Mrs. Anderson Honored With Bridal Shower

EARTH — Mrs. Johnny Anderson, recent bride, was honored with a come-and-go shower from 3 to 5 p. m. Saturday in the home of Mrs. B. L. Galloway.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Billy Robnett seated at a table decorated with miniature, white wedding bells.

White wedding bells were also used to accent the centerpiece on the serving table. Mixed with pink roses, they encircled a glass bowl filled with angel hair which formed a cloud. Floating in the cloud was a miniature bride and groom.

The table cloth was pink with matching napkins printed in gold. "Judy and Johnny" Silver tea service was used. The individual, white cake squares were topped with a pink rose. As the party was in session, recorded music was played in the background.

The honoree, her mother, Mrs. Leo Park and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ervin Anderson, were presented corsages of white carnations.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Galloway were Mrs. Floyd Houston, Mrs. Pete Parish, Mrs. Neal Webb, Mrs. H. W. Kendrick, Mrs. J. D. Newton, Mrs. Dutch Been, Mrs. Buddy Adrian, Mrs. Paul Wood and Mrs. Marvin Ellis.

Assisting the hostesses with hospitalities were Betty Cody, Bobbi Cunningham, Joanie Murrell, Floydell Crawford, and Mrs. Billy Robnett.

One subject never grows old: how foolishly other people economize.

At a bride's luncheon the other day, a visitor told of a town where everyone tricked the light company "just to save about $1.50 a month." She then commented that some women who spend like mad "will actually save bows and gift paper from packages to use again." Soon half the women present admitted they did this; two of the better-heeled ones said they also saved twine. They recalled their childhood when used twine was wound onto a spool and kept as a kitchen necessity.

We know a woman who works her heart out making pretties from discarded tin can lids, scraps of wool and velvet. She saves old jars, too. Expensive materials — plus hours of precious eye and hand work — are then put with these things to be given away.

We heard a secretary say recently she had just spent six dollars replacing a cracked kitchen window, went by her boss's home to borrow a key, and noticed the same patched-up hole in the front screen that had been there for eight years. Yet by her standards, he was a wealthy man.

It's true that some folks fall in love with money and save for the fun of not spending, enjoying the frugal life thus imposed upon them. Others have admitted weaknesses that cost too much: clothes, cars, motor boats, air travel. They have to cut other corners to compensate.

As long as husband and wife or family, agree on spending

Winners were: North - South, first, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Howard; in a tie for second and third, Mrs. Allan Hodges and Mrs. Herman Barnett and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Coggin, Lubbock.

East - West; first, Alvin Webb and Glenn Gatewood, Sudan; second, Mrs. Rhenard McCarty and Mrs. L. F. Marquam, Lubbock; third Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gilliam.

Bridge games are held each Saturday evening at the club, and begin at 8. A special award will be given Saturday night to the beginner with the best score.

The snack bar will be open, serving chicken, shrimp, steak and hamburgers.

It's fine. But when one family member forces a personal viewpoint on the rest, it can become tyranny in a teapot with little happiness for anyone.

About Your Health

Women residents in Texas nursing homes and convalescent care institutions outnumber men residents two to one, State Health Department year end records show.

Almost 13,000 elderly Texans presently reside in care homes which have passed State Department of Health scrutiny and are licensed under provisions of the home licensure law administered by the health agency.

Despite the fact that Texas was one of the most recent states to spell out regulations aimed at protecting the health, safety and welfare of nursing home patients, the standards now enforced in this state equal or exceed those of other states, department officials believe.

That this is true is borne out when the beneficial aspects and the results obtained under Texas' standards are compared with the situation in other states, says J. W. Hornburg, director of the Texas licensure program.

The Texas law has been in effect since June 1953. Hornburg said 321 nursing homes with a capacity of 9,512 beds, and 241 convalescent care homes with a capacity of 4,800 beds, are currently licensed — after having proved the humaneness of their operations.

Average age of home residents is 80 years. About 60 per cent of them are recipients of old age assistance checks.

Nursing homes are distinguished from convalescent care homes in that they are required to have supervisory nursing personnel or their staffs. This requirement does not pertain to convalescent care homes, although they must have a physician's statement concerning the physical condition of each patient.

Nursing home bed needs for any given area are calculated on the basis of a widely accepted formula of three beds per 1,000 population. Applying it to the Texas situation shows that approximately 30 per cent of the Texas need has so far been met.

