This City For 25 Years
Celebrates Her 76th Birthday

Lena Howard, who celebrated her 76th birthday, is one of the cultural leaders of Littlefield. She came to Littlefield 25 years ago — about the time of the world war. In an interview with Mrs. Howard, she stated that when she first came to Littlefield there were only a few houses here. "A little town," she said, "was the way she described it at that time. She came here from Beaumont, to join her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Littlefield's first bride and groom. She had previously established a hardware store here, and Mrs. Howard recalled during the interview "perhaps there was another store or two here then." She now lives in a house located on the present Garland street.

MRS. LENA HOWARD

Mrs. Howard has belonged to the Woman's Study club since it was changed from a sewing circle, and is now an honorary member. She represents the higher cultural and literary interest in the community and has many, many friends who look to her for guidance.

TEXANS FIGHT IN WASHINGTON FOR FREIGHT RATES

Texas Senators Support Claims of Delegation Now in Capitol

Washington, March 1. — Ernest O. Thompson, Texas railroad commissioner, accompanied by D. A. Bauden of Abilene, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the Interstate Railroad commission and congress, in the interests of equalization of freight rates. The delegation was supported by Senator Tom Connally of Texas, and a number of southern legislators. The R. R. commission has about completed a report which is said to favor the removal of freight differentials.

The Texas delegation is very hopeful of securing favorable action, at this time, on their ancient fight for a more equitable rate schedule. Recently the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, organized a special group known as the South West Rate organization. It is the purpose of this new organization to support any measure that will help shippers of Texas with their freight rate problems. The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce has a member on this important body.

Welcome Musicians

This week is indeed a most auspicious one, in the annals of our local schools, and in the history of Littlefield. Tomorrow — Friday, March 3, will stand forth as the red letter day, when we entertained the high school bands from 10 South Plains towns. Over 500 picked musicians in uniform, will attend the all-day Band Clinic which will be staged here under the direction of the famous D. O. Wiley, of Texas Tech college.

We salute the young players, and dedicate this issue of the Lamb County Leader, to the tuneful boys and girls — from Lubbock, Clovis, Portales, Brownfield, Levelland, Slaton, Post, Hereford, Floydada and Lamesa, and Littlefield. We are mighty proud of our fine band which has made such wonderful progress under the able direction of Morgan Layfield, and we have heard great things about each of the bands which will be in Littlefield for the great musical feast.

You will find that everybody in our town, is tickled pink over your coming, and we shall try and show you, in every way we can—just how glad we are to have you with us.

The school officials who worked so earnestly, first—to secure the Band Clinic for Littlefield, and then—in making arrangements for a successful event, deserve the thanks of our entire community.

You have done a big job for our schools and for Littlefield. It is up to all Lamb county, to signify their interest and approval, by turning out in record numbers.

Let's show the musicians of the Plains, how delighted we are to have them with us by crowding Littlefield and the high school auditorium tomorrow. And—don't save your voices and palms. Give the youngsters a reception that they will remember all through life.

The World of Books

One of the most important services the school can render the children is to bring them in touch with the World of Books. In these — the great minds of the past have expressed the insight into life which they possessed, and have done so in such a way that the manner of expression is almost as priceless a heritage as the insight itself. Great books stir the individual to a nobler and fuller life; they are the means by which society hands down to future generations whatever of good it has discovered or proved. They serve as sources of consolation in time of grief; they stir to activity in times of despondency; they amuse when amusement is the need of the hour, and all times—in some great masterpiece is a fitting message for our every mood of mind. More and more — it is coming to be felt that the reading work in the grades should make the pupil able — not only to master ordinary language, but able to appreciate that finer language which flows from a mind attuned to the inner harmonies. The better class of reading, is no longer made up of information lessons on every conceivable topic, but selections from the realm of pure literature.

The above is my first attempt to write your paper, and if it finds the waste basket, it will be my last. Yours Truly, WILLIAM H. BELL

Brother Bell—We welcome your letter about the importance of books. Perhaps, you have noticed that we have made many efforts, in these columns, to help increase the supply of books at the city and school libraries. None of us can do quite enough in that particular direction. We shall look forward — with pleasant anticipation, to your future contributions.

SCHOOL DAYS

PRAIRIE WEEDS

Gathered by OLE DRIFTER

I am probably the most gullible and easily influenced guy in seven states. A hard luck story usually finds me at home with the door wide open. Guess I was born chicken-hearted and had relapses. So — when the Great Molineux bursted out in tears at the microphone, the other night — it sure got next to me. He cries and pleads — father well — as you perhaps know. This time he was asking for donations — oh, any amount from a dollar up, and please make it "UP." He was shedding tears on behalf of the poor starving — guess who? The people of Czechoslovakia. It seems to me that I read somewhere — that the folks around Prague were the only people in the world who had never felt a depression. The Bohemians are just about the thrickest and hardest working folks that I know of. Personally — I have never seen a Bohemian beggar — have you? Several days ago I saw a picture of a whole family huddled together in a hovel; they were without shelter, warmth or food. That was right here in Texas.

Several hundred members of the legislature and state senate, together with our Governor; the commissioners, the press, industrial and financial leaders; all the educated people and all the plain folks of Texas; are talking, shouting and writing about "Taxes." Up to date — there have been expressed as many opinions as there are citizens in the Lone Star state. This doesn't include — a large percentage of the Hundred and Thirty-Five Million People in the U. S., who have taken a very warm interest in our very own affairs. At the present moment there is a very dense fog over the Capitol. It seems to have penetrated considerably — into the sanctum of the Governor's mansion — too. No one person has made it very clear as to whether we are going to have a transaction or a sales tax. Several dozen other forms of levy have also been discussed at great length. If you are in doubt as to the final outcome, I can put your mind at rest. I have had very definite information which — together with my personal observations, enables me to make a very startling announcement. You are positively going to have more TAXES. I am not yet able to tell you — where or how they are going to hit you, but you can take my word for it — you're going to be slugged — plenty. Isn't it wonderful — how a man in the newspaper business, can find out surprising things, and make precise deductions like the one which I have just announced?

