Grand Jury Returns 16 Indictments

15 Persons Named In True Bills Filed With Clerk

Sixteen indictments in criminal cases, charging 15 defendants, were returned by a grand jury Thursday after a four-day session, one of the longest grand jury sessions on record here.

The grand jury examined 151 witnesses in 27 cases, it reported at 3 p.m. Thursday to District Judge E. A. Bills.

No indictments were made in two murder cases under investigation, Judge Bills said, and several cases were carried over for further investigation.

Indictments filed Thursday with the clerk of the district court included two auto theft cases; three cases charging second offense of driving while intoxicated, a penitentiary offense; several burglaries, a worthless check charge and a forgery charge.

Ray C. Hulse served as grand jury foreman under appointment of District Judge E. A. Bills. Other members serving were J. W. Gosdin, H. O. Sewell, Leonard Albus, Vernon Y. Jeffries, Doyle Terrell, Rudolph Shockley, Bill Nichols, Nolan Parish, V. A. Hinds, Frank J. Kirk and Roy Hutson Sr.

Charley Ervin, Sudan, was indicted on charges of theft of an automobile, a felony. The case involves a 1941 Oldsmobile sedan allegedly stolen Dec. 14, 1949, in Sudan.

Horace Gordon was named in an indictment charging burglary. Gordon was arrested on charges of burglarizing the Tom Woods residence, five miles south of Sudan, Jan. 29. Stolen were a .22 rifle, a wrist watch, bracelet, radio and draperies. The loot was recovered.

Three separate indictments were returned against Eddie McClendon, Ben Junior Chadwick and Robert Selman, Plainview men, charging burglary.

McClendon, Chadwick and Selman were returned to the custody of Lamb County officers last week. Brought here from Dimmitt jail, they have been serving time in Hale, Randall and Castro counties on similar charges.

Charges here followed the burglary of three private homes in the Rocky Ford community. Homes of Floyd Chafin, Dean Roberson and G. C. Bearden were entered Sept. 11.

Wiley F. McCown was indicted on charges of forgery and passing a forged instrument. A check for about $10 on Clark Drilling Company, made out to McCown, was

Rural Phone Service Meetings Wednesday

With interesting mounting in this area for organization of a rural telephone service cooperative, meetings are scheduled for Wednesday night in Littlefield and Sudan to explain the program to farmers who would get the service.

A meeting in Olton Tuesday and the meetings in Littlefield and Sudan on Wednesday will wind up preliminary organization work. The program has been outlined in the past two weeks to farmers in Anton, Pep, Spade, Pettie, Amherst, Hart Camp and Witharral.

With each of the ten towns represented, an overall organization will be formed at a meeting Thursday in the offices of the Lamb County Electric Co-Operative Company.

Meet At Legion Hall

Farmers in the Littlefield area are urged to attend the meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Legion Hall, when Dick Carl, manager of the Lamb County Electric Co-Op, will explain the proposed program.

Simultaneously, J. R. Kuykendall, co-op secretary, will be meeting with farmers in Sudan. The two towns will select committees to meet with those from the eight towns already visited at the Thursday session here.

Carl, who said he is acting in an advisory capacity, indicated that he would recommend that the group choose a seven-man board, which would elect its own officers.

With organization work completed Thursday, the group will be in a position to make a further investigation of the desire and need for rural telephone service in this area, Carl pointed out. Present plans call for the mailing of membership application forms in the near future "to get something definite to work on."

"We hope our investigation of the program will enable us to answer the two questions farmers ask us most often: 'When can we get service?' and 'How much will it cost us?'" he said.

Several factors, mainly the density of service connections in the area to be covered, affect the cost of the program and the time required to initiate it.

Plan Trip To Austin

The group hopes to get information to answer those questions at a meeting in Austin Feb. 20. Members of the newly-elected board of directors are expected to attend the session, which will be a state-wide rural phone service meeting sponsored by the Texas Power Reserve Electric Co-Operative.

