Special Junk Rally Is Scheduled For Saturday, Aug. 29

Program Planned At Sudan For Event; School Band To Participate

Members of Littlefield Boy Scout troops will make a house-to-house canvass Saturday, August 29, and collect scrap iron and steel, other metals, rubber and waste materials, it was announced this week by local scoutmasters, and J. T. Elms, Littlefield chairman of the Lamb County Salvage committee.

Littlefield citizens are asked to cooperate with the committee on the special Junk Rally, and persons not wanting to donate the scrap, are asked to sell it to local dealers.

V. F. Jones, county chairman, reported that the salvage drive was well underway in the county, as farmers and those who reside in the towns are responding to the call made recently by the government for all kinds of scrap metals.

Local markets are purchasing waste fats that are being salvaged from kitchens; and wholesale meat dealers in this territory are buying the fats for the government.

A special program has been planned to be staged on the streets of Sudan Saturday at 4:30 p. m., when speakers will present the purpose of the drive to citizens of the Sudan territory. The Sudan school band will parade, and the drive will officially get underway there. A wire pen has been built on the southwest corner of the City Hall square at Sudan, where scrap metal can be placed by those persons wishing to donate the junk.

The scrap, in turn, will be sold, and funds given to the United Service organization. Several junk dealers are already buying scrap in Sudan.

The Olton Lions Club is sponsoring the drive in the county seat town, and according to reports last week, approximately 55 tons of scrap metal had been hauled into town in trucks, manned by the Lions.

"The home front must back up the fighting front at every opportunity, and the scrap metal campaign now in progress affords every individual an opportunity to do his bit in the prosecution of the war," Mr. Jones told a Leader reporter Wednesday. He reported that members of the County Agricultural Victory Council were contacting leading farmers in each community this week, who were contacting each farmer in his vicinity, urging them to sell or donate their scrap materials.

Boy Injures Arm In Fall Of Few Feet

LeRoy Holberg, 9, son of Art Holberg, who is employed at the Littlefield Farmers Co-op Gin, received painful injuries to his right arm while at the gin Thursday afternoon of last week. In a fall of four or five feet from a railing at the entrance to the gin he split a bone above the elbow, threw the elbow out of joint, split a bone above the wrist, and broke one bone above the wrist. He was taken to the Littlefield Hospital, where he remained Thursday night. LeRoy was attended by Dr. T. B. Duke.

LeRoy was sitting on the railing eating doughnuts. A young companion, who was swinging from a rope, bumped into him, and the fall followed.

Kitchens Are Arsenals Of Allies

The kitchens of the country are becoming the arsenals of the Allies. From the frying pans, the roasting pans and the broilers of the nation, at least 500 million pounds of waste cooking fats are expected to flow during the course of a year into the rendering plants to be transformed into useful materials for strategic war industries.

If the women of America will salvage only one-fourth of the kitchen fats and grease ordinarily thrown out as waste, they will be providing the power for firing 1,250,000,000 anti-tank shells at our enemies.

To the majority of these women it will come as a distinct surprise that the propellant power secured from their salvage is glycerine. For to most women, glycerine is something which, mixed with a pleasant smelling liquid known as rose water, helps keep their hands the kind you love to touch.

Yet without glycerine our great battleships, charting a course toward Tokyo, might conceivably end up in San Francisco. Without glycerine our big guns, blasting at the enemy, might leap from their carriages to turn their havoc on our own gun crews. Without glycerine, the depth charge intended for the Nazi submarine might prove a boomrang for the corvette carrying it.

And without fats and oils, our supply of glycerine would be a minus quantity. For although synthetic glycerine is a distinct possibility for the future, that future, due to other scarcities necessary to its production, recedes as fast as we vision it.

With the loss of the Philippines and the loss of Malaya went over half of our imports of essential fats and oils. Our Allies lost equal amounts. Certain of our Latin American neighbors, also dependent on the Far East for their sources, are looking toward us for help in spelling out their limited supplies. Yet our needs and those of our Allies for glycerine, the important derivative of those fats and oils, increases each day the war continues.

Normally, about 22 per cent of our glycerine supply has gone into explosives. Peacetime uses for these have been confined largely to blasting and mining operations, uses which are increasing this year and undoubtedly will continue to increase for the duration of the war.

