Colorful Parade Will Formally Open Littlefield Rodeo Thursday

"Cheyenne Frontier Days." It was originally sponsored and largely financed by the Union Pacific Railroad, before the days of automobile, a half century ago, when all visitors (or almost all) came in by railroad and they organized and ran dozens of mammoth excursion trains from all sections of the West and brought visitors by the thousands, to increase the population of Wyoming's capitol city then a town of 12,000 or 15,000, to ten times that population size for the big outdoor show.

Where did they sleep, and stay? They didn't sleep, for the most part, because the depot, parks, churches and schools, were entirely inadequate to bed down a crowd of that size.

In fact, Cheyenne during Frontier days, was a city of days and no nights. It always claimed to be the "city of lights," and was able to back up the claim with one basic old original name,

S. J. Farquhar Is Improved

S. J. Farquhar, who was admitted to Littlefield hospital last Saturday, suffering from high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries was able to be taken home Wednesday afternoon. His condition is improved and he may be able to return to his duties as justice of the peace next week, relatives said.

Two Rodeo Queens, to reign over the Littlefield Jaycee Rodeo will be chosen by the judges of the Queen contest to be staged at the Jaycee Rodeo arena Saturday night, which event was originally scheduled for Thursday night and had to be postponed, when rain caused flooding of the arena. It has completely dried out and is in readiness for the contest.

The Senior Queen to rule over Rodeo land three days of next week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday is, of course, the coveted spot and Gent Williams, chairman announced that there are already numerous applicants and further that there will undoubtedly be more, as entry can be made any time before the contest opens.

Farm to Market Road Program Is Salvaged As Compromise Reached

LINE TAX HIKE DROPPED COLD, TAX OUT

Briscoe To Market Farm Retained

Compromise tax bill was finalized by the legislature last afternoon and although the bill was not enacted, it was saved by the County Commissioners organization and can almost be considered a victory, as the $15,000 Briscoe Farm to Market program was approved in the committee.

The line tax hike was also dropped and the forward creep in state sales to be levied on citizens also went out.

HEAVY STORM DAMAGE AT CHISHOLM'S FLORAL, BUT BUSINESS AS USUAL

Work is underway at the Chisholm Floral in the clearing away of the debris caused in the recent hailstorm, and it is hoped to have the greenhouse back into shape in about a month, according to J. E. Chisholm, Jr., owner and operator.

Between eight and nine thousand square feet of glass in the greenhouse was broken, causing complete loss of all the growing flowers and plants.

About 7000 Carnation Plants, 15,000 Gladioli and 250 Dahlias were completely destroyed and all the young nursery stock at the Chisholm Nursery on Highway 51.

Business is being carried on as usual at the Chisholm Floral, with all flowers being purchased out of town for the present.

Funeral For Mrs. R. G. Grissom Held at Sudan

Funeral services were held Friday morning at Sudan Methodist Church at 10 a. m. for Mrs. R. M. Grissom, age 76, who passed away at Amherst Cooperative Hospital, where she had been a patient for 30 days. The pastor, Rev. U. R. Sherrill officiated and interment was in Sudan Cemetery. Hammons Funeral Home were in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Grissom was born April 16, 1875, at Calsis, Alabama. She came to Texas when she married in 1896 and she and her husband lived at Groesbeck, Texas, before moving to Sudan in 1936. Mr. Grissom preceded his wife in death, having passed away March 13.

A public installation of officers of Littlefield Chapter, O. E. S. of the Eastern Star was held Thursday night at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the new Educational Building of the First Baptist Church, with Mrs. Pat Boone, associate Grand Conductress acting as Grand Installing Officer.

Seventeen of the eighteen officers were installed. Mrs. Pearl Brandon, marshal, was unable to be present for the ceremony.

The improvised chapter room was beautifully decorated, carrying out a color scheme of red and silver—the worthy matrons chosen colors for the year. Candelabra Lubbock, grand installing marshal's and chaplain's station, tied with the bows of red and silver ribbon and a huge basket of red and white gladioli placed in front of the worthy matrons station formed the decorations for the occasion.

Other grand installing officers included Mrs. Pauline Smith of Lubbock, grand installing marshal, Mrs. Blanche Dodgen, grand installing secretary, Mrs. Emma Ruth Bellomy, grand installing chaplain, Mrs. Lorraine Hopping, grand installing organist and Pat H. Boone, grand installing treasurer.

Mrs. W. J. Aldridge presided at the register, the members and guests registering in a beautiful hand painted book, the work of Mrs. G. B. Stewart of Fieldton.

