1. June is Dairy Month. Use the amount of dairy products daily as is set up by the Texas Food Standard.

2. Milk—whole, skim, evaporated, condensed, dry, buttermilk—is our leading source of calcium. Milk also provides high-quality protein, riboflavin, vitamin A, and many other vitamins and minerals.

3. Calcium is one of the chief minerals in bones and teeth. A small but important amount of calcium is necessary in body fluids, such as blood.

4. Muscles cannot contract and relax, and nerves cannot carry their message without the calcium in the body fluids.

5. Lemons are on the "plentiful food" list for June so serve them often.

6. Lemons are a good source of vitamin C (Ascorbic acid).

7. Vitamin C is necessary in the diet each day since it is not stored in the body.

8. When Vitamin C is low in the diet, gums are tender and bleed easily, joints swell and hurt, and muscles weaken.

Rufus B. Noble Becomes Warrant Officer, Jr. Grade

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Texas—The son of a Littlefield, Tex., resident, Mrs. O. A. Miller, provided a means for an enterprising private first class to make an honest dollar at Fourth Army headquarters today.

According to an old Army custom, a new officer must give a dollar to the first enlisted man who salutes him. Pfc. Ronald Lee Krulise, a driver in Headquarters Commandant Section, was Johnny-on-the-spot to trade a "highball" for a dollar when Rufus B. Noble received an honorable discharge and was immediately sworn back into the Army by Fourth Army Headquarters Commandant, Lt. Col. William F. Kernan, as a Warrant Officer Junior Grade.

A veteran of World War II and holder of the Purple Heart award, Noble served with the 30th Infantry Division in the European Theatre of Operations.

He now makes his home at Route Six, Box 378, San Antonio, with his wife and three children, Carol, Linda, and Brian.

Independence Pays Off for Wounded Vet

MANCHESTER, N. H. — "No matter what a fellow already has done for his country, the world does not owe him a living. He has to go out and get it," himself.

The speaker is James H. Day—former First Sgt. Day—who gave these things to his country:

His right arm below the elbow. Two of his left-hand fingers and most of his ability to use that hand.

Much of his ability to hear (he must wear a hearing aid).

In addition, he suffered multiple wounds to chest wall, abdomen, and right thigh. There followed nine operations and 14 months in seven hospitals.

Before the war, Day had worked his way through the mechanical engineering course of the University of New Hampshire. But he never had a chance to get an engineer's job.

So when he sought vocational rehabilitation, he had no experience. Prospective employers questioned the capacity of this man with war-broken body, but unquenchable spirit, to handle delicate drawing instruments. They doubted his ability generally to perform some of the duties required of an engineer.

After Veterans Administration training, he was placed with the Textron, Inc., plant in Manchester in the spring of 1950.

In less than a year, he moved up from draftsman to plant engineer. He has a home, a wife, a baby.

His boss at Textron describes Jimmy Day as almost unbelievable: "He tells us that he can do certain things and we almost do not believe him; but he goes ahead and does them just the same."

Jimmy Day once was a gymnast. He is proud that despite his injuries he still can do a forearm stand.

Hibred Deltapine Produces Highest Average Yields

Hib-Bred and Deltapine (TPSA) produced the highest average yields in the cotton variety tests conducted at the Big Spring Experiment Station for the last three years, announced F. E. Keating, Big Spring station superintendent.

"Average per acre yields of 214 and 211 pounds of lint were obtained from Hib-Bred and Deltapine (TPSA)," said Keating.

Other high yielding varieties were Stormproof 1; Paymaster 54, Stoneville (TPSA); CA 49A Storm proof; Texcala, Rogers; and Northern Star. These varieties varied in average acre yields from 206 and 191 pounds, in the order named, Keating reported.

In the 1950 test, Stoneville (TPSA) produced the highest yield, with 224 pounds of lint per acre. Deltapine (TPSA), Stormproof 1, Paymaster 54 and Hib-Bred were the four next highest yielding varieties for the single year. All produced more than 300 pounds of lint cotton per acre.

Keating reported these results in Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Progress Report 1372. This report, which is available from the Publications Office, College Station, Texas, also gives the percentage of lint, staple length and number of bolls per pound for each of the varieties tested. In addition to the regional test, results are reported on a supplemental cotton variety test — conducted on varieties and strains which may possibly be adapted to West Texas conditions.

Hail and Wind

blown, or broken in the Santa Fe Depot at Amherst, the agent, H. G. Holt, said. Picture windows in many of Amherst finest homes were broken by the wind and hail, as well as roof damage to homes and business establishments, done by the hail.

Fields, where the hail hit, looked as if they had been rolled, and had never been planted.

At Mulesoe a lake of water stood in the town, south of Main street, and about six to eight houses were vacated. The airport hangar owned by Earl Ladd was destroyed by high wind, near Muleshoe, and it was reported that an airplane stored in the hangar was badly damaged. The Workman Lumber Company was unroofed, and plate glass windows were broken out of business houses. Winds reached a peak of 80 miles an hour. More than a dozen families had to be vacated from low ground.

The Edd Love residence about three miles south of Sudan was damaged severely. The roof of the house had been twisted and holes had been ripped in it by high wind and hail. It was reported that five high line transmission poles were torn from the ground and broken into pieces, one-fourth mile east of Sudan. All were said to have been broken once and some more than once. It is believed that a twister or tornado may have struck, but no one saw the funnel.

