEINKOPF
AP Newsfeatures

LONDON—It's no longer possible in Britain for a man to make a package of himself and be sent home by parcel post.

The post office has announced that it is discontinuing a little-known service—the delivery of human beings by mail.

Not many realized it, but it has been possible for a person to walk into a post office, buy a lot of stamps, and have himself dispatched to some destination in the United Kingdom. If equipped with a special delivery stamp the mailman had to escort him right to his doorstep and ring twice.

"The service, unfortunately, has had to be discontinued," David Gammans, assistant postmaster general, reported to Parliament recently.

Not Many Use Service

Not many made use of the curious service, but in number of persons lost in strange places have known to have mailed himself used the postal service to outwit the British army.

On a visit in 1940 to the island of Guernsey in the English Channel the man found, when he set out for home, that soldiers had taken all the places in the only boat. The soldiers' orders said they had priority over all other passengers. But the resourceful gentleman knew the regulations, and was aware that under the circumstances mail had priority over soldiers. So he attached stamps to himself and the post office had to put him aboard.

The whole thing started in 1907 when a woman sent a baby across Britain by post. She was criticized, but postal regulations permitted the sending of living creatures.

Then some school boys mailed themselves home for vacations, and a political agitator once mailed himself to the late Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain. The prime minister was not amused, and took refuge in another regulation saying that he wasn't obliged to accept a package just because the post office had sent it to him.

Canada Shipment Barred

But the real headache came when a man wanting to emigrate asked to be sent to Canada by parcel post. The appropriate number of stamps for an emigrant of his belt was cheaper than a steamship ticket. The post office got out of accepting that package by discovering that the service covered only the British Isles.

New Corn Hybrid Is Announced

Seed of Texas 15W, a new white corn hybrid developed by the Texas agricultural experiment station, will be available for planting by Texas farmers in 1953.

Under comparative tests in experimental plots over the state the past two years, Texas 15W has produced higher yields than any white hybrid now sold.

The new hybrid was developed by Dr. John S. Rogers and his co-workers in the corn breeding program, according to Station Director R. D. Lewis. Rogers also developed Texas 11W, heretofore the most popular white hybrid for Texas growing conditions, and Texas 26, 28 and 30, high-yielding yellow hybrids.

Since Texas 15W does not have as good shuck coverage as Texas 11W, it is better adapted to the Blackland Prairie than it is to the more humid area of East Texas and the Gulf Coast. However, it is not objectionable to either of these areas and has produced yields as high or higher than 11W in both locations. Texas 15W is not as resistant to ear worms and ear rots as Texas 11W but the stalks will stand up slightly better in the field.

Most white corn in Texas is produced in the Blackland Prairie and Texas 15W should replace 11W in this area as the seed becomes available to farmers, Lewis said.

limit the withdrawal and transmission of water from one portion of the district to another. McFarland said the district is so new that there has been no definitive outline of its powers under the law which created it.

In the end those present agreed that a small group to conduct future investigations and negotiations appears to be the best, rather than more mass meetings. Accordingly, the group voted to reestablish the "committee of nine" which has conducted Bailey county's investigations thus far. The Chamber of Commerce, the Water District, and the Bailey County Farm Bureau each are represented by three men.

GREAT DANE: Explorer and Whaler Knows Artic Perils

By CHARLES LYONS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—With his great bulk, flowing beard and peg leg, Peter Freuchen looks like an old sea captain from the misty past who accidentally wandered into the 20th Century.

He was born in Denmark 14 years before the turn of the century and has been an explorer and whaling captain. He has spent about half his last 47 years in the Arctic.

His hefty 6 foot 5 frame strained the canvas of the chair in his modernistically furnished East Side apartment as he looked at his thick leather-encased peg leg.

"I didn't mind so much," he smiled. "My humor wasn't in the left leg."

Lost His Wife and a Leg

That was in 1925 and a snowstorm was blowing in frigid Hudson Bay territory. He had become separated from his party after going back for supplies. He crawled under his sledge to sleep next morning he was snowed in—and without his snow knife.

