REPORTS AUGUST 1ST

Paul Manning Named Superintendent

Paul W. Manning, 39, of Quitman, was named by the Littlefield Independent School Board, to fill the superintendent post vacated by Glenn Reeves.

The 39-year-old Manning, a graduate of Sam Houston State, is due to assume his new duties August 1, only three weeks prior to the start of the 1965 school year.

Prior to his acceptance of the Littlefield post, Manning has been the superintendent of Quitman public schools since 1957, and has spent 16 of his 17 years of school experience in the administrative field including terms as principal at Navasota and Madisonville.

In announcing the board's decision to employ Manning, board president, Buster Owens said, "The task of the personnel committee has been most difficult, but we feel the best applicant has been hired. Mr. Manning's experience and education in the field of school administration will be of great benefit to our school system." The board offered Manning a one-year contract at $13,300 and agreed to pay a portion of his moving expenses.

During his tenure as superintendent at Quitman, Manning has been involved in several successful building programs, and has helped develop staff training programs, effective in-service educational programs, in addition to working on district property evaluation and re-assessment programs. He is also credited with being a prime factor in establishing the Quitman system firm financial basis. When he assumed the post in 1957, the system was operating "in-the-red". He and the board have been able to keep the system within the adopted budget since he took over the helm in '57.

A history major, Manning has, in addition to his work at Sam Houston State, done post graduate work at East Texas State University and Texas A&M.

The new superintendent is married and the father of two children and is currently president of the Quitman Rotary Club and is on the board of the Quitman United Fund.

Manning told board president Buster Owens, he plans to move his family to Littlefield as soon as possible, probably the last week in July and he will be here for duty on August 1.

Schools To Receive Funds Under Public Law 89-10

Bob Everett and Steve Stearns of the Texas Education Agency, met with Lamb County and area School Superintendents Tuesday morning to implement the recently passed Public Law 89-10, and signed by the President Monday.

The law, titled Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 encompasses five programs (Titles), four of which provide Federal financial assistance to local educational agencies.

The meeting Tuesday dealt with Title I of the Law which pertains to financial assistance to local educational agencies for the education of children of low income families. Under the law counties are provided funds for education of children of families with less than $2,000 annual income.

Census figures show that an estimated 1,105 children aged 5 to 17 fall in the low income group in Lamb County.

Under the law the Texas Education Agency is sending representatives to each county to discuss with the school superintendents the number of these children in each school district.

Though the funds for the act have not yet been allocated the education agency is working on the premise that special grants will be made for the 1965-66 school year and the basic grant will go into effect the following year.

Under the law the school district will receive approximately $170 to $180 for each student falling under the law.

Each of the school superintendents at the meeting had to agree to the percentage of funds they would receive according to the students enrolled.

Under the division Littlefield School District will receive between $80,000 and $90,000 for the 496 students that fall into the low income group category.

Olton will receive the next largest amount with approximately $42,000 for a total of 245 students in the category. Other schools include Springlake with 140 students and around $24,000. Amherst with 86 students in the low income group will get approximately $15,000 and Sudan with 76 students will get around $13,000.

The other Lamb County school, Spade, has 42 students from families of low incomes and they will get around $7,000 under the law.

Muleshoe will also participate in the Lamb County portion as well as Bailey County, as 10 students attending Muleshoe live in this county. Pep and Amherst each had five students residing within Lamb County to fall within the program.

The funds are to be used primarily for programs and projects (including the acquisition of equipment and where necessary the construction of school facilities) which (A) are designed to meet the special educational needs of educationally deprived children in school attendance areas having high concentrations of children from low-income families and (B) are of sufficient size, scope and quality to give reasonable promise of substantial progress toward meeting those needs.

Those present at the meeting included County Superintendent of School J. Ray Stevens; and the following superintendents: A.D. Greer, Anton; Bill Mann, Springlake; W.E. Hancock, Sudan; Neal Dillman, Muleshoe; Joe Bailey, Spade; Coy Keahey, Pep and Archie Simms, Whitharral, Maureen Howard represented the Littlefield School District at the meeting.

Three accidents were reported to the Police Department during the past few days with the major one resulting in approximately $1,000 damages.

The accident occurred Sunday morning at 11:15 a.m. when Mrs. Edith Whitfield, Anton, suffered a fainting spell while driving her 1965 Ford West on 2nd Street.

