

Farm Meeting Slated Friday On Wage Law

A public meeting has been scheduled here Friday night to formulate plans for opposition to the placing of farm and ranch workers directly under the federal Wage and Hour Law.

The meeting—open to farmers, businessmen and interested individuals—is set for 8 p.m. Friday in the district courtroom of the county courthouse.

On the program are Al Muldrow of Brownfield, a member of a 48-man advisory committee on Farm Labor; John Kendrick, Brownfield banker; and Joe Sooter of Mulshoe, president of the West Texas Users Group Association.

The meeting is sponsored jointly by the agriculture committee of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, the Lamb County Farm Bureau and the West Littlefield Cotton Growers Association.

The Farm Bureau has voiced opposition to the Wage and Hour Law at meetings over much of West Texas and has called to farmers and businessmen alike to join the fight against the move.

Farm leaders are calling the proposal a "threat of organized labor to encroach on farm labor."

Pipe Bought For West Side Water Project

The pipe, cement-asbestos type made in Belgium, was purchased from Moore Pipe Line Construction Co. of Lubbock, the contractor which recently completed installation of sewer improvements on the west side. Cost was $1,470 per running foot.

Other details in the project are being worked out as rapidly as possible, Cox said, in an effort to have the work completed this spring.

Cars Backed Out Hammers And Nails Take Over

By BERNITA RATLIFF

Cars weren't the only things humming in Pless Helm's garage this week.

Hammers, saws, nails and springs took over when the cars were backed out.

Four Littlefield women, Ila Helms, Addie Kelly, Zora M. Blessing and Inez Lichte, went to work last week to upholster their own furniture.

Only one, Zora Blessing, has had any training. She attended the county-wide upholstery course given last year in the women's jury room of the courthouse under direction of Lady Clare Phillips, H. D. agent.

"We are working from experience only" the others said.

The group has finished a hide-away bed for Ila Helms in coco-brown tapestry. They worked on it two days.

"This is the third divan I have upholstered," said Ila Helms.

Projects planned by the group are upholstering a studio couch and platform rocker for Inez Lichte, a studio couch and chair for Addie Kelly and a love seat, chair and rocker for Zora Blessing.

Their husbands aren't suffering from all this work. The ladies made sure of that Monday as they served them a covered dish luncheon in the Pless Helms home on the Spade highway.

Denver has won its first National Industrial Basketball League championship in the team's history. Coach Johnny Dee's team nailed down the 1959 crown by beating Peoria 102-100.

Lamb County Women Attend DA Meeting In Plainview

Annual spring meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association was held last week in Plainview with 24 members from Lamb County H. D. agent, Clara Phillips, of Lamb County.

The Hymn of the Republic" and the national H. D. song, "Onward, Ever Onward." Mrs. Ross Adamson, past district vice-president, of Ropesville led the invocation and Dr. Cecil Cosper, Dean of Wayland College, gave the devotional. He challenged the group to be a doer not a dreamer and to be aware of selfishness and greed for only peace comes from God. Charles R. Young, manager of Plainview Chamber of Commerce, gave the welcome address. Mrs. D. C. Joslin, Hale County T.H.D.A. chairman, brought greetings and Mrs. Mickie McMean of Borden County gave the response.

Mrs. O. D. Kennedy, district vice-president, from Brownfield, made the introductions. Among the special guests were the state H. D. Agent, Mrs. Gladys Martin; the president of Texas Home Demonstration Association, Mrs. Wilmer Smith and the new editor of the Messenger, Miss Roberts Campbell of Hereford. Mrs. George Hackney, state treasurer of T.H.D.A. brought greetings from the board. She compared the turning of life with that of a musical instrument and told the group that there are 33,000 H. D. club members in Texas in comparison to 33 years ago. Mrs. Beth Rothman, charm consultant, gave an address "Fashion With Cents." She said, "Every woman has a natural beauty and none of us have a right to complain about our looks since they were created by God." She defined charms as how much good one does to others.

The noon meal was served in the College Heights Baptist Church, courtesy of the Hale County Farm Bureau and Plainview Co-op. The afternoon session began at 1:30 p. m. with several selections from the International Choir of Wayland College directed by Donnie Adams. Dr. Willa Vaughn Tinsley, Dean of Home Economics at Texas Tech, gave an address, "What's New In Home Economics." She told the group that the world is changing not the people and that the changes in social life were affecting the feeling of security in family life.

