Back in '17 Walter Riley, 13, wanted to fight the Germans so badly he stowed away aboard a transport. In France he followed the AEF to the front, and although sent back three times he always managed to re-join his buddies. Today Walter Riley, pictured above, is a first sergeant in the tank corps and is in Ireland as a legitimate member of the second AEF.

CAMPAIGN TO RAISE USO FUNDS GETS UNDERWAY HERE MONDAY

T. Wade Potter In Charge Of Drive For Lamb County

Committeemen Appointed Who Will Meet Friday To Formulate Plans

A campaign to raise funds for the United Service Organizations will begin Monday of next week in Lamb County under the leadership of T. Wade Potter, Littlefield, Chairman of the USO drive in Lamb county. Mr. Potter has appointed vice-chairmen for each town in the county. They are: J. C. Hillman, Littlefield; W. H. Lyle, Sudan; Roger Willett, Amherst; and L. E. Silcott, Olton.

Committee To Meet Friday

This committee will meet in Mr. Potter's office Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, to formulate plans of action for carrying out the drive. Each chairman will in turn meet with a committee of his selection in his own town Monday morning, and the drive will begin immediately.

The USO is made up of the Knights of Columbus, the Y.M.C.A., the Salvation Army, the Y.W.C.A., the National Catholic Community Service, the Jewish Welfare Board, and the National Traveler's Aid Association, all of which worked separately in the last war to give our fighting forces the relaxation and friendship they needed to keep their morale high. The combined efforts of these organizations means that, by working together, a great deal more can be accomplished. They furnish clubhouses near Army and Navy posts, send show troops to the camps to entertain the troops, furnish writing materials and telephone services to soldiers in bus stations and railroad centers all across the country. More than just this, the soldier knows that when he goes to a USO center he will find someone to talk to, a friendship that he craves, and be sure that he is welcome. To troops in transit, friendly USO women meet troop trains and offer coffee, cookies, writing materials, magazines and newspapers. Everywhere the USO means help and friendship to our boys.

Lamb Quota $2,521.20

The quota for Lamb County is $2,521.20, an apportionment based on the 1940 population of the county. The quota for the entire State of Texas is $1,110,000, and for the United States is $32,000,000.

The USO has pledged that wherever the Army and Navy go, there they will go also to bring a touch of home, even to the most outlying posts. But, to perform that task, it needs your support. No drive could be more worth while.

FIRST BAPTIST OBSERVES ITS 28th ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY

Services will be held Sunday, June 7, in celebration of the 28th anniversary of the First Baptist Church of Littlefield, which came on June 1. This will also mark the beginning of the fifth year for the pastor, Rev. Roy Shahan.

The First Baptist Church was organized in Littlefield on June 1, 1914, by a group of far-seeing, religious and civic minded people, who had long felt the need of such an organization in this town.

Since that time, many improvements have been made in the building and in the management of the church affairs. In 1925 the present building was erected under the leadership of Rev. W. I. Phipps. At the present time, plans are being made for the erection of a new parsonage, and either an educational building or a new auditorium.

A splendid example of the strides made in financial management of the church is the fact that on June 1 of last year the debt on the church was more than twice what it is at the present time. It is the plan of the church to liquidate this debt by the end of 1942.

Another fine work carried out by the church this year has been the erection and dedication of the Mexican Mission in the north part of town. This work was carried out by the hard-working members of the church and their pastor, and they were aided by the congregation of the Mexican Mission.

Rev. Shahan came here from Rule after two and a half years there. He is a graduate of Hardin Simmons College, and is considered one of the finest speakers in the state.

No Restrictions On Sugar Beets

"We have been advised that no acreage restrictions on the planting of sugar beets will be made for the 1942 crop," is a statement issued by Leston F. Bain, secretary Lamb County A.C.A.

Bain further stated that the base rate of payment to sugar beet producers has been increased from 60 cents cwt. to 80 cents cwt. However, this rate of payment is applicable only to the first 350 tons of commercially recoverable sugar from beets grown on the farm. The rate of payment on the next 350 tons, 75 cents cwt.; on the next 300 tons, 70 cents cwt.; on the next 500 tons, 60 cents cwt.; on the next 1500 tons, 55 cents cwt.; and on the next 3000 tons, 52 1/2 cents cwt.

The farming practices which sugar beet growers may carry out in meeting the conditions for payment under the 1942 Sugar Beet Program are the same as the 1941 practices. However, in 1942 only 1/2 acre of practices is required for each acre of sugar beets, rather than the acre for acre requirement of 1941. This reduction in the requirement was made because of the increased need for sugar beets and other so-called war crops.

Claude Gray, 44, formerly of 4 1/2 miles west of Littlefield, and more recently of Lubbock, passed away Wednesday morning, May 27, at Mexico City, as a result of pneumonia, following an operation for infection of the throat, from which he had been suffering about 10 days.

Sugar Available For Canning

Sugar permits, to obtain sugar for canning, may be obtained any day from the local rationing board. The Rationing Offices in the City Hall will be open every week day for this purpose.

Applicants for permits must bring their war ration books with them, an estimate of the number of quarts of fruit that will be canned, and the number of quarts canned last year. It is preferred that canners get only enough sugar at one time to last from 30 to 60 days.

Sugar issued under canning sugar permits must be used only for canning purposes. An additional pound of sugar will be issued for each member of the family for the purpose of making jams and jellies.