The Texas law covers all establishments which furnish "food and shelter to four or more persons unrelated to the proprietor, and in addition provide minor treatment or services which meet some need beyond the provision of food, shelter and laundry." Exempt from the regulation Better just circle your dealer's block the first time you try a Jet-smooth '61 Chevy. Get anywhere near an open highway and he's liable never to see you again. What we mean, Chevy's ride whets your yen to travel. Wins you over with its delightful coil-spring smoothness, its hushed comfort and light steering. You find yourself feeling sorry for people who buy higher priced cars, thinking they have to pay premium prices for a luxury ride.

That may have been true at one time, but not any more. Chevrolet's ride, its roadability, just doesn't take second place to anybody's. Drive one soon and see.

It's the Law in TEXAS

BUSINESS ORGANIZATION
The law allows a business a wide choice of ways to set itself up, to finance and manage itself. You may have sole ownership, partnerships, joint ventures, corporations; and within these classes you have many different forms. To meet modern business conditions, to get full tax advantage and to protect investors, for example, the law provides many ways for a company to finance itself. And these, in turn, influence the kind of management it can have, and the way it conducts its affairs.

We sometimes speak of "stocks and bonds," for example, as if they were one and the same. But when you buy a share of stock in a company, you "own" an "undivided" part of everything owns, but no particular piece of its property. But what do you have when you buy a corporation's bond or debenture? You own nothing of the company. Instead you are lending money which it promises to pay back with interest when your bond "matures."

Unlike a stockholder, a bondholder as a rule has little to say directly about who manages and how he manages the company. Remotely a bond buyer by withholding or lending money may influence a company's ability to expand. The bondholder gets only his interest payments, which come before the stockholder's "dividends," since he takes less of a risk than the stockholders.

Thus if the corporation quits or goes bankrupt, it must pay the bondholders off before the stockholders get anything.

Where does the "preferred stock" come in? As a rule, preferred stockholders collect a fixed dividend — after the bondholders are paid but before the "common" stockholders get anything. There are many kinds of preferred stock arrangements. But in return for their first chance at the profits the preferred stockholders often give up any voting rights or ability to control the company directly.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Jackie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swendon of Round Rock, was born without legs or a right arm. The lad's mother (behind Daniel), lends her moral support to her smiling son at the ceremony in the Governor's office.

Why settle for the inconvenience of an awkward "lift-up" gate?

Before you put hard-earned cash on the line for any compact wagon, just try this: open the tailgate. If it swings up, as shown at left, you could be in for some lumps and bumps on the head as your cargo rolls out. But Falcon's tailgate, with the built-in, roll-down window, swings down. That means easier loading—and 26.1 inches more cargo deck (with tailgate down) for carting those long loads—up to 31% more cargo area with tailgate up. No doubt about it, Falcon hauls more—and that's what you buy a compact wagon for!

Pay up to $508 more? What for? Only Falcon offers the just-right compact wagon!

Just Right in Convenience! Check the current crop of compact wagons. You'll find they all fall short of Falcon's convenience. For instance, seven out of eleven don't give you a handy, swing-down tailgate with roll-down rear window on all models. There's attention paid even to the "little" conveniences, such as two arm rests, two sun visors, two coat hooks, all standard at no extra cost! And of course, you can have your choice of Tudor or Fordor Falcon Wagons, too.

Just Right in Price! Cast an eye on that low price sticker and you realize what a sensational value the Falcon wagon really is! Imagine... up to $508 less* than some compact wagons, not stripped but equipped the way most people want their wagon... including radio, heater, automatic transmission and deluxe trim. With all this that you save on Falcon's low price, you're still driving a dazzling new beauty, handsomer than ever inside and out.

Just Right in Economy! Of all compact wagons, Falcon's the economy champ! America's sweetest, savingest 6-cylinder engine takes you up to 30 miles per gallon on regular gasoline—4,000 miles between oil changes. And Falcon's sensible engineering makes for rock-bottom repair costs and lower maintenance, too. You save on tires, mufflers, every driving cost in the book. P.S. For an extra measure of performance, try Falcon's briak, new 170 Special engine option.

STATE CAPITAL

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Texas motorists soon will be "seeing red" when they approach highway construction projects.

