U. S. Protests Proposed Oil Monopoly By Japan

Great Britain, The Netherlands Enter Protests

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States made representations to Japan against the proposed Manchurian state oil monopoly on grounds that the monopoly was detrimental to American oil companies and in violation of the open door policy and nine-power treaty. Great Britain and the Netherlands, likewise affected, were understood to have made similar separate representations.

New laws require foreign oil companies to store six months supply of oil in tanks in Japan, give the Japanese government right to set the price for which oil is sold, and the right to take over stored oil at any time.

News Behind The News

Whirligig

Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

Methods

Even before the Federal Housing Administration gets its five-home drive swinging there is talk in left-wing ranks about getting the housing act amended at the coming session of congress to permit direct federal financing of such a proposal.

Introduction of such a proposal is almost a certainty. Whether it will pass or not depends largely on how many left-wingers are elected next month.

Also, of course, the demand would be lessened materially if the banks and building and loan associations produce material results when FHA's big campaign gets under way.

Regulations governing federally insured loans for home construction are being drawn very carefully. It had been hoped to have them ready to permit opening of the drive on November 1 but one of the lawyers vitally concerned in the work was taken ill and sent to the hospital. Prospects are now that it may be as late as the middle of the month before the regulations are issued.

Administrator Moffett is determined that the rules governing home financing shall be fool-proof, yet as attractive as possible. The New Deal is definitely committed to a reorganization of the building industry and Moffett and his men intend to overlook no avenue of approach.

President Roosevelt and FHA officials are opposed to the idea of setting up a financing agency that would deal out government money direct to the people as is done in England but they recognize there will be a strong movement for such a setup if the one prescribed by existing law doesn't click.

Reserves

FHA bosses are increasingly encouraged by indirect results of their renovating and repair campaign, even though the number of direct loans reported has been disappointingly small.

A condensed milk company which has regular time on the radio is wired in to advise that it intended to start plugging home-repairs on the air. Obviously there is no direct connection between condensed milk and building a new porch. The idea is that the milk people figure FHA's campaign has resulted in a lot of spending and they expect that some of the extra money thus put in circulation will be spent on their product.

Both the big mail-order houses the American Re-Histor Company and John-Manville have advised FHA that their sales are way up over last year. They attribute it to the intensive publicity let loose by the Housing Administration, so it would seem a lot of people are using cash reserves to modernize their homes and not bothering to borrow through the banks.

Mass Meeting To Consider Pension Plan

People Interested In Legislation Urged To Attend Saturday, Oct. 27

The people of Howard county are invited to attend a mass meeting in Big Spring for the purpose of considering the Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension Plan. Clyde E. Thomas is expected to be the main speaker. Congressman-elect Geo. Mahon is also expected to be there.

This is to be the final meeting of those interested in this plan. Plenty of copies of the regular form of petition to congress will be supplied to those who desire to sign them.

The date is Saturday, Oct. 27th at 2 p. m. in the courthouse, Committee, J. A. Henry, J. A. Moore, chairman.

Fans To Honor Football Team At Banquet

Football fans of the city will be host to the Steer and coaches at a banquet tonight at the Crawford Hotel, 7 p. m.

Approximately thirty-five tickets for the affair had been sold at noon today. The banquet was arranged in order that fans might show the boys and coaches they are back of them one hundred percent.

Dr. M. H. Bennett will act as toastmaster, and there will be several impromptu speeches by coaches and players.

St. Mary's Episcopal Sunday School To Give Halloween Party

The Sunday school of St. Mary's Episcopal church yesterday evening beginning at 7 p. m. Evergreen is renovated in connection with the renovation of the church. Communitarians Friends of the church are also invited.

Rival Apple Movement Grows HOOD RIVER, Ore. (UP)—River transportation of export apples this fall and winter may equal the record movement of 8500 tons of what down the Columbia River in the past six weeks. It was believed here already 60,000 boxes of apples have been purchased for early movement.

Senator Overton Badly Beaten In Fist Fight Today

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—United States Senator John H. Overton, a colleague of Senator Huey Long, and H. W. Henry, attorney and president of the Honored Election League of New Orleans, engaged in a furious fist fight Thursday in the lobby of the Roosevelt hotel. Bellhops stopped it. Overton was badly battered. The senator said the fight was caused by his refusal to apologize to Henry for remarks he made on the floor of the United States senate.

Legion Asks Soldier Bonus Payment Now

MIAMI, (AP)—Raising its voice in a monotonous "aye" the American Legion Thursday demanded immediate cash payment of the veterans' bonus certificates by the government. The vote was 679 to 183.

Payment, Legion officials estimated, would require an outlay of about $2,000,000,000 by the government.

Mrs. A. Carlson, of Willmar, Minnesota, was elected national president of the Legion auxiliary.

Hauptmann Identified By 'Jafsie'

Positive That He Was 'John' To Whom Ransom Money Was Paid

TRENTON, (AP)—Dr. John F. Condon identified Bruno Hauptmann as the "John" to whom he paid the $50,000 ransom for the promised return of the Lindbergh baby, it was learned Thursday from an authoritative source.

$6400 Judgment Awarded In Case

Judgment for $6,400 for the plaintiff in a gas case was awarded in 70th district court.

A. N. Wright, secretary for the Oil Men's Union at Crane was awarded a verdict over the Traders and General Insurance company.

The case was submitted with 19 issues to the jury.

Plaintiff was represented by Thomas and McDonald of Big Spring and the defendant was represented by Will R. Saunders, who practiced here for about 10 months in 1928 with the firm of Saunders and Atchison.

By agreement, the case had been transferred from Upton county to Howard.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UP)—Charles Ramonczyk, Iroquois farmer, claimed to have a flock of 700 chickens and strictly fresh eggs. After a few complaints, health officers found his flock non-existent and the eggs a low class of cold storage variety. He was arrested.

Another Ace Made On Munny Course

Guy Rainey made an ace on No. 5 hole at the Municipal golf course Tuesday afternoon. Rainey was playing with Charles Alkey, Munny pro. His score for the round: 453 516 545-38. It was the second dodo ever made on the Municipal course. Beverly Rockhold made the first several months ago on the same hole.

Director Of Relief Asks Information

Live Stock Needs Asked For By Adam R. Johnson At Austin

The following communication has been received by County Administrator Homer McNew bearing on livestock feed loans, and asking for information which must be in the local office at 110 Main street not later than Wednesday, October 31st:

Austin, Texas, October 23, 1934. To all county administrators: Under the Federal Drought Program, provisions have been made for coordinating livestock feed requirements and supplies available. The information requested below is essential and should reach this office not later than Wednesday, October 31.