WHAT I HAVE SEARCHED FOR ALL MY LIFE

Henry G. Lee of South Pasadena, Calif., a graduate of Pomona College, class of '37, was a lieutenant in Wainwright's Army in Bataan. He wrote the following letter to his family before the surrender and it was published in the Pomona (Calif.) Progress Bulletin. It is republished here as evidence of the high type of soldier America has produced.

In the Field Feb. 12, 1942

Dear Mother, Dad and Frances:

This letter may never be delivered. It will go to Corregidor and there wait for transportation. Perhaps I'll be able to cable you before it arrives. Quien Sabe?

About the war I can say nothing. You back home know more about it than we do. All we see is our own little theatre of operations. . . .

Also, I am proud to be a part of the fight that is being made here; and would not, even if it were possible, leave here until it is over and we have won, as we inevitably will. By "we" I mean my country in general. Bataan may fall, but the eventual outcome of the war is foreordained.

I have seen some horrible things happen, and have had my share of narrow escapes, but I have also seen some very wonderful acts of courage, self-sacrifice and loyalty. At last I have found what I have searched for all my life—a cause and a job in which I can lose myself completely and to which I can give every ounce of my strength and my mind. And I have mentally and spiritually conquered my fear of death. Pure animal terror—a protective emotion—cannot be entirely subdued by the mentality but it can, and has been, controlled.

My prayer each night is that God will send you, who are suffering so much more than I am, His strength and peace. During the first few days of war I also prayed for personal protection from physical harm but now that I may be given strength to bear whatever I must bear, and do whatever I must do so that those men under me will have every reasonable chance.

Life and my family have been very good to me—and have given me everything I have ever really wanted, and should anything happen to me here it will not be like closing a book in the middle as it would have been had I been killed in the first few days of the war. For in the last two months I have done a lifetime of living, and have been a part of one of the most unselfish, co-operative efforts that has ever been made by any group of individuals.

Mistakes have been made—but that has nothing to do with the manner in which my comrades on Bataan, both Filipinos and Americans, have reacted to their trial by fire. If the same selfless spirit were devoted to world betterment in time of peace, what a good world we would have!

The purpose of this letter is to send you my love and my thanks for just being my family. It is written with no so-called premonitions. Really, all in all, my chances are pretty good. Much better than most of the line officers of my grade and age. For, as I told you many times in my letters before the war, my particular job—and it hasn't changed—is about as safe as any soldier could have in wartime.

"Keep 'em flying"—WEST!

Your loving son and brother, HENRY

P. S.: Dad was right. He always said that actually being in war is not as bad as reading or hearing about one. "A man can do what he must do" is another phrase of his which I've never forgotten.

Petitions Urge That Congress Maintain 100 Per Cent Parity

The Texas Bureau of Federation are sponsoring a movement, and are sending out petitions to farm bureau leaders in each county, asking that such officials secure the signatures of farmers in their county to such document, urging congress to maintain 100 per cent parity on farm products.

This information was furnished the Leader by A. G. Jungman of Pop, who is chairman of the Hockley County Farm Bureau.

In reporting this item, Mr. Jungman pointed out that a bill had already been passed and signed by the President, allowing 110 parity, but that there is a danger of it being changed from 110 per cent parity ceiling to 100 per cent.

Mr. Jungman stated that a great many Hockley County farmers were signing the petition when presented.

HOMEMAKING CLASSES NOW UNDERWAY

Forty-six girls are now enrolled for summer projects in Homemaking, a course offered during the summer months, and offering half a credit in high school work. Miss Katie Stith, head of the Homemaking department, is holding the classes.

The girls have individual projects on which they must spend 100 hours to receive credit. In addition to the individual projects, each girl must spend 10 hours at the school on a group project, on which she must work two hours a week for five weeks.

Work which will be undertaken at these group meetings are the making of typewriter covers, the cleaning and refinishing of the kitchen and diningroom in the Home Economics department.

At the close of the summer, an Achievement Day Program will be held in an effort to show the achievements the girls have made in their projects.

Boyce House For Lieut. Governor

30 DAYS EXTENSION ON TRUCKING RULES AND REGULATIONS

Considerable confusion has been caused in trucking and wholesale distribution service in this locality by the recently invoked federal orders governing commodity transport, and the 30-day extension of time for beginning of enforcement of the orders is being heartily welcomed.

The new orders, affecting not only trucking facilities, but through commodity distribution, affecting practically 100 per cent of the American people, were to have taken effect on June 1. Due to confusion and misunderstanding of requirements, authorities have approved continuation of regular trucking operations until July 1.

Some relaxation in stringency of the orders also has been approved covering both local and over-the-road (long-distance) deliveries and hauls.

The local delivery order, which formerly restricted deliveries to a 15-mile radius of the business involved, has been amended to allow deliveries to a zone anywhere within 25 miles of the corporate limits of the city or community in which a business is located.

In view of the wide variety of food and other commodities serviced from this city, local business and civic leaders consider this a very important concession, but they point out that this territory is much less thickly settled than many of the older sections, and that some hardship in food distribution is still probable.

It was pointed out that despite the delay in effective date of the order as a whole, that portion requiring reduction of mileage by a minimum of 25 per cent is to take effect on June 1 as originally ordered, and truck operators were warned that they should heed this provision.

The time-extension approval also authorized when the commodity sets out that "duplicate calls are transported requires special type equipment." This concerns the local delivery operators, none of whom are required to meet the capacity-load requirement as is the case with over-the-road operators.

The term "special equipment" has caused much confusion. General order No. 5 of the Office of Defense Transportation, defines special equipment to mean "any motor truck the primary carrying capacity of which is occupied by mounted machinery, or by a mounted tank or tanks designed motor trucks, pole trailers or pipe dollies."