To the many friends who have often wondered what a bathtub can be used for, I bring good news. Miss Teddy Price of Abernathy, an amateur biologist at the Texas State College for Women, has succeeded in raising cucumber and tomato vines, right in her own bathtub. This is a great discovery. I

O'Daniel Writes Poem DESCRIBING GOVERNOR'S MANSION

Austin, Texas.—UP—Stair steps in the Governor's Mansion do creak. Texans have W. Lee O'Daniel's own word for it. The versifying governor recently wrote a poem to describe "mansion" where Texas' chief executives have lived since reconstruction days. The stairs in the mansion are one of its most striking features, always noticed by visitors, and the governor naturally included them in the following lines:

"It's not the lofty pillars, extending toward the sky, It's not the massive doorways nor the ceilings so high, It's not the crystal chandeliers, nor furniture antique, Nor the graceful winding stairways without a single creak, It's not the stately grandeur that makes a mansion HOME And makes each member of the family never want to roam; It's the love of Dad and Mother, and the children's laughs galore, That make the shack or mansion Home Sweet Home forevermore."

suppose we will — in the future, have to get back to nature, and take our baths out in what used to be the old tomato patch. Now that they're going to make gardens out of the old bathtubs — it won't be long before folks will start cooking in the ice box and do all the freezing in the oven. We have at last, found something that Adolph Hitler likes. It's — "F-L-E-X-E-S." He didn't even know that they were FLEXES when pretty Marion Daniels, a 20-year-old California dancer, waved her legs and tooties at the mighty Fuehrer, in a Munich dance hall. Of course, his approval of Miss Daniel may just be another of these political good-will gestures. He may even have had only friendly relations with America — in mind, when he wired Miss Daniels, to fly to Munich, for a return engagement. I suppose that his willingness to sacrifice himself by witnessing an exhibition of personal pulchritude, is merely another manifestation of his true greatness and lofty me. What do you think? You can me your opinions — confidentially. So Long, DAVE SCHEIDT

TERRACE LINES RUN ON 10,000 ACRES OF LAND

260 Farmers Carry Out Complete Soil Conservation Plan

Terrace lines have been run on approximately 10,000 acres of land since Jan. 1, and 1,100 acres of pasture lands have been furrowed over this same period, within a 25 mile radius of Littlefield, A. B. Chapman, camp superintendent of the soil conservation service reported last week. The Littlefield area, which includes all of Lamb, and portions of Castro, Bailey, Lubbock, Hale and Hockley counties, is now a bright spot, from the standpoint of a water and soil conservation.

"Approximately 60 farmers have entered into an agreement with the SCS in the past two months, making a total of 260 in the camp area," Mr. Chapman continued. "Over 100 additional farmers have requested the government's service, but the camp does not enter into an agreement with them at the present time, because of the limited number of technicians and equipment available at the camp."

These farmers are carrying out a complete soil and water conservation program, which consists of terracing, contour farming, strip cropping, contour furrowing of range land, crop rotation, and control grazing. All cultivated land in the camp area is being terraced except the real sandy farms. These soils have such a texture that very little run-off occurs from rains of high intensity. Where such soil is planted to cotton or corn the farmers are using a close strip crop pattern, using either sweet or grain sorghum or both, to strip the cotton and corn, for the purpose of controlling wind erosion.

"The 260 farms are terraced where needed, or are now in the process of being terraced, or will be terraced in the near future, as soon as equipment is available. Many of the farmers who do not have available equipment are planting strips of an early maturing variety of sorghums at regular terraced intervals, so that they may start terrace construction late in the summer as soon as harvesting of feed has been done."

The following equipment is at this time in use in the Littlefield camp area for terrace construction: SCS equipment — 28 fresnoes, 3 six-foot graders, 3 nine-foot graders, 2 12-foot graders, 3 eight-foot graders, 1 60-horse-power diesel Caterpillar tractor; county equipment — 7 large maintainers, 2 60-horse-power Caterpillar tractors, 3 12-foot road graders; Cooperator's equipment — 40 farm type tractors, 40 horses.

Terracing, contour farming, and pasture furrowing are no longer experimental operations on any farm, as demonstrations have been made all over the nation, and accurate records are available to prove the merits of these farm practices. However, if these practices are established, and the Cooperator does not also include strip cropping to keep down wind erosion, he will suffer losses that will materially reduce his annual income, and mean a gradual loss to his top soil of its most productive elements.

Postal receipts slumped 24.6 per cent during January, in keeping with the seasonal post-Christmas trend, chambers of commerce in 40 representative Texas cities have informed the bureau of business research at the University of Texas.

BIG GAIN IN CHEVROLET SALES SINCE INTRODUCTION OF 1939 MODELS

(Special to Leader)

Detroit, Feb. 25. — Continuing the advance that has been apparent ever since introduction of its new 1939 models, Chevrolet sold 51,966 new cars and trucks at retail in January, W. E. Holler, general sales manager, announced here today. This compares with 39,469 units in January, 1938, and is an increase of 12,566 units or 31.7 per cent. In the same month, Mr. Holler announced, Chevrolet dealers sold 114,375 used cars, or 8,925 more than in January, 1938. Combined new and used car sales for the month were 166,341 units, as compared with 144,919 a year ago.

