Hills Of Destiny—

"Oh God, let me live long enough for this!"
Back of him there was a sputtering fuse. Outside there was quiet, dusk falling, a man running. The man dodged behind rocks and scrub, slipped into a fringe of junipers and crouched to listen. It came a moment later, the dull boom of a blast.

Life had to be faced. Virginia dragged herself back to the realization of that, and went slowly toward the hall. Mrs. Archer, tearful and incoherent, came toward her niece with outstretched hands.

"Oh my dear, I've just heard!"
"Please! I don't want to talk about it," Virginia said tensely. She went on, leaving Mrs. Archer indignant and perturbed, but she had yet to pass Stanley. He stood in her path, urgently pleading.

"Virginia, let me explain. I only did it to save you from a terrible mistake. You don't understand—"

"I do. I understand more than you know and I think you are the foulest, most contemptible thing I have ever seen. Get out of my way!" Without another word Virginia went on to her father's old office and shut the door behind her.

The quiet of the little room closed around her like a protecting arm. It was easier to disbelieve that hideous accusation in this place

A Gentle Laxative Good For Children

Most any child who takes this tasty laxative once will welcome it the next time he's constipated and it has him headachy, cross, listless, with bad breath, coated tongue or little appetite.

Syrup of Black-Draught is a tasty liquid companion to the famous BLACK-DRAUGHT. The principal ingredient is the same in both products; helps impart tone to lazy bowel muscles.

The Syrup's flavor appeals to most children, and, given by the simple directions, its action is usually gentle, but thorough. Remember Syrup of Black-Draught next time. Two sizes: 50c and 25c.

where her father's presence still lived, genial and kind.

There was only one relief from the turmoil of her mind, and that was in work. Her father's papers, for instance. There was a closet full of them, and there might be something about Lee. She carried armfuls over to the desk.

It was slow work. Some of it was poignant; much of it was dull, as old bills and papers must be. She sighed, sorting them briskly into better order. A pile of old check books caught her eye. She pulled them toward her, scanning dates with a sudden impulse to check up the amounts that he had sent her during lean years when he had been so hard pressed.

"T. Ellison Archer . . . $5,000."
"Adel M. Archer . . . $2,800."
She reached for her pencil.

When it was finished she looked wearily down at a sordid little history, check after check made out to her aunt and uncle during the years when she had lived in their home.

With damning accuracy they tallied with her recollection of various acts of generosity on their part—the coming out dance that they had given for her, the first trip to Europe, the second, the summer at Narragansett, the time Aunt Adele had taken her to Palm Beach.

Someone tapped at the door, and her aunt came in.

"Virginia dear, I am so distressed for you. I simply can't keep silent any longer. Of course you can't stay after this horrible scandal."

"Why not? It's my home, and it's Lee's also if he wants to come."

"But Virginia, you couldn't live here alone—with all these rough men! And you know our home is open to you, darling, just as it always has been."

For answer Virginia pushed a sheet of paper toward her. It was closely written with figures and dates and names.

"Not quite as it always was," she said in a bitter voice. "My father isn't here to pay these any more, without even being given the credit for his generosity . . ."

Her aunt started to speak, stopped, hesitated, and then went hurriedly out of the door. Humiliation burned dully in her cheeks, and she stifled a sob.

Virginia did not appear at dinner, but sent her excuses by Ling.

She did not even attempt to sleep that night. Moonlight came, bathing the valley in silver. The silver was beginning to pale before she flung herself across the bed, still dressed, wondering if she could ever sleep again.

She raised her head at the sound of pounding hoof beats. They were distant, but coming nearer. . . . That was racing speed. . . . The sound swept past, swerved toward the bunk house and stopped.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Local Seed Breeders Facing Spring Buying Season With Shortage

State certified seed breeders are facing the spring buying season for this section with short grain crops, W. H. Cunningham, reports. Fifty car loads of state certified seed, mostly in carload lots, have been sold this winter. Much of the seed moved out through the Breeder's warehouse in Lubbock.

Cunningham said he had only hegari and milo grains left, as his other seeds are all gone. He only retained enough for his own planting. He estimated the crop over the South Plains at 3,500,000 pounds of certified seed.

Acreage sown last spring was 2,469. By crops, acreages planted included, milo, 1,011; kafir, 230; hegari, 629; red top cane or sumac, 425; sudan, 79; Spur feterita, 8; quadron, 70; wheat land, 10; darsen, 7.

Announces Against Sales Tax, And For Old Age Pensions

Tossing his hat into the ring with an announcement as a candidate for Governor of Texas, Harry Hines, member of the Texas Highway Commission for the past five years, last week raised the curtain on the 1940 gubernatorial contest.

Hines, announcing that he would later issue a platform and discuss every issue a platform and discuss every issue in full detail, put himself on record on several burning issues.

