HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Eighteen Lubbock business men to Hobbs and Lovington, New Mexico, Tuesday, on a good-will trip. They took no band, no Lubbock literature, no hoorah. The Lubbock Morning Avalanche, editorially, expresses the belief that "noise, music, public speeches and peculiarities of dress are waste motion in trade tripping."

"After all," Editor Charles Guy points out, "trade trips mean just what they say: They are staged with the end in view of increasing business and everyone knows business is not increased by any of the above listed features."

Quite right, Charlie. Now, what this column is interested in is seeing Big Spring visit Hobbs and Lovington. Midland already has staged an excursion out there. Lubbock follows. Lamesa has inaugurated close relations with the eastern New Mexico area.

Big Spring has an excellent opportunity to extend her trade territory in that direction. Right now, all travelers will tell you, the most direct and the best highway route between Hobbs and the Bankhead highway is via Lamesa and Big Spring.

We need, however, a more direct road into Lea county, New Mexico, and its tremendous oil pool. This column will never be satisfied until some sort of Bankhead-Andrews-Hobbs-Carlsbad road has been opened, designated by the state department, and kept in good condition.

Again let us urge parents to visit the Boy Scout camp on the Concho down near Carlsbad this next Sunday. Take your own food, for there'll be a lot of visitors and the area council is not prepared to feed you. If about 500 Big Spring folks would visit this camp you'd see a wonderful change in adults' attitude toward scouting in the city. The boys already are sold on it. The men are not, apparently. The boys need leaders.

Monday evening every man, woman and child is invited to attend the quarterly open membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, at City Park. A group of younger fellows will be in charge. These quarterly neighborhood rallies are valuable. A lot of us would like a lot of other folks a lot better if we got together more often.

ROBINSON'S COURSE IS UNDEDICATED

January, 1929, Statute Not Applicable, Tribunal Says

Robinson, commissioner of the general land office, to refuse bids on certain tracts of oil land of the University of Texas, was unconstitutional. The answer to the certified question sustained the judgment entered in the Travis county district court by Judge J. D. Moore.

BROCK AND SCHLEE IN HOME PORT

Pair Finishes Round Trip in 31 Hours, 57 Minutes

JACKSONVILLE, Florida, June 18 (AP)—Delayed by a stop in Louisiana for fuel this morning, William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee completed their round trip coast-to-coast flight this afternoon, landing at the Jacksonville municipal airport 16 hours and 57 minutes after leaving San Diego, Calif., last night.

In landing their big monoplane here the fliers overshot the field, crashed into a fence and tipped the plane over on one wing. One wheel was smashed.

On arriving here the men disclosed that they had come down at Tallah, Louisiana, at 9 a. m., today to take on 50 gallons of fuel, thus explaining the delay in their arrival.

Culmination of the trip allayed fears for the safety of the men. They had not been sighted since leaving San Diego until 11:30 a. m. today when their ship was reported passing over Thomasville, Ga.

The men took off from Jacksonville Beach at dawn yesterday morning on a contemplated 30-hour round trip flight to San Diego and back.

Although their ship carried a radio apparatus, they were not heard on the westward dash and the ship was sighted only twice.

Total flying time on the two transcontinental hops was announced as 30 hours, 44 minutes and 30 seconds, while the total elapsed time between the take off at Jacksonville and the return landing here was 31 hours and 57 minutes.

BLACK MAN HUNTED BY POSSEMEN

Identity of Slayers Is Unknown; No Probe Is Planned

BRYAN, Tex., June 18 (AP)—The body of Bill Roan, negro who had been sought by a posse after an attempted attack on Mrs. Henry Bowman, was found today. The negro was found killed by buckshot.

The posse had been seeking Roan since Monday afternoon. Mrs. Bowman lives on a farm near Benchley.

The body was found in a pasture about five miles from here.

Mrs. Bowman told officers that the negro, who worked on the farm, attempted to attack her and she beat him off. When his attempt was repulsed the negro became frightened and fled.

Word of the attack got around the community and a posse was formed. The negro was hunted unsuccessfully Monday night and Tuesday.

Last night several members of the posse gathered in Bryan and were told to scatter out by Deputy Sheriff C. L. Baker.

"I told them if I caught the negro I would take care of him," Baker said.

