

Fun For All As Baseballers Prove Lack Of Skill

You'd have to see it to believe it. Littlefield civic organizations and baseball coaches will resort to all sorts of antics, rickety, disguise and nondescript techniques of playing softball Thursday night to provide a full-evening's family type entertainment. They were scheduled to do the same thing Tuesday night at 8, weather permitting. The whole thing is a promotion to raise sorely-needed money for the Littlefield Baseball Association program. Tuesday's games were to include the Optimists vs. Rotary, two teams of players' mothers in an exhibition, and winding up with Lions playing the coaches.

Thursday evening the winners of Tuesday's games will play each other, as will the losers. The mothers are not scheduled to appear again. Those purchasing admission tickets Thursday will have a chance at winning a new portable television set and a 1968 model bedroom suit. Winners will be told between the games.

Tickets to the games are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Games are played by softball rules (where they are allowed to apply). The Lions Club members appear in women's dress, and the styles varied tremendously. Team members were Donna Avery, Bobbie Bromlow, Kippie Cutshall, Bobbie Hamilton, Tommie Hilburn, Jamie Lee, Doyleene Patton, Genny Pratt and Fireball Upton. To combat adverse publicity about their age, members of the Rotary Club dressed as children in Bermuda shorts. The Old Kids roster included Frank Anzelina, Warren Dayton, Bill Turner, Roy Allen

ALL FARM CROPS BENEFIT

Needed Rains Soak Area

Timing Could Not Have Been Better

A wet and welcome blanket of slow, gently falling rain soaked the Lamb County area in amounts ranging up to 2.35 inches throughout Monday night and Tuesday morning and it could hardly have come at a better time. The heat wave-breaking moisture brought with it a much brighter picture both in farm crop prospects and rangeland grazing.

"We really needed that rain, especially the dry land farmers," Joe Blevins of the Soil Conservation Service said. "It wasn't the amount so much as the way it fell, slow and easy so it could soak in good and not run off," he added.

The official rain gauge for Littlefield, located at the Pioneer Natural Gas Company building, measured 1 1/2 inches while the gauge maintained by John D. Harmon on W. 13th St. measured 2.35 inches and Joe Krizek, located on the Levelland Highway, gauged just over an inch.

Other readings around the county include 1 1/2 inches gauged at Anton by Mrs. C.D. Nelson, .6 inches reported by Devern Mandrell at Olton; 1 inch reported at Sudan; 1 inch at Amherst and a report by a traveler that there was substantial rainfall all the way between Morton and Littlefield.

"Grain sorghums were being irrigated heavily prior to the rain and the crops on the dry farms were becoming badly wilted," Pat Rice of the SCS office said, "but this has really helped out and the prospects are a good deal brighter," he added. "In areas where the rain fell heaviest, irrigated cotton which had been hilled out and planted late, probably won't need another irrigation and, future weather permitting, we can look forward to a good harvest," Blevins stated.

"While all farm crops, including soybeans, were helped a great deal, the pasture and rangeland is considerably brighter as well," the conservationists said. "Both grazing land and areas planted for seed purposes were greatly benefited. Recently planted grass seed was just beginning to germinate and this moisture is just what it needed," they concluded. A check with various area towns turned up no reports of hail falling in the county—just that steadily-falling, wet, soaking, oh-so-welcome rain.

SCRUB-A-DUB-DUB, WASH, RINSE AND RUB --It is easy to see that this is a posed picture--nobody ever enjoyed washing a car as much as these Future Homemakers of America members appeared to be having at a club-sponsored car wash held at Spade High School recently to raise funds for their club activities. The happy scrubbers the their high school grade are around the car from left, Terri Wallace, 9th; Debra Myers, 9th; Belinda Thompson, 11th; Joella Myers, 12th; Linda Hooper, 10th; and Marketa Loneard, 9th.

HIGH PLAINS COTTONFIELD "HOE- DOWN" --The rhythmic, baller-like beat goes on as the steady hoe strokes made a cropping sound in the dry, sandy west Texas soil of the cotton field. The day was not and the soil very dry when this photograph was taken last week between Littlefield and Spade. But a slow-falling, soaking rain has since provided much-needed moisture and substantially brightened the outlook for the cotton which had been planted late due to earlier hail damage.

TELEPHONE COMPANY SAYS

Settlement May Hike Rates

There is a strong possibility that the people of Littlefield and surrounding area will soon be faced with higher telephone rates, a message informed the Leader-News Monday.

