

There were many unusual scenes in Littlefield Sunday and Monday during and after the rain since October. During the first few hours the runoff poured into the low spots on so fast that pools 18" deep accumulated. Dozens of cars drowned out in them and had to be pushed to high ground so traffic on the highway could get through. (Photo by Taylor Studio)

Since most of his customers were not around on Sunday to take him up on his offer to give free coffee the first day it rained one-half inch, Dan Staggs made Monday his free coffee day. He gave away 850 cups and tried to clean up on water guns. (Photo by Taylor Studio)

Laguna Park lived up to its name again with half its area covered with a few inches of beautiful water. City commissioners worried lest the lift station be flooded again and more motors ruined. (It will be moved to higher ground next month). Residents are hoping that they don't see the bottom of the "lake" again until fall. (Photo by Taylor Studio)

Miss Sue McCown and Miss Nancy Morrow

Sue McCown, Nancy Morrow Both Named Valedictorians

For the first time in the history of Littlefield public schools two, not one, valedictorians of the graduating class have been named. Misses Glenda Sue McCown and Nancy LaRue Morrow have both made straight A's during their entire four years of high school study, so both were proclaimed valedictorians. Principal Ralph Schilling said Wednesday that no salutatorian will be named and that both girls will share the honors of valedictorian. The decision was made when the faculty Valedictorian Committee found the tie unbreakable. Miss Morrow, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Morrow. During her senior year she made the National Honor Society, was a cast member of the one-act play entered in the Interscholastic League contest, participated in the district short hand contest and took third place in the declamation contest. She was also co-captain of the basketball team this year. She has made the Court of Honor all four years in high school, was a member of the Future Homemakers of America, and a member of the dramatics club her freshman year. She has been a member of the Wildcat band four years, serving as band librarian all that time. For the past three years she has been assistant Drum Major. During her freshman year the Wildcat band was chosen All-State Band. In her junior year she made Who's Who in Band. Miss McCown, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McCown. She has been a member of the Court of Honor all four years in high school, made Who's Who in Foreign Languages her junior year, and Who's Who in English her senior year. Miss McCown served in the Pep Squad three years and was treasurer of that group during her sophomore year. She was on the Wildcat staff, school yearbook, this year, and a member of the Girls' sextette. Last year she was a member of the Girls' Trio. Elected Senior Favorite for 1953-54, she also took first place in the district extemporaneous speaking and was a member of the one-act play cast this year. She has been a member of the National Honor Society for two years, serving as secretary during her senior year.

Bit Nears Oil Sand In Irving

Only one oil rig was drilling in the Littlefield pool Wednesday. It was the Vernon Drilling Co. rig which is nearing the pay sand in the L. C. Hewitt-Leonard Irving No. 1. This rig is scheduled to move 1 1/2 miles southeast to the Heard lease as soon as this well is completed, where they will drill a wildcat test for Sharpies Oil Corporation. The rig which has been drilling for the Texas Company is stacked on the Union Compress awaiting orders for its next location. The company has another location staked on the same lease but has not yet asked for a city drilling permit. They also have two locations staked on the school grounds on which city permits have been issued. It is believed that these two wells will not be drilled until after school is dismissed for the summer. Potential for Compress No. 2. The completion report on the Texas Company's Union Compress No. 2 showed an initial potential of 102 barrels per day with 18 percent water and 2 percent basic sediment and 1,200,000 cubic feet of gas. The test was made through 3/4" chob.

Hodges Says Feeling Of Love, Friendship Fills Hawaii Visitors

By Mrs. Ralph Douglas surrounded with a feeling of "friendship and love, goodbye" is how Mrs. Allen Hodges described the of the Hawaiian people when she spoke Monday to both groups of the Presbyterian Women's Aux- she has just returned from a trip of approximately to Hawaii, where she visited her sister, Mrs. J. E. Mrs. Ransburg has visited in Littlefield and is here.

 A. Bills, Mrs. B. W. and Mrs. John Por- hostesses to the six- sers present.
 B. McShan had the and spoke on "The Witness."
 M. Brittain presented program on India, peoples, habits, edu- caste systems. She the missionary work try being done by the church.
 The girls wore a mumuof gold, orchids and many other native flowers were shown to explain the beauty of the islands. Five thousand kinds of hibiscus grow on the islands, Mrs. Hodges said, each living for only one day. They are used as decorations without water and stay fresh for the day and then wither. This symbolizes the attitude of the Hawaiian people, she said. "Enjoy each day as it comes."

 The countryside is made beautiful by flowering hedges and trees such as the Jacaranda, tulip and Philippine mahogany trees, croton shrubs, many with leaves of canary yellow and other bright colors.

A temperature which varies from 70 to 75 makes heating, light houses and expensive clothing unnecessary. There is no wind and Mrs. Hodges told of how women clean house on Wednesday for a party to be given the following Sunday, which she found hard for a native West Texan to understand.
 The ocean water maintains an even, warm temperature, which makes swimming delightful, particularly since the salty water makes it easy to float.

Mrs. Hodges said her stay was long enough to enable her to visit all of the islands and have an opportunity to see more than many visitors who only see the beach. She visited sugar plantations and pineapple plantations, canneries and enjoyed the sight of coffee trees blooming. Papa-ya, Macademia nuts and mangoes are commercial crops in Hawaii, too.

She also visited in a Japanese home, the Harada family, who live at Lahaina on the island of Laili, where she sat on the floor, ate with chop sticks, and left her shoes at the door while she wore native Japanese shoes.

David Harada visited Houston Hodges in Littlefield three years ago. The young men were friends at the University of Hawaii and are at present both preparing for the ministry by studying in the United States.

While in the Japanese home, Mrs. Hodges said she enjoyed having the old Japanese grandmother, who spoke no English, teach her how to cook rice. It is becoming noticeable that second generation Japanese, Chinese and other native children are larger, taller and have better eyesight than their parents and grandparents, due to better and more complete diet.

Mrs. Hodges attended services at the Church of the Crossroads, a church for all denominations and all races. She also attended services at the Church of Hawaii, which was founded in 1841 and where services are still conducted in both English and the native Hawaiian languages. At the rear of the sanctuary there is still an elaborately decorated sort of throne where the King and Queen of the Islands sat, the insignia over their seats.

Native islanders formerly worshipped volcanoes until missionaries came at about the same time Captain Cook landed on the islands in 1821. In an early co-operative missionary move the islands were assigned to the Methodist church and other territories such as Alaska to other churches. Mrs. Hodges also attended worship services in the Congregational Church.

Uncle Sams' letter toters have been having a picnic all their own, and no refreshments served.

When Chester Colbert, who has been substituting for C. A. Joplin on Route 1, folded up and passed out at his sister-in-law's wedding, frightening his poor wife to death, he started a chain of events that have been fast moving.