State Highway Department announced that the signalmen who direct traffic around construction projects will start wearing fluorescent red nylon vests and waving flags of the same bright material. Use of the new material has been adopted as an additional safety measure since it will be more visible day and night. At night, flares will be used also.

Some signals will be used by the flagmen. Flag - holding arms fully extended horizontally means "stop." Movement of the flagman's free arm means "proceed."

LAKE SUCCEEDS STEAKLEY - P. Frank Lane is new secretary of state, succeeding Zoillie Steakley.

Steakley was appointed associate justice of the State Supreme Court. Like served as assistant secretary of state under Steakley for the past four years. An attorney, he formerly lived in Tyler. He is a lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve, retired; married and the father of four children.

POLL TAXES DUE - Texans have until January 31 to pay the poll tax that will enable them to vote in 1961 elections. Despite 1961's being an off-year, a major election will be held this year. U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson ended his 12 - year career in the Senate by submitting his resignation to Gov. Price Daniel on the opening day of Congress.

Daniel appointed William A. Blakley of Dallas to serve until a remainder of the term will be held April 4. If no candidate receives a majority in the first election, a run-off will be held from 30 to 40 days later.

In the last special senatorial election in April, 1957, there were 23 candidates. Same sort of crowded field is expected this year with enough activity to give every poll tax payer his $1.75 worth.

will be inaugurated. Since it is a third term for Gov. Daniel and a sixth for Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey, it will be "one of the simplest inaugurations in years," according to the Governor's office. No parade is planned.

NEW INSURANCE CHAIRMAN - Former Dist. Judge Thomas C. Ferguson of Burnet has been named chairman of the State Insurance Board by Governor Daniel.

Ferguson succeeds another district judge, Penn J. Jackson, who has returned to his bench in Cleburne.

New board chairman is also a former newspaperman, deputy district clerk, member of the Texas House of Representatives, mayor of Burnet and county judge. As he begins his service on the Insurance Board, one of the most pressing problems before it is whether to revise auto insurance rates.

WATER PROGRAM TARGETS SET - Reorganization of the State Board of Water Engineers after the pattern of the State Highway Commission has been proposed by Governor Daniel.

Daniel advocated separating the engineering services under a chief engineer from the semi-judicial functions of the Board. He made the proposal before a pre-legislative meeting of the State-wide Water Committee.

Committee, composed of laymen to help in development of a state water program, endorsed broader lending authority for the State Water Development Board. At Present, the Board can grant loans to subdivisions for 1-3 the cost of a water project or $5,000, 000 whichever is less. A $15,000, 000 maximum is recommended by the Committee.

things which is to be presented at the Chamber's annual dinner will be one of the big 1961 projects — the campaign to raise $15,000 for remodeling of the community center, which has been under discussion for some time. The chamber is to state the campaign and after the building is put in first-class shape, it will be turned over to the city for maintenance.

Several hundred are expected to attend the February 2 dinner. Tickets will be placed on sale soon.

Dr. Robert Cabaniss Goodwin, Texas Tech's seventh president, is known around the campus as a man who gets things done.

As one Tech official put it, "Maybe he will tell you so. But if he does, you are the winner."

Goodwin is no ideal - riding a bicycle or automobile will carry and can turn your attention to other matters."

Goodwin is a chemist - holding a Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of Florida. He is also a holder of a Ph.D. in education from Howard Payne College, master of arts degree from the University of Texas, and the doctor of philosophy degree from Harvard University.

He joined the Tech Faculty in 1950 as chemistry department head, coming from the University of Florida.

Visitors to the president's office usually are impressed by the beautiful floral arrangements, the size of which probably aren't to be found in any other college official's quarters.

Ordinarily this would run up quite a fiscal bill. However, the Tech arrangements are from the garden of Dr. Goodwin, who relaxes from executive pressures by practicing horticulture as a hobby.

He holds several blue ribbons from flower shows and probably is best known for his development of a special dahlia which he has named "Red Raider."

Dr. Goodwin is a Presbyterian and Retarian. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, Sigma Xi graduate research society and numerous other professional organizations.

He is married to the former Constance Bishop.

During World War I, Dr. Goodwin was a seaman in the Navy. Later he served in the Army Reserve, rising to the rank of captain.