The message, contained in a news release from the president of the General Telephone Company of the Southwest, indicated that the recent settlement plus a new 10 percent surtax may cause the hike in telephone charges.

The settlement arrived at last Friday provides an average 15 percent increase in wages and benefits for General employees, according to Owen Raborn, director of personnel and chairman of the company negotiating committee. Raborn said the new contract will cost the company $3,670,000 over a three year period and will expire June 27, 1971, except for pension and benefit plans which are to be discussed in 1970.

L. Gray Beck, who assumed office as president of General Monday, issued this statement on the new contract and possible rate hike following the settlement: "We are extremely pleased that we were able to reach an agreement without inconveniencing our customers. "More money is involved in this settlement than in any previous one in the company's history. The new contract together with the new 10 percent surtax will increase the company's operating expenses substantially. "As in the past, the management of General of the Southwest will do their utmost to absorb or minimize the effect of these increased costs by improving operating efficiencies and providing better tools and training programs which will improve employee production. However, it appears to us that repricing of telephone service will be a necessity in light of these developments."

Raborn said the contract includes wage increases up to 73 cents per hour, full basic medical coverage for employees only, four weeks vacation after 20 years, and double time and one-half for overtime worked on holidays.

The 4300 employees covered by the new contract include 1300 employees of the former Southwestern States Telephone Company which is now a part of General Telephone of the Southwest.

The Southwest Company operates in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

Final 'No' Received On Debate

A message has been received by the Leader-News concerning the proposed debate July 4 at Muleshoe between Rep. Bill Clayton and Frank Ford, Republican candidate for his seat in the state Legislature.

The message, received from the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, reiterates that the debate will not be held and explains why. It reads as follows:

"An invitation from the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, was extended to Frank Ford, Republican candidate for State Representative and Bill Clayton (D) State Representative, to debate in Muleshoe during the July 4th celebration.

"Ford accepted the invitation and Representative Clayton, due to circumstances beyond his control, could not accept the invitation.

"Some area news media mistakenly interpreted the acceptance sent by Ford and released information that the debate would be held. The invitation, was extended to both candidates in order that the people of the district can hear the issues discussed.

"The invitation is still open, should the two candidates wish to meet at a later date."

A Day Early

A smaller-than-normal Lamb County Leader comes to you today because of a hurry-up holiday production schedule.

With Independence Day falling on Thursday, the paper was produced a day early in order to make the mail and reach you before the holiday.

The small edition made it impossible to get all local news in, but we will attempt to print hold-over news in Sunday's edition.

Timmy Lynn Black, 9, Martlyn Black, 6, and John Ray Black, 3, sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Black of 806 E. 7th, and their cousin, Tina Kay Black, 6, daughter of J. C. Black, who resides with his mother and daughter at 519 W. 4th.

County Taxable Property Shows Steady Value Rise

In Lamb County, the value of real estate available for property taxes has been on the rise in the last few years.

According to a government survey, just completed, the assessed value of realty and other holdings on which local property taxes are assessed has also changed appreciably in a period of five years. It has climbed 15.9 percent.

The survey, which covered every section of the United States, was conducted by the Census Bureau in connection with its 1967 Census of Governments. It was the first such study since 1962.

As a result, data is now available on some 75 million pieces of real estate that are listed on local assessment rolls throughout the country. More than half of them are non-farm residential properties and about one-fifth are acreage and farm plots.

In Lamb County, the figures indicate, the assessed value of property subject to local taxes amounted to $30,377,000, as against the total on the rolls in 1962, $26,219,000.

This constituted the tax base upon which local tax rates were applied. But it was not the true market value of the local property. Customarily, property is assessed for tax purposes at well below its actual value.

The Census Bureau states that assessments average only 20 percent of true value nationally. They range from less than 10 percent in some states to about 65 percent in others.

The assessment roll in Lamb County was equivalent to $1,276 in locally taxable property for every man, woman and child in its population.

The survey shows that the property tax continues to be the major source of local government financing in the United States, accounting for more than 87 percent of all revenue at that level.

In the past year alone, communities reported a jump of nearly 10 percent in receipts from property taxes.

In large measure, it is believed, this sharp increase reflects a widespread surge in tax rates to meet the mounting cost of school operations.

Littlefield Visit Slated By Ford

Frank Ford, Republican candidate for the Texas House of Representatives from the 72nd District, has announced he will visit Littlefield on Friday, July 5.

