

REFINERS HEAR FRANK KELL

MRS. McNEW HOSTESS FOR PIONEER CLUB

Mrs. Homer McNew was hostess to the Pioneer Bridge club Wednesday afternoon in the regular session of games, when three tables of members and guests were entertained.

Mrs. W. W. Inkman won high score for club members and Mrs. Beth Parsons won high for visitors.

Following games, a two-course luncheon was served to the following: Mesdames J. D. Bliss, C. W. Cunningham, John Clarke, Bernard Fisher, J. M. Fisher, Harry Hart, W. W. Inkman, R. C. Strain, Seth Parsons, Charles K. Bivings, Wilburn Marcus and L. M. Barker.

Legislature May Have New Program For Next Session

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP)—When the 42nd legislature convenes next January it may operate under an entirely new schedule—provided the voters adopt a constitutional amendment to be submitted in the general election next November 4.

Not only would the length of the regular session be extended but the pay of the legislators be increased.

Under the existing constitution the legislature meets biennially for a period of unlimited length, except that during the first 90 days the pay of the legislators is $5 per day. For each day in excess of the 90 the per diem is cut to $2. However, if meeting under a special session call of the governor the legislators receive $5 daily.

The constitutional amendment would require the legislature to meet every two years, but the regular session period would be extended to 120 days and the per diem increased to $10. In event the session lasted in excess of the 120 day period, the pay would drop to $5 per day.

The first 30 days would be devoted to introduction of bills and resolutions, acting on emergency appropriations, passing on recess appointments of the government and such other emergency matters as may be submitted by the governor in special messages. The second 20 days would be given over to committee hearings on bills and resolutions introduced, and the remaining 60 days would be devoted to consideration of bills and resolutions.

Fire Victim's Body Sent To Indiana

The charred body of Joe Costutter who was burned to death in a fire here early last Monday morning, was sent to Noblesville, Indiana, Wednesday evening.

A brother, Jacob Costutter, resides at Noblesville and requested that the body be sent to him.

The victim was found in the ruins of an unoccupied residence on the corner of North Main and Third streets Monday morning about 4:30 o'clock, after flames of mysterious origin had been extinguished.

Lynn County Man Lists Candidacy

LAMESA, March 19.—Following the announcement last week that Judge Carl Rountree of Lamesa would not run for reelection to the Texas House of Representatives, John N. Thomas, resident of Lynn county for 24 years, has announced to succeed the incumbent representative. Rountree's district is composed of nine South Plains counties and is known as the 119th district. Thomas has engaged in business in Tahoka, capital of Lynn, for a number of years and from 1914 to 1920 he served as tax assessor.

Eldorado At Last To Have Railroad

ELDORADO, Tex., March 19 (AP)—Since the day 25 years ago when W. B. Silliman laid off a new town on the divide of Schleicher county and named it Eldorado, residents here have talked and hoped for a railroad. At last it is a reality for rails have been laid on the new Santa Fe branch extension from San Angelo.

The line enters town near "Little Mexico," some distance from the business section. Work has been started upon foundations for the depot.

Miss Clara Fisher is spending a few days in Fort Worth visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Scott, who formerly resided in Big Spring.

STATE OFFICIAL

GEORGE H. SHEPPARD

The former tax assessor of Nolan county, whose home is in Sweetwater, has accepted his appointment by Governor Moody to the office of state comptroller of public accounts. He is a member of a pioneer western Taylor county family, for which the village of Sheppard was named. He once was president of the state association of tax assessors.

Congregations At East Fourth Street Revival Growing

Addressing a large congregation which accorded his message a most cordial hearing, Dr. W. R. White, who is leading a revival campaign at the East Fourth Street Baptist church spoke Wednesday evening on "God's Family Bible."

Services, to which the public is cordially invited, are being held at 10 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. daily.

Dr. White's Wednesday evening sermon, follows, in part:

"All of us are familiar with the idea of the family Bible. There the parents keep the date of the birth and the name of the children that come into the home. We have two texts for this evening's discourse, John 3:5 and Revelation 20:12. It will be noted that there were books and the book of life. The books determine reward and the book determine destiny. We get our names in the book of life by virtue of a birth and in the books by virtue of our deeds.

1. Spiritual Birth.

"There are four questions that may be asked with reference to spiritual birth: What? Why? How? What?"

"1. Who needs spiritual birth? The mortal man needs spiritual birth. This is proven by Nicodemus and Cornelius outstanding moral men, one a Jew, the other a Gentile. Of course, the worst of men need to be reborn. The best of natural men must and the worst of men may. 'If any man be in Christ he is a new creature.'

"2. Why should all men be born again? First, because all are wrong by nature. See Rom. 8:3 and Eph. 2:1-3. Men have lost the image of God by sin. There is something radically wrong with human nature. Witness the constant urge downward in spite of all Bible and good influences. Remove all restraining influences and see where human nature would go. In the second place, all men are wrong by practice. See Rom. 3:23 and 1 John 1:8 and 10.

"3. How is this new birth to take place. First, by a divine operation. See John 1:3. Second, by

Anniversary Of Montgomery Ward Company Observed

Just 55 years ago a young man conceived an idea—and with it, an ideal. The consistent working out of the idea, and the faithful adherence to the ideal, by himself and his successors—the Montgomery Ward & Company of today, has built an institution from a tiny shop in the rear of a loft on one of Chicago's side streets to nine huge mail order houses and 550 retail stores throughout the nation. From a handful of customers in 1872 Ward's staunch friends and supporters now number millions.

The store in Big Spring, of which L. A. Hines is manager and Sam Raney assistant manager, is daily living up to the high standards set by A. Montgomery Ward and his predecessors.

When A. Montgomery Ward first started his business he adopted a policy that at that time was unheard of. He guaranteed "satisfaction or your money back" and he made good. He scoured the markets, buying goods at the lowest prices possible, eliminating where he could all dealings with jobbers or "middle men."

His fundamental ideas are still adhered to. The local store's management reaffirms its belief in progress, which has been the keynote of the organization from its infancy.

A fully equipped laboratory is maintained, in Chicago where experienced chemists carefully analyze each article before it is offered Ward customers.

Kell Leaves Hat Here With Speech

In addition to the words of wisdom dropped by Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, who was the principal speaker at the refiners' banquet and smoker Tuesday evening, he left minus a hat.

Mr. Kell lingered in the banquet hall to greet friends and to enjoy new acquaintances. A 15 minute search for his own headpiece availed Mr. Kell only an old, odd sized, brown, slouch hat.

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce mailed a new hat to Mr. Kell at Wichita Falls Thursday.

Reservations To Be Taken Friday

Reservations for Friday afternoon's bridge tournament, for either contract or auction games and for men as well as women, will be received by Mrs. R. T. Piner, telephone 203, until noon Friday, it was announced Thursday morning. The tournament will be held in the Federation clubhouse from 3 to 5 p. m. Friday.

TAP TO BUILD VAN ROAD

DALLAS, March 20 (AP)—Officials of the Texas and Pacific Railroad of which the Texas Short Line Railroad is a subsidiary, said today that Van probably would have rail service within the next 60 days.

T. O. Bateman of the legal department of the Texas and Pacific Railroad said construction of the new line would begin in 15 days and that construction should be completed within two months.

The Van line will extend 11 miles south from Grand Saline, and will cost approximately $370,000. The Texas Short Line now extends 11 miles north from Grand Saline to Alba, in Wood county.