"I didn't worry," he said. "I just went to sleep again. When I awoke there was no feeling in my leg. It took me four hours to crawl to camp."

Later he said he chopped off his own gangrenous toes and the next year the leg came off below the knee. His Eskimo wife died on that trip.

But that wasn't Freuchen's most fearsome experience in the Northland. That had come in 1918 when he fell into a crevasse in a Greenland icecap. He braced his body against the sides to keep from dropping thousands of feet further. His companions lowered a rope.

"I never have been able to forget the fear that the rope wouldn't be long enough," he said. He thinks he will eventually die in such a crevasse.

EXPLORER, whaler, writer—Peter Freuchen.

In his fabulous career he has lems came with the white man but that has been good for the North." Freuchen had two children by his Eskimo wife. One of them, Paluk, is now a writer. He remarried in 1945. His young and attractive wife's name is Dagmar. She is a fashion illustrator and art teacher.

But she hasn't been able to domesticate this great Dane completely. He still spends the summer and fall in Greenland almost every year. He has fishing interests there.

And once a week he sits down to a whale steak.

harpooned whales from small boats, written 24 books, acted the part of a whaling captain (easy for him) in one of them, mapped the Greenland icecaps, been a Siberian ice pilot, fought in the underground after escaping from the Nazis twice in World War II.

In 1911 he suffered frostbite to his face which made shaving difficult. He let his beard grow until forced to shave it off to prevent recognition by the Nazis during the war. For the same reason he exchanged his peg leg for an artificial foot. He was on Hitler's "shoot on sight" list. He helped smuggle Allied airmen and refugees from Denmark to Sweden.

Freuchen began his expeditions in 1906 when a youth of 20. In 1910 he went to Greenland for 10 years. Then natives used bows and arrows. He built the first homes in Thule. From 1921 until he lost his leg he was in Hudson Bay.

"I thought I couldn't travel any more," he said. "I've seen so much that I put into plots and turned to writing."

His first novel, "Eskimo," was published in 1926. This was the one Hollywood made into a movie, three years after Freuchen came to the United States. His latest book is "The Law of Laron," published this year. He has toured the country three times lecturing.

At present he is a correspondent for a Danish newspaper. He spends much time covering United Nations activities. He is often called in by the U.N. on Arctic problems.

Bible Words to Live by

I think my favorite verse in the Bible is:

ST. JOHN 7:17 — "If any man willeth to do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself."

It is my favorite because it opens the way to those who have difficulties with belief. I am always most interested in people without the great privilege of faith. So many of them are starved for it. This verse shows them the door.

Most of us think, "If I only knew, I would be willing to do what religion says." This tells us, "Do what religion says, get open to that, and you will understand with your mind." It is an invitation to spiritual experiment.

It is the doorway to understanding the Christian faith itself. Do the will of God so far as you know it, get open to God and surrendered to Him, whatever or whoever He is — and then you will begin to know Him, and hence to understand Him.

It is the doorway to the discovery of His will. Open yourself to whatever His will is, whether it coincide with your own or not — and you will find out what His will is.

This verse is an invitation to try believing in a scientific, experimental way. It has led unnumbered people into faith. Maybe it will lead you into it.

To Return to Java On S. S. President Cleveland

Dr. and Mrs. Buford L. Nichols, Baptist missionaries who have visited in Littlefield on several occasions, are now making plans to sail for Java on the S. S. President Cleveland. The ship sails from San Francisco on August 2. Upon returning, the Nichols will resume their mission work in Indonesia. The length of their stay in Java depends, in part, on the duration of China's present enslavement.

Mrs. Nichols has been "adopted" by the First Baptist church of Littlefield as their foreign missionary. Friends and acquaintances of Dr. and Mrs. Nichols who wish to remain in contact with the couple while they are in Asia can address correspondence to Djalan Sukadjadi 192, Bandung, Java, Indonesia.

