

MANY OPPORTUNITIES TO AID IN WAR EFFORT

Join The Kitchen Commandos

No less than two billions of pounds of waste cooking fats were thrown away every year in American kitchens. Only one-fourth of this amount, or 500 millions of pounds a year, would be sufficient now to complete our present war needs. In other words, only a half cup of waste fat saved every week in every American home would bring in the quantity needed to speed up the hour of victory.

And this is a challenge to every American housewife, for it is her job to see that this fat is saved.

In the past, we got almost a billion pounds a year of fats from Far Eastern sources now cut off by the Japs—coconut oil and copra from the Philippines, palm oil from the Dutch East Indies and Malaya, tung oil from China, perilla oil from Manchuria and Japan.

Our problem is to replace all of this loss. It is being replaced partly by increased imports of oil and oil seeds from our neighbors in Central and South America. Too, farmers in this country are increasing the acreage of high oil-yielding crops, such as cotton seed, pumpkin seeds, soy beans and peanuts. But the biggest source of all has never been fully tapped. That source is in our own kitchens.

Out of American frying pans and boilers—from the drippings of steaks and chops, beef and pork and lamb roasts, chickens and turkeys and ducks and geese—must come fat for glycerine so urgently needed to make the explosives for the shells and bombs and depth charges to win this war.

Saving waste fats is one of the simplest war aids asked by Uncle Sam. And it is one of the most important ones on the home front. So join the proud ranks of the Kitchen Commandos. Your uniform may be only a plain apron, but it can be as gallant an outfit as the togs and helmet of a bombardier in a Flying Fortress.

The main difference between people in large towns and people in small towns is that the former live in large towns, and the latter live in small towns.

In many cases the person who is worrying for fear he may lose his mind wouldn't miss it if he did.

Humility is an element of greatness because it is a sign of knowledge of greater things yet to be attained.

Dignity and dullness are double first cousins.

We are eagerly awaiting Hitler's promise to protect the United States from invasion by Great Britain.

The term "Greenhorn" has all kinds of applications: to a cowboy it is someone who has never been on a ranch.

Temper is one thing that can't be worked to death.

There may be a divinity that shapes our ends, but it does damned little about making them meet.

Expendable Junk

You have heard of "expendable" troops and weapons. But do you know what expendable steel is?

Expendable steel is stuff from which we make tanks and ships, and which we can't count on getting back to re-use as scrap.

When an American tank is blasted in the African desert, it ceases to be of use, either as a weapon or as scrap metal. The twisted hulk is too far away to make it worthwhile shipping back. When an American merchant ship or destroyer is torpedoed and goes to the bottom of the sea, it is gone—scrap and all.

In peace time, a high percentage of steel used in production was counted on to come back. Automobiles, tractors, plows, pipe, wire—all eventually found their way to the junk yard. In those days we were prodigal with our scrap.

But today it's different. With a great deal of the steel turned out now being shipped overseas in the form of weapons, much of it can never be salvaged.

That makes our scrap situation particularly acute. Scrap is necessary to the production of new steel. And to obtain this scrap we must dig down into the supplies that accumulated during peace time. Our stockpile of scrap is no longer being replenished as in normal times.

It is probable that we will be scrapping the bottom of the scrap barrel, so to speak, before the war is over. Every piece will help.

Right now, a second go-round of the farms and ranches of the Panhandle is under way. And farmers are amazed at the amount of stuff they passed over when they first gathered up the scrap that was lying around. In some instances farmers had become so accustomed to seeing old harrows and plows and rolls of wire and other accumulations lying around that they actually walked past them in their search for junk. Now they are beginning to drag out the scrap from fence corners and barnyards where it had become a part of the landscape.

Steel used in weapons these days is expendable. It is not coming back in the form of scrap. And to feed the furnaces we must glean every bit of junk around the place.

If we'd give as much attention to our daily schedule as we do to preparing for a vacation, we might eliminate a lot of waste and worry.

A news report says that students of music never commit suicide—but some of their neighbors do.

Most married men think they would have been rich if they had remained single.

Compliments are like perfume—to be inhaled but not swallowed.

