Mr. Johnson specializes in apples, and very proudly explained to a leader representative the fine varieties of his apples. Among the varieties grown by him are King David, Roman Beauty, Stayman's Winesap, Stark's Delicious, Grimes Golden, Winter Pearman, Arkansas Black, and a number of others.

Mr. Johnson also handles all kinds of potatoes, Mountain grown cabbage, vegetables and fruit. He stated Monday that he will sell wholesale and retail.

"No Time For Comedy" Comes To Ritz Sat. Midnight, Sun., Mon.

Audiences will have their first opportunity to see "No Time For Comedy," the laugh hit of the new film season, when the James Stewart-Rosalind Russell co-starring picture opens an engagement at the Ritz Theatre Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday.

Based on S. N. Behrman's Broadway hit of last year, "No Time For Comedy" tells the highly hilarious story of what happens to a playwright famous for his comedies when he falls under the influence of a blonde who specializes in inspiring artists to give the world a message. Among the things that happen are a rousing fight between the playwright's wife and the blonde a near romance between the playwright's discarded wife and the blonde's discarded husband and a flop that turns out to be a big success.

James Stewart is an engaging scamp as the errant writer, Rosalind Russell is his knowing wife, Genevieve Tobin, the blonde menace, and Charlie Ruggles her millionaire husband. Allen Joslyn has a high comedy role as a harried stage director; Clarence Kolb plays a yes-man producer, and dusky Louise Beavers plays the theatrical maid who sees all and tells all. William Keighley directed from the script by the Epstein brothers.

Sudan's Hornets Win District 5-A Game From Muleshoe

Sudan's Hornets struck swiftly in the first period to score two touchdowns, then beat back threat after threat to win a District 5-A conference game from Muleshoe at that city Friday, 12 to 6.

Coach Phillip Harmon's oftbeaten Hornets, paced by the superlative play of Quarterback Blanchard, scored once running and once on a 50-yard pass play early in the game, then turned their attention to defensive play.

Muleshoe piled up 15 first downs to four for the losers and outgained them consistently. But time after time their offensive bogged down in scoring territory. Finally, in the fourth period, Fullback James Warren crashed over for a touchdown.

The victory was the second straight conference triumph for Sudan and leaves the Hornets tied

Loboes Swamp Morton, 74 To 0

In a non-conference clash at Levelland Friday night, Levelland's Loboes set some sort of scoring record for the section, swamping Morton, 74 to 0.

Counting three times in each period with the exception of the second when two touchdowns were reeled off, the Loboes uncorked every trick in the book, using laterals, forwards, power plays and reverses to advantage. Quarterback Bill Green led scoring with six tallies, tossing aeriels for another pair.

Levelland collected 24 first downs to 1, added up 512 yards running to minus 13 and completed five of eight heaves for 91 yards.

Plant Three Frame Gardens

"I surely wouldn't be without fresh green vegetables as they can be raised so easily in the frame garden, and I find that having them every day has improved the health of my family." Mrs. Tom Ham told the home demonstration agent. Each family should plan to have a serving of green or yellow vegetables each day as these furnish vitamin "A", which will protect from eye and respiratory diseases as well as promote growth. Mrs. Ham finds that having these fresh as well as canned gives variety, so the family does not become tired of these foods. Mrs. Ham has three frame gardens planted. Parsley, spinach, tender greens and Chinese cabbage do well. Any of these may be used in making wilted green salad according to Mrs. Ham. She is a member of the Yellow House H. D. club.

IN MEMORY OF FERN— MYSELF

I have to live with myself, and so,
 I want to be fit for myself to know.
 Always to look myself straight in the eye.
 I don't want to stand with the setting sun,
 And hate myself for the things I've done.
 Here in the struggle for fame and pelf,
 I want to be able to like myself.
 I don't want to look at myself and know,
 That I'm bluster, and bluff, and empty show.
 I never can fool myself, and so,
 Whatever happens, I want to be,
 Self-respecting, and conscience free.

The above verse appeared on a card, which Fern had tacked on the wall of her office, and which she always kept in mind at her work.
 Her parents,
 Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoover.

Slighter Lines

Pattern 8778—Distinctly a sophisticated, woman's dress, this design (No. 8778) shows the new feeling for straighter lines and up-and-down slenderness. The skilfully gathered bodice, with slanted darts, at the front, above the waistline, gives the high-busted effect that women's figures need. The skirt, beneath a simple, belted waistline, flows away to a very moderate flare, from slim hips.

Sleeves can be made in the smart new push-up, three-quarter effect, or puffed above the elbow. Not too dressy for general wear, yet soft enough for afternoon, this will be one of your most useful, as well as prettiest dresses.

