Leads Sought in 3 Cases By Officers

One case with a loss but no apparent break-in, and two cases with break-ins but no apparent losses. Sound like a lot of mumbo-jumbo? Well, it doesn't make a lot of sense to city officers, either.

The case with a loss but no break-in occurred Saturday night at Furr's Super Market. The break-in took place Saturday night at Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co. and Monday night at McCormick's Warehouse.

Windows were broken at both firms, but no losses were reported at either. At Furr's, Manager Kenneth Hinkle locked the store and left about 9:45 p.m. At 10:55 p.m., Stockman Joe Halthcock and two janitors came to work.

They said they found drawers of every cash register pulled loose and the change in them missing. The total take was $29.73. Police said the loss must have occurred between 9:45 and 10:55 p.m., but they could find no trace of a break-in.

Manager Hinkle had requested a police escort to the bank when he left at 9:45. Everything was in good shape at that time. But an hour and 10 minutes later, things were not so good. Police said the two janitors' stories of what they found conflicted slightly, and they will be given routine lie detector tests in Lubbock today.

Trustees Oppose Moving Of Gin In Southerly Direction

Littlefield school board members, caught in the middle of a controversy over whether a local gin should build a new plant inside the city limits, debated the issue at length Monday night. A poll of the members taken at the end of the discussion showed this consensus:

If the gin moves its present plant to the south to any extent, the plant would be a hazard to the school's new football stadium. For that reason, board members said, they would be opposed to the move. The controversy arose when directors of the Lamb County Co-Op Gin asked the city to grant a permit for them to build a new plant to replace the Co-Op's present gin.

City commissioners have postponed a decision pending a study by City Attorney Bill Street on whether the new plant actually would be a new gin. The commission recently passed an ordinance prohibiting construction of any new gins within the city limits. Directors of the Co-Op said their plans call for the gin to be moved from its present location to a new site, slightly southwest of the present gin.

Directors of the gin maintain that construction of the new plant would only replace the firm's present structure and not constitute the building of a new gin. They have said that much of the gin's present equipment would be kept, and that their program is mainly one of expansion. But the city commission received protests on the gin's plans, some from school men and some from other citizens.

This led to debate over whether the new gin plant would actually be a new gin. If Street's study shows it would be a new gin, then construction of it would violate the city ordinance.

Board Authorizes Study Of Local School Needs

Tech Prof Employed As Head

A comprehensive study of Littlefield public schools with a view toward determining immediate and long range needs was authorized by school trustees here Monday night. That was the top development at a regular school board session, in which trustees also:

1. Scheduled the school board election for Saturday, April 4, and set a filing deadline of March 5, only three weeks away. 2. Elected teachers for the 1959-60 school year. 3. Authorized planting of a hedge as a blind at the south end of the football stadium. Cost will be $125.

Employs Tech Prof The board employed Dr. Morris Wallace, head of Texas Tech's department of education, to head the school study. Cost of the study will be $200 per month. Four to six months work is expected. "This study is being made to enable the administration and school board to make plans for the continuous improvement of the schools in all areas," Dr. Wallace said Wednesday morning after contacting Dr. Wallace.

This includes the total curriculum and program, along with building needs, he said. "Upgrade Standards" "The board is aware," said Dr. Schilling, "that the standards are now high, but that they can be upgraded." Dr. Schilling said the administration and the board have agreed that they need the assistance of a representative committee made up of citizens and school personnel to make the study. This committee will be named later, by the administration and the board.

The committee will act as a fact-finder and as an advisory group, under direction of Dr. Wallace. "Recommendations which come from this group will be given every consideration by the board in the long-term plans for school improvement," Dr. Schilling said. Election Judges Named In setting the date for the school trustee election, the board named Arthur Jones as presiding judge of the election. He will be assisted by Mrs. O. P. Wilmon and Mrs. Ann Barnett.

Tall Tale Or No? -- A West Texas Duster Can Blow A Man Up A Tree

Attention, Boyce House, author of "Tall Tales of Texas," etc. Here's one you may have trouble making even Texans believe:

A black West Texas dust storm moved in on Littlefield and blew a Latin American man right up a tree here Monday. The tree almost hung him.

At least that was the story the man told city officers. John Esquibel, 51, dangled in 60-m.p.h. winds by his neck, almost 20 minutes while officers were trying to rescue him.

Not one, not even Esquibel, could say how long the Latin American had been hanging there. Esquibel had been drinking, officers said, and was in no condition to say.

Officers found a crowd of onlookers at the scene, near the intersection of Highway 84 and Westside Avenue, when they arrived. Mayor Ellis Foust, who went along with them, said the man was "hollerin' for dear life." Esquibel was found hanging with his neck caught in a fork of the tree. He was about 15 feet off the ground.