Colbert was hospitalized at Amherst April 3 and is still confined there. He will possibly be able to return to his home in Littlefield within a few days but will not be able to return to postal work for some time.

Since Mr. Joplin is the new acting postmaster and was otherwise engaged, Donny Howell took over the duties of Route 1 carrier.

Donald Bennett, veteran city carrier, became ill and a new substitute carrier had to be hired.

Bill Gray, another city carrier, underwent an operation and will probably be out of the post office about a month. It was necessary to use a regular clerk out of the office to take over his work.

With a lot of shifting about and everyone trying to help anyone else who needed his assistance, the mail has gone out. Mr. Joplin said the employees are aware of how it was done and he laughingly said "probably the patrons, also."

Davis and Durham Win In District 4A Track Meet

Littlefield highschool boys, Keith Davis and James Durham, won first places in the District 4-A track and field meet in Lubbock Saturday.

Davis won the 180 low hurdles in a fast time of 21.1 seconds after putting on a spurt at the end. He took his first heat in 21.2 seconds coming out easily in 11 by 5 yards.

In the final heat Keith was being third after the first two tries, then gained to a second place and on the last hurdle remaining yards put on a burst of speed that passed George Levelland and won by a stride. His time is 21.1 seconds, but one of the fastest annual Class A District meets on the Plains.

Branch of Levelland came in second in the low hurdles, and Moore and Donaldson of Muleshoe came in third and fourth.

James Durham ran a thriller in the mile run. He let the whole pack lead him at the start and first turn, but placed in about eighth at the end of the first lap. Sims of Levelland and Webb of Brownfield paced the pack. James trailed fairly close behind the first six boys for the first three laps, but on the back side of the last lap began lengthening his stride and on the last turn and final stretch passed six men to beat out Sims of Levelland for first place at the wire.

Durham's good time for Class A District meets was 5:08.0 minutes. Sims of Levelland was second, Gathright of Morton, third, and Webb of Brownfield, fourth. Davis also tied six other lads for second in the high jump for another 1/2 point. With Durham's 5 points and Davis' 5 1/2, Littlefield totaled 10 1/2 for the meet.

Lynn Shannon took first in the 220 with a time of 23.0. Alvin Messamore won first in the pole vault and Leion Hill took the high jump with 5 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

Hornets that qualified for the Class B Regional meet in Lubbock on April 24 are: Marvin Ballard, James Gore, Jim Williams, Lynn Shannon, Dickie Hanna, Carlos Garner, Charles Lynch, Dwaine Parish and Eldon West.

Anton placed second with 38 points and qualified a number of athletes for the regional meet. Detwiler won three first and a second to do his part for the team. The firsts were in the high and low hurdles and broad jump. He tied with three others for second in high jump.

Amherst ended up in third place with 28 points. Their firsts were Nuttall in 440, Hardwick in 880, and Sager in mile.

Wayne Cunningham...

The water drouth is broken (for the time being at least). I hope it won't be long before the local sports news drouth will be broken. Davis and Durham gave us a little news.

Muleshoe seems to be quite a track town. They won the District 4-A title two years in a row and barely missed winning it again last Saturday. Levelland beat them out by a few points.

It appears that Muleshoe would have taken the meet again this year very easily if Willis hadn't been spiked in the 440-yard relay. Willis was picking up from a third he inherited from his team mates and was spiked on the last leg—the last leg of the oval track. Well, I imagine it was on the last of his two legs, also. Most of the time the spiking jobs come from a runner too close on the heels or from your cutting in front of one you've passed.

In the Southeastern Collegiate Conf. a runner was disqualified for cutting in front of another or for pulling up too close behind another. Field Judges that were impartial found little trouble on rulings. There was seldom an argument over rulings.

A distance man in Littlefield, who is now past his thirties, told me how he got a ruling on a Kentucky man coming up behind him on the turn. This Littlefield resident says his spike hit the 4 x 4 inside board and he tripped, losing a couple strides and came in third. The man behind passed him on the final stretch but was disqualified for tripping him.

A spectator from Post said Saturday at the Lubbock meet. "It doesn't look like the distance runners are as tired and hurting coming in as the sprinters."

A Tech student nearby told him to look at the milers falling all over the ground after they finished and he changed his mind. The Tech student said, "Maybe the sprinters look like they are hurting because they are holding their breaths and gritting their teeth."

Versatile Hoovers
J. Edgar Hoover has done such a remarkable job in the FBI work that it has become in recent years to use the name Hoover.

A South Texas fan told the school board there that a coach there was as popular as a vote for Hoover.

We'll vote for the Littlefield Hoovers, Bob, Dwain and Roy. Bob is no relation to the brothers, Dwain and Roy. Bob has a brother coming up that looks like the part for Wildcat athletics in a couple of years.

In football, Bob lettered and played very aggressive ball. Dwain and Roy also lettered, the former seeing regular action. In one game the radio announcer said, "That tackle was made in there by Hoover, Bob. No, it was Dwain. Let's see now, Roy Hoover was in there too. Well, it looks like all three of them did it." He could have added, "Three Hoovers put the vacuum

ALVIN WEBB, left, and DR. O. W. STILL caught about 40 snook shown above in Tamcira river at Tampico, Mexico. The fish were caught by trowling in a motorboat. Webb said the fish averaged between three and four pounds each. In addition to the snooker, Dr. Still caught three tarpon, one of them weighing 90 pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Webb and Dr. and Mrs. Still returned April 5.

Countians Go Fishing

Winfred Stout spent last week fishing with 19 other Piggly Wiggly managers of the South Plains area of Texas.

The group went to Buchanan Dam between Austin and Llano and stayed at Roberts Camp.

The largest reported from the group was a 20-pound cat caught on one of the trot lines, but Stout says they had real good luck with the trot lines and catching carp below the dam. There were a few fine looking bass in the catches.

Marvin Ray and Vernon Hockett went to Fort Sumner in New Mexico fishing this week. They left Early Monday morning and are expected back near the last of the week.

George Snow went to the Gulf coast last week end and brought back a couple tubs of Drum.

week enough for the events.

The Bulldogs, which have qualified for the Regional meet in Lubbock on April 24, are working out in the Anton gymnasium to keep in shape.

Rena Shunk and Hattie Wigley of Akron, Ohio, have been bowling on the same team in the same league in the same bowling establishment for 20 years.

Mixed Nationalities Billed For Saturday's Wrestling

It's a double main event at Littlefield's Sports Arena Saturday night, with a mixed-up bunch of nationalities appearing in the two-bout program.

Bob Cummings, a transplant-ed "northerner" from Oregon, will go against an old-timer from Naples, Italy, Tony Morelli, in the final section of the twin bill.

Luis Martinez, formerly of Mexico, will meet Danny O'Rourke, a handsome blond whose folks came from Ireland, in the first part of the program.

Cummings now pays taxes as a home-owner and citizen of Hereford, Texas. For several years he was 'billed' out of Seattle, Oregon. He is a veteran, a "clean type" wrestler who can get very rough when the occasion demands.