Happy Ending For Company Meals

Light and creamy Chocolate Mint Coffee Parfaits make a happy finish for a young modern's company meal. The dessert is made with new flavor Chocolate Mint Pudding and Pie Filling, a quick and easy dessert idea that provides dividends in flavor for pies, puddings and parfaits such as these.

The busy hostess will find these fine-flavored parfaits are easy to make and glamorous to serve—easy because they require little cooking and are made from "no-fail" pudding and pie filling mix; glamorous because this color and texture combination in a parfait glass looks modern and up to the minute!

Chocolate Mint Coffee Parfaits
 1 package chocolate mint pudding and pie filling mix 2 cups milk
 Coffee Whipped Cream

Combine pudding mix and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Pour into bowl. (To avoid surface film, place waxed paper directly on surface of hot pudding.) Chill. Before serving, beat slowly with egg beater. Prepare Coffee Whipped Cream. Spoon alternate layers of pudding and Coffee Whipped Cream in parfait glasses. Makes 6 servings.

Coffee Whipped Cream. Place ½ cup whipping cream, 1 tablespoon granulated or confectioner's sugar, ¼ teaspoon vanilla and ½ to 1 teaspoon instant coffee in chilled bowl. Beat until cream holds its shape (do not overbeat). If desired, fold in ¼ cup chopped toasted nuts. Makes 1 cup.

are supposed to be equal, many people yearn, push and scramble for what is called status than anywhere else on earth.

This is especially true in America because we have had so many men throughout our history who went to the top from the lowly beginnings. Theoretically, there are no barriers for those who are blessed with talent and energy.

Because the paths to glory and recognition are wide open, everybody likes to feel that he is on the way up. The newspapers are aware of this fact, and so we have a peculiar kind of journalism.

For a newspaper story to get prominent display, the people involved if women, must be blonde, shapely, well-dressed and young; if not, the reporters will twist the facts to make them so. If men, they must be handsome, athletic, rich, educated, well-bred, and well connected in business, politics, society, or their profession.

Residential location is most important. A fashionable suburb, hotel, club, or street makes all the difference in the world.

What happens to those who live in the slums and blighted areas of a city is of slight news interest to anybody, including the residents thereof. We all want to read about the doings of the upper crust.

There's a warning in all this for those who are solvent, live in suburbia, own a small boat, drive a sports car, and are photogenic. If they get in serious trouble with the law, they can expect to land on page one. (The Imperial)

Aptitude Tests Readied By WT

College aptitude tests will be given here at West Texas State College February 25 for high school seniors of the area who expect to enter college following graduation.

Deadline for applications for the test is Feb. 4, when they must be received in Waco by the state director for the testing program. Applications must be sent to Alton Lee, registrar at Baylor University who is state director.

Scores on the tests are now required for admission to West Texas State and more than 500 other colleges and universities. Students of the Panhandle area may take the test at WT, even though they plan to attend colleges elsewhere in the Southwest.

Applications may be obtained from the principal's offices at the student's high school and are mailed to Waco. The state director sends a list of eligible students to all colleges in the state which are testing centers. A fee of $3 is required.

One other testing date in the spring has been set for April 22. Application deadline for that date is April 1.

Tammany Hall, local Democratic headquarters in New York City, is named after the Society of Tammany, founded in 1789 by a "fraternity of patriots." The original Tammany was a Delaware Indian chief known for his wisdom.

18-year-olds' Registrar Named

Charles Jones, Lamb County Clerk, has been named registrar for 18-year-olds for the draft program, it was announced Wednesday by Floyd Coffman, member of the draft board from Lamb county.

He succeeds Jean Smith.

Lamb County is included in a three-county local draft board No. 4 with headquarters at Mulico. Other counties are Bailey and Cochran counties.

"Setting up an office in the courthouse is a nice service for boys in this county," Coffman said, "and we appreciate Jones taking on this added duty."

Wedding Score--

to check how many of last year's weddings went on the rocks it would be necessary to check each particular marriage to see if a divorce was granted during the same year.

District Clerk Ernest Owens' office said that the 58 divorce total is not a complete picture of 1960 marriage crackups either, since some of the divorces granted last year had been pending for two or three months in the previous year. However, several are now pending which were filed last year, perhaps balancing off the score.

Forests Help To Pay Some Of Texas' Bills

There's any number of activities, both industrial and recreational, concealed behind that great wall of timber and pine needles.

