$500,000 Housing Approval Sought

City Stores Due To Close July 4

Littlefield will close shops and go picnicking, swimming or just plain loafing during the July 4 holiday, the Chamber of Commerce announced Wednesday. Except for drugstores, some of which will operate on a half-day schedule, the city business houses almost without exception will be closed next Monday in observance of Independence Day. No special celebration is planned. The Chamber of Commerce said "all business houses, other than drugstores, will be closed, as far as we have been able to determine." One drugstore owner contacted said his store will be open until 12 or 1 o'clock. "But we will close for the balance of Independence Day." Another druggist said his store will remain open all day as usual. Normally, Monday would be

66 Lots Platted In New Project

Second phase in a half-million dollar housing project for southwest Littlefield was in sight Wednesday after the planning Commission had given the program its tentative blessing at a meeting Monday afternoon. Final approval is expected from the commission Thursday night when a revised plat is presented for study. City Council is to pass on the project Friday morning at a called session, and if approved, construction of homes should get underway shortly after July 15, Weldon Steele, president of Trans-Western Development Co., Lubbock said.

Around-Clock Patrol Set To Guard Area Highways

Highway patrolmen will work most constant vigil on the highways during the three-day July 4 holiday in an effort to prevent highway accidents, Sgt. D. S. Lawson said Wednesday. With 27 deaths predicted for the long weekend in Texas, Sgt. Lawson said every effort is being made to "halt this needless slaughter on our highways." In this seven-county district over which Sgt. Lawson presides, he said patrolmen will work from 18 to 20 hours patrolling the roads and highways. "If this is impossible, then shoot them from the back yard," he said. "As long as no disturbance is created or they are fired at a reasonable time, we are not going to frown on such a practice, provided we receive no complaints."

Police To Crack Down On Firecracker Tossers

Littlefield Police Chief F. A. Fitzgerald warned Littlefield citizens that it is against the law to shoot fireworks inside the city limits, and he said all offenders will be on the lookout especially for anyone caught tossing a lit firecracker at a moving automobile. "We are inclined to be lenient on the backyard firecracker shooter who confines his fireworks activities to his own back yard, but we will crack down on anyone caught throwing a firecracker at an automobile or tossing one from a moving car," the Chief said. "This is extremely dangerous and might cause a serious accident," the Chief explained. "And anyone caught will be prosecuted." He said the fine for such a conviction is $25. A city ordinance bans fireworks from the city limits and prohibits selling them inside the city. However, it is not against the law to shoot them outside the city limits, and if possible, the Chief said, those who want to land section. Shot Through Temple "The slayer shot Doctor Hunt through the temple and bludgeoned Mrs. Hunt so savagely that she died in an estimated two hours after her husband." Today, 17 years after this murder that shocked not only the city but the state and the nation, it remains on official records as an unsolved slaying! Police and law enforcement officers from around the state converged on Littlefield in an 11-day effort to find the killer or killers. They all asked the same question - "What was the motive?" Apparently there was none. Police dug into the past life of Roy Hunt, hoping for some clue, some shred of evidence that might point to a reason for this senseless slaying. They found that Roy Hunt was born and raised in Lubbock, the son of a pioneering family of the area. Texas Graduate In 1933, Hunt was graduated from the University of Texas Medical School in Galveston and subsequently to that spent three years as a resident physician in the Jefferson Davis Hospital in Houston. To the investigators, this was a promising start to a fine career for Roy Hunt. In 1936, Hunt married Mattie Mae Franks of Houston and moved to Littlefield in May 1937, to practice medicine. For five years, Roy Hunt worked hard to build his practice. He became one of the owners of the Littlefield Hospital and Clinic. He was serving as vice president of the Rotary Club. He was popular with the people of Littlefield. Roy and Mattie had a good life here in the small town they had chosen. They had moved into a nice brick home; they had been blessed with two little daughters. They had a good life. But then something happened. In May of 1942, somebody tried to murder Roy Hunt. Hutson Was Sheriff Sam Hutson was sheriff at the time of the attempt on Hunt's life. He vividly remembers what happened. "It was about midnight," sheriff Hutson recalled, "I was up late coming on off a case when when I got a call to come to the hospital. "When I got there, Roy Hunt was close to death. He had a bullet wound in his shoulder and one in his stomach. "When I got all the facts together, this is what I came up with," Hutson went on.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee Schovajsa, Amherst and her husband is the son of Mrs. Sarah C. Patterson of Memphis, Tenn., and George T. Patterson of Mount Herman, La.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. John S. Rankin before an altar decorated with a floral arrangement of white gladioli and flanked by tree of greenery and candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original model of ivory imported French lace—sequin embroidered—and nylon tulle over net and taffeta. Designed with portrait neckline outlined with an applique of lace, the fitted sequin embroidered lace bodice had tiny sleeves completed by tulle gauntlets worn over the hands, and wide cummerbund of pleated taffeta accenting the waistline. From this stemmed a magnificent skirt made of tulle with shaped bouffant yoke of lace applied on tulle at lower hip line.

A crown of seed - pearl embroidered silk illusion held her fingertip length veil. She carried an arrangement of white roses showered with stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Bobby Hayworth of Lubbock, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Pete Lunati of Muscle Shoals, Ala., sister of the groom, and Mrs. Harmon King, Jr. of Odessa.