Dallas Business Men to Visit Big Spring Wednesday, April 2

Representative business men of Dallas will arrive in Big Spring at 7:15 o'clock Wednesday, April 2 and will spend the night in Big Spring, according to information received by C. T. Watson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

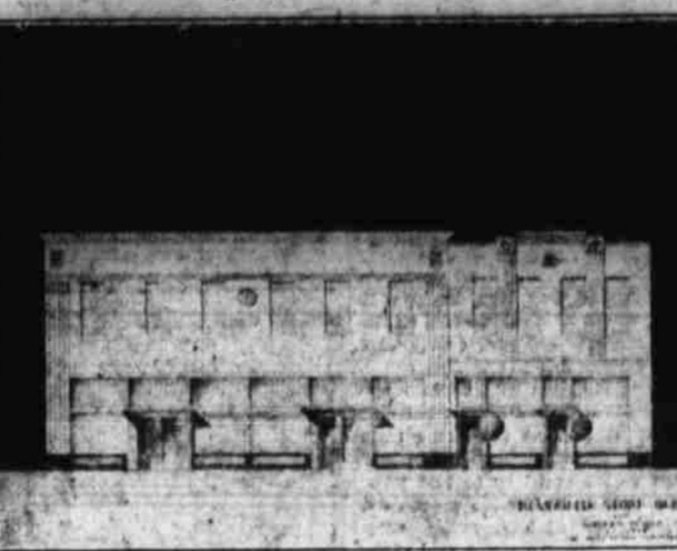

The party of Dallas men representing large business organizations, banks, railroads and other industries, will join local people around an informal banquet table Wednesday evening. Group meetings of local men interested in one particular phase of community betterment will be held in which Dallas men, who have undergone similar conditions are now being arranged, according to the tentative program outlined by Mr. Watson.

A. M. Watson, chairman of the good will trip committee and manager of Butler Brothers interest in Dallas, was a visitor in Big Spring Thursday morning and personally arranged for the all night stop in this city.

A letter from Homer D. Wade, general manager of the Dallas

Remodeling Work On Main Street

Above is the architect's conception of how the Albert M. Fisher building on the corner of First and Main streets will appear when remodeling work to start April 1 is completed.

Some of the latest development in business building architecture will be utilized in the work. The front will be constructed of white imitation building stone and brick. A feature of the larger space of 50 front feet in which W. R. Farnsey and Sons will operate a furniture store is the display window especially designed for showing entire room combinations. The store building will be remodeled throughout in connection with the front elevation work, announced Mr. Fisher, the owner of the building.

Man Charged Of Intent To Murder Girl Found Bound To Blazing Bed In Fairfield, Texas, Hotel Room At Banquet

FAIRFIELD, Tex., March 20 (AP)—G. S. Moore, ginmer, druggist and landowner of Oakwood, Leon county, was charged today with assault with intent to murder after Miss Wilma Jones, 23, of Buffalo, Texas, was found at midnight last night tied by the feet to a burning bed in the Cook hotel here. Miss Jones freed herself from the bed as other guests rushed in and was not burned.

Miss Jones was in Fairfield in connection with charges of forgery against her growing out of the alleged $200 check signed with Moore's name. She collapsed while at the Preston county courthouse here yesterday and was taken to her hotel room, where a physician administered medicine.

When other guests rushed into her room last night when smoke poured from her room, they found she had been tied with a lace curtain stripped from a window of her room.

Moore was arrested at his home in Oakwood shortly after Miss Jones was rescued from a blazing bed, to which she had been bound, by guests of the hotel, whose attentions were attracted to her room by smoke issuing from the windows and door. She also had been gagged.

Miss Jones told officers she was unable to identify her assailant. She was in Fairfield to answer charges of forging Moore's name to a check for $250. She was taken to her hotel room after collapsing on the stand yesterday.

Miss Jones suffered only slight burns about the feet, but her arms and legs were badly bruised from ropes used to bind her to the bed.

The attack occurred about midnight. Other guests said they did not hear any disturbance. The intruder apparently had little difficulty in carrying out his work as the woman was reported in a weakened condition caused by a drug given her after she had collapsed in the courtroom.

WALTER WOODWARD DEFERS RESIGNATION

AUSTIN, March 20 (AP)—After announcing his resignation from the senate, Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman today deferred filing to with Governor Moody until tomorrow. He had said he was resigning to remove a technical legal obstacle to confirmation by the senate of the appointment of his father, Judge J. O. Woodward of Coleman, to be a member of the board of pardons and paroles.

"These prominent business executives are not coming to Big Spring or West Texas with anything to sell except good will. They have no hat bands, souvenirs, advertising matter or anything of the sort. They want to receive nothing except your friendship and a knowledge of your problems. Their ambition is to be of helpful cooperation and they are firmly convinced that a visit of this kind will be of mutual advantage to your city and to Dallas. They believe it will accentuate the idea of cooperative and coordinated effort toward the development and upbuilding of this great state of ours. Let me suggest that if you have any community or

Suggestions For Convention Slate Are Sought Here

Request for suggestions from Big Spring on features of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention which will be held in Abilene May 29, 30, and 31, was received by C. T. Watson, manager of the local commercial organization. The message came from J. E. T. Peters, former secretary of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, who is now assigned to work of arranging the regional convention with headquarters in Abilene.

One of the most attractive prize lists offered is a total of $2,500 for band contest. The money is being supplied by the city of Abilene and is expected to attract musical organizations from all parts of West Texas.

Other tentative plans for the convention call for business sessions between the hours of 9 and 12 each morning of the three day convention. There will be another "Home Town Contest" in which high school students will compete.

An educational parade open to all West Texas schools and a delegation parade in which floats are not required will be other features of the program as planned at present. Dancing each evening and a massed band concert at Fair Park will be held.

Members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce or members of the local chamber of commerce are requested to make additional suggestions for the program. Suggestions may be left at the Chamber of Commerce office in the Crawford Hotel or mailed direct to Mr. Peters in Abilene.

FOR GOVERNOR

JAMES YOUNG

DALLAS, Tex., March 20 (AP)—Jim Young, attorney of Kaufman, was to fire the first big gun in Texas' democratic gubernatorial race at a statewide rally in his behalf here tonight.

Judge Nelson Phillips, former chief justice of the Texas supreme court, had accepted an invitation to introduce Mr. Young whose initial campaign speech will be broadcast by Station KRFD owned by the Dallas Times-Herald. The radio program will start at 8 p. m. and continue for an hour.

One woman is on the program, Mrs. M. W. Harrison of Fort Worth, a relative of the former Senator Charles A. Culberson.

Mike Hogg, son of former Governor Hogg and now a member of the legislature from Houston, will speak in advocacy of Mr. Young. Hogg himself had been whispered about as a candidate for governor, but in this campaign he said he would repay Mr. Young for his work in behalf of Jim Hogg years ago.

John Boyle of San Antonio, long a power in Texas politics, will talk into the "micro" in favor of Mr. Young, as will L. J. Truett, McKinney attorney, Harry Lawler, Dallas attorney, will preside at the banquet, which will be preceded by a banquet, at which several hundred are expected from all parts of the state.

Mr. Young plans, he has said, to make tax reduction the chief plank in his platform. Taxes have increased 1.70 per cent in the last 30 years, he declares, while assessed valuations have grown only 333 per cent.

Maurie Shoppe Is Opened Here

The Maurie Shoppe, with one of the most complete and an unusual beautiful store, opened for business in Big Spring Thursday afternoon in the day shoppers and well-wishers thronged the place. Proprietor M. Brown was the recipient of congratulations from local people, many of whom sent floral remembrances.

The store is located at Third and Rannels streets, in the new Allen building.

Mr. Brown announced that Barney Alsop, who has been identified with the Maurie Shoppe at San Angelo, will have charge of the shoe department of the new store here.

Maurie Robinson of San Angelo, who operates a similar store of the same name, was here for the opening. S. H. Robinson, another member of a firm operating two of San Angelo's most modern stores, will visit here Friday.

The Maurie Shoppe offers to the women of Big Spring and her territory a most complete line of ready-to-wear, shoes and millinery.

Brother Of Local Woman Is Buried; Store Closes Here

The Albert M. Fisher Department store closed at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in observance of the funeral of Mrs. Fisher's brother, Sidney Kaufman, in Chicago, which was to be held at that time. The store was to remain closed for the remainder of the afternoon.

Robert Curry and Steve Ford Jr., will represent Big Spring. The public is invited.

At 4:30 p. m. today the boys were to meet the Stanton high school team and at 5 p. m. girls of Midland and Big Spring were to clash. A debate with a team from Lomax school had been arranged for 8:45 p. m. today.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fletcher of Coahoma announce the arrival of a son, born Monday.