He pledged himself: 1. Against the sales tax, which he termed a tax on poverty and opposed to his understanding of the meaning of Democracy.

2. In favor of fulfillment of the social security program, including payment of adequate old age pensions, and aid to dependent children, needy blind, the State's part of the teachers' retirement program.

3. The raising of the additional money needed to pay these obligations by cooperative effort with the legislators, spreading the cost without "dealing a death blow to any one group."

Hines indicated he will be a conservative candidate, and declared he will not try to "out promise the promisers," and promised to be a "doer instead of a promiser."

"At no time need you expect Harry Hines to play upon ignorance or emotion in an effort to bait voters," he said. "If sound basic fundamentals of government as envisioned by our forefathers based on honesty, integrity and economy is what our citizens want then it is an insult to their intelligence to promise them impractical, unsound, vote getting bait."

More Than 122,000 In Fort Worth Get Living From Oil

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 2.—More than 122,000 persons in Fort Worth and its trade territory of West Texas get their living from the oil industry, Harold G. Neely, Fort Worth oilman, told the Junior Chamber of Commerce here Wednesday.

"Over 44,000 men, women and children in Fort Worth, or more than one in five you meet on the street, depend for their livelihood directly upon the oil industry," Mr. Neely reported. "In addition, there are over 77,000 others in the 73 West Texas counties constituting our trade territory. That's a total of more than 122,000 Texans in these 74 counties who get their bread and meat solely from this one industry."

Thousands more benefit indirectly from the expenditure of the wages of the oil employees, Mr. Neely declared. Oil's payroll in Fort Worth is $11,758,800 a year, while in the West Texas area the industry spends $22,325,270 more for wages, a total of $34,078,070 a year. In addition, the oil industry pays West Texas ranchers and farmers $20,000,000 a year in lease and royalty payments. Taxes paid by the industry in West Texas total $10,940,197 a year, while plant investments, equipment, etc., bring oil's total expenditure in West Texas to $64,215,166 annually, Mr. Neely said, quoting figures just compiled by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Trees Planted For Use As Windbreaks

"Daddy is having more trees planted," Merle and Betty Jo Rochelle told the Amherst Girl's 4-H club recently. These trees are being planted as a windbreak to give their home more protection as well as add to its attractiveness. Rochelle's started a windbreak at the north of their home two years ago and they are very much pleased with its growth and feel that it has added to the value of their place.

Many trees are used for windbreak planting in Lamb County. Among those are Chinese Elm, desert willow, mulberry, honey locust, black walnut, red cedar, western yellow pine. The Chinese Elm is favored because of its rapid growth. Planting trees will increase the comfort of the home, protect poultry and livestock from extreme heat or cold. This is also a way of earning an additional benefit under the AAA program.

HILLS OF DESTINY

BY AGNES LOUISE PROVOST

CHAPTER XII SYNOPSIS

Hollister returns unexpectedly from a trip abroad to find Matt Blair, his foster father and owner of the Circle V ranch, dead by his hand. The ranch is going to be sold and Matt's daughter, Virginia, owner of the ranch, is living in New York with the Arehers, her uncle. Her uncle wants to sell the ranch to Milton Bradish, one time Matt's associate, and persuades Virginia to return to the ranch. Her aunt follows her, accompanied by Stanley, son of Milton Bradish. Stanley tries to dissuade Virginia's eyes. One day Lee in Virginia's interest, who is jealous of Lee's interest in Virginia, comes for Lee and throws herself in his arms just as Virginia rides away with Stanley. Stanley visits her and is shot from ambush. Virginia becomes jealous of Lee and sells the ranch to Milton Bradish. Lee proposes to Virginia and she is sorry she sold the ranch. She tries to get it back and tells Bradish that Matt Blair gave him half interest in it, making Virginia's sale illegal.

not be true—but Stanley had been so horribly sure.
"Virginia, before I go, I want you to know that I never meant to take any part of the Circle V—not as things stand. I've only held the deed this long because I felt sure there was something behind all this business, and that you were being cheated somehow."
He stopped abruptly.
"Good-bye. I'm off."

He held out his hand. Virginia took it, trying hard to act naturally in a situation horribly strained. A new alarm touched her with chilly fingers.
"But you—you're coming back, aren't you?"

"I don't know. I think the whole story is a poisonous lie, just an exceptionally dirty brand of the stuff that could be handed out by a paid informer with a grudge. But that's got to be proved, and I'm going away to do it. If I can't, you won't trip one time an' found ye here. He was kinda close-mouthed about ye, Matt was."

Every line of the old man's figure sagged under this new calamity.

"Oh, well, never mind, Joey. I'll run it down."

"Where ye goin', Lee?"
"I'm going to find that Mexican village if I have to work my way from one end of the border to the other. But first I want to locate Lawler and Slanty Gano. Goodbye, Joey. Take care of Virginia."