The attendants' dresses were of ivory taffeta, designed with portrait neckline, tiny sleeves, and modified balloon skirts. Streamers of satin fell from their headpieces of circular taffeta and roses. Each carried a long - stem white rose.

Mrs. Schovajsa, mother of the bride, wore a beige - eyelet embroidered cotton dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Patterson, mother of the groom, was attired in a pink embroidered linen dress with white accessories. Their corsages were white roses.

Rev. Pete Lunati of Muscle Shoals, Ala., served his brother-in-law as best man. Groomsman were Bobby Hayworth, brother-in-law of the bride, and Gary Schovajsa, brother of the bride.

Ushering duties were assumed by Billy and Dick Brantley, cousins of the bride.

Gary and Larry Schovajsa, brothers of the bride, lighted candles.

Miss Deniese Magness of Lubbock organist, played wedding selections and accompanied Pete Lunati who sang, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception in the church parlor followed the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with white taffeta and a net overlay bordered with yards of ruffles and interspersed with tiny satin roses.

Mrs. Harris Brantley, grandmother of the bride, served as honorary hostess.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Jack Yarbrough, J. P. Brantley, Manry Brantley, Maurice Brantley, Harry Brantley, Bill Brantley, Harold Brantley, Bobby Brantley, and Misses Ann and Cecelia Brantley of Amherst, Beverly Shoemaker and Martha McDaniel of Lubbock.

Maner - Echols Nuptials Read
At Lum's Chapel Saturday

WHITHARRAL Wedding vows were repeated Saturday evening in the Lum's Chapel Baptist Church by Miss Janice Kay Maner and Thomas Carl Echols, officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Shelby Jones of Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Doss Maner of Route 2, Littlefield are the parents of the bride. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Perry Echols of Ira.

Mrs. Gerald Quails of Abilene provided traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Wynell Gilley as she sang "Because" and "Bless This House", and Mrs. Jackie Pylant of Colorado City as she sang "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with a screen of huckleberry and emerald with trees of emerald and fans of orchid mums and white gladioli, illuminated with white tapers.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride in a wedding gown, an original model, of white imported French lace and nylon tulle over net and taffeta. Designed with Sabrina neckline framed with scalloped lace, the fitted bodice had long sleeves ending in points over the hands and lace appliques holding a plain midriff of tulle that terminated with a point at center front waistline. From this stemmed a magnificent skirt encircled with a wide band of scalloped lace that came to a point at center front and back. An immense wide ruffle of tulle outlined the bottom and swept into a small train at back. Her veil of silk illusion was joined to a bandeau of scalloped lace elaborately embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible, a gift of the YWA of her church, topped with an orchid showered with stephanotis.

The bride carried a linen handkerchief which had been carried by her mother and her sister in weddings preceding hers. She wore the traditional blue garter and carried a penny in her shoe.

Attending her sister as matron-of-honor was Mrs. Vertie Throckmorton of Lubbock. She wore a street-length gown of orchid organza over purple taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a Sabrina neckline, three - quarter length gathered sleeves which ended with a cuff, and a full gathered skirt.

Bridesmaids were Miss Anita Barnett of Whitharral, Miss Sharon McFarridge of Tucumcari, N. M., Mrs. Gary Stag of Lovelland, and Miss Jackie Maner of Littlefield, the latter a niece of the bride. She was the junior bridesmaid. Attendants wore light or shades of orchid identical to the matron-of-honor. They carried orchid fans with gardenias and stephanotis and wore headpieces of matching organza.

Little Miss Diani Maner and Steve Maner of Littlefield, niece and nephew of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

Miss Geneva Ruines of Lovelland and John Manning of Perryton lighted the candles.

John Echols of Snyder served as his cousin's best man. Groomsman were J. W. Henderson of New Iberia, La., Wayne Gullett of Ira Ray Maner, twin brother of the bride, and Tommy Hallmark of Ira, cousin of the groom, the latter serving as junior groomsmen. Accepting duties as ushers were Wayne Maner of Littlefield and Vertie Throckmorton of Lubbock, brother and brother-in-law, respectively, of the bride, and Buddy Arrant of Eudora, N. M.

The bride's mother chose a gown of maroon lace with matching accessories.

A two - piece dress of blue lace with bone accessories was worn by the groom's mother. Their corsages were pink sweetheart roses.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall following the ceremony. Mrs. Wayne Maner of Littlefield and Mrs. Shelby Jones of Abilene registered the guests. The refreshment table was covered with a floor - length net cloth, fully gathered, over orchid sating. The attendant's bouquets centered the table, with the four - tiered wedding cake and punch service at either end of the table. Alternating at serving were Miss Marlene Gilliland and Miss Marlene Legg of Hereford and Mrs. John S. Bierck of Lovelland. Assisting in the hospitalities were Mrs. Hershel Barner, Vertie Dickerson, Ed Blackwell, J. B. Wren and Johnny Graham.