Proposed Law Considered Aid To Air Mail Line Extensions

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Establishment of a new transcontinental air mail service across the southern part of the country from Atlanta to Los Angeles is contemplated by the postoffice department under the proposed air mail law (HR 9060) now before congress, immediate passage of which is urged by the department and a large part of the aviation industry.

The southern route across the country long has been urged by chambers of commerce, municipalities and civic organizations in the south and southwest and hearings have been held by the postoffice department. Under the present air mail law, however, the postoffice department has been unable to proceed as fast with extension of the air mail service as wished.

Provisions

Under the proposed new law, introduced by the administration by Representative Watraes of Pennsylvania, the postmaster general would be authorized to place mail aboard passenger planes flying over established routes, enabling him to make use of air services now existing to establish immediately the much desired southern transcontinental air mail.

Some opposition has developed in the house postoffice committee, which is considering the bill, to broad powers granted the postmaster general, which it was believed he must have in order to keep pace with developments in aviation.

The Watraes measure is the fourth piece of air mail legislation to come before congress in four years and the proposed law was drawn with powers broad enough to permit the postoffice department without having to go to congress each year for new legislation to conform with the rapidly changing aviation picture.

Inequalities

The Watraes bill is designed to meet the situation existing under the present law by which there are serious inequalities in the payments

Local Debaters To Meet Midland

Boys' debating teams of Big Spring and Midland high schools will compete at high school library this evening at 7:30 o'clock, discussing the question, "Resolved that the Sterling plan for financing a state system of highways in Texas should be adopted."

Robert Curry and Steve Ford Jr., will represent Big Spring. The public is invited.

At 4:30 p. m. today the boys were to meet the Stanton high school team and at 5 p. m. girls of Midland and Big Spring were to clash. A debate with a team from Lomax school had been arranged for 8:45 p. m. today.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fletcher of Coahoma announce the arrival of a son, born Monday.

Woodward Presides

Garland A. Woodward, local attorney, was toastmaster and his remarks of introduction brought numerous outbursts of laughter. However, honors for provoking mirth belonged to W. T. Strange, Jr., who delivered a revised version of his famous health talk on "Tallac."

A quartet composed of S. J. Ellis, J. H. Barcus, Daymon P. Dean and W. R. "Casey" Jones, sang "Old Black Joe," "Eyes of Texas," and "I Had a Dream," all of which received generous applause from those present.

Mr. Kell, a man who has been seen in Oklahoma and Texas develop from a vast wilderness, who heads the Kell Milling Company of Wichita Falls and is the president of two railroad organizations, was

ED. C. LASATER DIES

ARDMORE, Okla., March 20 (AP)—Ed. C. Lasater, 69, prominent cotton-planter of Fairfarms, Texas, died in a hospital here today following an illness of three days.

from which it came," said Mr. Kell. Must Work

Mr. Kell praised West Texas and all the south where much work remains unfinished. The Wichita Falls capitalist told his audience that he would not live in a city or community where there was no work to do. He said he would move to Big Spring or some other city if Wichita Falls ever reached the stage it is a completed community.

Cooperation and team work in city problems of the community was urged by Mr. Kell. He criticized the business man that is too engrossed with his own affairs to give his time and invest his money in projects for public betterment.

"If you are ever confronted with a community problem, which no doubt occurs often in a city growing as Big Spring, try to find a way to put over the proposition. Advise with each other, follow your leaders and work for the public good. If community leaders suggest a plan, discard your prejudices, your petty jealousies and cooperate. Unless you have a better plan to offer than that suggested by your leaders, get in the harness and work with the other fellow. You have your banking institutions, you have commercial enterprises and you have numerous other institutions that contribute to the welfare of your town, but those things alone will not build a community—you must cooperate," said Mr. Kell.

Plan Offered

In issuing a plan for cooperation among the oil men, Mr. Kell told a story of an asylum superintendent escorting a governor through the institution and when asked if he was not afraid the inmates would combine and overpower the small number of guards, the superintendent replied, "Governor, you may know all about politics, but I can see you know nothing of lunatics—they never cooperate." The story is applicable to the oil industry. Those interested in the business of producing, refining or marketing petroleum, must stop being lunatics or continue under the present depressed condition, Mr. Kell said.

J. M. McKenzie, representative of the aeronautics division of the department of commerce, who is in Big Spring inspecting the airport, was called on for a few remarks. Mr. McKenzie explained briefly the work being done by the department of commerce in lighting airways and in establishing radio beacons. He urged the refiners to supply the best possible product to aviators and not to rely on color alone.

parts of the country, from the north, south and west. That's why the country is now feeling the effect of the readjustment. Most everyone's familiar with the situation knew that stocks were too high, they knew the inflated market would reach its maximum peak and then crash, but the small investor continued to pour in his meager earnings until a halt was called."

In New York

"I recently returned from a trip to New York. First I talked with the taxi driver from the station to my hotel. Later I called on business associates of mine on Wall street and from the two sources of information managed to gain a rather fair idea of conditions. I tell you now that I never saw money so free as at the present time. The discount rate has dropped and that means that money will be available for investments. It means that abundant capital will be used developing our country and natural resources. The money that was held in New York covering broker loans is now available for investment and it will gradually circulate back to the cross roads, the highways and by ways qualified to speak on conditions in general.

"Imaginary"

Much of the present depression and the "imaginary" depression was attributed to the stock market crash several months ago by Mr. Kell, who then went into the federal reserve banking system to explain how speculation had experienced a wild orgy during late 1927, all of 1928 and most of 1929. He told how the big financial men, the more stable stock brokers and the banking institutions were not the losers, but it was the "button hole" merchant of the cross roads, the store clerks, the taxi cab drivers and other small speculators that were caught.

"The very people," said Mr. Kell, "that have no business risking their savings on freakish stocks were the ones hurt in the crash. The wise financial men covered their loans and withdrew from the wild speculation, but out of $5,000,000,000 in New York covering stock broker loans only $1,000,000,000 was New York capital. The other $5,000,000,000 came in from all

Study Club Holds Instructive Session

An instructive program was given at the meeting of the Big Spring Study Club, Tuesday afternoon in the Episcopal parish house, when Mrs. L. E. Eddy, Mrs. William Riggs and Mrs. George A. Beard were joint hostesses.

The program numbers follow: Talk on "Why Do Clubs Federate?" by Mrs. L. L. Freeman; two piano solos by Mrs. Earl Gindler; talk on the observance of the 18th amendment by Mrs. B. Reagan, chairman of the observance of laws committee in the sixth district; a paper on "Beauties of Our State" by Mrs. L. S. McDowell.

Delicious refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program by the hostesses to a fair attendance of members and several visitors.

Co Man Dead Son Is Held

Big Spring, Tex., March 19 (AP)—A man, 65, who was fatally wounded Saturday night in Leroy, 10 miles east of here, last night. A charge of murder was filed against his son, Louis, 21, shortly after Janke died in a hospital here today. The son was released on $1,000 bond. Janke was shot with a rifle. Members of his family told officers the shooting occurred after Janke arrived home and had threatened his wife. A younger son, Herbert, was alleged to have knocked one of two pistols from his father's hand just as it was discharged. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Plemons and their son, W. G. Plemons, plan to leave soon for Healdton, Oklahoma, to make their home. Dr. E. O. Ellington was quite ill Wednesday in his home.

Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results, and results are what sufferers need and want. Don't hesitate about Konjola if stomach, liver, kidneys or bowels are out of order, or if rheumatism, neuritis or nervousness make life miserable. Now read the grateful words of Mr. Thomas W. Warren, deputy sheriff, Arkona, Oklahoma, who says:

Deputy Sheriff Is Warm Friend Of New Konjola

"New Medicine Certainly Made Good In a Wonderful Way In My Case," He Declares

MR. THOMAS W. WARREN

"This new medicine, Konjola, certainly made good in a wonderful way in my case, and I thought there was no medicine under the sun that could set my stomach and kidneys right. Three years ago I had a bad attack of the 'flu' and this left me in a terrible condition generally. Soon rheumatism set in, and my condition was alarming. Medicine after medicine failed, and the outlook was dark indeed. 'I was induced to try Konjola by the many endorsements this medicine was winning all around me. Well, Konjola proved to be the very medicine I needed. In four weeks my friends were asking me what in the world I had done to look so well. And you can bet that I told them that Konjola and Konjola alone was responsible for my recovery and for my new health.' Konjola is sold in Big Spring at Collins Bros. Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section."

