Police To Ticket Fire Chasers

Littlefield Police Chief F.A. Fitzgerald has announced that the police are going to start issuing citations to people disregarding the laws pertaining to chasing emergency vehicles and hindering the work of the fire department at the scene.

The announcement was brought about by incidents at two recent fires within the city limits of Littlefield. Once last week and even more so at a fire at the Crescent Park Motel Sunday night many persons drove automobiles at speeds exceeding the limit to keep up with the emergency vehicles on their way to the fire and then at the scene onlookers hindered the work of the firemen in the performance of their duties.

City Ordinance 93, passed October 28, 1964, make it a misdemeanor and persons liable to a fine up to $100 for not immediately clearing the streets, upon the approach of any police or fire department vehicle which has its signal in operation, by pulling up to the curb and remaining there until the vehicle has passed. The ordinance also states "No person shall drive or operate any automobile over or across any fire hose, or in such manner as to obstruct, delay or hinder any fire apparatus or any member of the Police or Fire Department while in the discharge of their duties."

Article 13 of the Texas State Law prohibits the following of any piece of fire apparatus at a distance of less than 500 feet unless on official business. It is also considered a misdemeanor or with fines up to $100.

Texas State law also provides that traffic tickets may be issued to anyone who parks within a block of where a fire truck has stopped to answer an alarm.

Chief Fitzgerald stated, "The Fire Department has asked for our cooperation in this matter as they have been delayed arriving at the scene of fires by drivers refusing to pull over to the curb and have also been hindered at the fire by automobiles parked too near the scene." "We are definitely going to issue citations to anyone violating the ordinances in the future."

Recreation Program Opens Monday

Littlefield's summer recreation program, under the direction of John Howle, will get underway, in both city parks, Monday at 9:30.

Howle said the program, this year, will be the same as it has in years past, with the exception of movies on Wednesday.

The program is open to all Littlefield children in grades one through six, in addition, a special tennis instruction session will be conducted at the Crescent Park tennis courts for ages 12 through 15.

In addition to the tennis session for the older children the program will feature supervised training for the children and will have a period each day for swimming at the Crescent Park swimming pool.

Howle has requested all children living north of 9th Street to report to Laguna Park and all children living south of 9th to report to the instructors at Crescent Park.

The program will run from 9:30 to 11 each week day, and the instructors in the program have announced no registration will be necessary to participate in the program, which is free and open to all school children in the city.

Tower Outlines Bracero Work Plan

A move to bypass the Labor Department in recruitment of Bracero workers has been launched in the Senate by Senator John G. Tower, who has outlined plans to place recruitment responsibility in the hands of state authorities.

Senator Tower, who served for three years on the Senate's Labor Committee, introduced legislation Monday which would give the state officer principally responsible for agriculture will make the final determination as to the number of workers needed to harvest crops.

In the case of Texas, that power would be vested in the Commissioner of Agriculture. Presently, federal immigration law holds the U.S. Attorney General responsible for permitting importation of foreign workers; but the Secretary of Labor must first certify that a labor shortage exists.

Senator Tower noted that throughout this year's citrus and vegetable season in California and Florida Secretary of Labor Wirtz has flatly denied that serious labor shortages existed, in spite of severe crop losses due to insufficient labor. Eventually, and after long congressional and farm industry pressure, the Secretary did allow some limited, temporary admission of foreign workers for California and Florida.

Senator Tower said the Labor Secretary has pledged, in correspondence with the Senator, to work closely with the Texas Employment Commission to "meet the labor needs of Texas growers." Tower placed in the Congressional Record today TEC labor forecasts which predict spring harvest labor shortages, saying, "In light of the Secretary's pledge, there is real reason to hope that Bracero workers will soon be admitted to Texas. However, time continues to drift by, and farmers and ranchers cannot conjure workers overnight. I hope the Secretary will act quickly enough to permit the necessary advance planning by Texans involved."

Senator Tower's legislation would give the state sole jurisdiction over the "finding of a need" for additional workers. The U.S. Attorney General then would supervise immigration. "Certainly this would be far more equitable," Senator Tower said, "than allowing federal control from Washington. Who is better able to determine the needs of agriculture than those closest to the situation?"