Carl said the meetings in the (Continued on Back Page)

Group Hears Attack On Private Control Of Underground Water

A state law giving ownership and control of underground water to landowners was attacked by witnesses at a two-day hearing of the state Water Code Committee held Friday and Saturday in Austin.

Arthur P. Duggan, Littlefield, an attorney for the High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association, who attended the hearings, reported that the present law, which protects the water rights of about 1500 Lamb County irrigation well users, is under severe attack by persons who seek state control of underground water.

All but a dozen witnesses at the hearing testified they thought the state should set up some kind of agency with broad regulatory powers over water uses, similar to the powers of the Railroad Commission over oil and gas.

One man, J. H. Starley of Pecos, representing the Trans-Pecos Cotton Growers Association, said he thought administrative power should be left to local levels.

If underground water is put under state control, Duggan said, supporters will probably ask that the State Board of Water Engineers, which controls surface waters, administer the law. The surface water law regulates use under a priority system, with municipalities and industries taking precedence over irrigators.

Areas which are pushing industrial development are principal supporters of the proposals to control underground water.

Interests of the South Plains, which has three million acres with underground water and more than 12,000 irrigation wells, are endangered by the attempted water raid from industrial backers.

Shaping up is a third round of the fight to keep control of underground water with individual landowners. First round was defeat three years ago of a bill to give the state control, and second round was passage of the law giving ownership and control to individual owners.

The Water Code Commission will hear the other side of the story at a hearing in Amarillo in which the Panhandle country will be represented. No date was set.

Set up to study Texas water laws and report to the next legislature, the Water Code Committee had not intended originally to consider underground water problems.

Need For Red Cross Reported To Be Increasing Each Year

Bringing tears to the eyes of its friends is not what the Red Cross seeks in giving service, but last July the organization was responsible for a good cry in the case of Evelyn Lauder, farm wife of Ransom County, North Dakota. A few days after a vicious tornado had wrecked every building on the farm except the house, the Lauders were visited by a Red Cross worker. The latter explained that the Red Cross was prepared to help rebuild, repair, re-stock with livestock, or replace machinery as an outright gift, if Evelyn and Everett Lauder hadn't enough resources to help themselves out of the ruins.

Mrs. Lauder looked out at the ruined barn, hen and hog houses, at the twisted stumps of once great shade trees while her husband explained that the Lauders, while grateful, really didn't need help and that they had plenty of resources with which to rebuild, repair, and replace. Then Evelyn Lauder, her eyes filling with tears, said,

"Every year I have volunteered to collect money for the Red Cross in March. I never dreamed they went this far to help folks or that some day they'd knock at our door with an offer of help."

Like many another goodhearted volunteer worker or giver, Mrs. Lauder would have been equally impressed had she studied the figures for disaster relief aid in her home state over a representative five-year period. In North Dakota alone 12 disasters called for Red Cross rebuilding or repair of some 232 homes. In Texas, in the same period, 1,395 disaster-damaged or wrecked dwellings were replaced after 89 fires, tornadoes, explosions, or other catastrophes. Thousands of dollars more were spent for emergency care, medical bills, re-training in new jobs of those whose injuries prevented them from resuming their former crafts and trades. Biggest item in the work, however, is rebuilding and repair which accounts for better than one-fourth of every dollar budgeted for disaster relief. The work has increased enormously in cost since the Red Cross began picking up the pieces after the great Michigan forest fires of 1881. In those days, day laborers worked for about 50 cents a day. Milk sold in cities for five cents per quart. Early in this century Red Cross records show the average cost of repairing a flood-damaged home at $600 per house. For the past decade or so, the same repairs hover between $1,600 and $1,800 per home.

When 30,000 people evacuated homes in Missouri, Arkansas, and Illinois in mid-January to escape flooding rivers, they left most of their possessions behind. Few, if any, will have flood insurance. Right now Red Cross workers are planning the rebuilding and repair of homes and possessions. Home-town committees will hear the plans, will authorize aid where plans are sound and families cannot get back to normal living without help.