Violin Made Of 3047 Match Stems

BROWNWOOD, Tex., Mar. 19 (AP)—A. G. Strickland, of Brownwood, formerly of Archer City, has a violin made of 3,047 match stems. Strickland used several pounds of wood glue in putting the stems together and he worked at odd times for six weeks. The neck of the fiddle is hand-carved from a piece of maple wood. Everything about the violin is hand made except the keys, tail piece and strings. Strickland explained that to make the violin he dipped each stem in glue, then placed them together in much the same manner as in bricklaying. That is, one stem was placed to about the middle of the other and then the next filled up the space and so on until the instrument was completed. The top of the violin was made in one solid piece after which the sound holes were cut out. The bottom also was made in a solid piece and the sides in three separate pieces. When the parts were finished they were glued together and the whole then was sandpapered and covered with one coat of shellac. To test the strength of his sturdy fiddle, Strickland has had people stand on it. Musical experts have pronounced it a fine instrument, with a beautiful tone, soft but clear. Mr. Strickland does not play a violin and did not have a

Chevrolet announces

A NEW SERVICE POLICY

The Chevrolet Motor Company and its dealers are pleased to announce a new service policy—one of the most liberal ever offered on a low-priced automobile.

Put into force as a written agreement given to the purchaser by the Chevrolet dealer when the car is delivered—it offers the following provisions:

- 1 Every Chevrolet owner receives his car from the dealer in perfect condition—thoroughly lubricated, properly adjusted, and ready to operate efficiently from the first mile of ownership.
- 2 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection and adjustment of his car at the end of the first 500 miles of usage.
- 3 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection of his car every 1000 miles thereafter, so long as the car is in operation.
- 4 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free replacement of any part which may prove defective in workmanship or material, within the terms of Chevrolet's standard warranty. This includes both parts and labor.
- 5 Provision number 4 will be carried out by any Chevrolet dealer in the United States. As a result, the Chevrolet owner may travel to any part of the country, with assurance that the guarantee on materials and workmanship will remain in force.

This new policy constitutes proof of Chevrolet's high quality—for such liberal provisions could only be made in connection with a car built of fine materials to exacting standards of workmanship.

Back of this policy, and assuring its successful operation, is one of the most complete and efficient service organizations in the world.

There are more than 10,000 Authorized Chevrolet Dealer Service Stations in the United States alone. Each employs skilled mechanics thoroughly trained at Chevrolet Service Schools. Each has specially designed tools and machinery developed exclusively for Chevrolet service work. And each has on hand, at all times, an adequate stock of genuine Chevrolet replacement parts.

Chevrolet's flat-rate charges, including both parts and labor, are the lowest in the industry on many service operations!

In considering the purchase of a low-priced automobile, think what this service means—in terms of lasting satisfaction, as well as in increased economy.

Stanton

By Mrs. John F. Cox
STANTON, March 20—Martin county will send several representatives to the pink bollworm meeting at Presidio March 26. They will endeavor to have established a new quarantine line, which will omit Midland county, thus allowing many farmers of Midland county who reside near Stanton to gin their cotton here. As the situation now stands Martin county would lose the ginning of about 1,000 bales annually. Richard Van Roeder of Snyder was in Stanton this week working on this project.

Charles McEwin and J. Z. Linebarger this week opened their new barber shop. It is located in the building formerly occupied by the Broadway Cafe, on the Bankhead highway.

The Brothers Motor company this week opened its doors to the public as the agency for the Whippett automobile. The agency is located in the building formerly occupied by the Eiland Motor company. This is the third new business concern to be established in the city within a month.

The Martin County interscholastic league meet will be held Friday and Saturday, March 28 and 29. An interesting program of events will be arranged and it is hoped there will be contestants from every part of the county.

Mrs. S. B. Tate, of Birmingham, Alabama, arrived Saturday to be a guest in the A. M. Turner family.

Mrs. E. C. Smith and Mrs. McReynolds left Saturday to attend a meeting of church delegates in Amarillo. They were to return Wednesday.

Miss Willie Neal Morrow left Sunday for Carlsbad, N. M., where she has accepted a position.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mashburn announce the birth of a son, last Monday.

Miss Marie Pratt, Miss Rene Crowder and Mesdames B. A. Purser and Rufus Parks, Jr., shopped in Sweetwater Thursday.

Miss Maxine Hall spent last week-end visiting friends in San Angelo.

Mrs. J. W. Ezell of Hamlin is a guest of Mrs. A. M. Turner.

Mrs. J. E. Falls of Ira visited relatives in Stanton this week.

Mrs. Taylor and daughter, Miss Evelyn of Snyder are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Eiland.

Lillian Shick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nat Shick, who is a student in Simmons University at Abilene, returned home Friday to spend the week end with her parents.

Standing out as the better cigarette

THE SINGLE IDEA of superlative quality was the inspiration for Camel Cigarettes.

From the time when the first Camel Cigarette was made that one idea has set Camel apart.

A policy of better tobaccos, combined in an incomparable blend, manufactured with the most exacting care—all to assure the utmost pleasure in smoking.

That is the ideal and the practice back of every package of Camel Cigarettes.

It has made Camel the most popular cigarette ever known. More millions have chosen Camels for smoking pleasure than ever accorded their patronage to any other cigarette.

Seniors Express Their Ambitions For First Year After Graduation

Some will fly east. Some will fly west. Some will stay home or build a love nest.

As the school year draws to a close the seniors are preparing to leave B. S. H. S. with more knowledge than they will ever get a chance to let people know they possess (at least that's what the majority of them think.)

Perhaps they've been a bit unruly, vain, egotistical and sarcastic at times, but then they're seniors and you should stand their gaff.

Harmon Morrison, president of the Senior class, will work a year and then enter state university to study law. After seeing some of the fights he engaged in during Senior week, it is suggested that he enter "the ring."

Buster Bell will resume his position at the Southern Ice & Utilities Co.

Some wonder why Reta Debenport chose to go to State University. That's no question at all for the writer—you will remember Charlie Weeg is enrolled there.

Others who plan to enter state are Janice Mellinger, Hugh Willis Dunnagan, Burna Barley and Maurine Garrett.

When the writer asked Eida Mae Cochran what she planned to do next year, Eida replied, "I'm gonna eat and sleep and write to Tiger and Buren."

Stanley Lester and O. C. Hart informed the writer they were going to West Point—don't you pity them (the other cadets)?

Mildred Patterson said she was intending to work. When asked where, she replied, "The Midget Cafe has offered me a pretty good position."

Cora Ashley answered the question as to where she was going to S.M.U. or die! And to think that will be another five bucks for a wreath.

Dora McDonald will also enter S.M.U.

Sloppy Smith thinks he'll enter Tech and be a star athlete—it is hoped he's not disappointed.

Lennah Rose Black was queried as to where she might continue her school work. She asked us if she might see the list of students and colleges they were attending. Graciously, it was handed to her. She ran her finger down the list of names hurriedly. Then her eyes rested on the sheet of paper a split second. She grinned up at us sheepishly with the remark, "I think I'll go to Tech."

Others who will enroll in Tech are Joe Black, Lane Hudson, Clara Brenner and Elton Blevins.

Frank Fisherman wants to get married—but he said since that was impossible he'd take the next best thing and go to C.I.A.

Lorene Read admits she's got "It." She plans to go to Hollywood and be an understudy of Clara Bow.

Johnnie McElhannon intends to enroll in Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville.

Dizzy Bugg informed he was going to Terrell.

Buren Edwards will be a Freshman at T.C.U. next September. (Probably September after next, too.)

A&M College seems to be a favorite. Hugh Sweet, Thomas Joe Williamson, William Vanatta, James Ripps, Randall Howie, Frank Gensberg, and Marvin Sewell plan to enroll at College Station in September.

Bill Penn delighted the writer with his intention to study for grand opera (and he had always been thought such a fine kid).

Emma Louise Freeman and Marie Vick said they hadn't decided where they were going to school but they were sure it would be out of the state.