"It has proved impossible in this heavily-agricultural nation of 190 million people for one federal official to make an almost day-to-day labor need determination in each of 50 states. The labor problems of industry alone are enough to keep the Labor Secretary and his department busy around the clock.

USDA Revises Standards Of Cotton Mike Readings

It will be this time next year before we begin using the revised official U.S. cotton standards for micronaire readings recently announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

This was pointed out today by W.K. Palmer, Officer-in-Charge of the USDA's Lubbock cotton classing office.

He said the effective date -- June 1, 1966 -- conforms with the U.S. Cotton Standards Act. It requires a waiting period of not less than one year for changes in standards.

"This revision will provide an official standard for a third factor of cotton quality," Mr. Palmer said.

Official standards for grade and staple length were both established prior to 1920.

Micronaire readings were first made available in 1946 at USDA cotton laboratories and now they are available at all cotton classing offices of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

In 1956, official cotton standards for mike readings were established for cotton certificated for delivery on futures contracts.

The new change will make the mike standards available for general use without restriction, Mr. Palmer explained.

Also, the revision will incorporate developments made since 1956 in airflow instruments and in testing procedures used to make micronaire readings of fiber fineness and maturity.

Since micronaire readings provide an accurate measure of fiber fineness and maturity, they are recognized throughout the cotton industry as an important quality factor in merchandising and processing cotton.

Also, cotton farmers have in micronaire readings a valuable guide to best varieties to grow, management practices and to the best outlet for their cotton. Mr. Palmer pointed out.

About 63 percent of the cotton classed by the Lubbock, Lamesa and Brownfield offices last season also received a mike reading, according to Mr. Palmer.

"We will offer cotton farmers this miking service again this season," he said.

HIGH UP IN THE AIR -- The last of the overhead wires on Phelps Ave. are going down as Southwestern Public Service employees were busy at work this week cutting the overhead wires on the east side of Phelps Ave. Most of the new lights have been installed on the west side of the main street and the new poles will go up on the east side within the near future.

Farm Bureau Appears Before House Committee

Texas Farm Bureau President C.H. DeVaney has told a House Agriculture hearing that legislation sponsored by a bipartisan group of Congressmen from Texas and California would "provide a sound solution to the cotton price problem at greatly reduced and fully defensible costs to the federal government."

DeVaney was joined by state Farm Bureau leaders from all sections of the Cotton Belt in testimony June 3 in Washington, D.C. As spokesman for the group, DeVaney explained provisions of Farm Bureau-backed bills, H.R. 2855, H.R. 3319, and H.R. 3025, the latter introduced by Rep. Olin Teague of Bryan.

He also offered an analysis of the cotton legislation proposed by Chairman Harold Cooley of the House Agriculture Committee. The Texas farm leader said Cooley's bill "would extend for a two-year period almost all of the bad provisions of the current law and would add some that are even more objectionable."

DeVaney said the program recommended by Farm Bureau "offers the grower three alternatives. He may release his allotment; he may release his allotment for reappointment and maintain it as many have done in recent years; or he may release the allotment permanently in exchange for three annual rental payments."

The TFB leader said that under the latter alternative, the grower would agree to devote the land to conservation uses for a period of three years and would receive annual payments on a per acre rate equal to eight cents a pound times his normal cotton yield.

"The allotment acreage released under this provision would remain in the state where released and would be available after the contracts expire for reallocation to growers remaining in the cotton business." "The price support and subsidy provisions of the proposal are calculated to make cotton more competitive," DeVaney said.

"This would be accomplished by graduated annual stepdowns of one cent in price supports and two cents in mill payments over a three-year period.

"Price supports would be set at 29 cents for 1965, 28 cents for 1966, and 27 cents for 1967. The USDA has already set the support at 29 cents for 1965. In 1968, and thereafter, the support would be set at 90 percent of the average price received by farmers in the immediately preceding three years and would move up and down with changes in this average.

"It is anticipated that under this program the average market price received by farmers would be above the support level," the TFB president said.

He added that the price support formula in the Farm Bureau plan has the additional merit of being completely automatic, leaving nothing to discretionary action.