Make it of moire, spun rayon, flat crepe or thin wool jersey, and introduce a flash of contrast at the neckline.

Pattern No. 8778 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires, with short sleeves, 4 1/3 yards of 39-inch material; with three-quarter sleeves, 4 3/8 yards; one-half yard for trimming.

Banquet Honors 19 Hale County Residents

HALE CENTER, Oct. 18 — Eleventh annual Octogenarian banquet given by citizens of Hale Center honored 19 Hale county residents who have passed their 80th birthday anniversary in the Methodist church here Thursday.

As a special event, recordings were made of the voices of most of those present, including the singing of songs, with the audience hearing the playing of the record just a few moments later. The recordings were made by Webb Jenkins, director of music in the schools using the school's machine.

Dr. Smith J. Underwood, originator of the plan, presided at both the meal and at the program which followed. Rev. E. L. Stanford, pastor, gave the invocation. The younger women of the church missionary society served the meal.

Guests occupied the front seats in the auditorium for the program. Col. T. J. Tilson of Plainview, 92, sang for the recording, "Just 70 Years Ago." Mrs. Mary E. Ross of Hale Center, 80, sang "How Tedious How Tasteless the Hours." A. T. OGG, 85, of Plainview, sang "I Came to the Garden Alone," and Mrs. John Sherman of Plainview, played "Life's Railway to Heaven."

All of these were then played for the audience. In the morning Dr. Underwood and Jenkins had gone to the home of Mrs. E. J. Coffee, 90 who was unable to attend because of illness, and she recited a poem she had learned as a girl of 12. The transcription was played for the audience.

The Octogenarians were each asked to give his or her name and age for the record, and this too was played. Dr. Underwood also talked briefly on the observance.

A. M. Lemmons, minister of the Church of Christ, talked briefly on "Our Mental Attitude Towards Life," in which he paid tribute to the part played by the older group in the development of West Texas, comparing it to that of the pioneers of the Lone Star state, who founded the Republic of Texas.

Termining the work of the heroes of the Alamo, Goliad and other historic battles as a gift to the descendants, he added "these have made that gift worthwhile."

Following the talk, others related experiences of their younger days in this section, and in other states.

Mr. Stanford led the audience in singing.

The deaths reported during the past year were those of J. F. Sager of Hale Center and N. A. Drake, also of Hale Center.

Mrs. Floyd Ferguson was chairman of the kitchen committee of the church missionary society, which served the meal; Mrs. Leo Stanford was chairman of the tables committee; Mrs. Sam Smith decorating committee and Mrs. Jack Smith, coffee committee.

Besides Mrs. Coffee, others unable to attend because of illness, includes Mrs. J. W. Sears and S. A. Bird.

Registered were the following persons:

Plainview, Capt. W. F. Elkins, 93; Col. T. J. Tilson, 92; John T. Douglas, 83; R. M. May, 84; Col. R. P. Smyth, 85; A. T. Ogg, 85; Dr. J. S. Shaw, 88.

Hale Center, R. W. (Uncle Bob) Lemond, 93; Mrs. J. L. Yates, 92; Mrs. Nancy Taylor, 90; T. R. Gault, 80; W. B. Jones, 80; Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Ritchey, 86 and 80 respectively; M. P. Rentzham, 87; J. H. Lutrick, 82; Mrs. Susan F. Petty, 80; Mrs. Mary E. Ross, 80; G. M. Roberson, 80.

The forty-first annual National Automobile Show, staged in New York's Grand Central Palace Oct. 12-20, is the nation's oldest industrial exposition having a continuous existence.

Planes Contracted By Sweden Go To U. S. And Canada

The U. S. Army air corps and the Canadian air force will get about half of the 250 to 300 American pursuit planes and light bombers originally ordered by Sweden, it was learned today.

An informed source said that the U. S. army probably would take 100 or more of the planes with the rest going to Canada. The planes were contracted for by the Swedish government in the spring of 1939, but shipment was held up under the export licensing control system for fear they might fall into German hands.

Proposals that some of the planes be sold to the British Royal Air Force were rejected in favor of the plan to sell them to Canada. It was understood that the Canadians would use the craft to form units for service in Britain, however.

The planes in question were ordered from Republic Aviation corporation and Vultee Aircraft. Most of them have been completed.

The president is empowered to requisition foreign-ordered American war materials and supplies when he deems such a step necessary in the interest of this nation's defense. Compensation is made to the original buyers.