For the past three months, Mr. Holler pointed out, there has been a steady rise in the monthly percentage of increase over sales for corresponding periods in the 1938 model year. In November, the advance was slightly more than 6 per cent; in December it was 25.4 per cent; and in January, 31.7 per cent.

Generally improved business conditions, plus the public's enthusiasm over the 1939 Chevrolet, featuring new type knee action and the exclusive vacuum gearshift with steering column control, is credited with the sharp upturn, Mr. Holler said. "The heavy volume of used cars," he added, "is especially gratifying. It shows that in spite of the increased new car business, this end of the dealers' operation is under complete control, so that dealers are in splendid position to move new cars and trucks."

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX No. 2 FORMS FOR MAKING RETURNS

Forms for filing returns of income for 1938 have been sent to persons who filed returns last year. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve a taxpayer of his obligation to file his return and pay the tax on time — on or before March 15 if the return is made on the case with most individuals.

Forms may be obtained upon request, written or personal, from the offices of collectors of internal revenue and deputy collectors. A person whose net income for 1938 was derived chiefly from salary or wages and was not in excess of $5,000 should make his return on form 1040A. A person whose net income was in excess of $5,000, or, regardless of amount, was derived from a business, profession, rents, or sale of property, is required to use form 1040. Failure to use the proper forms presents difficulties to both the taxpayer and the bureau of internal revenue. Therefore, it is emphasized that a taxpayer who is liable for a return and is engaged in a business or profession from which he derived a net income of less than $5,000 is required to use form 1040.

The return must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer has his legal residence or principal place of business on or before midnight of March 15, 1939. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return or in four equal installments, due on or before March 15, June 15, Sept. 15, and Dec. 15.

Nine South Plains Towns to Get New Postoffices in 1939

Federal building projects in nine South Plains towns were approved Thursday by the house appropriations committee, it was reported. The projects, which could not be undertaken until congress adopted authorization legislation and appropriated money for are (with estimated cost) all for postoffices: Floydada, $75,000; Levelland, $75,000; Monahans, $70,000; Paducah, $75,000; Perryton, $75,000; Post, $75,000; Slaton, $70,000; Snyder, $75,000; Tahoka, $75,000. The new Federal building at Brownfield is almost completed, W. D. T. Storey, local postmaster, stated, and actual construction was expected to start on the Littlefield postoffice sometime in June.

UNIFORMED PLAYERS TO ATTEND CLINIC AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Members of this week's activities of the South Plains high school clinic, which will be held at the Littlefield high school and approximately 500 members and instructors will be visitors in our city on Friday evening, to start promptly at 7:30. The program will include probably the most completely instrumented groups ever to appear in Littlefield. Tickets to the concert are on sale at the local high school, for 50 cents each, and Supt. F. A. Hemphill stated that there were only a few left.

Mr. Layfield indicated that the concert will include the following instruments: 20 B flat clarinets, 1 E flat clarinet, 3 flutes, 8 French horns, 5 trombones, 4 baritones, 10 cornets, 6 saxophones, 6 basses, 2 oboes, 1 alto clarinet, 1 bass clarinet, 1 tympani, 1 bass drum, 3 snare drums, 1-orchestra bells, and 1 bassoon. This totals 74 pieces.

If the weather permits, success of the clinic is assured, said Mr. Hemphill. This is by far the greatest thing that has happened to the Littlefield schools in years, and everyone in Littlefield is asked to extend every courtesy possible to the many uniformed visitors in our city on Friday.

The Nazarene young people will present their regular program at Sunnydale church next Sunday afternoon, March 5, at 3 o'clock. The public are invited.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND GROWS UNDER LAYFIELD

Local Band Now Numbers Thirty-Five; Well Equipped

This year marks the third year of existence of the Littlefield high school band. Previously it was known as a city band, and not as a class of high school.

The band has progressed the past three years under the directorship of Morgan Layfield. The steps of progress have been marked by the new purchases of instruments for the band.

The Band Mothers club is a new organization organized this year. It has been effective in carrying on the financial part of band activities. Through the efforts of the Band Mothers club, more uniforms were purchased this fall, including a new drum major's uniform.

The club also purchased two saxophones, two French horns, an oboe, a baritone, and the newly purchased glockenspiel that arrived this week.

The band now has approximately 35 members and is one of the best equipped bands in this part of the state.

"This year the members have progressed in their classical music work," stated Mr. Layfield.

J. W. PARKMAN SELLS HEN AT LOCAL PRODUCE WHICH BRINGS HIM $1.37

J. W. Parkman of 18 miles west of Littlefield, and 2 miles east of Bula, rightfully holds the record for raising large hens. With some other poultry, which he brought to the Littlefield Poultry & Egg for sale Monday morning, there was a large hen of Rhode Island Red and Game mixed breed, which tilted the scales at 9 1-4 pounds, and brought $1.37 to the seller.

Mrs. Lena Howard Surprised With Shower Saturday

Mrs. Lena Howard was surprised Saturday afternoon when about 25 of her friends gathered at her home for an informal affair, honoring her 76th birthday. The group presented her with many beautiful gifts, and sandwiches, cookies and coffee were served from the table, that was attractively laid with a lace cloth and centered with red carnations.

FIRE DESTROYS JONES HOME SATURDAY A. M.

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the six room house owned by W. E. Jeffries, and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jones, near the rear of Jeffries store, Saturday morning, about 9 o'clock. All of the household goods and clothing of the occupants were completely destroyed.

Peton Jones, brother of J. E. Jones, was sleeping in the bed room and he barely escaped injury, as the flames swept into the room, before he awakened.

