A PROSPEROUS NATION

This has been the biggest year in the automobile business since before the depression began. More cars have been made and sold, and the manufacturers, who keep their ears pretty close to the ground, are unanimous in their expectations of making and selling still more cars during the coming year.

Any way you look at it, whether you regard the automobile as a necessity, a luxury or a menace, the facts about the motor industry don't tally with the notion that we are a bankrupt and starving nation. Quite the opposite is the fact. Because few of us have as much surplus as we did a few years ago, and hardly any of us has as good an income, we have fallen into a habit of thinking that we, the people of the United States, are very badly off indeed. It is hardly necessary to go farther than the facts about the automobile business to demonstrate the utter falsity of the doctrine promulgated by the Jeremiahs who are shedding gloomy tears over the perilous state of the nation.

As Professor Einstein might express it, it is all a matter of relativity. It is true that we are not as well off, on the whole, as we were in 1928. But we are better off, by comparison with the people of all the rest of the world, than we were then. They have faced and are still facing harder conditions than we have ever dreamed of, and none of them, so far as anybody knows, is as definitely on the way back as we are in America.

It seems probable that the United States will continue as a going concern for some time to come.

MISS EDNA GEISTMAN AND HERBERT DOLLE WED IN DOUBLE RING CEREMONY

The marriage of Miss Edna Geistman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Geistman and Herbert Dolle, son of Mrs. Ben Dolle, was solemnized here Tuesday morning, November 5, at 9 o'clock at the Sacred Heart Church.

The beautiful double ring ceremony was performed by Father Clinton under an archway of white and silver, at the base of which stood tall baskets of large white chrysanthemums. The altar was banked with ferns, chrysanthemums, and marigolds.

Preceding the ceremony Max Bishop of Littlefield sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Roger Willett of Amherst. During the ceremony Mr. Bishop also sang "Ave Maria." Mrs. Willett also played the wedding marches, the processional from "Lohengrin" and the recessional by "Mendelssohn."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown fashioned with a long train, and a softly draped cowl neckline. The full sleeves, tight fitting from elbow to wrist, were buttoned in a point over the hand. Her bridal illusion veil fell from a lace cap caught at the sides with orange blossoms. Silver slippers completed her costume. She carried an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Attending the bride were: Miss Leona Geistman, sister of the bride, maid of honor; Miss Laverne Sullivan of Temple, and Miss Rita Yohner, Littlefield, bridesmaids; Little Mary Helen Bruce, niece of the bride, and Billie June Cheshier were flower girls.

The maid of honor wore a bagdad blue crepe gown with high princess collar, with shirred front and large sleeves of matching lace. The bridesmaids wore brown and rust satin gowns, with tucked in front shirt-waist style, skirts pleated at sides, and full sleeves gathered in at cuffs. They all wore chrysanthemum corsages and chaplets in their hair tied with transparent velvet ribbon to match their dresses. The flower girls wore blue and peach satin dresses, also made shirt-waist style with full sleeves. They wore contrasting ribbons in their hair.

Mr. Roy Lee Dolle, brother of the groom, was best man. Herbert Engbrock, Rosebud, Texas, cousin of the groom, and Rudolph Jilek, Littlefield, were groomsmen.

After the ceremony relatives and a few close friends of the family were served an old fashioned southern dinner. The table was centered with a beautiful white wedding cake decorated in pink and green. White tapers in silver holders burned at each side of the cake.

Following a short honeymoon in points in New Mexico the couple are now at home southeast of Littlefield.

Out of town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Will Krause, Cameron, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kosel, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Green, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Green, Miss Laverne Sullivan, all of Temple; Herbert Engbrock of Rosebud, and a number of relatives and friends from Pep and Amherst.

Don't Guess But Know

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—and see that you get what you want.