1. Advise the total quantity of feed estimated to be required for livestock owned by relief clients only in your county monthly for the next six months. Please show each type of feed supply by months.

2. Give a separate tabulation of feed supplies needed for rehabilitation clients to whom livestock has been or will be supplied.

3. Give all publicity possible to the request that all present owners of feed surpluses report these surpluses to:

The Federal Livestock Feed Agency 755 Livestock Exchange Bldg. Kansas City, Mo.

4. In reporting such feed surpluses which are available for sale, the owners thereof should clearly state the quantity, the quality, and the approximate selling price for all kinds of feed available.

5. Copies of these reports should be sent to your office, and a consolidated report for your county submitted immediately to this office. Retain in your files for future reference the reports you receive.

For your information, the object of this program is to correlate feed. Please make your report to supply and demand for livestock this office promptly.

Very truly yours, ADAM R. JOHNSON, Director.

Elder Sneaks To School Students

J. Frank Elder, president of the Fish and Game Protective Association of Texas, spoke to high school students Thursday morning on the protection and conservation of wild life.

Mr. Elder has met with great success in his work here, and his talk was enjoyed by the students.

Plea Comes As Surprise; Begs Court's Mercy

Had Entered Not Guilty Plea When Arraigned In 70th Court

In a choked voice, W. R. Hildreth Thursday afternoon pleaded guilty to killing his wife, Docia Hildreth, with an ice pick.

"I beg the mercy of the court," he said in a breaking voice.

The plea came as a surprise since he had previously pleaded not guilty when arraigned in the 70th district court.

The state promptly called Mrs. Carlton Coburn, a daughter, to the stand.

"Did you hear anything on the afternoon of October 1?" asked District Attorney Robert W. Hamilton.

"I heard three horrible screams," answered Mrs. Coburn.

"What did you do?" continued Hamilton.

"I jumped up and ran to where my mother lived," she said. "I jumped over the fence. I met my father coming out of the back door."

"She's in there," Mrs. Coburn quoted her father as saying. "She needs you."

Hamilton asked where she found her mother. Mrs. Coburn replied that she found her lying on the floor in the front room.

"He's killed me this time," "Bernice, he's killed me this time. Get a doctor," she testified her mother told her.

Asked by the district attorney to tell what she saw, the witness said that she noticed "an ice pick. It was here in her hip," she said, pointing to a spot. "I tried to pull it out. I couldn't even budge it."

Asked if she examined her mother, Mrs. Coburn said she saw "several holes in her chest. They were small holes. They were not bleeding."

Telephones Doctor Mrs. Coburn related how she had run to a neighbor's house and telephoned for a doctor. When she returned, she said her mother was unconscious.

Objection Sustained Defense Attorney Charles Sullivan objected to Mrs. Coburn repeating what Wilma Jean, 3 year old daughter of Mrs. Hildreth had said when she questioned her. The objection was sustained by Judge Charles Klapproth.

The witness was questioned as to the location of the house in which she lived at the time with reference to the house in which her father and mother lived. She said it was next door.

Heard Screams She said she was sewing in the back bed room of her home when she heard the screams. As she ran to her parent's home, she saw her youngest sister, Wilma Jean, run under the house. The child was crying, she testified.

The district attorney asked: "How did your father look?" "He looked perfectly all right," replied Mrs. Coburn.

Clothing Described Requested by Hamilton to describe how her mother was dressed when she found her, Mrs. Coburn said Mrs. Hildreth was dressed in a dark navy blue dress, had on light hose and white slippers. Her hair was lying near her head and a light jacket was nearby.

"They were her nice clothes," testified the witness in response to a question from the state's attorney. She added that Wilma Jean was dressed in her "nice clothes."

Ice Pick Identified "Is this the instrument or a similar one to the one you found in your mother's hip?" asked Hamilton, showing her the metal staff of an ice pick.

"Yes, it is," she answered. Hamilton showed her an ice pick handle and asked her if she had

Bankers Ask For Balanced Budget

Brazos River Bill Goes To Gov. Ferguson

First Phase Of Five-Point Program Of Ferguson Is Completed

AUSTIN, (AP)—Legislative action was completed Thursday on the first phase of the governor's five-point program, for which the session was convened.

The senate, by a vote of 19 to 6, concurred in house amendments to the Brazos river bill, thus sending it to the governor for approval.

Consummation of permanent legislation on another phase of program was speeded also by the senate, with passage of a bill carrying a house number, to alter tax collection statutes to ease the burden on property taxpayers.

The vote was 27 to 2. Text of the senate bill on the subject was substituted for a house measure, requiring additional house action.

'Oh Professor' Scores Big

Director Says Cast And Acting Unusually Splendid

The Butterfly Chorus of business men brought down the heavy applause at the musical comedy, "Oh Professor." Wednesday night at the Municipal Auditorium.

Dressed in feminine ruffled ballet skirts with such masculine accessories as spats, they made the audience howl in laughter every minute they were on the stage.

In the play proper Ray Simmons and Mrs. Lawrence gave their usual smooth, finished performance, even though Mr. Simmons acted with a wrenched back. The play as a whole went beyond the expectations of Miss Sue Lamb, director.

The forenoon from the start unusual dramatic possibility in Arthur Middleton and declared he was one of the most promising actors she had met. She was greatly pleased with the groups as a whole.

Mrs. Bumbard, played by Miss Dorothy Jordan, was a perfectly cast role. Little Jacqueline Fawcett was beautiful and Miss McCluskey equally so in their roles and dances. George Neel made a Chink that surprised his friends and the director. Jimmy Wilson and Reuben Williams were splendid, and Bobbie Mills made a good policeman.

Miss Lamb declared that it was unusual to find more than three people in any town with dramatic ability, but that all the cast in Big Spring showed talent.

The chorus girls and boys were high spots in the specialty numbers. Evelyn Ragadale's tap dance and little Jean Porter's dance were exceptionally well received.

The children's popularity contest, which had been planned to accompany the play was called off because of chickenpox in town.

The play was put on by the City Federation, of which Mrs. W. J. McAdams is chairman. Mrs. Joe Fisher acted as general chairman for the play.