The occasion probably will demand Saturday night when Cummings ties into the vicious Italian, Tony Morelli. Tony likes it rough and tough, although he's quite a veteran himself. They'll go along more or less quietly for a few minutes, then Morelli will make one of his usual "tough guy" approaches, and Cummings will be ready. There is no telling what could happen after that.

Fans are in for a real wrestling match when Martinez, the pleasant Latin-American who has been a United States citizen for many years, goes against young O'Rourke, a platinum blond who also served this country in World War II. But they were young when they entered, and they are still young so far as professional wrestling is concerned.

Patrons of the wrestling art who like clean, scientific matches will be pleased, it is believed, when Martinez and O'Rourke get together. They will produce a lot of real, down-to-earth wrestling. They are slow to anger, but each is capable of taking care of himself when and if things get real rough.

Parkview Baptist Church Breaks S. School Record

Parkview Baptist church broke its record Sunday school attendance last Sunday morning with 249 present. The old record set on February 21 of this year was 185 which had broken the old two-year Easter record attendance of 171. The visiting preacher in the Parkview Spring Revival of last week, Rev. William Harry Clarke, suggested to the church a first of the week that the people use chain links to make an effort to break the Sunday School attendance record. The enrollment of all Sunday School classes was placed over a window of the auditorium and pieces of yellow paper signed by people coming were pasted into links hanging from the windows. By Saturday night there were 259 links and the Sunday morning attendance was 249, 64 over the past record. According to ushers the present small Parkview auditorium only seats comfortably around 175. The church is building a new auditorium now that will seat 340, just east of the present building. The Parkview Spring Revival closed Sunday night after a week of services. Rev. Clarke, pastor of the First Baptist church of Cleveland, Miss., was the preacher and Rev. Wilbur Harbaugh, senior student at Wayland Baptist college in Plain view, led the music. Rev. and Mrs. Clarke stayed in the home of the Parkview pastor and Mr. and Mrs. Harbaugh stayed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Berry jr.

"IF CHRIST BE NOT RISEN"

By Tommy Williams, Minister

To consider what the hopeless plight of all believers would be, as pointed out by Paul in 1 Corinthians 15:14-19, will help us to appreciate this basic fact of the gospel. If Christ had not risen, here is how it would be:

1. "Preaching is vain." A gospel having only a code of living for time, but minus the power of the resurrection would not be enough.
2. "Fair is also vain." A claim of faith in Christ which omits faith in the resurrection is worse than useless.
3. The apostles were "false witnesses." They testified of Christ and the resurrection. If Christ were not risen, their word was void.
4. "We are yet in our sins." Forgiveness comes through faith in Christ and obedience to his will. A "dead" Christ could not cleanse.

5. "They which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished." The consolation which many cherish that their loved ones are "asleep in Jesus" is a mocking disappointment if Christ is not risen.
6. Hope is "in this life only." Without the resurrection, Jesus could lead only to the grave. What a gloomy prospect that would be!

We are so glad we can say with Paul, "But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept. Write to us at any time. Address: CHURCH OF CHRIST West Ninth Street Littlefield, Texas. Hear "LIGHT FOR YOUR PATHWAY" over KVOV Saturday, 1:15 to 1:45 p. m.

The Easter Dinner Calls For Ham

By Cecily Brownstone
 Associated Press Food Editor

GO ALL OUT on your Easter ham, this year, and make it look like something out of a caterers' kitchen. Give it careful scoring, a rich glaze and a garnish of vegetable flowers and parsley. Bring the ham platter triumphantly to the Easter Sunday dinner table.

Take your choice of ham styles: the cook-before-eating or the fully-cooked variety. The former must be given long oven baking. The fully-cooked style will need only about 10 minutes per pound in a slow oven—but have your ham at room temperature before you begin.

Do you have a large family? Are you inviting guests to join them for Easter dinner? Then a whole ham will make ample servings for everyone and you'll have leftovers to use with extenders for meals during the week. For "just the family"—especially if it's small—a half ham will fill the bill. And for that two-some a baked thick center slice of ham will make a festive main course. Of course, the whole ham is the "best buy."

Both styles of ham should be baked, according to schedule, fat side up on a rack in an open pan. No water is needed. When you take the ham from the oven, cut off the shank skin with a knife or kitchen scissors. Cut the fat in diagonal lines—be careful not to cut too far down!—to form diamonds. Stick a whole clove in the center of each "diamond" and cover with honey. Return to a hot oven for fifteen to twenty minutes so the glaze will be a glorious color. If you are short on time, get your youngsters to make the clove insertions—they will think it's a fun chore.

What's on the menu besides ham? Well, it's the beginning of Spring, so why not small new potatoes with chives and asparagus? Salad can be a combination of greens, cucumber and radishes. We would have hot herb-buttered French bread, too.

To make the vegetable "flowers" for the ham platter, cut the edges of thin slices of carrots or turnips to look like wild roses and crisp in ice water; fill the centers with a tiny carrot or turnip curl that has its top dipped in paprika. Place the "flowers" on sprigs of parsley on the ham platter for a "green-grows-the-table" effect.

Something heavenly, of course, must be the dessert. So why not Chocolate Walnut Angel Pie? It's as light as an angel's wings—and will make everyone sigh in bliss.

Chocolate Walnut Angel Pie

Ingredients: 2 egg whites, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/2 cup sifted sugar, 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 2 teaspoons gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, 1/2 cup milk, 2-3 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup cream (whipped).

PINEAPPLE TARTS with cherries are something special.

Top with extra chopped walnuts.

ROAST DUCK KNOW-HOW

If you would like to roast a duck at a slow temperature but still want a crisp brown skin, give the bird this treatment. When it is done, brush the skin with a couple of tablespoons of honey and a teaspoon of soy sauce or brown sauce for coloring gravy; place under the broiler until as brown and crisp as desired.

COOK'S KNIFE

An eight-inch cook's knife—sometimes called a French Cook or Chefs' knife—is wonderfully efficient in a kitchen for carving hot roasts and mincing small quantities of onion, parsley, celery or green pepper. For mincing, hold the tip of the knife on the slicing board and rock back and forth.

Rice and Luncheon Meat Casserole

INGREDIENTS:
 1 cup uncooked rice
 1 10½-ounce can condensed cream of celery soup
 1½ cups grated sharp cheese
 1 teaspoon salt
 2½ cups water
 1 12-ounce can luncheon meat

METHOD: This Rice and Luncheon Meat Casserole is mixed, baked and served in the same dish. Use either a large shallow baking dish or a deep baking dish. In the baking dish thoroughly mix the rice, celery soup, cheese, salt and water. Cut the luncheon meat into thin slices and arrange on top of the rice.

