Lamb county's first 1952 bale was grown by Norman Emfinger and was ginned Wednesday at the Paymaster gin at Yellowhouse.

Paymaster Gin At Yellowhouse Handles Bale

The first bale of cotton produced in the Littlefield area came from the farm of Norman W. Emfinger and was ginned at Paymaster gin at Yellow House yesterday (Wednesday).

This is also believed to be Lamb County's first bale.

Emfinger brought in 2400 pounds of raw cotton at 10:25 a.m. and at 11:10 a.m. the finished bale weighing 520 pounds was hauled out on the platform.

Nelson Naylor was on hand to present a $150 premium check for the first bale to Norman Emfinger. This premium is supplied by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Western Cotton Oil Co., and the Union Compress.

Immediately following the presentation of the check the bale was purchased by officials of the Paymaster gin for 50 cents a pound. This "premium" price is a good 10 cents over the current market price.

Best Bale in 15 Years: The first bale is Locket No. 1, stormproof cotton and according to J. V. Eagan, gin manager, is "the nicest bale we've had in 15 years." He predicted that the bale contained strictly middling cotton with a 7/8 inch staple. When dry, however, the staple may measure 13/16. Mr. Eagan said that worm damage to the cotton in this bale was negligible. "I was really surprised," he said, "ordinarily first bales are not too good, but this one is a dandy!"

Bob Crowell, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, checked on the authenticity of this bale being the first and greeted Norman Emfinger with a big smile as he said, "As far as I know, you've done it!"

Ginners for the first bale were Joe Foust and Don Johnson. Also on the crew were Frank Potack and Don Eagan.

Several Hurt In Three-Vehicle Crash

Three cars were in collision Saturday at 3 p.m. 2 7/10 miles southeast of Muleshoe. One car, a 1940 Ford, was being driven toward Clovis by J. W. Graham, 17, of Clovis, who had been working at Abernathy. A 1949 Dodge pickup driven by Wendell Clayton, 21, of Amherst, and a 1950 Ford being driven by Virginia Gae Carter, 18, were proceeding east.

The Graham Ford and the Clayton pickup were in collision. The surface of the road was wet and slippery and the Ford spun around several times, according to Gene Pate, highway officer, who was at the scene of the accident.

The Ford driven by Miss Carter had been about to pass the Dodge truck. Being so close behind the truck when it collided with the other Ford, her car could not avoid another collision with the spinning Ford. When the two Fords struck, Graham's car spun around in the opposite direction. Gene Pate reported that he only filed charges (Continued on Page 7)

Shreveport Pilot Avoids Serious Injury Sunday By Jumping From Plane

Bill Briggs, Shreveport pilot, escaped serious injury Sunday at noon when his cotton dusting plane fell in a field west of First and Cundiff Sts., about 1 mile southwest of station KVOW. The pilot brought the plane close to the ground and jumped off the wing tip just before it crashed.

The plane was the property of the Ziegler System with headquarters in Abilene. Briggs has been attempting to dust the field of Paul D. Bennett, northwest of Littlefield.

The engine failure which caused the crash occurred about 12:30, but the engine had failed earlier in the morning, causing Briggs to make a forced landing on the Clovis-Lubbock highway. A mechanic was sent to repair the machine, and Briggs was ferrying it back to the airport when the second engine failure occurred. According to the pilot's statement, the plane was too heavily loaded. It was carrying a full tank of fuel and 1000 pounds of crop spray.

Fire completely destroyed the plane. The landing gear was knocked off as the plane fell, and it landed on its nose. There was no time for the pilot to dump the load he was carrying, which is the usual procedure in such cases.

Briggs was not seriously hurt, suffering only a slightly twisted knee and sprained ankle from the crash.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Carrico and family have moved from Amherst to Littlefield, and are living at 1216 Monticello Avenue. Mr. Carrico is driving a transport for the Willem Oil Company.

Shirley Ann Cole Is Third County Polio Victim

Lamb County's total for polio victims climbed to three cases Sunday when Shirley Ann Cole, 9 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cole of Route 3, Olton, was stricken. Mr. Cole is a farmer. Shirley Ann was rushed to the West Texas Polio center at Plainview for treatment.

Elms Tower Chimes Dedicated In Ceremony At Methodist Church

In a simple ceremony at the close of the regular evening worship service at the First Methodist Church, The Elms Tower Chimes were dedicated. Rev. Harry Vanderpool, pastor, recognized Mr. and Mrs. Jessa Elms, the donors, and expressed the congregation's grateful thanks for this beautiful expression of their faith in mankind. Mr. Elms' presence at the service was remarkable since he has had an extended illness.

