COMMERCIAL BODY DISCUSSED MANY NEEDS FOR CITY

There were 32 citizens attending Chamber of Commerce luncheon Tuesday noon, several matters of importance being discussed. President J. S. Hilliard read a letter from Representative C. W. War-stating his favorable attitude to a bill which would make a cash donation to counties which had not awarded school lands by the State. This bill would include Lamb County.

Letter from the Panhandle-Plains Amarillo, asking for co-operation in advertising this section was read and on motion, the secretary instructed to advise the concern of this city has already linked its with the South Plains Inc., at a cost for advertising purposes.

Bestock survey made in Dawson county was read by the President, and body went on record as favoring similar survey for Lamb county, it was stated that such would furnish basis for encouraging a cheese factory location in Littlefield. The county is to co-operate with County D. A. Adam in securing such.

S. Rowe reported that the "committee" had met with Division Superintendent J. A. Gillies, who stated that at some future date a more desirable depot site would be given due consideration.

Mr. Brannen, postmaster, reported need of another rural route in Littlefield, and steps toward securing it were taken by the organization. Mr. Brannen stated he was interested in the new hotel and thought it could be financed by local capital.

FOUR INCH SNOW ACCOMPANIES BIG DROP IN WEATHER

Friday, Saturday and Sunday Littlefield and the South Plains country in general, unused to arctic climes, shivered in the coldest spell of winter weather for the past two years, the thermometer dropping as low as seven degrees above the zero mark.

Chronic prognosticators who had been contending for a hard winter, telling of the extra bark on the north side of trees, how animals had put on an extra coat of fur, the squirrels laid a surplus of nuts, etc., were overjoyed with their "I told you so" philosophy for a couple of days, or until the weather began moderating.

Along with the drop in temperature there came a fall of about four inches of snow, the first of any consequence this year. This week it is slowly melting away, going into the ground as an aid to the farmers who are doing winter plowing and of much value to those who planted wheat during the fall time.

Winty seiges of this kind seldom last but a few days in this section, when the weather returns to its normal and much appreciated by the new and old alike, familiar to all old timers and much appreciated by the new comers.

LAMB CO. GIN IN STATE LEAD; C.O. THIRD IN BALES

"The Lamb County Farm Bureau Cotton association has already delivered this season more than 5,000 bales of cotton to their headquarters," according to County Agent J. W. Hammock, "which is strong proof of their faith in the principles of co-operative marketing, as well as evidence of the determination of a mighty fine class of people to do their part toward the improvement of this part of Texas."

Lamb county now stands third in the state in number of bales of cotton delivered to the Association, regardless of the amount of cotton produced by any county, which in some of the counties totals more than 120,000 bales. Indications are that before the season entirely closes this county will rank second, said Mr. Hammock. It is also a notable fact that out of 33 bureau gins throughout the state, the Littlefield gin ranks first in number of bales of cotton ginned this year. This gin has now turned out nearly 3,000 bales, and hopes to go to 3,500 before the season closes, he said.

TEXAS ALMANAC IS OUT

The Leader is this week in receipt of a complimentary copy of The Texas Almanac, compiled and published by the Dallas News.

LAMB COUNTY CONSOLIDATED BAND WILL PRESIDENT P.-T. A. URGES MEMBERSHIP IN LOCAL ASSO'N

The Littlefield band has recently moved into its new quarters, and is entering upon a period of intense work, according to Director Conrad R. Lam.

The building formerly used by the members of the Progressive Christian church has been repaired and fitted up as a band hall, and on Tuesday nights and Thursday afternoons, many chordant and discordant notes are emitted therefrom.

The organization is making a point to play on the streets of the city every alternate Saturday afternoon. The next free concert will be on Main street next Saturday at 3:00 p. m.

To take care of the financial end of the band work, the Littlefield band plans to sponsor a series of three super-attractions. The first will be a band concert by the aggregation of musicians known as the "Lamb County Band."

By recruiting the better players from each of his three bands in this county, Director Lam is able to consolidate them into a "county band" which is capable of pleasing the most fastidious and metropolitan audience. The program will probably be presented at the local high school auditorium at an early date.

The second attraction of the series will consist of a Dixie Revue—a gala entertainment, with chorus girls and colored minstrels galore. This will be followed by the presentation of a real, up-town, honest-to-goodness play, with orchestra music before the curtain, vaudeville between acts, and everything.

Season tickets for the three attractions will be available soon. It is probable that the sale of the tickets will be in charge of local pep squad, assisted by the band boys. Definite announcement of the dates and prices will be given later.

CASE OF "RED" BENNETT REMANDED FOR NEW TRIAL

The case of Gordon (Red) Bennett of Amherst, convicted in the May term of district court, last year, charging highway robbery, and given five years sentence in the state penitentiary, was duly appealed to the Court of Criminal Appeals, resulting in an order for remanding the case back to the county district court for a new trial.

The remanding order was issued on the appeal plea that the district court should have granted a motion for continuance by the defendant's attorney because of absentee witnesses. E. A. Bills, this city is attorney for the defendant.

The case will doubtless be set for a re-hearing at the coming May term of district court in this county.

TEXAS DIVORCE RECORD

ROTARY CLUB HAS 100 PER CENT ATTENDANCE

The Littlefield Rotary club met Thursday last week with 26 members or 100 per cent present.

The meeting was conducted by President R. E. McCaskill. After luncheon the club was called to order and the following members were introduced: Alvin Hendricks, Lubbock; Attorney Gowdy, Olton; Mr. Harrold and Mrs. Sidney Hopping, Littlefield.

R. E. McCaskill called on the following members for short talks: C. C. Clements, Max McClure, H. B. Teal, A. P. Duggan and Attorney Gowdy. All responded with short talks.