The program presented was as follows: Prelude, by Mrs. Loreno Hulse, introduction of the presiding officers, by Mrs. Marye Sales and Johnny Miller. Flag bearers were three local service men. Candles were lighted by Mrs. Irma Reeves and Mrs. Leonore Rumbach, followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. Grace Findley. Little Jim Nelson and Carol Bellomy presented the Bible at the altar. Those acting as assistant marshalls were Mrs. Elizabeth Nelson and Misses

House Approves Driver Responsibility Bill; Sent to Governor For Approval

A bill forcing owners and drivers of cars to provide financial responsibility for accidents in Texas was sent to the governor Thursday.

The measure would require proof of ability to pay up to $15,000 for personal and property damage resulting from an automobile accident.

If the governor approves, the bill will mean many Texas car owners will have to buy more insurance unless they have the cash to protect themselves against damage claims. Such insurance would cost about $30 per year.

Under the measure, drivers would have to show ability to cover $5,000 damages for death or bodily injury to one person, $10,000 for two and $5,000 property damages. House action approving the bill was by approval of Senate amendments, 79 to 4. Similar bills had failed of passage in several past sessions.

Senator W. A. (Son) Shofner of Temple, Senate sponsor of the legislation, said Texas is one of three states without some type of driver responsibility law. Twenty-one states have laws similar to the bill passed by the Texas legislature.

It requires the operator of any motor vehicle involved in an accident causing death or injury of a person or damage in excess of $100 to property of either person to report the accident to the Department of Public Safety within 10 days.

The department must suspend the driver's license and car registration within 60 days if security to cover the damage is not deposited.

Adjusters Are Finding Hundreds of Roofs Damaged By Recent Hail

Insurance adjusters in Littlefield Thursday set up offices in the streets from Hewitt to 4th street, next door to law offices.

The chief adjuster estimated that the crew will be engaged in the task here for the next two or three weeks, possibly longer. It reminds old-timers of a similar influx of adjusters who didn't finish the job here in even three months, following the devastating hail storm which struck Littlefield 16 years ago, in May of 1935. In that storm, hardly a roof in town escaped damage.

Most insurance policies in effect at that time paid damage from the first dollar of damage, while practically all present-day hail insurance policies, carry a $100 deductible clause. If damage does not reach $100 there is no insurance liability. One insurance agent said that those who have suffered damage, should check their policies and if they are of the $100 deductible variety and damage is less than that amount, there is little purpose for them to contact the adjusters and it only consumes time needlessly.

Another local insurance agent stated yesterday that it appeared that damage to roofs and houses was much heavier in the south part of town than elsewhere. Dozens of new roofs in the Duggan addition and surrounding area were heavily damaged, both of the shingle and other types. Composition roofs took a severe beating in some instances. Some householders reported water damage after windows were blown out, or roofs

A Fight for Cotton

Who will get your cotton in 1951—the soldier on the battlefield in Korea or the boll weevil in your cottonfield? That's something for cotton farmers to think about.

The government is calling for production of 16 million bales of cotton in 1951—fiber that is vitally needed by our armed forces and to supply civilian demand.

The Department of Agriculture reports a 19 per cent reduction from full yield of cotton in Texas in 1950 due to insect damage.

Basing its figures on the USDA report, the National Cotton Council points out that this amounted to 948,712 bales of cotton. This is an average of 5.5 bales per Texas cotton farm.

A fight is shaping up for the 1951 season—the farmer seeking to produce more bales and the boll weevil and other cotton bandits conspiring to sabotage his effort.

On the farmer's side are modern insecticides and the insect control recommendations for his state. He has the strongest artillery if he will direct his fire efficiently. A victory over cotton pests will mean more money for cotton producers. It will mean more cotton for their sons who are fighting for freedom.

You and Your Congress

The Senate lacks a separate committee to deal with a billion-dollar subject—veterans' affairs.

That situation may be corrected.

The veterans' organizations hope so.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) and 35 colleagues of both parties are sponsoring S. Res. 148 to establish a permanent Committee on Veterans' Affairs. It would be effective with the next—83rd Congress.

Since the first World War, the Finance Committee has handled most veterans' legislation in the Senate. Bills dealing with hospitals and education for veterans usually go to the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

The idea of a separate Senate committee to handle legislation for veterans is not new. The veterans' organizations have been urging it for years.

They point hopefully this year to the facts that, first, 36 Senators are behind the idea—with still others expected to back it—and, second, that members of both Finance and Labor are among the 36.

The Sponsors of S. Res. 148 include Chairman Murray (D-Mont.) and members Morse (R-Ore.) and Nixon (R-Calif.) of Labor, and Martin (R-Pa.) and Butler (R-Neb.) of Finance.