Pastor and congregation then joined in a litany of dedication in which the chimes were dedicated "to the cultivation of a high art; to the interpretation of the masters of music, to an appreciation of the great dogologies of the church; and to the development of the language of praise . . ." The ceremony closed with a prayer during which the chimes were played. The chimes, manufactured by the Carillon Company of California were installed last week and are played three times daily at 8 a.m., 12:15 noon, and 5:30 p.m. There are four loudspeakers on the roof to carry the sound of the chimes in all directions.

A two octave keyboard is attached to the organ through which the chimes are played. There is also a turntable in the pastor's study on which records can be played and the music sent out over the city.

Growing Tomatoes .. A Possible Industry For West Texas

Tomatoes of the season were packed Saturday at the packing shed on the Spade highway, 5 miles west of Littlefield. The shed is the first of its kind in the area, operated by Hough Dillfranco and son, buyers from Har-in the grading, waxing, sizing, and packing operations. With this present equipment, however, six railroad cars of tomatoes could be processed for market.

One railroad car will hold 13 to 14 tons of tomatoes. There are three sizes of tomatoes. Not small, medium, and large, but 6x7, 6x6, and 5x6. The two numbers which make up the size refer to the number of tomatoes which will fit into the length and width of a wooden packing crate. The higher the number, the smaller the tomatoes. In other words, a crate which holds six tomatoes wide and seven long holds more tomatoes but smaller tomatoes than one in which are packed five tomatoes wide and six tomatoes long.

Work at the tomato packing shed will continue until frost because tomatoes are one of the crops that can be picked not once, but many times. Picking tomatoes is the only part of the operation in readying tomatoes for market that is not done by machinery. This may be the mechanical age, but tomatoes are still picked by hand. And the condition of the crop when it reaches the shelf of your favorite supermarket depends largely on the skill of the picker in judging whether or not a tomato is ready to be picked.

Tomato Judging Difficult
Judging tomatoes is a ticklish proposition and seems to rest mainly on intuition. But a few helpful pointers can be given the novice picker, said Hough Dillfranco. One good indication which can be used to advantage on the first picking, but on no other, is the appearance of a few pinks in the field. Tomatoes are picked just before they begin to turn pink. When they are not in this stage, tomatoes are very tender and scar easily. Consequently when green unripe tomatoes are packed, they come out bruised and scarred at the grocery store. Tomatoes in the field are shiny when ready to be picked, dull when still too green. An examination of the stem area of the tomato is another way of judging its age. This area is very large when the tomato is ready for picking. Hough Dillfranco hastened to remark that, however, no one of these pointers can be depended upon alone to indicate to the picker whether or not the tomato is ripe enough to pick. The picker must look for a combination of all of them about the tomatoes he picks.

Crop Valued At $300,000
There are 250 acres of tomatoes planted in the area this year. The major part of the crop to be harvested will come from the farms of Bill and Leon Lankford, Johnny Gallini, Alvin Bagwell, and Hill Rogers. Since this is a new crop for the area, the fields will probably only yield 75 to 100 railroad cars off the acreage planted. Next year, however, barring hail and drought, the same acreage should yield 200 to 300 cars. The buyers estimate that the farmers will gross $1200 per acre or $300,000 total return from their crop.

Current price for tomatoes on the market is 6 cents a pound. This price will probably continue steady until frost when the northeastern markets come in. At this time of year, the big eastern cities, where most of the products of truckers are shipped, have their own supply of home-grown tomatoes. So until frost, tomatoes packed at the local shed are strictly for the southern markets. The market area for this shed is bounded by Mississippi in the east and Oklahoma in the north. Tomatoes are shipped to most of the western states with the exception of Colorado and California who use native tomatoes. Until Sept. 1, tomato prices will remain fairly cheap, but in the early fall may rise to as much as a maximum of 20 cents a pound.

Bright Future Predicted
Hough and his father believe strongly in the future of the tomato crop and other marketable vegetables in this area. If this year's packing venture is a success, they plan to build a permanent shed in the county and set up a regular business.

The success of this area as a truck farming area should come from the fact that vegetables can be grown here during the time when it is impossible for other areas to be making a crop. The Dillfrancos, father and son, believe that this growing season factor alone will turn this section of West Texas into a profitable vegetable area for national markets.

Importance of Legumes

Now is the time to make plans for those fall legume plantings.