See You On The Fifth

Where are you going to be July 5?
At home? At work? On vacation?
Are you real sure? What makes you so certain you may not be one of the hundreds of people who will start out on a Fourth of July holiday trip—and won't come back?
Not a pleasant thought, is it? You may even be a little provoked that we've brought it up.
Well, that's all right with us. For the more provoked you get, the more you may think about this Fourth of July traffic toll that annually makes a massacre out of a holiday that ought to be for pleasure and patriotism, not for tragedy.
You think it couldn't be you?
That's what the 360 people thought who were killed over the Memorial Day holiday just a month ago. That's what the 8,936 people thought who have died in holiday traffic in the last six years.
Yes, that's right—8,936 people killed in holiday traffic in the last six years! Almost three times as many as were killed at Pearl Harbor. Half as many as have died for America on the battlefields of Korea.
How many of these 8,936 people thought when they started out during the holiday that they would never come back? Not one?

This one was just driving around the block to get a morning paper. This one was taking his family to visit friends in Peoria. This one was merely crossing the street. Not one of them was purposely going out to get killed—NOT ONE!
So, you see, it could be you.
But here's the bright spot in the picture: it doesn't have to be you!
The National Safety Council, which has the grim responsibility for estimating these holiday tolls in advance, says you can make its estimates look silly by merely using a little extra caution, common sense and courtesy to offset the extra holiday traffic hazards. The Council says the toll could be cut in half, or even by two thirds, if you and I would make up our minds that, by golly, we aren't going to be one of those holiday traffic statistics.
It's just that simple. Instead of saying, "It couldn't be me," just say, "It won't be me!" Then act accordingly.
That's all there is to it.
Happy Fourth of July! See you on the Fifth!

Crop Spraying

Despite the progress made in modern agricultural methods each year, the farmer is often faced with problems as old as recorded history.
One major obstacle which with Texas farmer will have to contend with this season can be traced as far back as Biblical times—the plague of insects. While insect infestations are not expected to actually reach plague proportions in Texas as they have in other parts of the world in 1952, the problem is still a serious one.
Recent inspections reveal that cotton insects, including the persistent and destructive Pink Bollworm, are more strongly entrenched in Texas fields than at any time in the past 50 years. Comparison records of the Pink Bollworm, alone show that for every one of the worms found in South Texas cotton last year, there are ninety (90) this year. The build-up of other harmful insects is almost equally as heavy. As a result, the farmer can expect a higher ratio of crop damage in addition to a greater expenditure on insecticides.
It will be to the Texas farmer's advantage to follow an organized method of spraying crops this season for the best insect control. The best plan will be to get in touch with county agents and study the seven-step spraying program as set up by the Texas Extension Service.

Much of the effectiveness of spraying or dusting is nullified by poor timing. Spraying on a "guess basis" often catches harmful insects in the pupa stage when insecticides and pesticides have little or no effect. It may also do away with some of the useful type insects.
The seven-step program varies over the state but each area has a definite plan set up according to local climatic and insect conditions. This type of spraying assures the farmer of getting the most benefit out of money spent for insect control.
The most effective measure yet found against the Pink Bollworm is strict compliance with planting and plow-up deadlines. These measures are already in effect in areas where the heaviest infestation exists. But the extremely large build-up this season is due partly to the mild winter which failed to kill off the usual number of last year's generations.
The Pink Bollworm can't stand "wet feet" but it does carry over well in dry and mild weather. The farmer will have to practice every control measure possible this year to keep down the present insect "plague."

GENE HOWE FOUND DEAD

Esteemed Panhandle Publisher Passes

Gene Howe, 66, famous Texas editor, was found shot to death early Wednesday in his automobile on a country road about 10 miles south-east of Amarillo.
Officers who found the body said it was in the rear seat of the car, a bullet wound in the temple. A revolver was found in his right hand, which was powder-burned.
Mrs. W. J. Fleisher, Randall county justice of the peace, Wednesday afternoon returned a verdict of suicide.