She was assisted by a corps of workers. Mrs. L. L. Freeman was assistant chairman. Mrs. C. W. Cunningham was chairman of the cast committee; Mrs. Ralph Rix, of properties; Mrs. Harvy Williamson, of the ticket selling; Mrs. Seth H. Parsons, of publicity.

HAPPINESS OF BOYHOOD ENDS ON A THRONE

Little Peter Karageorge, who becomes a king at an age when most boys are thinking about schoolwork and games, seems to be one of the least enviable figures you could find in all the world of childhood.

A great many stories have been told about the good fortune of the boy who lives in a palace. But there are several million scrubbed kids in the United States who have a chance for happiness almost infinitely better than the chances of this little Serbian youngster.

The throne of Yugoslavia lies under a shadow. That part of Europe is not called "the cockpit of Europe" for nothing. The greatest of all wars began there; if any other one comes, it is very likely to begin there too.

A turbulent land set down in a troubled and in calculable situation—that is Yugoslavia. And the 11-year-old boy who now becomes king of this land is one of the most pathetic figures in modern history.

A king is apt to be a prisoner of his own palace, even in the happiest of lands. The gold braid, the bowing functionaries, the guards of honor and the intricate web of custom and etiquette that surround a throne usually cut off all chance for existence as a normal human being.

SOVIETS GAIN CONFIDENCE

Evidence that the Russian government is growing more and more confident of its solidarity among the masses is to be seen in the new laws which liberalize the Soviet election laws.

Although the Russian government does not pretend to be a democracy, or to have a great deal of use for democratic processes, voting rights in the forthcoming elections for local Soviet governing bodies have been extended to the kulak class, to certain minor capitalists, and to various members of what the communists like to term the "parasite" groups.

This, to be sure, is only a shadow of genuine self-government. The average Russian will have very little more to say about the way his country is to be run than he has had in the past.

But relaxation of these rules, important as it is, would seem to indicate that the Russian government is feeling a new confidence in its own popularity.

ern danger of isolation. It has practically reached the point where many wealthy families living in isolated places are kept in a state of siege, for fear of kidnapers and robbers. Both the Lindbergh and Stoll kidnapings were committed at homes remote from others.

Perhaps this condition is merely a passing phase of crime, and will be wiped out with a few more executions; but at the moment it is reminiscent of feudal times, when families and groups were compelled to live in strong-walled fortresses.

There is no doubt that we are living in an age of extreme violence, and yet there are hopeful signs of better conditions ahead. The law is becoming more efficient and relentless. Quick arrest, prompt conviction, and certain and severe punishment are civilization's only remedy for this sort of thing.

260 Delegates Attend Colorado Tuberculosis Meeting Wednesday

COLORADO—Regional conference for 260 representatives from tuberculosis associations in five West Texas counties adjourned here Wednesday afternoon after conducting an institute on the sale of Christmas seals. Forty-four of those registering were from out-of-town.

Miss Fanny Nichols, executive secretary for the Texas tuberculosis association at Austin, presided for the institute. Discussions on sales were presented by Mrs. Dallas Scarborough, Abilene, president of the Taylor county association; Mrs. Harvey Sloan, Midland; Dr. Lee O. Rogers, Big Spring; Dr. E. W. Prothro and B. H. McLain, superintendent of schools, Sweetwater; Mrs. Addison Young, Midland, and Mrs. Jesse Dobbs, Colorado.

"Thanks for Health" program in the public schools was outlined by Madge Stanford, Taylor county rural school supervisor, and Mr. McLain.

Morning Program
 The seals institute followed a luncheon at noon for which Mrs. Sloan presided. Brief summaries of tuberculosis work in this section were presented by Mrs. J. C. Douglas of Big Spring and Mrs. Scarborough in the program.

With Mrs. Scarborough in charge the morning conference featured and address by Dr. R. S. Norris, superintendent of the children's hospital at the state sanatorium, and Dr. J. B. McKnight, sanatorium superintendent. Dr. Norris spoke on "Some Early Manifestations of Tuberculosis Among Texas Children," and Dr. McKnight had as his subject, "Modern Weapons to Fight Tuberculosis." Leading the discussion of their addresses were Dr. E. W. Prothro of Sweetwater, Dr. Erle D. Sellers of Abilene and Dr. J. M. Chrymes. Dr. Sellers also gave a demonstration of a tuberculin skin test and a positive reaction. Talks were made by three county health nurses.

Pauline Lord Featured In "Mrs. Wiggs Of The Cabbage Patch", At Ritz Theatre Friday, Saturday

Pauline Lord, noted stage actress who makes her motion-picture debut in Paramount's "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," coming Friday and Saturday to the Ritz theatre, has been on the stage for over thirty years, yet never has played an ingenuite role.

Making her screen debut in the little role of the picture of Alice Hegan Rice's noted classic, the distinguished stage star is cast in the same type role that she has played so often, and so brilliantly, in the theatre.

In all of her best plays Miss Lord has enacted character parts, though the role often was the leading one in the play. "Anna Christie," "Samson and Delilah," "They Knew What They Wanted," "The Late Christopher Bean," and other successes found her portraying what one prominent critic has called "images of feminine desolation."

In the film, which was adapted from the play by Alice Hegan Rice and Anne Crawford Flexner, Miss Lord plays the title role, that of the motherly, philosophic and lovable Mrs. Wiggs, whose home-spun philosophy and quaint say-

IN LINE OF DUTY
 The news that 137 doctors, nurses, and laboratory workers in Los Angeles were stricken with infantile paralysis, during their fight against an outbreak of the disease, is a grim reminder of the fact that these people very often undergo risks which the layman does not dream of, in their effort to save the lives of others.

In some epidemics the doctor and nurse can be protected by serums or vaccines. In others, however, there is no certain protection. Doctor and nurse must take their chances with everybody else—and, of course, by going into sickrooms daily, and undermining their resistance through overwork, they simply increase the danger to themselves.

It is a thing worth remembering. It is too easy to overlook the quiet unassuming heroism that members of the medical and nursing professions are constantly displaying, day after day, in the performance of their duties.

DIMMED TORCHLIGHTS
 It is interesting to note that the earnest young Democrats of Hastings, Neb., were unable to hold the old-time torchlight parade they had planned—because they couldn't find anyone in town who knew how to make the old-time torches.

Interesting—because it exemplifies a sweeping change that has come over American politics. There was a time, still within memory of an aging generation, when a political campaign without a torchlight parade just wasn't a campaign at all. People took their politics with an intense, nervous seriousness, in those days. Campaign processions were colorful and bolsterous affairs.