It doesn't take a student of the soil to know that legumes properly fertilized and inoculated have excellent effects on the soil. Every farmer knows legumes are important in improving soil structure and condition.

Texas A&M agronomists depict the best soil structure as being crumbly or granular to allow for deep penetration by roots and water. Proper air circulation between the small particles of soil is also necessary.

Some Texas soil is so packed and tight that very little water or air can penetrate it. Deep rooted legumes such as sweet clover and alfalfa on these "tight" soils can help to improve this fault. Legumes which add good organic matter and nitrogen to the soil content, but which do not necessarily open sub-soils are vetch, winter peas, annual yellow sweet clover and crimson clover.

Another farming "bug-a-boo" is the type of land which has a heavy, dense sub-soil at a comparatively shallow depth. These sub-soils restrict the movement of plant roots and hinder circulation of water and air. Good remedies for this condition are deep rooted legumes or grasses which will punch holes in the sub-soil and aid the water-air-root conditions.

When plowed under the soil as a green manure crop, legumes increase the organic matter of the land. This matter helps hold the small soil particles together and improves the granular quality of the soil structure. High organic matter in the soil almost assures the best type of air circulation and absorption of water which is so essential to plant life.

The farmer who is unsure of the qualities of his soil can get professional help and advice. Soil samples taken from fields where legumes are to be grown should be sent to the Soils Laboratory, College Station, Texas, for analysis. This analysis will determine what kind and the amounts of fertilizers needed to make legume growing more successful in the various soil-type areas of Texas.

Careful Planning of Home Saves Money

You can get your home-building dollar's worth by careful planning.

National Home Week is Sept. 14-21 and the Title Council of America offers the following suggestions to aid in selecting a new or remodeled house in this period of high construction and financing expenses:

1. Look for a house with maximum living area at lowest possible cost. The all-on-one-floor dwelling, which eliminates a basement, ranks high on the list of money's-worth homes today.
2. Watch for ease of maintenance and upkeep. Durable walls and floors such as clay tile pay for themselves in the long run because they need no replacement. Such surfaces also provide the ease of cleaning so desirable to the homemaker.
3. Choose a heating system carefully. It should function on low-cost fuel, be automatic, and be designed to keep dirt and grease out of the house.

4. Be sure that the kitchen is highly efficient. This factor is extremely important in resale values. Attractive and easily cleaned walls, floors and wainscots, as well as drainboards, of material such as clay tile will last longer than the house and appeal to later owners.

5. The laundry should be sensibly located, well equipped, and both waterproof and well lighted.

6. A building which has "skipped" on the bathroom is not a good investment because, like the kitchen, the bath receives heavy daily use. If possible, be sure that there is at least an additional shower stall connected to the tub-shower combination, that the walls are of steamproof material such as clay tile, and that good lighting, ventilation and storage facilities have been provided. A bathroom need not be large, but it must be efficiently planned.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Hobbies might be thought of as a year-round vacation. If a job is your bread and butter, then a hobby could be the "jelly" to go on it. The kind of a hobby you can choose is limited mainly by your imagination.

What kinds of hobbies are there? It's hard to pigeon-hole every one, but roughly they fall into the following kinds: (1) collecting things (butterflies, salt and pepper shakers, old jazz records), (2) making things (patchwork quilts, book ends, photographs), (3) learning things (all about family trees, birds, stars), (4) doing things (dancing, acting, hiking), (5) seeing things (movies, plays, concerts), and (6) competing in sports and games (baseball, canasta, chess).

You'd think with such a wide field from which to choose that everyone would pick a hobby which would be just right for him. Instead many people complain that they never do anything but "eat, sleep, and work." To find out why this should be means looking back into their childhood, because most of their adult hobbies are the same they had as children, sometimes in a slightly different form.

Youngsters between 6 and 12 years are interested in many, many activities. As they enter their teens, they tend to drop most of them and concentrate their efforts on one or two.

It is hard for an adult, especially an older person, who has never learned to relax through hobbies, a form of play, to develop one. This is the reason that when children begin to show an interest in playing the piano, drawing, clay modeling, weaving, typing, or any other activity involving ability to use the fingers, they should be encouraged. Even though muscular control may not be gained fully until later years, practice should begin early if skill is to be hoped for.

What should you look for in a hobby? First of all, it should be something in which you are deeply interested. Keeping up with the Joneses by going to the country club is small comfort if you'd rather be out fishing.