Scores of truck drivers were marooned at Sudan for several hours after four feet of water covered Highway 84.

Littlefield received a sprinkling of hail stones, that did little damage, and received a nice shower that was beneficial to crops, lawns and gardens. Western Cotton Oilmill rain gauge registered a total of .32 inches Sunday night. For the month of June Littlefield has had 3.79 inches of rain and for the year the total is 12.09.

A heavy downpour fell at Springlake, and there was rain reported at Needmore Community, 10 miles west of Sudan, where extensive crop damage was done. Rain and hail was also reported at East Bula, Lums Chapel and some damage was done to crops at Bull Lake.

Fieldton received one and one-half inches of rain, but no hail. Crop damage there was reported small. However there was considerable hail north and west of Fieldton especially in the Blackwater Draw.

But the major damage in Sunday night's storm was to cotton crops in the county, much of which had been replanted for the third time, and all was up to an excellent stand. With County Agents away at the Annual 4-H Roundup at College Station this week, it was impossible to get an estimate of the damage done to crops in the county. However, it is safe to say that it will run into thousands of dollars. It is too late to re-plant to cotton now—so it means that there will be thousands and thousands of acres planted into grain sorghums—as soon as fields have dried out enough to let farmers in to work.

Olton School Elect Trustees

The Board of Trustees of the Olton Independent School District met recently and elected teachers.

New teachers hired for the coming year were: Don Williams, band director; Mrs. Reisdorph, formerly of Plainview, elected to elementary school faculty; and Mr. Ernest Sturch to fill sixth grade vacancy. Mrs. Stuch is a member of the faculty.

The board voted to employ four temporary deputy tax assessors for the school district. Their duties will be to work up a card file system of all property in the district, in order to furnish necessary information for the board of equalization which is scheduled to meet this summer. No date has been set for a public meeting planed by the board. As soon as the auditor's report is complete a date will be set.

Olton school auditor Leland Alton of Plainview met with the board and gave a preliminary report.

School Attorney George Berry of Lubbock also met with the board and gave advice and information concerning the present tax situation.

Bids were opened on construction of a Negro school building. No bid was low enough to be accepted so action on this matter was postponed indefinitely.

The board voted to purchase a new typewriter for the high school commercial department.

Donnie Jones, Jerry Pettiet. Also outstanding and unique is the "Kitchen Queens Band", in which a group of women appear to give a concert. They include, Mesquames Margaret Fowler, H. G. Ferguson Bob Smith, M. P. Thedford, G. M. Nickelson, Troy Moss, V. E. Roberts, J. C. Smith, Jr., J. W. Giddens, Pete Parrock, R. J. Stuteville and Fred Briggs.

A smash finish to the show is achieved in the finale when the entire cast assembles to pay tribute to "The Old Hometown". The leading characters in the show are: pianist, Miss Trudy McGee; Mrs. Elton Hauk plays the part of "Mary Margaret"; "Uncle Billy", Wayne Brown; "Mayor", Willard G. Street, Jr.

The show is built for laughs and variety. It emphasizes the idea which is growing in popularity in amateur productions. The local people who make up the cast not only take part as actors when they impersonate celebrities, but the audience attending the show has an opportunity to take part also.

Brightly colored costumes worn by the choruses featuring Horn School girls as Hollywood Starlets and Paris Models add a colorful and tuneful note to the show. "Going Places," is a name that is indicative of the production, for from the moment the curtain goes up to the grand finale every one is doing just that, as they bring the audience variety, color and high comedy blended in a big evening of entertainment.

Patsy Ruth Phillips and Stephen Brock Married Sunday

In a pretty double ring service performed Sunday afternoon, June 24th, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Educational building of the First Baptist church, Miss Patsy Ruth Phillips became the bride of Luther Stephen Brock. Rev. F. N. Allen, pastor of the Rocky Ford Baptist church read the wedding vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clyde Phillips, 124 E. 14th Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Brock, 205 SE Colorado Street, Portales, N. M., formerly of Littlefield.

The vows were exchanged before an archway of greenery, flanked on either side by baskets filled with white, yellow and pink gladioli, with baskets of jade leaves and tiered candelabra forming a background.

Mrs. Johnny Edwards furnished piano selections, including "To A Wild Rose," "Clair de Lune," "Romance," "Serenade" and "One Alone," preceding the ceremony, and also accompanied Miss Doretta Wilson when she sang, "If I Could Tell," and Mrs. Weldon Findley as she sang, "At Dawning." During the ceremony, Mrs. Edwards played "Always" and "Andante."

The bride wore a lovely white organdy dress of ballerina length, fashioned with a full gathered skirt to a tight fitting sleeveless bodice, which was designed with a rolled collar with tiny covered buttons down the front. She wore white mits of nylon net. Her short veil of white nylon illusion, fell from a tiara of seed pearls. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls. Her bouquet was made of red roses on a fan of white feathers, white maline and satin ribbon. For something borrowed she wore the pearls, which belonged to Miss Garland Anzeline.

For something old she wore a gold bracelet which is a family heirloom, and has been in Mrs. Phillips family for 42 years. It was a gift to Mrs. Phillip's mother, from her father, before the couple were married. She wore the traditional blue garters. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Ceiton Farley of Lubbock, a sister to the groom was matron of honor. She wore a yellow organdy dress, made with a full skirt, cap sleeves and low neckline. She carried a bouquet similar to the brides, consisting of yellow rosebuds on an orchid feather fan. Her headpiece was of yellow organdy.