For a wedding trip to Ruidosa, N. M., the bride chose a two-piece dress of navy linen with a white collar and white accessories. A small navy hat was added. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Graduates of Whitharral and Ira High Schools, respectively, the couple are juniors at Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene where they plan to continue their studies in the fall. They will reside at Ira for the summer.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Perry Echols, John Echols, Tommy Hallmark of Ira, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Dillard of Benoni, Mrs. Lola Simpson of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Merket and Miss Gloria Merket, Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Pylant of Colorado City, Mrs. H. H. Harverson of Cisco, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Allen, Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Merket, Cynthia and Betty of Stamford, Mrs. Mose Mills of Putnam, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Stanford of Littlefield.

"Roy drove out to a cafe or the highway to see the woman - Ruth Newton. As he walked around her car to get in and talk to her, a gun- blast caught Roy in the shoulder. "playing" a number I thought I did particularly well. "Stop," she screamed, "I happen to know that the fellow who wrote that piece which you are murdering so effectively is dead, and I don't want to be the cause of making him roll over in his grave." So, thereby, died a dream. Most columnists, when they start their spels in a new town, bustle out with how much they like the people and how they hope to live there for the rest of their days. But it sounds pretty stereo- typed; after all, who ever heard of anybody coming into town and saying, "I don't like it here, but I'm here anyway," and things like that.

In the case of the Martins, how- ever, we can say with genuin- ness, that we DO like the people and DO like the town. Already we've been made to feel com- pletely at home. And when the people have said, "We are glad to have you in Littlefield," and they sound as if they mean it. Furthermore they've gone out of their ways to be nice. Like the neighbor who came over the first day with a pitcher of cold juice, and another neighbor who came over the second day to "sit a spell" and visit. You may not believe it, but we didn't even know who our neighbors were in the town we just left. We knew the names of some, but that was all.

And at church Sunday we met half the folks there, an the glad-to-have-you greetings they gave us were genuine, we could tell. With many of them we raked up mutual acquaintances, and the missus said the other night, "seems already as if we have lived here for a long time." This is the kind of country and people we've been looking for ever since we moved 500 miles west. It's an awful nice feeling, too.

Foot imprints close to the house and traced phone calls led to the arrest of James Clyde Thomas.

Thomas was tried several times for the murder of Roy and Mattie Mae Hunt. With each conviction - based primarily on circumstantial evidence since there was no eye witness to the actual murder - the higher courts re- versed the verdicts. Thomas was later killed in Oklahoma. As the years passed and with Thomas' death the efforts of law enforcement officers came up with nothing.

Still Unsolved
Today, officially, the murders of Dr. Roy Hunt and his wife, remain in the unsolved file. Was Thomas guilty? The courts say, "No." The evidence was circumstantial.

And, so, the death of Roy and Mattie Mae Hunt - a senseless murder that snuffed out the lives of two young and happy people - a murder that snipped a brilliant medical career - remains official- ly the same as it was that cold October morning when a lit- tle girl cried, "My mother and daddy are killed." - a mystery.

About Your Health

Recent State Board of Health action is expected to be a strong factor in assuring Texas of ade- quate Grade A milk supplies, de- spite seasons of short milk pro- duction. The board last week adopted specifications which will permit the reconstitution of Grade A fluid milk solids into Grade A fluid milk. The specifications are con- tained in a supplement to the standard milk ordinance and code which some 150 Texas cities - including all major population centers - have adopted. When the new specifications are assembled in printed form they will become formal regula- tions and will have the full weight of the Texas milk grading and labeling law behind them. In effect, the Board of Health action says to the milk processing industry: "Now you can dehydrate your surplus Grade A fluid milk as prescribed by these new regula- tions and store it. Then, in those seasons when milk production is low, you can add fluids to those dried solids and offer it for sale as Grade A fluid milk, provided each container is clearly labeled as being reconstituted." Excepted from the "reconsti- tuted" label is cultured butter- milk which by definition consists of soured skim or reconstituted milk, and fortified milk which must be labeled with the percent- age of solids added to the original fluid product. Prior to adoption of the speci- fications, milk processors had to dispose of surplus by turning it into by-products. The practice was unavoidable wasteful, particu- larly when viewed during later seasons when whole fresh milk production dropped off for one reason or another and supplies had to be shipped in from out-of- state. Refinements in and standardiza- tion of the milk drying process now makes dehydration and storage without refrigeration prac- tical. Three major dry milk process- ing plants now operate in Texas - at Rusk, La Grange, and Muen- ester. (A weekly feature of the Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

ted by Steele's company, turn- arrounds would have been provid- ed at the south ends of all streets but the members of the Planning Commission pointed out that city ordinances prevent dead - end streets. The commission asked instead that a street or alley be provided along the south side instead of turn arrounds, and Steele agreed to include the street in the re- vised plats to be presented at Thurs- day night's meeting. A portion of the cross street at the south edge of the develop- ment will be paved, and the bal- ance of the street is to be paved when further extension to the ad- dition is undertaken. In order to permit construc- tion to start as soon as possible, the commission agreed to let only about two - thirds of the proposed development be included in the original plat with the balance of the area to be platted on a tempo- rary basis to be developed after the first two - thirds has been completed. If the City Council gives its ap- proval to the revised plats Fri- day morning, a public hearing must be set for 15 days hence. This means that actual construc- tion, barring no protests, could get under way around July 15. Members of the Commission who were present at Monday's meeting were B. D. Garland, Jr., Chairman; C. O. Griffin, vice chairman; Marshall Howard, J. C. Hilbun, and Allen Hodges. Har- rison is an ex-officio member, serving as secretary. Mayor E. J. Foust also is an ex-officio mem- ber. Steele told the Commission that the "more expensive homes" will be built along the north side of the development with some homes in that area probably rang- ing as high as $18,000. Homes at the other end of the addition will be built to sell for approximat- ly $9,000. Steele said. Paving, water and sewer pro- jects are to be provided by the builders. Weldon Putman, builder for Trans - Western and Page also were present at the Monday ses- sion.