The head legislative representative of one veterans' organization feels S. Res. 148 has a 50-50 chance and says its fate will depend upon "How hard Senator George opposes it." George (D-Ga.) is chairman of Finance. He is well liked and respected and, this legislative representative feels, even some of his colleagues who favor a separate veterans' affairs committee will back down if George insists.

It is the habit of committees in the Senate and House, to guard their jurisdiction jealously.

S. Res. 148 is in the Senate Rules and Administration Committee and probably will be assigned to a sub-committee some time next month for study, according to the staff. A staff member says there is no indication at present as to when there might be final committee action on the bill.

The veterans organizations have a lot of arguments ready for the subcommittee as to why such a committee is needed.

Veterans' affairs comprise the third largest appropriation item in the federal budget—will amount roughly to $4 billion for the fiscal year 1952. Only defense and foreign aid take precedence.

"It certainly would be to the interest of the taxpayers to have a permanent committee, with staff experts, to check on expenditures of that amount," one veterans' organization officer said in discussing the matter.

The Finance Committee has no full-time experts on veterans' affairs. The Veterans Administration has one liaison man assigned to the Senate Finance and Labor committees.

Those two committees usually are so busy with other matters, it is said, that they haven't time for more important veterans' bills.

During the last—81st—Congress, about 200 veterans' bills were introduced—mostly in the House, because it does have a permanent Veterans' Affairs Committee. Of the lot, the House passed 20 which the veterans' organizations considered important. The Senate did not act on a single one of these.

The Joint Committee for the Reorganization of Congress in 1946 recommended that a separate Senate Committee on Veterans' Affairs be established. The thought was that this would reduce the workload of the Labor and, particularly, Finance committees.

AROUND THE CAPITOL

Federal Judge Ewing Thomason of El Paso and Mrs. Thomason have been honor guest at a number of receptions here during the past week on their first visit to Washington since he went on the bench about four years ago.

One of the most popular men to serve in Congress from Texas, Thomason showed he still can give with a quick answer when the occasion demands.

Newsman who had covered the House Military Affairs Committee when Thomason was the No. 2 man and the chairman was Kentucky's Andrew J. May, noted in jest that the two top men left Congress about the same time to go to work for the Government. (May went to the penitentiary in a war contract fraud case.)

"Yey," smilingly answered the jurist, "but we work in different kinds of buildings."

When Air Force Captain James Jabara arrived here from Korea soon after becoming the first jet air ace, he was met at the airport by a large group of reporters.

Asked what his plans were, the Kansan replied that as soon as his Pentagon bosses would let him, he was heading for Texas—to get his wife and children. They've been living at her home in McKinney while he was at war.

Dr. J. A. Hill, president Emeritus of West Texas State College in Canyon, strongly disagrees with the Selective Service system of deferring students from the draft on the basis of intelligence tests.

Expressing his views in an article placed in the Congressional Record by Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa, Dr. Hill said the examination procedure will overlook "an emotional quotient, an E. Q. that is equally important."

"When the government tells a boy, after some kind of examination or test, that he has been selected to go to Korea instead of college what will be the effect upon his personality?" asks the veteran educator.

"Here is a youth 18, 19, or 20 years of age—still in the formative stage of life—not having yet come to himself—perhaps lacking in earlier opportunity—still wrestling from the control of his physical appetites—but having vast resources, unknown even to himself and undiscoverable through any known instrumentality (and there are millions of such)—to him Uncle Sam steps up, applies a very fallible measuring stick, decides he is just medium or less in intelligence, taboos him accordingly, and sends him off to be shot at.

"What will be that boy's mental and moral reaction to such treatment? Either he will accept the government's evaluation of himself, or he will resent the animus of his se-

President Signs Bill to Permit Infant Of Jap-American Blood to Enter U. S.

A two-year-old orphan girl of Japanese-American blood soon will be able to come to America with her adopted parents. Air Force Sergeant E. H. Shelton, Jr. of Palestine, Texas, and Mrs. Shelton.

The East Texas Airman and his wife, living in Japan for three years, fell in love with the little orphan whose American father is unknown. They formally applied to adopt her and bring her to the United States, but learned that because she is half Japanese she is excluded under the immigration laws.

So they wrote Rep. Tom Pickett of Palestine of their problem. He introduced a bill on January 9 and asked prompt consideration because Sergeant Shelton was expecting to be transferred from Japan.

With unusual speed, House and Senate committees approved the measure. Last week President Truman signed the Pickett bill exempting Jacquelyn from terms of the Immigration Act of 1924.

Sergeant Shelton and his wife, the former Elizabeth Durham of Palestine, submitted to the congressional committee numerous references from prominent East Texans.