Mrs. Brock, mother of the groom chose a sheer bemberg print dress, and wore white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church dining room. Miss Barbara Ferguson presided at the bride's guest book, where more than 150 registered. The maid of honor's bouquet decorated the register.

The table was laid with a white cutwork linen cloth, over yellow. Decorations consisted of the lovely three tiered wedding cake which was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Love birds, decorated the cake. The bride's bouquet completed the table decorations. After the bride and groom had cut the first slice, Mrs. Rip Elms served the cake. Misses Garland Anzeline and Margaret Nicoison assisted. Misses Pat Grant and Betty Gladden poured the punch.

After the reception the couple left for Bakersfield, California where they will make their home, during the summer vacation. They plan to return September 1st, and go to Abilene where Mr. Brock is a sophomore at McMurry College.

The bride is a graduate of Littlefield High school with the class of '51. The groom graduated in 1950 from Littlefield High school. Both took an active part in school activities during their high school career, and Mr. Brock was an outstanding football player.

Joyce McAdams and Bobby Lee Daugherty Wed At Olton

Miss Joyce McAdams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland McAdams and Bobby Lee Daugherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Daugherty, exchanged vows in the Olton Methodist Church in an early morning service Sunday, June 17.

The service was read by Rev. Aubrey White, Methodist pastor before an altar decorated with arrangements of genery, larkspur and daisies. The prayer of dedication was by Ramon Carson, uncle of the groom.

Jan Prestridge furnished wedding music at the piano and accompanied Belle Sorley who sang "Always" and "Because." The traditional wedding marches were used.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was dressed in a white lace ballerina-length dress with a waist-length veil trimmed in miniature daisies. For something borrowed she wore pearls belonging to the mother of the groom. She carried a white Bible topped with a nosegay of rose buds.

Melba Blevins attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a blue dress with navy accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Glamorous Summer Cotton To Inspire Festive Occasions

If the fashion designers have their way, summer is going to be a sociable season. The fashionists have gloried in dreaming up "after-five" fashions certain to inspire many gay summer parties.

Every imaginable type of cotton fabric from gossamer, sheer voiles and organdies to starched, crisp piques is used in the collection of this season's beautiful styles for festive occasions.

For one of her most noteworthy fashions, designer Adele Simpson uses a hazy grey cotton chiffon, textured with charcoal grey woven squares which are scattered polkadot style over the fabric. This eye-catching design with a dual personality serves as a street length cocktail or informal dance dress. It has a huge double-fold white organdy collar standing high to shield the shoulders, dipping low in front to bare the throat. When the collar is un-snapped at the center, the strapless bare top dress is revealed.

Simplicity in Styling

Simplicity of styling and beauty of fabric make one of Friedlanders' cocktail costumes a fashion pacesetter. The popular bare sheath is interpreted in a soft white pima broadcloth and topped with a brief fitted jacket. This ensemble is intriguingly different with its all-over raised cotton thread embroidery.

Another sheath of distinction is the design of dpl Mar. A fine navy broadcloth is used for the dress that is topped with a jagged-edged bodice and tunic skirt of white eyelet pique. The final dramatic touch is given to this costume with a stole of pique.

Shining black organdy, polished to jeweled brightness, makes a glamorous evening gown in a Lettie Lee design with multiple ruffles on the skirt and stole. This flattering jet formal is ideal for dancing on breeze-swept terraces under the stars.

VACATION TIME!

Reason for this happy smile? It's vacation time at last! Leaving her Manhattan apartment, this pretty career girl is bound for a sunny Southern resort. Her light-weight cotton plaid overnight cases, called "swag bags," come in handy as carry-alls for her travel necessities.

IN THE SWIM!

This charming aquamaid is ready for a dip in an inviting pool on a hot summer day. She is in the fashion swim, too, in her figure-flattering swim suit of cotton ripple-astic by Bateas. The mallot style suit is especially good this season.

Add a little finely ground tongue, corned beef, or ham to potato puffs; serve with asparagus and broiled tomatoes. To prepare the tomatoes mix mayonnaise with a little prepared mustard and spread on the tomato halves before broiling until lightly browned. This menu makes a delightful summer luncheon.

CARBON COPY!

She's a big girl now that she has a trim little cotton bolero outfit just like mother's! Mother and daughter both like the popular bolero style and especially this one by Jack Borgenicht—it's made of wrinkle-resistant cotton. The checked bolero serves double duty for it reverses to a solid cotton that can be worn outside.

X-Ray Mobile Unit in Littlefield For Three Days; Citizens Asked to Take Advantage of This Free Service

Everyone 15 years of age and older is urged to take advantage of the free X-ray mobile unit, that is in Littlefield today, (Thursday) Friday and Saturday, June 28-29-30, brought to Lamb County at the request of the doctors in the county, and which is operated by the State Health Department, and paid for by tax-payers. It is a free service, but not charity.

The Mobile Unit is housed in the Southwestern Public Service Company, and operated by trained technicians. Office hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. all three days. Only 30 seconds is required to make chest x-ray picture. There is no embarrassment of the procedure. The only requirement is that all jewelry or metal objects be removed from the chest area.

Authorities relate that the ratio of abnormalities are from 3 to 5 out of each 100, which of course includes all abnormalities, and does not mean that they necessarily have tuberculosis. The unit detects all flaws in the chest area.