City Burns For Three Days Tokyo Earthquake In '23 Leaves City In Shambles

Editor's Note — This is the first in a series of articles on Japan by John Petty, Littlefield Press staff member, whose hobby is exploring the Orient's background.

By JOHN PETTY

It was noontime, and in thousands of homes, hotels and restaurants throughout Tokyo, people were sitting down to eat.

The weather was hot and muggy, even for the first day of September, but then, the entire summer of 1923 had been almost unbearable. Everyone was uncomfortable and anxious to get inside to escape the heat, relax and enjoy a meal.

The city of three and one-half million was as close to a standstill as a city of that size can become during the day.

At two minutes before twelve, a sharp, earth-cracking tremor hit at the heart and the guts of the city. Terrorized by the violence and ghostly rumbling of the shock, and faced with the necessity of retreating in the face of falling debris, people dashed and thinking from buildings, leaving thousands of gas, coal and charcoal cooking fires burning unabated.

Almost before the paralyzing screams of "Earthquake" could be heard, the wooden and paper houses, so common in Japan, were burning with uncontrollable intensity.

Everywhere, tragedy of the kind that only Nature can unleash was evident. Gas mains cracked open, jetting streams of fresh fire into the surging crowds of excited. The city's water system, which ran both underground and above ground was demolished, leaving the Japanese without a means of fighting the flaming death that was engulfing the city.

Within one hour a total of a least 140 major fires were burning within greater Tokyo alone. Of the 770 trolley cars in operation, 400 were reduced to ashes and molten metal on the tracks where they had stalled.

The fires spread with rapidity, burning entire city blocks in a matter of seconds. Pushed by a strong wind, they ravaged the proud and enchanting city; they drew vitality from their own heat, consuming oxygen from the air. Forty thousand refugees seeking sanctuary in a field near a military supply depot in a suburb, Honjo, were partially incinerated or suffocated when fire reached the depot and flung its supplies like balls of fiery death into the mass of tormented Japanese.

For three days the city burned. When the holocaust was over forty per cent of Tokyo was in ashes.

Statistics show that over 300,000 homes had been destroyed along with 151 Shinto shrines, 633 Buddhist temples and 1,400 schools and libraries.

The only building that survived with little or no damage was the Imperial Hotel. Designed by the American architect, Frank Lloyd Wright, it floated on its foundation of liquid mud.

The four days following the first shock saw a total of 930 counted smaller shocks. At least 25,000 homeless and agonized people, dazed by the loss of their entire world, were living in Hibuya Park in central Tokyo.

All along the eastern coast of Honshu Island, on which Tokyo is located, the disastrous effects of tremor was felt.

In Yokohama, some twenty-three miles southeast of Tokyo, 90,000 homes were destroyed. As was the case in the capital, fire here was the main cause of destruction and loss of life.

The Grand Hotel in downtown Yokohama collapsed and burned, killing over 100 foreign guests. Southward from Yokohama at Yokosuka, the main Japanese naval base, thousands of gallons of fuel stored in a supply depot ignited and escaped into the bay, making it a sea of Hell. Boats and fishermen, naval vessels and sailors were boiled in the steaming salt waters.

Nature ran amuck. Noted hot springs resorts at Atami and Hakone, whose waters had for centuries flowed hot from the ground, suddenly turned cold. Other resort hotels along the coast were badly destroyed, killing the tourists who had left the city in favor of the relaxation of the countryside.

Near Odawara, an entire mountain crumbled and buried a small village that nestled at its foot in 100 feet of earth and rock. Of all the famous landmarks and monuments destroyed, the most famous and the most revered was left virtually unharmed.

The gigantic statue of Buddha at Kamakura which stands over 49 feet high was pushed forward a few inches but remained in an upright position.

The Japanese were bewildered by this marvellous quirk of Nature, but they were not defeated. One hundred five thousand people had been murdered by the forces that surrounded them, but others rose to rebuild.

Today, Tokyo is the largest city in the world with close to nine million inhabitants.

Archibald Henderson, who served as commandant of the Marine Corps for over 38 years, left Washington to command a regiment of Marines in the field during the campaign against the Creek Indians in 1836.

In 1773, General Washington named 5 schooners and a sloop with officers and men from his army for the purpose of preying on English supply vessels.

Sleepy Kona Coast Stirs Again; Tourists Return

By CARL ZIMMERMAN

KAILUAKONA, Hawaii (AP)—The sleepy Kona coast, cradle of Hawaiian history, is coming to life again with a new wave of visitors.

And, they are getting a friendlier welcome than the first arrivals 180 years ago.