Dodge And Plymouth Dealership Is New Business Establishment In Littlefield

A new business concern in Littlefield is the Carter Motor Company, Inc., dealers for the Plymouth and Dodge cars and trucks, which was established here last week by R. J. Carter and J. A. Rainey of Lubbock, which is located next to Dennis Jones Service Station. Winter Knight, formerly a partner of the Gaignat Motor Company, Tahoka, for three years, and connected with the Sinclair Oil Company for 14 years, is manager of the new concern. Jack Reynolds, also a former Lubbock resident, is salesman.

Mr. Rainey was formerly of Midland, where he was connected with the Elder Chevrolet Company for a number of years.

Mr. Knight is making his home at the Littlefield Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds moved to Littlefield Monday.

As announced by Mr. Rainey Monday, a full line of new 1941 Dodge and Plymouth cars and trucks are on display here. He also stated that the company is handling used cars and trucks, and that a liberal trade-in allowance will be allowed on a new car.

Mr. Carter recently purchased the Allison Motor Company of Lubbock, Plymouth and Dodge dealers, and is now operating that company under the name of Carter Motor Company, Inc.

Chevrolet Sales Greatly Increase

Immediate sales gains registered by the new 1941 Chevrolet, introduced September 21, increased during the second ten days of the new fall season, it has been announced by W. E. Holler, general sales manager. Chevrolet dealers reported a total of 30,056 new passenger and commercial car sales during the first ten days of October, he said. This represents an increase of 22,699 units over the same period last year for a gain of 308 percent.

Hewitt Chevrolet Company are local dealers for the Chevrolet automobile.

Used car sales likewise held of the upward course that has characterized the Chevrolet sales picture, with a total of 41,207 reported by dealers. This is an increase of 11,813 units over the first ten days of October last year, and is an increase of 40.2 percent.

In the final ten days of September the preceding period this year, Mr. Holler said, dealers retailed 26,163 cars and trucks.

Cowhands Topple Olton Mustangs To Score Of 26-13

Coach Cy LaMaster's Lubbock High Cowhands toppled Olton's Mustangs, defending champions of District 5-A and 6-A by a surprising 26 and 13 count at Olton Friday night in a non-conference go.

The victory was all the more of an upset considering the performances of the two elevens recently, Olton defeating Muleshoe rather easily while New Deal was walloping Lubbock 12 to 6.

Standouts for the Ponies were Willis Hedges and W. H. Jackson, halfback and fullback, respectively.

The Mustangs play an important conference game at Olton this week against Littlefield.

Santa Fe Re-Routes Grand Canyon Ltd.

Re-routing the Grand Canyon Limited through Amarillo and discontinuance of the summer tourist special train, El Tovar, are part of the new Santa Fe Railway fall passenger schedules, announced today by H. C. Vincent, general passenger agent.

With the introduction of El Tovar as a special tour train between Chicago and the Pacific Coast this summer, the Grand Canyon Limited had been routed over the Northern Santa Fe route via Raton and Albuquerque. Under the new schedules, which will be effective October 27, the Grand Canyon Limited returns to the Southern Route and provides a through train service between Chicago and the Pacific Coast.

A fast, overnight passenger service between Denver and other Colorado points and Kansas City is another feature of the new schedules. This train, to be known as the "Centennial State," offers a new and expeditious service between the two states.

As further convenience to travelers visiting Carlsbad Caverns National Park, the new schedules will provide an earlier evening departure from the famous Cavern City. General Passenger Agent Vincent reports an increasing interest in travel to the Caverns, especially since the Railway introduced daily through sleeper service between Chicago and Los Angeles this spring.

Registered in the United States is 71 percent of all the passenger cars operated on earth. The world record for motor vehicles registered was broken in 1939 with 45,027,000 automobiles and trucks in use; the figure represents a four percent gain over 1938.

Winter Greens In Frame Garden

Mrs. Floyd Brown replanted her frame garden and reports that she has an excellent stand of mustard greens which will furnish them with that vegetable for the winter months. Protected from the sand and wind these will live through the winter and they will be more tender and have a better flavor because of this protection. Frame gardens require less moisture and as the plants grow more rapidly they will produce more than the same space in the open garden. Mrs. Brown is the home food supply demonstrator for the Littlefield H. D. club. She has found that by using frame garden she can have fresh vegetables early in the spring as the locality where she lives is very sandy and open gardens do not succeed until late.

Strawberries, Corn Fresh For Christmas

It will be possible for the George Harmon family to have fresh strawberries and fresh corn at Christmas as they have these foods and others stored in the freezer locker plant in their community. Mrs. Harmon has put up one gallon of strawberries, 16 quarts corn, 12 quarts green beans, 16 quarts peaches, besides fryers, beef and pork.