The sergeant's father was the late Emmett Hank Shelton, one-time county judge of Anderson county and owner of a cotton gin and other properties in Palestine.

Moby Dick's Slayer Recalls Whaling Days

quored the only great white whale ever known outside the pages of Herman Melville's "Moby Dick." William H. Tripp, curator of the Old Dartmouth Historical Society and Whaling Museum, Johnnycake Hill, New Bedford, an authority on whaling history, says there are no other records in the museum of the capture of a giant white whale. Whalersmen say the tendency towards whiteness in a whale increases with age. Smalley made his first voyage as a youth of 15 in 1892. After a four-year "trip" in pursuit of sperm whales he returned with only $14 as his 1/50th share or "lay" of the unprofitable voyage.

age with rough scarred blubber. It should have "tried out" to 110 barrels of oil but made only 85 due to its age.

Smalley feels certain that only the bomb harpoon saved the whalemen that day from part of the fate of Captain Ahab's crew in "Moby Dick." In that great sea story the murderous Moby Dick turned on the whaleship itself, the Pequod, and slew her entire crew except for one man, Ishmael, the bow gunnman.

The Platina returned to New Bedford September 11, 1903. News of her famous catch preceded her into port spread by crews of whaleships that had "gammed" with her at sea and returned earlier.

A few months ashore and Smalley sailed again. This trip came in the twilight of New Bedford's whaling history and it was Smalley's last voyage.

Smalley sailed again, on the bark Platina an worked up to the dangerous position of "harpooner" or "boat steerer." Several times Smalley's 30-foot whaleboat was swamped by the death throes of a bull sperm whale. Like many old time whalers, Smalley never learned to swim "but there was always an oar or part of the boat to grab," he recalls.

Once Smalley killed a giant sperm as it charged jaws agape to crush its tormentors.

Although most whales sounded to the depths when he hurled the "iron" hard and fast some whales roared off on the famous "Nantucket Sleigh Ride," towing the slim whaleboat in a wild race.

On July 16, 1901, Smalley sailed again on the Platina and it was on this trip that he conquered Moby Dick.

Below the Azores, Smalley recalls, the Platina had been drifting in several days in an almost listless ocean. About five o'clock—one of the two lookouts, descended for supper leaving a lad, Walter Thompson, alone in the foretopmast.

"Thar she blows, sir!" cried Thompson in a shrill voice that startled the crew on deck. Capt. Thomas McKenzie ordered three boats lowered. The officers and crew of whaleships had heard the tales of a great white sperm whale though few had read Melville's sage based upon these saltwater legends. There are records of five whaleships from Nantucket and New Bedford sunk by maddened whales after they were harpooned from the small boats so whalersmen always regarded any big whale with respect.

Smalley rowed the harpooner's position in the tapering bow of the whaleboat. Smalley recalls they also raised their sails in the light air to help overtake the whale. Soon they stowed the sail and oars and used paddles Indian-fashion to make a silent approach.

The whale was idly splashing about on the almost calm surface of the ocean. At a word from the chief mate steering in the stern Smalley shipped his paddle and took up the long harpoon fitted with a bomb attachment. The whalersmen reserved expensive bombs only for whales likely to be dangerous.

"We waited till skin touched wood," Smalley says.

"Give it to him solid," cried the mate.

The sleney Indian straightened up, braced his right leg on the thwart and hurled his heavy harpoon with bomb attached deep into the hulking white side of the giant. A fraction of a second later he hurled a second harpoon on the same line into the mammal.

Instantly the whale responded to the barbs and bomb. Its great flukes threshed, barely missing Smalley before he had time to duck from his throwing position. The great jaws snapped in fury.

As the four oarsmen strained to backwater from the churning whale Smalley raced to the stern leaping on the rowing thwarts. In the tradition of the whale fishery, the mate gave up his steering oar to Smalley and ran forward to take up the long killance in the bow.

The half-mile-long line fast to the harpoons was whirling into the roller chock in the bow from the coiling tub midships. The great whale was sounding to the ocean depths.

Suddenly the whale stopped, turned, and shot above the surface with vast cascade of water. Smalley estimates 60 feet of the whale or twice the length of the whaleboat was exposed in his mad leap. Seconds later as the other two whaleboats maneuvered for a possible throw at the monster, the bomb harpoon took delayed effect and the great whale shattered and die spouting crimson.

"He finned out," Smalley says, "floating all white in a bloody ocean."

The great whale was soon lashed alongside the Platina beneath the cutting stage. It was a bull 90 feet long and appeared to be of great

Hope "Cappy" Told Him Where To Get Off!

"Cappy" Fisher— who just retired after thirty-five years as a railroad conductor — was telling about a salesman who was often one of his passengers.