Pretty soon a Southwestern Public Service truck arrived. Fred Clements and Charles Smith of SWPS, along with Assistant Police Chief James Cox, used a ladder on the truck to get to the man.

They had him down in a few minutes, all in one piece, but with a raw place on his neck. The lower limbs of the tree were out of Esquibel's reach, officers said. And they figured he wouldn't have been in shape to shimmy up the trunk.

Esquibel simply blamed it all on the dust storm. But he found officers, and onlookers, hard to convince. Mayor Foust was one of those who was skeptical.

But he said the next day: "How he did get up there has still got me buffaloed..."

Duster Leaves Damages In Area

Damage was reported from all parts of the area and at least one person was injured as a result of a vicious dust storm which raged through the county Monday.

Winds clocked at more than 60 miles per hour swept through the county, knocking some power lines over, blowing the roofs off at least three buildings and causing other damage.

The wind storm was blamed in an injury to Mrs. M. M. Dubose, 77, Rt. 1, Littlefield. Her arm was broken in four places when she was blown off her feet. A gust of wind caught her as she attempted to shut her front door, sailing her backward about 15 feet.

In Littlefield, Southwestern Public Service reported that winds knocked down some primary lines, but caused no lengthy outages. A transmission line between here and Amherst also was knocked out for a short time.

Highway patrolmen reported that the high winds blew the roof of a good-sized barn near Amherst.

TV antennas and garbage cans tops came in for a lot of sailing here. Tumbleweeds stacked up on cars and houses, some in piles 10-12 feet high. At Olton, two firms lost their roofs, and a garage burned during the peak of the storm.

Reports said roofs were blown off Hall-Sides Motor Co. and Bryant Implement Co. Five new cars at Hall-Sides will have to be repainted as a result of "sandblasting."

About 2 a.m. Tuesday, Blackwell's Garage burned to the ground. Firemen, seeing the garage was a goner, sprayed water on the Blackwell home, next door, to save the house.

Two plate glass windows were blown in at Two Brothers Department Store. Winds at Olton were estimated at 65-70 miles per hour.

Hereford Rips Cats, 74-46; Takes Title

Hereford took the District 1-AAA championship Tuesday night, defeating Littlefield's Wildcats, 74-46, at Hereford.

That win, coupled with a Dumas loss to Phillips, gave the Whitefaces a 6-0 district record and the title, with two games left to play.

The loss was Littlefield's sixth straight in district, and brought the Wildcats record to 9-15 for the year. The Cats take on Phillips here Friday night at 7 p.m.

James Goldston paced the Cat attack against Hereford with 16 points.

Hereford also won the B-game 68-35. Jerry Koiler scored 12 for Littlefield.

School Trustees Send Letter Opposing Longer School Year

Members of Littlefield's school board have protested Senate and House bills calling for a 10-month school year in a letter to high-ranking state officials and legislators.

Copies of the letter, signed by all seven board members, were forwarded Tuesday to Governor Daniel, Lt. Governor Ben Ramsey, Sen. Andy Rogers, Rep. Jesse Osborn and members of the House appropriations committee and Senate education committee.

The companion bills, S.B. 5 and H.B. 22, would lengthen the school year to 190 days from 180, said Dr. B. W. Armistead, president of the board. Dr. Armistead opposed the so-called 10-month school year in an interview shortly after the State Education Board went on record as favoring it.

The bills also call for basic pay for teachers with bachelors degrees to be a minimum of $4,000 per year.

The letter signed by Littlefield trustees asked that the minimum salary be set at $4,200 per year without increasing the number of days of instruction per year.

Dr. Armistead said he had heard sentiments expressed often here (Continued on Page 4)

Papers' Big Trade Expansion Program Offers Opportunity For More Entries In Communities Outside Littlefield

Many communities farther from Littlefield without a representative get most attractive offer ever made in area. Enormous votes given on new subscriptions gives those farther from city equal chance on prizes.

A great opportunity exists in many communities in the outside district of the Littlefield newspapers' big trade expansion campaign, where hundreds of dollars are being given in exchange for spare time work for these next few days. Surely in every community, there is someone who has the acquaintance and ability to take part in this work and who would appreciate the opportunity to turn spare hours into many dollars. We believe everyone feels they are busy but that is a natural feeling and everyone feels the same way. Still every community has someone who could use some of these amounts in cash, ranging from $50 to $800, in exchange for spare time these next few days. Candidates who have taken

Miss Jensen, a senior, was crowned by Ronnie Vaughn, president of the high school A Cappella Choir.

A dust storm which moved in to the area Monday held down the crowd for the event in the high school auditorium.