 No More Dizzy Spells

Mrs. Arthur Willette of Ferndale, Mich., writes: "Just started my 4th jar of Kruschen. First I want to tell you I lost 30 lbs. in 3 months. I weighed 164—now I weigh 134 and still want to lose 25 more lbs. I feel better than I have for 10 yrs. I used to have headaches, backaches, dizzy spells, heartburn but don't any more. I have 3 friends taking it and it's helping them too."

"Cupid Up To Date" Comedy Farce, To Be Presented At Forsan School House Friday and Saturday Nights

"Cupid Up To Date," a comedy farce, will be presented Friday and Saturday evening from the Forsan auditorium under the auspices of the Forsan band.

Miss Marygrove Stark of Augusta, Georgia, director of the play, has announced a strong cast of characters. Rehearsals indicate that the actors will be ready for a finished performance, said Miss Stark.

Story of the comedy hinges around an invention of Senator Joshua Bling of Boston, a contraption called a "prognosticator."

The senator claims for her invention the power of transforming man, changing a discouraged, helpless human into a healthy, happy person.

All goes well until Father Time tinkers with the mechanism. It goes awry, turning people into monkeys and cats. It even goes to the extreme of making a man into a woman.

Can Cupid be put through the "prognosticator"? Those interested in the latest trend of thought along the lines of science and up to date love making will not want to miss "Cupid Up To Date."

Proceeds from the play will go toward buying uniforms and instruments for the band.

New gold discoveries are expected to increase Canada's gold output so that the total for 1934 will reach $100,000,000.

Rev. Bickley Talks To Lions

Local Pastor Tells Club Of Community Spirit In Commercialism

Rev. C. A. Bickley told Lions Wednesday of the importance of community spirit in commercialism.

First essential qualification to community success is getting together, said the speaker. The battle is but just begun, he added, and cautioned that the community which would forge ahead must keep together. Lastly, he declared that the community must work together.

Dr. C. W. Deats conducted a brief questionnaire on Lionism as a feature on the program.

Arrival of 50 copies of the Lions moral code was announced by President Charles W. Corley. A committee composed of Rev. W. G. Buchsacher, Ludwig Grau, and C. L. Rowe will arrange for the distribution and presentation of the codes to schools in Big Spring and Howard county.

Dr. P. W. Malone reminded the club that October 30 would be open

Jones Urges Banks To Lend Co-operation

Speaks For Roosevelt Administration, Urges More Loans Be Made

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The nation's bankers, were asked by the Roosevelt administration Wednesday to lend more liberally—even to extent of making "loans they would not ordinarily wish to make" and "loans that will need to be indulged."

Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, made the plea before the American Bankers' Association convention, saying the bankers had not made loans freely as they could.

Roswell Rancher Taken by Death At San Antonio

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP)—James Phelps White, 77, wealthy New Mexico cattleman, died at San Antonio, Texas, Sunday, according to word received here Monday. He had been ill for several months and was taken by airplane recently to San Antonio for treatment.

White came to New Mexico in 1881 and had lived here continuously since that time. He was one of the largest cattle owners on the plains of Southwestern New Mexico and at one time was reported to have owned 50,000 head of cattle. For many years he owned the noted Four Lake Ranch in which is now Lea county and later the 320,000-acre Yellowhouse Ranch in West Texas, part of which he still owns. At the time of his death he owned the 120,000-acre Lea Ranch, east of here, much farm land in the Pecos Valley and City property here.

He served as a member of the board of regents of the New Mexico Military Institute from 1910 to 1922 and was the only surviving charter member of the Roswell Masonic Lodge. He also was a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason, Knight Templar, Shriner and Elk.

Funeral services probably will be held here Wednesday afternoon with Dr. Austin D. Criss officiating. He is survived by his widow and several children.

Legion Asks Increase In U. S. Defense

Would Place Standing Army of 165,000 With 14,000 Officers

MIAMI (AP)—Without discussion or dissenting vote, the American Legion national convention Wednesday adopted the report of its national defense committee recommending increasing the standing army to 14,000 officers and 165,000 men.

St. Louis was formally selected as the 1935 Legion convention city. The national executive committee is to set the convention date.

Mrs. A. Carlson of Willmar, Minnesota, and Mrs. Malcolm Douglas were nominated for national president of the Legion Auxiliary.

RECOMMEND FULL PAYMENT OF BONUS

MIAMI (AP)—Immediate cash payment by government of the soldier bonus at face value was recommended in a resolution adopted Wednesday by the American Legion legislative committee. Only two dissenting votes were cast.

Ray Kelly, committee chairman, said no minority report would be submitted when the matter is formally presented on the convention floor. Probably Thursday.

East Ward Plans Carnival Friday

The East Ward P.T.A. will stage a Halloween carnival Friday night, October 26th at the school building. The date was changed from Friday after Halloween until this one, on account of the circus.

There will be many kinds of entertainment, including a kiddies playground. Mrs. C. W. Dickerson will be in charge of this. There will be a fishing pond, a fortune-teller, a grab bag, ringing suckers, bean guessing.

The side shows will include quintuplets and Siamese twins and such as the following: "Why Girls Leave Home and Why Boys Leave Home"; "A Swimming Match"; and "Seeing Yourself Today and Tomorrow."

Booths will be arranged throughout the rooms. Popcorn balls, homemade candy, cake, pie, coffee and cocoa will be on sale.

The Centerpoint Serenaders will furnish music.

There will be no general admission charge.

Senate Passes Bill To Remit Taxes On Brazos River Project

AUSTIN (AP)—Final passage of the bill to remit certain state taxes in the Brazos river conservation and reclamation district was effected in the legislature Wednesday, but failure of the bill to receive a two-thirds vote in the house raised questions as to its constitutionality.

BOVINES TO PLAY GRANBURY HERE FRIDAY

Subs Threaten To Move Out Regulars

Lubbock: "It seems that some of the Big Spring high school ends and backs aren't blocking as efficiently as necessary. So what? So Coach Oble Bristow loads half a dozen of 'em into his auto and drives over to Lubbock. They were out there watching Line Coach Dutchy Smith hurry his boys through stiff blocking practice."

A Fort Worth Star-Telegram classified as did the trick. The Steers play Granbury here Friday afternoon.

Grapping fans are promised a first class card here next week. Definite arrangements have not been complete, but it looks like two fast favorites in the main event and a rough and tumble affair in the semi-final.

Two women wrestlers may be lined-up as a special event.