As February 23rd is the anniversary of Rotary, the club decided to change the hour of regular meeting of February 21st to 7:30 p. m., making that their annual meeting hour and inviting all Rotarians to attend.

The club then joined in singing several Rotary songs led by the song director and accompanied by Mrs. Sidney Hopping at piano, after which they adjourned.

SUDAN ORGANIZES LUNCHEON CLUB FOR CIVIC BENEFIT

At a duck feast held in Sudan last week a luncheon club was organized to meet every two weeks, the dues being $4.00 per quarter, meals included.

The object of the club is the general benefit of Sudan and surrounding community.

The club's first activity was to employ a city marshal and organize a volunteer fire department.

SUP'T GILLIES IS HERE INTERVIEWED REGARDING DEPOT

Superintendent J. A. Gillies, of the State Division Santa Fe, who ministers and eight elders has been appointed to work out details of the consolidation. Several locations for the new school have been offered, but no decision will be made until all have been thoroughly investigated.

The largest percentage of foreign white population in Texas is Mexican. Next come the Germans.

accident but of better chance

My assorted stock of ties for Men—just those

Mr. Gillies, in behalf of his company, stated that their principal reason for not wishing to erect a more desirable depot at this point now was because of the rapid growth of the town, and that anything they might now erect would, in a few years probably be entirely too small for future accommodations. On his division he stated there were 10 towns and cities who were now making similar pleas.

Mr. Gillies is a new man in this section, coming here from Dodge City, Kansas, where he was assistant superintendent of the Dodge City division of the Santa Fe system. He takes the place of J. C. Barton who has been transferred to the Wellington division in Kansas.

It was his first official visit to Littlefield wherein he had the opportunity of viewing the town and meeting some of the business men here. He expressed himself as greatly pleased with the present status and predicted a much larger development within the coming few years.

CRIME SUPPRESSION PROBLEM

After commenting unfavorably on the futility of passing anti-gun owning laws on the theory that such legislation, which affects law-abiding gun owners as well as criminals, will help curb the criminal, the Indianapolis Star says editorially:

"If the law enforcement agencies of the state wish to improve crime conditions with a minimum of legislative enactments, they might center their efforts toward amending the present indeterminate sentence law. That law was designed as a reform measure, but in its application has become a greater evil than those it was designed to correct. It is a farce even to call it an indeterminate sentence law, since it operates almost invariably to free the criminal."

There is certainly little logic in the belief that an anti-pistol law would deter a person, who by the very nature of his profession, is constantly moving in the shadow of the penitentiary.

The advice of the Star would be good for many states where enforcement of existing laws and carrying out of court sentences would be more effective in curbing crime, than the enactment of additional legislation creating new laws which many otherwise honest and honorable citizens would break, considering such legislation an infringement of constitutional rights accorded by the second amendment of the United States Constitution.

McDANIEL BABE DIES

Wanda Lou, little eleven month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McDaniel, died Wednesday morning of pneumonia, contracted from whooping cough.

Services were held at the home Wednesday afternoon by Rev. T. L. Kimmel, of the Church of Christ, Rev. Roy Kemp, of Baptist church, and Rev. Geo. Turrentine, of Methodist church.

The casket was in charge of Burleson-Mason undertaking company. Interment was made in Littlefield cemetery.

BATH TUBS AND IRONS

According to a nation-wide survey made by the General Federation of Women's Clubs more houses have electric lights than stationary wash basins. About two-thirds of the homes investigated had stationary bath tubs and electric irons, but only half of them had telephones and automobiles. Twice as many had electric lights as have pianos; there are more phonographs than vacuum cleaners, and more radios than electric washing machines. Out of 22 different household conveniences listed by the survey 11, or exactly half, had to do with keeping clean.

The name "Llano Estacado" or staked plains, applied to the plains of West Texas, comes from the story that the Spanish explorer, Coronado staked his course across the plains to enable him to retrace his steps.

The GREATER HUDSON

and Motordom calls for
 of all time

Already in response to the public's demand, production of the Greater Hudson has been increased, and then increased again — by far the largest schedule Hudson ever found necessary.

In their own words, by their marked and recorded ballots, motorists by tens of thousands are telling us the Greater Hudson is truly the greatest of all time.

Voting in every Hudson salesroom in the country, these enthusiastic multitudes have piled up the most convincing endorsement in Hudson history. Perhaps even more important, they have bought these beautiful new Hudsons in such numbers that we must make thousands more of them to insure prompt delivery.

Every experience and suggestion of the world's largest 6-cylinder ownership is incorporated in the 64 improvements of the Greater Hudson.

As co-authors of these creations the 1,000,000 Super-Six owners are naturally first to want to see, inspect and drive them. It is particularly interesting to observe their special satisfaction in the numerous body improvements. In comment, these important developments in body design and appointment, fully equal the more dramatic qualities of the more than 80-mile-an-hour performance.

They definitely set Hudson apart from like-priced cars, just as Hudson performance stands alone among all cars.

Come, see and drive the Greater Hudson. We believe one ride will make it the car of your choice.

BIRD HOUSES ATTRACT

Bird houses will attract more feathered tenants if some thought is given to locating them properly, says the Bureau of Biological Survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They should not be placed in dense woods, nor should too large a number be placed in a limited area. Most birds, particularly those of the same species, insist on territorial rights, and the prospective tenants may quarrel over their "apartments." Tree swallows, however, are sociable and will live near each other. The purple martin is the only gregarious nesting species that breeds in bird houses, and homes for them should be well separated from trees or buildings. Houses on posts or poles, rather than in trees, seem more popular with martins probably because they are more protected against enemies. Place the houses low enough for them to be readily reached and taken care of.