"That man was so busy," says Cappy, "he used to bring a dictaphone on the train to catch up on his letters. On one trip he'd been rushing around so much he clean forgot to bring his ticket. Left it on his desk."

When Cappy started to tell him not to worry about the ticket, the salesman busts out with "Who's worried about the ticket? It's just that now I don't know what city I was going to get off at!"

Cappy might have been pulling our leg, but from where I sit, lots of us get so wrapped up in ourselves we often forget "where we're going." Some folks get so narrow they even begrudge their neighbors the right to enjoy a glass of beer now and then. Let's not forget that just as trains run on steam and oil, democracies run on freedom and tolerance!

Home Furnishings Feel Pinch In Building Slowdown

NEW YORK—(AP)—The slowdown in home building under federal restrictions on credit is expected to have an impact on house furnishings and other retail dealers.

Frederick E. Gibson, president of the Long Island Home Builders Institute, reports that surveys show that new home buyers spend an average of $1,450 for furniture, electrical appliances, hardware, draperies, dishes and other household items.

"A total of 64,000 dwellings were built in the four Long Island counties alone last year," he said. "If 1951 production drops 60 per cent, as now indicated, this will mean an expenditure of about $7,000,000 for such accessories instead of the $92,000,000 spent by buyers of 1950 homes."

Pakistan Is Pushing Textiles

KARACHI—(AP)—Pakistan is making rapid strides in the development of her textiles industry. She expects to attain self-sufficiency by 1956 with a target of 1,035,000 spindles.

Under an emergency development plan drawn up late in 1950 to buy 250,000 spindles in two years at a cost of about $22,500,000, the government of Pakistan already has purchased 150,000 spindles—100,000 from the United Kingdom and 50,000 from Japan. A purchasing mission is now in Japan negotiating for the remainder. At present there are only 21 cotton textile mills in Pakistan.

And congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Johnson who are the parents of a daughter Sidney Colleen, who was born to them Friday, May 25, at Littlefield Hospital. The baby weighed 6 lbs and 3 ozs.

pan well. Sift flour, baking soda, LEMON FILLING

Ingredients: 1 cup sugar, 3 table-spoons all-purpose flour, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup water, 1-4 cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 egg (slightly beaten), 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Method: Mix 3-4 cup of the sugar, the flour, and salt together. Add water, lemon juice and lemon rind. Cook over moderate heat or in double boiler, stirring constantly, until thickened. Meanwhile, beat egg and remaining sugar together. Pour the cooked mixture slowly into the egg and sugar while beating with a spoon. Return to saucepan and cook 2 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in butter or margarine. Cool and spread between layers of Simple Wedding Cakke.

FANCY FROSTING

Ingredients: 1 pound (3 1-3 cups) confectioner's sugar, 1-2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 3 egg whites (unbeaten), 1-2 teaspoon lemon flavoring.

Method: Sift sugar and cream of tartar through very fine sieve. Add egg whites. Mix together, using slotted spoon or wire whip. Continue mixing for about 3 minutes. Add flavoring. Spread thin layer over entire cake to set crumbs. Beat remaining frosting about 8 minutes with spoon or 3 to 4 minutes with electric beater at high speed. Fill and frost cake according to directions in recipe. Beat remaining frosting until it is so stiff that a knife, drawn through, leaves a clean-cut path. More sugar may be needed to stiffen it, especially if the day is damp. Use stiff frosting to decorate cake.

BICYCLE BUILT FOR FOUR CALGARY—(AP)—Most people have heard of the "bicycle built for two," immortalized in song since grandfather's day, but not so many have heard of a bicycle built for four.

This relic reposes in the Calgary store of Matt B. Wolhuis, a middle-aged man who has never known many other work except that of building, repairing or racing bicycles.

Matt inherited the bicycle built for four from an old bicycle shop that went out of business years ago. At least eight feet long, it requires some nerve and a determination to pilot it. Four novices riding in git might run into a lot of grief.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

BY TEX EASLEY
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The Burro Club of Capital Hill, organized only last year with John Hardesty of Texas as its president, already has become a Washington institution.

The club, made up of 110 male secretarial employees of democratic Representatives, has built a reputation for lively programs mixing fun with serious business.

The club holds twice-monthly luncheons at which top government executives talk and answer questions. Occasionally the club throws a strictly social affair.

"We have to carry on a lot of business with these officials by telephone," said Hardesty in explaining the purpose of the organization.

"Therefore, we'd like to know them personally, or at least get an idea what they look like. By the time we get through questioning them, we have a lot better picture of the way their particular agencies operate."

