LITTLEFIELD, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1966

NUMBER 31

AFTER SEVEN YEARS

First Baptist Pastor Resigns

The Rev. Robert D. Longshore, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, has been named to fill a vacancy in the Endowment and Capital Giving Department of the Stewardship Division, BGCT State Missions Commission.

His position title will be associate secretary for institutional development.

Longshore came to Littlefield the first Sunday in December, 1959 and resigned the first Sunday of this month, having served here exactly seven years.

A Texas Baptist pastor for the past 20 years, he is a native of Commerce and came to Littlefield from College Station. His new home will be at Mesquite.

In his new position, he will work with Baptist colleges, children's homes and hospitals and homes for the aged.

The 43-year-old minister is married to the former Anita Ruth Moore of Mineola. They have three daughters, Catherine Ruth, 14; Faith Louise, 12; and Deanna Gay, 10.

Longshore is currently serving on the BGCT executive board, is a member of the 15-man State Missions Commission and is a trustee on the board of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview.

Simmons' Trip Nixed By Doctor

BY MRS. NANNIE BLACKMAN BULA -- A disappointing development was revealed today by Chick Simmons, because his illness will not permit it, "the powers that be" of the Veterans Administration Out-Patient Clinic, Lubbock, would not let him return to Pearl Harbor for the 25th anniversary ceremonial.

He would have been permitted to go, only, if accompanied by "a member of his family or someone who cares." The decision was made too late for Chick to make suitable arrangements.

Asked how he felt about the situation, he replied, "I am learning to accept disappointment. I have known for many years that my doctor dictates an ultimatum, only, when he knows it to be necessary for the continued improvement of my mental health. Therefore, I am not deeply concerned about my situation. My dream is to help those less fortunate than myself."

It was suggested that this endeavor would probably require a great deal of effort on his part and much cooperation from many sources.

When asked if he had considered the possibility that his illness had become an obsession, he said, "At least, try to be kind, and pretend it approaches a 'Magnificent Obsession' ... a typical 'answer' from one Chick Simmons."

Therefore, a memorial service honoring the nearly 3,000 American servicemen killed at Pearl Harbor on Sunday morning, Dec. 7, 1941, highlighted the 25th anniversary reunion of the Pearl Harbor Attack Veterans, Inc. without the "physical" presence of member number one one nine (119).

PIONEER GAS OPENING SET

Pioneer Natural Gas Company will hold open house at the firm's new offices Sunday afternoon.

Farmers In CAP Ask $1.2 Million

Allotment Far Short

Lamb County landholders have asked for $1.2 million through the Cropland Adjustment Program, according to L. D. Aten, Jr., ASCS office manager.

They came from every community in the county last Thursday and Friday to make application for the program with a total of 121 persons putting 32,804 acres in the program. Aten said this amounted to 150 contracts.

In contrast to the amount applied for, only $31,000 has been allotted for Lamb County this year.

However, Aten said that more funds would probably be made available.

In 1966, $40,000 was passed out in this county under the program.

Aten attributed the large increase in applications to the change in the feed grain program since no diversion payments will now be made under the annual program for grain.

Grain acreage was the largest figure with 21,399 acres in this county.

Applications were made for 9,730 acres for cotton, 115 acres for corn and 1,560 acres non-allotted.

Under the program, which many farmers refer to as the "soil bank", the landowners agree to retire allotment crops for a minimum of five years or a maximum of 10 years. The government pays for the land they do not use.

Lewis David, state ASCS director at College Station, said that Texas received a little over $3 million to begin the program and "should get another million dollars. I could be wrong, but except for a few isolated places I think there will be enough money to go around this year."

Aten said he was basing his hope for "enough money" on this statement and added that some who had made application would probably "change their minds".

West Texas ASCS officials said earlier that there was unusual interest in the program this year because of the depletion of irrigation water and below normal crop production in some areas.

It was also theorized, however, that the landholders were fearful that if they didn't make application early, all the funds would be gone.

Rates announced for Lamb County are cotton, 6 cents per pound; corn, 55 cents per bushel; grain sorghum, 41 cents per bushel; and non-allotted crops, $8 per acre average.

16 Mailing Days Left, PO Reminds

There are only 16 more mailing days until Christmas. That means like ample time to get your mail to the Littlefield Post Office, but Littlefield Postmaster T. A. Henson says the home stretch in the mail is still ahead.

"If we get the whole load dumped on us the last few days before Christmas, we can't possibly get it delivered in time," Henson also urged the use of ZIP code numbers in addresses.

8 billion pieces of mail between now and Christmas Eve.