Bake in a 350°F. oven until the liquid has been absorbed by the rice (about 45 minutes.) Half-way through the baking make sure the meat slices are on top of the rice so they will brown nicely. Serve hot from the same dish in which the rice and meat are baked.

A tasty variation is made by placing fish fillet or split frankfurters on top of the rice. If fish filets are used, bake the rice, condensed cream of celery soup, water and cheese about 20 minutes before arranging the thawed (if frozen) fish filets over the top of the rice mixture. This recipe makes 6 servings.

Why be behind times and pay the penalty of working with an outmoded truck? The new GMC light-duty models — with Truck Hydra-Matic Drive,* 125-horsepower high-compression engines, smart styling and luxury cabs — cost very little more to buy and much less to run than old style trucks. Our Living Lord

Lesson for April 15, 1954

TO SPEAK about Jesus as if he were simply a historical character is a mistake, said William Adams Brown. When other men die, their obituaries can be written. There is nothing to add to the tale of their life. Even in the case of the great and famous men about whom new books appear every so often, each biographer merely edits newly discovered material at the most. If he adds a chapter to other biographies, it is simply the record of a chapter hitherto unknown—but it adds nothing new to the facts, only to men's knowledge of the facts. With Jesus, as Dr. Brown points out, the case is altogether different. You could not write a "definitive," a lastword, biography about him. Dr. Foreman even today, he Dr. Foreman cause he still lives and is active in the world. Jesus is not someone who was; that is not the whole truth. Jesus is. The message of Easter is not only that Jesus did not die forever; it is more that he lives forever, that he lives now.

In the Church

The Church is called in the New Testament the "body of Christ." In a very real way, that is true. One contemporary theologian has put this in a startling way. He says that Christ and the church are the complete Christ, just as a man and his body together are the complete man. This may be putting it too strongly. But no thoughtful Christian will deny that without the church, without some church, Christ would be bodiless in this earth. Without the church he would be a "houseless wraith of deity," but with the church he has eyes, ears, hands and feet. This is not to say that any church is perfect; in the best of churches Christ walks lame and speaks in a murmur often hard to understand. Just as any musician would be hampered by a broken arm, so Christ is hampered by broken and self-seeking churches. Yet taking it all in all, Christ does live and speak and work through his church today. He is there in the sacraments. Here in the message of truth and grace, there in the life and service of every church that ministers to men in his name.

In Men and Women

But the church does not exist apart from the men and women who are its members. (We mean real members, not just people whose names appear on the membership lists.) Christ lives again in every individual who loves him, is devoted to him and (to use St. Paul's memorable words) is "growing up in all things into Him." When St. Paul said, "I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me," he was saying only what countless Christians have said because they had discovered it was true. Christians less famous than Paul have known him in their lives. A man who had had a great deal of trouble with a certain temptation was asked one day by his pastor how he was getting along. "You know," the man replied, "I used to have a lot of bother from the devil and I didn't always get the best of him. But now when Satan rings, I just say, 'Lord Jesus, won't you answer the door?'"

At the Right Hand of God

The Apostles' Creed, which Christians in all lands know by heart, declares that Christ "sitteth at the right hand of God." By this the church has never meant that Jesus is spending eternity sitting down on a throne somewhere. What we mean is that Christ is not only alive on this small planet but that he lives and works with God. Just as in ancient times when a king held royal court, the seat on his right was reserved for his most trusted and most active personal representative, so Christ lives on in the presence of Eternal Power today, in ways that the heavenly glory hides from our sight. We dare not guess at all what he plans and does; but the Church is certain of one thing: he is praying for his people. "He ever liveth to make intercession for us." If it is a comfort to know of the prayers of any friend, how much more to know that the living Lord is praying for us! So on Easter Sunday the church sings—how can she help it? The flowers and the music are not to keep alive the memory of one who once upon a time rose again, but are in honor of one who lives now, in and above the church and the world.

EDITORIAL
Play Is Worthwhile

Corporations are about the safest victims for the tax to strike. Corporations can't strike back where it most—in the ballot box. So both fair play and good government often are ignored when it comes time to raise money in Austin this month.

Corporations are the best known method of concentrating the resources of a large number of people—rich and poor—into a single organization with enough capital to provide the machinery needed for modern mass production. To them seems more desirable to have a large number of people own these businesses than to have the government or a single wealthy individual owning them. Yet we tax business owned by hundreds of people much higher than we tax the same business owned by a single man or a few men. And if that business happens to be government financed we usually exempt it from many of the taxes which burden individuals.

When then if the corporation succeeds in making a profit it pays many extra taxes, those profits are taxed twice—once before the federal government, once before they can be divided among the owners, and again when the owners make out their personal tax returns. The first tax is over one-third the entire profit. The second depends upon how much each owner had that year.

It is not in keeping with the American tradition of fair play to treat one set of people differently than we treat others. Money for government needs to be raised by taxes on business, then it should apply equally to single proprietors, partnerships (that catches the Littlefield newspapers), firms, and corporations alike.

Fair play is worthwhile, even for those of us who are not less taxes because our stock owning friends are paying more than their share. The corporate form of business organization has played a very large part in raising the standard of living to a plane far above the rest of the world. So it is not only unfair but unwise to hang more on their chains everytime the legislature or the Congress convenes. We have already prevented the formation of thousands of corporations that would have been good for the country. We have bankrupt many more. And if we maintain our present attitude we will eventually destroy them all. So it is what the socialists are after, of course, because they have a perfect excuse for letting the government operate our factories. You and I don't think so. We are selfish and prefer to force someone else to bear the share of the taxes.

We hear a great deal about prayers for rain when it is perhaps now is a more appropriate time for prayer.

Who notifies the witness to come in and answer the questions. The Notary then reduces the answers to writing, executes his certificate that they were duly sworn to by the witness, and then returns the written interrogatories, together with the answers, to the Court for use at such time as they may be necessary in the trial of the case.

Another question sometimes asked is, "What is the difference between participating and non-participating royalty?"

With reference to oil and gas leases, royalty is that sum paid to the owner of the land, or the owner of the mineral interest, for the oil and gas which is taken from the property.

If in a deed a person reserves an undivided one-half (½) interest in and to all the oil, gas and other minerals in and under the premises conveyed, this means that the individual is retaining for himself an undivided one-half interest in the minerals.

This terminology would entitle the individual retaining the interest to a similar share in the royalty and bonus and rentals paid for oil and gas lease, and would require his signature on a lease of the whole tract of land.

If the deed reserves by proper provisions one-half (½) of the oil, gas and other minerals, and specifies that the interest shall be "non-participating", the party reserving the mineral interest would not share in the bonus money paid for the lease, or the annual lease money paid to keep the lease in force. He would however be entitled to his share of any of the payments for oil which is produced upon the property.

AUSTIN, Tex.—Most of Governor Allan Shivers' program passed through the legislative session with the greatest of ease.