The car continued on and into the garage of the house owned by D.W. Bawcom, 117 Westside, striking a 1961 Chevrolet and a 1964 Buick parked in the garage. The impact sent the Ford through the rear end of the garage.

Damages to the Whitfield auto were estimated at $160, while the Chevrolet suffered $190 damages and the Buick $60. In addition the garage was damaged to the extent of $300 and a deep freeze, and contents in the garage also suffered damages estimated at $300.

Mrs. Whitfield was not injured in the crash.

A one car accident Saturday evening caused $100 damage to a 1965 Plymouth driven by Bobby Cox, Littlefield, when he failed to make the turn onto the detour at the intersection of Highway 385 and Highway 84 by-pass. The car skidded into the embankment.

The other accident was caused by faulty traffic signals at 3rd and Phelps when a car driven by John Meige and a vehicle driven by Viggo Peterson collided at the intersection.

The signal lights were inoperative and both drivers claimed they thought they had a green light. The Meige car suffered $100 damage.

Jarmans Win Sixth Contest

Mrs. C.D. Jarman, 701 Sunset, Littlefield, is the sixth week's winner in the "Weekend in the Rockies" contest sponsored by Littlefield merchants and the County Wide News.

She and her husband have been area residents since 1925 and have lived in Littlefield the past 22 years.

Mr. Jarman at present does some farming and also operates the Nueces Insect Control firm. When told of her winning Mrs. Jarman stated it was the first time in her life she had ever won anything.

The winner's name was drawn as a preliminary winner at Foust Food which was the only place that she had registered during the past week.

The Jarmans are now eligible for a free weekend at a top motel, hotel or resort in the Rockies with all room expenses paid and meals free of charge, or a free weekend at Ramada Inns throughout New Mexico and Texas.

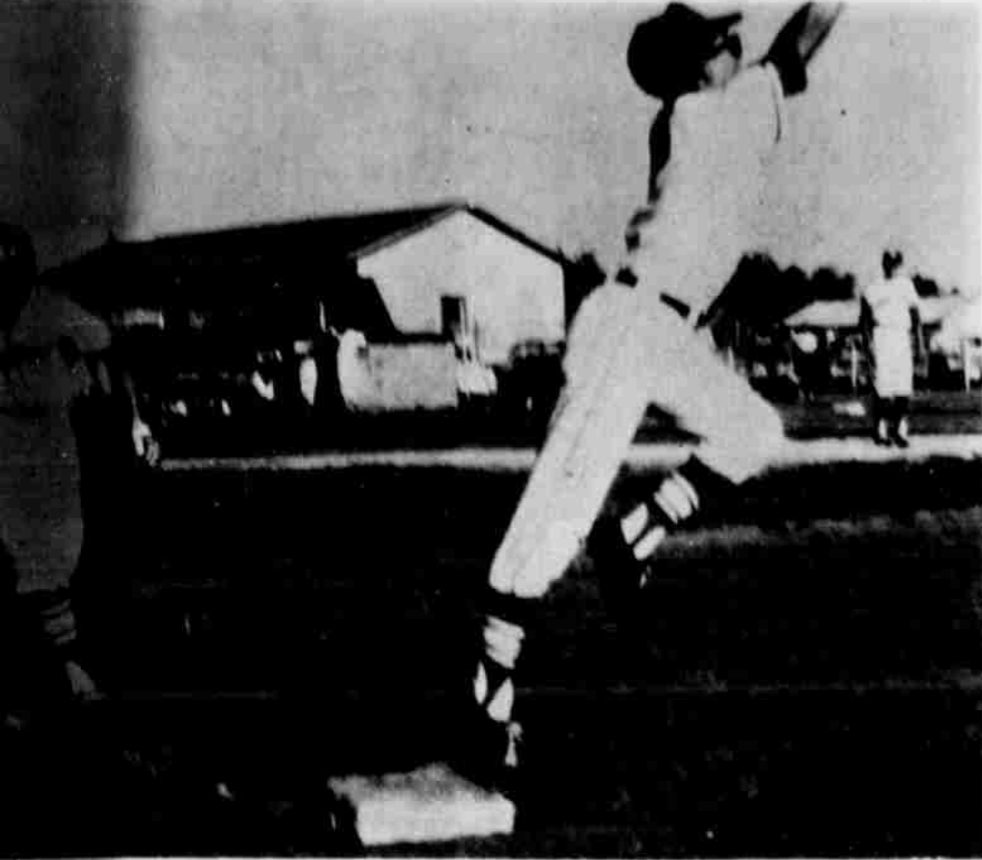

Power Increased At Radio Station

Littlefield radio station KZZN increased their signal output to 1000 watts effective last Saturday according to a statement by Gerald Sanders, station owner.