Strawberries and other fruits are easy to prepare as after they are washed and packed in containers, a cold syrup is poured over them and then the containers are sealed. Vegetables require blanching to stop the action of enzymes which will affect the flavor and appearance. Tables for blanching and preparation may be obtained at the home demonstration agent's office or at the locker plants.

All foods should go into the sharp freeze immediately after preparation. If more than 15 minutes is required to bring the foods after the preparation to the plant, the preparation should be done at the plant. This will insure the best flavor possible.

Frozen foods will provide variety in the diet and will help make a balanced diet possible all year. Vitamins B and C are kept in the foods by this method. This is so easy to use, and these foods are so good that Mrs. Harmon has said she

Improvements At Baptist Church

Mr. Joe Wells with his workmen began Monday morning of this week putting a cement finish on the steps leading into the main auditorium of the Baptist Church building. This improvement will add much to the attractiveness and also to the safety of those who attend services, as the steps were very rough.

Four hand-railings have also been installed as further safety measures especially to the older people who attend the services of this church. Plans are underway to make improvements in the Junior, Intermediate and Young People's departments of the Sunday School.

800,000 In Army By June 15

The war department plans to have 800,000 selective service men in the army by June 15. The program, announced by Secretary of War Stimson, means, in effect, that one man in every 20 of the 16,000,000 who registered prior to the next eight months. The department also disclosed that the initial units of the national guard, numbering 130,000 men, will be ordered up for duty by February. Approximately 100,000 guardsmen already have been called.

pace with army needs in classifying and selecting men for the call to service.

Headquarters predicted 400,000 class 1 volunteers and conscripts fit and ready for service, would be classified by January 1, about 50,000 ahead of the army's schedule. Volunteers will not be accepted until classified and found to be qualified, but then they may offer themselves if they wish to discharge immediately their obligation for a year's service.

Noting the quick response to registration, headquarters forecast that all or most of the first 30,000 men sent to camp would be one-year volunteers between 18 and 36. Some officials expected 200,000 to volunteer eventually, giving a reprieve to an equal number not anxious to go.

Registrations In Hockley Total 3,696

Final and official figures on Hockley county's contribution to the new draft army totaled 3,696, as reported by C. D. Bass, county clerk.

Of that number, approximately one-half were transients, he said. A new draft board to replace the original one, resigned, includes Joe M. Barnhart, chairman, Sanford L. Jenkins and E. R. Nickerson. The trio replaces Major H. Rodgers, chairman, Tom E. Fenley and Bob Ford, who were unable to serve.

J. B. Reece of Levelland has been named clerk by the new board, which is to be located in the county court room.

Albany Man To Get Into Britain's Air Force If Accepted

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Signed up at a "British recruiting office in Dallas," a 32-year-old ranch hand turned aviator may soon be in the thick of the "Battle of Britain."

The ex-ranch helper — J. P. Alexander of Albany, Texas, passed through this city enroute to Canada where authorities will give him a test to see if he can maneuver heavy bombers.

"If I pass the test satisfactorily and a bomber is ready to go to Britain, then I'll make my first airplane trip across the Atlantic."

Alexander has been a pilot for 12 years. He would receive the ranking of a captain and $8,000 per year if he is accepted in Britain's service.

He expected here that his main duties would be ferrying planes from one English airport to another, but he hopes to get into the thick of fighting as soon as possible.

Invites Friends To Join In Observance Of Golden Anniversary Of Conversion

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Badger spent Sunday of last week in Canyon, the guests of Miss M. Moss Richardson, of the West Texas State Teachers College faculty, who is an old and valued friend of Mrs. Badger.

Miss Richardson, who is regarded as a rather unique person, accepts this term without remonstrance. She is the daughter of a pioneer Texas educator, is a sister of Admiral James O. Richardson, commander of the U. S. fleet. Deeply religious, she opens classes with prayer. Her home is willed to the Canyon Methodist Church. She built a courting fence for her freshman English students.

Recently she asked close friends to join her in the observance of her conversion, when the following invitation in double envelope and on panelled parchment printed in gold, was sent:

"1890 - 1940
You are cordially invited to rejoice with Miss M. Moss Richardson honoring the Golden Anniversary of her conversion at ten o'clock on Tuesday morning the third of September Nineteen Hundred Forty. How sweet the time has been! Ps. 84:10 Ps. 95:6 Malachi 3:10." Miss Richardson, who is associate professor of English at the Canyon College, also sponsors support of a mission in the jungles of Peru. She is highly regarded and loved by a large circle of friends.