TEXAS' 1928 FARM CROP TOTALS MORE THAN 1927 ACCORDING TO STATISTICIAN

Total value of Texas farm crops for 1928 is $783,000,000 compared to $738,000,000 in 1927, according to the report of H. H. Schutz, United States statistician at Austin.

This State was first in the production of cotton, grain sorghums and pecans; second in production of sweet potatoes; third in production of sorghum syrup and stood as follows in production of other crops: Corn, ninth; winter wheat, fifth; oats, thirteenth; barley, seventeenth; rice, fourth; tame hay, thirty-third; wild hay, thirteenth; peanuts fifth; white potatoes, thirty-seventh; sugar cane syrup, fifth; broomcorn, sixth; peaches, eleventh; apples, forty-third; pears, eighth, and grapes, twenty-fourth.

U. S. Crop Total Smaller.
Total United States production of farm crops the past year is placed at $8,456,000,000 compared to $8,522,000,000 in 1927. As usual, Texas led all States in total production.

The report covers all important Texas crops and follows in part:

Texas crop yields per acre during 1928 averaged 2.8 per cent above the average of the past 10 years, not withstanding the unfavorable conditions that prevailed at intervals in many sections. Low temperatures in early January of last year reduced the yields as well as acreage of the small grains; corn made average yields and cotton produced 5 pounds per acre more than the average. Although they exceeded the 1927 production, the deciduous fruits yielded poorly because of unfavorable conditions. The pecan production was more than a half crop. Other crops generally did better than usual although the several periods of extreme weather and the losses resulting from insects and disease were severely felt in numerous localities.

45,000,000 Increase Shown.

The 16 leading crops exceeded in value those of 1927 by $6,000,000 and the hypothetical value of all crops was $783,000,000 compared with the 1927 value of $738,000,000. The cotton crop was worth about $30,000,000 more than that of the year before, and the production was 800,000 bales greater. For the United States as a whole, the total value of the principal crops in 1928 was $8,456,000,000 compared with $8,522,000,000 a year ago. Another good year was experienced by the raisers of cattle, sheep, goats, poultry, but to a lesser extent by the hog raisers. Shipments of cattle and calves to points outside were very close to the 5-year average of 1,088,000 head. The movement of cattle within the State accounted for another million head.

There was a slight reduction in the acreage of winter wheat sown during the fall of 1928 compared with that sown in 1927. However, the estimated 2,576,000 acres shown last fall exceeded the area harvested in 1928 by 560,000 acres. A total of 24 per cent of the wheat acreage was abandoned in 1928. Practically all parts of the State now have a good season in the ground, and conditions in general are encouraging.

CASE OF AUCTIONEERS APPEALED TO CO. COURT

L. L. Newman and John Newman, arrested last week on a charge of violating city ordinance No. 15, which provides a restricted district in which auctioneering may be done within the city limits were found guilty in a jury trial held in Municipal court. L. L. Newman was assessed a fine of $25.00 and costs, while John Newman was given a fine of $5.00 and costs according to information given out by the City Attorney.

Through their attorney, the defendants gave notice of an appeal of the case of the county court, and it has been intimated that the matter may be taken before District Judge Charles C. Clements, on a writ of habeas corpus to test the validity of the ordinance.

Tom Ross left Lubbock last Monday morning for the last time. On this last trip he was cold and stiff, encased in a coffin carried by a Lubbock hearse to Lovington, New Mexico, where he was buried that afternoon.

Ross, who shot himself last week, following the killing of another man near the Canadian border, had escaped from the Texas penitentiary about three years ago, following his conviction on a charge of murder. His partner, Milt Goode, who escaped at the same time, was later caught and returned behind the grim walls to continue his life sentence.

In past years Ross was a prominent figure in this country in the cattle business. He is survived by his wife and little girl who, since his conviction, have made their home with her father near Lovington.

The annual lumber cut of Texas is about one billion five hundred million feet.

Community Building

Would Bring Factory to Small Community

Factory whistles, instead of the farm bell of another day, will call agricultural workers from their labors if the plan of T. R. Preston, president of the American Bankers' association, calling for building up of farm and factory communities side by side, is followed out.

Preston, as president of the Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, Tenn., has had abundant opportunity to observe the problems of farmers in regions surrounding that southern city. Commenting on the national farm problem in the Farm and Fireside, Preston declares that bringing the factory to the agricultural community will go far toward remedying existing financial difficulties of the farmer. He calls attention once more to the fact that not only does the farmer receive a small share of the dollar his far away customer pays, but the price that he gets from his nearby customers is affected by the fact that the base price is decided at so great a distance.

"I know of nothing that can do more to correct this unsatisfactory situation," he says, "than mixing the farms and the factories—the decentralization of industry, as it is often called."

In communities where such combinations of farm and factory groups have occurred, he continues, economic improvement has been immediate.

"The farm problem in the United States is so important," he concludes, "that we can afford to overlook no possible contribution to its solution. Few of the problem's careful students believe that it can be solved by legislative panaceas. By taking it apart, and examining the phases one by one we can see how the difficulties can be corrected."

Country Church Big Force in Community

The country church will not have to move to town, writes Rev. Henry R. White in Successful Farming.

"People often mistakenly look upon me as something of a martyr—a young minister who makes a sacrifice to serve some country churches part time each rather than fill the more comfortable position of a city pastor," writes this rural Missouri minister. "I rather believe some of them pity me because I am not alive to my opportunities. They are all wrong. I am not a martyr to a lost cause and I do not need their sympathy. The country church is a very live institution and I believe in rural service for the spirit in which it exists. I like it for the enthusiasm with which it works. I like it because its people are more congenial than any other class of people I know."

"What is to be done for the country church? I am often asked. 'It is dying on account of good roads and radio, you know. It's a pity.' The question and statement reveal the inquirer's misconception of the real conditions. The country church as an institution is not dying, and while it has its problems, good roads and radios are not among them."

