3-YEAR PACT TO SUPT. GLENN REEVES School Leaders Get Contracts

Thirteen Littlefield School administrators were awarded new contracts in what amounted to a "vote of confidence" during the first regular 1964 school board meeting Monday night at the school tax office.

Supt. Glenn Reeves was voted a new three-year pact, as was tax assessor-collector Sid Hoping.

As has been the policy of the board, new two-year contracts were awarded most of the other administrators -- James Pirkey, high school principal; John Howle, football coach and director of athletics; Dave Tullis, director of curriculum and guidance; Forrest Martin, junior high principal; Mrs. Joyce Oliver, school nurse; Mrs. Forrest Martin, cafeteria supervisor; and Forrest Moore, supervisor of maintenance and transportation.

Mrs. John Driskill, in her first complete year as elementary curriculum coordinator, and Edwin Hall, new elementary counselor, were given new one-year pacts.

In other action, the board called a trustee election for April 4, employed four new teachers, accepted resignations of three teachers, approved several changes in the building program, and discussed several other matters.

The terms of Jack Barton, board president, and Delbert Ross expire this year. The board briefly discussed a proposal of electing trustees by places. If the state law permits such a procedure in this district, the board plans to discuss the matter again Jan. 27.

Teacher resignations were accepted from Miss Althea Kattan, first grade; Mrs. Glenn Reeves, sixth grade; and Mrs. Anne Werhane, junior high physical education. New teachers approved for employment were Mrs. Anita Longshore, sixth grade; Sandra Martin, junior high PE; Mrs. Edith Weed and Mrs. Patricia Thompson, first grade.

Trustees approved a change in water line construction at the new high school and also approved the use of Solar tile in the new field house. Further study is scheduled on costs of underground telephone conduit and other lines in the buildings.

Trustees also approved a regular financial statement and minutes of previous meeting.

GOPs To Vote In All But 3 County Boxes

Lamb county Republicans will have primary election balloting in all but three of the county's election boxes on May 2, but indications are there will be no county candidates on the ballot.

This was the opinion in a Monday night executive committee meeting of the county GOP, headed by W. H. Carter, county executive committee chairman.

"We'll skip the three smallest boxes, but vote in the others," Carter said. A primary election is almost certain in the U.S. Senate race, the meeting decided, and perhaps in other statewide races.

A Republican goal last fall was to have candidates for a number of county offices. However, Carter pointed out, the death of President Kennedy has somewhat lessened partisan feeling for the 1964 election "on a local level."

The committee expects an all-out national campaign and activity in many states and districts.

Judges for election boxes in the May 2 primary are being selected by Carter and the committee.

AT COUNTY GOP MEETING -- Early arrivals at the Lamb County Republican Party planning session Monday night in the city council meeting room were, left to right: Sam Barnden of Springlake, Bill Carter, county chairman of Littlefield, Archie Brown of Spade, K. W. Mahaffey of Hart Camp, Mayor Bill Thomas of Olton, Bob Manley and Ray Keeling of Littlefield.

FOR SMALL JOBS ONLY

County Sets Rates On Equipment Use

Lamb County Commissioners set standard rates to be charged for use of county equipment and took action on a host of other items during a busy 150-day business session Monday and Tuesday.

The discussion on rates came after meeting with a number of dirt contractors in the county. The new policy will be to take only small jobs -- none exceeding $60 -- and no terraces will be constructed.

The four-part policy: (1) A maximum of $60 on any one job while performing soil conservation work with county equipment; (2) terraces will not be constructed; (3) a rate of $25 will be made for digging slush pits for irrigation wells; and (4) any jobs whereby a motor grader is used will be at the rate of $10 per hour.

In a move which had been discussed before, commissioners voted to give no more Christmas bonuses, effective Jan. 1, 1964.

Lucy M. Moreland, county treasurer, was restored to full-time duty and salary following a 6-months partial leave of absence. The court had authorized the leave of absence effective July 1, 1963, and appointed Hilda Cummings as deputy county treasurer.

After hearing a report from the state highway department, the court approved a contract on right-of-way utility adjustment with Bailey County Electric Co-Op Assn. It was in connection with the relocation of about two miles of electric pole line facilities on US-84 from the Bailey County line to FM-744.