This will be another new record which he attributes to the continuing strength of the economy.

"Mailing early is an absolute must," Henson said.

"If we get the whole load dumped on us the last few days before Christmas, we can't possibly get it delivered in time," Henson also urged the use of ZIP code numbers in addresses.

"If there are some ZIP codes that you still need for your mailing list, come to the post office and look them up or give us a call," the postmaster suggested.

Henson also offered these suggestions to be sure that your Christmas mail gets delivered on time:

Wrap your packages well and include sufficient padding. Your parcel may be shipped in a mail sack with a set of encyclopedia riding on top.

Put your name and address and that of the addressee on a card or slip of paper inside the package in case the wrapping comes off.

Write addresses clearly. Use first class postage and your return address on cards so they can be forwarded or returned if they are undeliverable.

Shop early; mail early.

Dear Santa ...

"Dear Santa" time is here. A number of the letters to the little folks appear in today's issue.

We asked us to pass the word that he's getting all the letters and is busy making up his list.

We also said that there some he hasn't heard yet so just send your letters along to us and we'll get them to the North Pole.

Open House On 300 Block

A Christmas open house, with three hours of specials, is being offered Thursday by merchants on the 300 block of Phelps.

The participating stores will be open from 6 to 9 p.m. with special bargains and Santa will be there with candy for the youngsters.

Merchants include C.R. Anthony, Perry's, Jones Jewelry, Amos Ward, Fair, Abe's Shoes, Robert's 5-10 and Stitch-In-Time.

THE CHIMNEY

They Fixed It For Santa

Yes, Brent and Lisa, Santa will make it. We can assure you the chimney will be big enough to accommodate him and he's bound to appreciate all that work you've gone to in order to make it nice and clean for him.

The chimney at the B. D. Garland, Jr. residence is probably one of the cleanest in town since last Sunday afternoon.

This is all due to the efforts of the Garland children, Brent, 8, and Lisa, 9, who decided to tidy things up a bit for ole Santa.

With brooms in hand, the youngsters climbed into the fireplace and gave everything a good going over. Brent even wore his new hat and the ashes were carefully sacked and saved.

Mrs. Garland admitted she was "a little" surprised when she walked in and discovered the project and the obvious results--which pretty well covered the entire room.

Brent was apparently rather concerned about the whole situation since Mrs. Garland discovered that he had also made a trip to the roof, via a ladder, to check the size of the chimney opening.

So, don't worry, Brent and Lisa, the jolly old fellow will be there right on schedule.

Postmaster Wants To Return $361 In U.S. Postal Savings

Postmaster T. A. Henson is trying to make more money for 11 people who have liked to save.

These persons have $361 in U. S. Postal Savings certificates on deposit at Littlefield Post Office.

And their money is earning little or no interest, according to the Postmaster.

It is a drop in the bucket, compared to more than $147 million in Postal Savings certificates the Post Office Department is holding all across the country in the obsolete savings program.

But it still amounts to $361.

The reason the postmaster is wanting the persons to claim their money or close out their accounts is because the Postal Savings program was discontinued by Congress last March 28. No deposits have been accepted since last April 27.

Certificates with anniversary dates since last April 26 have earned their final interest payment and are earning their owners nothing.

Others will earn interest up to the anniversary dates, but no more.

And after April 26, 1967, no interest will be paid on any Postal Savings accounts.

However, those with anniversary dates between now and April 26, 1967 can be cashed at any time before the anniversary date and a proportionate amount of interest will be paid.

So, the postmaster hopes those persons with the $361 in certificates will understand the situation and close out their Postal Savings accounts so their money can be put to work in other places earning more money.

Come July 1, 1967, remaining funds in the program will be turned over to the U. S. Treasury Department, where they will be deposited in a trust fund until claimed by the proper owners.

Fire Damage Hits $75,000

Damages have been estimated at approximately $75,000 in an early morning grocery store fire here Monday.

The blaze was reported at Evans' Jim Dandy, located on Highway 84, at 1:30 a.m. Monday.

According to Fire Chief Leon Durham, there was an 80 per cent loss of stock. The building was also badly damaged.

Durham said that most of the damage was from heat, rather than smoke and water.

He said the fire was of undetermined origin and the cause is still being investigated.

Billy Graham Film Scheduled

The new Billy Graham feature length sound-color motion picture, "LUCIA" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Antioch Baptist Mission.

This is the story of "LUCIA", coming to the motion picture screen with all of the pathos and poignancy that transcends its Latin setting, to embrace the spiritual needs that are common to every culture and clime around the world.