Keep City Like Home

Every thrifty housewife knows the need and the joy of household cleanliness. She has a general housecleaning twice a year, when she changes her furnishings, but she keeps her home immaculate all the time. No semiannual "annual bath" for her home.

There are millions of women who smile with pride when visitors praise their good housekeeping. The "clean up, paint up" period encourages the city as a whole to do what each one of these housekeepers is doing every day in her home.

Paint and varnish are mighty fine things for woodwork, steel and other exposed surfaces, but who would think of painting a dirty surface? Cleanliness is absolutely necessary before paint can be properly applied, therefore the cleaning operation comes first.

Ferns

Ferns found growing naturally in the woods are not suitable as house plants. They will not usually withstand the dry atmosphere of the home.

Native ferns, however, provide excellent plants for shady places in the rear yard. If they are carefully lifted with plenty of dirt and set in the ground with the uncurled fronds slightly below the surface they usually survive and flourish. It is a good plan to place a top dressing of light, rich soil around the plants and water thoroughly during dry weather.

Make for Betterment

No doubt the dominant thought of the better homes movement is the influence of the home upon the character of the children who are growing up in our families. Better homes mean better boys and girls, better men and women, better citizens and a better country to live in.—The Deliberator.

Insulation Important

Some kind of insulation should be used in the house. It will save its cost in a year or two in fuel.

How to Determine Body

Conformation of Fowls

To determine the body conformation, grasp the bird in both hands, holding the head toward the body. Span the back with both hands, pointing the fingers toward the keel bone. Shuffle the bird around between the hands in order to get its shape and landing qualities. Care should be taken not to pinch or hurt the bird in any way. A heavy producer will show a long keel bone. The body and all-omen should show capacity. The pelvic bone and abdomen should be free of fat at the close of a heavy laying season.

Capacity Is Essential in Good Laying Hens

Capacity is essential in the laying hen. If a hen is to lay an egg a day, or even one every other day, she must have room for digestive organs that will handle considerable food. The evidence of capacity in a hen's body is shown by the spread of the pelvic bones and the distance between the pelvic bones and the end of the breast bone. In a nonlaying hen these bones are close together. The handling of a few hens will readily show this difference. Length and breadth of body are also essential in securing capacity.

Lime for Chicks

An adequate supply of lime in the ration is important for growing chicks. Experiment station results have revealed the fact that the lack of this element leads to a drain upon the reserve supply of the bones and stunts growth. Even in the case of mature hens, a lack of lime will lower egg production. For mature fowls, oyster shell or other inorganic compounds are sufficient, but not for growing chicks. Lime must be added in the form of vegetable foods.

Vitamines and Minerals

Heavy laying fowls require from three to four pounds of oyster shell per head per year. Even though the hens have enough protein and other food to produce a large number of eggs, they will cut their production down to meet the amount of minerals which they have for shells. A balanced ration does not mean merely supplying protein to balance the carbohydrates and fats. It also means supplying minerals and vitamins.

HOW TO MAKE BLUE WATER

Make bluing water just before it is to be used. If allowed to stand for a long time it is likely to streak the clothes. Test the shade by dipping in a small garment and holding it to the light, or by holding a little of the water in the hollow of the hand.

Heavy fabrics require more bluing than thin ones. Blue only a few pieces at a time, and do not let them soak in the bluing water. Never draw off the bluing water, leaving the clothes in the washer or tub; this may streak them.

Kwitcherbelliak and smile.

COLLEGE NEWS

The snowy cold weather during the past few days has been reminding us of the fact that this is winter time. It has been giving some of those who live on the campus the added task of carrying water on account of some of the water pipes having frozen underground. Too, the weather has temporarily stopped the surveying.

BANKERS IN NATIONAL MOVE FOR UNIFORM FINANCIAL PRACTICES

Would Promote Greater Consistency Among All the State Laws in Respect to Banking Conditions—Uniformity of Practice and Understanding Will Make for Greater Convenience, Efficiency and Safety for All Business.

By S. J. HIGH

President State Bank Division, American Bankers Association

RAPID interchange of business and the quick transportation of goods in the United States, coupled with almost instantaneous means of inter-communication by telegraph, telephone and wireless, have welded the country into an economic unit. The nation is not, in a business sense, conducting its affairs in water-tight compartments, as in a measure it did in the days of slow travel and remote places, but styles, methods, commodities and business practices flow freely today in all directions. Therefore it is desirable that finance, trade and industry throughout the country operate along generally uniform or at least consistent lines, so that a contract or an agreement or obligation in connection with business transactions shall mean virtually the same thing in all parts of the country. Particularly necessary in this connection is the establishment of uniform financial and banking practices so as to facilitate the flow of trade along accepted and understood lines.

S. J. HIGH

Banking in the United States is recognized as a semi-public type of business and is therefore subject to laws to define the scope and character of its activities. These laws at present set up under which banking is conducted in various parts of the country since they come from both state and federal authorities. The national banks are all chartered by the federal government and therefore operate on the same lines in every state of the Union, but there is no such regularity in respect to the conditions under which the state banks chartered by the respective forty-eight states must conduct their business. All state banking codes, while they have similarities, also have many great dissimilarities in respect both to the national bank laws and the banking laws covering state bank operations in other jurisdictions.

Bankers Move for Uniform Laws
The State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association, which latter includes in its membership banks of all descriptions throughout the country subject to all the variations of state and federal banking laws, is committed to the effort to bring about greater consistency and uniformity among the statutes of all these various jurisdictions. This body is conducting a vigorous nation-wide campaign urging that active steps be taken to secure greater co-ordination in banking legislation, more equitable conditions and more uniformly efficient public supervision of banks in the several states.