This definition, literally interpreted as ODT officials are doing, would virtually bar operation of trucks such as refrigeration units that carry meats and dairy products over a large West Texas territory. These trucks could operate under the local delivery (25-mile-zone) order, but could not make deliveries in over-the-road territories without meeting the return-load requirement, which calls for a capacity load one way and minimum load of 75 per cent capacity on the return. A variance of a maximum of 20 per cent above capacity is permitted.

The term "capacity" is officially defined to mean "the rated load-carrying ability of the tires on the motor truck. Where the commodity is of light density the total space available for a load shall be the measure of capacity."

Those who have closely studied the new orders and have been in touch with governing authorities, say that these authorities are quite sympathetic toward the trucking industry, indicating willingness to do all possible to keep hardship occasioned by enforcement to a minimum. They contend, however, that dissipation of tires and equipment must be halted, insisting that common carrier transportation can be

NAVY HAS VARIETY OF OPENINGS FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES

Young men who are stepping out to face the world with shiny new high school diplomas in their grasp are faced with the problem of deciding a career as well as considering the debt they owe their nation, so declares Navy recruiters at the post office in Lubbock.

"Every such graduate is ready to aid his nation, yet he also must make plans which will benefit him in the years of peace to follow the war," Navy men said.

The Navy has a wide range of choices for male high school graduates to make which will enable them to do their part for the nation and at the same time further plans for a normal life when the war is over. Recruiters cited the following choices a young man might make:

1. He may enlist in the Naval Reserve, learn a trade in a Navy school, and be released from service when the war is over.

2. He may, if physically and mentally qualified, become an aviation cadet and win a commission as a flying officer. After the war he will be a leader in peace-time aviation.

3. He may enlist in the regular Navy, make a career of naval service, and retire on half-pay before he is 40 years old.

4. He may elect to go to college. By enlisting in the Navy's V-1 program he actually joins the Navy, but is released from active duty to attend school so he may qualify for a flight or deck officer commission. While in college, he may study for the profession he desires to follow after the war.

"Every high school graduate should be able to find an outlet for his ambitions in the Navy—and still serve his country during the war," recruiters declare.

With South Plains Men In U. S. Service

Among the 13 Texans who won decorations for their share in dropping "Texas popcorn for Hirohito" was Lieut. Robert Lowell Hite of Earth.

Each has received the Distinguished Flying Cross, the War Department announced Saturday night through the Associated Press.

Lieut. Hite is the son of Mrs. R. P. Hite of near Earth, and formerly attended West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon. He was a star performer and captain of the Earth football team in high school.

S. E. Hite of 4 miles north and one mile west of Spring Lake, who is the grandfather of Lieut. Robert L. Hite, who participated in the bombing of Tokyo, also has a son, Carl L. Hite, 24, in the Medical Corps, now stationed at an air base in India.

Carl L. Hite served three years in the Cavalry at El Paso, and had been discharged two years when war started. He re-enlisted in September, 1940, in the Medical Corps, and spent over a year in camps at Denver, Colo., and Tucson, Ariz. He left San Francisco in December last, and the first letter they received was in March last from Australia. They have only received three letters from him since he left the United States. A letter arrived Friday last dated May 10, which Mr. Hite says travelled faster than any letter they had received.

In this most recent letter Hite said he was getting along fine; that he was only now beginning to get some mail; that the cigarettes they were able to buy were very poor, that he had not had any good cigarettes since going over there; that the residents there (in India) hitched camels, water buffalo, cows and donkeys to their plows and vehicles.

He sent his parents a picture of some scenery, saying he had lots of pictures which he would bring with him when he came home.

Carl is the youngest of six sons of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hite; and Lieut. Robert L. Hite, who was helping to rain the fireworks on Tokyo, is a son of the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hite, making him a nephew of Carl L. Hite.

Mr. and Mrs. Hite, Sr., have been residents of this section since 1926.

BREAK O'DAY IRON

By Reginald Wright Kauffman

N.W.N.S. RELEASE

CHAPTER VI SYNOPSIS

A man identified as Joseph Slinn is found drowned in the Hudson river near Albany, N. Y. Slinn was insured by the Protective Life Insurance company, and his beneficiary is a man named B. B. Twombly who lives in Troy. The company's Albany agent, Carlin, identifies the body, and the insurance money is paid to Twombly. But Jerry Glidden, suspecting that Slinn was murdered, has gone to Ironburg, a little mining town in Pennsylvania, to see an "Angela Slinn." She turns out to be an ugly re-creator of a woman who lives in a shack near the abandoned "Break O'Day" iron mine. Rose Walker, granddaughter of the owner of the mine, runs the local store and post office. Jerry goes to Angela's shack, but she denies knowing Joseph Slinn. Later, as he is exploring the region around the mine he falls into the mine pit. He is rescued by Rose Walker, and together they start back to town. In an old cemetery along the way Jerry finds a tombstone bearing the name "Horace John Twombly."

"People of my name in these parts?"

"Serry," said Rose in reply to a question instantly issuing from Jerry.

She had flushed at his hand's immediate withdrawal—became her practical self again as she gave a casual glance at the stone over which that hand had passed and toward which it pointed now.

She was almost brusque with him. "Mr. Horace Twombly? Never met the gentleman. Judging from the looks of this inscription, I'd guess he was just a little before my time."

Jerry, however, was too excited to take great account of the change in her, or to reflect that the modern girl, who repulses familiarities with less indignation than her predecessor, shares with all womankind a positive distaste for the offender who takes her too unrespectfully at her word.