Commissioners okayed a $25 per month salary increase from Barney Green, chief custodian of the courthouse, and approved employment of Donald Green as assistant custodian. The latter will replace Dale Green, who has been inducted into the U.S. Army.

In other business, commissioners approved the treasurer's quarterly report, approved budgets of the county clerk, county tax assessor-collector and district court reporter, and approved county and precinct bills. Report from the extension service office were also approved.

DO SMOKE OR NOT TO SMOKE -- A typical Littlefield smoker reads over the recent government science panel's report which indicates that cigarettes are a cause of cancer. Like some of the scientists on the panel, the local smoker has a nicotine mistress in hand as he reads the findings of the committee.

Smokers Eye Report

As might be expected, the Lamb County reaction to the government report linking cigarettes and cancer was similar to that publicized over much of the nation.

Comments from smokers ranged from a definite "I'm quitting" to a clear-cut decision to stop puffing "even if I am driving nails in my coffin."

Comments from non-smokers ranged from "I told you so" to "a man would be foolish not to quit after this report."

Many smokers who can't bear the thought of giving up their nicotine mistress, with or without filters, have come up with some good--if illogical--reasons or methods to keep burning the tobacco.

One Littlefield smoker, with tongue in cheek, has a brilliant idea. After reading somewhere that it is not harmful to smoke 10 cigarettes a day, or 5 cigars, or 10 pipe-loads of tobacco, he came up with this solution: He'll smoke 9 cigarettes, 4 cigars and 9 pipes of tobacco!

Others take a more serious view, and local druggists report the sale of patented pills to help a smoker shake the habit, have risen sharply. The sale of chewing gum and candy drops, often used to replace the desire for a smoke, may increase slightly, too.

Although many smokers vow they'll never light up another "weed," there may be more who decide to either "cut down" or just keep up their normal--or abnormal--smoking habits.

A typical reaction of many smokers was that they derived too much pleasure from smoking or felt they would be unable to shake the habit. One local man indicated cigarettes "calmed his nerves" when he was under the stress of his work.

Another claimed he quit once before and "gained too much weight." Non-smokers find it hard to accept most reasons offered--they think it simply a matter of will power.

The U.S. tobacco industry is sure to be wondering just how strong smokers' will powers are going to be. The recent report is certain to effect the $8 billion-a-year business. It remains to be seen, however, how many of the 70 million Americans (more than half of the adult population) will give up the smoking habit.

One can put a pencil to the problem, however, and see that the industry could take its lumps if only a small percentage quit smoking. If 10 persons in Littlefield gave up smoking, this could mean a loss of about $30 per week in revenue for the tobacco industry.

If this ratio was applied to (See SMOKERS, Page 7)

HOWDY!

Are you smoking less these days, and enjoying it more?

Our associate, Speedy Nicotian, a regular two-pack cigarette man, was down to one pack Monday after Surgeon General Luther Terry's official declaration that those things will kill you.

They will. Probably been killing people forever with all those per rich tobaccos with Turkish ends, toasted to your taste and all. Probably been a few casualties from all that Marlboro tatting and those fights over Tartrons.

Somebody had to blow the whistle sometime, and Gen. Terry was the man. If he had not around to reading Readers Digest earlier he would have been this before.

Still, it sort of shakes a fellow up to see all these suicide-bound people tapping out one after another of those lethal white cylinders.

Time was when a fellow wanted a smoke he tugged out his pack of Durham and rolled one a cigarette. There were few chain smokers in those days, the ready-roll was what fouled up the industry.

I'm a cigar smoker and up to me a day I'm safe. By official decision. There are lots of us around and, what with lighting up a half-dozen times a cigar, you can almost stay within five cigars on a busy day.

There are lots of side benefits to being a stogie man. One is that you can really be a tobacco chewer and retain your social status. Society takes a low view of tobacco chewers as such, but lots of stogie men sit around in polite company and chomp away on the weed without being asked to leave the room. It's sneaky, but it works.

It's about the only way you see tobacco chewing anymore, except by baseball pitchers and even their numbers are disappearing. It detracts from their shaving cream and Vitalis commercial image.

In passing, I once flew some time with a pilot who was a chewer. Periodically, he would flap open his side window and let fly into a 200-mile slip stream. Some of the stuff got outside and we had the only plane in the training command that was OD-camouflaged on just one side--and INSIDE. He wasn't old enough to smoke cigars.