The demand for more and more metal—for guns, for ships, for tanks, for planes—has put tremendously greater production burdens on our mining industries. The crying need for new production plants, that our flow of war material may be never-ending—the need for more and more military barracks—the insistent call for added defense housing projects—all this is requiring more and more explosives, and therefore more and more glycerine, for blasting operations.

But our armed services and those of our Allies need explosives, too. The second front in Europe, the defense of Australia and China and India cannot be carried out without countless tons of dynamite for demolition purposes, and of propellant powders.

All over the world the dull boom of dynamite and the sharp crack of rifles signal the need of salvaging our kitchen fats and greases. For to produce one ton of dynamite, some 800 pounds of nitroglycerine must be used with the other component parts of the formula. And to have the 800 pounds of nitroglycerine, it is necessary to mix about 326 pounds of glycerine with other necessary ingredients. And 326 pounds of glycerine is derived from no less than 3,260 pounds of fat or grease.

But glycerine performs its military duties in other and quieter ways, too. Its on a gentle float of glycerine that ships' compasses rest. Recoil mechanisms of guns depend on it to function smoothly. Hoists and hydraulic equipment find glycerine essential to efficient operation. It's used in the mechanism which throws overboard the deadly depth charge.

Indirectly necessary to the defensive prosecution of the war are the synthetic resins, used in the plastics which go into so many of our articles of war. Glycerine is an important part of these resins. Many drugs and medications, too, depend on glycerine for their efficacy, and supplies of these must be increased to care for the needs of our evergrowing armed forces as well as civilians.

Last year the United States used 200 millions pounds of glycerine. This year with the needs of American Allies added to U. S. needs, glycerine requirements are set at considerably in excess of that. And it is to the kitchens of the country that the glycerine industry is looking for at least 50 million pounds of that need.

Ten pounds of waste fat and grease will produce one pound of glycerine. To insure the 50,000,000 pounds of vital glycerine, 500,000,000 pounds of waste fats are the objective of the fats and grease salvage drive. This objective should be easy to reach for it is figured that no less than 2 billion pounds of grease go down the drain or out with the garbage every year.

All over the country farmers are working hard and long to increase their essential oil bearing crops and fat bearing animals, needed, not only for glycerine but for food and for various industrial purposes. Increases in the production of domestic fats and oils are expected to keep us out of the danger zone this year—but unfavorable crop conditions, resulting in short harvests, or a further falling off in import due to the activities of Axis submarines in the South Atlantic would leave us with a gloomy outlook.

Salvage of kitchen fats and greases is one source which neither weather nor war can affect this year and it provides an important backlog for future needs.

ONE OF CITY'S EARLY PIONEERS, NOW OF HOUSTON, VISITS LITTLEFIELD SATURDAY

Mr. Glenn Allen of Houston, an early pioneer of Littlefield, extended the Leader a welcome call Saturday, and subscribed to this newspaper stating he had many friends in this section, and wanted to get the news from Littlefield.

Mr. Allen came to Littlefield in 1920, when, as he puts it, "about five stores were here." While attending Littlefield High School in these days Allen was operator at the Palace Theatre, then owned by Max McClure (now deceased) and at the same time did the art work, including display advertising and the painting of signs at the Palace. He left Littlefield in 1928, and is now living in Houston, where he is employed in an advertising capacity for Madison Southwest. Mr. Allen had been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Allen, at Anton for over a week, and left Wednesday for Houston. He was accompanied to Anton by his wife and 10 months old son.

Mr. Allen's father, W. L. Allen, was previous to 1928 in the sheet-metal contracting business in Littlefield. He lived here from 1926 to 1931 and later went into the grocery and drygoods business in Anton, which he operated for about five years.

Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Glenn Allen and son from Houston to Anton were Mr. and Mrs. Bart Cunningham and two daughters, Nancy and Judy, for a visit in the Allen home. Mrs. Cunningham is a sister of Wm. Glenn Allen and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Allen. Mrs. Cunningham is a former resident of Littlefield, while Mr. Cunningham was formerly of Beaumont, Texas.

Other guests in the Allen home the past week were another daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Williams and two daughters, Joan and Ernestine, of Higgins, Texas.

A family reunion was enjoyed to the fullest at the W. L. Allen residence during the past week and week end. Mr. Allen stated that more of the family were present at this time than in many years.

Wm. Glenn Allen was going about Littlefield Saturday looking up his many friends, and apparently much thrilled to have the opportunity to visit Littlefield again.

Greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Allen and young son, and the Leader hopes they will visit Littlefield again soon.

Hog Feeding Project At Lon Campbell's Progressing Nicely

The hog feeding project, sponsored by the Purina Mills, installed at the rear of the Lon Campbell Feed Store, which was started about the first of June, is progressing nicely.

Two Poland China pigs were quartered in two modern pens at the Campbell establishment, and are being used as living, grunting examples of proper hog feeding. One pig is being fed Purina Hog Chow, while the other pig is being fed ordinary grain, as usually fed pigs on the farm. The demonstration is being made to prove the increase in the growth of the pig fed the hog chow over that fed ordinary feed. This project will continue for four months.

An accurate check of the weight of each pig is being kept monthly during the next four months, in order to demonstrate the advantage of Purina Hog Chow.

All farmers of this area and others interested in raising hogs are invited to visit this project at the Lon Campbell Feed Store, and see for themselves the progress of the one fed the Hog Chow over the other eating ordinary feed.

In an interview with the man in charge of this project at the Campbell Feed Store this week, he said: "This will be a test to show that by use of the right supplement, the West Texas feed crops will make you a profit in finishing hogs for market. In order to make animals thrive and put on flesh in a shorter time it is necessary to add the proper supplement to the feed we can raise in West Texas."

He also said: "Purina Hog Chow supplementing corn will give the help needed to build big meat racks on which to load the pounds quick and thick. Another thing, in doing this kind of pork-making job with the combination of Purina Hog Chow and corn, corn is worth more on the hoof."

"There's a difference in the price you can get for your corn when you market on the hoof—a difference that can mean almost twice as much for corn. It's the difference between feeding straight corn to hogs and supplementing corn with Purina Hog Chow. Assume that hogs are selling for $8.00 and see how much this difference means in dollars and cents.

"Get more money for corn . . . put more pounds on hogs quick . . . go to market ahead of the runs. This is what many outstanding hog men get when they follow the Purina Plan for Profitable Production."

At the end of the four months both pigs will be weighed, and the weight of each pig posted at the project to demonstrate the value of proper feeding.

Buy Carl's Cafe

The deal was consummated Wednesday whereby Mr. and Mrs. John R. Boren of 3½ miles northwest of Littlefield purchased the equipment and goodwill of Carl's Cafe,
and are taking possession this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Boren have been making their home on the Clayton Hulse farm for the past nine years.

In an interview with Mrs. Boren Wednesday she stated that they would endeavor to give the same good service that had been enjoyed with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Simons as operators. Two cooks will be maintained, and every possible effort made to render good food and service. Their daughter, Mrs. V. B.
Thomas, will serve as a waitress.

Mr. and Mrs. Simons said Wednesday that they had made no plans at present, but that they planned to rest.

Moving Of Cotton
From Farms To Be
Topic Of Meeting

Mark McGee, state director, Office of Price Administration, has called a South Plains wide farm tire meeting in Lubbock for Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 8, at 1:30 o'clock, to consider ways and means of moving this year's cotton crop
from the farms to the gins.

Mr. McGee will, personally, be in charge of the meeting and will have with him the heads of the departments dealing directly with tire allocation and rationing.

All members of county rationing boards, representative farmers from every school district and voting precinct on the South Plains, editors, bankers, county farm agent, Chamber of Commerce officials, County Judges, Mayors, and others, are being urged to attend this meeting.

The moving of the South Plains cotton crop from the farms to the gins this year is the greatest problem that has ever confronted the people of the South Plains. A survey shows that a large percentage of the trailers and trucks to be used in hauling cotton from the farms to the gins are without tires. It is a definitely established fact that tires for all these trailers and trucks cannot possibly be obtained.

The purpose of the September 8 meeting is to advise farmers and others interested (and everyone is interested) of the actual situation regarding tires and to try to work out ways and means to get the cotton crop to the gins.

By Cattle Club

J. C. McClarney of Amherst was awarded one of the 1000 registered bulls which the American Jersey Cattle Club gave to dairymen of the United States during the month of August, according to V. F. Jones, local county agent.

Only 67 of the 1000 bulls were awarded in Texas. These bulls were given to leading dairymen in various counties of the state as a part of the association's Victory program and the bulls are known as Victory bulls.