Vacancies Announced In Cavalry, Infantry

The United States Army is still accepting volunteers, and the opportunities offered at this time are splendid. Now, more so than ever before, specialized schooling is given every man. Also the number of years service that a man has is no longer the yard stick for promotion. The strength of the Army has been doubled since May of 1940 and many of these new men are wearing the chevrons of corporals and sergeants, and earning the added pay.

Army recruiting stations are located in Lubbock, Amarillo, Pampa, Plainview and Childress. Vacancies now exist in the Quartermaster Corps, Cavalry and Infantry, according to George T. Coleman, 2nd Lieutenant, 25th Infantry, assistant recruiting officer.

Mrs. Ab Anderson Undergoes Operation

Mrs. Ab Anderson underwent an emergency operation for a ruptured appendix Thursday at the Littlefield hospital.

Her son, Curtis Anderson, went to Amarillo, Friday morning to meet a sister, Mrs. John G. Fields, of Denver, who is a registered nurse. She returned to Littlefield with him to attend at her mother's bedside.

KEEP HER EYES YOUNG
with Better Light for Better Sight

THEY say you can tell a woman's age by her eyes. And if that's true, the time to start keeping your daughter's eyes looking young is when she first starts to use them for close seeing. For if there's anything that's destructive to beauty, it's the crow's-feet and wrinkles that come from squinting in poor light.

Begin now by giving your child a Better Sight lamp of her own—and teach her the habit of reading and studying that will keep her eyes looking young for the rest of her life. Good light was never so cheap.

GRAHAM'S LUNCH ROOM

Draft Begins At Noon, October 29

On October 29 at noon Uncle Sam will start drawing the selective service numbers which will put the 800,000 young Americans in uniform by next June, and millions more during the ensuing four years. The historic drawing in the nation's first peacetime conscription program is expected to take a dozen days or more. Then each of the 454,000 men who registered last Wednesday will know the order in which he is subject to call for a year's service in the army.

The big glass jar from which the World War draft numbers were drawn will be used once again and, following the precedent of 1917, the secretary of War Stimson, blindfolded, will pull out the first number for the drawing, which will be surrounded by patriotic ceremonies, were completed Monday at a conference between President Roosevelt and Selective Service Director Dykstra. At first Dr. Dykstra announced the chief executive would pick the first number, but he said Mr. Roosevelt wished the secretary of war to have the honor. The president, however, will be present and will deliver an address before the actual lottery drawing.

Between now and next Tuesday 454,000 of the men who registered will be assigned a number by his local board. The numbers so assigned are serial numbers, and are expected to run higher than any for any one local board area. The sequence in which these serial numbers are drawn in the October lottery will determine the order in which the numbers are called. The registrants are subject to call. Once the drawing has been completed officials will compile a master list of order numbers here and submit copies through the government of each state to all local boards for public posting. Copies likewise will be supplied for publication by newspapers, radio and other media for public communication.

Suffers Numerous Gashes About Head In Auto Collision

Sam Reinhard, 23, of two miles southeast of Littlefield, suffered numerous gashes about the head and face, when the car he was driving and one reported driven by Pete Henderson of Fieldton, were in collision on Highway 7, opposite the Bigham Gin, about 10 o'clock Saturday night.

It was necessary that the surgeon at the Littlefield Hospital, where he was confined from Saturday until Sunday afternoon, take between 35 and 40 stitches to close the wounds.

Mrs. Reinhard also suffered cuts on her face and knees. Three stitches were taken on her chin to close a deep gash. She was also confined to the Littlefield Hospital from Saturday until Sunday. Mrs. Reinhard is the former Miss Reba Hamilton.

In the car with Mr. and Mrs. Reinhard were Earl Patterson, who is in the U. S. Army stationed at San Antonio and who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Will Hamilton of southeast of town, and Melvin Forster of Greenville, who was visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Capel of Whitehall. Both these men suffered some injury. Mr. Patterson had three stitches taken in his head to close cuts while Mr. Forster had slight injury to one of his legs.

Mr. Henderson and a companion, Mr. McCrory, were going to the carnival underway on Highway 7 at the time of the accident, while the other parties in the Reinhard car were enroute to Littlefield from the circus.

New Bug Makes Appearance Here

A new bug, Fuller's rose weevil, has made its appearance in West Texas, according to O. B. Howell, professor of horticulture at Texas Technological College. This uninvited pest is a gray mottled, snoutless weevil, about one-half inch long and is now found feeding in the tops of chrysanthemums and Christmas daisies.

Infestation may or may not cause the top leaves of the plants to curl. The larvae of this bug is a white to cream colored worm which feeds on the roots of roses, hollyhocks, cosmos, cocklebur and other plants. The adult feeds on flower buds until they are destroyed and then the foliage is attacked.