But tobacco chewing never gave anyone lung cancer and probably was a health positive, what with killing all those bacteria in the mouth that ruin your teeth. My grandfather died at a ripe old age with dark brown teeth--but WITH his teeth.

But back to the cigar, and its bright future. It is a turn of the wheel. Years ago the cigar had its troubles.

If you can remember that far back, there were those less-than-cultural ads that warned: "Spit is a terrible thing...but it's worse on the end of your cigar." These were usually illustrated with some uncouth picture of a fellow expectorating on the sidewalk.

These messages were aimed at the ancient custom that cigar rollers had of twirling those fragrant leaves into a tapered cylinder and, finally, sealing them with a good lick of the tongue the same way you would an envelope.

This went on for years until some company figured how to do this in a more sanitary manner. Then they let fly at their competitors down in Cuba who were still using the tongue method.

Almost wrecked the cigar industry. But with science it came back. Today cigars are put together largely by automation and are sealed in place by some approved method, probably on a Pitney-Bowes machine.

Even the cigar has changed, and we credit our friend Norman Renfro with this research.

Today's cigar is not whipped up from whole leaves. It is, instead, made up of coarsely ground tobacco shaped and packed, then wrapped around with a couple of leaves to keep it firm. It is a sort of improved cigarette.

At least one company, a Texas outfit, still does it from the leaves--sanitarily--and Norman smokes those, as do a lot of people. And THESE GUYS would rather fight than switch.

Anyway, I'm with Gen. Terry this time. He has been sort of an alarmist before on cranberries and oral polio vaccine. But this time he has his feet planted firmly, with BOTH the American Medical Association and the Readers Digest solidly with him.

That, in passing, is not a coalition you observe often either.

Gen. Terry probably is a cigar smoker, too, or maybe a pipe man. Those things won't get your lungs but they've been blamed with lip cancer.

The only way to go is with cigars. They may smell to high heaven, but they're safe.

In fact, to update an old adage, what this country needs is not a good 5-cent cigar -- but a good 10-cent one would sure help.

RESIDENT SINCE 1912--WIDOW OF CITY DEVELOPER

Mrs. Sarah H. Duggan Dies

Mrs. Sarah H. Duggan, 85, widow of the developer of Littlefield and a resident since 1912, died here Sunday in Medical Arts Hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Duggan were held Tuesday in Austin, with burial in the State Cemetery there, where her husband, the late State Senator Arthur P. Duggan, is buried.

Senator Duggan laid out Littlefield in 1912, for its beginning as a city in 1913. He handled sale of lots and farm land around the city, and was a leading figure in the towns development until his death in 1935.

Mrs. Duggan was the niece of Major George Littlefield, who founded the city and for whom it is named. Major Littlefield, who died in 1920, bought 235,000 acres from the old XIT ranch that included the Littlefield site and land for miles around it. She was the mother of Arthur P. Duggan, Littlefield attorney, and Mrs. David Gracy of Austin. Her death closed a busy and varied career that, beside an active home career, included accomplishments in art, music, club work, community development and cake baking--in which she once was West Texas champion.

She traveled frequently and was at Ruidoso, N.M., two weeks ago when she became ill and returned here.

Her home remained Littlefield, although she resided much of the time in Austin and in California.

Mrs. "Sallie" Duggan was born in Gonzales on July 4, 1877, the daughter of Theophilus Eugene Harrah and Martha Littlefield Harrah.

At an early age she made her home with Major and Mrs. Littlefield, who had no children and reared her as their daughter.

She attended Hood Seminary, Mary Nash College and the University of Texas, and studied music with a Professor Ludwig. She was an accomplished pianist and organist.

She and Senator Duggan gave an organ to the Presbyterian church and she was church organist for years.

Her study interests also included art. Late in her life she took up portrait work and studied portraiture in California with Penhryn Stanslaw, internationally known painter.

She and Senator Duggan were prime founders of the First Presbyterian church here, in which Mrs. Duggan was a member at her death. She also was a charter member of the Woman's Study Club in Littlefield and was here for its 50th anniversary meeting in June.

She was a member of the DAR and a lifetime member of the Texas Fine Arts Association. Cake baking was a lifetime hobby with her. She entered contests over a wide area when these were popular and for a time was cake baking champion of West Texas.