"The Farm Bureau Plan proposes to continue the present minimum allotment of 16 million acres, but provides for increasing the allotment as much as market growth will justify," he said.

"A cotton program such as this would set market-strengthening forces into motion at once and lead to substantial market expansion over the next few years," DeVaney said.

"This, coupled with the reduction in output to be expected from the allotment reduction plan, means that within the near future the national allotment might safely be increased from the present level."

Nipak Fertilizer Fire Causes Over $2,500 Damage

A fire in a building housing one of the electrical control rooms at the Nipak Fertilizer plant Tuesday morning caused more than $2,500 damage.

The fire, caused by a short circuit in one of the main cables, destroyed most of the wiring inside the wooden building which included control panels, starter boxes and switches. The building itself was better than sixty percent destroyed. Littlefield firemen answered the alarm and had the fire under control within minutes.

The power throughout the plant was knocked out by the fire for a period of two hours but was restored to all but the organic facilities portion of the plant within two hours, where new wiring will have to be installed and it is not expected to be in operation for a week.

The Littlefield volunteer firemen also answered two fires Sunday evening, the first at approximately 6:30 p.m. when wood piled in the rear of the house at 114 W. 4th caught fire causing approximately $35 damage.

The other fire Sunday was at the Crescent Park Motel where shingles caught fire on the People have been stopping to view the proceedings for some time now, but with the signs out you can look for even more traffic to come rolling into the area, let's be ready to meet these visitors and make them know they are welcome in Littlefield, who knows, they may be your neighbor tomorrow.

Handwritten note: "Kenny West's Desk"

Handwritten note: "We could have charged admission at the fire that took place Sunday night we could have made a mint. About 9 p.m. an alarm was turned in at the fire at the motel on the West Highway, and like the Littlefield Fire Department responded in their fashion, despite the interference from the spectators and numerous cars that lined the street and followed the trucks to the scene."

Handwritten note: "The traffic congestion that Sunday could have prevented some of the firemen from fighting the fire, and had it not been for the traffic jam, the fire could have been controlled in a total loss of property and even life, because of our citizens did not the courtesy to stay away from a fire at which they had no business in the first place. We are happy to note that the night incident has spurred the Police Department into steps to prevent a recurrence of the same sort. Will start handing out tickets to anyone who insists on following fire trucks to the scene of the fire."

Handwritten note: "The traffic jam that resulted from the increased cars in the vicinity of the fire made it impossible for the volunteers to get through and in one case a car was almost caused by the driver of a car that yielded to a properly volunteered car."

Handwritten note: "I hope it will not take an instant, or even a ticket to solve this problem. We feel the Littlefield want the best fire protection available, if they have it, only if we our part and do not obstruct the path of fire trucks and the path of the firemen in their private cars. If you are not a fireman, policeman, or other person has a reason, other than being on the scene of a fire or wreck, don't go. If we would want to be responsible for the loss of life property."

Handwritten note: "I heard from our friend Bill over in Lubbock, this week and he sent us an interesting article from the New York Times, on a big beautification program that will soon be underway in Washington."

Handwritten note: "Looking over the story we had there was little mention of how the project would be financed, other than several donations by individuals and groups who are interested in beautifying the city. The omission of the details led us to wonder if D.C. will allow the free enterprise method or will we be called on to help pay the way for that beautification, if that be the case we urge the Nation's attention to take a lesson from Littlefield, where aid is not needed."

Handwritten note: "Some amazing results of the downtown project are beginning to show up and chief among them is the widening of LFD street."

Handwritten note: "Wednesday morning the street was open, in the 500 block, with a new three foot width, on the East side, a small amount gave the appearance of being wider than it really is, when you imagine how it will be when it is finished, it'll be six feet wider then."

COTTON TALKS

"While there are others who voice approval, cotton merchants are the only ones really advocating a direct compensatory payment plan in cotton legislation."

So reports Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. He continues that: "If they are successful in getting payments made directly to farmers and a low loan level -- or no loan at all as their testimony clearly shows they would prefer -- most producers believe they will have cut their own throats along with that of the commercial cotton farmer."