County reports were made in the form of a skit entitled "This is Your Life." County council chairmen represented different phases of our county projects and the T.H.D.A. chairmen represented the state committees. The Lamb County council chairman, Mrs. Leonard McNeese, gave a report of clothing work. Mrs. Bayne McCurry represented the citizenship committee and gave a report of the citizenship projects throughout the district.

The Spade H. D. club was recognized as one of the five clubs in the district having 100 per cent Messenger subscribers. Lamb County was recognized as having more subscribers than any other county in the district. Lamb has 48 subscribers followed by Hale county with 42.

A REAL LIVE JUNGLE-BRED Rhinoceros is on exhibition with the George W. Cole Circus this season and will be seen in Littlefield Friday, May 8, when the circus will be sponsored by the Littlefield Little League at the Fairgrounds. The rarity of this animal presents a problem in obtaining one at any price as it is claimed there are fewer than eighty in captivity today and are mostly exhibited in the larger zoos. These animals are large at maturity weighing over three tons and six feet tall. Having little intelligence and a ferocious disposition they are the most feared animals in the jungle. Their skin is so tough that a lion's teeth and claws cannot dent it. In addition to the Rhino is a menagerie which includes lions, leopards, bears, giant apes, white deer, camels, Liama, giant chimpanzee, and numerous other jungle animals from practically every country in the world. The high calibre of acrobats, trapeze, tightwire, aerial artists, clowns and beautiful educated horses and ponies make this one of the most entertaining shows on the road today.

Rural Mishaps In County Total Nine In March
 The Highway Patrol Service of the Texas Department of Public Safety investigated a total of nine rural traffic accidents in Lamb County during the month of March with the following breakdown: Property damage 4, personal injury 5, and fatal accidents, none.
 In making this announcement, Patrol Sergeant D. S. Lawson reported a total property damage of $4385.00 with 7 persons injured and none killed. This is decrease of two accidents for the same period of 1958.
 According to the sergeant this brings the total rural traffic accidents in Lamb county for 1959 to 20 as compared to 25 for the first three months of 1958.
 The sergeant advised that traffic deaths in Texas are 12 per cent higher this year than they were at this same time last year. He stated that we have seen what can be done when we all get together in a statewide crusade and campaign with the determination to stop highway slaughter. This was evidenced in the 8 per cent reduction in the death toll last year.

Here's our hand of fellowship to all of you who have come our way

Oh, to be in the water gun business! The new fad for teenagers is to drive up and down the street and catch someone with his window down and then blast away at him with a water gun.

Littlefield will miss Mr. and Mrs. Willis Giddens, who are moving to Petersburg, Willis was manager of Replin's and he will be with Hagood's Department store in Petersburg. Joe Giddens was an outstanding basketball and football player. Joe made his mark athletic-wise in Littlefield and Willis and wife were very active in church work and civic affairs. Willis has been in the drygoods business in Littlefield since 1936. Littlefield's loss is Petersburg's gain!

A skinny panhandler approached a fat, rich-looking lady for a handout. "I haven't eaten in four days," he said. "Gracious," she replied admiringly, "I only wish I had your will power!"

Grass on Jackass Prairie 60 miles east of McAllen is half knee high, but it would disgust a West Texas Hereford, cattlemen say. That's why agronomists are trying to develop a salt tolerant grass. The thousands of acres of tidal flats are fertile, range men say, but the soil is so heavily impregnated with salt only tough marsh grass thrives. Cattlemen graze on the land, but never get fat. The area was named Jackass Prairie years ago when wild burros roamed the Coastal Plains. Now the only Jackasses ever seen there are speedsters racing over its road to swim or fish off Padre Island. Agronomists hope to breed a nutritious grass that even an aristocratic West Texas Hereford would be contented on.

We note that D'Nard Arthur and Bobby Banics of Littlefield were beaten out three sets in a row in the District tennis tournament in Amarillo this week. We'll be hard-headed and say, well we aren't a tennis town anyway and our boys didn't have any courts on which to practice. There is a good rumor going around that the Baptists are going to build two new tennis courts. More of our churches should be interested in keeping the youth in and around church by taking care of their recreation needs.