HAPPY NEW YEAR To EVERYBODY

—and Let's Go Littlefield and Lamb County--We've Got Some Big Jobs To Do in 1943!

Like other sections of the United States, Lamb County has felt in full measure the impact of a year that for the most part has been filled with the desolation that is war.

Yet even such somber days cannot wholly detract from the joy that the New Year traditionally echoes. For in this New Year of 1943, as always, is born anew—the HOPE and PROMISE of the ages.

HOPE that our world will in the coming year be made a better place in which men may live and PROMISE that with free men aligned on the side of right—such HOPE cannot help but be fulfilled.

Blood has been spilled by our sons to weight emphasis on such HOPE and PROMISE. To those American boys who have perished in the wilds of Bataan, in the depths of the seven seas, and on the reefs of the Pacific's coral islands, must we dedicate ourselves in the coming year.

We must pledge ourselves to the cause that the loss of these heroes will surely result in humanitarian gain for the more fortunate world which now benefits from their acts. 1943 must be a constant, living fulfillment of such a pledge.

For this is why these men of ours have died: That our country and the world may face the New Year—and every day—with the everlasting HOPE and PROMISE of freedom-filled days ahead . . . in 1943 and until the end of time.

There's a new spirit in this New Year of 1943. As we ring out the old and ring in the new . . . we hear a call to all of us on the home front to increased activity in the effort . . . to produce more food, to buy more War Bonds . . . to do things of which we are capable in the up the men of our country and who are in the armed forces.

Health, Happiness, Prosperity . . . had all that . . . we're going to have the privileges that our forefathers fought for—Democracy—our heritage but we are assured of a happy, bright future only because our boys are fighting . . . giving their lives for our country. Whatever we can do to help our boys is all too little.

Let us not forget . . . as we stand on the threshold of 1943 . . . the promising fact that America remains the great pillar and strength of mankind, the hope of the world. Do not forget that this world of ours is going to be an American world era now dawning an American age.

We can meet our responsibilities because we're Americans!

We on the home front are proud of our men in the service . . . we are to have a share in ringing out the old . . . and ringing in the new day, Liberty Bells will be heard again throughout the world.

Wishing You Much Happiness the Best of Everything in the Coming Year, We Are,

Mrs. Vernie V. Wright received a letter Tuesday from her son, Maj. Tilden Wright, from "Somewhere in England" which was written Dec. 6, taking over three weeks to make the trip to Texas. Thinking the contents will be of much interest to readers of the Leader, excerpts from same are being published as follows:

"... very foggy and cold... the weather is extremely changeable... snowed a little last Thursday night, but melted almost as fast as it fell. The countryside is very picturesque; just like the pictures of 'Merrie Ol' England.' People over here, even in peace time, keep their houses colder than we do. They have very little air conditioning, so, to get fresh air, it has to be let in. Nearly all the homes here are old and would be hard to modernize, not to mention the expense involved; consequently there is very little central heating—mostly open coal and wood fireplaces. Most homes have a bath, etc., though very old fashioned.

"The average Englishman doesn't make near the money the average American does, yet they manage to maintain practically the same standard of living. Cars are three to four times more expensive over here and much smaller and less powerful. Roads are narrower, rougher, and are crooked.

"The English people are very likeable and most respect America and Americans. Their conception of America, though, is considerably warped, because of our Hollywood films. I hadn't realized how untrue to life movies were until I saw over here what they make us look like. Movies and zoot suits—no wonder they sometimes think we're crazy.

"The English aren't snooty or standoffish—just reserved, and don't intrude on each other's privacy, unless invited to do so. We strike up a friendship, or at least an acquaintance within 15 minutes with perfect strangers on trains. The English travel for hours sitting beside each other, and never say a word, unless they already know each other.

"Quite a lot of the English are duplexes, but are as completely separated in actuality as though one were in New York, and the other in Texas. We know the life history of all our natives for miles around in two or three days. The average Englishman doesn't know English History nor the English countryside, as well as the average American knows England without ever having been here. Many English within a few miles of historic places don't even know they exist. Imagine a Texan not knowing where the Alamo is!