"LUCIA" was made in its entirety in Buenos Aires, directed by World Wide Pictures' President, Dick Ross. The fire and excitement of gaucho folk music, South America's unmatched scenic grandeur and the excitement that belongs to one of the world's largest cities, are all enriched by full color and authentic sound.

But the real impact of "LUCIA" is to be found in its intimate, utterly honest treatment of an individual's emptiness and frustration apart from the filling of the "God-shaped vacuum" with which all mankind is born. With this newest of the Billy Graham Films, "LUCIA" enters into the area of domestic discord and the romantic triangle -- and what the Bible has to say in resolving the emotional problems that are the hallmark of 20th Century living.

As long as you live you will never forget "LUCIA."

OWNER'S REPORT

When Teachers Had To Be Tough

By Bill Turner

THE LATE Ira Farrell, who was raised on a Michigan farm at the turn of the century, wrote a book of oldtime tales about five years ago. (Hayride, by Ira Farrell, Photo Offset Printing Co., Escanaba, Mich., 95 cents).

The stories, although salty, are such a humorous portrayal of those rough and tumble days that I want to reprint one:
"THAT YOUNGSTER will be hung as soon as his arse gets heavy enough to break his neck."

The speaker was my old maid aunt who knew all about child raising. The youngster was me, 7, at the time, and just home from school. My older brother and sister were telling what had happened, which was something like this:

I was sitting in a double seat with Joe. Joe whispered to me and when I didn't hear him, he grabbed my ear and pulled it out till it looked like a funnel. I geseled him by the hair.

THE TEACHER grabbed us both by the back of the neck and put us under her desk and told us to be quiet or she would forget about being a lady and kick the stuffing out of us.

It was pretty crowded. I had a broken blade in my jackknife which I had filed sharp as a razor. I told Joe we should cut the teacher's shoelaces (she wore high laced shoes and long skirts).

He thought it was a good idea so when I could reach her feet, I cut the lower lace in each shoe.

Pretty soon the teacher left her desk. Then we heard her heels slapping the floor as she came back. She pulled us out. She sure gave Joe a shellacking with her yardstick. Then she turned around to get me.

RIGHT THERE I made my first mistake at school. I tried to run but she headed me off. I had the bright idea of trying to run under her skirts and out the back door. I dived but I came up too soon--right under her skirt. Then I really was scared.

She grabbed me by a leg and pulled, but grabbed a garter in one hand and a panty in the other and hung on. She squeezed my knees to make me let go but I plopped. She quit squeezing in a hurry.

She got hold of my backside and pulled but I had a good grip on her garters. She stretched to four or five times their original length before she let go. I went back like a jack-in-a-box.

She finally maneuvered behind her desk and got me by the hair of my head and pulled me out. She wore out her yardstick on me.

I DON'T CARE IF IT IS THE HIGHEST BUILDING. TAKE ME DOWN.

AMY'S ADLIBS

In The Looking Glass

By Amy Turner

"YOU DON'T LOOK a thing like I thought you would..."

Now this is the sort of comment that unnerves me!

I mean, what do you say? No, I really don't have two heads or I'm sorry, but I do the best I can?

The problem is, you don't know what they THOUGHT you looked like.

If you look better than they thought you would, then this is really a sort of compliment until you begin to wonder what made them think you were such a monster in the first place.

On the other hand, if you look worse, well, there's another evening shot.

I HAVE LEARNED, when this happens, to take refuge in something my good ole Mom used to say:

"Beauty is only skin deep, child," she used to say. In fact, she said this a lot. Of course, Mother is a woman and she knows better, but I think she just kept hoping because, after all, it's pretty tough when you only have one daughter and people keep asking was it a bad accident (hello, Mom).

The thing to do, though, is to have your picture made. This is the greatest little moral booster around because a picture has absolutely nothing to do with how you look.

And, if something goes wrong, and it happens to resemble you, it's obviously the crummy photographer's fault.

Now don't let anyone kid you about this because I know! The Publisher, among other things, is a professional photographer and, believe me, they all stick together.

"The camera doesn't lie" is one of his favorite expressions.

Well, of course it does! I personally wouldn't have a picture that looked like ME. Goodness, if that's all I wanted, I could just look in the mirror and that's a pretty terrible thought.

THE LAST TIME I decided to have my picture made, I really worked at it. I mean, I practiced for weeks...deciding on my best side, whether or not to hold my chin up or down and I SMILED a lot.

When it got so I could smile right through the washing machine running over, two of the children's fights and a Cub Scout meeting, I decided I was ready.