We look forward to Saturday and seeing the town full of Shriners. This is a big thing for a town this size and we know everyone will enjoy the festivities, the parade, and other activities that will be evident from a possible thousand out-of-towners. The latch string is out and we think they'll find Littlefield folk friendly in the true spirit of West Texas neighborliness.

Looking through the advertisements in today's Lamb County Leader we note that E. O. and R. E. Chandler are opening up a new auto parts house in Earth. They're going to have a chain that covers Lamb County at the rate they're going. Sprouse-Reitz has some good paint bargains for that spring paint-up job. Hall Motor Company has some irrigation motors on display now and they suggest a Ford six or eight for that irrigation well.

The modernization of the Replin Department Store will be very gratifying in many ways to a lot of people. To Ware's, it means the adding of many new lines and brands and a huge 100-foot front. To the Chamber of Commerce it means a better looking downtown Littlefield. To the area carpenters, airconditioners, lumberyard, etc. some more brisk building business.

We're repeating ourselves, but we still believe that you can pay for a subscription to the Littlefield newspapers with the grocery savings you make in one month by shopping the regular bargains in the grocery advertisements each Thursday.

Nothing distributes wealth like taxation and a large family.

Young Moderns Boys List Date Tips For Girls

ARE YOU popular with boys? If not, why not? Here are 20 tips to help you get along with the opposite sex, all pointers suggested by young men:

1. Save your gossip for hen parties. The boys are not interested, or so they say.
2. Dress to suit the occasion of the date. Overdressing embarrasses the boy as much as underdressing does.
3. Let him be a gentleman. If you open doors and put on your own coat to save him the trouble, you're being silly. A boy has much more respect for a girl who flatters his ego in that respect.
4. When you are with him, avoid talking about dates with other boys.
5. Let your date make decisions about how you will spend the evening. If he insists on your assistance, then make a suggestion.
6. Avoid being too critical of others - your parents, teachers, neighbors, etc. It may give the impression that you can't adjust to minor difficulties.
7. Give the young man the impression you've enjoyed your evening with him, unless he has been rude.
8. When out with boys, do not table hop.
9. Be sure to observe good table manners.
10. Stay with your escort at a dance. Don't act eager to dance with other boys, particularly those on the stag line.
11. If he forgets to bring you a corsage, don't spend the evening pouting. He'll have more respect for you if you ignore the omission even though every girl in the room wears one.
12. When he invites you into a restaurant for a snack on the spur of the moment, ask him to order something for you. He knows how far his wallet will go.
13. Modulate your voice if you have a tendency to talk in a high pitch. Don't shout to passers-by or call to people from car, windows, etc.
14. Be modest in conversation. If you are rude enough to tell you an off-color story, change the subject, pointedly.
15. It's a good idea to avoid being too competitive with men. When you play a game - golf, tennis or what have you, do your best but don't kill yourself to beat him.
16. Never break a date with a boy unless you have a very good reason. Above all, do not break a date with one boy because something better is suggested by another boy.
17. You don't have to be the best dressed girl on his date list, but make an effort to be the cleanest. It won't cost more than an expenditure of elbow grease.
18. Never call a boy on the telephone unless it is absolutely necessary.
19. Assume the boy is going to pay your way when he asks you out, and never offer to pay your share unless you made the suggestion at the time you made the date.
20. Do not try to lure a boy away from another girl deliberately. It puts you in the position of hunting the boy, very unsteady ground for romance.

THIS WEEK In Washington

WITH CLINTON DAVIDSON
Farmers themselves have answered one of the most hotly debated questions in Washington - do high price supports cause excessive production?

Price supports for most crops this year average about 10 percent below last year. Farmers intend to plant at least five million more acres in the supported crops than they did last year.

Most of that increase could be explained by the ending of the soil bank acreage reserve program. While 17 million acres have been dropped from the acreage reserve, only 13 million acres have been added to the conservation reserve.

Farmers are planting more corn, cotton, wheat and rice, crops for which the smallest reductions in supports were made, and fewer acres in oats, barley, soybeans, grain sorghums and potatoes, crops less hard hit by support reductions.

YES AND NO
The answer, obviously, is that the level of price supports has little or no effect on total crop production, at least not immediately.

But, when farmers can they increase acreage in crops that have the higher supports.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson's entire farm philosophy has been based on the contention that high supports caused the accumulation of more than $9 billion worth of surpluses and that, therefore, low supports would result in less production.