One was baked for President Franklin D. Roosevelt and delivered to him in person by Mrs. Duggan. Another time she sent one to the president of Mexico.

In recent years, Mrs. Duggan has recalled the early days of her family's life in Littlefield.

Mr. Duggan, who was in real estate development in Dallas, came out to the area early in 1912 when Major Littlefield envisioned a town in the center of Yellowhouse ranch lands, which he was opening for sale as farms.

With a surveyor, the late W.D. Twitchell, Mr. Duggan laid out the streets of Littlefield and established lots. The layout was in agreement with the Santa Fe railroad who agreed to extend their rail line to the new city.

The Duggans moved out here in the winter of 1912, living first in a small house on an experimental farm, located about where 9th street and Hall Ave. intersect today.

A Dallas friend suggested on the family move: "Imagine taking that city raised gal out in this God forsaken country."

Early in 1913, however, the Duggans built a large family home on E. 9th Street, occupied today by the family of Arthur P. Duggan, Jr.

All lumber for the house was (See DUGGAN, Page 7)

Vote Turnout Light In Water District Election

Willie Green was elected as district committeeman for the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District from precinct 1 in Lamb County, but a tie resulted between Leroy Fisher and Raymond Harper in a light voter turnout in precinct 4 Tuesday.

The annual water district election had a total voter turnout of about 72 in Lamb County. The county approved the annexation of Swisher County land by a one-sided 65-7 margin, but voters in Swisher turned down the question--thus elimination of the proposal.

In precinct 1, Green drew 12 votes to 3 for J.L. Snider, Fisher and Harper each got two votes, and the district office was unable to state what procedure would be taken Wednesday.

Weldon Newsom of Morton won the district director's post for Lamb, Hockley and Cochran counties. Other candidates were H.J. Schmidly, J. G. Velland, H.G. Walker and V.E. Diering of Swisher and Lamb County voters.

DUGGAN

hailed by mule wagons from Lubbock.
 Her early landscaping efforts raised questions by other newcomers. When she brought in cedar sticks from the Yellow-house ranch headquarters they were viewed doubtfully.

"They told me nothing would grow out here." And when she brought in elms from Missouri, the plains people called them "hitching posts." Those "hitching posts" are large, beautiful shade trees on the home grounds today. The Duggan garden was a showplace for the area.

The business of opening a new country and developing a city was a central activity for the family. Arthur, Sr., was instrumental in setting up the first school in 1913 and for years was president of the Littlefield school board.

His enthusiasm extended to the whole area. He was president of the West Texas chamber of commerce in 1926 and went to the State Senate in 1932. He was serving as senator when he died in 1935.

Mrs. Duggan and Arthur, Jr., took a trip to Europe in 1937, and she traveled extensively in the United States.
 Besides her daughter and son, survivors include six grandchildren. They are Alex H. Duggan of Austin, Sallie and Buddy Duggan of Littlefield, Mrs. Earl Wise of Evanston, Ill., Mrs. Bill Harmon of Abilene and David Bergen Gracy II of Austin. Five great grandchildren also survive.

DIGGING OUT FOR REPAIRS -- Workmen are uncovering a city cement ground storage tank on Houston Ave. in order to repair cracks in the water reservoir. This is the final step in making the city eligible for a state-approved system. A 14-inch line will be installed at the same time, providing for a larger outlet into the city pumping station. The concrete tank at the Davis booster station east of town is also to be patched up. ---LEADER STAFF PHOTO

Hungry Thief Hits Grocery
 A hungry burglar made off with 30 pounds of bacon, 12 pounds of sausage, 4 pounds of pressed ham, 4 dozen eggs and 8 chickens after breaking into the Jim Dandy Grocery at 322 W. Delano early Sunday morning.

Police said James Evans reported the loss of the groceries Sunday, in addition to $75 in coins, 25 pair of nylon hose, $5 worth of razor blades and a case of cigarettes.

Investigating officers said the thief gained entry by breaking in a window at the rear of the grocery.

Police arrested two men on shoplifting charges this week, and jailed another on drunk and disturbance charges.

The city's fourth wreck of the year occurred Tuesday at 8:25 a.m. on N. Wicker near Reed Ave. Damage was minor when drivers of two cars backed out of private driveways and collided in the street. Drivers of the vehicles were Elta R. Blevins and Rosie T. Flores.