Some of it helps pay state bills. Only recently Gov. Price Daniel was presented with a check for $636,547.92 from the U. S. Forest Service as the States' share of the income from the sale of 119.4 million board feet of timber and other uses of the Texas National Forests during the fiscal year 1960. This is the highest income from timber since reforestation started on the forests of East Texas way back in 1935. Total income from Texas National Forests for 1959 was $2,546,191.68.

Each county occupied by forests is a 25 per cent stockholder in the gross receipts, according to Federal law. Texas allocates this income to schools and roads on a 50-50 basis.

Last year, the Forest Service spent $289,462.69 on the maintenance of some 800 miles of roads. In addition, over $104,000 was allotted the State Highway Department for the construction of forest highways.

Forest Supervisor John W. Coopertation ceremony that watershed protection, outdoor recreation and fish and wildlife management of the forests are possibly of equal or greater value to the State than timber production. Hunting and fishing on the forests are coordinated by the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Some areas of the forests are fenced in. This was done to better control and integrate livestock management with wildlife habitat. However, signs will be posted on these sections to remind visitors that they are still welcome.

Certain special areas are designated for intensive game management and restoration by the Commission. One such area is the Angelina Wildlife Management Area composed of three different sections.

Each year, managed hunts are held on this area. If you passed through the Angelina Forest when deer hunting opened, you might not have realized that a public hunt was being held. Reports indicated that it was a very successful hunt.

If you pass through these forests during the spring and summer, you may not get to see the hundreds of families and friends that have spread out their picnic lunches under the shadows of silent pines and hardwoods. Or, you may miss the smiles on the faces of the many weekend fishermen who stretch out on the banks of rippling streams that snake their way through the dense timber land.

You would need to turn off the main highways and byways to feast your eyes on little isolated communities which dot the Davy Crockett National Forest. To get acquainted with the people and their seemingly strange customs that live and die deep in the woods you would have to do more than just pass by in a speeding auto.

Inside those dark timbered hills live some of the most fascinating plants, creatures, and people you could find anywhere in Texas or the world for that matter. And the sounds of a forest are equally as fascinating. Whether it be the rustle of leaves, the screech of a feathered friend, the scampering of bush-tails high above, the whine of a saw in the distance, or the combination of all these, your ears will be filled with the music of the living forest.

So, with this glimpse of what takes place deep in our great forests, you might now realize that they're not just made up of tall trees and moist soil.

Conservation Contracts Grow In Great Plains

More than 2,000 farmers and ranchers in 352 counties in the 10 Great Plains States made contracts with the U. S. Department of Agriculture to develop soil and their lands during the fiscal year of 1960.

These contracts covered more than 5 1/2 million acres, the USDA said.

This brought the number of plans and contracts to almost 4,900 covering over 13 million acres at the end of the fiscal year. An additional 3,084 applications covering nearly 2 million acres, had been filed at year's end.

The program is designed to speed-up soil and water conservation measures, through a complete farm or ranch plan of operations, that will bring about a greater degree of agricultural stability in the Great Plains where drought, high winds, blizzards, hail and hard rains are not infrequent.

It applies to designated counties in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming.

Lynn Pittard, soil and water conservation specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said that currently, 915 farmers and ranchmen in 85 Texas counties have applications on file and that active contracts total, 2,157. These contracts cover approximately 4.1 million acres, Pittard said.

Included in the contracts and plans, developed with assistance from the Soil Conservation Service are such practices as converting cropland to grass, planned range reseeding and many other permanent-type conservation practices.

In carrying out their conservation plans, under contracts ranging from 3 to 10 years, participants established one or more of 24 practices eligible for cost sharing, Pittard said.

The Great Plains Conservation Program, Public Law 1021, became law August 7, 1956. First contracts and plans were signed in December 1957.

Plant Disease Of The Week . . .

Crown Gall Kills Trees, Shrubs

Extension Plant Pathologist

Crown gall occurs in all areas of Texas, but is more of a problem in areas of limited rainfall.

It appears as large, rough, roundish woody swellings or galls on the lower part of the trunk or roots of affected plants and is often discovered when dead trees or shrubs are being replanted.

The bacterial disease should not be confused with root knot nematode galls. The crown galls are as large or larger than walnuts while nematode galls are seldom larger than marbles. Affected plants may die slowly over a period of months or even years and young plants are more seriously affected than older ones.