Campaign Underway To Outlaw War

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 14.—A Campaign to gather 1,000,000 peace signatures was inaugurated on Armistice Day, November 11, by the World Peace Federation in cooperation with 20,000 churches, Y. M. C. A.'s, universities, women's clubs and service clubs, Francis Lederer, screen star and president of the peace organization has announced.

The signatures, added to the hundreds of thousands already gathered by the World Peace Federation, will be utilized by that body to convince the governments of all countries that the people want to vote on the question "Should war be outlawed as a means of settling international disputes?"

The World Peace Federation's balanced over the possibility of another great war," Lederer said in making the announcement. "If all of the people could express themselves to their governments, there would never again be a war. These peace ballots comprise the first step in giving the people opportunity of voting against the bloodshed and horror of war."

The World Peace Federation's ballot reads "I am in accord with the aim of the World Peace Federation to outlaw war by nation-wide popular vote in every country." There are branches of the organization in every country and the campaign to add 1,000,000 peace signatures will be world-wide in scope.

The film star, who served as a soldier in the last war and who vowed then that he would do everything in his power to aid in averting another war, is the founder of the World Peace Federation and provides all of its financial support.

MEDICAL TOPICS

BACKSTRAIN

Backstrain or Lumbago as it is frequently called is a very painful condition usually occurring in the lower part of the back. Many people think this condition is due to kidney disease, — this however, is seldom true. — It is usually due to lifting heavy objects or to arthritis of the spine. — Focal infections may also play a part in the cause of this condition. Treatment should be directed in relieving the pain by the use of drugs and heat over the affected area and limiting motion by tightly strapping the back.

A thorough physical examination should always be made and in certain cases x-ray pictures are necessary in order to arrive at a correct diagnosis as to the cause of the pain.

Divorce Court Murder—

course without the bonds," the matron replied. "Garrett had a pawn ticket in his pocket that gave away his own name and address. The police went there the same night and found the Trent girl in bed and held her. Only a little of the loot from the Chanley and Ordway robberies was hidden there; but still, it was enough to implicate her.

"I suppose the police found a way to make her talk about Garrett's confederate?" asked Rankin.

"She did it without force, almost eagerly, she was so bitter, as if she hated him for leading her man astray. She told his name, where he lived, where he kept the rest of the booty."

"What happened when they went after the other thief?" Rankin asked eagerly.

Mrs. Anderson hesitated and shook her head. "I'm not certain whether he was captured or not. I was only concerned with Miss Trent's story and didn't follow up later developments. You can learn about him from the Fort Wayne police."

"I'll see them shortly," the detective promised. "And Miss Trent, as she was then, served her sentence?"

"Naturally," the woman returned uncompromisingly. "After all she must have helped the robbers in some way; and it was shown she sold a few articles for household expenses. Besides, she had lived with Garrett for over a year, but could produce no marriage license. And she was pregnant. The court had no choice in sentencing her, since she admitted her guilt and offered no defense."

Rankin nodded. "Now with regard to her baby? What can you tell me about that?"

"There isn't much to tell, Mr. Rankin. It was a girl. And it died, as it states here, within three days."

"Young Garrett was the father, I suppose? There's not much doubt about that?"

"Yes, his name went on the birth certificate."

"And what caused the baby's death?" Rankin inquired.

"Convulsions. It was after her delivery that Ellen Trent began to suffer from headaches and needed regular treatment in the hospital. Miss Stafford could say more about that than I; she was the matron who attended her. Later she was transferred to the charge of the corridor in this building where Ellen was a prisoner."

"Then I had better speak to her," the detective said. "If they had much contact, she should know more intimate details about her than these formal records give. Especially, if she won her confidence."

"I'll get hold of her at once; she has charge of the cells again."

The superintendent pressed a buzzer at the side of her desk, summoning to the office door a slatternly prisoner in gray. Through the iron bars, she ordered her to summon Miss Stafford, and the woman shuffled away.