"Their newspapers are cut to two or three sheets, no rotogravure section, no funnies. They never did have the big ones (in number of sheets I mean) that we do, but these war time papers aren't very interesting from the keepake standpoint—have nothing but war and government news, and that is strictly censored."

Pvt. John Henry Chapman of the U. S. Marines, who has been attending Mechanic Aviation School at the Chicago, Ill., Pier, arrived in Littlefield Monday on a seven day leave to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Chapman, and other relatives. He has been in the Armed Forces six months.

A number of friends met him at Amarillo, and accompanied him to Littlefield, including Misses Helen Heathman and Jacquita Weaver, Charles Heathman, Gene Clark, John Porcher and Robert Hammons.

As a compliment to John Henry, Mrs. J. T. Weaver made and presented him with a beautifully decorated cake, which the entire Chapman family are very proud of. Mrs. Chapman stated to a Leader representative Wednesday that each member of the family was so proud of it that they hesitated to cut it—hence the cake remains whole to be admired.

It is a white cake decorated with yellow edging, three blue stars for each of the Chapman boys in the service, red stripes, and brown Marine Corps Insignia.

Pvt. Ewing Thaxton cabled Mrs. Thaxton before Christmas to the effect that he had arrived safely in Africa; and Saturday last she received her first letter from overseas written somewhere in Africa to the effect that he was well, and looking forward to receiving some mail from home.

Pvt. Thaxton, who is connected with an Ordnance Company, apparently is on duty with or near John Underwood, another Littlefield young man, in-as-much as he also stated in his letter that he had received two editions of the Lamb County Leader in Africa, which had been forwarded, and which he had enjoyed reading, and had handed them to John to also read.

Mrs. S. G. Underwood received a letter Sunday from her son, Pvt. John H. Underwood, of the U. S. Army. The letter reported that he had landed safely in Casa Blanca, French Morocco, North Africa, and was dated November 27. He did not state just how long he had been there, but this was the first letter Mrs. Underwood had received from her son in several months.

Pvt. Underwood wrote: "Casa Blanca is fairly large, and a very pretty town... was once a pleasure resort. The climate is very much like the climate at home in early September. We have a nice place to camp. The French who inhabit the city are friendly—the Arabs are not unfriendly... This is a strange land—everything different from the States. Arabs and negroes go around in ridiculous dress, mostly rags and barefooted. They try to sell the soldiers all manner of things.

"As for the trip over, I never saw so much water before in all my life, and don't want to again until I can come home. I miss all of you, but you must carry on and not worry, for everything will be o. k., and I want you to be there when I get back."

Mr. and Mrs. John Cary received a cablegram Monday from Burt, who is stationed in Australia, which was intended Christmas Greeting, but the message wished them a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year stating that all was well.

Mrs. Raynes Sparks received a letter Thursday until Sunday from her husband at Camp Barkley. Mr. Sparks has been attending Officers Training School at Camp Barkley for the past three months.

Pvt. Doyle Sewell returned day of last week to Hill City, Utah, after being on 18 day furlough, visiting his mother, and other relatives here.

Pvt. Sewell, after attending Aviation Specialist school at Hill City, Utah, where he has been for a couple of months.

Cpl. Harry Williams, and Mrs. M. M. Williams, who is stationed at Ringgold, Texas, arrived Monday on a 14-day furlough.

Ray Dalton of the U. S. Army, who is stationed at San Diego, arrived Thursday to visit his parents here. He will leave for duty.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Amherst, Texas
R. H. Campbell, Pastor

As we come into the services next Sunday morning, another year will have become history. All the joys and sorrows, failures and successes days of happiness and days of grief, will be part of the past. Whatever of accomplishment, whatever of failure has been ours will be gone forever and we will be looking forward to the New Year that is before us, with its promise.

As we look forward to the New Year we know that there are many things of heavy burden that await us. The New Year is not going to be an easy time for any who want to make the best of life. But even in the trying times which we will have to face there is the possibility of making much of life and making life mean much to ourselves and to all those with whom we come in contact.

Let us begin the New Year in the best way by being present at all the services of our church. Then let us make that a rule which we will follow throughout the year.

Remember the services of the church where you are always welcome.