He will be in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas building with his family at 2:30 p.m. to meet and talk with the general public. "I will answer any questions asked concerning my views on government and the political issues at that time," Ford stated.

A combination 10% income tax surcharge and $6 billion budget cut was passed by Congress last week. It is the first Federal income tax increase in 17 years. The tax boost and budget cut are supposed to hold down price rises and at least keep interest rates level, if not lower them. Another goal is to restore confidence in the dollar to countries abroad.

This is how the increase works. The surcharge is retroactive to April 1 of this year for individuals and to January 1 for corporations. This means that the 1968 surtax for individuals will only be for 9 months, or 7.5%. Corporations will pay the full 10%.

This surtax is supposed to expire on June 30, 1969, making the payment only 5% that year for both individuals and business. But don't plan on it. Congress has the right to extend the increase and many important officials have hinted it may be necessary to do just that.

The effects of the measure start 15 days after it became law. Tax withholding on paychecks will go up 10%. For example, take a married person with 2 children who makes $200 a week. His tax withholding will go up from about $23.20 to about $25.50 — leaving him $2.30 less to spend. Single persons with the same income will lose more in spending money.

When settling with the Internal Revenue next April, you will figure your tax as usual, then add 7.5% of that amount. In figuring your 1969 tax the following April, you will add 5%. Although the surcharge this year will be only 7.5% on the full year's income tax, some people may find next April that they owe the government more than was withheld. This is because the increase is retroactive.

Self-employed persons and others who pay taxes by quarterly installments, add 15% to each of their quarterly payments Sept. 15 and next Jan. 15. If you fail to do this, you risk a penalty if your estimated returns fall too far short of your actual tax liability at the end of the year.

Taxpayers exempt from the increase are those individuals owing a tax of $145 or less and couples who owe no more than $290. A family of four with an income of less than $5000 will not pay any surtax either. Individuals whose tax payments are slightly above the exempt level won't have to pay as much of a surcharge as others. This is because of a special rule which allows them to be taxed at a lower surcharge rate, with a sliding scale, phasing into the full amount for most people.

In addition to the increase, the present 10% tax on telephone service and 7% tax on new cars will continue. These were supposed to have expired but Congress authorized their extension. Starting in 1970, these taxes will be lowered in stages until they are eliminated, again unless Congress acts to continue them at the same level.

For business, this new increase means that for every $100,000 of profits over $25,000, a year, the tax bite will go from $48,000 to $52,800. In addition, they will have to pay their taxes on a stepped-up schedule, meaning additional cash, over and above the added taxes.

THE FARMER'S WIFE

'Bugs' In Radar

BY LIBBY MUDGITT

I KEPT NOTICING that the novel AIRPORT, by Arthur Hailey, stayed at the top of the best seller list week after week. I decided that we hinterlanders needed to know all about it, bought a copy, digested it and am now ready to report.

It's good. Besides the story, it gives the reader a look into what all goes on at a big airport through each type of worker's eyes, from manager on down to ticket seller.

AS USUAL, I got hung up on one aspect of it — the Air Traffic Control, both the tower and radar. It seemed to me that the author must have had a buddy working as a traffic controller.

He laid into Congress for not allowing air traffic controllers to retire at 50 and stated that flight surgeons declared 20 years of service at ATC work was equal to 40 years in most jobs.

HE KEPT on about the civil service pay scale for controllers being shamefully inadequate in relation to the job's awesome responsibility; said the two most skillful specialists involved in air traffic were pilots and controllers.

lers. Pilots got $30,000 a year, while a senior controller reached his ceiling at $10,000. He even worked into the story how one controller had gone to the rest room, leaving an inexperienced man on his radar scope, rested too long, and as a result a family of four flying in their private plane was hit by a jet and killed.

SO THE FIRST chance I had to visit in the nearest radar control room, I took.

It was just like the book had described it, except instead of ten scopes there were only three — one for civilian flying at the municipal airport, (both general and airline), one for arrivals at the nearest Air Force Base and one for departures.

It was dark, except for the moonglow lights made by the planes on the radar scopes. It was quiet, cool, everyone seemed relaxed, and it was altogether pleasant. I inwardly snickered at author Hailey.

THE SUPERVISOR explained everything to us that he possibly could in layman's language. I forced myself to look at one of the scopes for a few moments. I had no idea that there were that many planes in the air in this vicinity. They resembled lightning bugs, but every man in that room could tell exactly what type of plane each was and had to constantly "keep the picture" of who was where and what he was going to do and when.