Four groups, the A Cappella Choir, Girls' Choir, Boys' Choir and Junior High Choir, presented selections. Two ensembles also took part.

LESABRE, the Buick you can own for only $200 more than the best models of the leading low-priced cars...

There is in no way a "stripped" car you're looking at. Come in and study the manufacturer's suggested retail price of a Buick LESABRE like this, equipped with Twin Turbodiesel automatic transmission, radio, heater, white sidewall tires, and anything else you want in your next car. Then do the same to the top models of the leading low-priced three, and you'll find the statement above stands up.

What a difference for only $200!

Now think how much more you'd enjoy a Buick. A comfortable, substantially built automobile. A car with the finest ride in all Buick history. A car with Buick's exclusive fin-cooled engines, and the smoothest type of transmission money can buy. A wonderfully quiet and greatly respected car!

Owners report QUALITY outstanding

Your money in a Buick today puts you in on the ground floor of what promises to be a long new time of leadership for Buick cars. "My sixth Buick and the best I ever owned!"... "Best-operating car I've driven in thirty years!"... "Much the best Buick yet!"... Reports like these mean extra pleasure in your Buick ownership... and they mean hard dollar value when the time comes to trade. It all adds up to the best proof in 50 years that: "WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK PEOPLE WILL BUILD THEM!"

New in gas economy, too!

In planning the '59 Buick, the new Wildcat engines, transmissions, and axles were all engineered to work together for greater gas mileage. Across the country owners tell us they are getting 15 to 20 miles per gallon in the '59 Buicks. And in a recent thorough test of Buick Lesabre against another car of comparable size and a good reputation for economy... the Buick won in every case under all kinds of driving conditions.

So we think we've got a new kind of value in this Buick Lesabre. And we suggest you go to your Quality Buick Dealer's and see whether you agree before you buy a new car.

Solicitation Control Problem Discussed By C-C

Problems of house-to-house solicitation by out-of-town firms or peddlers were discussed Tuesday in a regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors Tuesday night.

T. L. Dunlap, owner of Littlefield Steam Laundry, appeared before the board to explain his problem with out-of-town firms going from house to house picking up laundry and dry cleaning.

The board went on record as supporting the city's ordinance on solicitation control, but said that is the only action it can take to help protect local businesses from peddlers.

In other activity, President Howard Horne discussed the Dale Carnegie Sales Course which will be made available here later this month.

VALENTINE GIFT—Candy or flowers are approved.

Valentine Symbols: Candy And Flowers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeature Writer

Valentine's Day comes as a surprise to some young men who have never given it a thought. It is uppermost in the mind, however, of their lady loves, who probably have been busy counting gifts instead of sheep before going off to sleep. A girl would be startled to know that her boyfriend was reminded by his mother that "tomorrow is Valentine's Day and I hope you are giving Suzie a remembrance."

A heart-shaped box of chocolates or flowers are the symbol of romance usually on that first Valentine's Day. It's become traditional, almost. And so, too, the girl who doesn't put the proper oomph into a carting the little gift.

As Valentine's Day is the time to put on your best sweetheart manner, don't disillusion the young man by stuffing yourself with the chocolates in his presence. Control yourself. He'll want you to open the box, if he's the typical male — men being greedy eaters, but he doesn't want you to gobble it up like a turkey. Eat the candy daintily. Take a piece with its frill, remove the candy and bite into it. If you don't like it, put it in the frill and throw it away. Never touch or squeeze, break or bite into a piece of candy to see what is inside. If you eat a piece and stick with it until you eat or dispose of it. If the gift is flowers, don't leave them in the box until you are gone home. Dig up a vase at once. Or if it is a corsage, pin it to your dress eagerly. After all, he may have spent his entire allowance on the gift, so act ap-

Should you give the boy a gift? That is a question that girls ask and the answer depends on how well you know the boy and how serious you are about him. There is no requirement for giving a boy a gift at any time, although most girls follow through on birthdays and at Christmas. But there are times when a gift from a girl does live up a static romance. Valentine's Day is traditionally the girl's day to pick up the gifts. It may be fun though, if you know the boy well to give him a little gift, such as a tie—maybe a red one. You may send him a greeting card, and that he may expect, if he's at all sentimental.

Boys are catered to all along the line from the time they are put into a bassinet. This generation expects more of women than any other, judging by stories we hear. It would be in the best interests of womanhood, perhaps, to be grateful for a Valentine gift, and to be entirely feminine about it.

It's fun to ask the boy to you house for a meal on a gift day of this sort. It is one way of keeping your feminine standing, and yet returning the favor of his gift. If you want to impress him, cook the dinner yourself. It never fails to warm a man's heart, if not his stomach.