Johnson has just returned from House Agriculture Subcommittee hearings on H.R. 8149, the new cotton bill introduced by Senator Harold Cooley of North Carolina. The bill would give cotton producers a choice between a non-recourse loan at the current level or the market price plus a direct payment and would cut the minimum national cotton acreage allotment from 16 to 14 million acres. Producers groups are of the opinion that the loan-payments choice is merely a "gimmick" whereby they are being wooed to take the first step toward acceptance of direct payments.

In his further analysis of the producer consensus, Johnson said: "Producers feel that direct payments and reduced acreage would be the beginning of the end for commercial cotton production on a profitable basis, and they are unwavering in their opposition to such features in any cotton bill." Producer groups contend that no law Congress should pass which involved direct payments to farmers would be adequate to prevent severe limitations being placed on the amount of payment any one farmer could receive. This sooner or later would be done from the floor of Congress through the agricultural appropriations bill. Such limitations, they say, would stifle incentive, encourage the inefficient and ruin cotton's chances for lower production costs and greater markets.

"Without a chance to regain markets lost to foreign grown cotton and manmade fibers," Johnson stated, "United States cotton as a textile fiber would be a dead issue." The philosophy of the Cooley Bill apparently is toward reducing production below consumption. Carried to its logical conclusion this philosophy would snowball cotton down the hill to the bottom of the fiber market. Producer philosophy, on the other hand, calls for a cotton bill designed to increase consumption above production, leading to greater markets and eventually to increased acreage and better profits. "This was what producers had in mind when they supported the Agricultural Act of 1964 which made cotton available to our domestic mills as a more competitive price," Johnson says. And he pointed out that estimates of the increase in domestic cotton consumption during the 1964-65 marketing year range from 900,000 bales to 1.1 million, with the bill only in effect 10 months.

Asked about merchants and their attitude, Johnson quoted Gerald L. Dearing, well known columnist on cotton. "The cotton shippers and the futures brokers have been won into an alliance with the Freeman forces in the hope that such a program (direct payments) will bring greater marketing opportunities." Dearing wrote, Johnson went on to say that merchants claim a low loan level with direct payments would move cotton into the market instead of into the loan. "But," Johnson said, "there are no facts to support this claim. It is based purely on an assumption, although that assumption is often stated as fact when shippers seek support for direct payments."

Merchants state that the producer's income would be the same under the low loan, direct payments plan they propose; that more cotton would be sold; that less cotton would go into the loan, and therefore the government's cost would be less. Johnson says producers find fault with this statement in two places. First, they state that limitations would be inevitable under a direct payment program, therefore the producer's income would not be the same. Second, producers cannot see how a low loan, or a high loan for that matter, would affect the amount of cotton going into the loan or being sold to mills. Johnson says: "A loan of 23 cents plus a direct payment of 6 cents brings a farmer the same per-pound price for a bale of cotton as a 29 cent loan. And by the same old style arithmetic a 29 cent loan minus 6 cents makes cotton available to the mill at the same per-pound price as a 23 cent loan with the 6 cent difference being paid to the producer.

"It's the dollar-and-cents price, along with other factors, that determines whether cotton is sold or goes into the loan," he states, adding: "There is no particular magic in a direct payment to the producer which would necessarily move cotton into the trade. The trade will not be buying cotton under any system unless that cotton can be sold to consuming mills. And that's why Plains Cotton Growers and other producer groups aren't buying the story that a direct payments program will keep cotton out of the loan." According to Johnson, neither the House Agriculture Committee nor the Department of Agriculture is totally committed to the Cooley proposal and both remain open to suggestions.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

With the close of another session of the Legislature, permanent state capitol inhabitants turned happily to one of their favorite indoor pastimes -- speculating on the next elections.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr so far leads most lists of likely Democratic candidates to oppose GOP Sen. John Tower next year, although Congressman Jim Wright of Fort Worth would like to be his party's choice for the race.

Carr, in the past, has denied any real interest in going to the Senate. He has concentrated his plans on a race for governor after John Connally vacates the office. However, he declines to close the door on a Washington career at this stage.

He cannot afford to, with odds favoring Connally's remaining in office for another term -- and another term could be four more years, if the constitutional amendment passes to double the elective span of statewide officials.