Infested plants should be sprayed immediately with calcium arsenate spray once a week until bugs disappear. Lacking spray equipment, the bugs may be shot to the ground and put into a can of kerosene or some similar killing agent.

CHECKERBOARD LOVE

JOSEPH M'CORD

CHAPTER VI

Synopsis

Swan is the only daughter of a highly respected horse breeder. His farm adjoins the estate of Judge Castle, whose only son, Jeffrey, and Audrey have been life-long friends. Jeffrey's engagement to Audrey, just divorced, is the cause of Judge Castle's desire to see Jeffrey a partner in his law firm. Jeffrey does not fit in with Jeffrey's father's plan, but Annie Dodds, the elderly secretary, is forced to help his father through the summer. Audrey Swann, Jeffrey's friend, Victor Quinn, walking with him to a favorite spot of hers and mentions her idea of a real time once come there with a good book couple of apples.

don't wonder. It's beautiful." looked about soberly, then at Audrey. "I'm in love with little Audrey Swann. Deeply and And there it is."

At this sunny Sunday afternoon man had ever told Audrey that he loved her.

In the manner of every normal woman she had dreamed her life in solitude, dreams unknown, influenced by romantic stories. If they awakened no longing for love they brought a knowledge of the thrill that came when the words spoken softly by the man to whom she was ready to give her love you, little Audrey Swann." she could have uttered those words with quieter sincerity than there was no thrill, no peculiar sensation of amazement. Instead, a little feeling of pity. It might be akin to love, but wasn't love.

"Why did you?" was her low voice. "Oh, why?"

His smile was pathetically twisted. Audrey was looking down at the water and did not see. There was no smile in his voice or grace I had to, Audrey. Would you have a chance?"

"I can't tell you, Vic. It's because I don't know. Honestly, I don't know. Honestly, I don't know that's fair enough."

There was nothing to cry about, Audrey felt perilously close to. There was something pathetic in her acceptance of things. "If I love you, Vic, can we be friends?"

Of course, Vic! Your friends mean a lot to me. Really, I want it to go on. I'll do everything's all right with the world. We'll omit all this from the record and start where we left off. K. L."

His principal reacting to his at the Swans' was a suspicion that he probably had made a first look of himself and destroyed possibility of future happiness being so precipitate. Yet he felt no genuine regret. His for Audrey had become such a part of his life that he had been to suppress a hope that she in some way felt it. The great was that she even had been to him, that she hadn't dismissed him forthwith and permanently. As long as she hadn't there some hope. He would never up, but he must have sense to watch his step from now the following morning he prepared himself at the Castle office at nine-thirty. To his surprise he found his friend in the office, feet upon the desk puffing contemplatively on a pipe. "Well, of all things! Where did you come from, and at this time of day! Come and have a seat, fella."

He shook hands and dropped in a chair. "Why, I'm on tour at moment. Vacation. After reading the paper yesterday morning, I had to me that it would be no more than decent to break my trip long enough to offer congratulations and all that sort of rot. So here I am. Accept my good wishes, if you will."

"Thanks, Vic. This sure is a tough burg in which to endure a Sunday. Why in the world didn't you go out and put up with the folks? They would have been tickled to have you," Jeff added reproachfully.

"Well, as a matter of fact—" "As a matter of fact, you were dangling around Audrey. Maybe you need congratulations."

"Be yourself. Just dropped in to pay my party call for the breakfast I had there when you wouldn't feed me. That was all. I did want to see you, too. Looks to me as if double congratulations were in order. Nice to see you at work. Permanent, I hope."

"Oh, sure." Jeff deliberately re-lighted his pipe. "Trying to see anything to escape the drudgery which she could see was growing more and more distasteful to him. It was about this time that Jeffrey, after long hours spent in wrestling with the dilemma, had what he believed was an inspiration, and he voiced it to Olive at the first opportunity. "You know, darling," he began with his familiar elaborateness, "I was thinking about old Vic today. Been quite on my mind."

"Why?" she questioned a little sharply. "Maybe he'd like to take a crack at my job while we're away. Father has a lot of respect for him, I happen to know."

Olive appeared to muse over the idea. "It would be perfectly splendid, darling. Why don't you call him up?"

"I will. Right now."

The same afternoon Jeffrey found

"My idea is a leisurely cruise," Olive said.

what your coaching was worth. After all, a family man has to contemplate the sordid aspects of an existence."

"Good for you. Seems to me that will be rather an ideal set-up—you and your father here together."