A few minutes later the matron appeared in the corridor, and her superior pressed another button; a click unlocked the door, permitting her to enter. She was surprisingly different from Mrs. Anderson, or from what Rankin expected, though just as efficient-looking. Revealing little of the hardness that inevitably develops from dealing with incorrigibles and delinquents, her eyes were deep and understanding and her chin firm but gentle. She was about thirty-five, and she had smooth, brown hair and a soft voice.

"You really think Miss Trent was

LOCALS VICTORY OVER LEVELLAND REVIVES HOPES

Should Levelland Beat Olton, Cats Would Re-Enter Race

The Littlefield High Wildcats played to a 7-7 tie with the Levelland High Lobos Monday, November 11, in a fast and exciting game. However, to avoid having to play a tie if there happened to be a tie, the officials agreed before the game to award the game to the team which had penetrated its opponent's 20 yard-line the most number of times. Eventually the game came out in a tie, and the Littlefield Wildcats won the game by penetration, 3-2.

That is, Littlefield penetrated the 20 yard-line three times while Levelland penetrated only two times. Littlefield still leaves Littlefield a chance to win the championship of the District B-5, if Levelland defeats Olton in its game with the Mustangs next. If such a thing should happen, it would then throw the championship race into a three-way tie. Levelland, Littlefield, and Olton each having won three games and lost one. This would make a playoff necessary, and leave Littlefield a shot at the championship.

In the game on Armistice, Littlefield outplayed Levelland for the first three quarters of the game, being up three penetrations and scoring points. The entire first half was aimless. Littlefield threatening to score only once. That was toward the end of the second quarter. Levelland did not even penetrate the 20 yard line during the first two periods.

The third quarter started off with a bang, the teams playing about evenly matched football. Toward the end of the period, however, when Littlefield was deep in their own territory, Foust caught a pass on his own 35 yard line, and with beautiful blocking by Brantley, ran 65 yards for a touchdown, the most beautiful play of the day. McKnight kicked the extra point, and the third quarter ended with the score 7-0 in favor of Littlefield.

Although Foust made a sensational run, Captain Brantley deserves a lot of the credit for carrying a mighty nice piece of blocking and carving the way for the Wildcats.

The Wildcats held the Lobos aimless for three periods, and did not score themselves, but in the fourth quarter, they couldn't hold their ragging pack, and the quarter was over.

About the middle of the period, Levelland gained to the 10 yard line on power plays, and on a fake end run and spinner play, Alvey went over to score. The try for the extra point was good and the score was tied, 7-7. During the remainder of the quarter, Levelland penetrated the 20 yard line, but failed to score, and the game was awarded to Littlefield on penetration 3 and 2.

Amherst Pep Squad Plans Banquet For Football Players

The biggest and best Pep squad Amherst has had is rooting regularly for their football team, and making a grand showing.

The girls have uniforms this year for the first time, and this has helped the spirit of the girls immensely. The uniforms are composed of white blouses, with blue capes lined with white satin, and they are quite attractive. Miss Mace Vaughter is their leader, and does a very good job. The girls are planning strongly on a banquet for the football players on Thanksgiving, and hope to make the affair a success.

Anton Wins Over Friendship 14-0

Anton, Texas, Nov. 13.—(Special to the Leader)—With power centering around a small but aggressive team, the Anton backs ran for a total of 315 yards while their opponents from Friendship HI were unable to pick up ninety-two yards from scrimmage in a football game here Friday, that ended in a 14-0 score for the home team. The 14 points were made in the first half by line plays and end runs. Anton was only forced to punt on one occasion. All of the squad took part in this last home game for the locals.

that they were familiar with until this year, when football was introduced into the athletic department.

Morton Heads Class C Football Race

The Class C football race of this district is making an immense success of its first year of existence. With but one more week to go, the teams now rank in the following order:

- MORTON
- SPRINGLAKE.
- MULESHOE.
- AMHERST.
- ANTON.