Mrs. Jones, who had gone to a neighbor's house, stated that the oil stove was not lit, and there was very little fire in the living room stove.

Opening Sale Is Conducted By New Auction Company

The newly organized Littlefield Auction and Commission Co. conducted their first sale Wednesday and, according to Col. Jack Rowan, the auctioneer, nearly a hundred head of cattle were disposed of bringing exceptionally good prices.

Top price was secured for a yearling brought in by Guy Nichols of the Bula community which has bid in at $80 by Ellis Faust of Littlefield. Mr. Nichols brought in two fine head and the other yearling brought within a few dollars of the high price of the afternoon. The organizers of the new sales company are Ben Joplin, the Nall Brothers and Col. Rowan. They expressed themselves as tremendously pleased with the crowds and prices at their initial sale.

J. T. Elms made a short talk before the opening of the first sale. On behalf of the business men of Littlefield, and the farmers of this section, he wished the new company success. Mr. Elms, later in the afternoon, pronounced it a very fine sale.

SYNOPSIS
The wealthy foster parents of Betty Wetherill both die she is told that she has a father, but with a fortune she considers looking for her own family whom she never knew. A neighbor, Evan, tries to argue her out of it but she loves her and asks for him. She promises to marry him but decides first to find out who her father is. She goes to their home and finds that they are destitute and that they are selling all their furniture for coal. Her mother is a widow with no job. Her father is like an enemy and offers her help, but finds many explanations. She takes money to buy coal in order to save her mother.

"I'll get you a drink of water!" Betty was saying. "Thank fortune, they haven't turned off the water yet!" and she vanished through the door into the kitchen.
Marjorie saw there was a door from the little parlor where she stood and opening it she followed and found her sister as she brought back the water.
"I'll get him something to eat right away," she whispered. "Is there a restaurant or any place nearby where they have food?"
"Only the drugstore. You can get a bottle of milk. Yes, bring it back quick."
Marjorie ran down the uneven little sidewalk, breathless with the thought of her father sitting there in the bare ugly house, cold and hungry, dizzy with faintness, and her mother, no telling how sick upstairs! It was too dreadful!
Arrived breathless at the diminutive drugstore she found to her joy that they had a soda fountain and served soup or coffee with sandwiches. There was hot coffee and there was hot tomato soup, that is, it wasn't hot yet but the man said he could heat them both in a jiffy. And he had just two thermos bot-cellar stairs now. Did you get anything?"

"Yes," said Marjorie eagerly. "I brought hot soup and coffee, and here's some aromatic ammonia. Perhaps that will help too. And here, I have two hot-water bags nice and hot. Take one down and put it on his lap. Haven't you got a flannel or bit of old something to wrap it in? He ought to get warm right away."
"Oh, you're great!" said Betty and the tears were rolling down her cheeks, tears of relief.
She snatched a nicked cup from the shelf and poured out coffee and with a hot-water bag under her arm hurried down cellar again. Marjorie hunted around and found plates and more cups and a knife, and cut some slices of bread, buttering them and putting ham between them. When Betty came back upstairs she had a plateful of nice sandwiches ready for her, and a cup of coffee.
"Take a swallow of this," said Marjorie holding out a cup of coffee, "and take this sandwich in your hand. You'll be sick next if you don't look out."
Betty looked hungrily at the store I went to the best, or is there a better one somewhere else?"

"That's the best near here. They're all right. Ted will be home by and by perhaps and bring the things up for you."
Betty with her sandwich in her hand went down cellar, and hurried up again.
"He's eaten all the soup and is eating his sandwich now. I think he feels better."
So Betty flew away up the stairs, and back again in a moment.
"She is still asleep," she whispered.
"Has she had a doctor?" asked Marjorie.
"No, she wouldn't let us. She said we hadn't the money to pay him. But father is almost crazy about it. I think we ought to have him come just once, anyway, don't you?"
"I certainly do!" said Marjorie. "Where is he? I'll get him before I do anything else."
Betty gave the name and address. "He's supposed to be a good doctor. I guess his prices are rather high," she said sorrowfully.
"What difference does that make?" said Marjorie. "We want the best there is. I'll send him as soon as I can, and you'd better make him prescribe for father too. I'll tell him about it, and you make him. And, where do I talk to the gas people to get that gas turned on? We want to be able to cook some real dinner tonight!"
"Oh!" said Betty, quick tears stinging into her eyes. "You are going to be wonderful, aren't you?"
"No," said Marjorie smiling. "I'm just going to be one of the family, and try to make up for lost time. Does the water bill need looking after, too? We can't afford to have that shut off. And what about electric light?"
"Oh!" cried Betty softly, sinking down on the lower step of the stairs, "you'll use all your money up!"
"Well," said Marjorie happily, "that's what money is for, isn't it? To be used up?"
"You're really real, aren't you?" said Betty, "I can scarcely believe it."
"What did you think I was, a spirit? Here, write those addresses quick. I want to get things started and get back to help."
She handed her sister a little note book and pencil from her handbag.
"You'll be sorry you ever came near us," said Betty sadly, "having to spend all this money and go all these errands."