There will be an increase of $402 per year in public school teachers' pay; state employees will get a salary increase of $120 per year; and $10,687,500 will be spent for state buildings.

Not only did the Legislature make those appropriations, it also passed a tax bill to raise the money.

To pay for the governors' program, the Legislature passed an increase in taxes on natural gas production, corporations, and beer.

Largest amount will come from gas, the levy being raised from 5.72 to 9 percent of well-head value, starting next September 1. This will bring an estimated $14 million per year. The tax will be reduced to 8 percent the second year and 7 per cent the third.

Increased from $1.25 to $2 per $1,000 of capital value was the franchise tax on corporations. This hike is expected to produce $8.6 million per year.

Beer taxes were raised from $1.37 to $2 a barrel and will bring in about $3 million more per year.

Near the end of the session, one of Shivers' proposals ran into trouble.

To a conference committee went a bill to outlaw Communists. The Senate refused to accept House amendments to the measure.

Senator Rogers Kelley, author of the bill, had a sharp verbal exchange with Senator W. H. Moore about the proposition.

Moore asked the presiding officer, Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey, a question on the voting, and Kelley said, "If you want to vote with the Communists, vote no."

"I'll put my patriotism up against your any day," Moore retorted.

"There will be order in the Senate," was Ramsey's order, and a sergeant-at-arms moved into the scene, which quieted when Kelley said he did not mean to reflect on any member.

Another snag was hit when Senator Jimmy Phillips "tagged" 18 appropriation bills, which means that a public hearing must be held on each.

Finance committee hearings were set on the bills Saturday morning, just three hours before the deadline on committee action for the special session.

Appropriations involved included buildings for the Waco, Gainessville and Gatesville state institutions, several state colleges, a probation system, the committee on alcoholism, and emergency grants for state agencies.

Producers who wish to sell gas to Panhandle farmers for irrigation pump fuel may do so, according to a bill passed late Friday night. The bill sailed through the House of Representatives Thursday with only one dissenting vote and was whipped through the Senate committee in record time. Final passage came during the late session Friday night when the lawmakers ordered themselves locked in to hold a quorum. The bill provides that anyone who sells gas to farmers for agricultural use is not to be placed under regulations as a public utility.

Several citizens in the drought-stricken Panhandle area will benefit from a bill passed by the House which creates a Green Belt municipal and industrial water authority serving those cities.

Author of the bill, which received a 112-to-one approval, was Representative Elbert Reeves of Matador. The cities affected are Childress, Clarendon, Hedley, Memphis and Quanah, all on U.S. highway 287 between Amarillo and Vernon and between Wellington and Paducah, and thirty miles north and south of Childress on U.S. 83. The House amended Reeves' bill to provide that the authority could not acquire or develop underground water. The authority would have the power to use ponds and could condemn property within its limits.

The Legislature also has created a water conservation district including the city limits of Nacoma.

False charges have been made against the Texas insurance industry, says Garland A. Smith, chairman of the Texas Board of Insurance Commissioners.

Smith referred particularly to reports printed in armed service publications that "thousands of Air Force personnel will suffer cash value losses in now defunct life insurance and endowment policies" from a Texas insurance company that recently went into receivership.

These reports are without foundation, said Smith in a telegram to Robert B. Anderson, undersecretary of defense.

Smith told Anderson that the company involved, United World Life of El Paso, sold only one policy to a member of the armed forces.

Texas, added Smith, could not have become the insurance capital of the world, with 1880 licensed companies and $15 billion of insurance in force if the states' insurance laws were not basically sound.

Senator Joseph McCarthy will be a San Jacinto Day speaker in Houston if he is "still alive" at that time, he has told Hugh Roy Cullen.

University of Texas students opposed the selection of McCarthy as a speaker and asked Cullen that the matter be reconsidered.

Signatures of 1,571 students were on the petition delivered to Cullen, Houston oil millionaire and philanthropist, by Bob Kenney, editor of the university newspaper, and Ronnie Dugger, a former editor.

C. Woodrow Laughlin, ousted district judge of Alice, has paid $3,075 in court costs resulting from the historical trial that brought about his removal.

Laughlin, elected to his position with the help of Duval county Boss George Pahh, lost the case when the Texas Supreme Court found that he improperly dismissed a grand jury that had indicted him, and that he feared would indict his brother, a Jim Wells county commissioner.

Another development in the South Texas strife occurred when the court of criminal appeals here refused the appeal of Mario (El Turko) Sapet from conviction and a 99 year sentence in the slaying of Jacob S. Floyd Jr. of Alice.

The Parr forces carried an election in Duval county last week—but not by the margin to which they have been accustomed in former years.

Orders went out from Department of Public Safety headquarters to start enforcement of the automobile inspection law immediately after the April 15 deadline.

Many thousands of vehicles had been inspected as the deadline approached, and a last Auto owners missing the deadline are subject to a $200 fine.

Modified this year, the car inspection law is concerned only with lights, brakes, horn and windshield wipers.

State politicians were beginning to crank up for the campaigns designed to get votes in the Democratic primaries in July and August.

At the moment, the Senate race is drawing considerable Johnson has a definite opponent in Representative Dudley Doughmode his race official by paying the $625 filing fee to Wallace Savage of Dallas, State Democratic chairman.

Coke R. Stevenson Jr. also was mentioned as another possible candidate. The now is administrator of the Texas Liquor Control Board. It was Stevenson's father who was defeated by Senator Johnson in the much publicized race six years ago. Austin friends of the junior Stevenson revealed that he had been approached about making the race this year.

Thomas Evans Riddle, one of the last five survivors of the Civil War, died at the Texas Confederate Home for Men last week. The attending physician said that death was caused by the "accumulative infirmities of old age." He was 107 years old.

There now are only four remaining veterans of the War Between the States. Walter W. Williams 111 is another Texas veteran of that war. He lives on a farm near Franklin, Tex. Williams, a sprightly 111 years of age, appeared in Austin

Texans In Washington

By Tex Easley
AP Special Washington Service
 WASHINGTON, (AP) — The 24-man Texas congressional delegation is reported ready to line up behind President Eisenhower, with possibly a few exceptions on extending the Reciprocal Trade Act.

Burris C. Jackson of Hillsboro, chairman of both the Texas State Wide Cotton Committee and the American Cotton Congress, has been here scouting the situation and comes up with the forecast that Congress will extend the Act two or three years. It expires June 30.

"It ought to be extended at least five years," he added, "but a lot of opposition in the Republican ranks may defeat that long an extension."

"I don't think more than a couple of our Texas members would vote against extension."

He declined to mention any names.

Asked for comment on the strength of opposition from ranks of those representing oil and wool, coal, zinc and lead producing districts which has felt economic setbacks from competition of imports, Jackson said:

"They're going to give some trouble, but not enough to block an extension of the Act because in the long run it benefits them along with the nation as a whole."

"As for Texas and the South, where cotton is the dominant cash crop, expanded world trade is absolutely vital."