Jones states that Lamb County is fortunate to have had a winner in this contest and that the dairy industry in our county will be benefited by the introduction of a high bred bull.

Anton Man Lost Ten Days In Tropic Jungle

PVT. JESSE H. LEWIS

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Lewis of Anton received word recently that their son, Jesse Lewis, of the U. S. Air Corps, was saved and well after spending ten days in the jungles of Brazil.

The B-24 bomber on which he was bound from Florida to somewhere in Africa was forced down from its path by a storm in the jungles of Brazil. The crew struck out in search of civilization. After traveling eight days on creeks and small streams, they came to a river and after following the stream for two days they found themselves foodless and almost in despair when through the darkness they heard a steamer. Jesse Lewis thought of his cigaret lighter and began blinking it, with the result that they were taken aboard and landed at an Army Air Base. This steamer only made one trip a month.

Pvt. Jesse Lewis, a graduate of Anton High School, was a resident of that community practically all his life. After his graduation he entered Tech. While in his sophomore year he enlisted in the Air Corps as radio student, going to Scott Field, Ill., where he got his primary training. Then he went to Tyndall Field in Florida, where he received his training in gunnery.

A long story of their plight in the jungles was published in Army Magazine, "The Yank." The story which is full of interest was written by an eye witness.

YOU'RE RIGHT tootin'

Says William Allen White
"The Sage of Emporia"
about America's Railroads

"You ask me whether I think the American railroads are doing their jobs in this grave crisis. Well, I would say, you're right tootin', they are and tootin' is the word!

"I live six city blocks north of the Santa Fe main lines. All trains between Chicago and Galveston, between Chicago and Los Angeles and San Diego east or west, go right by my door and you should hear them toot. Try to sleep with your south windows open on a summer night and you will certainly hear them toot . . .

"It's a continuous procession of swift passenger trains laden with soldiers and long grumbling, rumbling freight trains often with two engines and all night they sound like some cosmic rooster crowing to spell the dawn of the day of doom for America's enemies.

"No other service in the United States is doing such a swell job as the American railroads. They were ready for it. When the warning came in '39 after we repealed the embargo clause of the Neutrality Law, the railroads knew what was coming. They are now equipped with cars and with rails. Their roundhouses are full but not clogged. They keep the wheels moving.

"The American capacity for organization under crisis never was exemplified so splendidly as the American railroads have proved their worth and excellence. It is a great job well done. It is a sort of thing that Americans do better than anything else. Our hard common sense, our indomitable purpose to achieve, all these are back of our effort. The railroads have done their work without friction with either labor or capital. They have responded to a great emergency with splendid intelligence.