In the shelter of a distant thicket Slanty Gano, keeping watch over the Valley of the Sun, saw a distant figure ride away from the ranch house. It disappeared presently in the mouth of Joey's ravine, came out again later and rode on. That was Lee Hollister, heading toward Turkey Gulch.

Slanty crept out from his hiding place and dodged cautiously back

"I understand more than you know."

see me again. But if I can—"
He gripped her fingers suddenly. Hope and despair fought in a moment of numbing pressure. Then she felt a light, quick touch on her hair, and Lee was gone.

Lee rode first to Joey's cabin. Joey had known Matt for years, and Matt had loved and trusted the irascible, loyal old man. Joey listened, at first with excitement over the matter of the deed, and then with stupefied amazement.

"Why—why, Lee!" he stuttered, and then broke into fury of denunciation. "It's a lie! I told ye he was no good! I knowed he was layin' fer ye!"

Yes, Joey, but that won't help me prove it isn't true."
Joey's fury died. "I know, Lee," he said shakily. "Jes' believin' things ain't proof, is it? An' I can't help ye. I just came back from a to the hollow where his horse was picketed.

Lee rode on, unaware of that stealthy movement. Somewhere above him the crack of a rifle came. His head jerked toward the sound, and down again. He swayed slowly, groping with his hands, and then toppled and slid down.

Minutes passed. There was no further sound of movement, no sign of life but Lee Hollister's patient horse standing by a sprawling, inert body.

Slanty waited a little longer, assured himself that his horse was well screened from observation, hid his rifle in a thicket and went cautiously down to where his victim lay.

Slanty bent down and jerked the fallen man over on his back and felt for a sign of life.

"Had to kill, ain't ye? Well, I'm fixin' ye this time. Let's see what's on ye, first."

Something crisp and crackling answered Slanty's marauding paw. There were two letters from Matt Blair—he scowled suspiciously at these—a snapshot of Virginia—he snickered coarsely—and a legal looking paper. A deed. Slanty's eyes bulged.

"I'll make Bradish pay high for this."

He started to put the deed in his pocket and caught sight of something on the folded paper. It was the smeared imprint of a bloody thumb. Slanty scowled and glared at his hand. His irritation at this mishap made him that much rougher as he dragged the unconscious man upward and heaved him over the saddle of the waiting horse.

Midway of the gulch he turned, gliding like a snake, and led Brimstone up toward a ragged black hole, the mouth of Matt Blair's Bonanza mine.

In forty-five seconds there was no sign of Slanty Gano or Lee Hollister, and a riderless horse, with the sting of a lash on his flanks, was trotting swiftly down Turkey Gulch.

Inside the tunnel, Slanty jerked the limp body over his shoulder and headed deeper into the mine. Some distance in, where the way seemed entirely blocked, he dropped his burden, picked a crowbar from a shelf lost in the darkness near the roof, and pried several tumbled rocks aside. With a grunt of satisfaction he picked up the wounded man again and carried him through the opening, dropping him once more, like a sack of meal.

He struck a match and held it close to the pallid face. Slanty settled back on his heels, tauntingly conversational.

"Ye're right alongside of Matt Blair's precious samples, the ones that never got to the Assay Office at all. Didn't think Slanty Gano'd be smart enough to switch 'em, did ye? There's goin' to be one more cave-in at the old Bonanza, an' ye're goin' to be under it, or back of it, or thereabouts, an' it'll be old Bradish's job to explain ye."
Slanty arose, chuckling derisively. He seemed to have some convenient cache here, for he found a bit of candle, lit it, stuck it in the neck of a bottle and looked around approvingly. The stage was set for a blast which would send a mass of rock and rubble down to crush a helpless man or imprison him in slow torment until he died. Still Slanty lingered, licking hungry lips over the flavor of revenge.

The wounded man's eyelids flickered and were still. Slanty caught the movement and bent over him with a grin.

"Wakin' up, Lee? Ye—"
The word jerked off in a smothered snarl. Quick hands leaped at his throat. Lee was struggling to his feet, panting and fighting. Slanty, caught unawares, gave way for a step or two. Then battering blows came, beating a wounded man at close range. A smashing blow landed in Lee's face, and he sagged and crumpled.

Retreating steps, the clang of a crowbar, a grinding sound. Floating somewhere in a dim sea of weakness, Lee knew vaguely that Slanty had pried the big rocks back over the opening, shutting him in.

Under his cheek was something lumpy and rough. His fingers groped over it. Rocks in burlap, gritty with earth! These must be Matt's sam-

Announces—

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel has not said as yet whether he will ask a second term but is expected to do so.

Ernest O. Thompson, another member of the railroad commission and runnerup in 1933 to O'Daniel, is expected to announce about May 1.