Lamb County citizens are indeed fortunate in that the X-Ray Unit is being brought here, and again everyone is being urged to take advantage of the opportunity. The unit was in Olton yesterday.

Bob Habenicht of the Rochester Red Wings in the International League won his first three games of the season. His name in German means "have nothing."

Coaches Paul Bryant of Kentucky and Stu Holcomb of Purdue will head the second annual Leatherneck football clinic this July at Quantico, Va.

Buffalo Grass Is Good For Your Lawn

Buffalo grass will make a good covering for your lawn. It is a time saver because it is drought-resistant and low growing. This grass is recommended for West Texas by Sadie Hatfield, Home-stead Improvement Specialist, for the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College.

The specialist says the grass is sometimes called "mesquite grass" or "vine mesquite grass" or "curly mesquite grass," and even "short grass." It grows from South Texas to the Dakotas. It is a favorite of cattlemen for their stock. This is the grass used by early settlers on the plains for making sod houses.

To get a start, the specialist recommends planting seed or sod. Planting sod is preferred. If you sow seed, you may get a poor stand. Select sod of seed bearing plants and you will have less mowing to do. Get sod two or three inches square and three to five inches deep. Place twelve to eighteen inches apart to cover your lawn immediately. Water well and keep out the weeds.

The specialist says early fall and spring are best for sodding Buffalo grass, but many people are successfully starting lawns, any time of the year, if they have plenty of water.

Pack the soil very firmly about the roots and water immediately. Don't keep the sod too long before planting because it will become too dry.

Buffalo grass does best on tight soil, but does not grow in the shade. Nitrogen fertilizer and barnyard fertilizer with plenty of water force the growth much taller than the usual 3 to 5 inches. So be careful not to over fertilize and make extra mowing necessary.

See your county Extension agents for further information. They will teach you to recognize Buffalo grass.

As to his favorite mission over war-torn Korea, the captain shrugged and answered: "When you're flying combat there aren't any good missions—you're always pretty scared when you're deep in enemy territory. You just think about finding a target, dropping your napalm or whatever you're armed with and getting out of there and back to the home base in one piece."

You And Your Congress

WHAT IS A small business?

The question has never been answered to the general satisfaction of those who ask it most frequently — including businessmen themselves.

It has been raised time and again in congress, particularly since the days when government buying of all sorts of things skyrocketed after Pearl Harbor.

In 1942 congress decided that small business needed assistance in the war production program. So it created the Smaller War Plants Corp., as part of the War Production Board.

At that time the question was asked repeatedly: What constitutes a "small" business?

It was a new question for congress and no satisfactory answer to it was obtained. Congress finally settled for the definition that any establishment employing 500 persons or less was a small business.

Then it became evident, almost immediately, that a business employing 500 persons may be small in one particular industry—steel-making, for example—and large in another—such as tool and die making.

But nothing was done about that.

Then in 1948 the Selective Service Act added to the 500 employee stipulation the requirements that a small business must be independently owned and operated and must not be dominant in its trade or industry.

Subsequently, however, the military procurement agencies doing business with small business protested that the "independent" and "dominant" tests simply would not work.

So congress agreed to permit the Defense Department and the General Service Administration, which is the federal government's big, non-military purchasing agent, to ignore those two tests. Now the question has arisen again.

Small businesses of various sizes have complained to congress that they are not getting a fair break in the defense program—not getting an equitable portion of government contracts.

As a result of these protests, there are bipartisan movements in both the house and senate to set up a Small Defense Plants Corp. These movements are steadily gathering strength and it is likely that if legislation reaches the voting stage there will be a SDPC.

Generally speaking, it would be patterned after the old Smaller War Plants Corp., which ended its days as an independent bureau and never did give congress a final report on its accomplishments. The latter since have been the subject of considerable argument.

with the many critics contending that the old SWPC took credit for a lot of things it didn't do.

Meanwhile the question again is being heard in congress: What is a small business?

The old yardsticks, it has been decided, are not suitable.

Therefore, those in congress who are working in behalf of a Small Defense Plants Corp., have decided that one of the new agency's very first tasks should be to decide which businesses really are small.

It is proposed that the new agency survey all industries and then determine on an industry-by-industry basis which concerns are small businesses.

This would be no small job. There are some 400,000 manufacturing establishments in the country.

Before tackling that job, however, the agency would have to decide what "small" means in relation to business enterprises. Congress, according to proposals now before it, would not attempt to answer the question itself this time.

Congress appears to have decided that trying to get an answer to that question is a good deal like trying to get a group of mothers to agree on what makes a good boy — especially when they're talking about their own sons.

Blind Youth Cycles By Sound

GORE BAY, Ont. (AP) — A 20-year-old Indian youth blind since the age of three, frequently amazes visitors to this resort town by buzzing along on a bicycle at speeds up to 15 miles an hour.

Danny Megwan has been totally blind since he had double pneumonia and measles, but in his mind he carries a phenomenally accurate map of this area on which is charted every road, path, house, fence, bridge, and almost every stick and stone.

Danny's ears stand at attention when he is cycling in case an automobile comes along. If he hears one he gets off the bike and waits at the side of the road for the car to pass. He never rides on the town streets during the summer months. There are too many tourists' cars.

The Cow That Can't "Run Dry"

Sandy Johnson showed me his Jersey cows last week. It was a warm day and they were all under the trees near a watering trough.