So I smiled right into that studio, all full of confidence and good will, but somehow I have the feeling that photographers just don't like me. After awhile--I was still smiling--this one looked up and said:

"You must have the wrong place, lady. This is a photography studio."

"No, this is it," I smiled. "I came to have my picture made."

Dead silence.

"Oh, well, some days are like that," sighed Mr. Hyde. "Come on back and we'll see what we can do."

AFTER I CRAWLED out of the woodwork, I must admit the smile was a little thing. But the worst was yet to come.

Actually, I don't remember too many of the details. The whole thing is sort of a painful blur except for that little box staring at me, accusing me and there just wasn't any way to get OUT of there. Then, too, it was obvious that the photographer was in complete agreement with that box and I was sorry but what can you do?

It took two or three days to get over the effects so you can imagine my surprise when I picked up the proofs and those pictures were really good...you'd never know they were of ME!

IN SPITE OF my delight, though, the photographer still wasn't so friendly but I suppose it's just their way.

Like the other day, a local photographer (who shall be nameless) came by The Publisher's office to ask him to lunch at a men's club.

I just happened to be visiting at the time and he took one look and started backing toward the door, commenting on the way:

"See you around Turner, sorry to see your wife's here."

Like I said, photographers just don't like me.

Take The Publisher. He used to be a photographer, too.

DEAR EDITOR

Discriminative Newspaper

Mr. Bill Turner, Owner
County Wide News
Littlefield, Texas

Dear Mr. Turner:

An announcement of the change of ownership of the County Wide News was not necessary to a great number of Littlefield citizens. The first editions would have told the story. Quoting your own words, "It's funny how little things mean so much. Good impressions or bad -- can be left when you don't even realize it."

For instance such phrases as, Negro man, Latin American man, Negro teenagers. These adjectives used to inform the people of the entire County that a person of this particular race or National Origin has committed a crime. Wouldn't the name of the person involved suffice, without condemning his whole Race or National Origin? I do not think that persons should be given medals for committing a crime, but I do NOT think that unneeded publicity should be given to the entire Race or National Origin of the particular person. In your six and one-half years of absence, we had gotten used to a fair Newspaper for all Citizens.

You say, we want it understood at the beginning that you can expect fairness from us. What do you mean, when you condemn all persons of one particular nationality for the crime of one, and don't even mention the name much less the nationality of others.

The reputation of a town is a fragile thing, as you say.

I think it can be damaged by a discriminative newspaper, which is what the County Wide News has become.

Yours truly,

Pete Trevino, Jr.

THE SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm views the 1967 tax prospects this week.)

Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a newspaper last night which somebody threw out of a car near this Johnson grass farm earlier in the day in violation of the Keep America Beautiful program, although personally I have never considered a copy of the Avalanche Journal any unsightlier than a lot of other items I could mention, including me and some other men I could name and you wouldn't print. In fact, if you kept the Keep America Beautiful slogan one hundred per cent it'd keep a lot of Congressmen off of television and a lot of lesser men off the streets; at any rate, according to this article some expert has predicted there's a "fifty-fifty chance" taxes will be raised in 1967.

This man obviously is in the dark. I'd say the chances are 100 per cent.

Not only for next year, but any other year you want to pick out.

Understand, I'm not saying there's anything wrong with it, but as far as I can tell taxes have gone up every year since the nation was founded, despite the fact two-thirds of the office holders have been elected on a platform to reduce them.

And actually most of them believed they could, until they got in and found out how many people want their taxes reduced and the other fellow's raised. Most Americans demand a good road to the court house to travel in comfort when they go there to demand less spending. I know a big city that tried to economize by sending one man to Washington to ask one committee to lower taxes and another to appropriate half a billion dollars for a waterway in its area. Some spendtrifits would have sent two men.

I'll admit that occasionally some taxes are reduced, but it's only temporary.

The practical man remembers that taxes, like truth crushed to earth, will rise again.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THROUGH THE YEARS

10 Years Ago

(Taken from the files of the Lamb County Leader, Thursday, December 13, 1956)

A heavy turnout of local voters turned the faucet off on a $1,700,000 proposed water-sewer bond issue here Tuesday by a 4-3 majority.

Lamb County cotton farmers approved 1957 marketing quotas here Tuesday in a county-wide election. The vote in Lamb County was 362 for, 10 against.

The Littlefield Wildcats will again travel a southerly direction this week when they take on the Garland Owls at San Angelo Saturday at 2 p.m. in the top Triple-A game of the semi-finals round of state high school playoffs.

Much interest in the conservation reserve portion of the soil bank program is reported among Lamb County farmers, officials of the soil conservation district here announced.