Another large item in restoring homes and health for those wiped out by disasters includes Red Cross payment of care for those with the broken backs and crushed limbs characteristic of the 150 tornadoes a year that sweep across the southern and plains states. In explosions, which can happen any place, extensive plastic surgery is often called for on behalf of victims hideously scarred by flying glass and debris. Fire victims often need expensive and long-continuing skin grafts in addition to blood and plasma; while in floods, particularly where the aged are involved, some are always left with slowly-healed cases of pneumonia or other chest complications. Few families, even those with comprehensive insurance, can afford such care, especially when the medical, hospital, and nursing bills are piled on top of rebuilding and repair work on homes. Where the victim is the breadwinner, money enough to feed and keep the family must be supplied until orphans reach their majorities or head of the

W. G. Street states that 80% of the city taxes have been collected. A customer came into Stokes Drug store for a box of aspirin.

Records gathered by home demonstration agent, Miss Ruby Mashburn, shows that the wearing of silk hose all day and every day, may please a girl's vanity, but is an expensive habit, for it cost more than twice as much as it does to wear cotton hose.

Littlefield To Help Promotion Of Canadian River Project

Share Of $15,000 Promotion Is $533; Mayor At Meeting

Littlefield will be asked to share a budget program to finance a promotion program to gain approval for the Canadian river water project.

The promotion budget was set at $15,000. Littlefield's share of $533 was discussed at a meeting of representatives of the South Plains and Canadian River cities Wednesday in Littlefield at the session of the Herring Hotel.

Developments at the meeting included a decision to submit to the Senate Interior and Insular Committee an early hearing on the bill, already introduced in the House of Representatives which provides for the project.

Compact Commissioners from New Mexico and Oklahoma will meet in Amarillo Feb. 21 to begin working out an agreement on the project. The Canadian River flows in each of the three states and an agreement among them will be necessary before construction can be started, if and when it is authorized by Congress and approved by the President.

Dam at Sanford

The plans propose construction of a huge dam and reservoir on the Canadian at Sanford, about 40 miles northeast of Amarillo, and giant pipelines to transport water thus impounded to the towns and cities desiring it for domestic and industrial uses. The undertaking would require the repayment of about $80,000,000 of the money advanced by the federal government for construction. Sale of the water over a period of 50 years would be expected to provide these repayment funds.

Agreement appeared unanimous at the Amarillo meeting that the next big hurdle to approval of the project will be a hearing before the Senate Interior and Insular Committee on the bill which has already been approved by the House.

In an effort to hasten this hearing, a committee was named to go to Washington Feb. 20. Appointed on it were Rex Baxter, manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce; Irving Jones, member of the Lubbock city water resources board; Mayor Sam Richardson of Lamesa; Fritz Thompson, county commissioner of Borger. Clarence Whiteside, general chairman of the temporary Panhandle-Plains Canadian river organization, will probably accompany the group.

The hearing, Whiteside pointed out, is a necessary preliminary to the consideration of the measure by the Senate as a whole.

Seek More Delegates

He emphasized that every locality interested in the possibility of the Canadian development as a source of domestic and industrial water supply will be urged to send delegations to the hearing, if and when set.

Col. E. V. Spence, Texas interstate compact commissioner, has notified the group that the commissioners of Oklahoma and New Mexico have agreed to meet with him in Amarillo Feb. 21. John Bliss will be the New Mexico representative and Clarence Burch, Oklahoma.

While agreement was unanimous that no construction work can be started on the project until a compact involving the three states is approved, opinion was that this requirement should not be an obstacle to final congressional action on the bill.

The details of such compacts usually follow congressional action, the meeting was told. The measure now pending specifically forbids the start of actual work on the project until an interstate agreement is approved by the legislatures of the interested states.

Senators Pledge Aid

Texas senators Tom Conally and Lyndon Johnson have pledged fullest cooperation with the efforts to arrange the hearing and to obtain approval of the project by the committee and the senate as a whole, delegates were told. Members of the organization were cautioned, however, that Sen. Dennis Chavez of New Mexico and Sen. A. V. Watkins of Utah, both committee members, may oppose the measure.