If elected, Sadler said he would propose to the legislature financing old age pensions and providing for crippled children, the blind, dependent children and teachers retirement by the following increases in Taxes:

Two one-fourth cents on oil production.

One cent per 1,000 cubic feet on natural gas.

An increase in the corporation franchise tax.

A pipeline tax.

He asserted his proposal would raise $13,000,000 additional from oil annually and $10,000,000 a year on natural gas.

The proposed taxes would be a type that would not be passed on to the consumer, he declared.

Pep To Observe—

sure loans of not more than $75 for purchase of a calf, sow, poultry or other young livestock, as well as seed, plants and fertilizer, for projects approved by the county extension agent or Smith-Hughes instructors in charge of the projects.

Available To Young People

Mr. Limer said that by making loans available to young people with no other source of credit, the program is expected to bring the families more into normal community life, sponsor useful farm projects, and contribute to rehabilitation.

To Encourage Broader Activities

He explained the new loan will enable county agents and vocational agriculture teachers to broaden their activities and reach a larger number of rural young people who heretofore had been unable to participate in such projects because of limited funds.

Outline Security Given

Loan applications must be made to the county FSA supervisor and approved by the project leaders. Security on loans will include a note signed jointly with parents and chattel or crop mortgages with interest at 5 per cent.

"This is another case," Mr. Limer said, "where the Farm Security Administration is seeking to broaden its facilities to help low-income farm families in cooperation with other agencies. I am sure there are a number of boys and girls in Lamb county who will benefit from this plan."

FASHION for today BY PATRICIA DOW

QUAINT TOT'S FROCK

full skirt, puff sleeves and square neck. A pattern so thoroughly satisfactory that you make it time and again, in different materials for every season of the year, 8587 is just such a very repeatable design.

Yet it's simple as A B C, with full skirt, puff sleeves and square neckline. But the slanting line at the waist, the double row of buttons and the double rows of braid, lift it right out of the ordinary and give it the special charm and quaintness. It will be sweet in challis, jersey, or crisp play cotton like gingham, percale and calico. Even beginners can make it easily, guided by the step-by-step sew chart.

Pattern No. 8587 is designed for sizes 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years.

Pattern 8634 — The corsette waistline is scheduled for much popularity this coming season, probably because it makes you look so beguilingly slim.

This simple little dress (8634) with a piquant peasant air about it, has bodice fullness and a rippling skirt, shirred at the top, that look perfectly charming on slender figures. The square neckline is quite deep, the sleeves very round.

This dress will be very pretty made up in bold-figured cottons like percale, calico or gingham for house wear, with rows of rickrack braid. And you'll also like a dress like this for street and informal afternoons, of printed silk or flat crepe. Your pattern includes a helpful step-by-step sew chart.

Pattern No. 8634 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20.

IMPROVEMENTS CARRIED OUT AT CITY LAUNDRY

New Addition To Building; Install 14 New 1940 Maytags

Machines Are Purchased from Sherrod Hardware; New Ringers And Tubs

Considerable improvements are being made at the City Laundry, which is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Cary, and Mr. and Mrs. Lu...

Build New Addition

A new addition 24 feet by 24 feet has been added at the west end of the building, which affords a larger and more convenient place for patrons to carry on washings. In addition the boiler was moved to the rear of the building, which is also an added feature to the structure, and the room cooler and more comfortable.

New Machines Installed

Up to the present time, eight machines accommodated the patrons of the City Laundry. These machines have been taken out and 14 new 1940 Maytags with new wringers, etc., replace them. These were purchased from Sherrod Hardware. These beautiful white machines, with wringers, which are equipped with special safety features, change the entire appearance of the laundry, and make of this the most sanitary to be anywhere.

The laundry was originally owned by W. Falls, and was purchased by the present owners about two years ago, when the name was changed to the City Laundry.

Four Services Offered

Services are offered by the City Laundry. In addition to the helpy-selfy service, there is the dry, wet wash and finish

Maintain Delivery Service

Delivery service is maintained. During 49, the delivery boy will call for and deliver work. He will call for patrons and their laundry where the helpy-selfy service is used.

New Maytags Installed At City Laundry

Last Rites For S. C. Tullor Held Wednesday, Feb. 28

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, February 28, at the Amherst Baptist church, for S. C. Tullor, 71, who passed away in a Littlefield Hospital, Tuesday, February 27, after a long illness. Rev. L. S. Jenkins was in charge of the funeral services, and interment was in the Amherst cemetery, under the direction of the Payne Funeral Home, Amherst.

He had been a resident of Amherst for the past five years.

Survivors include his wife, two sons, Carl W. Tullor, Memphis, and Vernon Tullor, Idaho Falls, Idaho; and a daughter, Mrs. Josie Lee, Idaho Falls.