English explorer Capt. James Cook was slain in a battle with the Polynesians in 1779, a year after he discovered the islands.

Now, the little village of Kailua is becoming a growing resort center. Four hotels are operating and more are planned.

Kailua, on the island of Hawaii itself, is a 45-minute plane ride from Honolulu.

This was the first capital of the islands, and the first church was built here. A short distance down the coast is the City of Refuge, a burial place for Hawaiian royalty and a sanctuary to which Hawaiians in other times who committed crimes could flee and be immune from punishment.

Other attractions for tourists include some of the world's best deep sea marlin fishing and skin diving.

The past isn't dead and buried here.

Mokuauia church, built in 1923, is still an active landmark. It sounds its chimes every evening.

Hulihee Palace was the residence of the Hawaiian royal family, but now is a museum.

Nearby is the historic residence of Kamehameha I, first king of all the Hawaiian islands. The capital remained in Kailua until 1830, when it was moved to Honolulu.

The home of the king, who lived in a grass shack as did his ancestors, has vanished with hardly a trace. All that is left is a rubble of lava rock from a shrine, rigged by piles of lumber and a crotchet pole.

Now a hotel is planned for the area and the new state government is helping to restore the historical site itself.

Kailua is also a good place to see the hula as the Hawaiians originally danced it.

For an unvarnished taste of old Hawaii, the best recipe is a trip to the City of Refuge.

Along a solitary shore, Hawaiians had built massive lava rock walls and platforms in a grove of coconut palms.

IRS Denies Request For Water Deductions

In 1954, the High Plains Water District filed with the U. S. Internal Revenue Service a request for a ruling that would establish ground water in the southern High Plains of Texas as a depletable natural resource and allow a deduction on federal income-tax returns for its depletion.

The request for such an administrative ruling has been denied.

The lawsuit is now being planned to establish through litigation the District's contention that underground water in this area is a natural deposit and that it is being depleted, and that individuals and institutions using water to produce income should be allowed a federal income tax deduction for the depletion of this resource. Such depletion shall be calculated under cost rather than the percentage depletion method.

The District is gathering information that will be used during the trial to establish facts pertaining to the underground water and to the reservoir. The facts will prove that the underground water in the Southern High Plains is gradually and surely being depleted and that the use of underground water in the production of crop income has a definite economic value.

An individual irrigation farmer will be selected by the water district and the Revenue Service for test case purposes. The general understanding of the Water District and the Revenue Service is that the decision of the court will become the rule, not only in this case, but that it will apply to all southern High Plains' water users who have a like set of circumstances.

To prepare the case, the district has endeavored to obtain the best legal and engineering counsel available. The verdict of the court will be very important to taxpayers in the High Plains of Texas; consequently, no stone will be left unturned in preparing for the case. Individually, the income tax deduction may not be sufficient to warrant each person filing such a lawsuit in his own behalf; however, as a collective effort through the Water District a favorable decision by the court would amount to millions of dollars in tax savings for area landowners during the economic life of the underground water.

Furthermore, recognition of ground-water depletion by the United States Court of Appeals in the Internal Revenue Code on future ground-water depletion practices, will increase the value of land owned and operated by the land owner and will compute the price to greater advantage remaining in storage land.

The case will be heard by the Federal District Court by the end of the year, probably this fall or in the spring for trial in the spring.

Texas Cotton Income Leads

Texas far outranked other states in cash receipts from farm marketing of cotton, rice and grain sorghum in 1950, reports John G. McHaney, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cotton was the leading income source for Texas farmers as it brought in one-third of the total agricultural receipts. Although Texas grain sorghum accounted for over half of the total U. S. production, it accounted for only 10 per cent of the State's farm income, McHaney continues.

In other rankings, Texas was second in receipts from cattle and calves, fourth in sheep and lambs and peanuts, and fifth in flax seed. Even though Texas retained its top spot for number of cattle and calves on hand, Iowa ranked first in total cash receipts, McHaney says.

Trace-Mineralized Salt In The Commercial Feed Lot

History was quietly being made in the Monfort Feed Lots of Greeley, Colorado last fall. The last year in a series of controlled, scientific experiments applied findings on the importance of trace-mineralized salt in cattle feeding to the commercial feed lot.

The Monfort Feed Lots fatten more than 50,000 head of cattle a year. For the purpose of the experiment, 294 good quality Angus heifers were selected and divided into two groups. Both groups were fed the same daily rations for the same period of time—109 days. However, there was one very important difference. One group was fed plain salt, the other group was fed Morton T-M (trace-mineralized) Salt. Since this was the ONLY difference between the two groups, any variations in weight must be attributed to the type of salt fed.

The experiment began on August 31, 1950, and was concluded on December 8, 109 days later. During this period the cattle were fed the following average daily ration: 9 lbs. of silage, 16 lbs. of grain, 1 1/4 lbs. of dehydrated alfalfa, 1 lb. shorts pellets with stibestrol and 1.5 oz. of salt scattered over the feed. Free choice salt was also provided. While this was the average daily feed per head in each lot, the control group received plain salt whereas the test group was given T-M (trace-mineralized) Salt. The owners of the lots asked themselves two questions: Will there be any appreciable difference in gain between the two lots, and what will be the cost of that gain? The answer to both these questions was an overwhelming and unqualified "Yes."