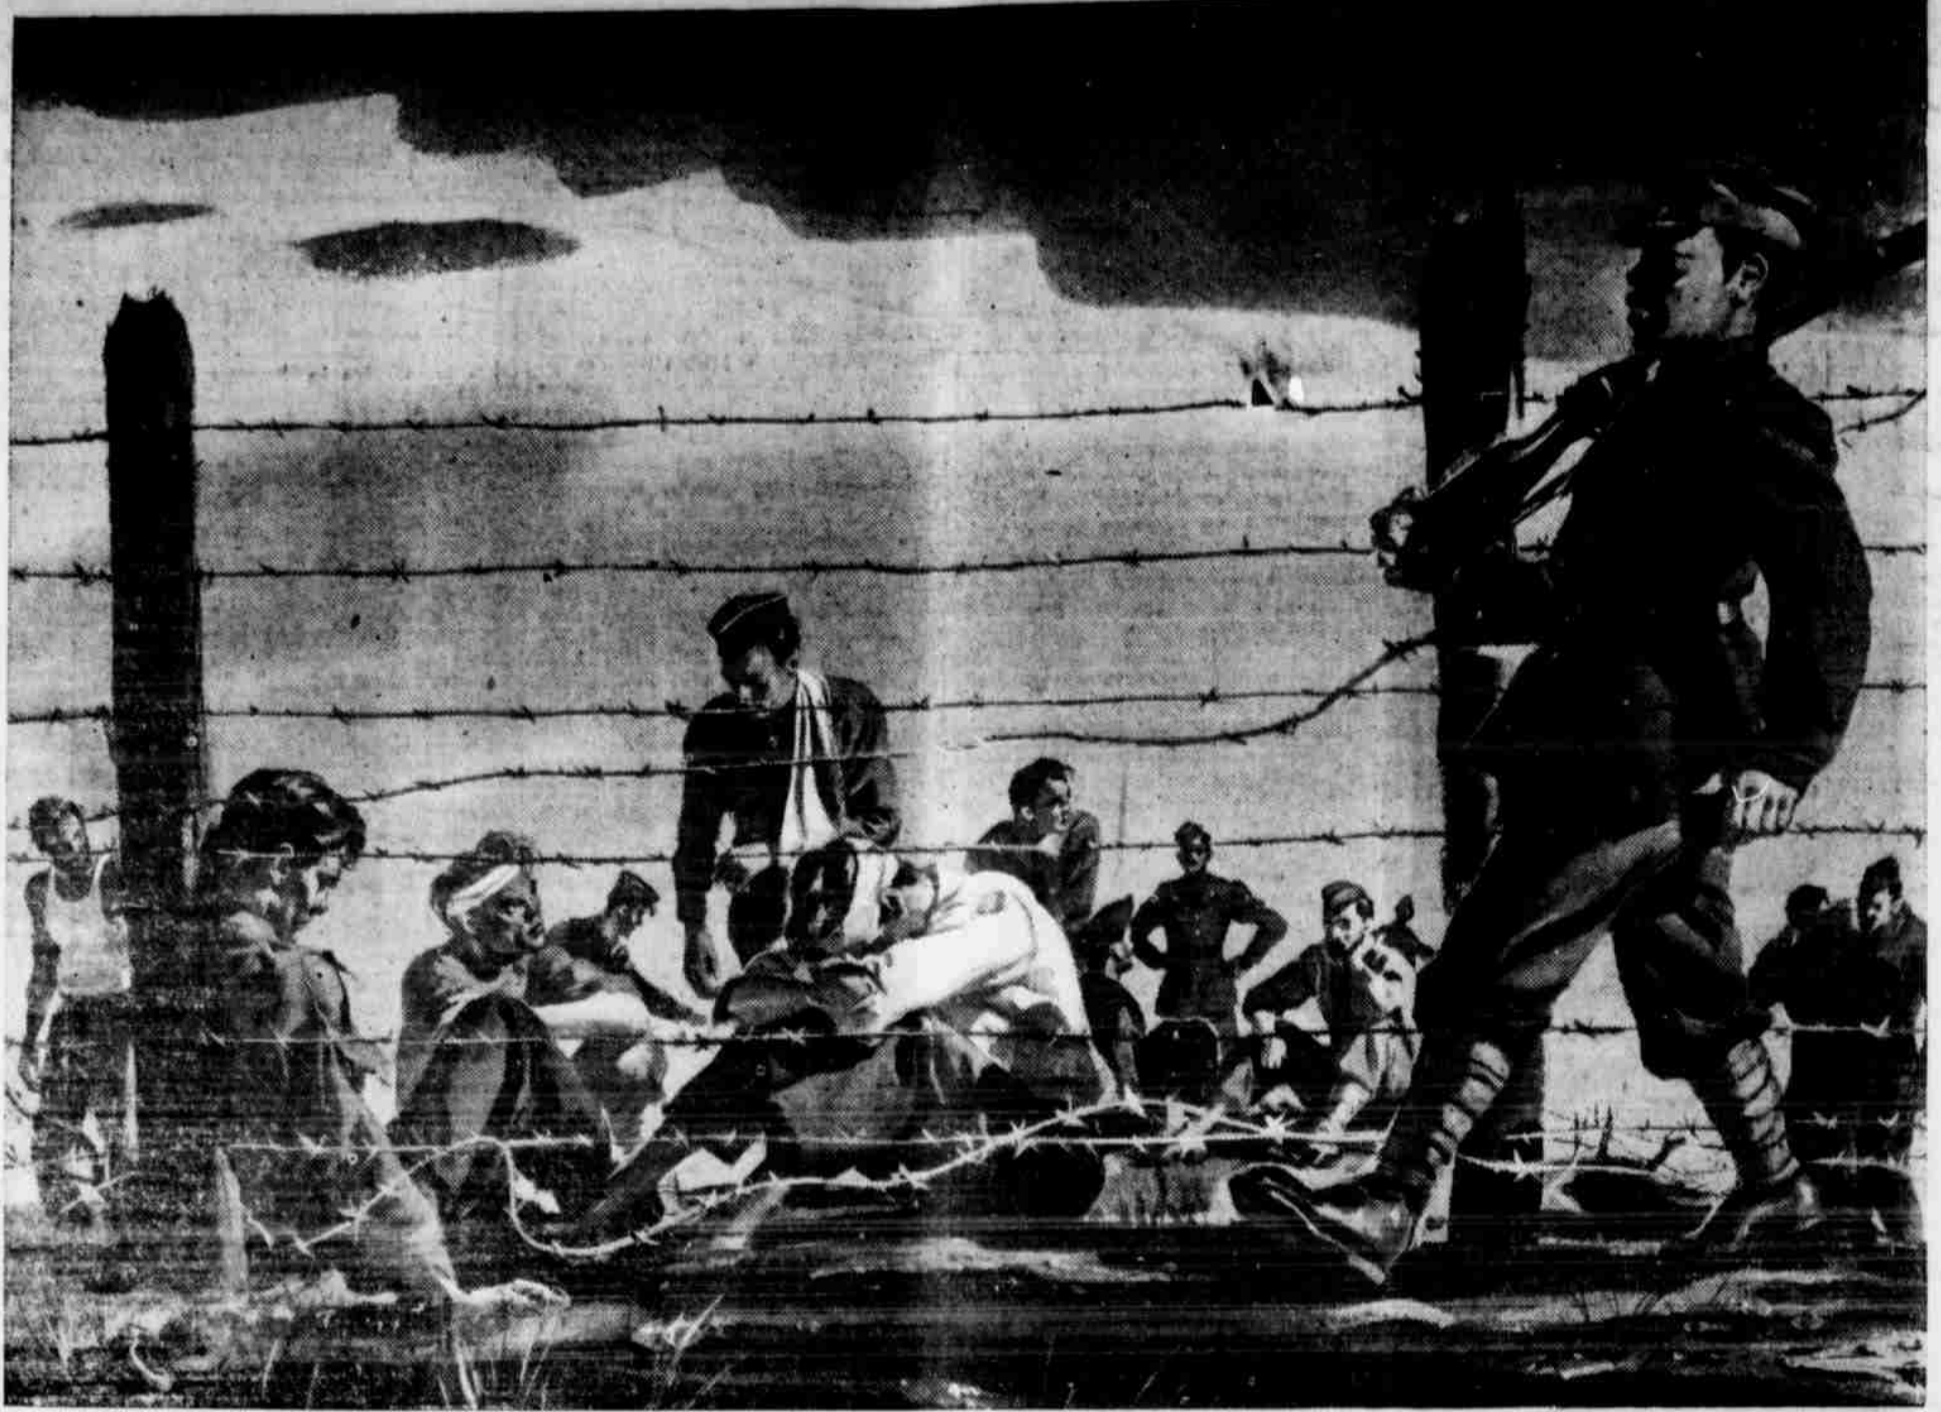

"And are they doing their job? You're just right tootin' they are!"

Let's All Pull Together

Increasingly, under war conditions, the railroads must furnish mass transportation, military and civilian, for the nation. The load is already great—and growing steadily. Military movements come first, without question. You can do much to help us maintain adequate rail service for civilian needs as well, in these ways: When you travel, make your reservations and buy your tickets early; cancel reservations promptly, if necessary; check all personal baggage not actually needed in passenger cars; and spread the travel load by avoiding week-end and holiday rush periods. When you make shipments, order freight cars only to your actual current requirements; load them to capacity; and release them promptly.

AT YOUR SERVICE—Why not talk over your transportation problems with your Santa Fe representative? He'll be glad to help you with practical suggestions.

Sure, it makes you mad!

DO YOU REALIZE that thousands of our good American soldiers are behind barbed wire—with Jap sentries marching up and down outside?

Do you know that American women and children, too, are in Jap concentration camps?

How long do you want them there—and what are you willing to do to get them out?

You can't do it by flag-waving, by slogans, and by cheers.

It takes planes—tanks—guns—bombs—s h e l l s—ships. And these don't grow on trees.

You—and you—and you—must buy these things. Not the Jap way, nor the Nazi way, nor the Fascist way. The American way—gladly. In War Savings Bonds and War Stamps. They are the finest investment in the world—the safest any man, woman or child can make.

War Savings Stamps are sold on a money back guarantee!