Jackson and Aubrey Lockett, banker and gin operator at eVron, have been here with an advisory committee conferring with Agriculture, State and Commerce Department officials about governmental policies affecting the cotton industry.

"In my opinion the Randall Commission report to President Eisenhower calling for lower tariffs and expanded world trade should be adopted," Jackson continued.

Richie Ashburn of the Phillies topped National League outfielders in putouts during the 1953 season with 496.

NEWS ABOUT THE Farm

From The County Agent's Office

What do you think about planting April cotton? We are being asked this question more often than any other at this time of the year.

Here is what the Texas Experimental Station at Lubbock has found out from experiments on cotton:

High Plains rainfall has averaged 18.77 inches per year over the 41-year period in which records has been maintained at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock. Approximately 82 percent of the total annual rainfall comes from April thru October. Distribution can be of more importance than the total amount of rainfall received. There are two rainfall peaks during the year. The first comes in May, the second in September. In four years out of ten the rainfall received in September amounts to more than three inches. Irrigation water should supplement the annual rainfall to insure a good yield of high quality cotton each year.

The High Plains area around Lubbock has a normal frost-free season of 211 days. The average dates for killing frosts are April 6 in the spring and November 4 in the fall.

The cotton plant follows a definite pattern in its growth habits. The time which will elapse from planting to emergence will vary, but after the crop has come up and plant growth begins, the cotton plant developed in a well ordered manner. The information here should be used as standard limits for the varieties of cotton grown in this area. Early or late maturing varieties will vary between the upper and lower limits as set up in this article. This information applies only to crops which are developing normally and are not beset by outside influences such as insects, diseases, drought or nutrient deficiency.

1. From emergence to first square normally requires 30 days.
2. From first square to white bloom requires 20-25 days.
3. From white bloom to open boll will vary between 45 and 65 days.
4. Under normal conditions cotton should reach a stage of maturity in 150-155 days from emergence so as not to be severely damaged by frost.
5. Fiber strength is determined during the first portion of boll development.
6. Fiber strength is developed during the last portion of boll development.
7. After September 1, only a very small percentage of blooms make bolls of mature cotton.
8. July 20 to August 10 is the most effective fruiting period for cotton planted around May 15 in the Lubbock area.
9. In this area of short growing season, the grower should strive to set and hold a maximum number of the early squares and blooms.

Cotton can be planted over a wide range of dates in this area, from last April to the middle of June. The best planting dates

(1) Assume 60 percent emergence are from May 10 to May 20. If at all possible June planting should be avoided in this area so that the danger of being caught by early frost will be lessened.

Soil temperatures are often too low for good planting conditions in April or early May; but after the soil warms up so that the variation between daytime and nighttime temperatures becomes relatively narrow, germination will be higher and stand more uniform. The best soil temperature for cotton germination is about 80 degrees F. Early planted cotton is more difficult to get up to a stand; is exposed to climatic hazards for a longer period; and weed control is more difficult. When all risks are considered, there is question in justifying early planting for the few days of earliness gained at the end of the season.

Cotton yields under irrigation are not influenced greatly by the spacing of plants within the row. Cotton probably will yield the same amount of lint per acre on a stand of three inches between plants or twelve inches between plants. Because the mechanical cotton harvester operates better on a fairly thick, uniform stand of plants, planting rates should be heavy enough to give a stand of about three to four inches between plants.

To obtain a stand of a certain spacing, plant the proper number of seed. It is seldom that more than 60 percent of the seed planted ever produce a growing plant. There are approximately 4,500 seed per pound for any of the standard varieties of cotton grown on the High Plains. This will not vary more than 10 percent for any of the standard varieties in this area.

Quantity of Cotton Seed Required to Give Desired Plant Spacing in 40-Inch Rows

Therefore, according to the above table, in order to get certain spacing, a corresponding amount of seed must be planted. This table is based on 60 percent germination. Planting rates should be increased to obtain the desired stand if planting seed are of poor quality.

As a rule, 24 to 28 pounds of good quality seed per acre will give a uniform stand of cotton which is adapted to efficient mechanical harvesting.

Cotton can make good use of water within a wide range of limits. The plant, however, makes better use of water during certain stages of growth than it does at other times.

The grower of cotton under irrigation on the plains of Texas should consider the pre-planting application as the most important. This application should be made early in the year when the land is easiest to water, evaporation losses are low, and there is no transpiration loss. The water stored deep in the soil plant root zone is the moisture that sustains the crop during hot, dry weather in July and August.

Penetration is highly important if the irrigator is to do a good job. It is extremely important that the pre-planting irrigation be adequate to store the maximum amount of moisture in the plant root zone. Penetration should be three to five feet, depending upon the depth of the soil.

Vic Vet says

HERE'S ANOTHER REMINDER FOR POST-KOREA VETERANS WHO WERE DISCHARGED BEFORE AUGUST 20, 1953, AND WHO PLAN TO BEGIN KOREA GI BILL TRAINING. THEY HAVE ONLY UNTIL AUGUST 20, 1954 TO START THEIR TRAINING.

Cotton makes light demands for water during the first sixty days of its growing period. The demand for moisture becomes heavy when the first blooms appear. Heavy water requirements usually begin about the middle of July, and continue to increase rapidly until all the available moisture has been utilized. This sharp demand on available moisture coincides with the peak fruiting period of July 20 to August 10. The soil must provide an adequate supply of soil moisture at this period or yields will be materially reduced.

On most soils the practice of filling the soil reservoir before planting will provide enough moisture to carry the plant in a healthy, vigorous condition until the critical period occurs at the time of blooming. At the time this moisture stress period occurs an application of water may be made so that the plant will have sufficient moisture to set a maximum load of bolls.

From this point onward the plant should harden off and mature the bolls which will be set at this time. Under normal conditions the grower should plan to complete the final irrigation, preferably by August 15 but not later than the last week in August. Late irrigations will delay maturity and reduce yields.

The irrigator should remember that several days will elapse from the time water is applied to the first rows until the field is completely irrigated. This period may be as long as two weeks, depending on the quantity of water available, number of acres to be irrigated, and amount of appearance of the cotton. Valuable clues may be obtained regarding plant needs before severe shortage of moisture is evident.

You may obtain a copy of "Irrigation Cotton on Southern High Plains" from the office. This bulletin has very useful tables that are used by the farmers in the county.

New strength and stamina! Lower upkeep costs!

New Chevrolet Trucks...

do more work per day... more work per dollar!

You save hours on the road. Thanks to new high-compression engine power, you can maintain faster schedules without driving at higher maximum road speeds. Increased acceleration and hill-climbing ability let you save time where it counts.

You save time on deliveries. With new truck Hydra-Matic transmission, you save valuable time at every delivery stop. And you can forget about clutching and shifting for good! It's optional at extra cost on 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton Chevrolet trucks.