The average daily gain for the control cattle (plain salt) was 2.14266 lbs. The test cattle (trace-mineralized salt) gained an average of 2.22761 lbs. per head each day, or an added .08495 lbs. over the control group. For the 109-day period, the total average gain was 233.55 lbs. in the control group contrasted with 242.81 lbs. in the test group. In other words, trace-mineralized salt provided an extra 9.26 lbs. per head.

The added investment in feed costs amounted to 17 cents per head of cattle for the full 109-day period—based on an average intake of 2 oz. of T-M (trace-mineralized) Salt per day. However, the important consideration for the feed lot operator is how much each cwt. of gain is going to cost in terms of feed. For the control group the gain cost was $19.97 per cwt., while the test group cost only $18.63 per cwt., or a savings of $1.34 per cwt. With over 50,000 head of cattle to feed each year this amounts to a very considerable sum of money. As a result, the owners of the Monfort Feed Lots, Inc. have decided to feed all their cattle T-M (trace-mineralized) Salt.

The results of the Monfort experiment prove conclusively that more efficient and productive feeding can be obtained when Morton T-M Salt is substituted for plain salt. The increased cost per head is very slight, and it represents the farmers', ranchers' and feed lot owners' insurance that they are getting the most for their feeding dollar.

For 27 Texans, Their Last 4th Of July!

... don't let an automobile become your tomb

Thousands of Texas motorists will flock to the highways this weekend for the long three day holiday -- unfortunately, some of them won't be coming home.

The Texas Highway Department has forecast that 27 Texans will die violent deaths over the Fourth -- deaths that could easily be avoided by a little highway courtesy, little less speed or a little knowledge of chemistry (knowing that alcohol and gasoline are a deadly mixture).

Death is no stranger to the highways of Lamb County or to the streets of Littlefield.

Early in January of this year, two women met their deaths four miles southeast of Littlefield on Highway 84.

The 1952 model car in which the women were driving swerved off the right side of the highway, crooked over to the left hand side of the road, and smashed into a telephone pole unended.

Investigating officers found several half pints of whiskey near the scene of the accident.

Were these deaths avoidable?

In Mid-March, a city couple were killed when their pickup was demolished by a 52-car freight train. The man and his wife became victim number three and four for the Grim Reaper in Lamb County.

Two weeks later a Bainer resident became victim number five when he was involved in a two car collision near Anton.

Tragedy lashed out at a Littlefield teenager in April and the boy became victim number six in Lamb County.

The boy was driving a small Go-Kart.

A 63-year-old city woman became statistic number seven in early May when her car overturned twice off a dirt farm road into a ditch.

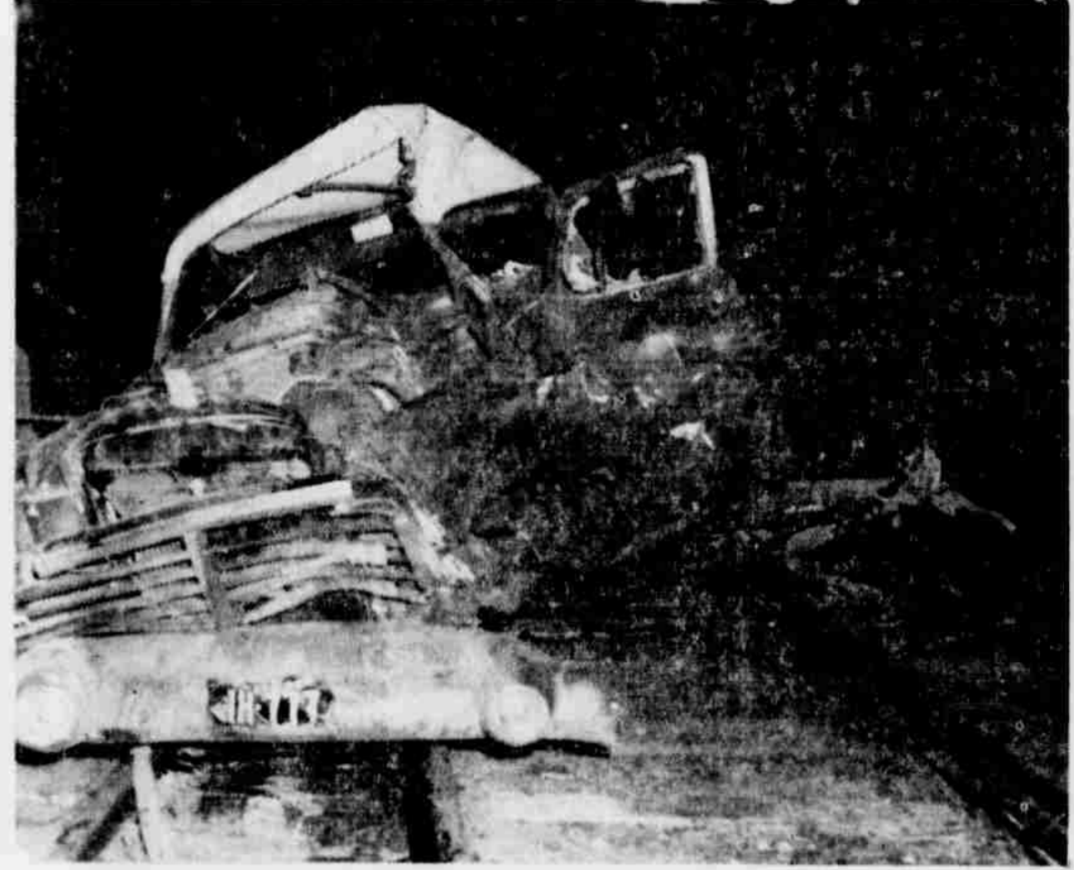

An so it may happen to the unthinking driver this weekend.