Here, just as he was abandoning belief in any fraud about the Slinn-Twombly claim, there arose a coincidence that revived every suspicion. Appearing in this sparsely settled countryside, the one name—Slinn—might have been explained away. But at that juncture there entered the other name involved!

"Of course this man lived and died long ago. I didn't mean that. What I meant was: Are there any of the family left around here?"

Rose shrugged her shoulders and kicked her legs. "I'm sure I don't know."

"But you would know if—"
"I don't. It's not a name that's ever on any letters going through my post office, and it's nowhere in Ironburg, either. If you're so excited, why don't you look—around here?" She waved toward the other graves.

"That's a good scheme," said Jerry, still oblivious of her annoyance. "Thanks, I will."
He did, while she watched with a smile entirely scornful. He found several other Twombly graves, but none more recent than the latter eighteen-hundreds.

"Still, there's the regular Ironburg cemetery—"
"You'll not see any there. I know that cemetery, but this is the first time I've been in this one since I was about five years old."

She stood up, yawning. "Although if you're tired of—if you're rested enough, I'll walk with you toward the other, as far as my store."

Again he took her at her word. They turned into the turnpike, and she set a far better pace than formerly; nor did Jerry, busy with this new clue, feel the lashes of her comparative silence.

"I'm afraid I've seemed sort of preoccupied," he apologized when they neared the store. "I hadn't noticed," she asked. "I hadn't noticed."
That shot did tell. "Miss Walker, I'm—I'm—"
He stumbled over the words—hard enough to save her. She gave him her low laugh, but it was kindly.

"Yes? You're what? I wish you would tell me what you are. Not many people come to Ironburg, and of those who do none tries to pay calls on Angela Slinn or hunt up queer names in the country graveyards. I believe it is a case of an unexpected inheritance, after all."

He almost gave her the truth, but he remembered in time how slightly he knew her. "I wish it was—for you," he said.
Into the store she called an announcement of her return to the schoolboy substitute left in charge there. Then she pointed down the turnpike.

"The village cemetery's not a quarter of a mile past the toll gate. Hope you enjoy yourself."
She bounced back to her neglected business, leaving Jerry, she supposed, in two minds about what to do.

Should he pursue and placate her? He decided against that course. Superior to Leila as Rose was, he had learned enough from Miss Taylor concerning women to know that forgiveness is easiest won long after offense has been given. And he had just had another lesson to the same effect from Rose.

Should he then continue his quest of the Ironburg Twomblys? Looking back, he decided that while Rose's denial of any such name's existence among the village's graves was inspired by her annoyance, it would be better to inquire among the elderly living than the oldest dead.

An aproned person appeared on the porch of the sun-baked hotel and rang a huge handbell at him. Jerry determined to do nothing before eating—always a wise resolve.

He was the only diner in the ill lighted room where, indeed, there were but four tables, and only one set.

"Roast beef—potatoes—corn—spinach—peach pie!"
He regarded the waitress. Yes, she was the bell-ringer. She was also, he recalled, the chambermaid.

"All right," said he. "I don't mind."

"Mean you'll have 'em still?"
"One time my boss gave me a book that said 'Never appear unappreciative.' I will have 'em still."

She left him and returned with the entire meal on a single tray. Plate by plate, she threw it at the table.

Jerry reflected that, had she been a better shot, either of his two morning escapes would have been scarcely worth rejoicing over.

The plates were thick, the beef was hard. "A single direct hit," he thought, "would prove fatal."

Also, the maize was cattle corn; there had been a good deal of sand left in the spinach; and, to make things worse, the waitress stood behind him throughout the meal. She rustled over his head a stick to which a big bunch of parti-colored paper ribbons had been fastened for the discouragement of the flies.

When he could bear no more, he turned to his grim servant.

"Where's Mr. Hassler?" he asked.
"Out."

The diner glanced through an open door that gave upon the hotel office. "When'll he be back?"

"How'd I know?"
"I don't know how you would. But don't get scared; I'm not going to make any kick to him."

The hatchet face softened to what must have been intended for a smile. The kitchen evidently ate the same fare as the guest. "It mightn't hurt of you did—but it wouldn't help none."

"No," said Jerry, "I can see you weren't born yesterday. I wonder if you were born long enough ago to remember any of the people I was going to ask Mr. Hassler about: the Twomblys."

The waitress added an extra wrinkle to her brows—almost visibly she skimmed the pages of her memory's index. "There used to be folks named that some'eres aroun' when I was a girl yet. What you want to know fer?"

"Oh, just because I happened to see the name on an old tombstone a while ago, and I used to have a friend named Twombly in Troy, New York—B. B. Twombly, he was."

"'Twasn't none o' these hereen," said the waitress, with conviction; "though it might 'a' been a son or somein' a'ready. These hereen died out, er left, too long ahead o' you was born."

Jerry would have asked more, but there came an interruption from the direction of the office. Hassler had returned just soon enough to receive another guest, whose hired automobile was already making a noisy start back toward Americus, and whose face was bent above the register from one side of the counter while the proprietor's bent over it from the opposite side. Hassler's voice, as opposite side, Hassler's voice, as he repeated what was written, came clearly into the dining room:

"B. B. Twombly? Portland, Maine? There used to be Twomblys lived in these parts."

A plump man, wearing a suit of extremely light brown and having a head covered by close cropped, but brilliant red hair. That was the sum of what could at first be determined about him, for the head was still bowed above the register.

"People of my name in these parts?" His voice was singularly shrill for a person of the newcomer's build.

"Used to be," repeated Hassler.