The organization is particularly concerned with fostering this movement to bring about more uniformly desirable conditions throughout the United States in respect to the public supervision of banking institutions by the state banking departments. It is on record as favoring the policy that the important office of state bank commissioner should be kept as free from entangling partisan politics as the judiciary itself and should be completely detached from all other functions of state government.

It is also on record as favoring the policy that the tenure of office of state bank commissioners should be made more secure and lasting than is now the case in many state jurisdictions and that this important public officer be granted sufficient compensation and discretionary power so that the office shall attract and retain the services of men of outstanding executive ability and successful banking experience.

It is also a part of this policy that the bank commissioner's ability to serve well should be strengthened by providing him with adequate forces of bank examiners, selected on the basis of merit from men having the requisite qualifications of honesty, ability, training and banking knowledge to carry out the duties of their offices on the highest plane of usefulness to the public as well as to banking.

The Trend of State Laws
The Association's State Bank Division has recently concluded a nationwide survey of state banking legislation and conditions and in general has discovered a definite trend along the following lines:

There is a distinct tendency among the states to raise the minimum capital required for banking institutions to $25,000 and also to give the bank commissioners or the banking boards sole power as to the granting of charters for new banks, thus enabling them to use discretion as to the need or desirability of added banking facilities or the fitness of the organizers to enter the banking field. In this connection many states are creating banking boards to act in an advisory capacity with the state bank commissioners.

There has also been observed a tendency to increase the compensation of the bank commissioners and to lengthen their term of office and to give them power to appoint necessary deputies and examiners so as to build up an adequate force to carry out their responsibilities and duties. An important augmentation of the powers of bank commissioners in some states is found in laws giving them complete charge of insolvent banks and their liquidation as distinguished from more costly liquidation through the courts.

In the Public Interest
Distinctly in the public interest are laws prohibiting or limiting an officer or director of a bank from borrowing from his own bank unless his collateral security is approved by a majority of the board of directors of the bank. Also there is recent legislation noted providing for closer supervision and regulation of building and loan associations, credit unions, finance companies and private banks.

In some states measures have been enacted broadening the field for investment of funds of savings banks and trust companies, which have materially enhanced the service that these institutions can render, particularly in the way of co-operation with their customers in personal financial management. Another type of legislation, important especially to banking in view of the frequent efforts to defraud banks, is that which makes the issuance of worthless checks a misdemeanor with specific penalties.

The State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association endorses in the fullest degree in principle the development of banking laws along the foregoing lines and is actively engaged in fostering the spread of such legislation wherever its services are considered useful both to banking and to the public. Uniformly sound banking institutions and practices, together with common methods and understanding, will materially add to the convenience, efficiency and safety of business in serving the well-being of the public in all parts of the nation, especially in those transactions involving dealings between different localities.

A SALAD PUZZLE SOLVED!

MANY a housewife has had occasion to say with a sigh, "I've tried all sorts of salads to tempt my husband but he won't eat them. And I know he should, for the fruits and vegetables are really necessary for health."

Sometimes, let us whisper it, the reason hubby won't eat salads is just because he is stubborn. But more often it is because the salads are so flavorless. The obvious remedy is to use more highly flavored ingredients. As an old colored mammy used to say, "Le's jes' jimp 'er up a bit."

Pineapple Hath Charms
And what could be a better way to "jimp up" a salad than by the use of full flavored, rich Hawaiian pineapple. Certainly a salad which contains this delicious fruit will captivate the heart of even the most obdurate salad hater.

Red Star Salad: Drain the syrup from a can of pineapple tid-bits. Cut an equal quantity of tender celery into small pieces, sprinkle with lemon juice, and stand in a cool place until chilled. Add one-fourth cup of blanched and chopped almonds or pistachio nuts to a cupful of mayonnaise dressing and use sufficient dressing to mix thoroughly with the celery and pineapple. Serve on lettuce leaves and garnish with pimientos cut into small star shapes.

From the Tropics
Chicken and Pineapple Salad: Combine one cup drained Hawaiian pineapple tid-bits, two cups diced cooked chicken, three-fourths cup diced celery, and one-third cup mayonnaise dressing. Arrange in lettuce cups, top with mayonnaise, and garnish with ripe olives.

Tropical Salad: Cut six slices of pineapple in halves. Pare an avocado, cut in halves lengthwise, remove stone, and cut halves crosswise into half moon shapes. Arrange on a bed of romaine, alternating halves of pineapple and avocado. Serve with lime dressing made by substituting lime juice for lemon juice in a standard French dressing.

Pineapple and Cream Cheese Salad: Drain twelve Hawaiian pineapple slices and dry thoroughly. Combine one and one-fourth cups cream cheese, two tablespoons cream, one-half teaspoon salt, a dash of pepper and paprika, and three drops onion juice; beat until smooth and creamy. Spread one-eighth inch thick on each slice of pineapple. Then press every two slices of pineapple closely together. Chill well, cut in wedge shapes and pile on crisp lettuce. Pour over it French dressing and serve with mayonnaise. As a variation, add one tablespoon Roquefort cheese or two tablespoons of finely chopped chives to the cream cheese, in place of onion juice.

Lack of enthusiasm in caring for the poultry flock can sometimes be attributed to an inconvenient building. Many poultry houses have roofs that are too low. The poultry house should be of such size and shape that work in it can be done easily. Detailed information on how to build poultry houses is given in a bulletin recently issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., as Farmers' Bulletin 1554-F called "Poultry Houses and Fixtures."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame.—John 29:15.
Light is the task when many share the toil.—Homer.