Funeral services were conducted by Dr. Smythe H. Lindsay, rector of St. Andrews Episcopal church at the Howe residence at 4 p.m. Thursday.
Howe, chairman of the board of the Globe-News Publishing Company, had left his home Tuesday about his health and talked Tuesday of entering a hospital, but also said he might go on a fishing trip with friends.

Farmer Gave Report
A farmer who noticed a car parked near his land Tuesday night notified officers Wednesday, when he saw it was still there.
Howe had been a newspaperman since the turn of the century but his fame was made in the Texas Panhandle, where his "Tactless Texan" column was daily fare for thousands.
He was the son of the late Ed Howe, famous editor of the Atchison, Kan., Globe.
His brother, James W. Howe, Associated Press foreign correspondent for many years, lives at Walnut Creek, Calif., and a widowed sister, Author Mateel Howe Farnham, lives in Connecticut. Howe is survived in Amarillo by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Shelby Kritzer.

Gene went to work for his brother on the Index at Emmett, Idaho when he was 16, but left for Oregon a year later, after Jim Howe declared "the boy's impossible." He found work on the Salem, Ore. Statesman and later was employed by the Portland Oregonian.
He returned to his father's newspaper in Atchison in 1907 and 11 years later came to Amarillo. He established the afternoon Globe in February 1924, one week before the Panhandle oil boom started, and purchased the morning Amarillo News in 1926, merging the two newspapers.

An erect, handsome man even in his mid 60s, Howe combined the talents of a top-rate reporter and an astute business man. But to most readers he was "Old Tack," author of the daily column which carried at its top a picture of Ben Turpin, early-day movie comedian.

Howe was a kisser, but his fun was calculated. He liked to stir up a rumpus. In his column he discussed the weather, quoted poetry, told jokes, promoted worthy causes, acted as a lost and found service, employment agency and marriage bureau.

He's the man who originated Mother-in-Law Day and let Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt come to the party. Gene Howe played an important role in civic and state affairs. He loved the outdoors as he loved his newspaper work. Always a reporter, even as the chairman of the board of his corporations, he gave his newspapers exclusive stories to the last.

Only recently Senator Estes Kefauver was in Amarillo for a few hours, but nobody could find him. Just before deadline, Gene Howe called his city desk with an exclusive story. He had Kefauver cornered.

Howe fished and hunted all over the country, in Canada and Alaska. He was a long-time member of the Texas Game and Fish Commission and a director of Ducks, Unlimited. His ranch on the breaks of the Canadian River was another activity close to his heart. He spent as much time there, with his guns, dogs and friends, as he could.

Number Littlefield Friends See Jackie Shelby Awarded His Wings

Jack Shelby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Shelby of 1303 West Ninth street, was graduated Saturday, June 21, from the pilot training school at Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock. At this time he received his commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve.

Following a time-honored tradition among those who fly, Lt. Shelby received his pilot's wings from his mother.

A sizable group of the Shelby's friends in Littlefield attended the graduation exercises and were present when Mrs. Shelby pinned the wings on her son. The party included Mrs. Norma Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fulbright, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bagwell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred James, Mr. and Mrs. Gilder, and Miss Jackie Farr.

Prior to graduation at Reese Air Force Base, Jack was captain in the cadet corps and was being instructed in the handling of T-6 aircraft.

Lt. Shelby's advanced instruction will begin with F-51 training in Selma, Alabama on July 8. From that base his itinerary reads: Panama City, Florida, for additional training with the F-51, Wichita, Kansas, for two weeks training in the F-84 jet. His final assignment in the states will be in Las Vegas, Nevada, where he will take a ten-week gunnery course in the F-86 Sabre-Jet. Upon completion of this advanced training, Lt. Shelby will be attached to the Far East Command with headquarters in Japan.