Clubs Maps Cleanup For 'Flats'
 A cleanup campaign for the "flats" section of Littlefield was mapped for February in a Tuesday night meeting of city officials and members of the city planning commission with the Community Club of the "flats" area.

The campaign is scheduled to run February 5 to 15. It will include a general cleanup of the area of the city above the railroad tracks, in the northeast corner of town.

Community club members will outline and head up the campaign. D. C. Stewart is club president, Tony Johnson is vice president and Horace Henderson is secretary.
 About 55 persons attended the Tuesday night planning meeting. Representing the city were Otis Bennett, David Penn, James Shotwell, Mrs. T. L. Dunlap and Rev. John Hill.

Reward Out For Vandals

Information that will bring to justice some rifle-packing vandals who recently shot up two airplanes at Sudan is worth $1,000 there today.
 A $1,000 fund has been deposited in the Sudan bank by 10 persons interested in flying, under a Citizens Reward Fund.

"It will be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of whoever shot up the planes," explained Calvin Jordan, one of the group.

Two light planes belonging to Joe Kent and Jack VanNess were shot up at the Sudan airport, south of town, around January 2. An estimated $500 damage was done to the planes.

Sheriff's officers were brought into the case about two weeks ago.

Williams Is Named District Scout Chairman
 Dr. Aaron Williams of Littlefield has been elected as George White district chairman of the Boy Scouts of America, South Plains Council.

Dr. Williams has assumed his duties and will be officially installed during a district meeting in April.

The district is composed of Lamb, Bailey, Hockley and Cochran counties, excluding the towns of Olton and Ropesville. Approximately 1,500 boys are being served in the district under the leadership of some 350 adult Scouters.

Chairmen named by Dr. Williams include Edwin Hall, leadership training; Kenneth Rottan, organization and extension; Glenn Reeves, health and safety, and Ray B. Helton of Levelland, advancement.

Spade Blaze Causes $2,000 Loss Sunday

A fire at Plains Gas Co. of Spade caused about $2,000 damage to office and storage facilities Sunday afternoon, but fortunately no butane gas was ignited.

Littlefield and Anton volunteer fire departments answered the fire alarm at 5 p.m. and brought the blaze under control. Grodon Wakefield, gas company manager, said the fire apparently started in a stack of air-conditioner pads, but the cause was not known.

Wakefield, who lives next door to the plant, happened to see smoke from his house and called in the fire alarm. The greatest damage resulted from smoke, it was reported.
 Along with the pads, two heaters and various other small items were destroyed by the blaze. Plains Gas was completely destroyed by fire at Spade about two years ago.

BABY-SITTING SERVICE: Mothers to March On January 28

The annual Mothers March for the March of Dimes is scheduled for January 28 for all parts of Littlefield, reports Mrs. Betty Smith, March chairman.

A special service of the 1964 March will be a baby-sitting service for March workers with children. Members of the Rainbow Girls, with adult supervision, will keep children of March mothers at the Ruddy Room from 6 p.m. until the March is completed, about 7:30 p.m. January 28.

"We're making all preparations possible to assure that mothers can take part in the March, and to expedite the calls on homes over Littlefield," Mrs. Smith said. "We'll meet at the courthouse at 6 p.m., and hope to have everyone reported back in from their calls by 7:30."

The March of Dimes campaign, with funds earmarked for work to prevent birth defects and other physical disabilities in children, is not a part of the United Fund program.

Rev. Robert Longshore on Conference Program

The forty-third annual Panhandle Pastor's and Layman's Conference was held Monday and Tuesday at Plainview. Three sessions were held each day. The morning and afternoon sessions were in College Heights Baptist Church and the evening sessions were in First Baptist Church, Plainview.

Rev. Robert Longshore, pastor of First Baptist Church, Littlefield, brought a message Monday morning on "The Word".

Many other well-known pastors and laymen were on the programs, including Dr. Strauss Atkinson of Canyon, who grew up in Littlefield, and Dr. Roy McClung, president of Wayland Baptist College, who is widely known in this area.

Rev. Thurman Upshaw, pastor of Central Baptist Church, Pampa, was elected president of the conference. He succeeds Dr. C. Melvin Rathel, pastor of Trinity, Lubbock.