The increase to the 1,000 watts approved by the Federal Communications Commission in Washington raised the station's output from 250 watts which it had since the station's inception in 1947.

In addition to the increase in wattage all new equipment has been installed including a powerful Collins 20V3 transmitter. The increase in output has provided a much sharper listening signal in the area covered by the former power and has also increased the prime listening signal to a distance of 50 miles, with listeners reporting the signal heard in Fort Sumner, Hobbs and Amarillo.

The station also has installed a complete mobile transmitter KH 8030 which enables KZZN to make immediate broadcasts of any news happenings within the county. Mobile broadcasts have already been made from Sudan, Anton and Earth with the new equipment.

DOWN TELLS THE STORY -- Gary Pirkey's All-Star first baseman reaches in the air to take down a throw from stop Jerry Bellar as Anton pitcher Jimmy is thrown out at first. Pirkey got three hits as the All-Stars downed Anton 11-0 in the opening game of the Pony League Area Tournament. Littlefield also won Tuesday downing Dimmitt 12-7 to reach the finals.

Pony All-Stars In Finals Down Anton, Castro County

Littlefield's Pony League All-Stars advanced to the finals of the Area tournament at Anton by downing Anton-Shallowater 11-0 Monday night and coming back Tuesday evening to gain a 12 to 7 decision over the Castro County All-Stars.

Monte Ward pitched a three hit shutout Monday as his teammates racked up eight hits off key led the winners at the plate with three singles driving in two runs.

After two scoreless innings the winners, composed of All-Stars from Littlefield, Amherst, and Sudan tallied twice in the third and sewed up the contest with eight runs in the fourth.

Ward started the third inning rally with a single, Jerry Bellar walked then after two pop outs Royce McAdams singled to left driving in Ward with the first run and Bellar also scored on the play when the leftfielder fumbled the ball.

The fourth inning runs came as the result of three hits, including a double by Roy Burk and Pirkey's second single which drove in two runs, three walks and three errors by the Anton infield.

In the meantime Ward gave up only a pop fly single to Danny Drake in the fourth. The other two hits off Ward were a line double to left center by Walter Lusk in the sixth and a single that took a bad hop by losing pitcher Jimmy Ancero in the seventh.

Catcher Gary Robinson accounted for the winners tally in the sixth when he a ball over the center field fence.

Bobby Wood was the hero of Tuesday night's game as he came on in relief in the sixth and struck out five of the six batters to face him. He also singled in the top of the seventh to drive in the two go ahead runs as the winners broke a 7-7 tie by ramming home five runs.

Littlefield broke on top as they scored twice in the first on a single by Darrell Moates and four walks by the Castro County starting pitcher Larry Gamble.

The losers tied it in the bottom of the second as Green Underwood who started for the winners walked David Land and then after getting the next two hitters gave up a double to Gerald Seale and a single to Jerry Birdwell.

The winners took a 4 to 2 lead

Baptist Youth Week Will Feature Drama

The first Baptist Church is sponsoring a Youth Week from July 25 through July 30. During this week the youth will take over the activities of the church. Bill Jones, a senior ministerial student at Wayland Baptist College will be bringing the messages. Talented Steve Lowe, a 1965 Littlefield High School graduate, will be directing the music.

During the Sunday morning worship service, the youth will lead the prayers and responsive readings as well as serve as ushers and sing in the youth choir.

Sunday evening at 8:00 a religious drama, "Black Sheep" will be presented. Don Thorp, Director of Church Activities, and Dr. D.J. Stafford have helped in its production.

The drama is about 25 minutes long. It is typical of the new religious movement in the United States which stresses living Christianity, not talking about it.

"The play," stated Thorp, "moves very rapidly, yet it is connected in such a manner that there is not a wasted moment. Its meaning is sharp and to the point. It incriminates old, decrepit, superficial patterns of church life and it has been adapted to bring this point 'home to the people'. The climax of this play is also the ending. Thorp concluded, 'It is certain to reach deep into the hearts of every true Christian'.