THAT NEW CALENDAR

At first we thought it must be a new joke, but now it looks as if the American people are taking it seriously—that proposition to so change the calendar that we will have 13 months in a year, with an even number of days in each month. Much ado is being made over the proposed change by those advocating it, and we feel sure Littlefield residents will soon be joining in the discussion and "taking sides" for and against its adoption.

The proposed change would standardize the months and each month would be like this:

Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat	Sun
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28

This, however, would leave an extra day at the end of the year—the 365th day. It is planned to take care of the outlaw day by giving it a special name and celebrating it as a new holiday. The dispute over the change resolves itself into a question of whether the advantages would make up for the disadvantages.

It's a question with two sides to it however. But since it now appears that it is actually going to be put up to congress for consideration it isn't too early for our readers to study over it and figure out for themselves whether or not they can see an advantage in the change.

The eastern doctor who warns against kissing during flu epidemics, has only opened the way for another kind of bootlegging.

HOW TO TEACH THRIFT

It is all right for Littlefield parents to teach their children to sacrifice pleasures and luxuries for the purpose of saving money, but such teachings will do more harm than good if they create the impression in the child's mind that thrift means the total surrender of all the joys of life.

Children should not be given to understand that thrift and saving deprives them of "a good time." There is real joy in thrift and there is a vast difference between thrift and penny-pinching.

The worst thing that can happen to a child is to brow-beat it into saving money until it becomes discouraged and disgusted. Children must be taught the value of a dollar and the good that can be accomplished through its expenditure in the proper manner.

We want to see every boy and girl in the community grow up thrifty and prosperous. But we don't want any misers around to make all of us miserable. And that is what we will have if we don't teach thrift in the right way.

A mania has developed with man to see how long he can stay in the air. But his biggest problem is to see how long he can stay on earth.

NO "OLD FOSSILS"

It is good to note that the old and cruel custom of ostracizing the aged has passed. No longer is the older generation referred to as "old fossils." Today men of advanced age mingle with youth and the world is better for the reason of it. No matter what complaint may be lodged against the new generation, it is more considerate of age than the generation before it. Age isn't dreaded now as it used to be because today there are various forms of employment that one never gets too old to work at. Today older heads are needed for counsel and younger ones for activity, and the two make a fine combination.

Look at the old people in the world today who continue to work—scores of men like Thomas A. Edison. It's a young man's world, all right.

But the young man has found he can get along better if he has an older man advising and helping him. That's why we no longer hear so much about "old fossils" as we used to hear.

They used to take a drink of whiskey for a cold. Now some of them take a drink and stay cold for ages.

COUNTRY GROWTH

Towns have quite a habit of taking care of themselves if the country around is looked after. Towns do not need "boosting" so much as does the country lying around them. An over developed town not only suffers reaction; but the country around it is similarly affected.

Chambers of Commerce frequently devote much of their energies to town development that should be received by the country. Build up any country and the town will largely take care of itself.

New enterprises in a given town are always desirable; but it is often a mistake to have too many businesses of a given kind in a town. It does not increase business; merely distributes it more thinly. Every business concern must have a reasonable margin of profit to exist, and failure is certain if that reasonable margin is missing. Any surrounding country is always adversely affected by a town's business failures.

If there are few farmers in a given country, town business is correspondingly limited. If the farmer has no dollar to spend, the merchant has no chance to get it. When crops fail business men miss ordinary profits. When a chamber of commerce acts in such a manner as to develop the territory surrounding a given town and to build up the buying power of the farmer it is doing the town a big favor, likewise, it is performing a general public duty highly commendable.

LITTLE LEADERS

The most successful method of farm relief we know of around Littlefield is driving to town in the evening to a picture show.

The cost of living declined two percent last year. Fifty more years like that and Littlefield people will be sitting pretty.

Another reason why everyone in Littlefield should go to church is because nobody notices your presence if you're there and everybody notices your absence if you're not there.

The reason some Littlefield people carry a grouch around all the time is because it costs nothing and requires no effort to obtain.

If you want to be sure the average Littlefield woman will read a letter addressed to her husband just put "Personal" on it.

MOST FORTUNES DEVELOPED AS RESULT OF A SLOW, STEADY SAVING, SAYS AUTHORITY

By S. W. STRAUS, President

American Society for Thrift

There are a great many substantial business men in America today who could tell you interesting stories about how they spent their early years in the accumulation of a few dollars.

Had they continued all their lives to save only the small amounts they were able to lay by at first, they never would have become well-to-do men. But their small savings and the discipline which was necessary to build up these sums, put them in a position to earn more money and occupy more important positions as the years went by.

"I don't think I could live long enough ever to be rich at the rate I would be able to save money."

This sentence in a letter received recently is typical of the viewpoint of many who lack the patience to build up their personal resources through the painstaking methods of thrift. Now and then someone does strike it rich, so to speak, but where one person may gain sudden wealth, a million others, trying the same thing, may lose their last penny.

Look up the histories of most of the large fortunes in America and you will find that the vast majority were started with small sums of money and grew to fabulous accumulations of wealth through the normal processes of sound business and investment. The possession even of a small sum of money was necessary before the larger amounts could be built up.

It is always to be remembered that one of the great elements in thrift is patience. It is hard for an ambitious vigorous person to exercise this rare quality. The temptation always is strong with such persons to take chances and plunge. But patient saving and the slow, steady accumulation of funds will win out in the long run. The great book of human experience is eloquent in its assertions of this fact.

live to a ripe old age if he tries to assert his rights.

Warbles are likely to annoy cattle at this time of year; when these pests are found in little bumps on the backs of the animals, squeeze them out and destroy them. Do not crush the warbles on the animals. Grubs can also be destroyed by using Derris as a wash, ointment, or powder, by pyrethrum ointment, by injection of benzol or carbon tetrachloride, or by the application of fine tobacco powder or nicotine dust says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Get your neighbors to destroy any warbles in their herds so your cattle will not be reinfested.