Next, a hobby should be suited to your nature. If you're the kind of fellow who enjoys taking a watch apart (even if you can't get it together again), you probably would enjoy learning a hobby in which you can use your hands. If you are neat and precise and like things nicely arranged, then stamp collecting might be your dish.

Even if you feel your choice of a hobby is too expensive, a second look might reveal a new angle. Are boats your weakness? Collecting yachts isn't necessary to get the greatest pleasure; it might be more fun to strip down and rebuild an old motor for a rowboat. Or, if you have artistic leanings, a collection of paintings or drawing of ships might prove a source of satisfaction.

A hobby usually can be enjoyed alone or with others. It may lead to pleasant acquaintances with others having the same interest. Even though there may be times when you want to work in the company of others, you should be able to follow your chosen project at will and lay it aside when interest lags. For this reason it is better if working space for it can be set aside at home.

Your hobby will be more enjoyable if it is not too closely related to your work. A workday spent indoors calls for tennis or some other form of outdoor life when the five o'clock whistle blows. Cooking might be a hobby for the man of the house but a chore for the little woman—unless she's one in a hundred.

If your alibi for not having a hobby is not enough time, you'd better look at this hobby business in a different light. Devoting all your time to a job in the hopes of making more money—or turning what should be a hobby into a secondary

Eddie Ray Jones Is In Basic Flight School

Cadet Edwin R. Jones, United States Naval Reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis M. Jones, 218 E. 14th St., Littlefield, Texas, has recently reported to the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Saufley Field, Pensacola, Florida, where he is undergoing training in formation flying, fixed aerial gunnery and instrument flying.

Cadet Jones was graduated from New Mexico Military Institute in June 1947. He attended S.M.U., Dallas, Texas. Since entering the flight program in November 1951 he has completed Pre-flight and the first two phases of Basic Flight Training.

Cadet Jones will be designated a Naval Aviator and commissioned an ensign in the United States Naval Reserve upon completion of his training.

job because of profit may make an old man of you before your time or give you ulcers. If the coins in your jeans begin to jingle loudly because of your hobby, it should be sheer accident, not because making money is your main object.

As you grow older you can enjoy the same hobby, but it might be best to change it slightly, taking into account that you have less physical endurance. Older people who find more time on their hands should steer away from such strenuous exercise as mountain climbing; they might find enjoyment in making a scrapbook of snapshots taken on expeditions, in talking to others interested in the hobby, and possibly in encouraging younger hobbyists in the field.

For a fuller, more meaningful life, a hobby is just what the doctor ordered.

Soil Conservation Experts To Assist Farmers In Carrying Out ACP Program

When PMA Community Committees visit individual farms in connection with the 1953 ACP sign-up, farmers will be encouraged to use farm plans developed by the Soil Conservation Service in determining the conservation needs of the farm. Such plans also will serve as guides in determining the "most needed" conservation practices eligible for assistance under the ACP.

Farmers who do not have such plans for their farms, are encouraged to have plans drawn up.

SCS technicians also have definite responsibility for technical assistance for a number of the more permanent type ACP soil and water conservation practices. These include such practices as laying out terraces, contour lines for contour farming, bench leveling, reorganization for Irrigation Systems and others. In these practices the technicians are responsible for determining the need and correctness of location as well as for drawing up plans for construction.

Lamb County farmers are being encouraged to carry out these more permanent practices and to make arrangements to make sure assistance is available when needed.

Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service also will assist in the development of each year's Natural Conservation Program.

The P.M.A. County Community Committees will meet September 1 to administer the program.

It Means So Much - To So Many!

In all the history of the world's commerce, it is doubtful whether another manufactured product has ever had such a hold on the affections of its owners as the Cadillac car.

There is a well-to-do gentleman in a southern state, for instance, who will permit no one to minister to his Cadillac except himself—other than for its mechanical needs. He washes it, polishes it and cleans it... himself.

There is a family in New York which has owned a long series of Cadillacs to which have been given the names of people—because they regard their cars as all but members of the household.

There is a professional man in a mid-western state who insists that his whole life changed for the better when he got his Cadillac.

These are but typical of innumerable instances of the deep regard in which Cadillac owners hold their cars. The loyalty and respect a Cadillac engenders are extraordinary indeed.

You might well ask what there could be about a motor car to make it mean so much to so many.

The answer is not far to seek.

Because of its world-wide standing as one of life's better things, it reflects credit upon its owner and indicates that he is a person of substance and good taste.

Because it performs so well and so dependably, it is conducive to his desire to travel and to see the world—an inspiring companion for his daily movements among his fellows.