God and Neighbor

Lesson for February 15, 1959

SUPPOSE the world had grown so wicked that you could not find any one who could be guaranteed to keep more than one of the Ten Commandments? And suppose you wanted to be married? Which commandment would you feel your future wife or husband simply must keep, regardless? If you can answer that question, you have answered another question: What, for you, is the most important commandment in the law of God? It is a very old question.

Teachers of the Law used to debate it at length. Jesus himself was once asked the question directly: "Which commandment is the first of all?"

My God, My Neighbor, Myself

Jesus did not answer the question by quoting a single one of the "Ten Commandments." He quoted two verses from parts of the Old Testament which to us are less familiar. First from Deuteronomy 6:4,5; and second from Leviticus 19:18. (The reader might well look these up and mark them in his Bible; for if Jesus could be said ever to have boiled down the whole Old Testament into two sentences, these are the two.) One commandment the two: LOVE. Jesus did not, of course, mean to say anything so absurd as that a simple command can produce love. The sergeant can say, One, two, three, March! The music teacher can say, One, two, three, Play! The lion tamer can say, One, two, three, Jump! But not even God says, One, two, three, Love! Human beings are not made that way, and no one knows it better than the God who made us.

What Jesus did mean is that this is what God requires of us, nothing less. We cannot fulfill his other commands till we have made an honest effort at this one first.

Jesus' selection of these two commandments shows also the mistake of taking either of them separately. There are those who do not understand what loving God means, and so try to make up for it by loving people. But how is it possible to love people, who are God's children, and at the same time ignore their heavenly Father? Also there are those who are so much impressed by the greatness of God and the littleness of man, the holiness of God and the sinful follies of man, that they give up loving human beings and lavish all their affection on God above. These need Saint John's reminder: How can a man love God, whom he has not seen, if he does not love human beings, whom he has seen? Then there are the numerous people who love only themselves, period; and by contrast the people who believe we should never love ourselves. (This overlooks the point—love thy neighbor AS thyself. If love of oneself is sinful, so is love of neighbor!) The true ideal is not any one of these with the others left out; but all these three—love (which is to say, concern for the good and the welfare) of God, our neighbors, ourselves.

How This Works

From the numberless applications of this central law of God, let us select one which is appropriate to Temperance Sunday. Here is a problem: What should be a Christian's attitude to alcoholic liquors? Suppose a man tries to answer that question on the basis of love to himself alone? Then his question will be simply: Is this going to do ME any harm? If the answer is No (if—!) then he may proceed to drink like a fish. But suppose he tries to solve his problem on the basis of love to God alone; then he may ask, Is the alcoholic content of my blood, high or low, going to hurt GOD? Well, he thinks, of course not (though he is mistaken); so he again may proceed to drink like a fish. But suppose he opens his eyes wide enough to take in his neighbor;—his children, his family, others who have weaker will-power than himself, those who look to him as an example, those who will be affected by the clearness or fuzziness of his mind as he makes decisions. . . then he will look at his drinking habits in quite a different light. No man lives on an island alone; and Christian love keeps that fact always bright in the mind.

Hot Rod Car Show Planned Here In April By New Club

A new car club, the "Dragmasters," planning a car show April 4-5, featuring hot rods from models from all over the Plains.

"I hope to get a few cars as far away as Abilene, Dallas," says Paul Barker, president of the club.

Seven and eight other Littlefield youths formed the "dragmasters" only recently, but they are going ahead with plans to have the club an active one.

The club already has met with approval of Police Chief F. Gerald, who met with the members at one of their first meetings.

"Chief told us he's all for us as long as we stay in the city," says Barker.

Mike Eaton, vice-president, and Ward Arthur, secretary, treasurer and Doyle Webster, sergeant-at-arms, heads the club. Other members are Steve Sullins, Larry Cox, Gary Rodgers, Wally Cockerham and Dale Savage.

Seven others have made application to join the organization. They are Craig Wallace, Clinton Harris, Billy Jordan, Don Dowdy, Eddie Shaw, Pat Diersing and Max Brown.

Getting into the club isn't as easy as one might think.

"Our requirements, of course, include a driver's license and an interest in cars and safety. But applicants also must have two members of the club recommend them. Then they come into the club on a trial basis for three weeks.

"After that three weeks, the members know whether they'll make good men in the club, and the applicants know whether they want to continue in the club," says Barker. The group has been meeting in Wednesday nights after church but it may change this to another night, says Barker. Regular meeting place is the city hall courtroom.

The thing that club members are most interested in promoting right now is their car show in April.

"People will be able to see cars that are different from anything they'll see on the streets," says Barker.

After the car show, club members hope to get some interest started in a drag strip.