Jeff Lowe, Enochs, was admitted to the Payne-Shotwell Hospital last Thursday for medical treatment.

Fourteen new 1940 Master Maytags, with new wringers and tubs, have been installed at the City Laundry. The new machines replace eight old machines and provide six additional machines to meet the requirements of the laundry's increasing volume of business.

Baby Chicks Can Now Be Bought At Anton Produce

Announcement was made this week that baby chicks can be purchased from the Anton Produce, operated by Calvin Shipley, formerly of Littlefield.

Mr. Shipley stated that the chicks were hatched at the Littlefield hatchery, from eggs of thorough-bred blood-tested hens, Rhode Island Reds from the farm of Vernon Gregg, and leghorns from the farm of L. C. Gregg.

Grand Jury Returns Eight True Bills

The grand jury for the February term of District court, which is in session at Olton, reported Tuesday afternoon to Judge C. D. Russell, and was discharged.

The grand jury, in reporting to Judge Russell, did not make a general report as is frequently done by grand juries.

The jury reported eight true bills in addition to those previously returned.

True bills were returned against four negroes charged with burglary. Several local establishments were entered and merchandise taken, including the Pharris Service Station and two stations operated by Morris & Son.

The time for safety is all the time.

Famous "Swiss Family Robinson" To Be Presented at Palace Saturday Midnight

Sparkling with action and drama, Gene Towne's and Graham Baker's production for RKO Radio of Johann David Wess' immortal human story, "Swiss Family Robinson," will have its premiere at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday, with a cast headed by such convincing players as Thomas Mitchell, Edna Best, Freddie Bartholomew, Terry Kilburn, Tim Holt and Baby Bobby Quillan. Few stories have captured the world's imagination as has this 130-year-old tale of adventure and peril on a South Sea island, a tale that has been a best-seller for more than a century, and the film faithfully visualizes its spirit and action.

The adventure takes place during the Napoleonic war when all Europe was harrassed by war and uncertainty. Robinson, a wealthy Swiss watchmaker in London, sees his four children growing up to become useless fadists and in desperation he sells everything he owns and sets out with his rebellious family to begin a new life in distant Australia.

In the South Seas a storm wrecks their vessel. Only the Robinsons survive. When the waves subside they build a raft, ferry themselves and some live-stock, tools and clothing to a near-by island, a tropical paradise alive with gay colored birds and strange animals.

E. L. Jones, Amherst, was admitted to the Payne-Shotwell Hospital and Clinic last Thursday for medical treatment. He was dismissed Saturday.

Delightful Easter Party Honors Jackie Farr On Birthday

Mrs. Jack Farr was hostess to a large group of children, who gathered at the Farr residence on East Seventh Street to help Jackie celebrate her sixth birthday in a gorgeous fashion.
The entertaining rooms were gay with Easter decorations, and the motif and colors suggestive of the season were featured throughout the party.
Games were enjoyed, pictures were taken, and an amateur program staged, in which everyone who participated were awarded a "Guess What."
A beautiful white and pink birthday cake bearing blue candles, with the inscription across the top "Happy Birthday Jackie," was cut by the honoree and served with ice cream to the guests. Favors were miniature Easter rabbits.

Mrs. Fred Duffy Hostess Yellowhouse H. D. Club Tuesday

Yeast breads are very rich in food value, and are not so much trouble to make, said Mrs. Perry, Home Demonstration agent, in demonstrating yeast bread in the home of Mrs. Fred Duffy, Tuesday, February 27.
Hard wheat flour makes better bread than soft wheat flour, because it has more gluten contents. In substituting soft wheat flour for hard, one should not knead the bread so much and use a little more yeast to make the bread rise quicker. Bread allowed to set too long grows porous and sour. It should be cooked immediately after it doubles its bulk.
The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Harrison, March 12. The program will be laundering problems. Everyone is urged to be present.

Mesdames Fowler And Jones Attend Lubbock Luncheon

Mrs. Ivan Fowler and Mrs. Dennis Jones were guests Wednesday of last week at a bridge-luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gamble, 13th Street, Lubbock.

MARCH IN MARCH TO CHURCH was officially adopted Sunday when Littlefield churches were filled to capacity for the morning services. Evening services were well attended also, the pastors report.
The local churches are asking that every person in Littlefield and the surrounding communities attend at least one service every Sunday during the month of March, also that every member of a church, as well as those who are not members, attend at least one Wednesday evening prayer meeting and Bible study.
A simultaneous revival will climax the drive. The revival will start Easter Sunday, March 24, and will continue through April 7.
During the revival there will be services in each church every night and Sunday morning. The week-day services, Monday through Friday, will be held at the Palace Theatre, with one of the local pastors in charge.