Hardesty is an aide of Rep. Omar Burlison of Anson. So many requests come to the average congressman that he must entrust many of them to members of his staff. A large number of the requests involve conversations with important federal officials.

Last week the Burro Club had Dillard Dassetter, head of the farmers Home Administration, as a luncheon guest. In line with the policy of lining up speakers whose departments or divisions are in the forefront of the news, the club scheduled Assistant Secretary of State George McGhee as its next speaker.

Originally from Dallas, McGhee is in charge of the Department's office of near Eastern, South Asian and African affairs. The trouble spot of Iran, with its vast oil reserves, is one of his concerns.

On the lighter side, the Burro club took a cruise about the Washington and Alexandria waterfronts aboard the District of Columbia's big red fireboat.

Hardesty's wife, Eddis Lee, hails from Lueders. They have a son, Johnny, 4.

Schemes to tax only the rich and reduce prices may sound wonderful, says Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, but they just don't hold water.

The congressman gave his views in answering some 50 constituents who sent him a petition protesting soaring living costs and asking "that prices be rolled back to pre-Korean levels."

The petition, one of many said to be in circulation throughout Texas for submission to congressmen, says:

"We also urge that new taxes not be placed on low income families, and suggest that needed revenue be secured from corporations with their record profits and from high income families who are not carrying their share."

Poage replied that "The tendency of the hour is to feel that we can cure any problem by passing a law." In his opinion, he added, the time has come to get at the fundamental cause of inflation—lots of money in circulation and not enough things to buy with it.

He said he favored across-the-board freezes on prices and wages at the outbreak of the Korean war. Since that wasn't done another approach must be tried.

"The simplest and most effective

Social Security Covers Self Employed Persons Making $400 A Year

Old-age and survivors insurance is not optional for self-employed persons John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock Social Security office, pointed out yesterday.

Mr. Hutton said there had been some misunderstanding regarding persons working for themselves in their own trade or business, or as partners in such enterprises.

"If you are self-employed and derive as much as $400 in net profit from your business or business in any taxable year after Dec. 31, 1950, your Social Security coverage is compulsory by law," Mr. Hutton said.

He also pointed out that the only exceptions are income derived from practice as a physician, lawyer, dentist, osteopath, chiropractor, optometrist, naturopath, veterinarian, architect, CPA licensed, registered or full-time practicing public accountant, Christian Science practitioner, professional engineer or funeral director.

Self-employed persons do not report themselves with the employees. This income must be reported annually on income-tax form 1040 Schedule C, especially revised for this purpose. The first such report is due March 15, 1952, covering self-employment income for the taxable year 1951.

Payable along with the report is self-employment Social Security tax. This tax is 2 1/4 per cent of the first $3,600 net business profit. For business partners, the tax is levied on the first $3,600 of the distributive share of the partnership net profits, whether or not the profits are distributed.

Attack on inflation would, it seems to me, be for everyone to work longer at present hourly rates," he continued.

"If we increased the work week by only four hours we would increase production by 10 per cent. The workers would have more money, but there would be more things to purchase."

As to the age-old ideas of soaking the "ahve-gots," Poage said:

"It is a mistake to believe that we can raise the funds simply by additional taxes on corporations or the 'rich.' The total corporate income in the U. S. is only about 20 billion dollars per year less than one-third our governmental expenditures. We now take approximately one-half of this income."

Oil Plant Outgrown 50 Per Cent On Day of Dedication

Elk City, Oklahoma, June 7—Public demand for oil is growing so fast new plants sometimes must be enlarged before completion.

This oil industry axiom was proved anew today. Plans for a 50 per cent expansion of a processing and gas cycling plant operated here by Shell Oil Company were announced during dedication ceremonies for the original plant.

It is estimated that the present plant, widely hailed as a major project in conserving the nation's oil resources will increase the recovery of liquid hydrocarbons by about 25 million barrels. It will also conserve billions of cubic feet of gas by injecting it back into the underground formations.

The present plant has a design capacity of 100 million cubic feet of gas daily. Application has been made to the Petroleum Administration for Defense in Washington for permission to construct new facilities to handle an additional 50 million cubic feet of gas per day. The proposed expansion also includes new compressor facilities to inspect 60 million more cubic feet of gas daily back into the Elk City field. This will make a total of 135 million cubic feet of gas returned each day to the producing formation.

Announcement of the new plans was made by Ira H. Cram, vice president, Continental Oil Company, Houston, one of the speakers at today's dedication, ceremonies. Earl Foster, executive secretary of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, was the other principal speaker. W. A. Alexander, area manager for Shell Oil Company at Tulsa, was master of ceremonies.