Special emphasis of the conference was on the Bible and its purpose. The theme for the two day meeting was "The Word and Witnessing". Dr. Harold Graves, Golden Gate Seminary, Mill Valley, Calif. was the Bible teacher.

other towns and cities over the nation, it is easy to see the total would soon make a dent in the huge tobacco revenue figure.

A decrease in excise taxes also figures into the matter. Of the $8 billion spent on tobacco products last year, $3 billion went to federal, state and local governments in excise taxes.

Too, tobacco is the fifth largest cash crop in the U.S., being grown in 21 states by 750,000 farm families. Crops ahead of tobacco were cotton, wheat, corn and soybeans. Farmers received $1.3 billion for tobacco crops last year.

The High-Plains T-Bone Club was officially organized at Hereford recently. Paul Engler, manager of the Hereford Feed Yard, was elected president; Joe Easley of the Easley Feed Lot was named vice-president, and Foster Parker of Happy was named secretary-treasurer.

NO CONSERVATION HERE--The result of water erosion in a bar ditch is clearly illustrated in this Lamb County Soil Conservation District photo. The scene was made two miles south and two miles east of Fieldton. This could have been prevented with stabilizing conservation practices.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Control Of Water Vital To Farmers

Lamb County SCS Office The key to successful farming is the control and use of water. Rain water that runs off of the farmland to play lakes is of no benefit to anyone.

Also this process of water rapidly flowing across the surface will cause gully and sheet erosion, thereby reducing the value and productivity of the soil. Excessive irrigation water can also cause the same kind of damage but in lesser extent than rain water.

Beneficial use of water, whether rainfall or irrigation water, is interrelated with other management practices. Fertilization plays a very important role in a good management program.

A very important part of a successful fertilization program is carried out in the fall and winter months, by applying a nitrogen fertilizer to grain sorghum stubble of to cotton burns to hasten decomposition. The question might be asked: What does this have to do with the control and use of water?

During the decomposition process, organic matter is added to the soil. High organic content increases the water-holding capacity of the soil, and improves soil structure and tilth.

The organic matter also reduces evaporation of the water due to capillary action. The formation and technical specialists available to assist Lamb County farmers in solving their water problems. This is in the form of a soil and water conservation plan prepared by farmer and the specialist provided by the district.

More information is available through the Soil Conservation office, located in the Lamb County courthouse.

Every time a Cadillac goes by, it seems someone falls in love with it.

Last year, for instance, more people moved up to Cadillac than ever before in history. And the way 1964 is starting off, Cadillac is going to attract more owners than even its beguiling predecessor. Why? We think the answer is easy.

Each year Cadillac simply lengthens its margin of product leadership—by introducing advancements and improvements that are entirely its own.

In 1964, for example, we've combined the heater and air conditioner in a single unit—with a single control. You set the thermostat at your favorite temperature just like you do at home—and the interior of the car holds it winter and summer. We call it Comfort Control*.

*An extra-cost option.

Then there's Cadillac's new Twilight Sentinel*. When it's time to turn on the lights, they switch on automatically . . . and then turn off when sufficient daylight returns. And in the evening, the headlights can be set to light your path from car to doorway and then turn off automatically after you have entered the house.

There's a lot more about the 1964 Cadillac just as new and just as exciting. Take performance, for example.

There's the exciting new 340 h.p. engine—the most powerful in Cadillac history—combined with the smoothness of an improved Hydra-Matic or the completely new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission.

Give in to your heart and get behind the wheel. Let your authorized Cadillac dealer introduce you to America's most desired motor car.

Mrs. Wallace Retires As Spade Postmistress

Mrs. H.R. Wallace, postmistress at Spade for 18 1/2 years, is now retired, effective December 30, 1963.

Many changes have taken place in the post office since Mrs. Wallace first became postmistress June 18, . . . At that time the post office was a corner of the Taylor Grocery Store, where Spade Hardware is now located. It was about 6' by 8' in size. It was then a fourth class post office, being made third class in 1948. Mrs. Wallace says her salary was $895 a year when she first became postmistress and was considerably larger when she retired. Along with this salary she also received a percentage of cancellation, which has since been discontinued.