And darned if one cow wasn't pumping water into the trough! It's a fact—she'd raise the pump handle with her nose, and use her throat to push it down again.

"That's Mabel," Sandy explained as she moved away. "Sometimes they drink that trough dry, and she's learned how to fill it again. But she doesn't know her own strength—turns the place into a swamp if we don't watch her."

From where I sit, Mabel isn't the only one who sometimes doesn't know where to stop. For instance, people often carry personal opinions too far—like the person who wants everyone to accept his choice of political parties, or ball-players... or beverages. I prefer a glass of beer with my meals. I know that a lot of other people prefer milk. But nobody ought to insist on "herding" others around to his way of thinking.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

BY TEX EASLEY
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, June 24, (AP) — Devastation of large tracts of East Texas pine by a large beetle is described in a new report by agriculture department entomologists.

In the spring of 1950 small outbreaks of the Southern Pine Beetle, known scientifically as "Dendroctonus Frontalis." Appeared near the Louisiana line. Soon the infestation had spread over portions of Hardin Liberty and Polk counties. Surveys showed three separate areas totaling 180,000 acres were spotted with killed trees.

Private land owners, the Texas Forest Service and the U.S. Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine joined in a drive which is helping check the spread of the insect and leading to the salvage of large amounts of timber.

By November 100 million board feet of timber was estimated to be dead or dying on the stump. An estimated 20 million board feet which otherwise probably would have been wasted was sawed up into timber by Jan. 1.

From an overhead view an area gunner on a 155-mm Howitzer.

"Sometimes," he added, "they came at us so fast, we just fired point blank at 'em."

"You must have killed a lot of them."

"Yes sir, I guess I did. There'd be several of our other big guns firing at the same time and we couldn't tell how many we killed. All I know is there were lots of dead Chinese on the ground."

"Didn't you ever get hit?"

"No sir, I never did. I must've been pretty lucky. I was in five major engagements in World War II and this Korean war and I never got a scratch."

"I came pretty close, though. When we were heading south again with the Chinese behind us it was pretty tough. There at Wouju it was just plain hand-to-hand fighting and I heard a lot of bullets whiz past my head. Never got a scratch, though."

He put his cap back on his head and started for the door. He hesitated and came back.

"Excuse me," he said, "how much will it cost to put something in the paper about my coming home?"

Nothing, Corporal Sanders, nothing. And thank you.

of trees killed by the beetle is easily identified by the red tinge of the tree tops — caused by the needles turning that color. Individual trees infested with the insect can be spotted by the presence of white pitch tubes on the bark surface, and by the red boring dust in the crotches of branches and on the bark.

If the insect has killed the tree and departed, it can be left standing. If the insect is still present, the Entomology Bureau says, the tree should be felled. It can be sawed up into lumber and sprayed with an insecticide and the bark slabs burned.

If the owner finds it impossible to have the tree sawed immediately he can spray it after being felled and it can be left there as long as three months without damaged.

A spray found effective in the Texas drive is composed of 0.25 per cent gamma 1 some of benzene Hexachloride in No. 2 fuel or diesel oil. One gallon of spray for 100 square feet of bark surface is recommended.

The beetle attacks trees two inches in diameter and larger, and will kill them in four to six weeks.

Another report recently received from Texas by the Agriculture Department tells of a serious spread in pink boll worm infestation of cotton fields.

R. W. White of San Antonio, acting chief of the pink bollworm division of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, sent in an account of the infestation.

"It is already apparent," he remarked, "that we are faced with a heavy and general infestation of the pink bollworm in the early fields, and considering the unusually large amount of very late cotton, the possibilities of a heavy build-up of pink bollworm population late in the season is very obvious."

The pink bollworm, which came into Texas originally from Mexico, is considered one of the most destructive of all insects which attacks the staple. Many southern congressmen are joining with Texas legislators in efforts to keep it from spreading. So far the infestation is limited primarily to southern and south central parts of Texas.

Midland Reporter-Telegram

MIDLAND, Tex. June 22 (AP)—The slender, khaki-clad negro hesitated a few minutes before he finally opened the door and walked into the Midland Reporter-Telegram office.

"I just wondered," he said apologetically, "how much it would cost to get a little item in the paper."

"What about?" he was asked.

"Well, he answered, I just got home and I thought maybe you could put a piece in the paper about it tomorrow."

"Where've you been?"

"I've been in Korea, but I got a 30-day furlough and I came home to see my folks. It's been a long time."

"What's your name?"

"Sanders. Howard Sanders, — Junior. My papa's name is Howard too. He works around town, doin' yard work on old jobs. My mother is Willie Howard. She works for some families here in town."

The little negro soldier shifted nervously and removed his colored glasses.

"How long were you in Korea, Howard?"

"Well, it was eight months. I first went in at a place called Inchon. Went in with the First Marine division. Been there ever since."

"Did you see much action?"

He instinctively glanced down at his brown shirt, where three tiny stars gleamed from a second row of ribbons.

"Yes sir, I guess I saw all the action I want to see for a long time."

"From Inchon we fought on north to the Manchurian border. We got right to the Yalu river before we stopped. That's when those other people came into the fight."

"You mean the Chinese communists?"

"Yes sir. The Chinese. That's when things got pretty tough, too."