Last year supports averaged 20 percent under both five and ten years ago, but total farm output was a whopping 11 per cent larger than for any previous year.

Total acreage was lower but yields per acre set an all-time record high.

Farm income was up a healthy 20 per cent in 1958 over 1957 due to a combination of higher prices and record production. The Department of Agriculture now expects a 5 to 10 per cent reduction in farm income this year, due entirely to lower supports and prices.

LESSON TO BE LEARNED
The lesson to be learned from this is that price supports, at whatever level, are not the answer to a farm situation that is steadily worsening. We have production controls that do not control production and price supports that do not support prices.

The remarkable increase in farm production has been due to increased efficiencies that have upped yields per acre and pounds of meat and milk per bushel of feed; to better disease and insect control, and to greater use of fertilizer and machinery.

Some think the answer lies in forcing more farmers off the land and into cities where they would become consumers instead of producers. In the past five years more than a million farm families have moved away, yet production has continued to increase.

Small farms have been absorbed by larger neighbors; more efficient production methods adopted and total production increased. Squeezing the small, family-size farmer out isn't the answer either.

About one out of every three farmers is receiving a fair income - $5,000 or more net per year. They produce three-fourths of all crops and livestock going to market. Few of them are producing at full capacity.

The other two should be encouraged to prepare for and seek off-farm employment that would provide a reasonable standard of living for themselves and their families.

Nasser, Kassim Succeed Pharaohs, Kings In Feud

Once there was a king named Sargon of Agade who set out to conquer all the other people around him. But, when he thought he was done, he saw that there were still other people beyond. Sargon, who ruled in Babylon and conquered Syria more than 4,500 years ago, never got around to subjugating the people beyond, who were called Egyptians, but he was a tone for men who were to follow.

Down through the centuries, the theme has been this: He who rules from Baghdad or Babylon or Nineveh on the Euphrates is the natural rival of the who rules from Cairo, Memphis or Thebes on the Nile.

The struggle between Egyptian President Nasser and Iraqi Premier Kassim is but another incident in the seemingly endless contest for power and influence between the oldest lands in the world.

There was the tireless pharaoh Thutmose III, the Nasser of the 15th Century B.C., who brought Syria under his sway and led his army to the very banks of the Euphrates.

Thutmose, who ruled Egypt for 54 years, conducted 17 military campaigns in Syria, which has always suffered from the geographical misfortune of being on and Cairo.

There was Essarhaddon, the ambitious Assyrian, who overran Egypt, lost it in revolt and was on his way back when he died. His son, Assurbanipal, finished the job about 688 B.C.

Nebuchadnezzar, he of Biblical fame, spoiled a promising Egyptian comeback a half century later by routing the Pharaoh Necho and again sending a Babylonian army to the Nile.

Old Babylon's Persian rulers couldn't keep their hands off Egypt, either. They had to sooner established themselves on the Euphrates than they gathered an army and took out after Pharaoh. Cambyses conquered the land of the Nile in 525 B.C. and the Persians were on their way toward ruling all the known world until Cambyses' son, Darius, ran afoul of the tough little Greeks.

The Roman Empire, too, played its role in the Cairo-Baghdad story. The Romans ruled Egypt while Iraq was held by the Parthians, the only civilized people the legions of Caesar were unable to handle.

The followers of Mohammed brought Egypt and Iraq under the same religious banner in the 7th Century but even that did not stem the Cairo-Baghdad rivalry. If anything, it stimulated it.

That curious part-religious, part-military institution called the Caliphate supervised Islam from Baghdad. Harun al-Rashid of "The Arabian Nights" was one of the line.

But soon a rival Caliphate was set up in Cairo and the Egyptian city replaced Baghdad as the cultural center of Islam when the Mongol descendants of Genghis Kahn destroyed the date.

SAFE DRIVING TIP

Watch for pedestrians when passing buses stopped at the curb.

Disembarking passengers, hurrying to make connections, often disregard street traffic.

The Chicago Motor Club reminds drivers that the blind spot in front of a bus or other vehicle is a favorable crossing point for careless pedestrians. They might step into the flow of traffic without thinking, so a motorist should be on the lookout for them.

Johnson Serving On Landing Ship

Designed for improving the amphibious warfare tactics in this atomic age, the exercise involved 25 ships and 12,000 personnel. Included in the assault landings were the use of the new troop carrying helicopters which were supported by naval gunfire frogmen and air operations.