Because it is beautiful and luxurious, it is a joy to own and a pleasure to contemplate.

Standing in his driveway, rolling down the streets of his favorite city, or parked at the entrance to a distinguished club or hotel—it is a credit to his judgment and a testimonial to his work.

No wonder he cherishes it, and thinks of it as all but a part of his own personality.

Don't you think that a car which can mean so much to so many could mean a great deal to you? Better come in today—and talk it over.

The ceremony was performed before a background arrangement of Gladioli, Asters, and Candelabra by James Mathews, officiating minister.

"Because," "I Love You Truly" and "Faithful and True" were sung by the Church Choir.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of blue lace over blue taffeta with white accessories. She carried a white prayer book topped with Carnations.

For "some Old and Borrowed," she wore pearls. For "something new and blue" was her dress. She wore a penny in her shoe for good luck.

Miss Sara Ann Seelers of Selma attended as maid of honor, and she wore a street length ballerina frock made of white organdy over yellow taffeta with white accessories.

Truman Isaacs of Craig Air Field served as best man.

The bride has attended Parish High School of Selma, and the groom is a graduate of Anton High School, 1950 class.

The couple will make their home at Selma, Alabama.

Ann Louise Wiseman Receives Master Of Education Degree

Mrs. Anne Louise Wiseman was among over 100 candidates who received advanced degrees in the graduation exercises conducted at Texas Tech last night (Wednesday). Mrs. Wiseman received a master of education degree. She is interested in supervisory work in the primary grades and her thesis entitled "The Supervision and Organization of Visual Materials in Mayfield Park Elementary School" outlines a visual aid study program for the school where she is presently teaching.

Mrs. Wiseman's minor subject in graduate school was psychology; and at the same time her degree was awarded, she also received a supervisor's certificate. Texas Tech awards four certificates: supervisory, administration, counseling, and elementary teaching certificates. With the receipt of her supervisor's certificate, Mrs. Wiseman will have all four.

Having had a wide experience in some of the best colleges in the country, Mrs. Wiseman has a broader point of view in the field of education than could have been

J. W. Clark Family Enjoy Reunion In Springlake School Auditorium

The annual reunion of the J. W. Clark family was held Sunday in the auditorium and lunch room of the Springlake school. Mr. Clark, who died several years ago, was a native of Tennessee, and a pioneer of Fannin county, Texas.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Clark, the latter now also deceased, were nine children, all of whom are living. Seven of the nine children were present at the reunion.

Sons and daughters present at the reunion Sunday were Mrs. Cora Bradley, Oklahoma City; Mrs. Mattie Lovett, Carnegie, Oklahoma; Mrs. Laura Cost, Snyder, Oklahoma; Mrs. Minnie Price, and Mrs. Ann Hodge, Earth, and Claude Clark, Clinton, Oklahoma.

Two sons, L. G. Mangum, Oklahoma, and J. F. of Brinkman, Oklahoma, were not present.

Each year the reunion is held in a different locality, and Sunday was the second time the affair has been held in this section. Four years ago the reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hodge, two and one half miles north of Earth.

There were 71 present at Sunday's event. The attendance was reduced from other years on account of many of the young men being in the service.

Among the friends present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones of Littlefield, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Flynn of Clovis, N.M.

Mrs. Wiseman has done all her teaching in Texas schools. She is currently at Mayfield Park Elementary School, which is a part of the Harlandale Independent School System at San Antonio. This independent system, which is in the corporate limits of the city, is made up of 12 schools, including a new million-dollar high school. Mrs. Wiseman said that one of the most pleasant events of her teaching career was having her name engraved on the cornerstone of this magnificent school plant on the roster of 250 teachers.

While studying at Texas Tech this summer, Mrs. Wiseman obtained special permission to attend the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading which met at Alpine, August 10-14. Being a primary grade teacher, she is especially interested in problems involving the teaching of reading.

Teaching pupils to read is the major hurdle of the first grade teacher. Mrs. Wiseman heard many experts in the field, including Dr. Gertrude Whipple, Detroit; Miss Marie Buddy, Chicago. Classes were held from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Wiseman expects to return to San Antonio this week and will resume her teaching at Mayfield when that school opens.

terest for the use of the money.

The rate of interest can be as high as 10% and still be legal in Texas, but most lenders charge about one-half of that rate. The rate of interest is usually lowest on those loans that are insured by an instrumentality of the Federal Government, such as Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and Veterans Administration (VA).

A note usually provides for the sum of money being re-paid to lender in installments—monthly installments probably being the most common. This portion of the note is very important to the borrower as he does not want the installments to exceed the amount he can afford to pay.