Wednesday night will feature special music by the youth interspersed with scripture reading and prayers. Ricky Miller is in charge of this service. Friday afternoon at 6:30 the youth will begin a progressive supper. They will meet at the church and then go to different homes for the progressive meal. The last course will be at the church. A special prayer meeting for the upcoming revival and fellowship will follow.

Rev. Duesing Will Establish Church

Reverend David Duesing, O.S.B., who substituted for the pastor last summer at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church here, and Reverend Giles Heuer, O.S.B. will found a church, grade and high school on a square block of land in a Lima suburb donated by the Peruvian government.

Establishment of the Center is in line with a Decree of the late Pope John XXIII to aid south America with its crucial social and economic problems, and with the policies of the United States Government in halting the spread of Communism in the western hemisphere.

Father Duesing, a native of St. Louis, Mo., has been pastor of St. Ferdinand Church, Ferdinand, Indiana, and superintendent of Ferdinand High School. During his pastorate a new grade and high school were constructed.

Vacation Tips For Travellers

Vacation time is here for most of us and planning for it can't start too soon. Here are some hints for stretching the vacation dollar:

- Travel light.
- Consider eating at diners or cafeterias once you reach your destination.
- Use the family car. Here four or five people can ride as cheaply as one. Surveys show automobiles take only 14 cents of the travel dollar versus 22 cents on public transportation.
- Take along a picnic basket and a thermos for picnic lunches and snacks to trim food expenses.
- Consider camping out. Complete equipment can be rented from $45 to $80 for a two-week period.
- The "check list": There are many small but important items which need attention when preparing for a vacation. Are these items on your check list?
 - Notify landlord, neighbors, or police of departure and return date.
 - Notify the milkman, mailman, and newspaper boy. (You might want to give the Post Office your forwarding address.)
 - Store outdoor furniture and equipment.
 - If you leave your electric power on, disconnect appliances.
 - Have your car thoroughly checked and serviced. Three of the principal causes of car failure on the road are electrical connections, tires, and battery failures.
 - Make sure that a set of simple tools is aboard.

Letter "C" Added To Alphabet From Latin And French

Do you know somebody whose name begins with C? If so, he shares his initial with a great painter, a war that reunited a nation, a great composer, two of the largest countries in the world, a leading fiber manufacturer, and the founder of one of the world's greatest religions.

Yet C is a relative Johnny-come-lately. Unlike most letters of our alphabet, it did not appear among the more ancient letter forms such as the Phoenician and the Greek. We got it directly from the Latin, where it was pronounced "K", as in Chemstrand. The "soft" C, pronounced as "S", comes from the French part of our language, borrowed from the French-speaking Normans who conquered the Anglo-Saxons and their tongue in 1066.

But however you say it, C has come to mean many things to many people. In algebra, it denotes the third known quantity, as in (a b c), and in Roman numerals C represents 100. When preparing an outline or summary, you use C as the third item under any main heading. Designers use C to identify specific curved objects such as a C clamp or a C spring.

A musician, on the other hand, things of C as a keynote of the most fundamental scale, known as the "natural" scale because it contains no sharps or flats.

For more than a century, people have enjoyed the romantic nocturnes and graceful waltzes of the composer Chopin. Opera-lovers thrilled to the golden tonis of Caruso; they still flock to see one of the most famous operas ever composed, Carmen.

Art connoisseurs, not to be outdone, paid enormous sums for the canvases of Cezanne, often called "the father of modern art." Out of his pioneer work grew the famous art style known as Cubism, identified with the greatest modern artist of all, Picasso (the c is there if you look for it).

In the entertainment world, the double-C name of Charlie Chaplin is known all over the world. Most cinematic magic is evoked by the names of Gary Cooper, James Cagney--and, of course, Cary Grant and Clark Gable, also well worth C-ing.

In literature, where C has its lofty place among belles lettres, who hasn't been fascinated by the adventures of Robinson Crusoe? The name of Cervantes may not ring a bell--but who hasn't heard of his most famous character, Don Quixote? Many of Shakespeare's characters had names beginning with C: Cleopatra, Coriolanus, Cassius, Cressida, to name a few.