The group hopes that Sen. Chavez will be satisfied that the interests of New Mexico are fully protected under the measure now pending.

One of the purposes of the committee's approaching trip to Washington and the committee hearing to be sought will be to try to ascertain exactly what the New Mexico senator wants.

Engineers who prepared plans for the project reported that little of the water which would be impounded by the proposed Sanford dam would come from New Mex-

Lamb Farmers To See Conservation Practices In Field Day Wednesday

Four farms will be used in demonstration of soil conservation measures, crop rotation and farm irrigation practices when the second annual Soil Conservation Field Day gets underway Wednesday.

Board of supervisors of the Lamb County Soil Conservation District is sponsoring the field day, which starts at 9 a.m. on the P. O. Masten farm.

Improve Pastures

Improved pasture, fertilizers and barnyard manure applications and sprinkler irrigation are topics for a 45-minute session, it was announced.

Continuing their study at the Masten farm, spectators will learn about deep plowing of sand land, deep plowing of tight land, and clover crop and fertilizers.

At the J. H. Ingleking farm, a program starting at 11 a.m. will deal with rotation of wheat and sweet clover, rotation of alfalfa and grain sorghum and a land plan demonstration.

To Dutton Farm

The group will move to the A. J. Dutton farm at 11:45 a.m. to study land leveling for irrigation.

At 12:30 farmers attending the field day will be invited to attend a luncheon given by the Lions Club at Earth. Guest speakers and soil conservation film are on the luncheon program.

The program will wind up at 2 p.m. on the J. E. Busby farm, where topics will be bench leveling for irrigation, underground pipelining and flood irrigation of benched land.

All farmers of Lamb County are invited to attend the field day.

NEW 1950 CADILLAC ON DISPLAY AT JONES MOTOR IS WELL RECEIVED

The new 1950 Cadillac, featuring several body and style improvements, is being well-received by visitors to the Jones Motor Company, where the new model is on display.

All the new models are lower than the 1949 cars—some as much as four inches. All are styled in long, low contours to give further "close to the ground" appearance. Lowering of all models has been accomplished by a complete redesigning of the frame, which is now shallower but more rigidly constructed than ever before. This important change has made it possible to take advantage of the great stability that accompanies reduced car height, while maintaining the same road clearance. Interior body head room has also been maintained and in some models increased.

A shorter, broader hood; lower contoured front fenders; and the commanding appearance of a newly styled grill suggest swift forward motion characteristic of the tremendous power of the Cadillac V-8 high compression engine.

Completely new styling of the windshield, roof and windows gives the upper body a more pleasingly graceful appearance. Unobstructed forward vision has been achieved with a broader, single piece curved windshield. Elimination of the windshield center post and relocation of the corner pillars to a more rearward position adds new beauty and permits the driver a wider range of side vision.

For 1950 the longer, broader rear deck, introduced in the 60 Special last year, becomes a feature in the styling of the Coupe DeVille, Convertible and Series 62 Coupe. This longer deck, coupled with the advantages gained by mounting the gas tank directly to the body floor and repositioning of the new shock absorbers, increases trunk space to more than 14 cubic feet.

Hydraulic mechanisms for raising and lowering windows and adjusting front seat position are included as standard equipment on the Coupe DeVille, Series 62 Convertible, Series 60 Special Sedan and Series 75 seven-passenger sedan.

Besides his parents, the child is survived by a brother, Ronald Elton; a sister, Connie Sue; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Moreland of Littlefield; and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Kemp of Grapevine, Tex.

Dent Addresses Ralls Road Group

Organization of a Crosby County chapter of the State Rural Roads Association followed a meeting in Ralls Friday night at which Judge Otha F. Dent, Lamb county judge, was the principal speaker.

Judge Dent is vice president of the state association, which seeks to get more farm-to-market roads through allocations from the state legislature for construction projects.