On the other hand, the borrower does not usually want the installments to be too small. Small installments mean that the principal is re-paid very slowly and, therefore, over the life of the loan, the borrower pays more interest.

In regard to re-payment, if the note contains a provision enabling the borrower to pay the loan in part or in full prior to the maturity of the note, ("payment privilege") then the borrower can use his extra cash to reduce his indebtedness.

Youth Suffers From Rare Spinal Disease

Michael Lance, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Lance of Sudan, formerly of Littlefield, who was stricken with polio, and a patient for sometime at the Plainview Polio Center, is convalescing at his home and apparently recovering from this dread disease. However, when treating him for polio at the Clinic it was discovered that he was suffering from a serious and rare spinal ailment. In the very near future Michael will be taken by his parents to the Scottish Rite Hospital at Dallas for treatment.

Also, a liberal prepayment privilege may be very useful to a borrower if and when he desires to sell his house.

In order for the lender to have something to fall back on in case the borrower does not fulfill his promise to re-pay the money, most borrowers are required to place a mortgage on the house and lot they are buying. In Texas, the mortgage instrument used is a "Deed of Trust," a complicated instrument.

In its essentials, it is a conveyance of the real estate by the borrower to a third party ("Trustee") for the benefit of and as security for the lender. If the borrower defaults in the payment of the note or defaults in the performance of certain promises made in the Deed of Trust, then the Trustee is authorized to sell the property and apply the proceeds to the satisfaction of the borrower's debt to the lender.

A free pamphlet containing useful information on legal problems involved in buying a home has been prepared by Texas lawyers. To obtain a copy, merely print your name and address on a post-card and mail to State Bar of Texas, Austin 15, Texas.

Family Reunion To Be Enjoyed At Sid Hopping Home Sunday

Pioneer Reunion

Mrs. Pat Boone Sr., of Littlefield, Texas, who won the prize at last year's reunion for the settler who journeyed the farthest to attend the event is making a bid for the prize again this year. He arrived in Earth last weekend to await the reunion.

A committee composed of Art Chesher, Lon Campbell and Pryor Hammons, all of Littlefield, is directing arrangements.

Mrs. Pat Boone Sr., of Littlefield, has been announced as guest speaker by Mrs. W. G. Street, program committee chairman. Mrs. Boone will review her father's novel, "A Sheriff-Ranger in Chuck Wagon Days," by Judge R. C. Hopping of Lubbock.

Immediate Past President Judge Hopping, early settler in this area, is immediate past president of the group.

Tom Arnett of Lubbock is president of the pioneers; R. M. (Bob) Smith, Littlefield, vice president; Mrs. Guy Willis, Littlefield, secretary; and Mrs. A. S. Barton, Earth, treasurer.

The barbecue this year, as it was last year, will be furnished by Pat Boone Sr., of Littlefield. The food committee has asked that everyone attending bring some of the foods that go with barbecue, such as potato salad, beans, or desserts.

Square Dance Presentation
Another tradition of the pioneer celebration will be observed with the presentation of a square dance by a group who have appeared on the program each year since the organization was started. They are Mr. and Mrs. Buck Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Thompson, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martin, with Ross as the caller. They will present a square dance in costume this year.

Chairmen of other committees are Mrs. Bill Yeary, table and seating arrangements; refreshments, Norman Renfro; building, A. C. Chesher; registration, Mrs. Guy Willis; nominating, Sid Hopping; barbecue, J. E. Foust; hospitality, Mrs. R. M. Smith, G. M. (Gus) Shaw is honorary chairman of the meeting, and Mrs. Lon Campbell is scrapbook custodian.

First Bale

the county. The first bale last year was brought in on Sept. 10 by Emory Blume at Irving gin.

Norman W. Emfinger's farm is 4 miles east of Littlefield. He rents the land from his father, J. W. Emfinger, an Old Settler who has been farming in this county since 1925. Included in the 700 acre tract which Norman has planted in cotton are 210 acres of irrigated land. The cotton in the first bale, however, was pulled off 80 acres of dry land.

Crews on the Emfinger land started pulling the cotton at 11 a. m. Monday. Emfinger stated that the production date should have been even earlier than it was. He thought he had labor all lined up to get out the bale on Monday morning, but it was "pretty hard picking," and labor was scarce.

Three different crews worked on getting the first bale. Some children, among them Johnny Emfinger, 9-year-old son of Norman Emfinger, even pitched in and picked 100 pounds Tuesday afternoon. This was Johnny's first time to pick cotton.