"Well, well! Now that you mention it, I do remember my grandfather saying he hailed from somewhere in Pennsylvania. But that's a long while ago."

Glidden gulped. He pushed back his chair so rapidly and so forcibly as all but to upset the faithful chambermaid—waitress still stationed behind it. He stared through that open door into the office.

The waitress scuttled inside. The chair scraped as Jerry rose. Mr. B. B. Twombly looked up at last.

Then Jerry had his first glimpse of the face. It was round and pasty; the nose was good, but the mouth too small, and the lips lacked color. The eyes were dark and narrow.

"Shifty," judged Jerry. Somewhere in his forties, the traveler must be—rather self indulgent forties, too—and he ventured a tie that rivaled the brightest blue among the birds. Jerry's noisy rise had quite naturally attracted Twombly's attention; what seemed less natural—or, at any rate, less frank—was the rapidity with which the man in brown shifted his position so as to present only his back to the door. Moreover, having seen Jerry, whom he must know that Hassler had not observed, Twombly whispered a series of quick queries to the Rising Sun's proprietor.

That one innocently replied in his normal tones:

"No-o-o, we ain't near full. We've jes' got one ozer gentleman . . ."

(This, thought Jerry, was like listening to one end of a telephone conversation!)

Come from? Him? New York . . .

"Name's Glidden."
(Jerry thought, "It's a good thing Twombly never saw me before this afternoon.")

"No, sir, this here's his first visit."

The second voice in the parley resumed its previous pitch. "I asked because I'm vacationing, too, and can't have any social complications. I was near a nervous breakdown; my doctor ordered complete rest."

"You've come to the right place then," said Hassler.

A Slinn—Queer. Dead Twomblys—Queerer. B. B. Twombly—queerer.

Patron and host moved out of view toward another door in the office, which, as Jerry was aware, led to the oilcloth covered stairs and the hotel's upper apartments.

From her disadvantageous position behind Jerry, the waitress had been vainly attempting to gain his regard; now, unable longer to bear excitement in silence, she spoke—and, as is usual when speech conquers suppression, she spoke loudly:

"Fer why'n't you speak to him, Mr. Glidden?"

"Why should I?"

"'Cause of that there ain't your friend you jes' ast about, he's got the wery same name, anyways."

Had Twombly heard her? He was out of sight—but was he out of hearing? And he had appeared suspicious—at least, nervous—from the first. Best to put up a good front and go right to it. Jerry started out of the dining room.

He paused in the office before the hotel register. There, still damp, was that signature:

"B. B. Twombly, Portland, Me."

SOUTH PLAINS GETS ANOTHER WILDCAT

Still another new wildcat operation was promised the South Plains oil region Friday when John J. Redfern, Jr., Midland operator, filed notice of intention to drill a 5,000 foot test in southeastern Cochran county five miles northwest of production in the Slaughter field and six and one half miles southwest of Whiteface. The well is the No. 1 Dela Slaughter Wright and it has been staked 660 feet out of the northwest corner of labor 2, league 95, Mills county school land. Spudding date tentatively had been set for yesterday.

After the business meeting, the program was turned over to the H. D. agent, Miss Beatrice McCurdy. Miss McCurdy gave a discussion on what we can do that is vital to National Defense. She then gave different methods for working button holes, patching, and steps in sewing to conserve material.

Those present were: Mesdames Bill Jones, W. O. Jones, J. D. Lee, Bob Askew, Fred Duffy, Floyd Dyer, and Misses Beatrice McCurdy, Bernice Lee, Neoma and Lola Jones, and Helen Cox.

The next meeting will be June 9 at the home of Mrs. W. O. Jones. The meeting starts at 3 p. m.

Mrs. A. A. Givens Honored At Lovely Shower Recently

Mrs. M. P. Reid and Mrs. W. P. Kirk were hostesses Tuesday afternoon, May 26, at a lovely party and shower at the Reid home in Broad-acres Addition, honoring Mrs. A. A. Givens.

A profusion of beautiful garden flowers including Roses and Snapdragons, made more inviting the entertaining rooms for the occasion.

The program included games, led by Mrs. H. T. Wingo, singing of the hymn, "Showers of Blessings," by the group, with Mrs. Holden at the piano, and other numbers.

The honoree was the recipient of a large array of beautiful and much appreciated gifts, and following the viewing of same by the guests, a delicious plate was served to each of the large number attending.

Eastern Star Holds Installation Monday

New officers of the Eastern Star, for the coming year, were installed at the Masonic Hall here on Monday night.

Mrs. O. P. Wilemon and Mrs. W. D. T. Storey, dressed in white robes, led the out-going officers into the room, and cleverly presented them to the out-going matron, Mrs. W. J. Aldridge, by giving a skit, entitled, "The Star Speaks." Mrs. Aldridge then graciously gave to each of them a small token of appreciation for the work done during the year.

During the formal installation, Mrs. Pat Boone served as Grand Installing Officer, Mrs. O. P. Wilemon as Grand Installing Marshall, Mrs. E. S. Rowe as Grand Installing Chaplain, and Mrs. W. D. T. Storey as Grand Installing Pianist. At the close of the installation, the five new star points and the outgoing matron formed an aisle, and escorted the new matron, Mrs. Dodgen, to the East.

The Past Matron's Circle welcomed Mrs. Aldridge into their group, cleverly presenting her with a Past Matron's pin, and she graciously responded.

The hall was beautifully decorated with a profusion of lovely garden flowers, in vases and baskets, placed about the rooms.

Following the meeting, ice cream and angel food cake were served to about 50 members and guests.