The closest strip now is at Abernathy, since the one at Lubbock was plowed up not long ago.

But the main thing the club is after, says Barker, is to "get the kids interested in cars and safety and give them something to do."

St. Valentine's Day

St. Valentine's Day has long challenged historians to explain how a Christian saint became identified with a pagan custom of exchanging tokens of love.

The answer may be simply that somebody got his ABC's mixed up.

The research department of The World Book Encyclopedia points out that at one time the letters "v" and "g" frequently were interchangeable in popular speech.

Among the Normans, the word "galantin" referred to a lover of the fair sex—probably a wolf, according to present-day terminology. But the word often was written and pronounced "valentin."

By a natural confusion of names, the Christian martyr was established as the patron saint of sweethearts, and his name given to the Roman festival at which young men and women chose partners for the coming year.

Some historians argue, however, that there is another explanation for giving the name St. Valentine's Day to the Roman holiday.

The early Christian fathers often had difficulty wiping out pagan festivals. Sometimes they simply appropriated the festivals—and gave them a Christian meaning.

The Church fathers may have taken over the Roman holiday, which was celebrated on Feb. 15, and named after three saints named Valentine, whose feast day fell on Feb. 14.

REA's Ambitions

Rural electrification in this country is virtually complete. This means that the job of the Rural Electrification Administration, so far as major expansion is concerned is ended. But that fact has made REA heads extremely unhappy. So they are looking for new world to conquer—worlds far removed from rural electrification.

The law, for obvious reasons, prevents REA from going into municipalities. These are now served by taxpaying private enterprise or, in some cases, by municipal systems. But REA looks on this market with an envious eye. So it is seeking legislative authorization to serve incorporated towns and cities of more than 1500 population. The reason is clear. As Glenn Martz of the Washington News Syndicate writes: "If REA is permitted to serve urbanites as well as farmers—if it is authorized to go into direct competition with private power companies now manufacturing and channeling power to city homes and industrial plants, its service will expand tremendously."

And, if this happens, the service will expand primarily at the expense of the taxpayers at large. Martz presents some revealing tax facts about REA activities in Texas, where it has been especially active, and where a state law favorable to REA objectives has been passed. In a late year, the 76 REA Texas co-ops paid a total of $490,718 in taxes, which amounted to about one and one-half cents of each dollar of consumer revenue. By way of contrast, the private utilities paid just under $90 million in taxes, which worked out to 26 cents on each dollar of revenue. Putting it another way, the private utilities had 10 1/2 times as much revenue as REA co-ops—but paid 183 times the taxes.

Martz suggests that if REA heads really want to put the organization "on an equal rights" basis with private industry it should assume the tax, interest and other burdens imposed on operators within the framework of free enterprise. Taxpayers and consumers should not be burdened further with free-loading governmental agencies.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.—With committee hearings going full tilt, the Legislature has reached the rough and tumble stage.

Committee hearings give everyone who has anything to say about a proposed measure a chance to come and speak up. It brings people to Austin in droves. And many speak up—very bluntly.

This year's lawmakers, particularly in the House, seem to be falling into an early pattern of much work, little play. In part, the shortage of sociability is attributed to the hard-fought speaker's race. It divided the House into two camps, whose members, for the most part, stayed aloof from each other during early weeks.

A second sobering factor is attributed to the new lobby control law. Actually, the lobby registration requirement has probably done more than any one thing in years, to make lobbying seem common-place, respectable. A total registration of some 700 indicated that just about everybody and his brother has a lobbyist.

But the law also requires that each lobbyist make a monthly report on the amount spent influencing legislation. Herein comes the reason for caution in entertainment. No one particularly minds being identified as a lobbyist, but too large expenses might incur the risk of being tagged a "rich lobbyist."

ROUGH ROAD — Toughest sledding continues to be over the money problem. Gov. Price Daniel let go with both barrel and crutches of his plan for clearing the state deficit and raising additional money for future state services. Daniel's principal target is

Rep. Frates Seeligson of San Antonio, whose 18 months' work with the State Tax Study Commission convinced him Texas' taxing had to branch out, partly through a 1.5 per cent sales tax.

Daniel's money program is based primarily on a natural gas severance tax and increases in a number of present taxes. He warned he'd fight for this program to the last ditch, even into a third term, if necessary.

MATTER OF MATH—First of official consideration of a part of the governor's money program brought a real set-to.

It was a hearing on "the book-keeping bill" by the House Revenue and Taxation Committee. This is a proposal, sponsored by Rep. James E. Bates of Edinburg, to credit to the general revenue fund $18,000,000 from the omnibus tax fund. Since the general revenue fund is expected to be $65,000,000 in the red by August 31, this would help to ease the pain in that area.