The participating vessels are based in the San Diego, Calif., area.

Daylight Saving Time Often Confuses Texans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's capital goes on daylight saving time the last weekend of April, and that will add to the confusion sometimes resulting from the difference between Texas and Washington time.

Not infrequently there are telephone calls from Texas to the offices of Texas members of Congress in late spring and summer months after the offices are closed — calls placed by those failing to realize that at 4:15 in Texas it is 6:15 p. m. here and most of the offices are closed for the day.

Rep. J. T. (Slick) Rutherford of Odessa and points west points out that his problem is compounded by the fact that El Paso operates on Mountain Standard Time—the only Texas city not on central time.

He tells of getting a call at his home a couple of years ago from a constituent in the El Paso area when the time difference was three hours. It was 7:15 p. m. there and the man "raised Cain because I had left my office" at that time of day, Rutherford recounted.

"The next morning bright and early at 7 a. m. here," he added, "I called him in Texas and chastised him for sleeping so late. By that method, he understood the time lag perfectly."

Incidentally, Rutherford said he had received an inquiry recently as to how Pecos might go on mountain time if it so desired. He talked to Thomas E. Pyne, Interstate Commerce Commission examiner versed in such matters, and learned:

Before 1883 there were no established time standards in the nation. The railroads then adopted the four now in use. Congress made it official in 1919, but there is no procedure or funds for enforcement. A community may adopt any time it chooses.

From Washington north and east daylight saving time is in effect each summer. Virginia, except for the areas adjacent to Washington, sticks to standard time.

O. L. Harris presented the awards: Awards given by Area F.F.A. — Farm Overman, Public Jerry Brown, Farm Me Troy Harris, Chapter Jimmy Brantley, Management and Farm Jim Burnett.

Guests of merit for individual enterprises went to and beef cattle placing; Denney, dry land cotton; Overman, irrigation; production; Jim Brantley, sheep production; and Billy Thetford, the program.

Population Shift Ups Power Of South, West Politically

The anticipated gain in congressmen from Southern and Western states after the 1960 census accentuates the gradual shift of political power in the United States from the Eastern and Northern states to the Southern and Western states. The cause of it is, of course, the shift of population in these directions.

The United States Senate is not affected. Each state has two senators. But representation in the House of Representatives is based on population. The electoral college, through which the President and vice-president are elected, also is affected by the shift of population. Each state's electoral vote is equal to the total number of representatives and senators that state has in Congress.

For example, Texas now has 22 representatives and two senators, so it has 24 electoral votes. Texas is expected to get two more representatives as a result of the 1960 census, so this state then will have 26 of the 531 electoral votes. It will be exceeded in electoral votes only by New York, California, Illinois and Pennsylvania. Of these four, only California is growing faster than Texas, so the Lone Star State is closing the gap. This especially is true in relation to Pennsylvania, which has 32 electoral votes, and Illinois, which has 27. It is quite likely that Texas will pass Illinois in the 1970 census and there is an outside possibility that Texas may pull even next year.

The shift toward California is impressive. It is expected to pick up seven of the 19 seats which will be lost by other states in the reapportionment. This will give California 37 members of the House and 39 electoral votes, only six less than New York.

Florida is expected to gain four new congressmen. Thus, California, Florida and Texas together will gain 13 congressmen. Considering Alaska and Hawaii Western states, the South and West will gain 15 or more of the congressmen being lost by other states.

The picture shows why there has been so much talk in recent years of trying to bring about political alignments between the Western and Southern states. With the industrial boom in the South and the population increases in California and other Western states these two sectors bid fair to dominate the country politically in the future.

Young Drivers Must Help In Lowering Road Deaths

An estimated 900,000 young men and women will come of driving age during 1959. If they all become drivers and follow the tragic path of today's young motorists, 243,000 of them will be involved in a highway accident that kills someone.

Of course this will not happen because all 900,000 will not become licensed drivers this year. Perhaps this is because so many fearful parents have read the grim figures of what's happening to these young drivers under 25 years of age.

In its new highway safety booklet, "The Luckless Legion," The Travelers Insurance Companies report that during 1958 these drivers under age 25, who make up less than 14 per cent of all licensed drivers, were involved in 27 per cent of the fatal highway accidents and 20 per cent of the non-fatal crashes that perhaps maimed someone for life.