Nature Thought of Everything
Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grind their teeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have contracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely and surely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. White's Cream Vermifuge costs only 35c a bottle, and can be bought from Stokes & Alexander Drug Company.

THE FRUITS OF THE TARIFF

Some years ago, when our present tariff laws were established, a wave of protest arose from the dissenting faction.

It was stated that an increased tariff would unreasonably raise commodity prices and that, by doing away with competition, it would measurably lower the efficiency of industry.

It was predicted that our prosperity would be seriously injured and that those with money would get more and those doing little would have less.

The tariff seems to have operated just opposite from this. Prices of articles on the free list have, on the average, increased more than the prices of articles coming under the tariff provisions.

FARM POULTRY

GOOD WEIGHT FOR SIZE OF CHICKEN

"Lift" your chickens often. Every fowl should be a good weight for the size. Birds that are "going light" will not show loss of weight for some time after they begin losing. Trust the hand rather than the eye for weight.

Poultry owners expect light-colored stonks and backs in yellow-legged hens and pullets after a season of laying, but light-colored shanks and beaks in pullets that have not commenced to lay, indicate lack of vitality.

A bright-eyed, alert female that flies down from the roost at the first break of light; that scratches and sings till the last bird is on the roost, does not need handling to show she has vigor. It is the inconspicuous female that is apt to become a carrier of disease. The kind of hen that will not see an open door; the fowl that squawks when she is cornered. These hair-neck hens go around as in a fog.

The healthy, productive hen is energetic and friendly. She shows an intelligent interest in her surroundings; she looks thrifty. Human qualities in chickens have a commercial value just as good disposition in horses and cattle is of value commercially. One can't tell the condition of a fowl without handling. Fowls that can be handled without upsetting them nervously are the kind to keep.

Fattening Turkeys Is Simple Kind of Work

Fattening turkeys for the Thanksgiving market, or for the home table, is the simplest kind of work. Although people confine chickens in coops and pens and stuff them with feed, the successful turkey raiser usually lets his flock run free in the fields and gives them all they want to eat twice a day of good yellow corn. During the first part of October one feed per day of yellow corn is usually sufficient, but during the last three weeks before killing time they should have all they will eat, morning and night. The exercise they take makes them hungry, and they consume large quantities of the corn and, being healthy, they turn it into flesh and fat with but little loss. Moreover, they pick up considerable feed on the range and in that way make up a ration that makes them full fleshed and fat at killing time.

If it is necessary to separate those to be fattened from the rest of the flock, they can be put in a large yard, but as the usual thing they will not fatten so well as when allowed free range, but will get nervous and spend most of their time trying to get out. Under these conditions they require more careful feeding also.

Small Town Has Many Advantages Over City

Of all the vanities known to human weakness few are harder to understand than the vanity of a city over its own ungodly height. There is nothing natural or commendable in living by the million. On the whole, it is rather unintelligent. The people who do it have less than normal light, air and room. They butt like busy ants and hang on each other like swarming bees.

The best that can be said for an oversized community is that it has done well in roads, parks, schools, museums, theaters, policing, fire-fighting and transportation to atone for the mistake of being so big to begin with. But the man with an acre of his own has advantages that only the occasional city millionaire—who also has his own acreage outside of town—can begin to rival.—Chicago Journal.

Study Housing Problems

Thousands of men and women throughout the country are forming better homes committees to study local housing problems and problems of home and community life, and to work out a solution of those problems from the point of view of families of limited incomes. John J. Tigert, commissioner of education, says regarding the better homes movement:

The importance of home life among our fundamental American institutions cannot well be over emphasized. Unfortunately, some of our recent adventures have had a tendency to destroy the influence of the home. The home, more than the school or church, relates to the individual in an intimate and personal way.

Individual initiative is an outstanding American characteristic. Therefore, the creation and building of homes and home life contribute in a very vital way to the ongoing of our American civilization."

The 12-year-old son of Walter Johnson, famed pitcher of the Washington Senators, gives promise of becoming a worthy successor of his father as a baseball moundsman.

Since organization of the state highway department in 1917 almost 400 grade crossings have been eliminated the discriminating farmers had to leave Lamb county, wouldn't be enough left to put in the coalshed," said J. T. Harris, who has been selling farming implements in Littlefield for several years.

Harris says there are farming men then some more farming a different kind, and he is roughly convinced that most farmers of this section are getting quality in their farms.

of the most interesting I have noticed lately in the business," said Mr. Harris.

is this trend toward better equipment. The time used to be when a farmer would come into my place, look at a plow or lister and say, "How much?" before I had so much as a chance to tell him a thing about the implement. But now, as a general thing, instead of hemming and hawing around about price, and talking about some other cheaper outfit, most farmers of this section are now interested in knowing how good a job a given implement will perform. If I can satisfy a farmer that a certain implement will perform its work efficiently, I don't have much trouble selling him.

"The best is generally the cheapest in the long run, I have found, and tho a farmer may have to pay a little more for something that is really good he is in fact saving money. I use that argument often with my customers. With a given sum of money to invest in new equipment, it is easy to demonstrate to the same individual where it is more to his advantage to invest the money in equipment that is efficient and stays steadily on the job than it is to distribute it over cheaper equipment and forced repairs which usually cost more in a year's time than was saved in the first price and throws the machine into temporary idleness in the bargain.

"Folks in this part of the country," said Mr. Harris, "are shrewd enough to want the biggest run for their money and intelligent enough to know that they are doubly certain of getting it in implements backed by experience and reputation." He says they have found out that if they want good crops they've got to plant with good planters, till the soil with good tillage implements and harvest with good machinery, and—he said, "that's just what they are buying."