The possemen dispersed, Baker said, and this morning he received a call that the negro had been found shot.

Authorities said they did not know members of the posse. No investigation will be made, it was understood.

In the principal contest, for the long term, Morrow was nominated in a four-cornered fight in which he won a majority of the total vote carrying all 21 counties.

Representative Franklin W. Fort, who ran as a dry with the backing of the State Anti-Saloon League was second. Former Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, advocate of modification of the liquor laws and federal control of liquor traffic ran third. John A. Kelly, who sought the nomination as the original wet republican was a poor fourth. Kelly was Morrow's only opponent for the short term.

STANDARD OF NEW JERSEY IN THREAT TO REDUCE CRUDE RUNS

NEW YORK, June 18 (AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, in its publication "The Lamp," says that refineries will have to reduce their crude oil runs if further additions of gasoline to storage this year are to be prevented.

The report of the committee on petroleum economics, made to the federal oil conservation board and issued in April, is commended in the publication. The report sets a daily average run of 2,624,000 barrels of crude oil by refineries over the entire year as sufficient to meet the demand for finished products, taking into consideration the advisability of making a draft of 5,000,000 barrels upon gasoline in storage.

"For the first five months," the publication says, "refineries averaged 1,835,000 barrels a day. It follows that the refiner will have to restrict his runs to 2,817,000 barrels daily for the last 7 months of the year or

400 Parents Asked To Check Defects Of Their Children

Parents of pre-school and school children are reminded of the defects found during the past year. Over 400 form letters were mailed out to parents, whose children were found to have enlarged, diseased, or inflamed tonsils, 91 children were ten per cent or more underweight, 78 children were over twenty per cent overweight.

The 400 form letters sent out to parents noted the child's name, his or her physical defect and went on to call parents attention to the fact that these defects should be checked during the summer months.

Following is a form letter: In our school inspection we noted that (name) had a throat condition that requires attention. The following are the most frequent complications following diseased tonsils:

- 1. Heart conditions such as lesion or enlargement of the heart.
2. Kidney diseases such as pyelitis or Bright's disease.
3. Rheumatism which may involve one or more joints of the body.
4. Enlargement of the glands, which are more commonly in the neck, but may be over the entire body.
5. Sinus infections which cause severe headaches.
6. Defective vision.
7. Defective hearing.
8. Nervousness.

In many cases parents are not aware that a serious throat condition exists, and as a rule it is very much more difficult for a child so affected to make desirable grades in his or her school work.

We trust when you consult your family physician and have corrections made that you will notify the principal of the school your child attends, or notify the county health nurse, to see our health program is of vital interest.

Trusting we have your support and cooperation in this work, we beg to remain, Very truly yours, HOWARD COUNTY HEALTH COMMITTEE

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE for the delicate mildness and rich aroma that belong to Chesterfield, nor for Chesterfield's unique blend and cross-blend. "In a cigarette it's TASTE!" Yes, and in a Chesterfield, it's... "TASTE above everything".

From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury in an automobile collision.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancaes road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

TRIED ARGOTANE WITH REMARKABLE RESULTS

"I am now seventy years of age, but since taking Argotane, I don't feel that old by a good many years," said Mrs. V. R. Horn, who conducts a hotel and boarding house at 203 Bowie St., Sweetwater, Texas, recently.

"I feel it my duty," she continued, "to tell all the suffering people about what Argotane has done for me. About two years ago I lost my appetite, and my stomach went back on me and I would have indignation, after every meal almost. What I ate seemed to sour almost as soon as I would eat it, and cause a slight case of indigestion. I was in a general run down, weak condition and my whole nervous system seemed to go to pieces and any noise out of the ordinary would almost make me jump with fright.

"I had taken a great many different things and still suffered, but lucky for me, I began reading about so many people being benefited so much from the use of Argotane, that I decided to give it a trial. By the time I had taken it a week or so I noticed the indigestion pains were disappearing and this much relief made me feel very hopeful. I kept on with the treatment and my appetite has come back to me, and when I go to my meals now I enjoy every mouthful and can eat anything I want without suffering the least bit from it. My nerves are much better and stronger in every way and have more strength and vitality every day. I keep on Argotane; it is a pleasure for me to tell you about this medicine.

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at Collins Bros. Drugs.—adv.