"Everybody seems to think so." "I wonder if that lad's serious," Jeff mused to himself after Vic left the office. "He's about the only guy I know of that's good enough for her. Queer how things happen."

Audrey Swann did not see Jeffrey Castle during the interim that preceded his marriage. Nor was she surprised. She knew that he was spending most of the time at home; all Parville knew. She wondered frequently, in spite of assuring herself that it was none of her affair, what would happen after the couple were married. Olive had been positive in her determination to live in the city. It was hard to believe that she would change her mind. But, of course, they must have reached some agreement or conclusion by this time.

For one of the city papers had revealed the date of the wedding as September 10th, adding that the bride and groom had planned an extended tour, but had made no announcement regarding their future residence.

That hurdle had been cleared more easily by the prospective groom than he had dared anticipate, when he was finally forced to bring up the matter for discussion with Olive. "Why worry over that?" she asked calmly. "For the present, you have given your father all the help he has a right to expect. Surely he doesn't think we are going to Niagara Falls and back on an excursion. My idea is a leisurely cruise."

Jeff was thinking busily. This was new and unexpected. He had anticipated a honeymoon of a few weeks. Now it appeared that Olive might be figuring in terms of months.

If the young man had not been so hopelessly in love, he might have suspected that Olive was carrying out a well-laid plan. In fact, she was doing just that. She believed that a few months of happy indolence would be a complete cure for Jeffrey. He would be anxious to compromise, would willingly do himself in the offices of Brand, Blumenthal and Brand where an office boy ushered him into a small consultation room. Almost at once Vic appeared.

"Vic, I'm going to put my cards on the table. You're the only one I can talk to. I mean it. And you're the only one I know who can help. It's like this. Olive and I are getting married the tenth of next month."

"The papers beat you to that one, son."

"Don't kid, it's serious. Olive's told me point-blank that she doesn't intend to live in Parville. Frankly I've been stalling. I told Olive that I had to help Father out for a little just now, because his office help is leaving. But now she's talking about an extended cruise."

"In what possible way do I fit in this?" Vic asked.

"Well, it's like this, old chap. I don't know what you're knocking down here or what you think your chances are. So I was wondering why you couldn't arrange for a leave of absence for a time, pinch hit for me with the old gentleman while I'm away. You'd be so much better than I, he'd be glad to be rid of me, I mean it."

"I'm not sure I get that," Vic admitted slowly. "You mean I should give up a permanent job for a temporary one?"

"No. Get a leave. If your boss gets fussy, you can easily line up another berth. I know darned well that Father would make it worth your while."

Vic slowly shook his head. "It's the craziest thing I ever heard of."

you." "In a way. I don't think you appreciate the reputation your father has in this state as a jurist. It would be quite an opportunity for any cub like myself to be associated with him. That's the only reason I'd ever consider it—not at all for the reason you have in mind. That's crazier still."

"Please think it over carefully, Vic. You can save the happiness of several people, I swear."

"I wonder. It will take a heap of consideration. See me next time you're up. I won't promise a thing. I still think it's crazy."

Jeffrey Castle's suggestion that Victor take his place in the office while he would be on his honeymoon brought the consideration the young lawyer promised, and a great deal more. Victor realized that he was yearning to accept it because it would bring him so near to Audrey Swann. Now he cursed himself helplessly for having told her of his love.

Desperate, he put in a call for Audrey without any clear idea of what he was going to say. He would have to trump up some excuse for an interview; then what? Unfortunately, the operator reported that his party was not at the number given. Would he talk to anyone else? It was Mrs. Swan who took the call. "I wanted to speak to Audrey just a minute," he attempted, "will she be at home after dinner?"

"I doubt it," Martha replied. "Audrey's in the city. She broke a filling yesterday and left early this morning. She hoped the dentist would be able to take care of her today. If not, she said she would stay over. Her dentist is Doctor Llewellyn. He's in the Medical Arts. You might just happen to catch her there. I know she would be glad to see you."

"Thanks a lot. I'll do that. Good-by." He found Audrey there. "We're going some place to have lunch," Vic enlightened her as he led the way to the elevators.

At a small table in a secluded corner of a grill room Audrey said, "Now tell me what it's all about."

"Well, it has to do with our old pal, Jeff."

"What's he done? Trying to back out of things?"

"No. Trying to back in." Victor briefly sketched the situation. "He thinks he's stuck for a lengthy honeymoon and he's begging me to pinch hit for him with his father."

"Why don't you?"

"Let's skip that one for a minute." Victor pondered a little over his next words. "If the situation were different I'll admit I'd jump at the chance to be around the old Judge, more or less. It would be the post-graduate course of a lifetime."

"What's holding you back?"