You save extra trips. That's because of the extra load space you get in the new Advance-Design bodies. New pickup bodies are deeper... new stake and platform bodies are wider and longer. Also, they're set lower to make loading easier.

You save with lower upkeep, too. Extra chassis strength saves you money on maintenance. For example, there are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models... bigger clutches in light- and heavy-duty models... stronger frames in all models.

You save on operating costs. High-compression power saves you money every mile! The "Thriftmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235" and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost) deliver increased operating economy.

And your savings start the day you buy. In fact, they start with the low price you pay—and continue over the miles. Chevrolet is America's lowest-priced line of trucks. And it's also the truck that has a traditionally higher trade-in value.

Come in and see all the wonderful new things you get in America's number one truck. We'll be glad to give you all the money-saving facts.

Japan Calling! Amateur Radio Man Links Servicemen With Families

By Daniel J. Marsion
 AP Newsfeatures

SEATTLE — Sometimes it's a young mother pinching her baby so the father, far across the sea, can hear . . .
 Or a child at Santa Ana, Calif. A dangerous polio case. "Hello, Daddy, I'm all right."
 Or a call from a soldier in Japan about a father at home who'd just had a critical heart attack. His mother was reached on a 'phone in a hospital hallway.

A cancer case. The young sailor's mother was dying.
 "Sometimes — well, we're all crying, and that includes my wife and myself, too," says amateur radio operator Gene Erckenbrack.

Erckenbrack estimates that in one year, his station, WTVY, and M. Sgt. Harry Brooks', station, KA4SV, Itami, Japan, arranged and transmitted 3,000 such calls between servicemen and their families.
 Now another man has succeeded Sergeant Brooks at his Itami post.

A year ago Erckenbrack was trying to call to a station in Japan and an Army officer there asked if he could help in getting a call through to his family in New Orleans.

Erckenbrack got the call thru. And then, with earphones against a microphone, the officer and his family were able to talk after a fashion.

Erckenbrack got the call thru. And then, with earphones against a microphone, the officer and his family were able to talk after a fashion.

GENE ERCKENBRACK operates his amateur radio station

But Erckenbrack decided that wasn't satisfactory. He arranged a "phone patch" to tie a telephone directly into his short wave transmitter and receiver.

His transmissions works for one-way conversations, with one person talking a while, saying "Over," and then there's a switch and the other person can talk. He has to listen in for the change-overs.

He finds he frequently gets "through" when commercial telephone calls fail.

He averages handling eight to a dozen phone calls a night. The best times vary with the seasons.

Promptly at 7 p.m. however, he goes off the air because his broadcasting interferes with TV sets in the vicinity, a situation he's trying to correct.

His calls to people over the United States to tell them that Japan is calling them "are never refused." "But sometimes I forget to make them collect, and they're charged to my phone bill."

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Marine Corps Recruiting Station here recently received a card from "LARRY Gwyn III, NEW orleans (street) Brinkley, Ark." To all the questions, the card was dutifully marked "No."

Plant Tomatoes Close Together To Discourage Leaf Hoppers

By Dr. George Elle
Professor of Horticulture,
Texas Tech

Curly top, a disease which causes leaves to curl and harden and finally destroys the plant has lowered tomato production in this area so much that many gardeners have become discouraged and no longer try to grow them.

Until about 10 years ago tomatoes were one of the surest crops in the area. About the only problem was "wilt", as it was known then. Wilt resistant varieties were developed to overcome the hazard. Four or five years ago, however, gardeners began to notice that, about one month after tomato plants were transplanted into the field, the leaves of some began to yellow and about a week later the plant was dead.

This was caused by "curly top," a relatively new disease. Where "wilt" caused the leaves to droop, curly top causes them to curl and harden. The disease is caused by a virus carried in the body of the leaf hopper, a common insect in West Texas, which over-winters in the area. In the summer it feeds on tumble weed and other common plants making it almost impossible to irradiate.

Control of the insect is complicated. To date, no completely successful method has been discovered. The leaf hopper must feed on a plant in order to inoculate it. DDT and other insecticides used now act slowly, and the hopper lights, feeds, and goes on to the next plant the next, and several more, before the insecticide kills it. DDT takes 24 hours to than anything else tried as yet. Attention to cultural methods also helps combat curly top. The leaf hopper loves the sun and avoids shade. It is the isolated plant most often attacked. If plants are set closer together than normal—12-inch spaces in the row are recommended—they will tend to shade each other. This method also will insure an adequate stand in case some plants are lost.

Plenty of commercial fertilizer or barnyard manure and sufficient irrigation will support rapid early growth which seemingly tends to discourage the hopper.

Plains gardeners often have a second problem in growing tomatoes. Many will complain that their plants look fine in mid-summer but don't bear. Most tomato varieties do not set fruit when the temperature is 90 degrees or above. Big vigorous transplants, set out early in the spring (from April 15 to May 1) and cultivated for rapid growth will give the plants a chance to bloom and set their fruit before the arrival of hot weather. Fruit will set with the coming of cold weather in the fall, but it is often caught by frost before maturity.

Some tomato varieties exhibit some resistance to high temperatures. Among these are the Porter strains, Firesteel, Western Reds, Red Cloud and others. All these varieties, however, are relatively low in quality and lack resistance to disease. Better production usually is attained by planting the high quality, disease resistant strains.

Superstitious Navy Goat Becomes Bill XIV

By Charles Puffenbarger
AP Newsfeatures

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—The identity of Navy's famous Billy the Goat has finally been straightened out.

The odorous gentleman known since 1947 as Billy XII is now officially Billy XIV.

Vice Adm. C. Turner, U. S. Naval Academy superintendent, says the goat "has been officially redesignated Bill XIV at his own request."

"Navy goats exercise certain broad prerogatives," says Adm. Joy. "Bill has not advanced any reasons for his request and it would not be appropriate for us to question him, but the consensus is that he does not want his successor to wear the number 13."

And Navy publicist, John T. Cox confirms that ex-Billy XII, now XIV, is not really a Texan of angora descent, but a blue-gray herd goat, "possibly of Nor-

New Jobs for Texans

Texas industries have been providing new jobs... Texas at the rate of about 70,000 a year. That's about 200 new jobs every day.

All kinds of jobs... in offices, on construction work, in manufacturing plants, in the development of the natural resources of the State. Jobs for riggers, for secretaries, for engineers, for truck drivers, for accountants, for lawyers, for crane operators, for decorators, for sailors... all kinds of jobs.

And the reason why these new jobs have been, and continue to be available is this: Texas industry is expanding, and industry makes jobs.

On the average, each new job created in Texas requires the investment of $12,000 capital*. Thus, Texas industry invests over three-quarters of a billion dollars each year in new plants and in plant expansion to create 70,000 new Texas jobs.