Books Sent To Abilene Camp

Mrs. E. A. Bills, director of the Victory Book Campaign for Lamb County, announced Wednesday that she had orders to ship the books collected to the Army Camp at Abilene, and they were shipped this week. The Dalby Truck Line were kind enough to deliver these books free to the Abilene camp.

Mrs. Bills stated that the quota for Lamb County was 1,800 books, but only 192 were contributed and shipped. She urges that all those who have not contributed books or magazines to do so by bringing them to the drug stores or to the City Library.

A CHERISHED AMERICAN PRIVILEGE

Too often we take our right to worship as we please too much for granted. We are indeed fortunate to have this privilege, for in many of the countries of the world no worship in any form is tolerated. Our freedom of worship, and the fine churches in which we take such pride are two more fine reasons to be proud we are Americans.

Happy Birthday to the FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

We extend our best wishes to the First Baptist Church of Littlefield on its 28th anniversary. The work this organization does is symbolic of the fine work carried on throughout our land by the churches.

After visiting relatives and friends at Waco, she went to Austin, where she was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Aubrey Howard.

Mrs. Badger also visited San Antonio and attended the Southern Baptist Convention, at which 10,000 Baptists were in attendance. Mr. Badger joined his wife at San Antonio, and accompanied her back to Austin, where he attended to business matters, and they visited relatives.

Mr. Badger had been absent two weeks when he and Mrs. Badger arrived Friday, accompanied by Mrs. S. J. T. Smith of Waco, and Jimmy Howard of Austin, grandson, who will be guests in the Badger home for several days.

SUFFERS SEVERE CUT ON RIGHT ARM

Mrs. McDonough, employed at Carl's Cafe, was unfortunate enough to suffer a severe cut to her right hand Friday, when in the act of taking a cold drink bottle, which had become frozen in the water, from the box, to serve a customer, the bottle broke in her hand.

Mrs. McDonough had her hand dressed at the Payne-Shotwell Hospital, where three stitches were necessary to close the wound.

Lieut. Mancil Hall Assigned To Duty At Sloan Field

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD SUNDAY FOR TOMMY DALE YOUNG

Funeral services were conducted Sunday for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Young of six miles southwest of Littlefield, who passed away at birth early Sunday morning at the Plains Cooperative Hospital, Amherst.

The child had been named Tommy Dale.

Mrs. Young has been seriously ill, but is reported to be as well as can be expected.

Funeral services for the infant were conducted at the Hammons Funeral Home Chapel, Sunday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, with Rev. Aubrey McCauley, Pastor of Lum's Chapel Church, officiating; and interment took place in the Littlefield Cemetery.

The child is survived by his parents and four brothers and sisters.

KNEE INJURED WHEN RIFLE ACCIDENTLY GOES OFF MONDAY

Olaf Kelly, 20, former resident of Littlefield, but recently of Los Angeles, Calif., and here on a visit, had a bullet from a .22 rifle taken from his left knee Monday afternoon at the Payne-Shotwell Hospital, after he and two companions had been out shooting rabbits, and a rifle accidentally went off.

Mr. Kelly, Thurbert Walker, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Walker, and Newell Williams, son of Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Williams, went shooting rabbits Monday afternoon west of town, and in driving over the pasture their car stalled. Newell Williams was reported to be carrying his rifle and at the same time pushing the car when the rifle accidentally went off, the gunshot shying past Thurbert Walker gave him a flesh wound, and said to have lodged in the left knee of Kelly. After receiving medical attention at the Payne-Shotwell Hospital, Kelly was taken to the home of Rev. A. J. Williams, where he is getting along nicely.

TWO-WEEK FURLOUGH TO SERVICE MEN

Parades and other patriotic "send off" demonstrations by the neighbors of men inducted into the Army through Selective Service can now be planned with certainty because of the new induction procedure arranged by the War Department and the Selective Service System, it was announced today by General J. Watt Page, State Director of Selective Service.

The new procedure, which becomes operative in Texas July 10, assures a two-week furlough, at Government expenses, for every se-lectee who is accepted by the Army General Page pointed out, and sets a date for each group to report back to its Selective Service local board headquarters for transportation to an Army reception center. This date, General Page emphasized, is the one for which local demonstrations should be planned. He said: "Since all of the men assembling at the local board office after a furlough period have been accepted for military service and ordered to active service, none will be faced with the embarrassment of returning home as rejected following such ceremonies. The local communities also can make their plans for these 'going away' demonstration with definite knowledge that the men are going into active service, which was not possible under the former procedure when group departures of selectees were for the purpose of induction depending upon passing the Army physical examination.

"The new arrangement replaces the present system of granting inductees 10-day furloughs upon request and is expected to eliminate any injustices which might occur to men inducted immediately following physical examination by the Army. Although every attempt has been made to grant 10-day furloughs upon request, there have been some instances when such requests were denied and in other cases inductees were unable to pay their transportation to return home. As the new system calls for the immediate release of all men who wish to go home and payment of the costs of their travel by the Army, there can be no discrimination against any inductee.

"The Army will furnish transportation, meals and lodging of such reservists enroute to the city in which the local board is located and from that point to the Reception Center.

"There will be no change in the present procedure for delivery of registrants to the induction station by the local board, or for the return of rejected men to the local board area from the induction station. Inducted men who do not desire to return to their homes will be forwarded direct from the induction station to the Reception Center.

"In the case of inducted men who do desire to return to their homes the following procedure will be followed at the induction station:

"1. The inducted man will be transferred immediately to the Enlisted Reserve Corps and will be given an order to proceed to the city in which his local board is located.