Although Amherst does not rank so high on the list, its spirit is of the best, and they always play their best game, whenever and wherever they are. After the close of the football race, all of the schools will open basketball practice. Although no definite arrangement has been made as regards a league in the class C district for basketball, the teams will play practice games anyway, and they are trying to get such a league organized.

The girls of Amherst high are already practicing basketball, and have a practice game matched with Sudan next Friday. With 18 members in the squad, they have hopes of a very good team this year for the first time in a good while. Led by their captain, Miss Mace Vaughter, they are getting into the spirit of the game early.

National Education Week Nov. 11-17 Is Being Sponsored

Three very important organization Week November 11 to 17. The National Education Association, the United States Office of Education and the American Legion testify to the importance of Education by sponsoring this week when all Americans are requested to give special attention to their schools. The local post of the American Legion has requested the citizenship of Littlefield to assist in making this week a success.

It has been requested that each person in the community be given an opportunity to read "The School and Democracy." The important passage is as follows:

"The free common school is America's greatest gift to humanity. It belongs to the heritage of intelligent and responsible citizenship established by our pioneering forefathers. It is necessary to the success of our republic. The school is the surest guarantee of our personal rights. It is the safeguard of our political liberties. It is the bulwark of our representative institutions. The school seeks to enrich and enables home life. It develops the skills needed in agriculture and industry. It helps to awaken ambition and establish character. It emphasizes responsibility to the common good and the general welfare. The free school is an expression of a mighty faith. Because we believe in ourselves, in our democracy, and in the future, we seek through the schools to improve the quality of our lives."

This week has been set aside as a "Visit Your School Week." The local schools are making special preparation to receive visitors during this period. Wednesday and Thursday of the above mentioned week are the days you are asked to visit your school. See your child in action in the school room. Meet the teacher and learn more about your schools.

BRAKE ADJUSTMENT IS MADE VERY EASY

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-las'. My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." . . . If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

The New 1936 Terraplane Sedan

Terraplane for 1936 Now on Display at Vinther Motor Co.

Completely new and more modern than ever in appearance, more luxurious in style, and with a wealth of engineering development, the new Terraplanes for 1936 are here and are on display at Vinther Motor Company showroom floor. Not only do the new cars attain entirely new standards of beauty, but they incorporate safety engineering features to a degree never before found in automobile chassis and bodies. In addition, there are a number of innovations of a fundamental nature which no cars have ever had before. Although these cars are still in the lowest price field, they are much bigger and finer than their predecessors of the same make. Of interest from a safety, as well as comfort standpoint, is the wholly new principle, Radial Safety Control, which makes possible greater safety in riding, steering, and stopping. So marked a difference does this new front end system incorporate in the riding qualities of the car that the manufacturers of the Terraplane have given the name, Rhythmic Ride, to the result of the synchronized and unified suspension system.

This new front end system also introduces Tru-line steering, bringing a new road sense to the steering wheel because of the accurate control of the steering system, regardless of road condition. Another new feature is the Duo-Automatic hydraulic brakes which incorporate a big husky hydraulic system with the double safety factor of an automatic reserve brake of the rotary-equalized mechanical type.

On the bodies, which have one-fifth more room inside than many cars selling at double the price, is the automatic draft eliminator—a feature added to Terraplane's all-year ventilation system which automatically equalizes air pressure inside and outside the car and screens the air entering the body in connection with the ventilating system.

Mounted on a full 115 inch wheelbase and equipped with an 88 horsepower engine, and 100 horsepower available optionally, the car is not only roomier, but is capable of maintaining the reputation that Terraplane has established for performance. This car carries on the tradition of the models which have broken AAA records for speed, economy and hill climbing, all over the country. The bodies are all of steel, having a steel floor, steel roof and a complete steel structure throughout. The Electric Hand which was introduced on the Terraplane last year for smoother, safer, faster, gear-shifting, is optional on all models. The Terraplane is made in two series—Deluxe and Custom. A full line of bodies being available in either series.