Much of this annual investment in new jobs for Texans is made by the oil industry itself and industries which depend on oil and natural gas for fuel and raw materials. Every year a wider variety of industries put to profitable use a larger number of the resources of the State, and call on a broader assortment of available Texas skills.

Forecasters predict an even greater industrial development in Texas, and an even larger number of new jobs, as more industries recognize the advantages that Texas offers: good markets, raw and manufactured resources, trustworthy and dependable people, efficient and abundant fuel, a mild climate, and a good state government... In that list of advantages, the Texas oil industry provides raw materials for processing, and the world's finest industrial fuel—natural gas.

*In the oil industry, the required investment for each new job is over $50,000.

Rice Tiger Parfait

INGREDIENTS:

White Layer:
 1 cup hot cooked rice
 1 envelope gelatin
 1/4 cup milk
 1/2 cup beet or cane sugar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup whipping cream

Dark Layer:
 1 cup cooked rice
 1 cup milk
 2 tablespoons cocoa
 1/4 cup beet or cane sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon vanilla

QUICK METHOD FOR COOKING FLUFFY WHITE RICE:
 To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1 cup uncooked rice, 2 cups cold water and 1 teaspoon salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.
3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn heat off. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice warm if you are not ready to use it immediately.

For extra fluffy, tender, separate grains—allow the rice to steam for an additional 10 minutes—with heat off, but without removing lid.

METHOD: To make the white layer, soak gelatin in milk for 5 minutes. Use a bowl which is large enough to hold the rice and the whipped cream. Add the hot cooked rice. Add the sugar and salt and mix well. Let cool. When cold, fold in the cream which has been whipped until stiff. Chill until firm.

To make the dark layer, heat the milk in a double boiler. Add the cocoa, sugar and salt. Add to the rice and milk mixture. Cook until thick, stirring constantly, about 35 minutes. The mixture will become thicker upon cooling. Stir in the vanilla. Chill. To assemble the parfait, be sure to allow both mixtures to become chilled. Layer the light and dark rice mixtures in parfait glasses, as illustrated. Chill until ready to serve. Serve topped with whipped cream and cherries, if desired.

This recipe makes 4 parfaits. Another delightful idea for a rice parfait is to layer sweet fresh strawberries or thawed frozen strawberries in the parfait glasses with the above white layer used in the Tiger Parfait. Other fruits, sweetened to taste, may also be used. This dessert may be served in sherbert glasses or other dessert dishes. If parfait glasses are not available.

SPORT SHOTS

Before criticizing the basketball rules committee for making the newest change—giving a second shot on free throws if the first one is made instead of giving it if the first is missed—consider the fouling problem.

Basketball is a Frankenstein. It has reached the point where apparently nothing can be done to cut down on rough play and stalling.

The rules committee is doing all it can. It is having to experiment with small hope that it can accomplish its objective by making the foul more costly. The men who coach the game and make its rules wonder if they'll ever work it out.

Last season there was the one-and-one rule. If the player missed the first free throw he got another chance in the first 37 minutes of the game. In the final three minutes he got two shots on any foul.

There was wide discontent with the rule. The coaches and fans said this was rewarding poor effort instead of penalizing it. So they change the rule to give a second shot if the first one is made. In that way, they claimed, the player would be rewarded for doing well.

4. Good evidences of personal growth.

Others attending the state meeting will include the voting delegates from both senior and junior high chapters—Sherry Pace, vice-president of the senior high chapter and Jean Jaquess, treasurer of the junior high chapter. Representatives other than voting delegates are Virginia Rogers, Sophomore representative to the FHA executive council and Sue Jones, junior high degree chairman.

Littlefield's skit "Brownie With the Light Blue Jeans" a Spike Jones pantomime by Karen Williams, Joanne Wright, Patricia Smith, Mary Cameron, Dolores Hiebert, will be one of the ten talent numbers presented on "Panorama of Ideas" on Friday night, April 23, in the Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum. This number will represent Area I, the largest FHA area in Texas made up of 153 affiliated FHA chapters. The theme of the panorama is "Families Together" showing the girls in the Littlefield skit, dress as members of a hillbilly family.

Accompanying these girls will be Mrs. T. J. Jones and Miss Becky Pace. Sponsors, and a club mother, Mrs. Jack Christian.

The one-and-one rule was aimed at cutting down on fouling and also furnishing the defensive team the opportunity to get the ball. It was thought that the team behind wouldn't foul deliberately in an effort to get the ball when the penalty was higher, which was a false premise. The team behind had no hope of catching up unless it got the ball, so it fouled just as much as it ever had.

The one-and-one eliminated the team with the ball taking it out of bounds instead of shooting, thus cutting down on stalling, because now the team without the ball has a better chance to get it after fouling.

What will the new rule mean? Undoubtedly it will mean higher scores because there will be more free throws made. Statistics show that 60 per cent of free throw attempts are made. Under the old rule only 60 per cent of them were made through the two-shot provision. Now there's a chance to make 100 per cent since you get a second shot even if you make the first.

It will mean that there'll be more practice on the first free throw lane. The team with the crack free throw shooters will make more points. Under the old rule a player could get one point except in the final three minutes when he had a cinch two shots on a foul.

But it's not going to cut down on the fouling and the rules committee must continue to seek out means of doing it. Meanwhile the players are going to get a bonus for being good players, which adds only to the offense, takes away from the defense.

Bill Henderson of Baylor, member of the rules committee of the Southwest Conference, wants the conference to make a film that will help clear up the toughest decision in basketball—determining who should get the foul on the guarding of dribblers.

Awards Go to the Dogs

AP Newsfeatures
NAMES MAKE NEWS—Audrey Hepburn calls her French poodle "Oscar" and "Toni". The Academy Award she won for her role in "Roman Holiday" is called an "Oscar." She also won the Antonette Perry (Toni) Award for her stage performance in "Ondine."

This is the major trouble for the official. How often have you heard the crowd boo when the player carrying the ball down the court is fouled after a collision with a defensive man? The man with the ball has the right of way to any territory if he gets there first, says the rules. But the question is always who gets there first? Officials have different ideas about it. In a collapsing defense, is the collapse going too slow for the dribbler to avoid him, is he too close when he makes a move that causes the dribbler to plow into him? Henderson thinks a picture would give the officials a standard idea. Abb Curtis, supervisor of officials of the Southwest Conference, says all the coaches would have to get together and make the film themselves by setting up the situations and agreeing on what is a foul and is not. It would cost considerable money and take considerable time. Local FHA Members Will Receive State Degrees

Misses Doris Byrd and Wanda Webb have been recommended to have state Future Homemakers of America degrees conferred upon them at the state meeting in Fort Worth April 23.

Both girls have been outstanding students in all their high school work as well as in club and community activities. Some comments made by the committee judging their degree work were:

1. Excellent goals—information included shows that goals were reached.
2. Records show that activities in FHA were varied and very excellent. Activities were well described.
3. Materials were neat and well organized.