He reported that from 75 to 100 persons attended the mass meeting of farmers in Ralls high school auditorium.

The Lamb County division of the State Rural Roads Association, organized a year ago, now has 500 members, Judge Dent pointed out. A membership drive, to raise the total to 1500 members, is planned for the near future.

Sudan Minister Is Engineer For Church Building

Walter L. Bostick, minister of the Sudan Church of Christ, is doubling as an engineer while the congregation erects a new $25,000 building on a three-lot site on Main Street in Sudan.

Mr. Bostick, besides being a minister, holds a degree in mechanical engineering from Texas A & M College, which qualifies him well to direct activities by a large corps of volunteer workers in Sudan.

Plans for the new building call for nine classrooms and an auditorium seating 400 persons. The structure will be of modified modern design, with an exterior finish of cream brick veneer.

Two lots of the property were donated by F. O. Masten, member of the church, and a third adjoining lot was purchased by the church.

Elders R. S. Gatewood, V. G. Woods, Ulys King, E. E. Chanch and H. I. Boren are directing a fund-raising campaign to finance the construction.

BREAKS THUMB

Donald Taylor of near Anton suffered a broken thumb on his right hand while playing Friday evening, and was admitted to the Payne-Shotwell Foundation, where the broken bone was set. He remained in the hospital overnight.

Land Now Against Spring And Drouth, Expert Warns

Farmers should by all means keep vegetation on ground and attempt to hold its moisture and withstand coming spring sandstorms. South Plains farmers, especially those without irrigation, should avoid listing their land now, Young said. Stubble mulching land is the only way dry land farmers can partially insure themselves enough moisture for this year's crop, he added. "To hold what little moisture there is in the soil now, farmers should stir the soil underneath but not turn under that vegetation which is on top of the ground," Dr. Young asserted.

Wind Erosion Danger

Land which can be irrigated can be listed without too much risk if the farmer will begin immediately to irrigate and restore moisture content to the soil, the Tech professor said, stressing the danger of huge dust storms and subsequent wind erosion.

Farmers who are anticipating spring sandstorms and preparing their land accordingly are likely to fare much better than others. For those who insist on listing their land, Dr. Young recommended deep furrows and the turning up of clods to at least offer a partial resistance to high winds.

The use of chisels or Hoemle-type plowing whereby all vegetation is left on top of the ground was recommended. Basing his assertions on experiments at Tech, Dr. Young said that bedding land only exposes more of it to moisture evaporation and removes from it any protection against wind.

"Farmers should wait until planting time before listing their land," he declared. "Chiseling or sweeping now will open up the soil to allow the absorption of any rainfall which might occur and cut roots of weeds if the depth is set at from two to three inches. No

Money Recovered
By Hatchery From Juvenile Burglars

Recovery of all money stolen by two juvenile runaways from Lubbock in a series of burglaries last Monday night in Littlefield was reported by Sheriff Sid Hopping.

The stolen cash has been returned. City Laundry, Brown's Cafe, Milner & Ross Hatchery and Texas Pump and Equipment Company, primary and grade school buildings were entered by the two youths. The big haul was at the Hatchery, where $128.75 was taken from a cash drawer. Small amounts were taken from the other places and they were ransacked.

Caught in Clovis were two runaway boys, 14 and 15 years old. They were on parole from the juvenile court in Lubbock. After a hearing before Judge Otha F. Dent, county judge, they were placed in custody of Lubbock officers.

Sheriff Hopping said the boys probably will be sent to the State School for Boys at Gatesville.

dry land farmer should attempt to list land this early with a drouth such as we are experiencing underway."

Winter Watering

The Tech professor was in favor of winter watering, especially by those farmers who have a limited well capacity.

Many South Plains farmers reportedly are currently flat-breaking their land at a depth of from eight to twelve inches and most of them will probably start irrigating all possible land the last of this month or early in March.

Farmers not wishing to gamble the expense of irrigating now against a possible heavy rain during the month can still realize a high degree from good watering in about three weeks, the farm expert added.