The department's guess that San Angelo will take out McCamey by about 19 to 0 is better than 26 to 0. We cut down the figure because of the fact that the game is booked in the Upton county metropolis, and because the Badgers have been showing a great improvement of late. (The Angelo scribbler picks the Bobcats 26 to 0).

The Sweetwater Ponies are due for a cleaning this week. They play the Westerners at Lubbock in a non-conference game.

Bristow believes his boys will beat San Angelo, and possibly take the winner of the El Paso district, but he hesitates to predict the quarter-final. That's looking a

Coach Drills 5 On Trick Plays

Ben Daniels will send his Devils into their third contest of the season here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 against the Midland, Jr., III football team. Daniels has been drilling his proteges on trick plays, and believes that before the season is over he will have one of the smoothest junior teams in the country. The Devils have been especially good on open field blocking. Garcia, fullback, is fast but doesn't follow his interference as well as Ford, quarter. Ben uses Ford when out for short gains, but says Garcia is a dangerous toter. Probable starting line-up for the Devils: Peholt, le; Wilson, lt; Phillips, lg; Robinson, c; Stewart, rg; Creek, rt; Wood, re; Ford, q; Gibson, h; Smith, h; Garcia, f.

5 Indicted By Sterling Grand Jury Wednesday

STERLING CITY—Five additional indictments were returned by the 51st District court grand jury when it reported late Wednesday to Judge John F. Sutton, San Angelo, after being in session Wednesday. One was against Jose Galtan, charged with assault with a prohibited weapon; to wit: A pair of brass knuckles on Cledis Smith, and four in which no arrests had been made. The jury had previously indicted Charles Holster on a whisky charge. Holster's trial is scheduled for Thursday morning at 10 o'clock as is the trial of Alfred Theime, charged with swindling. Theime's case was continued from the last term of court. District Attorney Glenn R. Lewis said tonight he expected to try both cases Thursday. Judge Sutton dismissed the grand jurors after their report was made. The jury was impaneled on Monday and recessed over Tuesday to reconvene this morning.

Rev. C. S. Cameron Laid To Rest In Sweetwater

ABILENE—Rev. C. S. Cameron, retired Methodist minister who served churches of the Northwest Texas conference for 28 years, died at his home, 418 Palm street, Wednesday at 1:30 a. m. He was in his 76th year. Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist church here Thursday at 2 p. m., after which the body will be conveyed to Sweetwater for burial. Rev. W. C. Childress, first church pastor; Dr. O. P. Clark, of St. Paul Methodist church, and Dr. T. S. Knox, First Presbyterian minister, will conduct the rites. Rev. Cameron last June suffered a stroke of paralysis, which impaired his health. He had improved, however, and was able to make frequent trips downtown until October 10, when his condition again became serious. Since that time he had been confined to his home.

DUCK HUNTING OPENS TOMORROW

Duck hunting will be opened to West Texas and the whole state tomorrow morning at daylight and will run each Friday, Saturday and Sunday for 10 weeks, ending Dec 30. This will give the hunters 30 full days of hunting and while it probably will be more disastrous to the ducks, those seeking them are expected to get the limit each time they go out.

The new Texas law conforms with federal regulations regarding the week-end hunting, and does away with the zone restrictions. Of common varieties, the daily bag limit is 12, but the hunter must have no more than 24 in his possession at one time. Limits of five per day are placed on wood duck, elders, canvasbacks, greater or lesser scaups, ringneck, blue wing teal, green wing teal, cinnamon teal, shovellar and gadwall. No license is required where persons hunt in the counties in which they live, but game wardens are expected to enforce the law requiring a license where they go outside their home counties.

The summer drought in West Texas is expected to make hunting of ducks work this year instead of a pleasure and recreation because of scarcity of feed and water. Ducks are expected to be found only on the larger and more secluded ponds and lakes this season.

Ponies After Fordham Rams

DALLAS, (Spl.)—The Southern Methodist University Mustangs entered their journey to New York City to battle the Fordham Rams in the Mustang's major inter-sectional tilt of the season. Traveling east for an inter-sectional game for the fourth time since their memorable battle with the Army in 1928, the Mustangs are set to show the Easterners one of the classiest and most versatile teams that the South—or for that matter the North, East and West—has to offer. Always rated as the most sensational forward passing team in college football, the Mustangs will live up to their name in Saturday's game with the Rams. With several exceptionally good passers and as many good receivers, the invaders from the south will probably unrecel one of the greatest "aerial circuses" that has ever shown in the Polo Grounds.

Steak Barbecue At Moss Springs

A group of airport employes and their friends motored to Moss Springs Wednesday evening for a steak barbecue. Jack Cummings did the barbecuing. Potatoes baked in a Dutch oven were served with the steak. Those on the outing were: Messrs. and Mrs. V. Eckelcamp, Bob Gigous, Glenn Golden, P. W. Malone, Misses Nell Brown and Lucille Rix. Messrs. Jack Cummings, Glenn Freeland, Arthur Crowshaw, Father Theodore Francis, T. R. Richardson, Newton and Howard.

PENDLETON, Ore. (UP)—One thousand acres of eastern Oregon land were offered for sale today by the Stanfield Irrigation District for $15 an acre. The offer came as the result of $100,000 worth of construction work being carried on in the district by the United States Bureau of Reclamation.

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

Chapter 17 SILVER'S RETURN

Marian turned back to the first page and found a second story on the London case. In surprise she read the contents, then sat back overwhelmed at what she had done to Cliff Gordon, in tricking him into a fight for life.

After reading his letter to Silver, she had realized he was on the verge of bankruptcy, but she had not realized how deeply he was involved. The newspaper account gave this in detail, and the inference was that his suicide had been an attempt to evade his creditors, rather than any thwarted love for his former wife. Criminal conspiracy to cheat these creditors was indicated, as it was proved large sums of cash had been withdrawn and had vanished.

While he was lying at the hospital fighting for life, the sheriff was conducting a sale of the remains of his once valuable estate. Everything save the property he had given Silver as settlement was being liquidated.

Cliff Gordon would live. He would come back from the border of death, weak, broken, to face destitution or worse, a criminal charge with its accompanying penitentiary sentence. This was what she had done by interfering in someone's else business.

Eyes wide with apprehension, she sat staring at a bowl of tulips. Five tulips, yellow and purple, rose and red, and one mottled cup of red and yellow. She didn't see them.