"I'm already glad I came," said Marjorie, "and if mother and father get well, and you don't get sick, I'd say I'm having the time of my life. It makes me greatly happy to be able to help and I only wish I'd known before that you had all this suffering. And me with plenty of the things."
Betty came up from the cellar and looked at her.
"Well," she said in her sharp young voice that had a mingling of tears in its quality, "I suppose you must be pretty wonderful, and I'm crazy!"
"Nothing wonderful about it! I'm just an ordinary sister, Betty, that's mighty hungry to be taken in and made one of you!"
"Well, I should say you'd taken us in, if you asked me! I thought we'd reached the limit and tonight would see us all well on our way out of this life, but you've somehow brought us back again when we have to go on." Suddenly Betty dropped down on a box by the kitchen door and putting her head in her hands burst into tears. Betty was worn out.

ties left. He hadn't had such a large order in weeks.
While he was getting them ready Marjorie hurried across the street to the grocery and bought two baskets big enough to carry her purchases, and also a dozen oranges, a loaf of bread, a pound of butter and a pound of sliced ham.
Back at the drugstore she added a quart full of milk to her other purchases and started back to the house.
Arrived at the house she found the front door unlatched but her father was no longer sitting on the stairs, and she heard sounds from the cellar.
Betty came hurrying up the cellar stairs as she came out to the kitchen a long streak of soot on one white cheek and her eyes wide and worried.
"He would go down and start the fire," she said in distressed voice. "I couldn't do anything with him." Her voice was almost like a sob. "He always thinks a woman has to be waited on, but he's had another dizzy spell and he's sitting on the food.

"But I must take something up to mother, first," she said.
"No, drink this first, quick. It won't take you a minute, and you can work better with something inside of you. Take this sandwich in your hand, and carry a cup of something up to mother. Which should it be? Coffee first, or soup, or isn't she able for those? I've got oranges here. I can fix her a glass of orange juice in no time."
"Oh, wonderful!" said Betty gratefully, her eyes filling with relieved tears again. "I—don't know—what we would—have done if you—hadn't come!"
"There! Never mind that now. Just drink a little more and then go up to mother. As soon as she knows about me I can help you care for her. I know how to take care of sick people. And now, shall I just slip out and have that coal sent up? You haven't got enough to last long in those bags, and the house ought to get thoroughly warm and stay so. And while I'm out I'm going to order some groceries. Is that

ROTARIANS HAVE QUIZZING BEE AT TODAY'S MEETING

Pryor Hammons to Explain Why His Business Is Unpopular

Don King, technician in charge of range and forestry activities at the CCC, made the classification talk, at last week's meeting of the local Rotary club. In the absence of Don Harris, head of the program committee, J. S. Hilliard, who is one of the charter members of the Rotary club in Littlefield, was asked to make a talk on Rotary's history. Last Thursday was the 34th anniversary date of the foundation of Rotary. Mr. Hilliard reviewed the development of the Rotary ideals and the growth of memberships throughout the world.

Today's luncheon will be given over to a lively quizzing bee. These intelligence tests have become very popular with Rotarians and a large attendance is expected. Preceding the questions contest — there will be a classification talk by a member whose business has gotten to be rather disliked. He will be given an opportunity to defend his calling, and explain why he hasn't been able to popularize his business. The speaker will be Pryor Hammons.

W. C. Thaxton And Stacy Hart Purchase Burleson Funeral Home

Announcement was made this week by W. C. Thaxton and Stacy R. Hart of this city, that they had purchased the furniture and undertaking business from F. M. Burleson. According to the new owners — a large stock of furniture and floor coverings will be secured, the entire store will be remodelled and redecorated. The funeral home will be enlarged and modern equipment added. Stacy R. Hart, who is a licensed embalmer and funeral director, has been in Littlefield about two years, coming here from Miles, Texas. Since coming to this city Mr. Hart has made many friends and he helped organize the Junior Chamber of Commerce of which new group he was chosen vice-president. Elsewhere — in this issue, appears the advertising announcement of the new firm. The new store and funeral home will be at the same location on Phelps avenue, next door to the Leader office. Mr. Thaxton stated that he and his associate, Mr. Hart, would plan improvements and expansion with the full realization of Littlefield's growth and fine future.

Announcements as to plans and details will appear in an early issue of the Leader. Both members of the new firm have the respect and confidence of the community, as businessmen and citizens. Success and prosperity for the new business was the general prediction of all Littlefield.

Improvements To Be Made To Interior Of First Baptist Church

Plans are underway by the First Baptist church to redecorate the interior of the building.

According to Rev. Roy Shahan, pastor, one of the members, Clint Griffin, very graciously offered to buy and install new electric light fixtures, if the church in turn would redecorate the ceiling from which the lights would be strung.

Immediately Rev. Shahan, who is known for his progressive spirit, began taking bids for the work. A meeting of deacons was called, and after the matter was discussed at length, and it developed that the decoration of the ceiling alone would cost $135, and the openings and ceilings of the entire auditorium of the church would total about $277.60, that an effort would be made to do this work, inasmuch as modern lighting fixtures were being installed as a gift to the church.

In an interview with Rev. Shahan Monday, he stated he had already over $150 pledged towards redecorating the church.

The electric light fixtures are 16 inch bowls of crystal glass frosted at bottom, and will add considerably to the lighting system, as well as to the appearance of the interior of the building.

Recently plaster was repaired in the front of the building and in auditorium to the value of $65.

It is expected that the improvements will get underway within the next few days.

Report 2178 Books Checked Out During Month of February

Mrs. Bessie M. Busch, librarian, reports that there were 2,178 books checked out, and 231 registering for books during the past month from Jan. 28 until Feb. 28.

Mrs. Busch asked the Leader to express her appreciation and thanks to those who have contributed papers, including funny papers, to the library, weekly.

Truck and Trailer Owned by Connell Are Wrecked Monday

Otis Connell miraculously escaped injury Monday morning, when his lock and key truck and house trailer featured in an auto-truck crash between Dumas and Perryton. Both the truck and trailer were turned over, the trailer smashed, and the truck almost completely demolished.

Mr. Connell reported the accident to his mother, Mrs. J. O. Connell, here Monday. An oil truck is said to have crashed into the Connell truck from the rear when going down a hill.