The automobile can be a deadly weapon. It can kill as quickly as a bullet or a knife. All it needs is a split second glance by the driver to the side of the highway and -- Bang -- that's all.

Most assuredly, there are accidents -- mishaps that cannot be avoided. But the real murderer on the highway is the driver who thinks he is a race driver when he gets a couple of beers or a few drinks under his belt.

It's old and it's trite -- but how true the words are:

If You Drink Don't Drive -- If You Drive Don't Drink!

Francis Smiley Installed As MYF President

SUDAN -- Francis Smiley was installed as president of the MYF of the First Methodist Church at candlelighting installation services held Sunday at the church. "Light of the World" was the theme for the services which followed a covered dish luncheon attended by some 30 members and guests, including the new pastor, Rev. Grady Adcock and family.

Installing officer was Mrs. J. W. House, MYF counsellor.

Other officers taking office were vice president Laurie Shaffer; secretary, Dyanne Curry; treasurer, Marilyn Driver; chairman of Christian faith and relation, Bob Smith; chairman of Christian fellowship and recreation, Carol Masten; chairman of Christian outreach, Jackie Van Ness.

In the officers line were Mrs. Dalton Wood, WSCS, youth secretary. Organist for the occasion was Jimmy Landrum.

Kenneth Burgess is co-sponsor of the group. Mrs. House expressed the appreciation of the members for the nice luncheon served by the parents preceding the services.

... keep on your side of the road, the safe side

The U. S. Navy first tried (designed by John Ericsson, which was launched in Philadelphia, 1843) propellers on a ship in 1843 on the USS Princeton, an iron-hulled ship. Founded in 1775, the U. S. Marine Corps was developed to serve on land or sea.

Go Too Far On That Safety Expert Warns

Your safety is as important as your July 4 trip as you plan to drive. "We are going to do our very best to reduce traffic accidents during this Fourth of July weekend, but we will need the help of every driver to accomplish the job," Major Hutchison concluded.

National Safe Boating Week Set July 3-9

The Texas Highway Department, official boat - registering agency for the State of Texas, cautioned all motorboat operators to use common sense afloat at all times -- not just during National Safe Boating Week, July 3 - 9.

The Texas Water Safety Act requires accident reports to be filed with the Texas Highway Department. Reports to date indicate inattention and unsafe conduct on the part of boat operators cause 63 per cent of motorboat accidents. Weather conditions account for 21 per cent. The Department points out however, that some of the weather - caused accidents could have been avoided if the operators had checked local weather reports.

Department statistics indicate that 90 per cent of the operators involved in accidents have had more than 100 hours of experience -- shattering the popular belief that inexperienced boat operators have the most accidents.

The Highway Department urges a two-man crew when pulling a skier -- one to operate the boat, and the other to keep an eye on the skier and give instructions to the operator. More than half (53 per cent) of the reported accidents are classified as collision with another boat or object.

Cub Pack Has Boating Party

WHITHARRAL -- Friday was a gala day for the Whitharral Cub Scouts as their pack met at Bull Lake. They enjoyed boating, water skiing, and surf boat riding. Later in the evening they spread a picnic supper.

Cotton Harvest By Machinery Gains Sharply

Increased mechanization marked the 1959 - 60 cotton harvest in Texas. In keeping with the national trend, machine stripping and picking accounted for 41 per cent of the Texas upland cotton harvest. A year earlier, it was 35 per cent.

Cotton Harvest By Machinery Gains Sharply

Increased mechanization marked the 1959 - 60 cotton harvest in Texas. In keeping with the national trend, machine stripping and picking accounted for 41 per cent of the Texas upland cotton harvest. A year earlier, it was 35 per cent. Hand picking and snapping, with 56 per cent, still predominated, however.

A survey by the Agricultural Marketing Service, in cooperation with ginners, compressmen and warehousemen, shows that 42 per cent of the state's 4,371,000 bales ginned was hand snapped, and 14 per cent hand picked, compared to 49 and 16 per cent, respectively, in 1958 - 59. Machine picking gained from 4 to 10 per cent, and machine stripping increased from 31 to 34 per cent.

By comparison, the 1959 - 60 national average was 39 per cent hand picked; 18 per cent, a n d snapped; 31 per cent, machine picked (a new high); and 12 per cent machine stripped. A year earlier, U. S. growers harvested 41 per cent by hand picking; 22 per cent by hand snapping; 21 per cent, machine picking; and 13 per cent by machine strippers.

Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico, with 48, 34 and 5 per cent, respectively, were the only states that employed machine stripping extensively. South Carolina led with 92 per cent hand picked cotton and California was first in machine picking with 83 per cent.