"The North Koreans weren't so bad. But those Chinese, they were good fighters and there were lots of them. They used to send maybe 4,000 at us at one time. Well, at least 1,000 wouldn't have any guns at all. They'd just wait 'til one of the others fell, then they'd pick up his gun and come into the fight."

"Yes sir, it really got tough then."

"I was in World War II. I was right in the middle of the Lingayen landing and I was at San Fernando, off the coast of the Philippines. I thought that was pretty bad."

"But I never saw anything like the fighting over in Korea."

Sanders said he was a corporal during that fighting and was a

Presented by the State Medical Association of Texas

Everybody gets sick at one time or another. What should you do? The best fuel for the body is a diet of pureed vegetables so that about all you have left is carbonated beverages, cereal beverage, coffee tea, plain gelatin desserts, ice without milk, strained fruit juice, broth, sugar, plain sugar candy, and salt and pepper; about the only thing you've got in there that you can use salt and pepper on is the broth.

These are such things as special diets are made of. If your case calls for some special omission of some of these foods, as often happens, your doctor will tell you; otherwise, unless he gives you a special list of foods which may be eaten, he means something like the above listings when he says, "Better keep Junior on a light (soft, full liquid or clear liquid) diet until that temperature gets back to normal."

Initial Copy Publication Laws Book Presented Price Daniel

TEXAS' ATTORNEY GENERAL PRICE DANIEL took time out on Father's Day to receive the first copy of his new book, "Texas Publication Laws", as a gift from his family. Gathered around the Attorney General are Mrs. Daniel and the four children—John, Price Jr., Houston, and Jeanie. In spite of a big job and a big family, Daniel found time to edit the law book on newspapers and public notices as a public service for the Texas Press Association.

AUTHOR Of the Week By W. G. ROGERS

General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and chairman of the three-man allied committee in Washington which controls the military operations of the Atlantic Alliance, has written an outspoken volume of memoirs in "A Soldier's Story." The book may cause some raised eyebrows, especially in its references to Field Marshal Montgomery of Britain, but it is guaranteed not to bore. General Bradley was Dwight Eisenhower's senior American commander in Europe during World War II. After graduating from West Point in 1915, he became a second lieutenant in the infantry and served in World War I. He advanced through the grades and was appointed general of the Army in September, 1950. The general was awarded an honorary doctor of law degree by Cambridge University in England June 7, 1951.

A review of "A Soldier's Story", for use June 18 has been mailed to papers receiving the daily book review columns.

Price Daniel Receives First Copy Texas Press Publication Laws Book

Texas' Attorney General Price Daniel has a big job and a big family.

In spite of that, during the past two years he has found time to compile and edit the first complete book on Texas Publication Laws, a work long needed by Texas newspapers, public officials and newspaper lawyers.

The first copy of the new book, published by the Texas Press Association, was presented to Price Daniel by his four children on Father's Day.

In addition to his distinguished career as a country lawyer and then as the aggressive attorney general of his native state, Price Daniel is co-publisher of his hometown newspaper, the Liberty Vindicator. His newspaper partnership with Jake Smyth and John Manthey also includes the Anahuac Progress at Anahuac, Texas.

Daniel is the son of a weekly newspaper editor. It was in the high schools of Fort Worth at the age of 15 years that Daniel first published his own newspaper, the Fort Worth High School Student. He also worked as a cub reporter for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, and then for the Waco News Tribune while attending Baylor University. At Baylor, Daniel edited the Daily Lariat and the college annual.

"I paid my way through law school by working in the newspaper business," Daniel has often said. He is an active member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, as well as his many legal associations.

From the standpoint of a lawyer and a newspaper man, Daniel is well equipped to write the book which contains all newspaper and public notice law in the state. The Texas Press Association is making it available to newspapermen, lawyers, public officials, and others at actual cost of publication. "It is a public service project made possible by the work of our attorney general," Brad Smith of Westlaco, president of the Texas Press Association said.

The only thing which rates higher attention than the law and the newspaper with Price Daniel is his attractive and devoted family. His wife, the former Jean Houston Baldwin of Houston, is a great-granddaughter of General Sam Houston. The four children are Price Jr., 10, Jeanie, 9, Houston, 5, and John, 4. They now live in Austin in a rambling house on three lots covered with oak trees—the nearest thing they could get to the open spaces of their permanent home in Liberty.

In his first five years as Texas' Attorney General, Daniel has gained distinction for his fight against federal seizure of the tidelands from the Texas public school fund. He insists that Texas will win in Congress if Texans keep on fighting and refusing to compromise or surrender. He has been outspoken in his belief that federal officials are violating the Texas Annexation Agreement in attempting to take these lands.

Daniel has been equally persistent against other federal encroachments upon the powers and property of the states and of individual citizens. Also, he has been leading the state's fight against organized crime, vowing that Texas will soon lead the nation in its clean-up of syndicated gambling and warning outside hoodlums and racketeers to stay away from Texas.

Daniel is a veteran of World War II, having retired from the office of Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives to enter the service as a private. After three years, the last few months of which were spent in General Douglas MacArthur's occupation of Japan, he was discharged as a captain.

That he is a hard worker in his job as "the people's lawyer" is evidenced by a record of 4832 lawsuits and 2498 official opinions disposed of by his administration since January 1, 1947.

Australia Plans Count of Rabbits

SYDNEY—Officers of the Australian Scientific and Industrial Research Organization are going to try to count Australia's rabbit population.