Kittens Defeat New Deal; District Champs

All Compete Interscholastic League Finals

Littlefield Kittens captured district title and the right to represent this section in the state by defeating a fighting six-man New Deal at the Meadow stadium Monday night, March 5, in a game that was fought for and to-eat until the final whistle sounded. The final score was 20-New Deal 14.

It was a great third quarter rally which brought the Littlefield squad triumph and sent the New Deal reeling in the stretch drive. The Littlefield team came back within a four-minute span had nine points, holding their lead to none, jumping into a 15 to 10 advantage before that third quarter was half over. They never relinquished the lead the remainder of the tussle.

The following girls were presented special awards for outstanding play during the tournament: Peggy Whiteface, Carpenter of Littlefield, Harris of Ropes, Scott of New Deal, James of New Deal, and Hester of Meadow.

Admirer, which was eliminated from the tournament on protest, which had one of the smoothest aggregations ever to smooth in section, has been recommended a berth in the 18-team field of title contenders, Coach S. H. of Meadow, said.

GOLF CLUB TO MEET
Members of the Littlefield Golf Club are requested to meet Friday at the City Hall at 8 o'clock. An important business will be discussed.

Littlefield Girls Journey To Waco

The Littlefield High School is making preparations to send their girls' basketball aggregation to Waco, Texas, the latter part of this week to enter the Texas Interscholastic Tournament.

This fine Littlefield team deserves a lot of credit for the high class basketball that they have played this year in county competition. They have played good clean basketball all year and their sportsmanship has been something to be proud of, and may their successful year be completed by an excellent showing in the Interscholastic League Finals.

Founding Of Rotary Is Observed By Littlefield Club

Littlefield Rotarians observed the 35th anniversary of the founding of Rotary with a special program at their luncheon meeting last Thursday. J. S. Hilliard, secretary of the Littlefield club, was in charge of the program.

Rotary was founded February 23, 1905, in Chicago, and now has more than 5,000 clubs with a total membership exceeding 200,000.

The program at last Thursday's luncheon was presented by Dr. Charles Wagner, president of the Lubbock Rotary club, and Wally Rix, Neal Wright, and Dean Gordon, members of the Lubbock club. Dr. Wagner and Mr. Wright were present at the meeting a number of years ago, at which the Littlefield club received its charter.

Four of the charter members of the Littlefield club were present at the meeting last Thursday: Mr. Hilliard, R. E. McCaskill, E. A. Bills and A. R. Hendricks.

Five Sentenced To Penitentiary Terms

Four negroes giving their names as Clifton Williams, Thomas Jackson, R. E. Clark, and Mickey Harris, charged with burglary, were sentenced to two years in penitentiary by Judge C. D. Russell in District court at Olton, Wednesday.

Three of the group were sentenced on pleas of guilty and the fourth, Clark, entered a plea of not guilty. He was given a jury trial and convicted.

The four were charged in connection with a series of recent burglaries, including theft from several service stations.

Buck Dorsey pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to pass a forged check, and was sentenced to two years in penitentiary.

The disposal of the cases handled Wednesday virtually cleared the criminal docket for this term of court, according to District Attorney Herbert C. Martin.

Appeal Is Taken To Higher Court In Murder Case

The Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin is expected to hand down a decision soon in the appeal of J. A. Johnson of Castro county, from a nine year sentence on a murder charge.

The murder charge grew out of the death of Charles Price at Flag, in Castro county, several years ago.

The initial trial in Castro county resulted in a hung jury. The second trial in that county brought a three year sentence. When an appeal was taken to the Court of Criminal Appeals, the higher court reversed the decision of the District court and sent the case back for a new trial.

The case was brought to the District court in Lamb county on a change of venue. The first trial in this county resulted in a hung jury, and at the trial last August in Lamb county Johnson was given a nine year sentence. It was from

Work To Continue On City Park Project

Work will continue on the City Park Project, starting Monday, when 20 or 25 men, under the National Youth Administration, will start to work. Marion Phillips has been employed as supervisor.

The project of improving the park, placing drains and putting out grass was started about two months ago, and is sponsored by the members of the American Legion.

By the time summer arrives, the park will have added beauty, and will be a place for recreation. Trees were set out several years ago.

plant, which will mean much to Littlefield and the entire trade territory. Different sizes of lockers will be incorporated into the building, with rental prices varying. The average size locker will rent for approximately $10.

To Employ Meatcutter

An experienced meat cutter will be employed by the board of directors, and will be on hand at all times, Mr. Hobbs declared.

Cold storage plants have been built the past year at Tahoka, PETERSBURG, Plainview, Lockney, Floydada, and Lubbock and plans are almost completed for the construction of one in Sudan.

The amazing growth of the cold storage locker system in the last few years can be explained by the fact that it has fulfilled a definite public need. It has demonstrated its positive economic value in every community it serves.