Mr. Connell suffered only slight injuries.

Mrs. John Carey Overcome With Gas Saturday Afternoon

An accident that almost proved fatal occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Carey on East Seventh street Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Carey was overcome with gas, after lighting the hot water heater, which had a defective connection.

Mrs. Carey was almost unconscious when her daughter, Betty Jean, arrived from town, and after Betty Jean became ill, she called her father, who had just driven up in the car. Mr. Carey called Dr. C. E. Payne, who treated Mrs. Carey, and she was ill for three days. However, Wednesday afternoon, she had almost recuperated, and was able to be up again.

Plan Clean-Up Drive
The group plans to sponsor a clean-up campaign in Littlefield this spring, and the parking situation will be widely discussed within the next few months. The first project to be accomplished by the group, is the placing of more lights on the Littlefield water tower. The lights have been out on the tower for some time, and they are being replaced this week.

To Sponsor Softball Team
In the summer the Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a softball team.

Those attending the meeting Tuesday night were Lenton Smith, Glimmer Eagen, Lynn Dobbs, Frank Bartley, Stacy Hart, J. E. Chisholm, Bill Thomas, J. R. Totals — Transportation aid, $46,994; salary aid, $22,528; total, $69,522.

$19,000 Increase in Aid
According to Mr. Boles, the above figures represent an increase of $19,000 in state aid to Lamb county schools over last year, and means an additional $3,200 to Littlefield schools.

also stated that this was the first time that all schools in Lamb county have qualified for salary aid, and that Littlefield and Amherst will receive salary aid for the first time in the history of these schools; and that it was this benefit which increased the totals as above.

"The reason for the increase," Mr. Boles said was that the "various school budgets showed that much more need for school aid."

Depends Upon Appropriation
The above amounts represent the amounts of grants from the equalization fund and whether they will be paid in full is dependent upon whether the legislature appropriates sufficient funds to pay 100 per cent of claims.

In addition the state pays about $116,600 in scholastic apportionment into the treasuries of Lamb county school districts.

Mr. Boles left Littlefield Wednesday for Austin to attend to certain rural aid problems.

by Mr. Carmody, it was pointed out that the contract for this project must be executed by the board of directors, and signed by the administrator, before funds will be available to draw on. The use of the REA financing plan to the members should be a most satisfactory medium for obtaining additional members on the lines. Mr. Woodall urges the use of the finance plan, and hopes that more farmers will enjoy the social and economic advantages of the project.

Start Work on Sub-Station
Work on the sub-station was started this week, which is located just south of the Littlefield cemetery, on land formerly owned by L. F.

Bell. Enough wire has been received to string 100 miles of line, and work on this is expected to start within the next few days. About 106 meter bases have been checked out through the local office, which means that the farm homes are gradually being wired.

176 Miles to Be Completed
Weather permitting, Mr. Woodall stated, the 176 miles will be completed early in April. This being the case many people's houses are not wired. take electricity when needed on, the superintendent said. "At the last minute electricians will be busy," he said. "And we have people living on the line and not keep putting last minute."

LITTLEFIELD, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MARCH 2, 1939

NUMBER 48

Farmers Are Business Men, Says Farm Security Supervisor; Explains How to Get Loans Through FSA

Present day farmers have a more thorough understanding of common terms of agriculture and industry. T. Euel Limer, supervisor for Farm Security Administration Lamb county pointed out. "Farmers have been doing a lot of this, and the Farm Security program has enabled them to get back on their feet."

Limer explains in the following paragraphs just how farmers secure loans through the administration.

The Farm Security Administration makes no loans to farmers; who secure enough financial backing from any other source to effect rehabilitation. It therefore does not enter into competition with other lending agency.

The Farm Security makes a collateral on his land or the Farm Security takes a charge on whatever is to be financed with the loan — machinery, stock, next year's crop. Instead of stressing the importance of adequate security, however, it stresses importance of the integrity of farm family and the production abilities of the farm unit. If a farmer has a record of fair-dealing and his farm is large enough and soil rich enough to produce a comfortable living for his family then the Farm Security knows that a loan will be repaid — If scientific farming practices are put into effect. Let me repeat — If scientific farming practices are put into effect. That brings us to the one chief difference in Farm Security loans and those made by other lending agencies. In making a loan the Farm Security Administration eliminates the "chance element" insofar as it is possible to do so, by providing guidance and training in sound agricultural practices.

"When a farmer wants to look into the possibility of getting a Farm Security loan, he contacts the county supervisor's office. If possible, then, the home and farm supervisor makes a visit together to the farmer's home and hold a conference with him and his wife. We like to make this contact in the farm home if possible in order to get a better insight into the problems which confront this particular family. We determine whether the farm is capable of yielding a living for the family as well as the possibilities for that family's rehabilitation.

"If we find that the farm being operated cannot possibly produce an adequate living for the family, we recommend a grant instead of a loan. We do not, however, recommend a grant with the idea that it will be permanent, but that it will be in effect only until the time the family can be relocated to a better producing unit and start its own rehabilitation.

"If, however, we find that the farm will produce a living for the family, our next step is to determine what the amount of the loan should be to enable the family to rehabilitate itself. Toward this end, the homesupervisor and the farm supervisor help the farmer and his wife prepare farm and home plans.

"The supervisor's work in outlining a farm plan is as varied as the number of borrowers. Each plan is prepared to meet the individual needs of the family. The number and the ages of the children in the family must be taken into consideration. The type and condition of the soil, the size of his farming unit and how much of his cropland is in pasture, how much is fallowed and what portion is lying idle.