First Bale Is Family Affair
Three generations of Emfinger's helped to produce the first bale. J. W. Emfinger furnished the land, Norman planted the crop, and Johnny helped to pick it.

Johnny, looking at the soft, fluffy whiteness of the first cotton which came through the gin said, "Gee, I'd like to sleep on that stuff!"

Norman Emfinger is starting off his first year back on the farm in a big way, producing the first bale of cotton. He has not farmed since 1933. Until this year, Norman had been an electrical engineer employed by Texas Electric Service at Ft. Worth as superintendent of the meter department. Norman planted his premium-winning cotton on April 29.

Producing the first bale of cotton in the county is not new to the Emfinger family. Norman's father, J. W. Emfinger brought in the first bale from the same land during the middle 1940's.

Miss Carter and Mrs. Glen Sampson of Sigurd, Okla. were treated for lacerations of the head and left eye.

A 22-month-old child, Brandney Verner of 502 East Wabash street, Lubbock, who had been riding in the back seat, suffered head injuries, shock, and bruises.

J. W. Graham, driver of the 1940 Ford, sustained chest injuries.

All four parties injured in the accident were released Sunday, according to an official in the Green Hospital business office.

1734. OLD STATE HOUSE, Independence Hall, Philadelphia

AP Newsfeatures

ON JULY 4, 1776, the Declaration of Independence was signed in this building. It sets a pattern for self-government which would be followed by many nations throughout the civilized world.

This venerable edifice was then called the State House and the Declaration was signed in the East Room, henceforth, "Independence Hall." On the outside west wall, there was a large town clock. There was no clock in the wooden steeple, surmounting the building. This steeple, being considered unsound, was later removed. The vacant place was roofed over and topped by a steeple, just large enough to accommodate the bell.

The old State House, completed in 1734, was started in 1729, and coincidentally, just a century later, 1829, the present steeple, a replica of the original, with clock faces added, was erected.

Olton School Budget For New Okeyed By School Board Tuesday

Olton school board members Tuesday night approved a $238,211.00 school budget for the 1952-53 term, following a public budget hearing attended by only four persons other than board members and school employees.

The budget was reviewed by School Supt. Carl Macon.

To meet the budget this year the tax evaluation for the school district has been raised to $6,400,000. This is a 40 percent boost over last year, Mr. Macon reported.

He explained that the state again has hiked the assignment of taxes to be raised locally. The assignment also was raised last year with no provision in last year's budget to meet it. As a result the school term with a deficit of Macon said.

Mr. Macon pointed to local assignment to economic index factors as a gain receipts and value of property school district.

The tax rate in the district is $1.50—the school superintendent said that with extra rate in years to come.

"There was just no this year's budget" clared.

JIMMY HAVINS VOLUNTEERS FOR SERVICE IN NAVY

Among several volunteers for enlistment in the Navy at the Naval Recruiting Station in Albuquerque Tuesday was Jimmy Carson Havins, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Havins of Route 2, Littlefield. Jimmy is a 1952 graduate of Whittharral High School.

New Technologist At Littlefield Hospital

Robert Cummings, medical technologist, who arrived in the city Monday, has been engaged by Littlefield Hospital to take charge of the laboratory.

Cummings is a graduate of Gradwohl Research Laboratory and School in St. Louis. While in school at that institution, he served his internship at night in Missouri Baptist Hospital.

Before entering the medical technology field, Cummings attended University of Texas at Austin and Midwestern University at Wichita Falls.

Cummings' wife and two-month-old son, David Charles, who are still in St. Louis, will join him here in two or three weeks.

Their original home is Quanah, Texas, about 30 miles from Childress.

Mrs. R. M. Smith, who before her marriage was a Hillburn, attended the reunion to visit with her five brothers: Lee and Hadley Hillburn of Borger, Francis Hillburn of Boise City, Okla., Dave Hillburn of Vega, and Calvin of Floydada.

Thirty-seven people attended the all-day affair and ate a picnic lunch on the park grounds.

The Hillburn family has a reunion on the fourth Sunday in August each year.

South Plains Cooperative Hospital Completes Enlarged Nursery Facilities

The new nursery of the South Plains Cooperative Hospital at Amherst is ready and waiting for the "boom" in babies which according to Mrs. Jean Cargile, superintendent of nurses, occurs every fall. Answering the question about what happened to the babies while their nursery was being completely remodeled, she said, "We did it in a hurry while there were no babies here and none scheduled. But, of course, we kept a special room in readiness in case of an emergency," she smiled.