At the time of her appointment there were only 40 post office boxes compared with the 116 at present. The office moved into the building now in use in 1946, but it was moved to the present location in 1948. It underwent a good bit of remodeling this past summer. Included in the remodeling program was the installation of boxes and fixtures purchased from Hale Center when a new post office was built there.

Mrs. Wallace stated that she always had the desire to be a postmistress, and began working for this goal by first being a clerk in the Spade Post Office. She succeeded Mrs. Alice Burns. Before she could fill this job she was required to take an examination along with several other applicants, and her score being the highest, she was appointed postmistress.

The Wallace's moved to the Spade community in February, 1943 from Hall County. Their three youngest children, Robert, Leroy and Herbert, graduated from school there, Leroy is still living at Spade and is owner of a garage and also farms. Robert and his family are residents of Carlsbad, N.M. Herbert and his family live in Plainview.

Other children of the Wallace's are Mrs. Evelyn Haley and Carlton Wallace, both of Fontana, Calif., and Dean of Spade.

When Mrs. Wallace was asked about her future plans, she replied, "First, take a good, long rest."

This will probably be difficult for her to do as she enjoys doing so many things.

At the top of her list of favorite pastimes are sewing and refinishing furniture. She gets a lot of satisfaction from making something pretty from something that is seemingly useless. She has completely redone some chairs including cushions, woodwork and all. She also enjoys repainting and redecorating the home.

Mrs. Wallace is a member of the Spade Baptist Church, assistant teacher of Dorcas Sunday School Class, and former pianist for the church.

Mr. Wallace, a retired farmer, spends a great deal of his spare time fishing. At present he is interested in making lamps. These are carved with a wood lathe. He has also made quite a few unusual lamps from the hubs of wagon wheels.

When asked if she would miss working, Mrs. Wallace replied, "The one thing I will miss is seeing the people". After seeing some of the patrons almost every day for years, this would naturally be the thing missed most by a retiring postmistress.

Mrs. Loy Mouser, a Spade postal clerk for several years, is acting postmistress until official appointment is made.

Area Methodist Plan Leadership School Here

Littlefield, Amherst, Spade and Anton churches will participate in a Leadership Training School at Littlefield First Methodist Church beginning Monday and continuing each night through Friday, Jan. 24. The school, to be conducted from 7:30 to 9:30 each night, will have five outstanding out-of-town teachers. Rev. Jack Ellzey, pastor of First Methodist Church of Littlefield, explained the purpose of the school as being "to help persons in the churches to better equip themselves to serve in Christ's name."

C. Eugene Matthews, Northwest Texas Conference Youth Director; "The Use of the Bible With Children," Rachel Divers, NTC director of children's work; "Foundations of Christian Teaching," Mrs. H.M. Secord, wife of the Methodist minister at Kress.

A variety of courses have been selected for teachers already involved in the Church school, for those who would like some basic training in teaching, for parents who want additional education in the use of the Bible with children, and for the general public who desire to know more about how to read and study the Bible.

The school is being sponsored by the church's Commission of Education. Mrs. Tom Hillbun is dean of the school.

Courses and teachers include "How to Read and Study the Bible," Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, pastor of First Methodist of Vernon; "Guiding Seniors," Barbara Sommerville of Lubbock, director of the Guadalupe Neighborhood Center; "Guiding Junior Highs," Rev.

Inspection Of Cars Slow

AUSTIN--The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., today reminded Texas vehicle owners that the 1964 vehicle inspection deadline will soon be upon them.

He reported that some 60 per cent of the allotted inspection period has elapsed and only 20 per cent of the vehicles have been inspected.

"If this trend continues, vehicle owners can expect to have to wait in line in order to get their vehicles inspected by the April 15 deadline," he said.

Garrison pointed out that Texas experienced its worst traffic fatality record in 1963 and vehicle defects were involved in some of these fatal accidents. He urged all Texans to begin the new year with safe vehicles and to keep them safe throughout the year. He added that vehicles involved in traffic accidents should be re-inspected after repairs have been made.

"Some 5,000 official inspection stations over the state are waiting to inspect the four million vehicles which will have to be inspected by April 15," the DPS director said. "There can be no extension of time, and after the deadline date of April 15, vehicles which come under the provisions of the Inspection Act which do not display the 1964 inspection sticker will be operating in violation of the law."