We need to know the number of livestock owned, the amount of machinery and its condition, the available water facilities, the amount of unpaid debts and their adjustments, —all these and many more questions must be answered before a comprehensive farm plan can be made.

"We do stress the importance of following a diversified farming plan so that if one crop fails, there will be a chance of income from another.

"We also stress the importance of producing as much of the family living expenses as possible on the farm. We make provision in the loan for whatever is needed to accomplish this purpose: A few more cows, perhaps, to provide sufficient milk, cream and butter and cheese for family use and to provide a small cream check each week with which to buy staple groceries; a few pigs to supply lard and meat, a few chickens to furnish meat and eggs. Plans are made for a garden sufficient to supply vegetables for table use and for canning. We decide what repairs will be necessary for putting machinery into operation and what new machinery will be needed.

"If the needed farming equipment isn't too expensive and if it is practical and necessary for the farm to own, we include funds in the loan for its purchase.

"If, however, heavy machinery such as threshing machine, is needed for farming operations, and if there are other farmers in the district who need the same type of machinery, we are authorized to organize groups of farmers who make arrangements to purchase that machinery through a cooperative service for the use of the group.

"We make a list of the farmer's old debts. If these debts are excessive, if we find that it is not possible for him to repay these debts, then we confer with the county farm debt adjustment committee, and that committee arranges for a meeting between the farmer and his debtors. If a mutual agreement is reached — and 99 times out of a

College Queen

When students of West Texas State College of Canyon went to the polls to select their personality queen of the year, they gave this coveted honor to Miss Gaynelle Douglas of Silverton, a junior. Miss Douglas, a red-haired beauty, is president of the College YWCA and is chairman of the newly formed Northwest Christian council, a "Y" organization. She participates in many college activities.

100, it is — whereby these debts are adjusted to a figure within the ability of the farmer to pay, we include in the loan a sufficient amount to cover these debts.

"Of course, there is nothing compulsory about acceptance of these adjustments, either by the farmer or his debtors. But we have found that a farmer's debtors are just as eager to get these old debts adjusted and paid as he is. It enables them to collect and to put new money into circulation.

"We supervisors need to have a thorough understanding of the other agricultural programs — the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the Soil Conservation service, the Bureau of Agriculture Economics, the Land Utilization, Water Conservation Extension Service — all of which have been created for one common purpose — to aid the farmer to help himself, to stabilize agriculture and to solve basic agricultural problems. We need this knowledge so that we can advise the farmer how each of the programs can help him to solve his particular problems.

"At the time we help the farmer prepare his farm plan, we explain to him the necessity of keeping farm budgets and records — expenditure and income from every phase of operations. From these accounts the farmer can keep an accurate check on his family's living expenses, costs of operations and his net yearly income.

"He needs to know a good many details about his past farming experiences in order that he may be able to rectify his mistakes and build for the future. He needs to know, for instance, the average production of milk or butterfat from each cow, the number of eggs produced per hen and the number of pigs raised per litter. He needs to know which of various crops have made the best production and which have netted the most income.

"You can readily understand why it is necessary to determine all these things before he can operate his farm with the greatest degree of efficiency. If the cows are not producing as much milk as they should, he can start building for better production. If the egg output isn't up to standard, a close system of culling can be instituted and production built up. If he knows what crops are best suited to soil conditions on his land, and what crops over a period of years have made the best yields, and returned the best cash income, then he has something to work on in determining future operations.

"These farm plans are intended to help the farmer plan his operations in a business-like manner, know what his prospective income is and to budget his expenses — in other words to plan his farming operations just as a business man plans his. These farm plans are designated to help farm families re-establish their farming operations as independent going concerns."

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

You may suffer sagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes-feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

DOLL-WAISTED FROCK

It simply melts into your waistline, thanks to cleverly contrived darts that work their magic almost invisibly — and the shirred, high-shouldered sleeves make the doll-waisted effect even more so! Two big buttons at the scalloped closing, a little patch pocket on the skirt — that's all the trimming it needs because the line is so utterly lovely and youthful!

Best of all, the pattern is as easy and pleasant to make as a date for tea! Velvet, wool crepe, moire, challis are excellent fabrics for this design.

Pattern No. 8274 is designed for sizes: 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Size 14 requires 4 1-2 yards of 39 inch material, with either long or short sleeves.

Pattern 8282 — Not often can you find a house frock design with as much real charm and style as this new one (8282). The square, high neckline, the Victorian sleeves, the perfectly beautiful princess line, all cooperate to make this dress as becoming and attractive as your choicest afternoon frock.

Calico, percale, gingham, linen and pique are nice materials for this design. Trim it with ricrac.

Pattern No. 8282 is designed for sizes: 14, 16, 18, 20; 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4 5-8 yards of 35 inch material. 4 1-2 yards of ricrac. (Enclose this coupon-box with your pattern order.)

Highlighting the week's social activities was the monthly luncheon of the members of the Friendship class of the First Baptist church, Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Pat Boone, when Mrs. Lena Howard was surprised with the program featured the honoring of her birthday, which was Saturday.

The group assembled in the dining room of the lovely home of Mrs. Boone, where a green and white color scheme was attractive, with a beautiful lace cloth on the table, and the centerpiece created from a large mirror, and a huge birthday cake on the reflector. Sweet peas and snapdragons formed a circle around the cake, and on the cake, and hidden in the greenery of the flowers, were the 76 candles, lighted, which made a beautiful arrangement. In front of the cake were cards with each letter in Mrs. Howard's name, and as Mrs. Boone spelled the words, she gave symbols of love to the honoree. She then presented Mrs. Howard with the book, "All in a Lifetime," poems by Edgar A. Guest, a gift from the members of the class.