When Cliff Gordon had chosen his way out, preferring suicide to an expose of his father-in-law's crooked method of conducting his business, and the subsequent crushing of Silver's life, she, a total stranger had made him believe Silver was really the woman he had idealized, made him believe he might come back, face the odds and win.

"Marian Gordon, what in the name of goodness is wrong with you?"

Anne, pushing a tea cart before her, had stopped to look down at the girl in the chair.

"Nothing," Marian answered.

"Nothing... and you look like that?" She stepped close, she took the other girl, "Snap out of it, tell me what's wrong."

"I don't dare to tell anyone," murmured Marian, then "but I've got to tell someone, Anne, promise me if I tell you this you'll never breathe it to a living soul!"

"That's an insult," snapped Anne. "You know I don't talk, Ian. What is the matter?"

"There are only four persons in the world who know this now. Silver Gordon, a man named Max Hamlin, Mowen and myself. Anne, Silver didn't send that message to Cliff. I did. I made it up and got it across the wire to Bowen before she could tear loose from Hamlin's hold and grab the telephone."

"Whew!" breathed Anne and sat down in the nearest chair. Then suddenly, having recovered her breath, "You saved his life. What are you getting all het up about now?"

"But, Anne, what good is that life to him? He'll learn Silver doesn't care for him. He'll face the charges the newspapers mention and I know he won't tell the truth and clear himself. He'll come back broken in spirit, in hope, in belief in anything, and... for what?"

Anne didn't answer. She bent her sleek head over the silver urn, poured a cup of coffee and thrust it at Marian. "Drink that and see if you can swallow what I'm going to tell you at the same time."

"Jan, I've spent six years holding the hands of impulsive men who thought they wanted to die while they tried their damndest not to do it. I'm willing to bet anything I own that if you were to tell Cliff everything right now, he'd still fight to live."

"As far as Silver's concerned he's lived with her long enough to know her. As soon as he gets over the maudlin stage he'll admit she's a natural born wash-out."

"About his financial condition. Your friend Cliff is an ostrich. He stuck his head in a hole and didn't know the desert was full of friends. By the time yesterday's paper was on the street we had a run of visitors at the hospital that nearly put us out of business. Fraternity brothers, crew brothers, yacht club brothers. And they came bearing gifts. Blank checks with signatures signed, business offers. One brought a note that the yacht club had bid in on the island home and if it got it, Cliff had a permanent honorary residence at the club."

"We got all of these messages through to Cliff. So don't you worry about Cliff and his future. You've given him a chance to live, clean up the mess he left and when he does check out, he'll have left his life in order."

She refilled the cup. "When you get through drinking that, to bed with you."

Relieved, Marian took Anne's advice and when she again opened her eyes she lay staring at the twilight outside her window. "Should call the office," she thought, then heard the whir of the telephone and Anne calling that Bowen was on the phone.

"Well, where in Hades have you been?" was Bowen's reception.

"Listen, grab a cab and beat it to the airport."

"I won't go to Reno again," protested Marian sleepily.

"Wait 'til you're waked. Your friend Silver is due in from there, en route to Meredith. Get in on the reunion and give us a yarn for the early edition. And say, Ian, good work on your Reno story; you've got a raise coming."

"Don't want it," said Marian feebly.

And "What?" came the incredulous reply.

LOSE LEAD IN DARING AIR RACE

Running into bad luck after holding a slim lead all the way from England to Karachi, India, in the London-to-Melbourne air race, Capt. James A. Mollison and his wife, Amy Johnson Mollison (above) fell behind as two speedy Britishers, C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black forged ahead. The Mollisons' plane developed engine trouble but after speedy repairs they hopped off again in pursuit of the leaders. (Associated Press Photo)

"Don't be asked, peeped, 'I don't know, I never ran into a woman like this before. What does one do with them?'"

"I could mention several things," returned Marian, "cyanide, for one. What one earth did you do on your trip in from the cabin that made her believe you belonged to her?"

"I don't know," he answered honestly, "unless listening to her rant."

"Lon, what did you talk about? Think hard, did she talk about love or marriage or anything like that?"

"She asked me if I had ever been married and I said that I hadn't. It never occurred to me until very, very recently. Then she wanted to know if the girl was in the East, and I said that she was in Nevada at that moment. She wanted to know what she looked like and I told her she had golden hair and that she was the most beautiful girl I'd ever seen and if I had my way about it I'd have proposed to her the moment I saw her but I felt I should let a few days go by without showing how I'd crashed."

Marian slid into the nearest chair and started to laugh. "That's what you get for calling my hair gold instead of red. She thought you meant her."

Today, which until recent years was obtained by the United States almost entirely from foreign countries, is produced now in appreciable volume from domestic sources.

that we can force the British to get out of our hand if we choose to take advantage of the situation.
The sharp figures of this way. Our silver purchases have forced the Chinese to declare a virtual embargo on exports of the metal as a measure of self-defense. This has driven Chinese exchange so low that it gives Chinese exporters an edge against their Japanese competitors and threatens Japanese trade supremacy in the Orient. The Japanese in turn have depreciated their yen still further to meet the menace.

What has this to do with Britain? Plenty. It's the yen—the dollar—which keeps Neville Chamberlain and British exporters awake nights. They were having a tough enough time trying to keep foreign markets alive in the face of Japanese competition before. A still cheaper yen hits them square in the solar plexus.

Stephens for the senate in Mississippi. They had visions of having two Kingfishers on their hands to get up trouble, bearing in mind reports that Bilbo had promised to out-Huey Huey Long.
Travelers back from Mississippi now predict, however, that Bilbo will turn out to be an administration monger for Long. Most senators aren't very keen about debating with Huey—he has a knack of rattling skeletons in his adversaries' closets—and they will welcome anyone willing to engage him in the rough-and-tumble stuff. Bilbo so the story goes, will take his cues from Pat Harrison, Mississippi's senior senator, and Majority Leader Robinson.

Bench

It has been printed so often that a lot of people take it for granted President Roosevelt intends to appoint Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, to the first vacancy on the Supreme court.
A new southern name is now being quietly discussed as a possibility in informed circles. The man is Judge Walter Stacey, of North Carolina, who is performing yeoman service on both the steel and textile labor relations boards.

Rebates

Attorney General Cummings and Secretary Morgenthau are at loggerheads over income tax matters. Morgenthau is actively pushing cases against delinquents and Cummings promises to help. But when it comes to reimbursing taxpayers who have overpaid, the treasury is a tightwad, even in cases where the Attorney General has certified that tax-payers must be paid. "Try and get it," is the treasury attitude. "We've credited you on the books."