Heavy Weight —

Joe Howard would be the smallest in his family for a long time and could look forward to the usual "hard knocks" that "little brothers" get. But the wager is that if he continues to grow in the same extraordinary manner, no one will have to worry about Joe Howard's ability to take care of himself in any group of juveniles.

Mrs. L. A. Sneed, the mother of the infant is reported as doing nicely at Littlefield Hospital.

And daddy, too, is proud of his "little" boy.

The doctor's comment to Mrs. Sneed that "we ought to put him to hoing cotton" just about sums up the situation.

Annual Flowers Sown Late Take Less Time to Bloom

Early summer is not too late to sow flower seeds in the garden. By choosing varieties which germinate quickly and grow fast, flowers may be had almost as soon as from seeds sown much earlier, which may have been delayed by cold weather.

For best results seeds should be sown where the plants are to grow, so they will suffer no setback from transplanting. Since hot, dry days may soon arrive, special precautions should be taken to prevent crusting of the soil, and drying out.

Loosen the soil to a depth of six inches, spading under 2 to 4 pounds of plant food for each 100 square feet. Mix small seeds with dry sand to help scatter them well. Large seeds of plants which need plenty of room may be sown two or three seeds in each spot where a plant is wanted, to be thinned out later to a single plant.

Cover the seeds lightly, with porous soil containing no clay. A special covering soil may be prepared by mixing fine top soil or peat with an equal amount of sand or vermiculite. Keep the soil moist by sprinkling with a fine spray until the seeds germinate and the plants begin to grow well.

Annual flowers which germinate within five to ten days after sowing include the following:

- Sweet Alyssum, Amaranthus, Aster, Calendula, Calliopsis, Candytuft, Celosia, Centaurea, Cheiranthus, Cosmos, Dianthus, California Poppy, Godetia, Linaria, Lobelia, Lapsis, Marigolds, Nicotiana (flowering tobacco), Annual Phlox, Portulaca, Mignonette, Schizanthus, Viola, Zinnia, Nasturtium.

The fastest growing annual is Leptosyne Stillmani, producing yellow daisies, which flowers in five weeks from the time seed is sown. In two more weeks zinnias will begin to bloom. The slowest growers of the quick germinating group are Giant zinnias are still most popular; with the super-giant strain leading because of the pastel colors of its blossoms. It is only obtainable in a mixture, but all the colors are harmonious, and they are lovely both as cut flowers and in the border. The small, bushy plants of the lilliput and pumilia zinnias are growing rapidly in favor. There are pink, red, orange, yellow and lavender varieties.

Marigolds may be obtained in sizes varying from the tiny single flowers, half an inch in diameter, which cover the dwarf bushy plants of the variety gnome, to the huge six-inch globular flowers of the Sunset Giants variety.

Olton Wins Over Whitharral To Tune of 6-1

Olton's Smalfry hurler, Doug McGuire, had the Whitharral slugers eating out of his hands, Thursday, as Olton won its third Smalfry game from Whitharral, 6 to 1. McGuire allowed only two hits, one of them going for a home run to shatter his shutout, and whiffed 16 batters to chalk up the win.

James Ray Hyatt tallied the first run of the game for Olton with a four-base blow in the third. The Whitharral run came on Gray's homer in the fourth.

Olton went back into the lead in the fifth when Kirk McAdams doubled and was eventually driven home to break the tie.

Olton made it a run-away in the sixth with four runs to beat Lonnie Stephenson, the loser. Stephenson gave up only eight hits.

Jimmy Stone had three for three for the Olton Smalfry.

Andy Rogers —

let us remember that new faces in Washington will make no real difference if we have not changed things here at home.

"At all levels of government we must return to the great principle upon which this country was founded and built: and if it is to stand, upon which it must stand.

"This great principle is Americanism. It says that man is created free, that his Creator gave him certain "inalienable" rights, that the sole purpose and reason for government is to see that these sacred rights are protected. Government is not meant to take away these rights or to create substitutes.