After a three-course luncheon was served, those present enjoyed several games and contests, and as they adjourned, Mrs. Howard declared "this is the most beautiful birthday party I've had in all these 76 years."

Guests for the occasion were Mrs. Boone's mother, Mrs. R. C. Hopping, and her aunt, Mrs. Flora Nutt from Lubbock, and Mrs. David Schein, of Littlefield.

Members of the class who attended this lovely affair were Mesdames H. W. Wiseman, L. C. Grisom, W. S. Patrick, V. S. Cassel, Jess Seale, W. G. Street, Clint Griffin, Adams, Floyd Coffman, Pryor Hammons, Viggo Peterson, Roy Shahan, O. K. Woodall, F. O. Boles, A. D. Henderson, J. M. Stokes, Janie Phipps, J. H. Herndon, L. W. Jordan, and T. A. Henson, and the hostess, Mrs. Boone, and the honoree, Mrs. Howard.

"Playmates and Their Community Contacts" Subject of Program

"Irish Month" will be observed at the regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers association next Wednesday afternoon, March 8, at 4:30 at the high school auditorium.

The program will open with community sing-song; with the group harmonizing in three Irish songs, "Tiparary," "River Shannon," and "My Wild Irish Rose."

A panel discussion will be held, and groups will discuss Playmates and their community contacts. Mrs. Pat Boone will discuss the subject in regard to church influence; Mrs. K. W. Wells, with the home; Eugene Latimer, with scout work; D. L. Lindley, with the school; and J. A. von Lankin, with the world contacts.

Special music will be rendered by the high school Glee club, under the direction of Mrs. E. B. Hobbs.

A business session will be held after the program, members of the nominating committee will be elected by the assembly. Mrs. Orin Dennis, Mrs. O. K. Howe, and F. A. Hemphill were nominated by members of the executive committee, to name the officers for the coming year.

Four Unite With First Baptist Church Sunday

As announced by Rev. Roy Shahan Monday, there were four additions to the First Baptist church Sunday, two at the morning hour, and two during the night service.

SIXTY ATTEND WORLD DAY OF PRAYER SERVICE AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sudan Culture Club Entertain at Colonial Tea

Real and imaginary events in the lives of George and Martha Washington were revived with enthusiasm last Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 22, when members of the Culture Study club of Sudan entertained with a Colonial tea at the Methodist church parlor, and officers of the Woman's Study club of Littlefield were guests.

Martha Washington costumes were worn by members of the Sudan club, and the red, white and blue color scheme was used in table decorations. The table was laid with a white lace cloth over red, centered with red carnations, and refreshments were served in blue dishes, and tea poured from a colonial silver service.

Five little girls, who wore colonial dresses, sang several numbers. Sidney Glenn, Betty Lou Teal, Betty Mae Salem, Marilyn Davis, and Charlie Roark composed the quintet.

Mrs. Simon D. Hay gave a very interesting review of the book, "Three Harbors," which was the highlight of the program.

Those attending this enjoyable affair from Littlefield, were Mesdames W. D. T. Storey, F. O. Boles, Mancel Hall, and C. E. Payne.

Wayland Band Presents Three Programs Here

Wayland College Volunteer band of 15 members visited Littlefield over the past week-end, and gave inspiring programs at the First Baptist church at 8 o'clock p. m. Saturday; and again at 11 a. m. Sunday; and closing their visit with another musical service at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Included in the group were Misses Evelyn Lindley and Paula Shahan, and Gene Stephens, all students of Wayland.

They returned to Wayland college Sunday afternoon.

"Let us put our love in deeds — and make it real," was the motto for the day of prayer, which was observed around the world Friday by churches of all denominations.

Members of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches met at the Presbyterian church from 3 to 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, and Mrs. Ira E. Woods was leader of a very interesting program. Mrs. W. G. Street had charge of the period of praise and thanksgiving, and the reconciliation of Jesus; Mrs. Marvin Norwood — period of prayer of penitence; Rev. Norwood, period of prayer of intercession; Rev. Don Harris, period of prayer of dedication; and Mrs. J. S. Hilliard, period of prayer of mediation.

Miss Laura Virginia Bills offered organ music and a solo was rendered by Jack Norman. Mrs. G. M. Shaw directed the song service. Approximately 60 attended.

Anton Farmers to Be Benefited by Electric Lines

Farmers in the Anton community will soon start wiring their houses for the Rural Electrification line, it was reported last week. Applications are being signed, and the engineers for the Lubbock Rural Electrification project have mapped the route in the Anton vicinity to the Hufstetler farm, five miles east of Anton.

Ed Hart, who is in charge of the signing of the applications, reported that the line would be brought to the Goodart farm, just east of Anton, and all farmers who wish to be served by the Rural Electrification should get in touch with him immediately.

CENTURY FOR SAFETY especially CENTURY Cushion Balloons

When you buy tires this year, make it safety... FIRST! There are more cars on the road today than ever before—and they travel faster, stop quicker. Often your tires are all that stand between you and danger.

Century Tires are made for safety in modern traffic. They are reinforced and extra strong at every point where higher speeds throw greater strains.

- Century sidewalls are specially reinforced with full weight, full strength cord. This puts up to 30% more strength into this vital area — overcomes dangerous high speed flexing strain.
- Century beads are made of rust-proof, high tensile steel wire welded into continuous cables. They can't stretch — won't break — are seven times stronger than actually needed.
- The Century Speed-Grip tread is deeper grooved for added traction. This assures efficient braking, easy handling, an extra measure of non-skid mileage.

Make it a point today to drop in and see these fine Century Cushion Balloons. They offer you extra safety and extra service at no additional cost.