In the bodies extra leg room, elbow room and shoulder room, has been provided. The sedans are full six-passenger capacity with seats three inches wider front and rear than those normally considered standard. The seats are 50 inches wide in front and 49 inches in the rear. At shoulder and elbow height, 56 inches of width is provided above the arm rest, and because of the three inch longer wheelbase, more leg room is provided lengthwise.

In cold weather driving, the automatic draft eliminator prevents chill draft around the floor of the car because the bottoms and sides of the doors and in fact all other possible sources of air leakage on the car are sealed. Air is only permitted to enter at one point with the windows closed and the ventilating system in action.

The interior of the body has been beautified in many respects. Because of the V-form of the windshield, it is possible to tilt and curve the instrument panel to make it more legible from the driver's seat. The instruments themselves have been rearranged. In place of the water level gauge a water temperature indicator is now supplied. The ruby tail-tail lights for oil pressure and battery charging are continued. These lamps flash red on the instrument dial if the generator is not charging or if the oil pressure is below normal.

The interior upholstery and trim of the Terraplanes for 1936 is of a quality usually found in cars of a much higher price. An option is provided in that the seat cloth may be either an Uxbridge Worsted with a two-tone tree bark pattern or a 100 per cent two-tone red-brown Mohair. The sidewalls on the Terraplane are Uxbridge Worsted or Mohair optional with headlining colored to match.

From an engineering standpoint, one of the most important innovations in the Terraplane is the introduction of Radical Safety Control.

The action of these torque rods permits the front axle to rise and fall freely without restrictions in the vertical plane, and to deviate to a sufficient degree from the horizontal position to accommodate the inequalities on the road surface. Because of the use of these torque rods, the front springs have no duties to perform except those of absorbing road shock. They do not have to drive the front axle nor absorb brake torque.

Another feature called "Tru-Line Steering" which will be featured in connection with the Terraplane this year also results from this front end construction. It is achieved by the fact that it is not necessary to compromise the steering layout in order to approximate correct steering under all operating conditions.

Another important feature of the Terraplane for 1936 which is outstanding from a safety point is the use of Duo-Automatic hydraulic brakes. In this system all of the inherent advantages of the hydraulic brakes, are provided plus the infallibility of the positive rotary-equalized mechanical brake.

Terraplane chassis for 1936 are longer, wider and more rigid than in 1935, although the latter chassis was outstanding in this respect. The increased dimensions, however, are required for the bigger, wider, and longer body. With three inches added to the wheelbase and with the tread at the rear increased from 56 to 57 1-2 inches, a broader and longer foundation for the body is provided. The distinctive Terraplane feature in which the bottom floor of the body provides a rigid plate cross-member for the frame is continued.

The big six cylinder Terraplane engine with its bore and stroke of 3x5 inches produces 88 horsepower at 3800 r. p. m. with its standard compression ratio of 6 to 1. If greater horsepower is desired there is a 100 horsepower engine optional which employs the super-power dome. The latter is a solid aluminum cylinder head giving a 7 to 1 compression ratio.

There are a number of detailed improvements in the Terraplane engine for 1936, increasing its efficiency and ruggedness.

The carburetor on the new Terraplane has been improved and is now fitted with an anti-percolating device designed to prevent vapor lock in the float bowl. There is a spring-loaded needle valve in the float bowl which opens when the throttle is closed permitting vapor to escape. A further improvement in the gasoline supply system is in the use of a larger tank. The tank capacity is now 16 1-2 gallons instead of the 11 gallon size previously used.

The Electric Hand installation which proved to be such a great success in the 1935 Terraplane is continued with detailed improvement. The appearance of the Electric Hand bracket on the steering column has been materially improved, having been given a streamline form to coincide with the interior trim of the car.

A number of important changes have been made in the transmission, making it a huskier, more rigid unit. There is a dual interlock on the transmission by means of which the gears are locked in mesh. The clutch must be depressed in order to release the lock, thus preventing any possibility of gears slipping out of mesh.