Others who are entering colleges out of the state are Hazel Jordan, Arizona State Teachers College; Anna Pauline Jacobs, University of Washington.

John Sealy School of Nursing will sure go over big next year—Lena Kyle, Veda Robinson, Gertrude Laney will, they say, enter as student nurses.

Simmons will gain several students from B.S.H.S. Among those are Opal Creighton, Lucille Ammons, Ilene Barnett, and Myrtle Jones.

Winelle Kavanaugh will also enter Simmons to study art. She is very talented as an artist—she even draws flies.

Maxine Thomas wants to attend Tech—Mrs. Thomas wants her daughter to attend S.M.U.—result—Maxine will attend S.M.U.

C. A. Johnson and Carman Lynch expect to study beauty culture and then open a shop in Big Spring—Stand back, girls, and let the old ladies be waited on first.

Fannie Sue Read will enter Baylor University at Waco in September.

Irene Crews has chosen A.C.C.

SPRING AND SPORTS

In the spring of the year some young men may turn their thoughts to love, but there are lots of them who turn their minds to sports. Girls, as well as boys, take up out-door games, during the sunny weather. Already in the Big Spring high school, it is noticeable that quite a large number of the boys and girls are showing a great interest in sports.

The tennis court is a popular place, every evening after school and on Saturdays. Boys and girls of all ages, have organized baseball teams, and can be seen on every part of the campus, practicing each evening. Some good pitchers, catchers, and swatters are developing, by this practice. Some of the students have taken up golf, and they never let an afternoon pass without going out and shooting a few holes. Hiking is another popular sport that some of the students are enjoying, on Saturdays and Sundays.

It is well that every student engage in some kind of out-of-door sport. Such exercise is healthy for both the body and mind, and it is a great teacher in character building. "Fair Play" is the big pass-word, when dealing with your fellow-men, in both work and play. Take up a sport, now that spring is here.

for her college work.

Students who will work next year (if they can find jobs) are Margaret Bettie, Joanno Vines, Viola Scott, Freddie Sellers, Edith Shive, Allene Bell and Mildred Thompson.

Those who are going to stay at home and get caught up on their sleep are Imogene Runyan, Cleo Thomas, Clara Bailey, William Henley, Maxie Wade and Nellie Mae Sullivan. (What is this younger generation coming to?)

When Jimmie Reeves and Melba Caulte were asked what they planned to do next year, they just grinned and replied, "Nothing."

Students attending business colleges are Bonnie Gaines, Draughton's Business College, Abilene; Ima Deason, Draughton's Business College; Orbin Dailey, Tyler Commercial College.

Nova Lynn Graves is giving C.I.A. "a break" next year. She plans to specialize in home economics.

League Of Nations Studied In Class; 2 Enter Contest

For the first time in the history of Big Spring high school an intensive study of the League of Nations has been held in class. Under supervision of Pearl Butler, teacher of History III, a careful study has been made of the booklet, "A Ten Year Review of the League of Nations." About one hundred and ten pupils, any of whom were eligible for the national contest, studied this booklet. On Friday morning, March 14, twenty students reported to take the test sent out by the National League of Nations bureau. The two papers ranking highest were sent to the national offices. These papers were written by Pauline Melton and Carmen Compton. These young ladies will have their papers judged along with representative papers from schools all over the nation. Three prizes are offered to winners in the national contest: first, a trip to Europe, approximately $500; second, $100; and third, $50.

The purpose of the promoters of this contest is to intensify interest in the League of Nations so that the people of the country will look upon the league more favorably.

Co-Eds Feted At Bridge Party

Vera Debenport and Cora Ashley entertained their friends, with a bridge party Saturday afternoon. Refreshments in the St. Patrick motif, of potato chips, olives, bread and butter sandwiches, salad, cake, sherbet and punch were served to the following: Misses Margaret Bettie, Maxine Thomas, Gene Dubberly, Pauline Melton, Clara Brenner, Lucille Rix, Evelyn Merrell, Emma Freeman, Marie Vick, Mildred Patterson, Elizabeth Northington, Fan- tie Sue Read, Dorothy Smith, Ilene Barnett, Dora Mae Donald, Reta Debenport, Janice Mellinger, Mary Petty, Lola Belle Stewart, Merle McCleskey, Johnny McElhannon, Anna Pauline Jacobs and Medames Larson Lloyd, Werner Neece, Stanley Wheeler, Carlos Clover.

County Interscholastic League Contests To Be Held At Coahoma

Friday and Saturday, contestants from the Big Spring high school will go to Coahoma, where they will be entered in athletic and literary events. The County Meet is being held under direction of J. H. Kannenburg, superintendent of Coahoma schools, who is county director of the Interscholastic League.

Big Spring is sending some splendid talent to the county meet, and it is expected many honors will be won. Contestants in spelling, declamation, debating, extemporaneous speaking, track and field events will try out for county championship. Big Spring will also have representatives in the arithmetic and essay contests.

Interest in the county meet grows each year, and many of the rural schools offer real competition. To be a prize winner in these contests means much to the individuals, and also to the school.

Debate Tryout Held At School

A tryout for the school debating team was held Monday at high school. This was held in the form of a round table debate with three speakers on the negative side and two on the affirmative. The question for debate dealt with the Sterling Road Plan. There were five entrants. Robert Currie and Steve Ford, Jr., won first and second places and they will represent Big Spring at the county meet. Philip Slusser won third place and will be an alternate. Debates for both boys and girls have been planned for several nights this week: Wednesday night at 7:30 with Stanton; Thursday night at the same hour with Midland and Friday the team will debate in Coahoma.

The girls debate team, consisting of Louise Hayes and Elsie Duff debated a boys team at Lomax Tuesday night by way of practice. The same teams were to debate in the library of B.S.H.S. Thursday night.

The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend all of these debates.

Literary Events Stressed At 1930 County Meet

The County Interscholastic League contests will be held in Coahoma on Friday and Saturday, March 21 and 22, 1930. The literary events will begin Friday morning at nine o'clock.

In preparation for the spelling and plain-writing contest, Junior try-outs were held Monday afternoon under the supervision of Miss Beavers. The following six students who made the highest grades qualified for the final try-out held Thursday after school: Christine Zafonotis, Steve Ford, R. V. Jones, Ruth Mellinger, Richard LeFevre, and Melva Gene Handley.

The two students with the highest rank in that contest will represent Big Spring high school in the county contest. Others competing in the preliminary try-out were: Pauline Howie, Dorothy Burnett, Helen Orison, Lenora Williams, Elva Heffington, Jack Dearing, Mary Davidson, Margaret McDonald, Willie Frances Thomas, Jane Tinsley, Doris Smith, Dorothy Rhoton, Elizabeth Hanson, and Mary Humble.

It was deemed unnecessary to have preliminary try-outs for the senior division because of the lack of interest. Only five entrants have designated themselves as contestants and so a team of two will be selected this afternoon from the following: Anna Pauline Jacobs, Fred Wall, J. D. McWhirter, Catherine Van Open, and Lucille Rix.

School Orchestra Organization Held

The High School Orchestra was organized Tuesday, March 4. Since then it has played for the Wednesday Luncheon club twice, chapel once, a style show and various class meetings. All members are working incessantly and the outlook is good for one of the best high school orchestras in this section.

History Of Yearbook Dates Back To '16

Since the staff of the Big Spring high school's year book is about to send off the last sheets of the annual to the printers it may be interesting to some people to know a few facts about some of the first annuals. The first ones were issued about 1916 during the years that Mr. M. H. Brasher was principal. These issues were merely pamphlets held together by a silken cord. The backs were merely heavy paper. A few years ago the annual was discontinued and was replaced by a monthly paper edited by the Senior Class. Willie Daves was the editor-in-chief. The annual was revived again when Miss Clara Cox came to teach in the high school. She and Mr. Daves were sponsors and Nell Brown was editor-in-chief.

The budget in 1926 amounted to $1,000 and it could not be raised for two years. It is now approximately $1,700.

The annuals now are much different from that of 1916. There was always a Queen—the result of a hard fight, and the Seniors, who generally won always had a page with their queen's picture on it. That was a time when they had something for which to fight. Every year El Rodeo is getting bigger and better, starting at the first page on up to a pretty back. Needless to say all of us are proud to have such a good annual. Thanks to the hard working staff.