Tenth Flood Victim Counted

(By The Associated Press)

The death toll of floods in Texas stood at ten today, while the damage, principally to growing crops, ran into thousands of dollars.

The name of Franz Zealand, 29, a bridegroom of six weeks, was added to those of nine other persons yesterday when he drowned while crossing Devils River on a horse. His body was recovered.

Zealand met his death when his horse reared and fell. The horse scrambled up the bank to safety, and a Mexican, who was riding another horse also escaped.

Workers under direction of Police Chief Sam Haynes of San Angelo and firemen continued to search for the body of Ty C. Lee, who drowned last week. They planned to dynamite places in the north Concho river, believed to contain the body.

Meanwhile, as a result of cessation of heavy rains, flood waters were receding in South and West Texas.

Henry Ford's Big Idea

HENRY FORD has never been noted for his readiness to agree with economists. Perhaps his success in proving that it is to a manufacturer's interest to pay high wages is responsible; at any rate, he is the country's outstanding non-conformist, and he cares not whose toes he steps on.

Just now he is disagreeing with the doctors who have been called to the bedside of agriculture, which still struggles with its long, painful and baffling illness.

The doctors seem to agree that the farmer must cut down his acreage and reduce the size of his crops. Mr. Ford greets this advice with a loud "pooh-pooh." Intensive cultivation and quantity production, he says, are precisely what agriculture needs. A surplus will depress prices and increase the distress? Not at all; a surplus of any commodity is only the starting point for a new prosperity.

Mr. Ford's remarks do not seem to come within several miles of fitting the case right now. It must be admitted that this eccentric automobile manufacturer has, at bottom, hit upon a rather important idea.

His idea is simply this: that the very expression, "over production," is all wrong as long as there exists in all the world one man who has not got enough of the commodity in question, be it wheat, automobiles, radios or neckties. Does the world suffer from a surplus of grain? How is it, then, that several million people in China are starving? There is something wrong, somewhere.

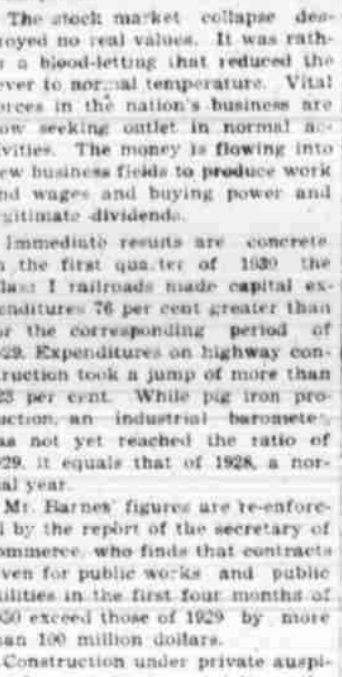

The one great fact that Mr. Ford never loses sight of is the fact that mankind, for the first time in its existence, is able to produce enough of everything, from bread to top hats, so that everyone can have all he wants. To be sure, we have all been tied in production and consumption yet so that it works out properly, but the power is in our hands, nevertheless, to make scarcity forever a thing of the past. That, my suspects, is what lies at the bottom of Mr. Ford's mind.

However faulty his advice to the farmer may be, for the immediate present, that fact is worth remembering. The possibilities that it implies are simply infinite.

San Francisco Chronicle: CAPITAL SOWN in the field of productive industry is as surely surely indicative of a harvest of wages and business as is the seed broadcast by the farmer in new and fertile land. That is a whole of a new industrial acreage which Chairman Julius Baer of the national business survey conference reports as added in the first four months of the present year. It took

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH

Mountain Or Seashore? The physician is often asked "Which is the preferable place for a vacation—mountain or seashore?" In general, the answer is "There is much to be said in the recommendation of each."

But to the healthy person, there is not enough difference to arouse personal preference. The sick person must be guided by the physician acquainted with his condition, and even there the physician usually takes the patient's preferences into account.

In general, however, there is a difference between mountain and seashore. Mountain air is moister than seashore air. It is usually not quite as humid, or moist-ure-laden. The air is colder, particularly at night, but the cold is not felt as much.

The air pressure is less in the mountains than at the seashore, and this promotes deeper and more frequent breathing. High altitudes are thought to stimulate the increase of both red and white blood cells in the body. In the mountains the variations in temperature during 24 hours are greater than at the seashore.