Just as C meant power in ancient Rome during Caesar's reign, so it later became identified with one of the most powerful moral forces in history: Christ and the religion He founded, Christianity. Coincidentally, one of the modern ideologies most bitterly opposed by Christians also begins with the letter C: Communism.

In the eighth century, "by the sword and the cross" the emperor Charlemagne managed to dominate much of Europe. C remained the letter of royalty; one encyclopedia lists some 50 different kings and emperors who went by the name of Charles! In our own 20th century, the name of Churchill stands supreme as spokesman and defender of democracy.

The amazing letter C, in fact, appears with great frequency in our 20th century lives. Most of us live in cities of cement, concrete and clay; some of us heat our homes with coal, whose principle element is carbon, written "C", a mark of quality identifying garments made with nylon such as "Actionwear"; Cumuloft nylon and spandex and the forthcoming Blue "C" Polyester, all produced by Chemstrand, a leading maker of synthetic fibers. When clothing and shelter are taken care of, we naturally turn to food--and cooking: favorite foods include corn, chicken, cheese, chocolate, coffee, chops, clams.

We indulge in conversation, are adept at communication, play cards, go to church (if you lived in England, you'd even go to the "cinema" instead of the movies). We save our cash to send our children to college--or to vacation at such C-nic spots as Cape Cod, California or the Caribbean. Less happily, we open our newspapers

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Planning for retirement is a popular subject nowadays. However, most folks fail to think of their tax problems as a part of their retirement plan. Our good tax folks point out that Congress has been very liberal in providing benefits for our retired taxpayers. You can save yourself several hundred dollars in taxes if you plan ahead.

It will pay you to get a copy of Document 5569, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans." Read it and get Internal Revenue to answer your questions. It takes planning to retire from paying taxes as well as retiring from working.

to see that "C" marks many of the world's trouble spots: Cuba, Cyprus, the Congo, Cambodia. Our children taken Vitamin C to ward off colds. They go to class and study about the Confederacy and the Civil War, read about famous men and women from Columbus to Catherine the Great. In geography class, they learn that two of the world's largest countries are China and Canada. And of course they check the calendar for the coming of the circus and Christmas.

So it you know someone whose name begins with C, and he is feeling down, tell him some people, places which they share. He'll perk up--and C.

Davis Named Red Cross Volunteer State Chairman

Ira Winfield Davis, Division Commercial Superintendent, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., Austin, Texas, and Hal L. Dyer, District Manager, Lone Star Gas Co., Wichita Falls, Texas, have been appointed 1966 Red Cross volunteer Texas state fund chairmen. Announcement was made by Robert Sarnoff, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the National Broadcasting Company. Sarnoff is serving his second year as national chairman of the Red Cross Campaign for Members and Funds. Serving with him in this appointment is Dan Williams, member of the Red Cross Board of Governors and President of Southland Life Insurance Company, Dallas, Texas. Sarnoff conducted a meeting for state fund chairmen at the Red Cross National Convention in Detroit, Michigan, in which he previewed plans for the 1966 fund campaign.

In assuming responsibility for providing assistance to the campaign in Texas, Davis and Dyer are in the process of appointing state fund vice chairmen to aid them in coordinating chapter, state, and national fund campaign planning. Some of these chapters are in united appeals, while others conduct independent campaigns. These volunteers will be able to assist in both types of fund efforts.

Davis and Dyer have a long history of service in Red Cross. Both men have served as chairmen of Red Cross chapters and have had considerable experience as chapter board members and in many other chapter activities and offices.

Both men have been active in their local Chamber of Commerce. Davis has served as director of the Texas Safety Association since 1954 and is active in Rotary International, the Austin Symphony Society, United Fund, and the University Methodist Church. Dyer is a member of the Southern Gas Association and the Texas Manufacturers Association. His many civic activities include the North Star Boy Scout Council, the Wichita County Crippled Children's Society, and the Wichita Falls Industrial Foundation.

Figures On Farm Population Misleading To Importance

Agriculture's importance to the economy of Texas is not determined by the number of people living on farms and ranches. And, points out John G. McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, don't be misled by the fact that only eight percent of the state's population now reside on farms or ranches.

There's a lot more to the story. In addition to the eight percent who operate the state's farms and ranches, another 32 percent of the state's residents derive all or a part of their income by supplying production items for farm and ranch use or by processing or distributing agricultural products for consumer use. That, says the economist, adds up to 40 percent, and a mighty important segment in the state's overall economy. No citizen is far removed from agriculture nor its business generating effects upon the economy of Texas, emphasizes McHaney.