EACH CONTROLLER spoke quietly into his microphone to whom ever he needed to and seldom took his eyes off the scope for fear of "losing the picture."

I soon began to feel like a cross-eyed lady at a ping pong tournament and mentally decided they could retire at maybe 55 and raised their salary to half, perhaps three-fourths that of pilots.

Then the following happened. The municipal scope controller saw a "lightning bug" he couldn't exactly identify. He had the number of a private plane that had filed a flight plan and wasn't sure where it was, either. So he radioed the pilot that had filed the flight plan and asked for his exact location.

I couldn't hear what the pilot said, but the controller wasn't satisfied and kept looking puzzled while I was thinking what difference did it make anyhow.

THEN THE controller asked the pilot to please change his heading 40 degrees to the right for a few seconds please.

I decided that of all the nit-pickers that controller must take the cake, but the "lightning bug" he had been unable to identify turned slightly on the scope, all of his numbers and "bugs" fit together and I thought surely he would relax because all was now okay.

What I didn't know, but what every man in the control room did know, was that the private plane was about to enter the landing corridor of the nearby airbase. The controller watching the arrival scope for the air base saw a "bug" that meant absolutely nothing to me, but spelled possible disaster to everyone else.

They all knew it was a jet trainer whose path while landing would cross that of the private plane. One controller told the jet to lower his altitude and watch out for the private plane. Another controller warned the pilot to watch out for the jet trainer.

WELL, everything worked out all right. I suppose the jet did as instructed because the two "bugs" crossed on the scope but kept on crawling along.

I didn't snicker anymore and every single man in that room was suddenly a hero in my strained eyes. I was tied up in knots and could get out of there, but they had to keep on keeping on.

I resisted the urge to beg them to please not take any time off to go to the rest room and neither did I ask how many times a day did things like that happen. I had intended to visit the control tower and watch them direct traffic, but my crossed eyes and frazzled nerves couldn't have taken it.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Look For The Good

IT IS UNWISE to be idealistic to the point of excluding reality from our view of life. The practical, well-balanced viewpoint, however, does not require us to see only the flaws, shortcomings, and the unpleasant and undesirable elements of the life experience. We must look for the good.

THE POLLYANNA attitude of irrespressible optimism is not a justified view of life. The view that everything is all right or that everything will turn out all right is not a wise view. On the other hand, the hopeless and helpless view of the pessimist is also undesirable.

As we move along the way of life, it is important that we see the whole picture. It seems that the bad is being constantly placed before us so as to completely absorb our attention.

We can hardly miss it. In fact, unless we are diligent in self-management, we are likely to see nothing but the bad. Therefore, we, if we see the good must look for it.

OUR GENERAL attitude must be predominantly cheerful, and it will be if we look for the good. Mr. Hume said, "To be happy, the temperament must be cheerful and gay, no gloomy and melancholy. — A propensity to hope and joy, is real riches; one to fear and sorrow, is real poverty." We must look for the good.

IN OUR associations with our fellowmen, we usually see whatever we are looking for, and our relationships are satisfactory or unsatisfactory depending upon what we see. Many people seem to be determined to see only the flaws, shortcomings and mistakes in the lives of all with whom they are associated. With this determination, they are never able to know the joy or receive the strength that come from a wholesome appreciation of others.

If we look for the undesirable features in the lives of our fellowmen, these are what we will see and the whole picture will be distorted. In such behavior, we will have a double misconception, because we will underestimate others, and, in contrast to them, we will overestimate ourselves. The loss to us and to the common good is too great.

IT IS MUCH better for us and for all who may be touched by our lives that we look for the good in those who may chance to come within the scope of our attention.

In all intimate relationships, such as the family, it is very necessary that we look for the good.

Someone has given us a good thought in these well-chosen words, "There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us; that it becomes any of us to find fault with the rest of us."

WE MUST NOT be gullible or naive, but looking for the good in ourselves and in others will more firmly establish the good in us and in them.

W. O. W. won its eighth game of the season with only four losses as it clashed against Batson and came out on top 5-2. Craig Ratliff allowed only two hits to Batson, and both of which were singles smashed by Tommy Watson.

The losing pitcher, Dan Cushion, allowed Bobby Henien to wallop a double, with Juan Villafra and Ronnie Rodriguez both smashing singles. The winning margin was tallied in the top of the sixth inning when Villafra and Rodriguez knocked their singles to aid in scoring five runs.