Old Photographs

Old photographs are the source of much emotional response—usually pleasing, but sometimes otherwise. Photographs are kept for remembrance, and we look through them time after time, enjoying the memories which they bring. They link us with the past in a more realistic way than anything else can do. It seems that we never tire of our own collection; they never lose their original charm. Sometimes photographs cause an embarrassing situation, for fond parents invariably insist upon showing them to visitors. They produce a photograph of us when we were then, and we wonder if we really ever looked so ridiculous, but of course the picture prevents our denying the fact. We secretly resolve to destroy the offending photograph before our adoring parents have a chance to exhibit it to the next visitor we might have. Photographs present an amusing side in the radical change of dress. We laugh at a picture of our mother, perhaps, when she was our age. Her hair is long and dressed in a most peculiar style, her skirt reaches the ground, and her blouse is very full with a high neck and puff sleeves. Not so very long from now, however, our own photographs, portraying short skirts, stockingless legs, and cropped hair will be a source of much amusement.

The most boring thing I can imagine is to be the victim to the unpleasant task of looking through a family album, with its owner explaining each picture in detail. The photographs, in their estimation, are marvelous and of course we agree, in the hopes that the end of the album will soon be reached. Many jokes have been concocted about the traditional family album, but the book means much to its owner. So long as our own collection of photographs are valuable to us, a photographer will never be an idle person.—Margaret Bettie.

POLY WOG CLUB HAS MEETING

The Poly Wog club, composed of Miss Beavers' home room, had its regular meeting Tuesday, March 18, 1930. Business matters were discussed and the following delightful program was given:

Elsie Smith—"Taint Nuthin' to Laugh At."

Dorothy Rhoton—"Ah! Those Eyes."

Ruth Taylor and Mary Settle—"That Wonderful Something Called Love."

Hazel Smith—"I Get the Blues When It Rains."

Mildred Herring, Elsie Winslow, Jane Tinsley, Hazel Smith, and Polly Thomas were present.

Following this refreshments were served to the Poly Wog club. Gertrude Watkins was a visitor.

Sport Review

By CURT BISHOP
Saturday the Big Spring thirly clads journey to Coahoma for the county meet. The local athletes will not compete against representatives from any other school, thus the meet itself is only a formality as far as Big Spring is concerned.

The chances of the Steers in the district meet are anything but bright. Edwards seems to be the only man on the local squad with a real chance of placing, though the merits of Bell have not been tested out against high class competition.

Edwards and Bell—two young men whose careers are noted for versatility. Each has lettered in four sports, both have been stars at almost every department of athletics possible for a high school student to enter.

For baseball, that is as an interscholastic sport, has almost gone from the athletic calendar. The league board devised a plan by which it might sponsor the game this year. Each district was to determine its champion and then the winners would meet in a state-wide tournament.

passers, or field generals. Only Bell can carry the ball well enough to qualify as a ball carrier. Of the rest Glover is the most capable.

There is no reason in the world why Big Spring should flatter herself with thoughts of an Oil Belt title next year. The team as it stands in spring practice is a fairly good one.

Nor is it pessimism that excites such doleful comment. Championships are not won in a season—they are the work of years. Seven years ago the coach at Breckenridge was working on the Buckaroo squad that carried the green colors of Breckenridge into the state finals.

It is almost impossible for Big Spring to suddenly appear on the horizon with a team equal to that of the Buckaroos.

And any sailor can tell you that a young ship is not apt to conquer the waves. The timber must be seasoned; the engines broken in.

to air mail contractors, and to provide much needed stimulation for the air transportation industry, which, faced with losses from air passenger operations, is in a critical condition.

Without exception, air passenger lines of the country have been suffering losses and are face to face with the necessity of suspending or curtailing some of their operations unless additional sources of revenue are forthcoming soon. It is to meet this situation as well as to provide for extension and expansion of the air mail service that the postmaster general proposes to put air mail on many of the passenger lines.

"Passenger lines now serve several sections of the country which are not now served by air mail and under the Waters bill extension of service to these sections would be possible.

Glover's Comment "We can not go on much longer," W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general said, "telling people we have no air mail service

Four Contests Open To Pupils

Essayists in the high schools of Texas are given a huge outlet for their work this year. No less than four contests are now open to high school students.

An essay contest on the "Enforcement of Laws" is offered to all Junior students. The winner of the local high school will have his manuscript taken to Coleman, where it will be adjudged with three or four hundred others. A cash prize of $5 is offered for the winning essay.

The local chamber of commerce is sponsoring a cleanup campaign and prizes are offered to each division of school students. Mrs.

Rippe has charge of this contest. The El Paso Times Herald is sponsoring an essay and oratorical contest on subjects pertaining to the constitution this year. It is a national wide campaign, with prizes for winners in district, division, state, section, and nation. Some of the awards amount to a thousand dollar cash prize for the winner in Washington, scholarships to almost any college and university in the United States, a trip abroad with all expenses paid, and numerous loving cups. Miss Butler, in charge of the history department of the local high school, is conducting this contest among the Big Spring students. A list of suggested subjects will be furnished anyone desirous of competing, but any essay pertaining to the constitution will be acceptable. They are not to exceed 950 words. to a certain section of the country when they see two or three planes going through their city each day.

The postmaster general proposes to take space aboard passenger planes for from 25 to 100 pounds of mail, paying the contractors rates of from 10 cents to 30 cents a mile.

Change The Waters bill provides for a change in the method of payment to air mail contractors from the present poundage basis to a mileage-space basis, such as now governs the payments for railway mail.

This would permit the postoffice department to adjust many existing inequalities in air mail carriage payments. Some of the air mail contractors, under the present law, are receiving rates regarded as too high, while others are receiving rates admittedly too low and under which the operators are losing money. These rates range from $3 a pound to 76 cents a pound.

The cost of carrying the air mail under the proposed law would be increased only slightly, the postmaster general said. He estimated the cost at $18,000,000 compared with $15,000,000 annually under the present law.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By STANLEY NORMAN

WRONG NUMBER

A few days ago it was noted in this column that Big Spring had been barred from the county interscholastic league meet at Coahoma Friday and Saturday because county league officials had made the request. We find that our information on the subject was all saturated from moisture. Our operative at the high school gave us a bit of sour information and as usual we grabbed the Steer banter and hoisted it on high. Now we learn that no restrictions had been placed on the Steer track team and that it will be allowed to compete just as any other county school.

DETAILS

We suppose the information was propagated from the fact that Big Spring is the only Class A high school in Howard county. No other high school has the required 120 students for Class A rating. Such being the case, Big Spring will not have an opponent for Class A honors, but there are several Class B youngsters that will set a pretty hot pace for their larger opponent. If Big Spring wins all the events Saturday in which Steer athletes are entered it will be a right lively afternoon, but we seriously doubt such a clean cut performance will be registered.

SOME SALARY

We are just a little late in making comment on Ray Morrison's new contract with Southern Methodist University, but the circumstances justify further notation. Morrison is the boy that introduced the fine art of forward passing to the Southwest conference and has since inaugurating that type of offense developed various phases of importance. The Mustangs have been a serious little contender for several seasons and the Dallas school is more than willing to pass a share of the credit to Ray Morrison. His new contract signed in February assures him of a job for the next five years and although the salary figure was not publicly released, it is understood to be $12,500 per annum. Numerous coaches in the Big Ten and in large eastern colleges are drawing far less than the figure Morrison will draw during the next five years.

A NEW DAY

The fact that Southern Methodist University will pay its coach $12,500 per year is no indication in itself that Southwest conference football continues it will not be long until Fort Worth and Dallas are both equipped with huge stadiums that will compare in every way with those of large eastern institutions and with the huge bowls at Pasadena and other Pacific coast sport centers. There is no reason to believe that Christmas and New Year games of intersectional interest will not draw 70,000 or 80,000 people in Fort Worth or Dallas if a stadium of that capacity is constructed. Our December and January climate is not too severe for football.