25 Years Ago

A final report on the health survey recently made of the student body of the Littlefield School System by a staff of Littlefield doctors was made to the parents Friday. Students needing medical or surgical attention of some nature is 39.5 percent of the enrollment.

Due to the war emergency and prospective needs for all sorts of its services, the American Red Cross will stage a special financial campaign beginning within the next few days, to raise an additional $3,000 in Lamb County. T. A. Hemphill, county chairman of the Red Cross, reported Wednesday.

In keeping with the usual custom of the City of Littlefield, a Christmas electric lighting system has been installed on both sides of intersecting streets on Phelps Avenue, beginning north at the highway and extending to the city hall.

America declared war on Japan Monday after that nation's air bombers had dealt the severest blow in its history and inflicted losses which raised the harsh possibility that the Japanese fleet may now enjoy a temporary superiority in the Pacific.

PAUL HARVEY SAYS

Less Than Our Best

Americans trained in the science of warfare are under orders from Washington to "pull their punches." We are not using our most efficient weapons; that's bad enough. But in the Cold War, in the way of words for the minds and hearts of men, we are not using our best words, either.

Americans, in 20 years, have spent more than a hundred billion dollars feeding friend and foe alike -- yet we are most everywhere labelled "imperialists" and "aggressors."

At home, using our best advertising, sales and marketing skills, we have raised the American "level of longing" and, in turn, the "level of living" to undreamed of heights. We "sold ourselves" on becoming the most prosperous society in the world.

We have not sold ourselves or our ideas to the rest of the world.

Adman Charles Brower says, "When is the United States going to start using the advertising and public-relations skills with which it abounds, to win the Cold War?"

Adman Arthur Meyerhoff, author of the book "The Strategy of Persuasion," says, "Our government's informational service is not even bothering to jam our Voice of America anymore, so innocuous has it become."

Mr. Meyerhoff says our country has the most talented persuaders in the world; that the same technique with which we sell soap to ourselves could sell freedom to the world.

Instead, we use newsmen reciting news dispatches which are long on information and short on persuasion.

Early communist revolutionaries mounted soapboxes in streets and parks. They "sold" overtly.

Today's communist counterparts are more subtle but similarly overt. Red China employs 85 to 90 Ph.D.'s in psychology. (All trained in American universities.)

Mr. Meyerhoff protests that the least product is selling best because it has the best promoters.

We've even let them take such words as "freedom" and diametrically distort their meaning. They have people fighting "in the name of freedom" for governments which permit no freedom.

These wolves have disguised themselves as the friendly grandmother, and they are not that image to the world.

In communist countries the people have voice in their governments, yet they are "people's democracies." Thus do Moscow medicine men sell their quick return

Mr. Meyerhoff says we do not have a "big lie" propaganda technique. We have more devastating effect with our "small truth."

We use "emphasized truth" to prevent forest fires, to stamp out disease, to get the vote -- why not use the same technique to promote our Americanism.

Everybody in America takes a bath sometimes, yet the only way to make "the bath" in a bathtub is to slip and kill yourself. "News" does not even reflect "the truth."

Newsmen, headlining only the accidents and none of the advantages, could disseminate many people from bathing.

Fortunately, our soap salesmen are likely to let that happen. Mr. Brower, Mr. Meyerhoff and I urgently recommend to our USA less news and more soap.

Parenthood Cost $16,000 To Age 18

What is the price tag on the average 18-year-old youngster in Lamb County? How much have his parents spent over the years in the process of transforming him from a gurgling infant to a young adult? Very few parents have any idea of what the cost has been. They have never thought of their children in terms of dollars and cents. Had they paused along the line, however, to tally up the bill, they would have been staggered. The cost of raising a child to age 18 runs well into five figures. Fortunately, it is spread out over the 18 years and is on a pay-as-you-go basis. Economic studies into the financial costs of parenthood have been made by the Department of Agriculture, the New York Community Council and others. They show that there is a great divergence, from family to family, in how much is spent. For the most part, income is the determining factor. Where net income per family is between $4,000 and $6,000, as is the average in Lamb Co., the outlay per child is approximately $16,000 to age 18. The biggest part of it is for food. The figures show that a girl consumes about $8,200 worth and that a boy will outeat her by at least $500 over the period. This is a cost that is distributed over the 18 years. Some costs, on the other hand, must be handled as they arise. The initial expenditures, for example, in connection with the birth of the child, medical fees, hospital bills and baby equipment call for an outlay of $650 on average. Afterward, in the course of his 18 years, a boy will use $2,400 worth of clothing and a girl, $2,900 worth. Dental and medical expenditures for the normal child are figured at about $1,000. Other items listed are the portion of housing and transportation attributable to the child as well as the many incidental expenses, ranging from dolls to baseball bats and from lipsticks to bicycles. What has been the overall amount spent on the 391 boys and girls in Lamb County who are reaching 18 this year? Based on the average expenditure per child locally, a grand total of $6,256,000. And that is before any consideration of college costs, for those who are going there.