Basically, the modern cold storage plant offers facilities for handling and insuring preservation of meats, fruits, and vegetables over an extended period of time.

Here, in individual lockers, readily accessible, families may store fresh food that will retain its original goodness until used.

Of even greater importance, is the fact that this is accomplished at a substantial saving, for it is estimated that average locker renter saves $80 yearly in food bills.

This last sentence that the latest appeal was taken to the higher court.

Arguments on the appeal were heard last week by the Court of Criminal Appeals. E. T. Miller of Amarillo, and Meade F. Griffin of Plainview, were the attorneys for Johnson. Herbert C. Martin, district attorney, appeared for the state.

E. A. Bills, Littlefield attorney, has been special prosecutor throughout the several Johnson trials.

1939 parity checks were paid to Lamb county farmers last fall, and the other 5 per cent will be received within the next few weeks. These checks were delayed, due to a shortage of funds in the state office, the county agent's office reported. But a transfer has been made, and the farmers will receive the remainder of the checks immediately.

THERE are a lot of things about this stunning 1940 Buick to claim your attention — that is, if you really want to know what's what in motorcars.

For instance, you've got to admit that its style has done a lot to brighten up and beautify the boulevards.

And, from the way folks are swinging over to Buick, it must have something value-wise that's important for you to measure.

What you hear about its quick-off-the-mark engine and the silkiness it gets from balancing after assembly certainly calls for inquiry.

So do the rave notices BuicCoil Springing gets and the talk you hear about five-foot front seat room in the SUPER and its Foamtex cushions soft as a down puff.

But skipping this—even skipping the fact that Buick's prices are lower than some sixes — there's one thing that alone is enough to send you hot-footing to your Buick dealer.

That's the obvious fact that as Buick goes these days so goes the industry.

It set this year's pace last year—and right now it is plainly the car others will be like "some day."

So do the obvious thing. Go try out this superb traveler.

Even if you don't discover that Buick is an immediate "must," you'll decide you'll never be really happy till you have one.

The $2500 Home Now A Fact—

An "American Dream" come true: Home ownership for the family whose annual income ranges between $1,000 and $2,500.

Homes of enduring quality and comfort, soundly constructed and sensibly financed, are now within reach of the modest-income groups. The necessity of housing, in the sense of shelter for the majority of our population, has been acknowledged by industry, finance, technicians, and government.

Working together, these elements are pooling their efforts to make it easier for the much-heralded "average American family" to have and to hold its own home.

It is said that the construction industry has made more progress in the residential-building field during the past 10 years than it did in the entire preceding half century. Its efforts toward giving the home buyer a better-built and better-equipped house, combined with the streamlined low-cost financing made possible under the Federal Housing Administration's insurance system, have resulted in making modern homes available on a wider scale than ever before.

Essentially, financing is the major problem of families in the lower-income brackets who contemplate building homes. In this respect the Government has recognized its responsibility to the people and, through the FHA, has reduced the complicated financial transactions of a few years ago to a simple method that can be easily understood by prospective home builders.

Loans costing as little as $25, $20, and $15 a month may be obtained under the FHA program for home purchase. Buyers of houses costing not more than $2,500 may pay down only 5 per cent of the value of house and lot.

The prospective home owner, building under this modern FHA method of financing, is assured of a number of benefits. He is assured that his investment is sound, that good materials and construction methods have been used, that the builder has followed his original specifications.

He is safe from the tricky second and third mortgages, high interest rates, renewal fees, bonuses, and so forth, of the old mortgage system. At the end of the mortgage term, through the medium of small monthly payments very much like rent, he may achieve debt-free ownership of his home.

No longer does home ownership mean long months of sacrifice or the alternative of dangerous financing. No longer need families in lower-income groups accept second-hand housing originally planned and adapted for a higher-income group. The majority of people do not have to deprive themselves of the comfort, stability, and enjoyment of home ownership.

The SNOOPER SAYS...

Lon Campbell is planning to have a number of horses at a stable to rent this summer to all of us who enjoy the sport of riding horses. When I asked Mr. Campbell if he still had the two horses he had last summer, he replied: "If I sold those horses, Margie, my wife would quit me."

Sure signs that spring is fast on its way are the ducks and geese flying north... and every time one steps outside, have tiny pebbles, commonly called sand, beat upon the faces of pedestrians... and housewives taking drapes from their windows until the sandstorms are over.

Can't help but wonder if my little brother will always be a pound man.

When I was at home recently he told me how he put books at school in a "pound" when careless students left them in the halls, and fail to lock their lockers. The faculty is sponsoring the "pound" and my brother gets a percentage of the dimes he collects.

"My 'little' brother is just six feet and three inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, is a senior in high school, and a football player.

In my doghouse this week... Rev. Jim H. Sharp for suggesting that a Bonehead club be organized, making yours truly one of the charter members.