OBIE BRISTOW

Obie Bristow, son of J. E. Bristow, who is held captive in Mexico by a bandit crew, was in Big Spring Wednesday enroute to El Paso to assist with the work of releasing his father. Obie was a football star at Oklahoma University for two years and then left school and played two years with professional teams of Kansas City, Chicago, Philadelphia and other cities.

HE AGREES

Obie is a big husky buster and is fully capable of taking care of himself. He agrees with most other ex-college football stars that have taken a fling at the pro racket that the latter is much the more strenuous of the two classes. Although Obie is now interested in the production of oil in West Texas and other mineral interests, his mind seldom strays from the grid-iron sport.

Miss Pauline Cantrell, county superintendent of schools, is making a visit in the county's schools this week. She was in Fairview and Bisco Tuesday, in Vashmoore and Gay Hill Wednesday and will visit Elbow and Center Point schools Friday.

Howard County Schools Enter Coahoma Tourney

ENTRANTS TO DISTRICT MEET AT ABILENE WILL BE DECIDED BY RESULT

Literary Events, Volley Ball, Tennis And Playground Ball Are Booked Friday With Track Meet To Be Held Saturday

The event to which schools in Howard county have been pointing all year, the county interscholastic league meet, opens in Coahoma Friday morning with various literary events and will continue Saturday with the annual track and field meet. Winners of the various events will be commissioned to represent Howard county in the interscholastic league district meet to be held at Abilene.

A week ago it was understood the Big Spring high school track and field team would not compete at Coahoma, but that impression was counteracted Thursday when it was learned that the Steer athletes will take part in the various track and field events Saturday.

In addition to the literary events scheduled Friday, the volley ball, playground ball and tennis competition was to come late in the afternoon leaving the entire day Saturday for preliminaries and finals of the track and field events.

Steers To Run

Coach Bill Stevens will leave Big Spring early Saturday morning with a complete track team which will represent the local high school. Daily drills on the cinder path have continued since the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show meet held last Saturday and the results of constant work is beginning to have its effect on the athletes.

Before the district meet in Abilene next month, Big Spring's Steer tracksters will participate in a dual track and field meet with Lamesa next Friday. Lamesa will be host and the Steer tracksters will leave here Friday morning for that city, the county seat of Dawson county. The meets at Coahoma Saturday and Lamesa next Friday are expected to put the Steers in top condition for the district relay carnival in Abilene. Various representatives of Big Spring high school who will uphold the Steer colors in literary events were in Coahoma Friday morning, but results of major contests will probably be compiled before Saturday.

Coahoma Is Host

Coahoma has made extensive preparations to entertain other schools of the county and approximately 200 visitors are expected to participate in the various events there and to take part in the eastern Howard county city's hospitality. The Coahoma P. T. A. organization has arranged to dispense food through booths on the school grounds and it will not be

Shires Burns His Bridges And Says He's Off Comiskey

DALLAS, Texas, March 20 (AP)—Art Shires today claimed he had definitely "cut loose" from the Chicago White Sox. In a telephone conversation last night with the Dallas News from his home in Italy, Texas, he said he was "sick of being bulldozed" by Charles Comiskey, White Sox owner and "didn't want anything more to do with his club."

He admitted he had received a telegram from Comiskey asking him to detail "while participating in the fight ring, who suspended you and who produced the evidence that caused your reinstatement?"

"The fight commissions have records of this," Shires declared, "but I'm not a bureau of information for Comiskey or anyone else."

He said he was going to ask the White Sox to place him on the voluntarily retired list, then planned to proceed with other plans, probably to play semi-pro ball.

Drive To Condition Texas League Clubs For Flag Chase Is Intense

(By The Associated Press)

The crack of bats and thudding of feet of scurrying basemen echoed around the Texas League today as managers shoved their charges into more exhibition games, giving sore muscles a gridding test in preparation for the opening of the pennant race a few weeks hence.

Skipper Snyder in Fort Worth laid aside the daily squad game and prepared to lead the Cats into a three-game series against Texas Christian University team. Saturday the Baltimore Orioles open a two-game fracas with the Cats.

The regulars of the Cats had little trouble scoring their third victory over the Yannigans yesterday, 8 to 1.

Benefit Contest

The second of a three-game series was scheduled today between Manager Al's Dallas Steers and the Mustangs of Southern Methodist University, for the benefit of reviving the great American sport in Dallas high schools. Proceeds of the games will go toward paying for high school equipment.

The San Antonio Indians were due for their second workout of the season today. Manager George Burns now having a complete squad on the field, with 28 players in uniform. The regulars, under the name of the Euchlidas, defeated the rookies, styled the Tortillas, 7 to 4 in a six-inning scrub game yesterday.

Yanking their belts a little tighter, the Wichita Falls Spudders had more confidence today after ridding themselves of excess pep yesterday by knocking baseballs hither and thither to defeat the bewildered Ryan, Okla., all-stars, of the Texas-Oklahoma Triangle league 30 to 0. While the regulars were in Ryan, the Yannigans at home were put

Sports at Work

Shreveport Sports planned to renew intra-squad tilts today and Saturday to take on Little Rock of the Southern Association. While the regulars sat in the stands yesterday, second string members handed the college of Marshall a 7 to 1 defeat in a practice game.

What Manager Schuits said to his men today likely was plenty, but the Houston Buffs were somewhat embarrassed yesterday by the twirling of Charlie Witmer and Don Evarb of Joe Preswood's all-stars, until the Buffs finally got organized and scored two tallies in the ninth to win, 3 to 2.

The Waco Cubs faced the Baltimore Orioles today for a second exhibition game with chin up, after handing the Orioles an 8 to 2 defeat yesterday. The game was featured by the fine pitching of Hank Thormahlen and Russell Branchau. The Orioles did not score until the seventh and obtained only three hits during the game. Weingardner, young third baseman of the Cubs, played a star role.

Bob Shawkey Admits Yanks And A's Good

NEW YORK, March 20. (AP)—Bob Shawkey, manager of the New York Yankees, agrees with most baseball fans that the American League pennant lies between his team and the Philadelphia Athletics. And Bob the Gob is not inclined to rate his team second. In terms, adding "My club is every bit as good as the Athletics." He placed Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Chicago, Washington and Boston behind the min that order as his idea of how the American League clubs will finish.

JACQUELINE ON HER OWN

CHAPTER I
THWARTED YOUNG MAN

Jacqueline chuckled inwardly as she felt a hand touch her hair. She waited a moment, expecting to see a faint smile on the face of the man who had been trying to propose to her. But nothing happened. Mr. Brown continued to stare steadfastly at the screen and smoke his cigarette.

She smoked it with a desperate eagerness as if it were a thing which had to be done at all costs. In the same desperate earnestness she continued to clutch her hand, but his attitude rather suggested that he did not know he was doing it.

It seemed to Jacqueline that he caught hold of her hand in the screen by accident.

Perhaps he thinks it's one of his, she said to herself.

In the moment Jacqueline had interest in the screen in the way of dominating events. She had round discreetly.

She even having become accused to the gloom of the London star, she perceived that Mr. Brown had cleverly engineered her an isolated corner.

He rather thought this must be an accident. Mr. Brown did strike her as a Napoleon of strategy. But you never could tell these quiet young men.

Even a man with a chin distinct in retreat, like Mr. Brown's, sometimes had grit and even a large experience of life on a drapery counter had light-Jacqueline many things—among others that chins are very helpful as an index of character. She leaned a little nearer the friendly obscurity.

"I don't want to hurry you, Mr. Brown," she said with added sweetness, "but when you have quite finished with my hand, I should like to talk again. I want to know your nose, and that takes two days you know."

"Huh!" remarked Mr. Brown. He did not exactly say it, but threw it gratuitously into the atmosphere, as if he were finished with her.

But he released her hand, and Jacqueline performed mystic rites in a dainty little round card box and a little round pad, in which she scuffed her nose reverently. In the middle of the operation the lights went out. Jacqueline serenely finished the treatment.

They repaired to a neighboring shop, Jacqueline looking rather serene and still a little worried out her nose; Mr. William Brown some trouble.