The disease occurs frequently on begonia, blackberry, camellia, carnation, crape jasmine, catalpa, chrysanthemum, cottonwood, eucalyptus, dewberry, forsythia and gardenia.

Also grape, hibiscus, hickory, honeysuckle, jugustrum, male, peach, pear, pecan, phlox, poplar, rose and willow.

In gardens or lawns, infected plants that are unproductive may be removed and destroyed. As many as possible of the infected roots should be removed and it is also worthwhile to remove the infected soil and replace with clean soil. Infected soil may also be fumigated but this should be done several weeks prior to transplanting. Use D-D, Garden Downtime, Vapam or other soil fumigants as the maker directs.

All transplants should be purchased from a reliable nursery and roots should not be pruned or injured just prior to transplanting. Roots may be treated before being set with a bichloride of mercury solution or with streptomycin. The latter should be used according to the manufacturer's suggestions.

Local county agents can supply detailed information on the disease and control measures. Ask for a copy of MP-283 "Peach and Plum Diseases" and "Pecan Diseases and Their Control." MP-313 "Insects and Their Control."

Save again on leveling, installation and care with a sprinkler or gated system tailor-made of Alcoa Aluminum Irrigation Pipe!

You get bonus benefits when you deliver the right amount of water to your crops—as it's needed throughout the growing season—with portable irrigation using Alcoa® Aluminum Pipe. You'll find it uses only about 55 per cent as much water as flood irrigation; is more economical to install, easy to move; eliminates most leveling and ditching.

There's an Alcoa Irrigation-Pipe for every need!

Alcoa Standard Class 150—tough enough for rough handling, strong enough for high pressures over long hauls—comes in eight diameters from 2 in. through 10 in. Alcoa Lite-Line comes extruded—light weight and low cost for most average uses; and welded—alclad inside for maximum corrosion resistance. It's available in nine sizes from 6 in. through 12 in. for high-volume sources. Both Alcoa Standard Class 150 and Alcoa Lite-Line come in lengths of 20, 30 and 40 ft; larger sizes of Alcoa Lite-Line, Welded, in 50-ft lengths.

Ask your irrigation supply dealer about Alcoa's 48-Month Irrigation System Finance Plan!

Provisions of this finance plan allow your new irrigation system to serve as collateral against your loan. There's no red tape... you get immediate action on application for a loan. Irrigate while you pay for your system out of increased profits.

Your Irrigation Dealer has quality Alcoa Irrigation Pipe available for immediate delivery from local stocks. He is an expert on irrigation engineering and can provide local service on a complete irrigation system tailored to your needs.

We Have A Good Supply Of HYBRID GRAIN SEED

Shows above is a field of Hybrid Grain, grown by Cletus Floyd. Hybrid Grains have proven themselves on the South Plains and more and more farmers are planting them every year. For the best Hybrid Grain Seeds — plant locally produced seeds.

Terry County producers of Hybrid Grain Seeds are receiving wide acclaim. These seed are in demand, not only locally, but throughout our area. Seed growers — such as Purtell Seed Farms, Waters Bros., and Winfred Tucker — are having their seeds field tested in Old Mexico. Results of the tests will be announced at a later date. Test results, conducted in Old Mexico last year, gave locally produced seeds a 1 and 2 rating. According to the Texas Department of Agriculture,

Texas farmers are producing 30% more grain on the same acreage by the use of Hybrid Seed, than they did before Hybrids were introduced. And the outstanding quality of locally produced seeds has caused them to be in great demand outside our local area. All of our Terry County Seed Growers have received "tops" in the testing of their seeds. Give them a try, see if you don't think they are the best seeds for your farming operations.

THE SEEDS LISTED BELOW ARE CERTIFIED HYBRIDS:

- Purtell Seeds 610 & 620
- Waters Bros. 601, 610 & 660
- Winfred Tucker Seeds 608 & 610

We Also Have on Hand MARTIN'S, PLAINSMAN HYBRIDS and KAFARI, HEGARI, SUDANS, ALFALFA, BLACKWELL SWITCH AND BLUE PANIC GRASSES

In The Martin Manner

By Ramon Martin

MEMO (No. 8) to Janice:
SO YOU are getting your "J" degree this month? Congratulations. Now all you have to do is get yourself a job somewhere and start writing or editing or talking as the case may be.