If Carr runs for the Senate, apparently their will be a big field battling to succeed him in the attorney general's office. At least a half dozen state senators reportedly have their eyes on the job. Of the lot, Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio has been busiest so far.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, who makes no secret of the fact he wants to run for governor, most likely will run for reelection in 1966.

Congressional races are shaping up on the assumption the new reapportionment bill will stand up. If it does, Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin or Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity likely will take on Congressman John Dowdy of Athens in District 2.

New District 23 in South Texas (from southern Bexar County to the Mexico border) has drawn interest from State Sen. Abraham Kazen of Laredo, Sen. Walter Richter of Gonzales, Rep. Glen Kothmann of San Antonio and Rep. Wayne Connally of Floresville, brother of the governor.

High sources regard Merrill Connally, Floresville rancher and campaign manager for Governor Connally, his older brother, as another "distinct possibility" in the District 23 field of candidates. But there is no chance of the Connally brothers opposing each other.

SESSION LAUDED -- In an unusual closing address to the 59th Legislature, Governor Connally lauded it as "the most productive of any in this century."

Governor specifically cited work in the areas of education, public health, finance, water development and congressional and legislative redistricting. He recalled that last January the 59th was faced with "a greater and more varied assortment of problems than any legislature in modern times" and educated predictions were that lawmakers could not solve all of them without one or more special sessions.

Lake Powell in Glenn Canyon will hold enough water to cover Pennsylvania a foot deep.

CAROL LYNLEY, as Jean Harlow, appears distraught in this scene from Bill Sargent's "Harlow," biographical film of America's sex symbol of the roaring '30s, presented by Marshall Naify, opening Sunday at the Palace Theatre. Barry Sullivan and Ginger Rogers are starred as the hapless movie star's parents. The Electronovision production is a Magna Distribution Corporation release directed by Alex Segal.

Public Safety Has Openings

The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety has announced there are 70 vacancies in the uniformed patrol services with increased salaries going into effect September 1 and another raise scheduled for one year later.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr. said that under the biennial appropriation bill salaries will range from $453 up to $484 per month, depending on branch of service. In addition, he pointed out, patrolmen receive longevity pay of $10 per month for each five years of service up to a maximum of $50 per month. Promotions are given on the basis of competitive examinations.

"Here is an opportunity for qualified young men to join the ranks of dedicated career officers in a proud organization whose purpose is to serve and protect the people of Texas," Garrison said. "It is also an opportunity for men to further their education while in training."

He pointed out that student patrolmen receive some 800 hours of study in 95 subjects, such as highway law, accident investigation, first aid, professional driving, care and use of firearms and many others.

While in training at the DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin, they receive $375 per month. The training course lasts 16 weeks, after which trainees become commissioned officers.

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 35; not less than five feet, eight inches tall; not less than two pounds more than three pounds per inch of height; sound physical condition, 20-30 vision without corrective lenses; must not be color blind; must have a high school education or the equivalent; and must be a United States citizen and a resident of Texas for at least one year immediately prior to date of application.

Applications and full information can be obtained by contacting any DPS patrolman or the nearest DPS station, July 6 is the deadline for filing applications for the examination July 14 and 15 which will qualify 70 men for the next training school starting August 31.

Questions & Answers

Q -- Are members of veterans' families admitted as patients to VA hospitals?

A -- Not unless the members are also veterans in their own right. VA hospital care is for veterans only except, naturally, in cases of emergency that happen in the vicinity of the hospital.

Q -- Can World War II or Korean Conflict veterans get college or similar educational training under the law?

A -- The educational programs for both World War II or Korean Conflict veterans have come to an end. The only educational program now being carried on by VA applied to the children of deceased or totally disabled veterans. NOTE: Vocational rehabilitation of veterans with service-connected disabilities is a permanent program still going on and is not to be confused with the educational programs.

Q -- I was retired from the Air Force because of disability in December 1964 after 3 years service. Will I be eligible for the National Service Life Insurance which went on sale May 1?

A -- No. This insurance is available only to disabled veterans who had service between October 8, 1940, and December 31, 1956. You might be eligible for a special type of insurance available to veterans with disabilities incurred in service after April 25, 1951. You would have one year after the VA notifies you that your disability is service connected in which to apply.