It does not take a mathematician to conclude that their record has twice as bad as their number would warrant. Where does the responsibility rest for this shocking condition? Is it with the schools, the parents, traffic authorities, or these young men and women themselves?

We feel it is a combination of all these things. More schools must provide driver-training instruction, many more parents must face up to this problem that could cost the life of their children, traffic courts must "get tougher" and most important, the young drivers must realize that tragedy will strike as a result of thoughtless actions behind the wheel.

The 900,000 youngsters born during World War II must realize this country faces a crisis that has cost more in casualties since the advent of the automobile than the toll from all wars.

Will your young son or daughter enlist in "The Luckless Legion" this year?

Another Service Of Littlefield's Chamber of Commerce - 1959

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. - With just about half of the regular session, legislators will be under much pressure - to do many things and do them fast.

Each day that passes without agreement on financial matters heightens the possibility of a special session as soon as this one ends.

Many measures will be trapped under or pushed aside until '51. But as Speaker Waggoner Carr told the House, the problem of raising some new money "won't go away. It has to be faced."

NO EASY OUT - Like every other tax proposal made this session, the huge "something for everybody" omnibus tax bill recommended by the House Tax Committee brought howls of protest.

It would raise an estimated $151,000,000 a year by raising some old taxes and placing new taxes on hundreds of items. Tabbed for increases are natural gas, motor vehicles, cigarettes, liquor, wine, beer licenses.

New targets include hotel rooms, restaurant meals, cigars, chev-

To satisfy both houses, the conference committee will try to reach a compromise between the two figures. However, it's worked out, it's already clear that spending will considerably exceed the $281,000,000 spent from general fund for 1958-59.

ROUGH SLEDDING - Governor Daniel's "abandoned property act" barely squeaked by its first test on the House floor by a 71-69 vote.

Measure would allow the state to take over money and property unclaimed for seven years or more. Estimates of how much it would bring in immediately range from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Many bankers fear such a law would cause people to be afraid to put their money in banks and decide to stick it in a sock instead.

Backers of the measure say the banks and other businesses are holding and getting the benefit of property that does not belong to them, should be used to benefit all the people.

CO-OP BILL SHUNTED ASIDE - A bill to allow rural electric co-ops more "elbow room" has been sent to the Attorney General for an opinion.

Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton, sponsor, protested to the House State Affairs Committee that this would kill the bill. This late in the session, delay is usually fatal.

Highly controversial, the bill would allow coops to add new customers after the area of their lines is annexed to a city.

ADVERTISING BILL ADVANCES - A state-financed advertising program for Texas moved close to final enactment despite heated opposition from an advertising man in the Senate. Proposed bill would create the Texas Development Board to supervise tourist advertising by the Highway Department and industry advertising by the Texas Industrial Commission.

Sen. George Parkhouse, an advertising man from Dallas, objected, not to the idea of state advertising, but to the way it would be handled. He declared the suggested $100,000 appropriation would be wasted.

But the bill gained final approval in the Senate and next-to-final passage in the House.

FIRE-POLIE BILL GAINS - A shorter work week for many city firemen and policemen is heard to legislative approval.

Senate has passed the bill finally, and a House committee has recommended passage.

Bill limits firemen's working hours to 72 in cities of 10,000 to 60,000 population, 63 hours in cities of 60,000 to 125,000 and 60 hours for all larger than 125,000. Policemen would work the same hours as other city employees.

City officials have protested the measure would raise local expenses and aggravate an already acute revenue-raising problem.

TEXAS DERBY? - Not given much chance of passing, but exciting some interest is a proposal to legalize horse racing and betting in Texas.

Rep. Homer Koliba of Columbus introduced the measure which was sent to a House subcommittee. Thoroughbred horse breeders pointed out that legalized pari-mutual betting could bring in a lot of tax money.

Opponents, including Dr. W. R. White, president of Baylor University, charged it would bring on crime, poverty and immorality.

Pari-mutual betting was outlawed in Texas in the thirties, but proposals to return it come up frequently, always giving rise to lively legislative debate.

SHORT SNORTS - A youth vs. age battle was abandoned when the House failed to give enough votes to a proposed constitutional amendment to raise minimum

Sandhills Philosopher

Why Did All 7 Space Men Come From Small Towns?

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses education this week. It's a free country, and he seems to be taking advantage of it.