He was not bad-looking, even without a chin . . . that is to say, without any chin worth talking about. With a chin he would have been approaching handsome. He served at the drapery counter of Byrums Limited, which was officially known as an emporium—Jacqueline had been at the drapery counter once, but Mr. Kewick Dell, the buyer, had looked at the tall slender girl with a seeing eye, and had promoted her to "models."

This, from Jacqueline's point of view, was to the good, as it meant an increase of salary. But Mr. Dell's seeing eye gave promise of making itself a nuisance if not restrained. However, Jacqueline flattered herself that she could put Mr. Dell in his place if necessary.

Mr. Brown lived out; Jacqueline lived in. This was the weekly afternoon off; and four times in the last fortnight Mr. Brown had asked her to accompany him to a picture show.

Jacqueline felt that a declaration of some sort was hanging over her; and, as suspense of any kind always worried her, she was determined to bring matters to a crisis this evening if possible.

She put her bare round elbows on the table defiantly, and nibbled a piece of cake. The worst of Jacqueline was that when she intended to be serious and business-like she could not help looking wistful. At these moments her soft brown eyes were calculated to play havoc with the emotional economy of any young man between the ages of 20 and 30.

"Attend, Mr. Brown," she said. "What!" ejaculated Mr. Brown, startled.

"I think it's French," replied Jacqueline. "It means 'take notice.' Why did you hold my hand like that just now?"

Mr. Brown turned away, and he was quite obvious that he was in trouble again. "Can't I hold your hand?" he asked.

"Of course you can't, Mr. Brown. You ought not to need me to tell you that."

"Why have you let me take you out then?" persisted Mr. Brown with a hollow note.

"Because I've enjoyed it, and I thought you had."

"I have."

"Very well then, we're quits," said Jacqueline. "I let you take me to the pictures and spend ninepence on my seat because I think it's worth ninepence to anybody to have the pleasure of my society. But that doesn't include holding my hand."

There was a prolonged pause after this, with Mr. Brown again wrestling internally with emotional storms. So prolonged that Jacqueline's attention wandered.

Two men had just sat down at a table on her left, and the face of one of them fascinated her. It was exactly like the face of a horse.

"If he looks straight at me," she said to herself, "I'm absolutely certain I shall say 'Get up!'"

"Put your shirt on Prinkipo tomorrow, my boy, and you'll make a pot," Jacqueline heard him say. "I'm not talking for the sake of making the air hot—I know, my son. Got it straight from the horse's nosebag."

"There!" murmured Jacqueline. "I know his face must have come out of a nosebag."

"It's a hundred to one chance," continued the man with a face like a horse; "and, take it from little me, I'm right in the know. She's the pick of the Warwickshire handicaps, and she's got all the shacked to a standstill before she starts. She'll spread-eagle the field. It's just like picking up money, my son."

"Now what on earth does he mean by all that?" murmured Jacqueline inwardly.

A hoarse whisper sounded close to her ear: "Jacqueline I love you!"

It was Mr. Brown, but Jacqueline for the moment had forgotten his troubles. She looked at Mr. Brown vacantly, and said: "Put your shirt on Prinkipo tomorrow, my boy and you'll make a pot."

"What!" gasped Mr. Brown.

"Oh, I'm so sorry!" she returned penitently. "You see those two men just going out—one of them with a face like a horse?—well, that is what he was saying to his friend just now, and I'm wondering what on earth he means by it. What's the Warwickshire handicap, Mr. Brown?"

"Horse-racing," answered Brown. "The Warwickshire is tomorrow, I believe, but I'm not in touch with racing nowadays. I've had my fling at that. It's a mug's game."

But Jacqueline was not to be thwarted. There is nothing that surpasses the resistance of a woman when she is curious. Piece-meal she drew Mr. Brown out with the air of a man who had a lurid past connected with the turf. He reluctantly answered her questions.

"Girls don't understand racing," he said in dismissal. "Best thing for you is to leave it alone, or you'll burn your fingers like I did. I've heard about those tips straight from the stable."

"But this man knows," murmured Jacqueline with a dreamy look and Mr. Brown might have been amazed and startled if he had known what little effect his words had in stifling her interest in a 100-1 shot.

Mr. Brown stared at her with the expression of man in a hypnotic trance. Mr. Brown's losses seemed to have embittered him.

"What was that you were saying about loving me, Mr. Brown?"

Mr. Brown jumped, and pulled himself together with an effort. "I said I loved you, Jacqueline. I have loved you for months; years, I think. I have loved you ever since you first came into the drapery, when we used to sit opposite each other at meal-times."

"Why do you love me, Mr. Brown?"

"I . . . don't know. A man doesn't know why he loves a girl. He just loves her. I like your face, and your ways . . . and the way you carry yourself in those Paris models . . . And I like the color of your eyes, and the color of your hair, and the color of . . . of . . ."

"Don't you say my nose, Mr. Brown, or I'll never speak to you again."

"I love you, Jacqueline, I love you, my dear," ended Mr. Brown, looking profoundly miserable.

"Well?" said Jacqueline.

Mr. Brown blinked.

remember what you have said to me with—my gratitude."

"And you will marry me, Jacqueline?"

"No, I can't marry you, Mr. Brown. I'm very sorry to hurt your feelings, and I hope you will find another nice girl whom you will like—the color of, and so on."

"That's all right, then," replied Jacqueline. "So long as you had kept it in mind. And it's very kind of you to love me, Mr. Brown. I like 'most everybody to be a little bit fond of me, and I shall always never be happy together."

"But you are the sort of girl for me," insisted Brown.

"You think so," returned Jacqueline sweetly; "but you don't know me. I may be the right color, and all that, but you don't know what there is inside me. And besides, you're not the sort of man for me. I hate to hurt you, Mr. Brown; but I must tell you the truth."

"Because I'm not the sort of girl for you, and you are not the sort of man for me, and we should

TAFT LETTER INTRODUCED IN PRO HEARING

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The late William Howard Taft was quoted today at the house judiciary committee's prohibition hearing as having said in November, 1926, that the results of prohibition were "glorious" and that he felt it would be possible to achieve satisfactory results.

Horace P. Taft, brother of the late chief justice of the United States, was the first witness at today's session. He presented a letter the former president had written to Professor Irving Fisher of Yale University, under date of Nov. 21, 1926. It read:

"My Dear Irving: Thank you for sending me your new book. I shall read it with a great deal of pleasure. In the late campaign I found myself in a very awkward situation. I could not issue any publication during it, because of my being on the bench, and yet the New York World published my anti-prohibition letters written to Lincoln in dry of New Haven before the adoption of the amendment, and then nobody seemed to take the trouble to publish my speech at Yale given after the amendment was adopted.

"But the result was glorious and points the only way that we have to work out the problem presented. The solution requires a great deal of time and patience. The habits of an important section of a congested part of the country can not be changed over night or in years. The reform and the adaptation of society to that at which the amendment aims must be gradual.

"The temptation of corruption will drag it out. While looking ahead at the amendment, I despaired of any success. I really think that it is possible, if we keep at it, to achieve a satisfactory result. The persistence with which the people maintain in congress a two-thirds majority in both houses gives me much hope, and I am inclined to think that this will wear down the moderate wets to a consciousness that the only solution is pressure in favor of enforcement.

"I see that the wets claim that the election was not a prohibitive victory. Well, one can not argue with that view, and can only let those who believe it continue to believe it.

"As ever yours,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT"

Mrs. A. O. Hardin and son, Wilbur, arrived in Big Spring Saturday for a visit with friends and relatives.

Mrs. A. L. Kent and son, Billy J. of McNeil, Ark., arrived in Big Spring Tuesday to visit with Mrs. Kent's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Tamsitt and other relatives.

Raymond F. Lyons spent Tuesday in San Angelo on business.

The Food That Fights Fat

It's a gland food, now used to correct the known cause of so much excess fat. Doctors now employ it the world over. And now, without starvation, multitudes are gaining new youth and beauty, vim and vigor. You see the results wherever you look. Fat is the exception now.

Marmola prescription tablets embody this modern method. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Some of your own friends, doubtless, can show you what they do.

Let them bring you what they have brought to so many. The results will delight and amaze you. A book in the box explains the effects. Go now and ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola. You owe that to yourself.