War Savings Bonds are sold on a money-back plus interest-on-your-money guarantee! and good interest! When held 10 years, the Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 you save. And if you need the money before

And the sooner you do your part, by backing up our boys, the sooner they will blast the Japs right out of their sandals.

Down will come that barbed wire, and out will come your fellow Americans. Home again—to a free, descent, clean country—the country we all love.

For the past three months, this county has fallen short of the quota set at state headquarters, for the purchasing of War Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The August quota, announced by Pat Boone, chairman of the Lamb County War Bond Committee, totals $54,000, and according to reports, many more people must buy bonds and stamps this week end, to reach that quota.

Although the Dawson Institute may be subject to suspicion, advance reports indicate that there need be no divided opinion as to the merry merits of "The Magnificent Dope." Previewers agree that the film is a topnotch laugh hit. They assert that it affords Henry Fonda his funniest role since "The Lady Eve" and that the part of the irrepressible Dwight Dawson is custom-tailored for dapper Don Ameche. Its the first time they've been together on the screen since Ameche "invented" the phone!

Spring Lake School Opens Monday With Complete Faculty

Supt. H. L. Minor of Spring Lake School was a business visitor at the Leader office Saturday, and stated that registration took place at that school Wednesday and Thursday of last week; that faculty meeting was held Friday; and that the school would open for the fall term Monday, August 24, with a complete staff of 20 teachers.

The following new teachers have taken their places on the faculty: Mrs. Mae Pever of Eldorado, Okla., as high school principal; Miss Bernice Butch of Sayre, Okla., mathematics; Miss Emma Dell Weatherly, of Norman, Okla., commercial; Miss Pauline Jones of Lubbock, history in High School; Miss Maxine Barnett, primary; Mrs. W. H. Morgan, of Sunnyside, Castro county, primary; and Mrs. F. B. Griffiths, primary. Miss Mildred Haley will substitute in the Fifth Grade.

Other teachers returning from last year are: in grade school—J. J. Davis, principal; Mrs. H. L. Minor, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wood, Mrs. J. J. Davis, Mrs. Gladys McCord, Mrs. Gladys Parish; in high school—J. L. Hicks and Miss Carolyn Dixon. Miss Velma Dean Jaquess has been transferred from grade school to high school, and will handle English and the library.

Supt. Minor stated that the Spring Lake School Board did not plan to employ a coach this year, and would participate in competitive sports only in a limited way.

About 130 are expected to enroll in high school; with between 350 and 400 in the grades; and from 60 to 70 in the primary, according to Supt. Minor.

COWBOY BAND GETS FAMED CIRCUS LEADER

Abilene.—Merle Evans, for a quarter of a century director of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey show band, moved on July 20 from the big top to the corral to become the new director of the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band.

A nationally known conductor, Evans came to H-SMU from Philadelphia to succeed Marion B. McClure, director of the Cowboy Band since 1934, who recently volunteered as an officer candidate, and is now taking preparatory basic training at Camp Wolters.

A musical trouper since he was 15, Evans, now 49, has been director of the Ringling band since 1918.

Wallace Beery, Marjorie Main Riot In Old West Melodrama Coming To Palace This Week End

Wallace Beery and Marjorie Main, one of the screen's most comical teams, again appear in Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer's "Jackass Mail," opening at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight and continuing through Sunday and Monday.

The film is replete with action, comedy and drama typical of Beery. The comedy moments are chiefly derived from Beery's blundering attempts to woo Miss Main, who plays the owner of a frontier dance hall. She is also the driver of the "Jackass Mail," which frequently carries large shipments of gold. Whether the gold or Miss Main is the object of Beery's affections is a moot question.

Through a series of events, Beery, playing "Just" Baggot, a good-hearted bad man, becomes the town hero. He saves the stage from a hold-up, kills the local bad man and brings the first train to Gold Creek. In honor of him, the citizens change the name of the town to Baggot City.

A notable dramatic performance is that of 10-year-old Darryl Hickman, who portrays the son of the outlaw whom Beery slays. Several of his scenes with Beery are reminiscent of scenes from "The Champ" with Jackie Cooper and Beery.

J. Carrol Naish as a Mexican bartender called O'Sullivan, provides many comic moments.

Due to Norman McLeod's direction, the fast pace of the action is never allowed to slacken. The comedy moments are handled lightly and amusingly.