Sample Farm Survey Is Scheduled Here

A sample survey of those who performed farm work for cash in 1966 will be conducted in this area during December as part of the Census Bureau's monthly Current Population Survey, according to Francis H. Wilmer, director of the Bureau's regional office in Denver.

Mrs. Rosemary McNeese will serve as local census bureau interviewer and will visit families here during the December survey.

A section of the survey form is to be filled for those who did any farm work at all in 1966. The information, obtained annually for use of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, will supplement the regular monthly employment inquiries conducted by the Census Bureau to furnish facts for the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

All information is kept completely confidential and is used only for statistical purposes. The survey will be made during the week beginning Dec. 12 among sample households in this area and in other selected areas throughout the United States.

Trees have been on sale for a week and each day the sales are picking up speed. The tree lot is located in the 1000 block of the Levelland Highway.

Various members of these two organizations are taking turns selling the trees throughout the day and the evening.

Members of the Optimist's Club baseball team have sold tickets toward the purchase of a tree of the holder's choice. These tickets go into a drawing for several prizes.

The drawing for the prizes will be held Thursday, Dec. 22 at 4:30 p.m. Among the prizes being given are a transistor radio, 1967 football season tickets, and hams.

Merchants Help Make A Religious Christmas

By FATHER WILLIAM STENGEL
Green Bay, Wisconsin

Seldom have we heard anyone give credit to the merchant for contributing a great service to society and never have we heard anyone credit him with contributing a service to the cause of religion and most especially at Christmas time. He is usually portrayed as the mercenary fellow we must put up with through the year and more especially before Christmas.

Granted there are a few greedy merchants who take advantage of Christmas, but they are relatively few in number. Their presence among us should not keep us from giving credit where credit has never or seldom been given and ought to be.

Doctors are given a great deal of credit for their service to the human race. They enjoy a great amount of prestige. Rightly so; yet they are paid very well for what they do. Teachers are hardly overpaid, yet the fact that they make some money for their services does not diminish the respect they enjoy for giving their service to society. The farmer is paid for his products and no one thinks less of his contribution to society simply because he makes money.

Everyone readily grants that the doctor, teacher and farmer, and others, perform a great service to society, but few think about the merchant in this vein and certainly almost no one thinks of him as contributing to the cause of religion at Christmas. Ask anyone the reason for this and the answer will be that the merchant makes a profit.

Is "profit" a dirty word or something? Does the fact that we call the charge for a doctor's service "fee", a teacher's service "salary", make these charges more respectable than "profit"? What's had about "profit" anyway, even when it involves the Christian feast of Christmas?

Apart from the Church's liturgy one of the finest spiritual aspects of Christmas is gift-bearing. The giving of gifts is certainly an act of religion, a symbol of charity, the giving of a part of self. If we lost sight of this it is the fault of religion, not of the merchants. Gift-giving at Christmas is essentially a religious act. The gift is a spiritual symbol that says "I love you" or "thank you" or the like. The fact that the merchant makes a profit no more destroys the potential spiritual effectiveness of gift-bearing than the profit on the sale of rosary, crucifix, candle, or missal destroys the potential effectiveness of their use.

Nor does the fact that the merchant starts his Christmas gift promotion early hurt Christmas. What harm is there in giving more time to the gift-bearers in the selection of more suitable gifts? It is better to select gifts with the fervor of love than the fervor of panic.

It is not the merchant's early start that psychologically hurts Christmas. The gifts are purchased, wrapped and stored away. The earlier this takes place the more rested the Christian is for the liturgical celebration of Christmas.

The very nature of the merchants' participation in the gift-bearing aspect of Christmas demands that his activity be before Christmas. Outside of the priest hearing Confessions we can think of no other necessary pre-Christmas Christmas activity. All of these "birthday parties for Christ" sponsored before Christmas by the schools and parish psychologically harm the cause of religion on Christmas. On the other hand the merchant aids the cause by promoting gift-bearing. Would that religion would always so effectively move us to give to others as the merchants do.

Only if we admit that "profit" is of itself evil and admit no association between the gifts we bear to others on Christmas with the gift Christ gave man on the first Christmas can we deny the merchant credit for worthy pre-Christmas activity.