DIVORCE COURT MURDER

by MILTON PROPPER

TENTH INSTALLMENT

PHILADELPHIA business woman as she waits in a divorce court—Detective Tommy assigned to the case from headquarters—His preliminary report disclosed that both Mr. Rowland had gathered evidence against the other of infidelity will of Mrs. Rowland's husband directed her lawyer Mr. Willard, to handle the case she remarried when the husband was to come into constructive Rankin finds motives evidence of guilt for the murder of Mrs. Keith, leading to the trial of virtually all of the principals involved. These principals were Mrs. Rowland, Mr. Willard, the husband of the murderer, Hugh Campbell, paramour of Mrs. Rowland, and his underlings—NOW GO ON TO THE STORY:

Rankin returned, "I appreciate your cooperation greatly; it will spare me a good deal of trouble."

Mrs. Anderson indicated the records. "There, you can see for yourself how her prints coincide with those of Mrs. Keith." She placed the prints Rankin brought beside a sheet from the files. "The descriptions tally too; and these pictures settle it that Ellen Trent and Mrs. Keith were the same woman."

Worried, Rankin studied the prison photograph of the woman he had seen only after she died. She did not look a hardened criminal and it bothered Rankin that she should be involved in that sordid existence.

"No, there's no mistake about her identity, Mrs. Anderson," he agreed. "It tells you here that she was really slated for concealing as well as disposing of stolen goods," the woman read on. "They were found in her rooms, in Fort Wayne. And the fact that she lived there with a man not her husband increased the penalty for a first offense as a moral delinquent. We have no further account of her crimes in this state."

The detective shook his head perplexed. "That isn't a bit like my impression of Mrs. Keith. She began her term, according to this, on March twentieth, nineteen-twenty-seven."

It was in the summer of '28, in Detroit, he recalled from Mortimer Keith's account, that she met her future husband.

"That's right, over six years ago," Mrs. Anderson pointed out the dates. "She was sentenced only a few days after she was caught—about March tenth or so; and by pleading guilty, saved the expense and time of a trial. She finished her imprisonment one year later, in March, 'twenty-eight."

"You say the girl dealt in stolen goods in Fort Wayne, Mrs. Anderson?" he now inquired of the matron. "What made... the authorities suspicious of her?"

Mrs. Anderson shrugged. "She didn't do it herself, I suppose," she admitted grudgingly, "and it wasn't her fault they traced her. The man she shared the apartment with was the thief—or rather, one of a pair—and her sweetheart. When they caught him, they got his address and found her there with some of the loot."

The detective hitched forward. "Then the police know all about her companion?" he asked, eagerly. "Who and where he is—what he's serving a term for?"

"Yes, his name, in the accounts, was Dave Garrett; they had no previous record of him either." The matron spoke bluntly. "And it's pretty certain what's become of him, Mr. Rankin, you see, he's been six feet under for over six years."

Rankin's features dropped in disappointment. "Dead?" he repeated blankly. "How did that happen? Are you positive of your information?"

"It was in all the papers at the time of his last robbery. It's a long story and I can give you only the main details; the rest you'll have to get from them on the police records in Indianapolis and Fort Wayne. For about a year around nineteen-twenty-six, both towns suffered from an epidemic of robberies, to which there were no clues. In this last business the robbers were masked and used a stolen car, which they later abandoned in the country. After the Munson robbery, it was known that two youngish men were the thieves."

Mrs. Anderson paused to clear her throat.

"Finally, they made an attempt on a shipment of negotiable bonds lodged in the American Express office in Indianapolis," she related. "That was a different matter altogether; they were worth seventy thousand dollars, and were guarded by a burglar alarm and by armed men who could shoot straight. It isn't known how the burglars learned of the shipment. Because of the guards, it wasn't even put in the company safe, but kept in a suitcase behind the counter—Anyhow, they pried open a window leading into a back alley at the rear of the building and set off the alarm. The guards, warned of their approach, waited for them to reach the main storeroom before they opened fire. Both men were fairly trapped, but only one returned the fire; no gun was found on Garrett—he was little more than twenty-one—when they searched his body afterward."