As for the distribution of population, McHaney says this too can be misleading. A check of the 1960 census figures shows 168 Texas counties with farm populations exceeding 10 percent or more of the total population and only 68 counties with less than 9 percent of their total population living on farms or ranches.

Almost half of the counties in the group with 9 percent or less of the total population living on farms or ranches are located in far west and southwest Texas where ranching is very important. The discovery of oil and gas in these and other areas increased the total population and caused the drop in the percentage of persons engaged in farming and ranching. Agriculture is just as important to the economy of these counties as before, explains the economist.

And to go a step further, McHaney points to Lubbock County where the percentage of farm population dropped to only 7 percent of the total in 1960, but farm products sold had a value of $62.2 million. Lubbock County ranked number one in the state in farm income in 1960. El Paso County which ranked sixth showed only 1 percent of its total population living on farms or ranches. Parmer County which ranked ninth in farm sales in 1960, on the other hand, showed 47 percent of its total population living on farms and ranches. The top 10 counties in farm income in 1960 in percentage of farm population to the total ranged from 1 to 47 percent.

And asks McHaney, are these farm producers, even though they make up a small percentage of the total population, important? He gives an emphatic yes for his answer. The growth of towns and cities in many of the top agriculturally producing counties must be credited to agriculture and businesses, agribusiness, closely associated with or related to agricultural production.

McHaney doesn't play down other factors which have contributed to the growth and prosperity of Texas towns and cities, but says that through the years, the large cities became trade centers for wide areas and the development of agricultural resources throughout the state played a major role in their early growth and continues to do so today.

Oil and agriculture are the state's largest industries and they mean a lot to us. We shouldn't take either for granted because a decline in either is felt all the way from the local producing area to the big cities which supply the smaller towns and cities with goods and services.

And concludes McHaney, don't let anyone tell you that agriculture isn't important since only about 8 percent of the total Texas population now lives on farms or ranches. Don't forget the other 32 percent who derive all or part of their income from agribusinesses.

Agriculture's importance is not determined by the percentage of the total population which now lives in the country but by the contributions it is making to the well-being of Texas, the nation and the world.

Instead of Bankruptcy

To the wage earner drowning in a sea of debt, the Bankruptcy Act offers two kinds of rescue. One is bankruptcy itself, whereby most of a person's debts are wiped out. Last year about 155,000 individuals chose that course.

The second alternative, although not so well known, has been gaining favor steadily in recent years. Called the Wage Earner Plan, it is designed for the person who is ready, willing, and able (eventually) to pay his debts—if only he can have a breathing spell to put his finances in better shape.

Although the Wage Earner Plan is administered by the bankruptcy court, the debtor continues to be called a "debtor"—never a "bankrupt." In a typical case it works this way:

The debtor agrees to turn over a fixed percentage of his weekly wages to a court-appointed trustee, who makes regular payments to the creditors. In return, the debtor is protected from wage attachments and most other forms of pressure by creditors.

In short, the Wage Earner Plan gives a debtor time to pay his debts gradually, under the protecting wing of the court. It requires an OK by a majority of the unsecured creditors, and also by the court.

Under what circumstances will the court approve a debtor's application? There are two main tests:

1) Financial—The debtor's earnings must be large enough, in proportion to his debt burden, to give a reasonable chance of success. As a rule, the court will approve only if his debts can be paid off in not more than three years, using not more than 25% of his income.

2) Moral—The debtor must have an earnest desire to make good on his obligations, even at the cost of prolonged belt-tightening and penny-pinching. And, in most cases, his wife must share that desire.

The Wage Earner Plan is not an easy alternative. Nevertheless, last year about 27,000 debtors chose that way of keeping the stigma of bankruptcy from their record.

For, even though debt is not considered as sinful as it once was, there still are a lot of job applications and credit forms that ask the question: "Were you ever a bankrupt?"

And there still is comfort in being a person who, like Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's village blacksmith, "looks the whole world in the face, for he owes not any man."

Health & Safety Tips

Is your boy one of the several hundred thousand American youngsters who will soon be "going out" for football at his junior high or high school? If so, you will be vitally interested in the new six-point joint recommendations of the American Medical Association and the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations that will help to insure that your boy is properly conditioned for this vigorous contact sport.