EXTENSIVE SCOUT ORGANIZATION PLANS UNDERWAY IN LITTLEFIELD

Cub Pack For Boys 9, 10, 11 And Scout Troop Are Planned

Survey reveals that 80 boys want scouting, and 50 would be cubs

Extensive organization plans for Scouting in Littlefield were announced this week by Dr. Wm. N. Orr, chairman of Scouting locally. Organization of a Cub pack for 9, 10 and 11 year old boys and one Scout troop and possibly a second are being planned in the near future.

Announcement was made after finding through survey that 80 boys in Littlefield want Scouting and about 50 want to be Cubs. Pending sponsorship of the Cub pack is the Lions Club while other local institutions will be asked to sponsor the Scout troops.

In the near future a survey will be made for possible Scout leaders among the citizens of the town. Dr. Orr explained that the greatest need of Scouting today is men of character to be leaders for local Scouts.

In keeping with a policy of training leaders for the job, Floyd Hemphill, chairman of Leadership Training for this district, announced plans for elementary training courses in both Scouting and Cubbing to be held on November 12-13-14.

These courses will be conducted in Littlefield under the leadership of local leaders and are for Scout and Cub parents and leaders or prospective leaders of Scouts and Cubs. At the completion of these courses it is hoped that one troop and the pack will be organized.

Thirty-One Freight Cars Derailed Near Muleshoe Monday
Passenger trains come through on schedule Wednesday

Freight trains continued their runs through Littlefield Tuesday night about 8:30, after being "held up" since early Monday morning when 31 freight cars piled up following a derailment one mile west of Muleshoe.

Special crews constructed an emergency track around the scene of the wreckage, and Wednesday the passenger trains came through here on schedule.

The 31 cars pancaked into one another about 3:30 Monday morning when a defective wheel was thought to have caused one car to leave the rails. The train was loaded with potash, pinto beans, wheat and cotton. An estimated $30,000 loss was reported.

While the special crews were constructing the emergency tracks, Santa Fe officials were forced to transfer passengers, mail and baggage by trucks and automobile around the wreckage.

In order to continue mail and passenger service Monday and Tuesday, two trains were used on the run from Lubbock to Clovis, and from Clovis to Lubbock, where formerly only one train was used. A train was run out to either point up to the scene of the wreck, and the transfer was made to another train on the other side.

An official statement concerning the wreck had not been issued by the Stinson division of the Santa Fe.

Is Identified In Ripley's 'Believe It Or Not' Cartoon

In the person of Winter Knight, Littlefield can boast of both a new resident, and also a man whose name and picture have appeared three times in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" cartoon, published in many newspapers throughout the United States.

Mr. Knight came to Littlefield last week in connection with the establishing here of the Carter Motor Company, Plymouth and Dodge dealers, with which concern Mr. Knight is manager.

He was named "Winter" because of the fact that he was born in the coldest month of the year—on Dec. 14, 1902; and his brother, who was named Summer Knight, was born on June 28, 1904—hence the reason for his being named "Summer." Photos of both brothers appeared in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" cartoon about two years ago.

5-A District Lead To Be Decided In Friday's Game

Wildcats lose to Brownfield, 14 to 0, in game last Friday

Let's Beat Olton! That is the battle cry of the week at the Littlefield high school and among sports fans about town, as the local Wildcats prepare to "horse whip" the Olton Mustangs at the county seat town Friday night. The game will start promptly at eight o'clock.

"My Man and We'll Win Week" has been adopted as a slogan by members of the Quarterback club, as each person encourages a football player for the game Friday night.

The Wildcats have not defeated the Olton gridders for the past two years, and they will be seeking revenge.

The first Pep Party of the year will be staged tonight at eight o'clock at the school gymnasium, and the band will play.

Each local player is "sponsored" by two business men or members of the Quarterback Club, and with the puts on the back, and pushing and rooting, the Wildcats will tackle that game at Olton, determined to have a victory!

The local school board voted to send the school band and pep squad in the busses, an extra large number of fans will attend the game from Littlefield.

Olton Mustangs were district and bi-district champions last year, but were defeated when they played in the regional by the Pecos eleven.

Although the Olton squad is known officially as Mustangs, the Wildcats are the "Dark Horses," according to fans, and the odds are against them, but the entire town and school will be "standing by" at the game, expecting those Wildcats to claw those Mustangs and give them a run for their money!

The boys across the sandhills have more weight stacked on them than the locals, but the games this year have been about even.

All right, Mr. Ernest Jones, get your boys prepared, for the honorable Abe Murphy and his squad, backed by ALL Littlefield will be right over to see you!