Business

It's a super-human job but China has finally decided to try to stamp out her huge internal drug trade. Death before firing squads has been made the penalty by the Hope Provincial government for the manufacture, transport, use or sale of morphine, cocaine or heroin. Yin Huan-jin, chief of police of the Second Inner District of Peking, was apprehended selling dope that had been confiscated in raids and he was promptly shot together with an accomplice.

Irony

William Jennings Bryan isn't getting the break in memory that he might have expected while still alive.
The statue erected to the Great Commoner and arch-prohibitionist here in Washington square faces a brewery.

Notes

Japan is toning down its naval demands. A compromise is in long-range prospect. Secretary Swannson is confident everybody will be happy. Americans are now eating canned meat packed in Uruguay and Argentina. Coal operators register a big kick against government power development, saying miners will be put out of work. The utilities are among their best customers. Tax committees of congress are now figuring on a bill that will yield $500,000,000. Relief Administrator Hopkins' plan to build 50 rural industrial villages must await funds, but he is going ahead with twelve villages to accommodate 150 to 200 families at a cost of about $1600 each. Public Works Administrator Ickes also wants $2,000,000,000 for slum clearance and housing. Jesse Jones, who lends RFC money, is now boss of the railroads, and not co-ordinator Joe Eastman.

NEW YORK

By JAMES McMULLIN
Heel—New York experts say that the Far Eastern ruckus caused by our silver policy will have an important—though indirect and unpleasant—effect on Anglo-American monetary relations. It's claimed decided they've fed up with suffering in silence. The Edison Electric Institute is preparing to launch an aggressive campaign that will tell the world the utilities' side of the New Deal argument. An imposing array of figures will be mustered in an effort to prove that the power companies have been badly maligned and misinterpreted by public officials. Special attention will be given to combatting the whole theory of public ownership as unfair socialistic competition with legitimate private enterprise.

This decision to take their case directly to the public marks a sharp reversal in Edison Institute policy. Until recently—as pointed out in this column—the Institute's directors figured it was wisest to lay low and confine what they consider their life-and-death battle with the New Deal to subterranean facta. They felt they were so discredited in the public mind that anything they might say in their own defense would be greeted with razzberries. But now the school of thought which preferred an open offensive has won out and you'll see plenty of action from here on.

seen it or one like it before. She said she had.
"The handle had been pulled loose from the staff," said Mrs. Coburn. "I tried to pull it out, I couldn't even budge it. I found a pick handle on top of the chiffonier in the same room."
"State when you last saw the pick and handle," said Hamilton.
"Jesse Slaughter took it," Mrs. Coburn replied. Slaughter is sheriff of Howard county.
Mrs. Coburn recounted how she had called her elder brother and the other children after a medical aid had been summoned.
"Were you with your mother when she died," asked Hamilton.
"No, Orville (an older brother) got there as the ambulance did," she answered. "He was with her."
The witness said her mother was 40 years old at the time of her death, had been married about 25 years, was the mother of 10 children.

Special Verdict

Throughout the morning the state and defense questioned veniremen of the second special panel of 100. At 11:45 a. m. after nearly three hours of examinations, both sides accepted C. T. McCauley, a farmer, as the twelfth member of the jury. Fifty-one veniremen had been examined Thursday morning when the jury was completed. Only four were obtained from the first special venire of 100 Wednesday.

Jury Selected

Selected to hear the case were: J. A. Boykin, big building contractor; Henry J. Covert, refinery treasurer; E. R. Craven, railroad machinist; Rufus B. Davidson, farm supply company manager; Earl Brownrigg, cafe operator; J. A. Williams, carpenter; A. L. McCormick, farmer; L. A. Brown, farmer; Frank Dearen, farmer; T. F. Montgomery, farmer; E. L. Pierce, farmer; and C. T. McCauley, farmer.

The state questioned prospective jurors closely to find if they had conscientious scruples against infliction of the death penalty in proper cases.

Defense asked veniremen if they had ever before sat on a capital case, if they had in any way been previously interested in a capital case, if they had been on a grand jury, if they had ever served as peace officers.

Indictment Read

With the jury completed, Judge Klapproth adjourned court shortly before noon until 1:30 p. m. when District Attorney Hamilton read the indictment.

Hildreth stood while it was read.

Pleads Guilty

"Do you plead guilty or not guilty," asked the court.
"I plead guilty," said the defendant, his voice low and husky. The court asked the defendant if he realized in entering such a plea, it would be necessary for the court to find him guilty and to fix his punishment at death, life imprisonment or imprisonment for a term of not less than five years.

Begs Mercy of Court

Hildreth made an attempt to answer. His voice failed him for a moment. Then he said, "I beg the mercy of the court."
With him during the hearing was a brother. Other members of his family relatives were permitted to occupy a space behind the bench.

His face was haggard and drawn, somewhat emaciated. Most of the time he calmly watched while his attorneys questioned jurors. Occasionally he conferred with them.

Large Crowd Attends

A large crowd packed the court room during the morning and by the time the jury had been selected, Judge Klapproth found it necessary to order the bailiff to clear a space behind the jury box and to clear a pathway for the jury.
Many brought their lunches. Scores remained during the lunch hour and by the time court was reconvened at 1:30 p. m. the court room and spaces outside of the doors, to the first landing of the stairways, were jammed.

When the first witness was sworn in, people stood in their places. Many on the floor inside the railing. There were ministers, laborers, farmers, students, housewives in the crowd of morbidly curious people.

Travels 186,000 Miles By Plane

CHICAGO—William B. Woolsey, of Chicago, may not be America's most air-traveled man, but he stands well up on the list.
As traveling auditor for American Airlines, Woolsey has flown more than 186,000 miles in the 21 months since January 1, 1933. This is a distance equal to nearly seven and a half times around the world at the equator, and an average of almost 9,000 miles a month. He has covered every mile of the company's nation wide routes and has visited nearly 100 cities since the first of this year.

The 28 days of February, 1934, were cited by Woolsey as typical of a month's travel. On the first day of the month he was in Los Angeles on the second he was in Buffalo, N. Y. Then, in order, he visited Albany, Syracuse, Chicago, Ft. Worth, Houston, Galveston, Waco, Austin, Los Angeles, Tucson and San Antonio, in that order, winding up the month in Chicago.