Representatives from the state comptroller's office called the plan unsound, declared such juggling around would just be "legislating a false statement." Legislative critics labeled it "check listing."

But members of the governor's office defended it stoutly as a means of giving a "true picture of financial condition."

PARKHOUSE vs. LABOR — More heat was generated when representatives of organized labor came up to protest Sen. George Parkhouse's union reporting bill.

Briefly, the Parkhouse bill would prohibit use of union dues for political purposes, and require unions to file financial statements audited by a certified public accountant. Labor officials protested that some phrasing in the bill was so broad as to limit union members from expressing opinions and, hence, free speech. They also said the CPA requirement would be too heavy an expense for small unions.

Parkhouse said many union members had asked him to sponsor such a bill so they could get an accounting of what goes with union funds. Some, he said, complained their dues money was used for purposes with which they did not agree.

SCHOOL BILLS—Committee hearings on higher education appropriations brought varied, but cautious, expressions on how these increasing costs might be met.

Before the House Appropriations panel, A. M. Muldrow, Higher Education Commission chairman, said that the commission was studying the question of asking for higher college tuition rates. States college tuition was doubled, from $50 to $100 a year, last session.

Before the Senate Finance Committee, most of a group of 18 junior college presidents said they would approve a general sales tax "if necessary."

BY THE DOZENS—More and more bills keep pouring into the legislative mill daily. Among recent ones are those measures which would:

PROTECT PUBLIC RECORDS by providing a three to seven year prison term for unlawful removal, by Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford.

CREATE A NEW COMMISSION to regulate telephone, gas and electric companies statewide, by Rep. Bill Kilgarrin of Houston.

KEEP PASSENGER TRAINS running longer after revenue declines, by Rep. Clyde Miller of Houston. Railroads cannot now be required to operate passenger service at a loss.

INCREASE FRANCHISE TAX on corporations by 60 cents on each $1,000 capital, by Rep. J. E. Winfree of Houston. Part of the Daniel tax programs, it would also estimate $14,000,000 this year, $15,000,000 next year, then expire.

RAISE STATE EMPLOYEES' pay 5 to 20 per cent on salaries under $4,800, by Travis County legislator.

PERMIT FLEXIBLE RATES on automobile insurance, varying according to good and bad records of drivers, by Sen. Jarrod Seagraves of Temple. This is a highly controversial bill which was defeated last session.

TAX TRADING STAMPS by 10 per cent, by Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs.

ABOLISH AERONAUTICS BOARD by Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline. He called it a "needless waste" of state money with the CAA serving all useful aviation functions. He said he is considering a similar bill to end the Good Neighbor Commission.

Sandhills Philosopher

Balancing U.S. Budget Like Balancing Family's Budget

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his son, a young man who has budgetary problems of his own, his letter this week indicates.

Dear Editor: I don't know how President Eisenhower handled his son when he was growing up, but if he handled him like he's suggesting Congress be handled, I take my hat off to him.

As I understand an article I read in a news paper last night, Ike has drawn up a balanced budget for the next twelve months and has informed Congress if it wants to spend more money than the budget shows, it ought to add enough taxes to cover the extra cost.

That's a grand idea for families—I don't know about Congress, what Congress does is not always limited to reason on account of the people—but I don't know of anybody who has succeeded in handling it work.

Say you have a couple of kids and you draw up a budget, carefully including so many pairs of shoes, so many pairs of pants, so many dresses, coats, jackets, etc., and for the first month or two everything is in balance, until your son comes in with the toes busted out of his shoes at least six weeks before they were supposed to play out.

Maybe Ike could do it, but all the parents I know who say: "Look here son, a new pair of shoes at this state of the year wasn't included in the budget, if you want another pair you'll have to find the money for them"—well, most parents just can't bring this off.

And it doesn't have to be something as necessary as a pair of shoes. Say your daughter is nominated as a class queen and she has a new fancy dress for the pageant, the average father can't get it out of the house if he's got it in a garage, and she'll have to buy money herself for the party.

That's the problem I read about in the news paper, I don't know how Congress handles it, but I think it's the people like to have things.

I guess that's the way it is in the case, I don't know how to balance my budget, but my 10 year-old daughter got a very appropriate figure and is liable to pasket any day and the budget head over heels thing Congress has done, people have gaskets too.

Yours faithfully J. A.