If we are almost tired of Christmas by Christmas and hear no songs of the Holy Day the day after it is no fault of the merchant but rather of everyone else for mimicking him without a thing in their hands to sell,

$24 Million Extra On Cotton Payment

Direct payments to cotton producers on the Texas High Plains in 1967 should come to over $24 million more than in 1966 under the newly announced provisions of next year's cotton program.

This is according to the calculations of Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., the organization that represents growers in 23 counties surrounding Lubbock.

Johnson emphasized that these payments are a part of the cotton support price. The loan level under the 1967 provisions has been set at 20.25 cents per pound, down from 21 cents in 1966. Under previous government cotton programs, when direct payments were not involved, the lowest level reached by the loan was 29 cents per pound in 1964.

"Direct payments, as any cotton grower can tell you, are in no sense of the word a bonanza to farmers," Johnson stated, adding that "they are simply a method of keeping the price of cotton to American farmers high enough that, in theory at least, he can afford to produce it."

Johnson said the additional area income would be the result of three factors -- a higher of payments per pound for price support and acreage diversion, an increased per-acre projected yield, slight increase in cotton acreage on the Plains.

The 1967 cotton law provisions set the price support at 11.53 cents per pound, 2.11 cents above the 9.42

Salvation Army Kettle -- Shown above Harwell (right) and James Lee, (left) of the board, as they discuss plans for money collected through the kettle. The kettle will be on Main Street until Dec. 24. Salvation Army Continues Christmas Projects

Monday morning the annual Salvation Army Kettle was placed on Main Street in the vicinity of the First National Bank. The proceeds collected from the kettle go for Christmas baskets for needy families and toys for needy children. Last year the proceeds amounted to about $600. The kettle will be on the street through Dec. 24. Salvation Army workers will work in the booth and any group wishing to help may contact Lt. Harwell and designate a time or a day. Additional help is needed by the Salvation Army in dressing the dolls they have to give to needy children. Several residents have dressed some dolls, but others still need dressing. Also good used dolls are needed to dress. If possible, the dolls donated could be dressed and ready for distribution. The dolls and work on the dolls should be completed by Dec. 15.

Social Security Long Lines Can Be Avoided At Lubbock

The Lubbock Social Security office announced today that persons filing claims for payments may wish to come to the Lubbock office to avoid long waiting at the courthouse in Littlefield. Experience in the past two years has indicated that some persons wishing to transact business with the Social Security office, could be handled more quickly at the Lubbock Office. This is true, stated John G. Hutton, district manager, because the Littlefield office handles almost all of those persons in Lamb County and Anton. Some persons have waited as long as three hours at Littlefield, Texas, to be seen by the representative, due to the large number of persons who come in there for information or come in to file claims, he said. Hutton offered the following suggestions to persons wishing to file claims for payments or who have other reasons for contacting the Social Security office:

1. Bring in evidence of age at the first visit.
2. Have your social security card with you when you come in.
3. Have wage or self employment income information with you.
4. Write the Lubbock office for information you will need before you come in.

The address of the Lubbock, Social Security office is 3428 Avenue H. The telephone number is PO 5-8541. Call, write or visit that office for any matter pertaining to retirement claims, survivor claims, disability claims or medicare information, Hutton said.

SPECIAL OBSERVANCE CHOIR -- Shown above are members of the choir that participated in the "Birthday For Christ" held Sunday night in the First Methodist Church of Amherst. Various solos and duets were sung and played. Also are members of the Littlefield singing group the Octets. They sang in the observance. --- LEADER STAFF PHOTO