"2. At the next time an order will be issued recalling him to active service on a certain date and ordering him to proceed on that date from the city in which the local board is located to a designated Reception Center for duty. The normal period between transfer to the Enlisted Reserve Corps and recall to active service will be 14 days. This period may be extended or shortened but not to exceed two days in order to meet processing schedules at Reception Centers, or to prevent Sunday travel."

Discussing the elimination of injustices, General Page said:

"Many of the disadvantages of the present system will be eliminated in the new procedure. Every man who wishes to return to his home will be given the opportunity to do so without being required to establish his reasons for returning. Investigation and recommendation by the local board is no longer necessary. Reservists are released from active service at the induction station instead of the Reception Center. They travel at Government expense in local board groups under an appointed leader."

Another feature of the present system which will be eliminated by the new procedure, General Page said, will be possible delay between the time a man is inducted and the time he is granted a furlough. Under the new procedure, the transfer to the Enlisted Reserve Corps will occur on the same day that the man is inducted and there is no likelihood that he will have to wait two to five days before he can return to his home as sometimes happens under the present system.

Local boards will cooperate with the armed forces in every possible way by providing a place of assembly for the departing reservists, by arranging transportation facilities and by taking care of other necessary details such as advising the Commanding Officer of the Reception Center of the route and time of departure of groups of reservists and the number of men in contingents, General Page said.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Tomson left Littlefield last week for San Diego, and San Bernardino. They will visit Mrs. Tomson's brother, Granville Smith, of the U. S. Navy, assigned to U.S.S. Helena.

direct vital administrative and supply operations of the rapidly expanding Army Air Corps ground forces, thus relieving trained pilots for full time flying duty. Lieut. Watson formerly lived at Odessa.

Corp. Joseph C. Hitchcock, son of William Hitchcock of Hale Center, has been admitted as an Officer Candidate to the Air Forces Officer Candidate School at Miami Beach, Florida. After successfully completing an intensive 12-week course of instruction, Officer Candidate Hitchcock will be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Air Forces.

Senator and-or Pvt. Marshall Formby of Plainview is stationed at Camp Robinson, Ark., according to information received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Formby of McAdoo. Formby was inducted May 11 with a group of Dickens county draftees.

William H. Ellis of Littlefield has graduated from the Army Air Corps technical school at Wichita Falls as a ground specialist.

Formerly a linesman for the Lamb County Electric Co-op, Herman Herring is now in the U. S. Army Signal Corps, stationed at Camp Collan, San Diego, Calif.

Below is part of a letter received by his wife, concerning his work there:

"I am in an anti-aircraft camp, working with the searchlights. As yet, we've not done much with them, but that is to be my job. The lights are about 10 feet high, and at 10,000 feet the beam is a mile across. When you get a plane in that—well—he's your man! It's really a thrill, operating these lights at night.

A bayonet and gun have been issued me—of course we've only used them in practice, and must keep them shining like a new dollar.

We've had two big parades—there were about 2,000 of us in the last one. We had a band and all the trimmings. You know it's sort of like a picture show.

I enjoyed the home paper and especially, Dick's letter. Tell all our friends hello for me, and all the office bunch to write me a line."

Before he left, Herman enjoyed a three days' visit with his sisters and brothers, who came here on hearing of his enlistment in the Army: Mrs. Tom B. Lenoir and daughter—sister from Breckenridge; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Bass and son—sister and family, Morton; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Greenwood and twin babies—sister and family, Vonodium, N. M.; J. C. Herring, brother, Crosbyton; and W. C. Herring, brother, from San Angelo, who is now in the Army Air Corps at San Antonio.

All accompanied him, with his wife and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Toney, to Lubbock April 29, where he took the bus for Fort Sill, Okla., then on to Camp Collan, where he is now stationed.

Private J. E. Chisholm, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Chisholm of Littlefield, who is with the U. S. Signal Corps, is now stationed at Drew Field, Fla., near Pampa, and is taking a course in radio and electricity in connection with his duties.

Mrs. W. N. Holder received a cablegram from her son, Kenneth Griffith, Tuesday of last week at 7:45 p. m. from Australia, stating he was well and happy and would cable often, as letters were too long in reaching their destination. Kenneth has been in Australia over four months, and this is the first word she has received from him.

J. C. Hurst, publisher of the Hale Center American and the Abernathy Review, and manager of Rita Theatre in Abernathy has enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve, and assigned as Quartermaster 2nd class in the Naval Construction Battalion. He returned to Abernathy Friday from Dallas to await call to active duty.

Hurst, born in England, served in the British Royal Navy during the last war.

Howard Latimer, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Latimer, who enlisted with the Marines, and left Lubbock about three weeks ago for Oklahoma City, where he submitted for final examination, was sent to San Diego, where he has been stationed for the past two weeks.

Mr. Latimer reports that Harold writes to the effect that he likes his work fine, and at the time he wrote the letter was getting ready to go out on their practice in football and boxing. This is part of their training to put them in good physical condition, and equip them for their later duties.

Pat Boone, Jr., Has Honor of Being Student Professor

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boone are leaving Friday to spend the summer months at their ranch near Elida, N. M.

They will be joined later in the month by their son, Pat, Jr., a student of the University of Texas.

Pat was through his finals, according to Mrs. Boone, on June 1, but he is a student professor in Anthropology, and will be obliged to grade papers and get the records in before he leaves for the summer.

This is a distinct honor for Pat, Jr., since this is a privilege usually open only to graduate and senior students, and it is very unusual for a junior student to receive this recognition. However, the splendid record made by Pat, Jr., in his work at the University made it possible for him to be given this privilege.