Dear editor:

When it comes to talking about education, I can speak without any conflict of interest, if you understand what I mean, and I was interested in an article I read some time ago about a famous educator who has surveyed the public education system in this country and announced that his opinion a high school to be really first class has to have at least 100 members in the Senior class.

Since I didn't go to a high school that big when I was in school, I guess you can say he has a pretty good argument, but something turned up in the newspapers the other day that has got me to thinking.

It's about those seven men the country has picked to be the first men to fly off into space. As I understand it, the armed services searched from top to bottom to find the best equipped men, physically, mentally, etc., to make this attempt, and where did the top seven men come from? From small towns most people never heard of before.

House members from 26 to 30. Opponents countered with a measure to set maximum age for legislators at 60. Guards are needed by the Texas Department of Corrections, according to Director O. B. Ellis. Men interested in permanent employment by the department should contact J. F. Heard, assistant director in charge of business and custody, Box 32, Huntsville.

Now I know some educator is gonna bust out and say the purpose of public schools isn't to train men to conquer space, but you'd think at least one or two of these superbly equipped men would have come from a big city with a big school.

I know it's nicer to have well-equipped schools, and the bigger the school the better chance it has of being well equipped, but I have a notion there are some people in this country it wouldn't make any difference what size school you put them in, they'd miss the boat. And on the other hand, there are some young people who make the boat regardless of how small a school they had to put up with.

for peace of mind... HAMMONS Funeral Home

I ain't saying if you go to a big high school you come out pretty well equipped getting educated, I'm saying if you look around the leaders in all phases and assume they all came big high schools, you'll be ways from being accurate. I've heard that a good could consist of a good on one end of a log and a pupil on the other, but depends on the size of the log. There are others who say true, but there's a short log. But don't take my word for it. As far as I'm concerned logs are made to fish from. Yours faithfully J. A.

Cadillac World's Best Synonym for "Quality!" In every land where automobiles are seen and appreciated, the Cadillac name has become a part of the language. In fact, it would be safe to say that "Cadillac" is now an international synonym for "quality." What a telling tribute this is to the motor car that bears this proud name - and that has given the Cadillac ideal such widespread recognition. And certainly, that ideal of quality has never been more clearly evident - or more beautifully delineated - than it is in the current "car of cars". First of all, it can be seen - in the majesty of its lines and contours... in the regal grace of its silhouette... and in the jewel-like elegance of its finish and trim. Or it can be felt - in the brilliant response of its great new engine... in the incredible smoothness of its ride... and in the ease with which it drives and handles. It can even be sensed - in the superb taste of its interior appointments... and in the matchless character of its beautiful fabrics and leathers. And yes, it can be heard - in the marvelous quiet of its operation... and its truly wonderful silence on even the roughest of byways. In brief, the Cadillac name has never before represented excellence in such great measure - as a personal approval will amply demonstrate. We suggest you visit your authorized Cadillac dealer soon - and view your favorite highway through the shield of a 1959 Cadillac. It will give you a new understanding of how fine a motor car can be. Gun Law In Texas Relic Of Frontier, Lawyer Says

BEAUMONT --(AP) Texas laws on pistol-toting are relics from the frontier days and should be tightened or help cut down crime, Dist. Atty. Ramie Griffin says.

And Griffin, chairman of the legislative committee of the state-association of district and county attorneys, believes something may be done about it this year.

A proposed bill would make it mandatory for a person to first obtain a permit to buy and possess a pistol.

Griffin believes this would eliminate the many exceptions that a pistol-toter can now hide behind if he is caught carrying one of the weapons. The bill would allow only persons of good character and reputation to get a permit.

The decision whether a person is of good character or reputation should not be decided by public officials, Griffin says, but by a committee of citizens to eliminate politics.

Griffin says the present situation would be simplified if possession of a pistol without a permit would be a violation of the law. Actually there is a law on the books, apparently little known and not strictly enforced, Griffin says, which makes it unlawful to sell a pistol to a person unless he has received a certificate of "good character" from a justice of peace or a county or district judge. But Griffin points out the law has "no teeth in it" since it does not set forth any punishment for violation.

Traditionally the western states have been more liberal when it comes to the possession of weapons, Griffin says.