That's something that has never been tackled before. You can't even guess at the figure. There are 118,000,000 sheep in Australia today, and most farmers think there are far more rabbits than sheep. The rabbit-counting job probably will take years. The survey also will try to estimate how long a rabbit lives, and obtain some check on the rate at which rabbits breed.

The Australians have been encouraged to tackle the job by official counts in the United States of various forms of wildlife, including ducks and deer.

But counting rabbits will be tougher. A rabbit will pop down a hole and you won't know when it will pop up again to be counted a second time.

"It is a very complicated job," a spokesman for the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization said.

Sheet Designed For Davenport

A new type of sheet has been designed for davenport beds. The sheets have built-in corner pockets which make them fit snugly on davenports without tucking in. The new design makes davenport bedmaking easier because sheets can be left on the mattress and folded into the bed, thus eliminating completely making up the bed each time it is used.

Opening day of the 1951 State Fair of Texas, Saturday, Oct. 6, has again been adopted as official Press Day by the Texas Press Association at its annual convention in Dallas.

Press Day, traditionally held on opening day, is expected to attract more than 2,000 newspaper and radio men and their families, who will be guests of the state fair at such attractions as:

1. "Guys and Dolls," current Broadway musical hit that will hold forth at the Auditorium.

5. All shows on the fair's million-dollar Midway.

The State Fair Picnic Pavilion, where registration will be held, will be open all day to serve as a gathering place for the publishers and editors.

In addition, the newsmen will find exhibit buildings bulging with the best-balanced array of free shows and exhibits the fair has ever had.

The Pan-American National Hereford Show, king of all cattle shows, will be getting off to a flying start on Press Day, and other beef cattle shows also will be under way along with shows for breeding swine, sheep and Angora goats, and American saddle horses.

...in season again! A short season this, so make the most of it in a variety of ways. Of course, they're wonderful fresh and crystal cool. But give your family a variety of ways to serve these wonderful, fresh "blues" in cobblers, shortcakes, and, for something different, how about Waffles a la Mode? Top warm, fragrant waffles with vanilla ice cream and "sauce" with golden, maple-blended syrup. The recipe for the waffles is given below. No matter how you serve them, simply use the maple-blended syrup from the bottle or familiar log cabin tin.

The Swiss Have a Way with Cheese

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor

It makes life interesting to vary your cooking routine and try dishes from another country sometimes. Especially when you find main dishes that will be popular with your husband. The following recipe for veal cutlet always proves popular with men because it combines two of their favorite foods—meat and cheese. The cheese called for is Switzerland Swiss—which most male appetites respect.

Garnish this special veal cutlet with water cress, if you have it, and top it with hot asparagus vinaigrette. This dish also seems to call for crusty hard rolls rather than the usual sliced bread. For a salad you might serve lettuce and tomato.

Timbales are delicious with mushroom sauce and fluffy rice. This recipe serves three, and makes a nice luncheon dish when you've invited two of "the girls."

Veal Cutlet Cordon Bleu

Ingredients: 4 thin veal cutlets (about 1/2 pound), salt, pepper, 2 thick slices Switzerland Swiss cheese (1/8-inch thick), 2 thin slices smoked boiled ham (trimmed of fat), 1 tablespoon flour, 1 egg (beaten), 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Method: Have your butcher cut and flatten 4 thin veal cutlets of equal size and shape. Season them lightly with salt and pepper. Place 1 slice of cheese and 1 slice of veal, cover with another slice of veal, then seal the edges by pressing or beating the edges together. Roll in flour, then dip in egg and cover with bread crumbs. Heat the butter or margarine in skillet and fry cutlets 4 to 5 minutes on each side. Makes 2 servings.

Cheese And Spinach Ring

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 teaspoons chopped onion, 1/2 clove garlic (minced), 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup cooked chopped spinach, 1 dash nutmeg, 2 eggs (well beaten), 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup (4 ounces) grated Swiss cheese.

Method: Melt butter or margarine in saucepan; add onion, garlic and flour and stir until slightly brown. Mix in spinach and nutmeg; remove from heat. Beat.

These Cheese and Spinach eggs with milk and salt and mix in cheese and spinach mixture. Turn into well-greased molds or custard cups; set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate (375 degree F.) oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until knife inserted comes out clean. Makes 3 servings.

Black Market Fills
 Legal Order

TEL AVIV (AP) — Can buying on the black market be justified?

This crucial question is frequently discussed in Israel since Mayor I. Rokach of Tel Aviv openly admitted that he had authorized black market purchases of building material for a hospital after exhausting all other possibilities.

Some disapproved of Mayor Rokach's action because, they said, government laws must be followed at any cost. One opponent went so far as to declare in a newspaper letter that, in order to express his indignation, he was leaving the political party to which Mr. Rokach belongs. Others heartily approved the action.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—If I finish my GI Bill classroom course after the July 25 cut-off date, and have remaining entitlement could I continue with on-the-job training in the same field?

A — If the job training were more or less a repetition of the material you learned in school, you would not be permitted to take it under the GI Bill. But if the job training were an essential part of your over-all GI training program, and was required before you could qualify as a trained worker, you probably would be permitted to take it. But you would have to apply for it before you completed your classroom work.

Q—Could I receive a free general physical check-up at a VA hospital? It wouldn't be in connection with any veterans' benefits, but only because I haven't had one for a long time.

A—No. VA is not permitted to provide physical examinations that have no bearing on VA-administered benefits.