Card of Thanks

IN MEMORY
In Memory of Rodney Earl Ivey by his Grandmother, Mrs. Viola Ivey. Darling Rodney, he has left us, left us yes, for evermore. But we hope to meet our loved one. On that bright and happy shore. There was an angel band in heaven. That was not quite complete. So God took our darling Rodney, to fill the vacant seat. 1-121

Card of Thanks

We want to thank all those who helped in any way to care for our loved one while in the hospital. Especially we thank Dr. Fain and all the nurses who worked so hard to help him. Also we thank those who brought food and flowers and for all the words of comfort that were spoken to us. It makes it much easier to bear in the loss of our darling husband and brother. May God bless each and everyone of you is our prayer. Mrs. Bertha Warner and Brothers and Sisters. 2-12W

Government Money

Men Attending National Meet Earned Of Higher Interest Rates

Representatives attending the Rural Electric Cooperative Association's annual convention in Washington, D. C. were told Monday public eventually will that cooperatives pay interest on the money they borrow from the government.

John Hamill, general manager of the Lamb Electric Co-op, and several directors of the Co-op's board of directors.

Hamill administration for an increase in the interest rate the public would demand that pay interest "more in the cost of the money to the government."

He termed the two per cent rate now given the co-ops as a "bargain basement rate."

Association leaders planned to map strategy at the meeting to fight the administration's proposals that the co-ops pay more interest and seek private sources of credit.

Hamill told the session that co-ops should start planning to get money elsewhere so they would not be caught flatfooted by what he said would be the inevitable demand that they find part of their financing outside the treasury.

Officials of the association quickly struck back at the Eisenhower proposals, however.

Said General Manager Clyde T. Ellis:

"The administration is hell bent on handing us over to the Wall Street bankers and the Wall Street controlled power companies, and they are not going to rest until they do it."

Added Association President John M. George:

"The administration is by no means letting up in moves which would destroy the rural electrification program."

He indicated the co-ops would look to the Democratic Congress for help in fighting the Eisenhower proposals. He described the Congress as the "most sympathetic" in many years.

ASC Reminds Cotton Men Of Deadline On Allotments

The next important date for upland cotton producers is the March 16 deadline for making a choice between the "A" allotment and the "B" allotment for their farms, according to D. C. Terrell, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

All cotton farm operators have been sent a notice of the price support levels and a reminder of the A and B allotments for their farms.

Terrell urged all cotton farmers to make their choice of cotton allotment by the deadline on March 16. After that date all farms on which the operator has not made a choice will have the A allotment in effect for 1959. This is a requirement of the law and cannot be changed by the County ASC Committee.

Choice A farm allotments are the regular allotments, Choice B farm cotton allotments are 40 per cent larger than the Choice A allotments.

Another requirement is that a farm operator who has more than one farm must choose either the A cotton allotment for all the farms he operates or the B allotment for all his farms.

Terrell suggests that an operator who has an interest in other farms because of leasing, corporate, partnership estate or other operating arrangements should check with the county ASC office to determine his status on all the farms.

"Gigi" Paris Park Scene Is Nostalgic For Leslie

Leslie Caron played her first scene in M-G-M's "Gigi" in the same famous Paris setting in which she performed the first motion picture scene of her career six years ago in the Academy Award-winning "An American in Paris."

The scene took place in Paris' colorful Parc Manceaux. In "An American in Paris" Miss Caron appeared in the park with Gene Kelly. In the new Arthur Freed musical, she is seen with Maurice Chevalier.

"Gigi" boasts a new score by Frederick Loewe and Alan J. Lerner, who wrote the song hits of Broadway's "My Fair Lady."

Abilene Congressman Is Co-Publisher Of Biggest Printing House In World

Associated Press Special Service
WASHINGTON (AP)—West Texas Congressman Omar Burleson of Abilene has been a county judge, a sailor and an FBI agent. Besides legislating, he holds down another role—co-publisher of the biggest publication house in the world.

As chairman of the House Administration Committee he is automatically co-chairman with Sen. Carl Hayden (D. Ariz.) of the joint congressional committee on publications. The enormous Government Printing Office comes under their jurisdiction.

"Until I took over this responsibility," Burleson said, "I had no more idea than a rabbit of a lot of the problems that a publisher faces."

"We don't have much to do with the mechanics of the thing, but we have to set policies, handle purchases of newsprint and participate in collective bargaining conferences over wages. Last week we opened bids on nine million dollars worth of envelopes and paper for all government agencies."

Although the GPO publishes phamphlets, books, regulations and application forms by the hundreds of millions of copies annually, probably its most interesting product is the daily "Congressional Record."

Each morning by sun up three delivery trucks are scurrying about over the city delivering copies of the Record to the home of all members of the House and Senate.

It contains the verbatim transcript of debate which has occurred on the preceding day as well as summaries of bills introduced and committee actions. It carries a Senate debates which may have occurred up to midnight.