"That's pretty tough," Rankin commented glumly. "What about the other chap?"

"He made a getaway, though of Rankin reached the Central Bureau, a special delivery came from the state Hospital. In the press of business, he had almost forgotten his inquiry to Allerton, Indiana, about the empty medicine bottles found in Mrs. Keith's chest, that had once contained strychnine. Whatever her connection with the hospital, it precluded marriage; and the slender man appeared relatively insignificant.

Friday, June 9

Thomas Rankin

Detective Bureau

Philadelphia, Pa.

Sir:

In reply to your inquiry about Mrs. Keith or Webb who was a patient in this hospital between 1924 and 1928, I would advise we can locate no record concerning her. Appreciating the nature of your search I have fully questioned our staff of nurses and matrons without result. Since we serve only inpatients I would suggest Mrs. Keith have served a term under her name, in which case we have her records. If you send us a more complete description, including her photograph and fingerprints, I will examine them personally and try to identify her for you.

Very truly yours,

Martha Anderson,

(Superintendent of Wards and Matrons)

It was not these contents, but as they were, that so amazed the detective. For on the letter, in large black type, he read, with a tremor of excitement, "State Penitentiary for Women, Allerton, Indiana," and only underneath in small print the words, "Women's Reformatory Department."

Rankin gave vent to a low whistle of surprise and satisfaction. If, as the matron suggested, the hospital was a public and treated only patients sentenced in the prison, there was but one conclusion.

"That a jailbird!" Rankin marveled at his breath. "Barbara Keith sentenced to a term in the pen! If that's really at Allerton under another name, how long did she serve? And what, in Heaven's name, the next day the Superintendent of Wards and Matrons at the State Penitentiary for Women at Allerton, Ind., produced a sheaf of papers from her desk and passed them to Rankin.

Rankin collected all the information available about—Ellen Trent," she said. "In anticipation of your arrest. There is all the data we have on her offense and confinement."

"Thank you, Mrs. Anderson," stating "we are going to have to take care of our own relief this winter."

Dr. Woods stated that the local Red Cross membership committee expected to have plans completed to begin the roll call drive by Monday next.

Rev. J. W. Hendrix reminded the meeting that only 50 cents of each Red Cross membership fee was sent to headquarters, and that the balance remained in Littlefield.

J. W. Hale reported that City Secretary Street had turned over the sidewalks project to H. Roberts, Engineer, who stated the report had been filed, and indicated that this would be included with the other projects of the city.

Mr. Hale stated that Judge Hay, County Commissioners, Supt. Sanders and he made a trip to Lubbock Friday, and went over the applications for the various projects with the WPA Administrator for this district, who assured them that he had the money already granted and in the office for most of the projects applied for, but was waiting on the County to provide funds for their share—(15 per cent) of the funds necessary.

He stated a bond issue would have to be voted on in order to raise this money.

It was suggested that the committee taking care of this work get in touch with the County Commission at once.

G. M. Shaw suggested that a special newspaper publicity campaign on the local trade expansion program be put on about the first of December, special editions published carrying Christmas advertising, and distributed by the local merchants. It was suggested that the Committee in charge of this formerly take care of this matter.

On the suggestion of Dr. Ira Woods a motion was made and seconded that a resolution be drafted and sent to Bishop H. A. Boaz, Plainview, asking that Rev. J. W. Hendrix, pastor of the local Methodist church for the past two years, be returned to Littlefield for another year. A committee composed of Sam Batton, Dr. Ira Woods and J. W. Keithley were appointed to draft and forward this resolution of the Chamber of Commerce.