Beginning with a satisfactory pre-season medical examination, there is no substitute for requiring a standard of physical fitness that assures sufficient strength and endurance, a good level of skill, and acclimation to hot and humid weather, before exposing any individual to the rigors and risks of tackle football.

Following is the AMA-NFH SSA program for readiness of schoolboy gridgers for participation:

The boys should follow faithfully a personal conditioning program during the summer, based on information gained through the school's health and physical education classes plus some specific training for the demands of tackle football.

At least the first week of practice should be limited to non-contact drill with emphasis on conditioning and fundamentals. Shorts, T-shirts and football shoes are the recommended training uniform in this period because of the heat. The boys also should wear their mouth protectors to begin to become accustomed to them.

The second week should include only controlled body contact drills and avoid wide-open play.

Practice games or game-condition scrimmages should be prohibited until after at least two weeks of practice.

A minimum of three weeks of carefully planned practice should precede the first regularly scheduled game.

The two organizations also pointed to two factors that should be considered in school-boy football:

Participation in interscholastic football is not a right but a privilege for those who can demonstrate the high level of physical and emotional fitness necessary to play aggressively, skillfully and with sportsmanship.

Participation in high school football should not detract from keeping up with a broad-based physical education program and from sampling other sports during the off-season.

Almost two years ago American physicians, through the American Medical Association, announced a new universal symbol which tells anyone rendering emergency care to a person who is unconscious or otherwise unable to communicate that its wearer has a special physical condition requiring special attention.

In the intervening two years the symbol has gained worldwide acceptance. It has been widely disseminated throughout the United States and, through the World Medical Association, is now being utilized in many other nations.

The symbol may be displayed on a wristlet, an anklet, a medallion around the neck or elsewhere. It is a sign that there are vital medical facts on a personal health information card in the bearer's purse or wallet or on an alerting device.

The symbol is a hexagon-shaped emblem containing a six-pointed figure, or sign of life. Superimposed on the figure is a staff with a snake entwined about it -- the staff of Aesculapius, the insignia of the medical profession.

The symbol is used by many individuals. Diabetic coma, for instance, sometimes makes its victims appear intoxicated, and treatment may be dangerously delayed. The symbol also is used to indicate allergies to antibiotics, such as penicillin.

The need for certain medicines must be known. Heart patients taking drugs to prevent blood clots may bleed profusely if injured unless they receive special care. Epileptics could be saved much trouble and unnecessary hospitalization if they carried a card indicating they may have seizures.

The American Medical Association recommends that everybody have a card, such as the AMA emergency medical identification card, to show who they are, where they live, whom to call if they become ill or injured, the name of their doctor, and when they were immunized, particularly against tetanus, or lockjaw. On this card should be noted any special problems that need immediate attention in an emergency or could cause an emergency.

Some people's problems are so serious that it is absolutely essential for the first aider to know about them in an emergency. A durable signal device made of metal or plastic should be worn by such people, preferably about the neck or on the wrist or ankle.

At Obidos, Brazil, the Amazon is 7,500 feet wide and nearly 200 feet deep at the deepest point. Here on July 16, 1963, was registered a flow of 7,640,000 cubic feet a second.

Children's Clinic Set Saturday

St. John's Crippled Children's Clinic will be held Saturday, July 24, 1965, from 1 to 5 p.m. at St. John's Methodist Church, 15th and College Ave. in Lubbock. The free clinic has given examinations to approximately 525 children of the South Plains area since it began quarterly sessions in April 1963.

The clinic is sponsored by Fellowship Class of the church, with the cooperation of doctors who give services without charge. Four orthopedists and several other doctors, assisted by county health nurses, will be present Saturday to examine the crippled children.

Clinic personnel arrange for braces, surgery and/or further care when needed. Children being taken to the clinic for the first time are to be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

"walks" right over bumps and trouble

Independent front suspension takes the "truck" out of truck ride. It smooths rough roads, protects truck, driver and cargo from excessive jolting. And on Chevrolet pickups it's a proved system with millions of miles of user experience behind it. Try it out on one of Chevrolet's great Fleetside or Stepside pickups. It's one of the big reasons that Chevrolet is first choice with pickup users from coast to coast.