He will join his parents at the ranch about June 15.

Mrs. Ed. Fowler Hostess Members Luncheon Club

The beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Fowler was the scene of a delightful party Thursday, when Mrs. Fowler was hostess to members and guests of the Luncheon club.

An arrangement of Yellow Iris and varied colored pansies added to the attractive entertaining rooms, while a large bowl of roses, in mixed colors, formed the centerpiece for the luncheon table.

Miss Ruth Jordan, member of the Littlefield school faculty, whose home is at Floydada, will accompany Mrs. Rutledge and children, and visit a brother in Houston, and also another brother in San Antonio. She will spend the vacation months in South Texas, and accompany Mrs. Rutledge and children back to Littlefield in September in time for the opening of the local schools.

Issue Warning About Lost Ration Books

Households which had excess amounts of sugar and were not issued War Ration Books in the first registration are advised by the Office of Price Administration to police their own use of sugar in accordance with the designated consumer sugar allotments.

At the present time, the OPA said, no family or individual should consume sugar at a greater rate than a pound per person each two weeks, which is the current consumer allotment.

This rule applies to those who did not receive War Ration Book One because they possessed sugar in excess of six pounds each, as well as to those who were issued War ration books.

No War Ration Books will be issued to persons who registered excess amounts of sugar until a sufficient number of ration periods have expired during which the consumer—if he had ration stamps—might have purchased an amount of sugar equal to his excess.

The OPA has received reports that some people who registered excess amounts of sugar think they can obtain War Ration Books as soon as the excess is gone, regardless of the length of time in which it was consumed.

Families who do not restrict their own use of sugar to the prescribed allotments will only be penalizing themselves since a time may come when they have no sugar and will not be permitted to purchase any.

The OPA also issued a warning concerning lost War Ration Books. In the event a book is lost, a person may make application to his local rationing board for a new one but it cannot be issued to him until two months after the date of his application.

Consumers are asked to exercise the utmost care of their War Ration Books inasmuch as no exceptions will be made to the lost book rule. Persons claiming special hardship because of illness or other conditions beyond their control may take their cases up with their local rationing boards.

While the boards cannot issue new books until the two month period has elapsed, they may in a deserving case permit a person to file a Special Application for a Sugar Purchase Certificate.

near Marlin, for several years, resigning that position when he first moved to Sudan in 1926. After moving to Sudan Mr. Fife served at two different times as a member of the local school board. Elected a member of the board in 1926, he served one year, resigning when he moved back to Teague in 1928. And after returning to Sudan he was again elected to the board, serving six years.

Mr. Fife has two sons in the U. S. armed forces. The elder, T. W., is in the Infantry stationed at Camp Roberts, Calif., and a younger son, Aubrey Erle, has recently passed the home test at John Tarleton college, Stephenville, and is now waiting call into the Naval Air Corps.

In making his formal announcement for the office of Commissioner Mr. Fife stated that if elected, he would retire from farming and devote his entire time to the job of looking after the business of the office, believing that it requires full-time attention of the Commissioner.

"I will make an effort to see as many of the voters of the precinct as possible," Mr. Fife stated, "but due to the tire situation it may be impossible to see each and every one, but I shall appreciate the consideration of each and every voter in the district, and if you see fit to elect me to this office, I assure you of honest, fair and efficient service and that I will devote my entire time to the up-keep of the roads and the interest of the district."

The members of the Chamber of Commerce are this week voting on officers and directors for the coming year.

Because of local conditions and the National Emergency, it was decided by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce that a formal banquet with a speaker would be eliminated this year, and a stag buffet supper would be held instead.

This will be held on June 9, and is for members of the Chamber of Commerce only. New officers will be introduced, and there will be short talks, and plenty of entertainment and good fellowship. All members are urged to attend this friendly rally.

Testing Food for Army Use

The "human guinea pig club" is the unofficial name of the U. S. army subsistence laboratory at the Chicago quartermaster depot. Here samples of foods manufactured by various firms are submitted for analysis, tested for vitamin content and other nutritional values. Enlisted men all partake of food prepared under various formulas, and decide whether the rations are palatable, digestible and nutritious. Picture shows rations being sacked.

Defending the Pacific Coast

Passed by Censor

CANADA'S west coast defenses have been vastly improved since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The Bofors anti-aircraft gun in this photo is one of many, all manufactured in Canada, which stand ready to blast away at the first sign of an enemy raider. Because of the deafening noise which accompanies the rapid fire of the gun, the cease fire order is given the trigger man by a yank of the rope which the soldier at left holds in his hand. To equip and train the army which guards Canada at home and abroad, $1,000,000,000 will be spent in 1942-43. When it is complete there will be a Canadian army overseas of two corps. A division now in Canada will be equipped as an armored unit, trained and sent overseas. Another army tank brigade will be created for use with infantry divisions. Defense of east and west coasts have been placed under two commands. Air, land and sea services in these areas, as well as in Newfoundland, have been placed under the single command of the senior officer in the area.

U. S. Wheat Bins Are Full

World War II finds the United States well supplied with wheat, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. As the chart indicates, the supply is double that of 1917 when America entered the first World War. It is estimated that on July 1, the Nation's supply will be nearly 1 1/2 billion bushels, enough for two years of domestic use. Instead of plowing up new land and expanding wheat acreage, farmers are able to use land, labor, and equipment in turning out other war commodities more vitally needed—such as dairy, poultry, and meat products, vegetables, and oil crops.