The sun is usually more brilliant at the shore, and salt water bathing is of special value to some. In former times climatology (the study of climates and their effects upon the human constitution) was an important part of the physician's training.

More recently this science has been neglected—probably because experience has demonstrated that there are benefits to be derived at both mountain and seashore. In the treatment of tuberculosis it has been shown that most patients will benefit from treatment at either place.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Bishop Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

"Which in your opinion, are the world's six greatest pictures dealing with religious subjects?"

Leonardo da Vinci's "The Virgin of the Rocks," Andrea del Sarto's "Holy Family," Raphael's "Sistine Madonna," Murillo's "Immaculate Conception," Ruben's "Descent From the Cross" and Millet's "The Angelus."

Masterpieces of painting which have been inspired by the Bible, and there are others in large numbers which have been accepted by more competent judges of art than I am as worthy of a foremost place in the list of the world's greatest pictures.

I am a woman seventy years of age. I have worked since I was twelve years old and gave as much of my earnings as I could to help others. Two years ago I was injured and since then have been in the hospital as a charity patient. My health is gradually failing. The doctors and nurses in charge at the hospital where I am are very good to me, but not the under-nurses.

As I have lain on my sick bed I have thought it would be more merciful to have a law permitting all old people to be gently put to sleep forever. Do you not think this would be a welcome release for many who are situated as I am?

Every humane heart sympathizes with your unhappiness and feels the weight of your plea. But this reaction to a pitiable condition does not convince reasonable people, that death should be inflicted in any case for any reason, except by the State for the punishment of deliberate and willful murder.

When all the bodily pain and spiritual anguish have been taken into consideration and fully weighed the Higher Will still remains. The Psalmist declared that our times are in God's hands, and the long record of human experience proves it is best to leave them to His care. "Our wills are ours to make them Thine."

Have you no controlling thoughts in that direction? Are you utterly bereft of the faith that suffering which is not self-wrought in spiritually cultured? Many who share your sorrows are strong to endure. They have an inward peace and satisfaction which, bodily health, desirable though it is, cannot supply.

I urge you to abandon the idea that premature death is best for you. The spirit of resignation is not weakness, or you it is superlative power and crowns the victory of the soul over the flesh. It creates in your that vision of "the house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens," which caused St. Paul to rejoice in his affliction and his bonds.

Surely kind and generous people are at your call. Tell them what you tell me, and they will give you aid and comfort. Do not allow the undertakings of the hospital to needlessly disturb you. Report any such misconduct to their superiors, who will be prompt to prevent its repetition.

Schenectady, N. Y.
What do you think about mental telepathy? So far as I have been able to learn, no strictly scientific proof has ever been submitted, and no long-distance mental contact has ever been established that cannot be accounted for on the basis of coincidence, yet the devotees speak much on the "radio mind."

There are some investigators who believe telepathy has been conclusively demonstrated. Others credit its occasional occurrence but have no explanation to offer. A third group denies that the evidence for it is convincing. I, personally, am a doubting Thomas on the question.

The experiment in telepathy made by Professor Gilbert Murray were not only apparently successful; they were remarkable; and in his case collusion can be ruled out as highly improbable. The results he obtained led to efforts on a wider scale with attempted transmissions by radio of the concentrated mental efforts of groups. I regard these as having completely failed. Though certain psychic qualities may ultimately be transmitted through that instrumentality, up to date nothing has been accomplished along those lines other than some of the more conceivable attributes of a strong personality, such as the sincerity of emotion of the speaker.

Only minds attuned to kind other by personal contact and kindred sympathies are likely to receive messages telepathically conveyed.

I advise you to look with deep distrust and suspicion on all reputed uses of mental telepathy which calls for the payment of cash. In these instances the operators may or may not be sincerely convinced that thought is transmissible, but regardless of their sincerity or lack of it they are most thoroughly aware of the ancient adage that a fool and his money are soon parted, and proceed accordingly.

a concentration point for cooperative marketing of cotton also was held, but nothing definite was decided along this line.

Every item we offer is strictly high-grade, first-class merchandise. Our everyday prices are lower than the so-called sale prices that are continually being run. When the UNITED puts on a sale you get the best goods the market affords at a BIG SAVING.