The copy moves swiftly. Official reporters take 15 minutes of proceedings, then read their shorthand notes into a dictaphone. Typists hurriedly put it down on paper and minutes later an editor has turned the copy over to a messenger for delivery to the GPO six blocks away.

The Congressional Record, which anyone may subscribe to for $1.50 per month, costs $80 per page to publish. That's the overall cost, including final binding of some copies into permanent form. The size varies with the length of a daily session, but on the average it runs about 80 pages, 11 by 8 1/2 inches, on regular newsprint. The total publication costs runs about two million dollars a year.

Congress hasn't always been willing to have its daily proceedings set down in print. The Federalists at first rejected proposals of this kind.

A printer in Philadelphia who set up with designs of the Congress was invited by Thomas Jefferson to come to Washington. He did and founded the National Intelligencer, which he operated as a private enterprise.

About 1800, with Jefferson's backing, this editor was allowed on the floor of the Senate and House and took shorthand notes. It wasn't until 1832 that a regularly published daily journal of proceedings was founded—the Congressional Globe. It was privately published, but received a subsidy through government subscriptions.

In 1861 Congress approved the purchase of an old printing shop here and this was born the Government Printing Office. In 1873 it took over publication of the Globe and changed the name to the Congressional Record. As a wholly government owned and operated business, the format has changed little over the years. The GPO plant is "open shop," but virtually all the mechanical employees belong to unions. They are paid the average rate prevailing in 25 principal cities over the country, or the prevailing rate of their union here in Washington, whichever is higher.

Proposed Bill Would Save Millions On Car Insurance

AUSTIN — A bill which its sponsors say will save Texans some $34 million a year on automobile insurance was dropped in the legislative hopper last week.

It is the so-called "flexible rate bill" which would change the present system of a single or uniform rate set by the Board of Insurance to permit competition among companies writing insurance on automobiles, bonds, burglary, general liability, glass, boiler and machinery in the state.

Its major effect would be on automobile insurance. It is similar to the rate regulatory law which is in effect in most other states.

Sponsor of the legislation, Senator Jarrard Secrest of Temple sharply criticized the present Texas law, terming it, "antiquated and unfair to the insurance-buying public."

Senator Secrest said the present law, under which all companies have to charge the same fixed and unfair to the insurance-buying competition among insurers, and penalized good drivers by making them pay the same rates as reckless drivers.

"Many economically operated insurance companies could and would sell insurance at rates substantially below the rate set by the State if the law permitted them to do so," Senator Secrest said.

"As a matter of fact," he added, "a recently completed study by an authoritative, thoroughly reputable insurance actuary shows conclusively that the savings for Texas policyholders would amount to $34 million per year."

Senator Secrest emphasized two legislation. He said it permit insurance companies to offer merit rating plans, and would give the board sufficient authority to prevent "trick" or confusing policies.

Merit rating plans, the Senator explained, are plans under which the rate a policyholder pays for his insurance is determined by his driving record. Thus, a person with no accidents would pay a substantially lower rate than one who was a accident-prone or reckless.

To prevent "trick" policies the Board would be authorized to specify certain coverages that must be in all policies. This would eliminate any confusion as to the basic policy content. At the same time, however, any company that wanted to do so could offer broader insurance coverage. Under the present uniform law, all companies must use exactly the same policy form and are not permitted to sell broader coverage.

"Many companies could sell much broader coverage at the same or even a lower rate than they are now forced to charge for the restricted coverage, if the law permitted," Senator Secrest asserted.

Golfers Will Find Pot Of Gold Texas This Year -- $116,000 Worth

Seven coaching switches were shown. Paul Bryant became coach at Texas A&M in 1954, replacing Ray George. Bryant left last year for Alabama and Jim Myers came in. Sam Boyd became coach of Baylor in 1956 and lasted through 1958. John Bridgers will supplant him next season.

Southern Methodist made one coaching change—Bill Meek replaced Woody Woodard in 1957. Jack Mitchell came in at Arkansas in 1955, taking over from Bowden Wyatt. At Tennessee, Mitchell departed last year with Frank Boyles. At Louisiana, Price Rice, Texas Christian and Texas Tech haven't changed coaches in the period.

Included are Dickie Turner and Travis Reagan, two great runners, and Jimmy Walker, a fine runner and left-handed passer who is slated to be the 1959 tailback. That's the job so aptly filled by the brilliant Johnny Geung last season.

They are crediting baseball—yes, baseball—with the great 1958 football team to Wichita Falls. Back in 1952 nine of the top Coyote players were on a kid baseball team at the Wichita Falls YMCA. They won three championships.

These boys learned teamwork playing baseball together and it was evident on the 1958 football champions.

The turnover in coaches in Southwest Conference football has been mighty high the past five years although there'll be only one change coming up next season.