Rev. Hendrix expressed his appreciation to the gathering.

elps is entirely in order. There wasn't much here when Phelps arrived in Littlefield; about six houses and a store or two.

We believe that the Littlefield grain and seed merchant is eligible for election to office in a new club which could be formed. We suggest, as a name, the "I Remember When" club.

SURE, WE'RE TRAVELING IN HIGH—

We, of the South Plains, are indebted to the Dallas News organization and the Earth, published by the Santa Fe Lines, for some very excellent publicity on our part of this great state of Texas.

The Dallas publication's article was reproduced by The Earth. Here's the article:

"SOUTH PLAINS RECOVERY.—The marvelous recovery of the South Plains region of Northwest Texas after a record drouth last season will go down in history as characteristic of an important part of the Southwest which needs to be better known generally," says Victor H. Schoffelmayer in the Dallas Weekly News.

"The South Plains proper consists of seventeen counties located on the caprock and extending southward from a line comprising the northern boundaries of Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd and Motley Counties down to Dawson. Only a small fraction of these counties lies below the caprock. The region has a fairly uniform soil in sufficiently large quantities to permit large-scale farming in which labor-saving machinery of every type has a place. There are 22,846 farms in the area.

"The comeback of the South Plains country is told convincingly in the fair exhibits," says Mr. Schoffelmayer. "I took time to examine these displays and studied the range of products which include a wide variety. There were baled buffalo grass, alfalfa, sudan grass, redtop cane in bundles and bales, hegari, milo maize and kaffir heads and whole plants from dwarf to standard sizes, Irish and sweet potatoes, all kinds of vegetables, to say nothing of the canned goods and preserves, cured meats and salt pork, hams and bacon put up in cotton seed oil (one of the latest methods worked out by the agricultural experimenters), apples, grapes, pumpkins, freshly cut roses, dahlias, asters, shrubs and ornamentals of various kinds were shown. The beef cattle, dairy, hog and poultry exhibits were well represented."

How long has it been since you were in Sunday school? Come visit us Sunday, and get a blessing. We study second Corinthians, eighth chapter, direct from the Bible. We use no literature.

Last Wednesday evening, at our Prayer and Praise service, we enjoyed the largest attendance in year. Several visitors were present, as was also the power of the Holy Spirit, and all were strengthened by the number of testimonials and prayers offered. Come next Wednesday, bring your burdens, and pray with us. We would particularly like for you to hear our sermon next Sunday night. Bring a friend along.

Our order of worship is as follows—

SUNDAY—
9:30—Teachers and officers Prayer meeting.

6:30—Young Peoples Bible Union.

METHODIST CHURCH
J. W. Hendrix, Pastor

We are now in Conference Week. The conference opens Wednesday evening. All the appointments will be ready next Sunday evening and they may come over the radio out of Lubbock or may be before 9:30 p. m. At some hour the radio will doubtless give out the exact hour.

The year's work will be reported. It will be a very fair report. The pastor and his wife here wish to heartily thank all who have contributed to the year's success. It isn't the pastor nor his wife, nor both, who deserve the credit, they have only made their contribution as have others. It is the accomplishment of all.

But it is but right and proper to thank all for their willing and kindly cooperation. Not only within the church but the splendid way in which the endeavor of the church has been helped by its outside friends. All together has made a happy one. Those of the paragonage go to conference with the rich flavor of all this offering in remembrance.

Next Sunday will have two services in the church, namely, the Church.

The Church School will meet at 9:45 a. m.

The Young People's Meeting at 6:45 p. m. All concerned in these meetings are urged to be present.

The pastor has desired to dismiss his services in honor of the new pastor at the Baptist church, but has regretted such a courtesy could not be conveniently done; because he took the parastate as our congregation approached the Annual conference. He hereby requests that his people show this courtesy next Sunday. The church will welcome you and the pastor, Bro. Brian, will be glad doubtless to have you.