Q—My National Service Life Insurance term policy has lapsed—but the term period has not expired. Is it possible to reinstate it under the new "free insurance" law? I am a veteran, not on active duty.

A—Yes. Your policy may be reinstated on or before—but not after—its term period has expired.

...for taking Texas out of the mud of its horse and developing the vast network of highways which were industrial growth goes to the late Dean J. C. Nagle, known to generations of students at the A. and M. College as "Dean Jimmy." A Virginian, educated in Texas and came to A. and M. as an assistant professor of Civil Engineering, two years after the first studies in road building were started at this school. As head of this department from 1917 and again from 1917 until 1922, he developed the first highway engineering which wielded great influence in the state of Texas highways. He also served as Dean of the Texas Engineering Experiment Station from 1922-23, a period, when much pioneering of Texas road work was done by these agencies. On the groundwork he laid, he developed to such a position of leadership that today he is one of the members of the Texas Highway Commission, the highest engineering, half of the state highway department's district engineers, half of its professional engineers are A. and M.

Where Have You Been all its Life ?

THIS ad is addressed to the fellow known as "the man on the street."

From that vantage point, you must have noticed that a lot of folks are driving 1951 Buicks.

You must have noted that you can spot one of these beauties—by its sparkling forefront—its gleaming fender ports—(three for the SPECIAL and SUPER, four for the ROADMASTER)—and by its fluent grace of lines and contours.

You've probably noticed, also, that these Buicks give a good account of themselves in traffic—ease to a gentle stop—get away to a nimble start when the light says, "Go."

You may even have noticed that these cars have a level-gaited stride that traces, as we've said before, to the fact that each wheel rides beneath its own coil spring.

But what we'd like to know is—when are you going to try one?

It's about time you climbed in the driver's seat.

It's about time that you sensed for yourself the thrill that comes from feeling your shoulders sink back in the cushions, when your toe gives the gas treadle a gentle nudge.

It's about time for you to be on the receiving end of those admiring glances which are the due of folks smart enough to pick the smart buy of the year.

What's holding you back? It can't be prices—for as you can quickly discover for yourself, you can own a SPECIAL for less than the price of some sixes—and SUPERS or ROADMASTERS are just as smart a buy in their fields.

So why not end the suspense? The welcome mat is out at our showrooms. We hope to greet you soon.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional on extra cost on other series.

RUSSIANS SHORTSTOP
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The Kremlin's "Hate America" campaign has broadened even to include types of food sent to German prisoners of war in Russian prisons and camps. Although Russia has claimed that all German prisoners of war she took have been repatriated, a recent United Nations estimate placed at "thousands" those still held.

Liberty Garden Campaign Launched to Increase Home Vegetable Growing

Home vegetable gardens can make an important contribution to the civilian defense program, Millard Caldwell, head of the Federal Civil Defense Administration, stated in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Brannan. "Food thus produced and preserved in the home will be a safety factor and should strengthen National Defense," his letter continued. "Furthermore, gardening brings many benefits to the public aside from the actual food produced, as it improves the morale and health of our citizens. We assure you of the complete cooperation of our agency in encouraging this program. We will also recommend to the State Civil Defense authorities that they, too, cooperate with their state agricultural agencies who have charge of this necessary activity." The National Garden Advisory Committee, established during the World War to advise the government on its war garden policy, unanimously recommended to Secretary Brannan that a government campaign be organized at once to encourage the planting of home vegetable gardens as a preparedness measure, under the title: "Liberty Garden program." The campaign will stress the preservation of home grown vegetables, by freezing and canning, to create home reserves. "Liberty Gardens" will be the fourth name applied to a national campaign for home vegetable gardens. In World War I, they were "War Gardens"; in World War II, "Victory Gardens," in the post-war era when food was being shipped in quantities to Europe, "Gardens for Freedom." These various names all meant the same, that every family which could produce its own fresh vegetables, by work during leisure hours, on land near the fictals told relatives of war prisoners not to try to send American goods. Although the Russians have made no formal statement, the Red Cross officials made it plain that such consignments never reach the prisoners.

Every major league baseball city except New York and Cincinnati has held membership in a minor league. In a Salt Lake City-Seattle game in the Pacific Coast League, Sept. 22, 1922 every player on the Seattle team was at bat four times, no more—no less.

Liberty Garden Program Recommendations of the National Garden Advisory Committee.

1. That the U. S. Department of Agriculture set up a home garden and home food preservation program under a definitely designated director.
2. That the facilities of the Extension Service and other agencies in the U. S. D. A. and in the various states be utilized to the fullest extent in furthering the program.
3. That the U. S. D. A. enlist the support and cooperation of garden clubs, youth groups, women's organizations, service clubs, industrial, community, other civic organizations, and organs of public information.
4. That emphasis be placed on home preservation of fruits and vegetables.

home, thereby made an important contribution to national defense. The contribution to the family budget will also be important for most families. High food prices indicate that. The cost of growing vegetables has grown so high that much land which formerly produced near large cities has been transferred to sugar beets, and other specialty crops, requiring less labor. Costs are rapidly increasing in California and Arizona, from which lettuce and carrots are shipped East all summer long. Careful statistics have shown that back-yard gardeners can grow vegetables for family use by spending less time in planting and caring for a garden, than it would take to shop for the vegetables in the market. Leisure time can be exchanged for the equivalent of high wages.