"We can have such a government ONLY when it is kept in the hands of the people. Through our representative form of government we can do this. But it will not be done for us. We, the people, must do this. Too often in the past twenty years we have let 'George' do it for us. 'George' has almost taken our government out of our hands — and our God-given freedom with it.

"We must act—NOW. It will take hard work and sacrifice—and courage, and faith in our great American principle.

"Washington and Austin are full of 'smart boys' and 'big shots.' I believe that it is time for Mr. Average Citizen to step into the forefront in Austin, as well as in Washington. Our primary need is for honesty and moral integrity.

"I believe we need much new blood in all of our law-making bodies. I do not believe we need more men who have fed at the public trough for eighteen or twenty years—and have grown wealthy in the process.

"I also believe we need some of the vigor and courage young men and women have to offer. At the very least, the young men did not get us in our present mess, yet they live and pay in the same manner as others—and will for a longer period of time to come. Also, it is they who often lay down their lives on foreign soil as their payment.

"I offer the above way of thinking and the following summary of my qualifications and own actions to my fellow citizens so that they may decide if Andy Rogers is the man to work with them as their State Senator toward the great goal of Freedom:

"I am a West Texan by birth, training and education. I was raised on a farm and dairy. My business is farming, and it will continue to be. I am a land owner and a taxpayer.

"I am a family man with a wife and one daughter.

"I have prepared myself for service with seven years of college education—law, government, economics and agriculture.

"I have proven my willingness to sacrifice by voluntarily giving three years' service in the United States Army during World War II.

"I have had two terms' experience serving West Texas in your State House of Representatives. I have served on these following important committees: Appropriations, Agriculture, Insurance, Highways and Roads, and Conservation and Reclamation.

"Andy Rogers is not a lawyer. Therefore I can represent only the people who elect me. I cannot hope for financial gain by serving you as State Senator—an important job that pays only an approximate $700 per year.

"I am not a professional politician.

"I have coggestly fought corruption in all government, and will continue to do so.

"As a State Representative, I have opposed an increased rate of spending and taxing in State Government, and will continue to do so. Andy Rogers has fought for economic development of West Texas in the following ways:

- "1. Continually supporting our Rural Road and Primary Highway development.
- "2. Voting against and helping kill legislation for State control of our underground water. I will continue to do so.
- "3. Fighting to protect our sur-lars as an state advertising stunt—but where actually throwing them out to the crowd in each town in which they visited. The disappointment came when no surface water rights as they now stand.

"4. Writing and getting passed legislation giving West Texas $10,000 for preliminary study of its surface water possibilities.

"5. Writing and getting passed legislation which will soon bring into being a new Agriculture Experiment Station to study the particular needs of our Blow-Sand areas of West.

"6. Writing and getting passed legislation requiring the labeling of 'drip' gasoline when offered for sale, so consumers and honest service station operators are protected.

"7. Supporting a sound, sensible Public School program.

"I will continue to fight for a fair break for West Texas and for the protection of your rights.

"I will run my race and serve you in the only way I know—BY CLEAN, HARD WORK.

"I will not be able to visit all of the people in our fifteen county State Senatorial District, but I humbly and sincerely ask for your vote and support.

Respectfully submitted, A. J. (Andy) Rogers"

Wicked, sinful, or whatever you may or may not wish to call it, there is a sort of magic in those huge stacks of silver dollars that grace the dozens of gambling houses in stacks in Nevada, and are fed into and out of the thousands of slot machines, which are on hand everywhere in the legal gambling state.

The overworked bankers and postoffice employees are looking forward eagerly, as another in the succession of holidays—one week from tomorrow is the nation's birthday—July 4th—and the government long ago made sure that their employees and the bankers would not only have cause to celebrate—but also to ease their labors for the day.

Our Chamber of Commerce took their cue maybe from Washington, but at any rate, they have also decreed a holiday for Littlefield business men, business houses and their employees—and general closing will be the rule rather than the exception here Friday of next week.