High Plains Yield Large Portion Of Cotton Crop

The preliminary report of the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service on acreage, yield and production of cotton shows 1,203,520 bales (500 pounds gross) produced in 1967 by the 23 High Plains counties. This constitutes 43.5 per cent of the State's 2,767,000 bale total.

Running bales from the area were reported earlier by the U.S. Bureau of Census at 1,187,472. Statewide production in running bales came to 2,721,055 according to the Census report. The TCLRS report for 1967 revealed an average yield per harvested acre for the Plains counties of 473.8 pounds as compared to the 1966 average yield of 449 pounds and a 1961-65 average of 485.8.

The State average yield was 376 pounds in 1967, compared to 385 in 1966 and the previous five-year average of 362 pounds. Both the High Plains and the State set record per-acre yields in 1965 with production of 519 and 402 pounds per acre, respectively. The 1966 and 1967 crops of cotton in Texas were far below the 1961-65 average of 2.1 million bales on the Plains and 4.5 million for the whole State.

Producers this year signed up to plant about 1.65 million acres of cotton. But normal replanting would reduce actual acreage to about 1,625,000. So if 200,000 acres have been taken out by weather something like 1,425,000 acres are left standing, about the same as farmers originally indicated they would plant and in 1967 some 207,000 more acres than were harvested last year. Although much of this year's crop on the Plains is late it is still reason to hope for good yields well above the 400 pounds recorded last year. Moisture conditions are better over the area than at any time in many years, and the re-planting - row planting regime for 1968 should also serve to boost yields in some sections.

Assuming that current acreage and that yields are equal only the 1961-65 average of 400 pounds, Plains production this year would come to 1,442,000 pounds, 500 pounds gross weight, same acreage with a yield of 519 pounds, the record set in 1965, would produce 1,540,780 pounds.

A better idea of what can be expected from the Plains this year will be available August 1 when the Plains Cotton Growers and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange releases their joint estimate of standing acreage and production prospects.

Cotton crop statistics for Lamb County in 1967 are as follows: planted acres, 121,300; harvested acres, 91,000; percentage of acreage lost, 25; yield per harvested acre, 67,100; and production of 500 lb. bales, 67,100.

Church Presents Recorder

First Baptist Church of Springlake has presented Wayland College with a tape recorder as its first gift from a recently established Aid - To - Wayland fund.

Dr. J. Ivyloy Bishop, head of the Bible Department at Wayland, accepted the gift for the college Monday morning at the breakfast meeting of Springlake Baptist Men.

In accepting the gift, Dr. Bishop expressed his appreciation for the interest of the church in Christian education. He described use of a tape recorder as being an excellent means of helping young preachers correct mistakes.

The recorder is the first gift to be presented to the college after establishing its Aid-To-Wayland College fund several months ago. The fund is enlarged by periodic gifts from interested individuals and is from those who wish to contribute as memorials to various persons. Gifts will be made of significant teaching aids to the college as the fund grows to make additional gifts possible.

Dr. Bishop has served the Springlake church on several occasions as interim pastor. His friendships, withing the community, are many following his years of leadership of the church in periods when the church has been without a pastor.

He spoke Monday morning of the need for individual responsibility as the only means of making our nation "One Nation Under God."

HOW TO DISPLAY THE FLAG

Respect should always be shown for the flag and the following practices are recommended:

The flag should always be raised and lowered by hand.

It should be displayed only between sunrise and sunset. When raising the flag, it should be unfurled first. Do not raise the flag while it is furled. After unfurling, hoist it quickly to the top of the staff. When lowered, it should be done slowly and with dignity.

When the flag is displayed other than being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed in a window, it should be displayed with the stars uppermost and to the flag's own right (to the left of the observer). It should not be allowed to touch the ground or floor, nor to brush against objects. Place no objects on or over the flag and do not use the flag as part of costume or uniform.

MAYBE IT'S TIME WE ALL DID A LITTLE FLAG-WAVING!

Too often we tend to leave the patriotic displays to just a few civic-minded Americans. Are we leaving the decisions to just a few, too? Maybe it's time we remembered that we all have a stake in this country's destiny. Displaying the flag is more than just an expression of love of country . . . it's a sign that we believe in the principles upon which that country was founded. Let's proclaim our Americanism by flying the Stars and Stripes and let's live our Americanism by participating in America's democracy.