Mr. Harris, is a dealer who takes pride in his business. He carries a line of high grade implements built especially for the farmers of this section.

THE NEXT FOUR YEARS

Above and beyond the vagaries of partisan politics, it must be apparent to any understanding and unbiased observer that the next four years of American government and business will undoubtedly be outstanding in our history.

There can be no discontinuing the progress of the past. Great things have been done. But they are but a beginning of a more miraculous future; they are the basis for the development of a still unrealized greatness.

Electric progress promises a new era for the farmer, and for industry. The radio is reaching that point of perfection where any person in the world may soon be in touch with his fellow men in any country. Our railroads are performing unprecedented service. The great field opened by the evolution of the airplane is in its very infancy.

Progress such as this is the result of our American idea of encouraging private initiative and enterprise. We have been steadfast in our support of American ideals; the American social industrial principal of liberty of thought and action.

Before there can be material progress, there must be a background of mental and spiritual progress and stability for the individual. It is our American consciousness—our feeling for the principles and institutions established by our forefathers—that make all we have done and will do, possible.

The potentialities and the possibilities for the next four years are unlimited.

If you ever came face to face with a germ, would you recognize it? Of course it is not likely that you ever will see a germ, unless you own a tremendously powerful microscope, for you would have to magnify one over a thousand times to make it as big as a pin head. But you should recognize the fact that these tiny germs can get into your blood streams through the smallest cut, and give you typhoid fever, tuberculosis, lockjaw, blood poisoning, and many more dangerous and perhaps fatal diseases. There is one sure safeguard against these dangers—washing every cut, no matter how small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the safe antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozone at Stebbins & Alexander Drug Company.

The utilities of a city

in your motor car

YOUR automobile is something like a miniature city. There is an electric light and power system, a water system, a fuel system.

In the new Ford, you will find each of these systems of the latest design and best materials. Every part has been made to serve you faithfully and well at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Take, for example, the generator—one of the most important parts of the electrical system which supplies the current for lighting and for engine ignition.

In the new Ford, the generator is of the power-house type and is distinctive in many features. It has been specially designed to prevent most forms of trouble. Oiling is necessary only once a year. About the only thing you need do is to have the charging rate changed as the seasons change.

Closely allied to the electrical system is the ignition system. It, too, is of new mechanical design in the new Ford. There is but one high tension cable and that connects the coil with the distributor. Even cables from the distributor to the spark plugs have been eliminated. Special care has also been taken to make the distributor water-proof, thus preventing short circuits from rain, etc.

The entire electrical and ignition systems of the new Ford are so simple in design and so carefully made that they will give you surprisingly little trouble. Yet that doesn't mean they should be neglected. Certain little attentions are needed from time to time.

The storage battery should be given water and the connections kept clean. The generator charging rate should be changed as indicated. Spark plugs should be cleaned at regular intervals. Distributor points should also be kept clean and the distributor cam given a light film of vaseline every 2000 miles.

These are just little things, but they mean a great deal to your car. You can have them looked after at very small cost by the Ford dealer when you take the car in for oiling and greasing.

A thorough checking-up at regular intervals will lengthen the life of your car and give you many thousands of miles of carefree, economical motoring.

On Second Million--Trees, Not Dollars!

A. J. Hummel, "tree farmer" of Littlefield, Pa., likes to see 'em grow. He has set out more than a million forest trees throughout central Pennsylvania and has obtained a good start on his second million. He is a lumberman, but unlike lumbermen of a quarter century ago, he is also a conservationist and has given considerable study to the forestry problem.

About 20 years ago he started setting out trees on a small scale. Hundreds of thousands have been trees of the rapid-growing type, for use as timber. Other hundreds of thousands have been walnut, slow in growth, but making up in value for the delay, so that Hummel has laid the groundwork of a fortune for himself or perhaps his children. A score or more of abandoned farms have been set out in trees by this lumberman. His holdings are spread through half a dozen counties. This year alone he set out more than 200,000 trees. Of these he obtained 102,000 from the Pennsylvania department of forest and waters.

GOOD CANNED VEGETABLES

Canned vegetables may be dressed up or combined to make them more interesting. A little onion juice or celery salt, or a bit of green pepper or celery tops, or a small piece of bay leaf improves the flavor of many canned vegetables.

Good combinations are canned string beans and canned tomatoes; canned peas and fresh carrots; canned corn and canned tomatoes.

Canned okra is a good addition to a mixed vegetable soup.

BROILED STAKE

Broil without salt, as salt draws out the juices. Cook over a hot fire, turning frequently, searing both sides. Place on a hot platter, salt and pepper to taste, spread top with butter and serve at once.

Carrots are a good garnish, if nicely cooked or in a vegetable salad.

Paint or varnish spots may be dissolved with turpentine alcohol or rubbed off with a knife.

EDITORIAL

With all this modern tendency to scandal mongering in biography, there is nothing in the memory of Abraham Lincoln that in any way besmirches his character. He stands in history and will continue to stand as one of the most beneficently great men that civilization has produced.

GOOD SENSE

Honest Abe said: Bad laws, if they exist, should be repealed as soon as possible; still while they exist.

Poultry Need Comfortable Housing

Careful investigation has shown that proportion to the amount of money invested and the labor required, the well housed farm poultry flock produces a net income than any other usual kind of farm husbandry. Poultry needs comfortable housing which is dry and roomy and is constantly supplied with fresh air and sunlight. It is preferable to build more open, and consequently less expensive, houses in the South than in the North. The location of the house should be well drained and should be able to allow for a south or southeasterly exposure. Breeding stock and especially laying chickens should have an abundance of range, while hens used solely for the production of market eggs may be kept in very small areas with good results. We plan and specifications for all kinds of sirabe chicken houses. Let us talk it over with you!