Plans for the new nursery were drawn up 6 months ago, but actual construction was begun August 11. The room which is now 13x22 doubles the space of the old nursery, allowing 30 cubic feet per baby which is a state requirement.

Baby boys should feel right at home in the new room with its light powder blue walls. The girls weren't considered, but maybe they're too young at that age to care. The floor is inlaid linoleum and the ceiling and walls are completely sound proof. This improvement is the biggest "blessing" of all according to Mrs. Anna Jo Brock and Mrs. Ann Sipe, who spend their entire nursing hours in the nursery and formula room.

Three large glass brick windows allow an ample amount of light to enter without admitting any glare. The big "spectator" windows through which doting papas can gaze at the newcomer in their households are humidity proof and are not effected by the heat in the room.

The even temperature which must be maintained constantly inside the nursery comes from an electric panel ray heating system. Temperatures run between 85 and 90 degrees, depending on the season. The slightly cooler summer temperatures are obtained from an air conditioning outlet into the room.

Equipment in the nursery includes nine bassinets, two incubators, and one "air lock." The "air lock," or to use its correct mechanical name, resuscitator, is a kind of iron lung for babies who at birth breathe with difficulty or do not breathe at all. Since it is comparatively new, its use in the average hospital nursery is still not widespread.

Future plans for the nursery include the installation of even more modern equipment including individual bassinets. The type of bassinet in current use has individual "baskets" for each baby but one base supports all of them. All bassinets are, thus, connected and cannot be separated. The new individual type which the hospital purposes to purchase features a stainless steel stand or base which holds each infant's linen and bath supplies. The bassinet in which the baby lies is plastic. Mrs. Cargile's comment was that they look like "little bath tubs." Individual bassinets cost $250 each.

Next to the nursery is a 13x12 formula room. It contains, besides refrigerator and cabinets, a 15 quart pressure cooker used exclusively in the preparation of baby formulas.

The new nursery now complies with the most stringent rules of the Texas State Department of Health at Austin which licenses all hospital nurseries. In 1950 this board suggested and advised enlargement of facilities for infant care at South Plains Hospital. In 1951 the department gave the nursery its license but with the provision that more room per infant would be made available and that a separate formula room would be added. The department officials will return to inspect the nursery before the first of the year.

Routine in the nursery is on a twenty-four hour basis, but it doesn't bother the stars of the show. They have nothing to do but eat, sleep, and receive the stares of papas and relatives on the other side of the big windows.

Infants are removed to one of the 11 rooms for mothers which open off the corridor connecting with the nursery at the end of the hall six times during a 24-hour period for feeding. No visitors are allowed in the wing of the building at that time. Babies are weighed and bathed just before their 6 a.m. feeding because their lowest or "true" weight can be recorded at that time. The reason for this low point in their weight at that early hour is that some babies miss their 2 a.m. feeding since they are not fed unless they wake up.

The first infants to occupy the new nursery are Ronald Keith Hadley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hadley of Earth, who was born at 12:07 p.m. August 20; Ronnie Melvin West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin West of Littlefield, who was born at 3:27 p.m. August 20; and a baby girl, the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Argomaniz of Littlefield, who was born at 5:05 p.m. on the same day as the others.

Three days is the average length of time that a baby spends in a hospital nursery. According to Mrs. Cargile, the time is "never much less." The importance then, in a infant's life of a nursery which has modern facilities and is adequately staffed is inestimable.

The crawl stroke in swimming was introduced to Europe about 1900 by Dick Cavill of Australia.

Congratulations To ...

Seven Holiday themes were staged, each illustrated by costumes from the midwinter lines, together with suggestions for promotion, advertising and window display. A children's choir presented a background of Christmas music.

The style show was presented with Mrs. Evelyn Lambert's commentation.

BEEES INVADE HOME

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Some friends of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greusel who had dropped in for a chat noticed a couple of bees flying around in the living room.

Greusel went over and opened the fireplace flue. Immediately the room was swarmed over by thousands of bees—all over the rug, ceiling, furniture and television set. They later took over the basement.

The Greusels and friends withdrew to get help. Greusel re-entered the room and knocked out many with DDT. Fires were built in the fireplace and the bees were swept and shoveled in.

A screen was put over the chimney to block further entrance. The bees then swarmed all over the outside of the house. Then rain cooled off the bee advance. They retreated to the chimney top.

Greusel issued an appeal to any farmer wanting bees to help himself.