The first large project of its type in Oklahoma, the new plant is owned by the Elk City Unit, consisting of 9 oil companies, and handles both oil and gas produced from 106 forty-acre tracts in the Unit area. After separating crude oil from gas, the plant extracts propane, butane and natural gasoline from the gas, and then returns the remaining gas to the producing formation, where it maintains pressures and assists in driving more oil and gas to the surface.

Federal officials have said they are doing all they can to promote the development of similar projects in other oil and gas producing areas.

In contrast to the boom-and-bust development of so many old oil towns, Elk City has enjoyed a steady, healthy growth. Speakers today declared this was true largely, because, under unitization, the field's development has been planned for steady production over a long period. During the first year of the boom, retail sales climbed about one million dollars above figures for the previous year. Since the oil strike, more than 500 new residential homes have been built in Elk City.

Earl Foster, who delivered one of the main addresses, said that the Elk City unitization program will also greatly benefit the State of Oklahoma, which depends on oil and gas production for a large part of its revenue.

Companies participating with Shell in the Elk City Unit are E. Constantin, Jr., Continental Oil Company, J. M. Huber Corporation, Superior Oil Company, Tide Water Associated Oil Company, Union Producing Company, United Carbon Company, Inc., and Wilcox Oil Company.

Parathion Users Are Warned Against Personal Contact With Insecticide

A new insecticide highly effective for insects not only for insects but for man and animals has been made available commercially.

Chemicals Effectively Kills Dreaded Johnson Grass

AMARILLO, Tex., June 18—(AP)—The Texas agricultural experiment station here has proven that chemicals can effectively kill that scourge of the farm—Johnson grass.

But three experiment stations—Texas A. and M. experts admit that chemical eradication of the grass is too expensive at this stage of development to allow its use on entire fields.

But the chemicals do have important uses in places where you can't easily or efficiently reach the grass with plows or other mechanical means.

The grass shouldn't be allowed to grow uncontrolled, the experts point out, for plants along fences and in roadside ditches can badly infect clean fields.

The report was prepared by R. H. Hamilton, assistant agronomist of the Amarillo conservation experiment station; C. J. Whitfield, superintendent of the station and H. E. Rea, associate professor of agronomy at Texas A. and M. College.

The experiments were conducted in roadside ditches about one mile north of Bushland in Potter county.

The researchers reported up to 100 per cent kill resulted from use of sodium trichloroacetate (TCA) and jolyboro-chlorate (P-C). Sixty to 90 per cent of the old Johnson grass plants treated with P-C in October, 1949, were dead the next June 15. Plots receiving these treatments did not become reinfested with seedlings until August, 1950.

Ninety-five to 100 per cent of the old plants were dead by August, 1950, on the plots treated with TCA the previous June. These plots later became reinfested.

Rainfall has considerable effect on the amount of kill and the length of time the ground remained sterile. Rainfall is needed to send the chemicals down to the plant roots, but rain also favors growing of seedlings.

Since the program got under way last summer, more than 2,600 counties or parts of counties in the United States have been designated as eligible for direct loans. An estimated 5,000,000 World War II veterans live in these designated areas.

As of May 10, about $90,000,000 of the $150,000,000 authorized for the program had been disbursed or reserved under pending applications for direct loans to veterans.

It is known under the name "Parathion" and has been found to be highly effective for certain uses.

It is extremely high and would be desirable if it were restricted to a few people who could make a business of applying it and educate themselves so as to insure maximum safety. In a number of other cases, however, there are no laws which restrict use of such restricted use pesticides, a brief statement is being offered.

In the pure state it is a colorless liquid with a high boiling point and a peculiar odor. It is slightly soluble in water, but is very soluble in alcohol, and certain other similar solvents.

Under factory conditions it is usually mixed with a powder such as bentonite as a carrier. It appears on the market as a white powder which has absorbed the dust.

The dust, as a result of being inhaled, may result in a severe allergic reaction, or by absorption through the skin. The latter may result in a severe allergic reaction, or by absorption through the skin. The latter may result in a severe allergic reaction, or by absorption through the skin.

VA Home Program To End On June 30

War II veterans planning for direct home and farm loans from the Veterans Administration should be reminded by the VA that the Direct Loan Program ends on June 30, 1951.

It would scarcely be in most instances to be obtained before the June 30 that are received by regional offices after June 30.

The Act of 1950 authorized direct loans up to four per cent interest for War II veterans with VA stipulated that VA was to make direct loans in those areas where the GI Loans were not available from private lenders. The law required VA to designate areas as eligible for direct

Farm Market

Commissioners organization, joined L. W. Gardner of Itasca, vice president of the same organization in the issuance of a statement, after announcement of the compromise, on the omnibus tax bill, which has held the legislature in deadlocked overtime.