The law now makes it a misdemeanor offense for anyone to carry "on or about the person, saddle, or in saddle bags, portfolio or purse a pistol, dirk dagger, slingshot, blackjack, handchain, night stick, sword cane, spear, metal knuckles, bowie knife, or any other knife manufactured or sold for offense or defense."

There are exceptions to this law, including peace officers or persons serving as "militia men."

A person may keep a pistol at his home or place of business. A person may not keep a pistol in his car unless he is traveling from one county to another.

Violations of the law carry a fine of from $100 to $500 and a jail term of three to 12 months.

A provision in Texas tax laws makes it mandatory for all dealers to keep permanent records of pistols sold. The record must include the name of the seller and buyer and the serial number of the weapon. This information must be available to law enforcing agencies.

But Griffin believes that only by making it an offense to own a pistol without a permit can officers tighten up on the use of pistols.

Right now, pistols turn up in the most unusual places.

Just recently a man booked on a felony charge here was found to have a pistol in his bag inside the county jail.

Extra Charge Filed On Those Not Appearing

Department of Public Safety officials said this week there is a large number of motorists who fail to appear in court after giving their written promise to appear on a traffic violation.

Major R. A. Crowder, commander of Region no. 5, issued a reminder to motorists that a charge of "Failure to Appear" can be filed in addition to the original traffic charge in the event the defendant fails to appear in court for violation of the Uniform Traffic Act.

The motorist may be found guilty of a misdemeanor and fined up to $200 for failing to appear even though found not guilty of the original traffic violation.

The major said that the problem is serious, in that serving warrants on motorists who fail to answer a traffic summons requires many man hours away from necessary patrol duties of traffic supervision.

In an effort to combat this, Crowder stated that he has issued instructions to all personnel under his command to advise those persons arrested that they may have a charge of this nature filed against them if they fail to appear in the proper court within the designated time.

When the defendant realizes that one additional charge was brought about by his failure to keep his promise that he made when he signed the traffic ticket, he may think twice before disregarding the next summons.

About 150 miles south of Stockholm the Saab airplane factory is buried some 100 feet below the land surface with workshops and accommodations for several hundred workers, including dining rooms, air conditioning, a very essential thing due to the heat from the machines, gives the air constant temperature and humidity.

At Saab, the planes are put together inside the mountain and taken out through a long slightly sloping tunnel. Several other big Swedish enterprises have blasted themselves into the mountains. They all report good results.

Sweden nowadays prefer to heat their houses with oil instead of coal or domestic wood, so there is a large and constant need for oilstoves. The Suez crisis two and a half years ago also showed that a sudden break in the supplying of oil immediately causes rationing if the stores are not big enough.

And where could the inflammable stuff be safer than in the mines the oil companies sometimes have spared themselves the trouble even to cave the mountains.

Walking in Swedish countryside you never can be quite sure there isn't a lake of oil from the Middle East or South America somewhere below your feet.

WHITHARRAL - Mrs. J. E. Gravitte presided at the regular meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service at the local Methodist Church here Monday afternoon.

The study of the book of Isiah which has been taught in a series of lessons was completed.

Officers were re-elected for another year as follows: President, Mrs. Russell Cotton; Vice-President, Mrs. J. E. Gravitte; Secretary - Treasurer, Mrs. Robert Strickland.

Present were Mesdames Cotton, Gravitte, Strickland, Rankin Howard, Dillard Ridings, Will Redling and G. F. Edgar.

Diligently Pray For The Work of Your Church

This Series is Sponsored By the Business Firms and Individuals Listed On This Page. These Firms Along With the Ministers of Littlefield Hope That Each Weekly Message Will Be An Inspiration To Everyone.

OUR FIRST PAIR OF SHOES

A great king, so the legend goes, once stepped on a thorn in his garden. In a rage he ordered his entire kingdom covered with leather. His wise prime minister suggested, "let me cover your feet with leather, and wherever you go you will be protected." And so the first pair of shoes was made!

The little fellow who wears these shoes has a long way to travel. His journey through life will not be free of thorns. And he'll need more than shoes to make that journey!

He'll need to develop a spiritual fiber which will strengthen his character. A man can't carpet the whole world — but he can acquire the faith and courage which will enable him to climb life's most rugged trails.

The Church brings such qualities to the life of man. The Church points the way to happy, wholesome living — for the grown-up with the burdens of life on his shoulders — and for the little tot in his first pair of shoes!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