Voting In County Said Heavy On Two Cotton Referendums

Returns were reported heavy here this week on two cotton ballots mailed last Friday by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service to every eligible cotton grower. Deadline is Friday Dec. 9 and ASCS Office Manager L. D. Aten Jr. said all ballots postmarked before midnight that day will be accepted. One of the ballots is for farmers to accept or reject the proposed acreage allotment program for next year. The other is for voting for or against the controversial Cotton Research and Promotion Act. Results of the voting will not be known until next Wednesday, Aten said. The proposed cotton research and promotion $1-per-bale assessment order being voted on was developed under the Cotton Research and Promotion Act approved in Congress July 13. The decision, some claim, could condemn cotton production and marketing to even tighter government restriction and control. Others say it would condemn cotton production to certain death due to lack of markets. Awaiting the outcome are both national legislators and makers of man-made fibers. Some lawmakers have said that if the farmer indicated by his decision he is ready to "give up" on cotton, Congress will be ready to do the same. Some claim these lawmakers are threatening the farmers and others say they are stating the simple truth. The Act was passed in an effort to enable cotton producers to establish, finance and carry out a program of research and promotion to improve the competitive position and expand markets for cotton. Section 8 of the Act provides that no cotton research and promotion order will be issued unless it is approved by not less than two-thirds of the producers voting in the referendum or not less than a majority of the producers voting if that majority produced at least two-thirds of the cotton during the 1966 crop year. No alternate provision for collection of funds to finance the Act, other than the $1-per-bale assessment, is provided in the order. If the order is approved, the $1-per-bale assessment will start at the beginning of the 1967 ginning season. On the other ballot, if the marketing quota referendum is not approved by the necessary two-thirds of the votes, allotments will remain in effect for the 1967 upland cotton crop but there will be no marketing quotas, no penalties for excess cotton, no additional price support in form of payments, no diversion payments and no export market acreage. Price support loans at 50 percent of parity will be available to growers not exceeding their farm's acreage allotment. More than 60 cotton agencies are supporting the Research and Promotion Act which gives the Secretary of Agriculture authority to appoint a Cotton Board to carry out provisions of the Act and designate handlers to collect the $1-per-bale assessment. The American Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau stand against both the Act and marketing quota program. Farm Bureau spokesmen say the Act gives the Secretary too much authority and that marketing quotas take agriculture out of national economic balance. However, several county Farm Bureau organizations have gone on record as approving the Research and Promotion Order.

Timmins Aboard Salvage Ship

Engineman Second Class Charles B. Timmins, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Timmins of Route One, Littlefield, participated in "Operation Jackstay" as a crewmember aboard the salvage ship USS Reclaimer in the Mekong Delta area of Vietnam. During the operation, the Reclaimer was called upon for several salvage missions. Among them were the recovery of anchors of various Seventh Fleet ships which had been lost during a storm in the Chu Lai area. The ship also took several towing assignments during the operation and several Junk Patrol Boats were replenished with ammunition, food and water by the vessel. The Reclaimer's final assignment on her last deployment was a five-day diver training course for Navy Divers of the Republic of Korea.

County Agent's Corner

BUDDY LOGSDON

OUR FIREPLACE can add an especially note to holiday activities if the fire is made up of multi-colored flames. Instead of the usual yellow flame from wood, flames can be green, red, blue, orange, or purple in color depending upon the chemicals used to treat the material to be burned. Calcium chloride can be used to produce orange colored flames, copper chloride--purple, potassium chloride--purple, strontium nitrate--red, lithium chloride--carmine, and barium sulfate--emerald green. Dry pine cones or small blocks or chips of wood can be soaked in solutions of these chemicals to produce the multi-colored flames when burned. Most of the chemicals can be purchased from chemical suppliers or local stores.

TO TREAT the cones or wood, a plastic bag and onion sack are needed. The cones or chips are placed in the sack and immersed in a solution containing one pound of the desired chemical dissolved thoroughly in one gallon of water. The bag must be closed down so that the material is completely covered by the solution. The cones or wood should soak for at least 10 minutes. After soaking, the treated material may be spread on newspapers to dry. After drying overnight, they will be ready for use in the fireplace.

Also, "logs" can be made of loosely rolled newspapers tied with a heavy twine and soaked in a solution of four pounds of copper sulfate and three pounds of rock salt in a gallon of water. They will take several days to dry. Once dry, a paper log will burn all evening and produce a rainbow of colors.

DECEMBER IS a good month for collecting and submitting soil samples for testing. At the present time, samples are processed as soon as they arrive at the laboratory and test reports are mailed within ten days. This schedule should benefit you since prompt service is an important requirement for an effective soil testing service. Sampling well in advance of planting offers the advantage of allowing time to obtain the fertilizers needed. In many instances, wet soil may be encountered during the winter and cause a delay in sampling, therefore, sampling now is advisable.

SHIPPING WEIGHTS can be reduced by allowing the sample to dry a day or two at air temperature. Samples should not be heated since high temperature causes potassium to be fixed in some soils in such a way that it cannot be removed by chemical procedures. If reliable information is to be obtained from a soil test, it is necessary for the sample to be as nearly representative of the field on which information is desired as possible. To obtain a representative sample, a composite is made by obtaining a core or slice of soil from 10-15 spots in fields from 20 to 40 acres in size. Pint boxes, mailing cartons, history sheets, and instructions are available from the Lamb County Extension office. Instructions for sampling should be studied and followed closely as possible. It is a good idea to go over these instructions with the county agent, especially if this is your first experience in collecting samples.