While the two officers had hoped for more, they considered the compromise as a victory for their organization and the fight which they have made for the rural sections of Texas and the continued progress of rural road building.

"It accomplishes all the county judges and commissioners hoped to accomplish when we were forced to defend the rural roads program from the attack begun on it by the administration—supported Graham bill," they said.

Four things were accomplished by a "courageous majority of the Legislature," they said:

"1. The rural road bloc in the Legislature defeated the efforts of the administration and the so-called Good Roads Association which, in our opinion, would have crippled our farm-to-market road program through passage of the Graham bill.

"2. The Colson-Briscoe farm-to-market program had been retained at the full amount of $15,000,000 a year, despite the open proposal of the administration that it be abolished.

"3. The Principle of the gas gathering tax on the pipelines which are taking gas out of Texas has been established, through the acceptance of the tax plan proposed by Rep. Jim Sewell.

"4. The trend toward a general sales tax has been stopped by the defeat of the administration plan for an increase in the gasoline sales tax, another of the "creep-which lasted longer, was more severe and piled up hallstones to completely cover the ground in spots and some of the hall remaining on the ground after daylight, six or seven hours later.

As the work progresses here, additional clerical and stenographic help will be needed and added, Mr. Webb stated.

He would make no estimate of the amount of damage, but was optimistic that the adjusters could complete their work here in a three or four week period.

Funeral

Surviving are two sons, L. C. Grissom, Littlefield and Walter Grissom of Fort Worth. Two grandchildren, Mrs. Minnie Kate Jones and Landon Grissom both of Littlefield survive and three great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Grissom had made her home here in Littlefield with her son, L. C. Grissom and family, the past two years. She was of a loving disposition and leaves a large number of friends to mourn her passing. During her younger days, she was active in church work in the Methodist Church at Sudan and was a member of that church when she passed away.

Those from out of town who were here for the funeral services were Mrs. L. C. Grissom's two sisters, Mrs. L. E. Gandy and Mrs. R. M. Carpenter both of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jones, of Colorado City, mother and father-in-law of Mrs. Minnie Kate Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ragan of Graham.

ing sales taxes."

These things were accomplished, Dent and Gardner said, "despite the opposition of the governor, simply from committees stacked by the lieutenant governor and speaker of the House and bring them to the floor where Democracy could rule."

Rodeo and lead in the parade and will be accorded homage and honor by the thousands expected for the rodeo.

In addition to the Queen contests at the rodeo grounds Saturday night, their will be a program of goat roping and other western type sports vents, for the entertainment of the crowd.

Meanwhile, committees are working and plans are being converted into actualities, at a full-time, fast pace preparatory to the opening Rodeo parade next Thursday evening and the opening dance Thursday night and the formal start of the three-day rodeo itself which runs the last three days of next week.

If unlooked for bad weather does not interfere, Jaycee members who sponsor the show, are optimistic that this 6th annual show, will better its five predecessors in quality and that past attendance records will be shattered.

Despite the fact that this is going to be a top-notch bang-up rodeo event, the committee has definitely announced that there will be no admission charge—it's a free gate Saturday night and everyone invited.

fact—it was the first city in the entire United States to be lighted by electricity and in a blaze of artificial light, thrown away the keys to its countless saloons—and put them on a 24-hour shift basis.

RODEO, as the word is found in Webster's dictionary is three things—(a) A Going Round—(b) A round-up as of cattle on a range—(c) A public performance representing features of cowboy life.

And the Littlefield rodeo is going to be a combination of all three of those definitions—we're going to have the round-up of the wildest bunch of wild steers and calves ever imported into West Texas; we're going to have a public performance featuring cowboy life, that is going to put to shame, all of the exhibitions of a few years back.

No expense has been nor is being spared, to make this a big show. Entertainment and entertainers, the best riding and roping talent and the wildest riding and roping stock have been engaged almost without regard to expense.

The opening parade is going to be a parade event and the number and beauty of the floats, that will be entered and vie for prize awards is tops for West Texas.

The best dance band in Texas. The Light Crust Doughboys will be on hand for the dancing both round and square the first two nights and another famous name band will be here for the closing dance Saturday night.

The official program has gone to press and is subject to last minute changes, will be carried out, as nearly as possible according to the letter of the program.

The rodeo officially opens with the parade, sponsored by Lamb County, leaving the posse, at 5:30 Thursday afternoon. It will form at the Court House starting at 4:30. It is still not too late to enter a float and there will be three valuable cash awards to the winners. From there on out it's everybody's Rodeo—and you're invited—you'll be welcome—and you're promised a good show and a good time.