Questions & Answers

Q -- I just changed jobs and my new boss is taking out Social Security tax from my paycheck. On my old job they took out enough to pay me up for the year. Is there any way to stop this withholding?

A -- No. The law requires that each employer withholding on the first $4,800 of wages he pays each employee. However, the extra amounts that are withheld can be claimed as a credit against your income tax when you file your return next year.

Q -- I've been out of my office on sick leave for a month now and it looks as if it'll be two months more before I can return. I'm sure I'll qualify for the sick pay exclusion when I file next year's return. Can I ask my boss to stop withholding income tax on the pay I receive while I'm out?

A -- If you receive your sick pay under an employer-financed plan, then you may ask your employer not to withhold income tax on the excludable portion. To do this, your employer has to have evidence that you do qualify for the sick pay exclusion. Therefore, the best thing for you to do is get in touch with the payroll department at your place of employment and give them the information they need for their records.

Q -- I am taking a course this summer in business administration. Will I be able to deduct my tuition costs and books?

A -- The costs you mention will be deductible if you either are taking the course to maintain the skills required for your present job or if you must take the course to keep your job. Education costs are not deductible when the primary purpose is to obtain a promotion or a new position.

Q -- Last summer a teacher I know deducted her travel costs to Europe as an educational expense. Why was she able to do that? I thought travel costs were personal expenses.

A -- In the instance you cite, the teacher must have been able to establish that her travel had a direct relationship to the skills required in her teaching position and would improve these skills.

However, if a teacher takes a trip just for personal pleasure or for its cultural value, then the travel expenses will not be deductible.

Q -- I just received a reimbursement from my health plan on some medical bills I paid last year. I claimed these bills as a deduction on my 1964 return. What should I do about this reimbursement check?

A -- The reimbursement should be added to your 1965 income to the extent that the medical expense deduction would have been reduced if you had been reimbursed in the prior year.

Q -- Is the pay you get for two weeks on active duty with Reserves taxable?

A -- Yes, military pay is generally taxable, except for certain combat pay.

A -- I just sold my house. Since I have a year to buy another one to offset whatever profit I made, does this mean that I don't have to report the income from the sale on this year's return?

A -- Yes, you have a year to buy another house and offset the gain from the sale of your first home by what you paid for the second. If you have not purchased your new home and if you still have time before a year has passed from the sale of your home, then you should report the sale on Schedule D of Form 1040, but show your gain in Column "G" as "None." Attach a statement of explanation to your return. Contact your Internal Revenue Service office for further information or to obtain Form 2119, which may be used to report the sale.

Q -- I am thinking of buying a cooperative apartment. Is it true that I will be able to deduct a portion of my monthly payments as interest charges and real estate taxes?

A -- Yes, generally that is right. The exact amount you may deduct should be obtained from the managers of the cooperative. They will be able to tell you what portion of your payments went for interest charges and real estate tax.

Q -- I operate a variety store and lose a good deal of money each year to shoplifters. How can I keep records of these losses so that I can deduct them on my return?

A -- Thefts automatically show up in reduced year-end inventory reports. This results in lower gross profits, and reduction of your taxable income.

Q -- I am president of a small corporation. If we liquidate, will the money our stockholders receive be considered ordinary income or capital gains?

A -- Amounts distributed in a complete liquidation of a corporation are usually considered capital gains to the stockholders to the extent of the difference between the adjusted basis of the shares turned in and the amount received on the distribution. If you decide to liquidate, ask your district director for copies of the required information return and further information.

Q -- Last week at a party I heard a fellow bragging about how he cheated on his income tax. Should I report him?

A -- Evidence more substantial than that should usually be the basis of a report to Internal Revenue on suspected tax violations.

The Internal Revenue Service does not actively solicit information from the public about anyone else's income tax violations, but we do give appropriate consideration to the information given to us.

Q -- Does a counselor at a camp have to list the room and board he receives as part of his wages?

A -- Generally speaking, meals and lodging furnished to counselors are considered to be provided for the employer's convenience and do not have to be included with taxable income.

Q -- Is there any guide to the Federal taxes I would be responsible for if I went into business for myself? I'm thinking of opening up a cleaning establishment.

A -- Internal Revenue Publication No. 334, "Tax Guide for Small Business," should answer most of your questions. It costs 50¢ and can be obtained from your district director's office or from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402.