"This business of being a circus clown is really a serious business after all," says Jack Knapp, former movie cowboy comedian, and now producing clown with Tom Mix, Wild West and Sam B. Dill's big three-ring Circus combined, which is coming to Big Spring, Friday, November 2nd, for performances on the Read showgrounds.

"New stunts in-keeping with the times, must be constantly originated, and their reaction on the audience carefully watched, elaborating on the gags that 'go over' and cutting the ones that fall to the wayside, so it's really a serious profession that requires a lot of study."

Jack and his veritable army of funsters will be very much in evidence in the rings and on the hipodrome track throughout each performance of the big show.

After carefully scanning the above photograph, we are just wondering if we wouldn't all enjoy being a clown with the circus, that is, if the amount which he is holding represents one of the various duties of a "Joey."

Tom Mix, the celebrated star of the Western films will be here with the big circus and with him is his wonder horse Tony, as well as the talented off-spring, Tony, Jr. They will perform in the main show at every performance.

Tickets will be sold on circus day at the Biles-Long Pharmacy at the same price as sold on the showgrounds.

HUEY LONG GIVES STUDENTS MONEY TO SEE GRID GAME

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—With his pocket stuffed with money and spirits high, Sen. Huey P. (Kingfish) Long gave a practical demonstration of his pet theory of redistribution of wealth by dishing out train fare at $4 a head to Louisiana State University students who nearly mobbed him in their eagerness to get to Nashville Saturday for the L.S.U.-Vanderbilt football game.

"If any of you haven't got $4, come to see me privately and I'll let you have it," the senator told the student body from the rostrum at the college.

But "privately" meant nothing to hundreds of students with flat pocketbooks.

The senator turned his pockets wrong side out, distributed hundreds of dollars like a flash and sent a courier back into town for more.

"He said it was a loan to the students."

Standing on the rostrum before the students, Long issued his instructions for the trip as follows: "No liquor nor the smell of it. No pulling of the bell cord on a route. No Fullmans, but easy, reclining chair cars for all. And 'don't take me lightly,' admonished Long. "The trains will be patrolled by Louisiana's police."

Governor-Elect Allred Speaks To County Judge's Association On Proposed Taxation Amendments

FORT WORTH — Fulfilling a campaign pledge to talk frankly with the people about the problems of government, governor-designate James V. Allred delivered a second address in explanation of proposed constitutional amendments relative to taxation. Allred addressed the County Judge association.

"With a $12,000,000 treasury deficit this state is facing a financial crisis," Allred said. "The present Legislative Special session is being urged to appropriate many million more. Add to this the ever mounting relief burdens and surely every citizen must realize that something must be done to equalize oppressive tax burdens."

"Real estate and other tangible property simply can not bear any further increase of the tax load," declared Allred. "Not only that, but the existing tax burden on tangible property and real estate must be materially reduced."

"While real estate and tangible property represent only half of the wealth of the state it bears 97 per cent of the tax burden. The other half such as stocks, bonds, money, mortgages and other intangible wealth bears only 3 per cent of the tax burden. This is decidedly unfair," Allred said.

"This grave injustice in our tax system can be righted on November 6 if the oppressed taxpayers will vote for the constitutional amendment that appears first on the ballot. Amendment No. 1 authorizes a classification of property for tax purposes and will enable the Legislature to add untold millions to the tax rolls that now escape taxation altogether."

"Amendment No. 1 should not be confused with Amendment No. 3 on the ballot. Amendment No. 3 seeks to place a per capita limit upon state revenues and expenditures. If this amendment had been in force the past two years, it would have reduced state revenues approximately $40,000,000. That would have been ruinous to our schools and vital governmental agencies. Every friend of the public schools and of efficient state government is against Amendment No. 3."

"I urge that the people be not deceived about these proposed amendments," Allred said. "Amendment No. 1 should be adopted and Amendment No. 3 should be defeated."

Geologists Plan Meeting In Guadalupes

West Texas Society Meet In Carlsbad Friday, October 26

MIDLAND—Completion of plans of the West Texas Geological society for a field conference to be held in the Guadalupes mountains October 26, 27 and 28, was a result of the society's meeting at Hotel Schlarbauer.

The party will meet at La Caverna hotel in Carlsbad at 8 o'clock Friday evening, October 26, for the first session at which motion pictures of the Guadalupes mountains taken from the air will be exhibited and a general discussion of perplexing problems of Guadalupes geology will take place.

On Saturday two alternative field trips will be offered. Those taking trip number 1 will study the southeast face of the Guadalupes mountains from Carlsbad to McKittrick canyon; points of particular interest on this trip will be the massive character of the Capitan reef, gradation from reef rock to lagoonal dolomites, fossils dipping fore reef beds, and gradations from Capitan limestone to Delaware mountain sandstone and limestone.

Geologists taking trip number 2 on Saturday will visit the type section in Rocky array showing the gradation from Capitan lagoonal dolomites into gypsiferous beds. In Last Chance canyon a study will be made of a sandstone probably Delaware mountain and its relationship to overlying dolomites. Sittling Bull falls will also be visited.

Saturday night will be spent at Pine Springs camp near Guadalupe Point.

On Sunday the party will study the section in Bone Springs area vicinity and in particular the much disputed question of the relationship between the lower part of the Delaware mountain sandstone and the Bone Springs limestones.

All geologists are cordially invited to take part in this conference. The region is one of particular interest to all students of perian stratigraphy and presents many complex problems. It is hoped that there will be a free discussion of all disputed questions. Those attending are urged to be present for the opening meeting on Friday evening. Edgemoor Krause has charge of arrangements at Carlsbad. Officers or members of the committee are Russell Lloyd at Midland and H. P. Bybee and E. Obering at San Angelo.

ATCHAFALAYA, Kan. (UP)—Shoreless Joe Jackson played in his bare feet because he liked it, but Jim McCafferty almost had to go shoeless from necessity when he came out for football practice at St. Benedict's College this fall.

McCafferty, a prospect from Henrietta, Okla., is 6 feet 7 inches tall, and his feet are proportionately big. There was nothing in the college property room that would fit so Coach Larry Mullins ordered special shoes.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with the frequent urination, backache, nervousness, loss of energy, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, loss of vitality, getting up at night, bladder trouble, etc., you are probably suffering from kidney trouble. It may mean you are overworked, but it may mean you are overdrunk. Ask your doctor for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS. A doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully for many years, relieves and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to do your body in 15 minutes for they may cause injury and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS... the old reliable pills that contain no opium or other harmful drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-McBee Co.