The AMS survey also reveals that Texas growers paid an average of $15.94 for ginning and wrapping each 500 - pound gross weight bale. A year earlier it was $15.40. Charges for bagging a n d ties, alone, averaged $4.34 a bale, 8 cents more than in 1958 - 59. The national average last season was 15.02, total charges, and 4.29 for bagging and ties only.

Last year, it took 1,435 pounds of Texas hand - picked seed cotton to make an average 500-pound bale, compared to the Cotton Belt average of 1,406. A bale of a b d - snapped cotton in Texas required 1,852 pounds; machine picked, 1,513; and machine stripped, 1,078.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

What do we mean when we say that in the United States we have a "government of law" and not a "government of men"? Basically we mean that we have certain individual rights, guaranteed by our federal and state constitutions and laws, which may not be denied by any governing body.

The early American colonists had their fill of government by men, and the Declaration of Independence, signed 184 years ago, set out their complaints against that type of government and revealed their belief in a principle which we now accept as basic to our American way of life.

The indictments set out in the document against King George III of Great Britain charged him with numerous violations of that principle. Among the complaints enumerated are the following:

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent for laws for establishing judicial powers."

"He has made judges dependent upon his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

"He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation: . . . For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury; for transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses; . . . For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments; . . . For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever."

Our forefathers who subscribed to the principles of the Declaration of Independence were willing to fight for their beliefs. The Revolutionary War followed, dragging through weary years of suffering and suspense. Each of us time punch was served to Mrs. Robinson, Ralph Wade, Billy Williams, Ed Blackwell, H. E. Wade, Fred Newsom, and C. G. Landers.

Cotton Insect Spray Tested

Tests on the residual toxicities of chlorinated hydrocarbon and organophosphorus insecticides to cotton insects have recently been completed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the Entomology Research Division of the USDA.

Organophosphorus insecticides tested were toxaphene, dieldrin, endrin, and dieldrin. Chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides tested were parathion, Guthion and Phosdrin.

The residual properties of endrin and Sevin appeared to be quite similar in tests on the boll weevil. Based on residual properties along, toxaphene and dieldrin ranked with endrin and Sevin, but the initial toxicities of dieldrin and endrin to the boll weevil were appreciably greater than those of toxaphene.

Results obtained in tests on the boll weevil paralleled those obtained in cotton leafworm, salt marsh caterpillar and garden webworm tests.

Of the organophosphorus insecticides, Guthion appeared to be the most resistant to weathering. The residual effectiveness of Phosdrin was very limited under all conditions, and the rest of the insecticides fell between Guthion and Phosdrin.

For both the chlorinated hydrocarbon and the organophosphorus insecticides the residual effectiveness of sprays was less affected by weather than that of dust compounds. All spray materials used were prepared from emulsifiable concentrates, and all dusts were formulated with commercial diluents.

A Texas Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin, B-951, which contains the results of these tests, has been published. This bulletin may be obtained by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

returns from the investment of state trust funds.

Sen. Hubert Hudson heads the panel which is studying administration and investment of four funds totaling $1,200,000,000. They are the University Permanent Fund, the Permanent School Fund, the Teachers Retirement System Fund and the State Employees Retirement Fund.

Mortgage bankers suggested to the panel that the funds could earn a higher return without sacrifice of safety by investing in government - insured home mortgages. Some panel members observed that the funds now invested in federal bonds were not earning as much as was being lost through inflation.

For the past three years some of the University's Permanent Fund has been invested in corporate securities which has increased its earnings over what it had been from government bonds.

Senators also discussed the possibility of saving through a unified organization for administration and counseling on the four funds.

GAS DECISION AWAITED - State of Texas and the natural gas pipeline companies are waiting for a decision in the first round of a long series of court fights on the validity of the natural gas severance beneficiary tax.

A total of 108 lawsuits have been filed against the tax by pipeline companies. Their attorneys argue that it, like the old natural gas gathering tax that was knocked down by the courts, is unconstitutional because it constitutes a burden on interstate commerce.

Companies have paid the $6,303,878 in severance taxes under protest. If the law is struck down in the courts, the money will be refunded to the companies.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, arguing for the state, declared the law is not unfair to interstate commerce because it treats gas sold outside of Texas and gas sold within the state exactly the same.

WARNING FOR DRIVERS - This year's Fourth of July falls on Monday, making a longer holiday for fun - and accidents.

Department of Public Safety has predicted 27 traffic deaths in Texas between 11:15 p. m. July 2 and 11:59 p. m. July 4.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director, said all available patrolmen, including those from licensing and weights and inspection would be on the road.

"Their purpose is to tender a service to the traveling public," said Garrison. "They need the full cooperation of all motorists in driving safely and sanely at all times."

SAUNDERS CASE ARGUED - Court of Criminal Appeals is to rule next fall in a case hinging on whether a witness can be convicted of perjury in connection with testimony before a legislative committee.

Defendant in the case is J. Byron Saunders, former chairman of the State Board of Insurance, who was convicted and sentenced to two years imprisonment for lying to a legislative committee about funds received from ICI Insurance Co. while he was in office. Saunders' attorney contended that perjury is possible only before a judicial body, not before a legislative committee.