Because nowadays they want a journalism degree before they'll hire you for any of those jobs — news or public relations.

But the "J" degree won't hold a job for you, once you have got it. In fact a degree alone won't hold any kind of a job ever, and some of the most ignorant people I've bumped into have been holders of degrees. I can say that because I have one myself.

And another funny thing about this business is that the newspaper racket is the only one which can be run by sidewalk supervisors. By that I mean that almost everyone knows how a newspaper should be run and what should fill its pages — or so they think.

You'll bump into their kind constantly. They are the ones, Janice, who bring you stories and say "now I've written this just like I want it in the paper, so don't change it. After all, I know journalism; my great grandfather ran the Puduk Herald, and writing just runs in my family."

THEY ARE the same ones who wouldn't think of taking a pill without asking a doctor's advice, but they know how to write just by ear.

Like the secretary of a large church with whom I talked in the Dallas - Fort Worth area last Sunday. (That covers such a large area nobody could possibly know of whom I am speaking.)

Anyway, when she found out I'm a newsman, she said, "Well, that's partly my job too; I got out church paper each week." I asked her where she received her journalism training or experience, and she replied, "Oh, I never did have any newspaper training; I just picked up the whole business myself. After all, it's no trouble to get out a church paper. Any body can do it." And she was sincere. See what I mean by any body can write for a paper?

She probably wonders why no body reads the church paper. Journalism rules and writing rules were not just created to give newsmen a job; they were created over a long period of time to make the product readable to the public.

I wanted to tell the lady in question that I probably could do just as good a job of being a secretary as she can, although I don't know shorthand. To think that she could get out an acceptable newspaper without training or experience in that field is just as ridiculous as my trying to do a secretary's job with no knowledge or experience in shorthand.

COME TO think of it, Janice, there's a field for your new "J" degree — religious writing. Many churches at long last are beginning to realize that trained and experienced newsmen (or women) can do a much better job of getting out a church paper than can a church secretary. It has taken them a long time to realize that fact, but a few of them now know that the church must be "sold" to the public, and that an attractive communication is necessary in order to get the public to read.

the product. Many church papers, however, still leave much to be desired with the unskilled personnel still getting out the weekly edition. The same thing is true of the church bulletin which all too often appeals only to Junior as a piece of paper on which to doodle while the preacher preaches. That was true of the bulletin at the church of which this secretary was "editor" of the church paper.

So, Janice, when you go out looking for a job don't overlook the church field.

OF COURSE most large firms now have their public relations directors, and always a prerequisite for such a job is a degree in journalism or long experience in news-writing — or both.

Some of the most beautiful pieces of writing and printing that I have ever seen have been publications put out by the big firms' public relations men and women. They are not put out by secretaries.

I know, I served for seven years as public relations director of a large insurance firm in Oklahoma City, and my wife frequently reminds me that I was a dope to leave it.

But for a PR job, Janice, you'll need to brush up on your public speaking, because PR-ing requires many speeches. And you'll have to warm up your hand — shaking, technique. There's lots of that too.

I'm quite sure your journalism teachers have pointed out these more lucrative journalism fields to you, Janice, but I just didn't want you to overlook them when you go job-hunting. There are so many avenues open to the "J" grad these days that were never heard of 28 years and three months ago when I started my work in this odd game. And don't overlook radio and TV. And there's fiction writing, too.

In a way I envy you, Janice — bright and bursting with eagerness, ready to sally out and try to turn your education and talents into a bread-winning payoff.

These facts I have tried to point out to my journalism class at Littlefield high school. Maybe I have partially succeeded; when I asked at the beginning of the term how many of the 22 enrolled in that class would like to follow journalism as a profession, only two held up their hands. Last week, after four and half months in the class when I asked the same question, more than half of them held up their hands. Six or eight may make the grade professionally.

So, have fun, Janice as you start in this game of writing. Remember that there are so many avenues, to it that you may be five years actually discovering the field in which you would like to work. This one thing they all have in common: To the well-trained and educated person, all are interesting and reasonably lucrative; to the untrained and the uneducated, all are pure Greek.

Again, good luck, Janice! Only one vice-president has ever been elected to the highest office in the land without first serving out the term of a presidential communication in order to get the public to read.