Hats! Hats! Hats! Of course you've seen the ladies' new Spring hats. A woman asked a clerk, in a store the other night, to show her the silliest hat in the store. The clerk told her that would be hard, because they are all silly. Then a man described the latest styles" as being "drunken looking hats."

Picked up somewhere: "Satan making his rounds in Hades, found a man sitting against a wall laughing. When he asked why all the laughter, the man said: "I just came from the room where there were a thousand ladies' hats!"

"Well," replied Satan, "what is so funny about that?"

The man replied: "But two ladies came into the room and there wasn't a mirror anywhere."

It looks like a tough year for the shy male... look what girls in New York and California are thinking about! Men who fear Leap Year had better beware.

At Beverly Hills, California, nine young women, only three unmarried, have formed a new club which they call "One Husbands, Inc.," and are planning to turn it into a national organization for all women willing to bind themselves to but one marriage each. Every woman will have to agree with this resolution adopted by the club founders, who include Mary Rogers, daughter of the late Will Rogers, and Mrs. Sidney B. Wood, wife of the tennis play.

Twenty-five girls at New York university think that all girls in New York state should have the right to marry, without parental consent, at the ripe age of 17. Rumor has it that the minimum age for a girl to wed may be changed even in Texas.

It all began when one girl, who is now the president of the organization, an old lady of 19 or 20, got to telling her chums about the blight of her life. Back when she was 17, she fell in love, but her parents, old fogies who knew nothing at all about young love, wouldn't let her marry the Prince Charming. He married someone else, instead of waiting for her to grow up.

The girls in this organization feel that a girl married at 17 will be young with her children, and she'll avoid the mistakes which girls are apt to make between the year after high school graduation and the time the legal age of consent rolls around. A girl married at 17 also escapes the awful disillusionment and un-

Longer Courtships Longer Marriages
In 1870 one marriage in 33 went to the rocks, in 1900 1 in 12, and in 1930 1 in 6, according to a recent report. This year it is expected that in every 5 marriages will be a divorce. These and other facts of a similar nature caused an extensive survey to be made by Professor Leonard S. Sorenson, Jr., and Ernest Watson of Cornell University. Under the title of "Predicting Success in Marriage," some facts from a seven year study have been

After interviewing 526 married couples it was found that the longer the courtship is in favor of a better marriage and adjustment in marriage. With courtships of less than 3 years there was incomplete adjustment. Between 3 and 5 years seems to be the best term for a courtship. Those married after a three month courtship or less, showed a 30 per cent greater ending in divorce. Those who worked before marriage were more permanent than those who never worked. It was found that college graduates were more successful in marriage than grammar or high-school graduates. A broken marriage means a broken heart, broken home, and broken life. If the first paragraph of this story is true, how long will it be until marriage will cease to be among us? Unless we change.

METHODIST CHURCH
Jim H. Sharp, Pastor.
We appreciate the cooperation that many are giving the "March in March to Church" drive. We had a good attendance at both services last Sunday. We hope that those that did not get to attend church somewhere last Sunday will be sure to attend next Sunday. Those that did start out last Sunday to attend church somewhere every Sunday during March keep it up.
Our young people had charge of the services last Sunday night and gave us a good program. How we thank God for young people that are interested in the work of the Kingdom of God.
There is room in our Sunday school for every member of the family and we urge every member of your family to come to Sunday school and church.
We welcome you to all the services.

CARD OF THANKS

In the morning, 11:00 worship period, there will be a social service. There will be a public examination of such who have been prepared for membership in the Lutheran church. The preparation for membership consists in a study of the Bible and teachings of the church. Everyone who desires to join the Lutheran church is first thoroughly informed about the Bible and its content. After the individual has been informed, an examination takes place. This may be held in private before the Board of Elders, or before the entire congregation, it depends upon the desires of the individuals to be examined. The purpose of this examination is to show what they know about the Bible and its teachings and, that they are able to prepare themselves for the participation of the Lord's Supper. The public is cordially invited to this special service. The following are applying for membership and will be examined: Milton Kelm, Ruth Drager, Erain Friday, and Wilda Kelm.

March In March To Church

March Has Been Designated In Littlefield As A Special Go To Church Month ----- Attend The Church Of Your Choice

The various ministers are reporting a good response to the Go to Church Drive. Most of the churches are reporting the best attendance for several months.

The churches are asking every person in and around Littlefield to attend church somewhere every Sunday during March. If you did not attend church last Sunday, or if you did, we want you to attend church somewhere next Sunday and keep it up at least during the month of March.

One of the best things that can be said of any town is that it is "A Good Church Town." This cannot be said unless the people will attend the church services. LET EVERY PERSON HELP OUT IN THIS GREAT CAUSE, AND WE CAN BY OUR ATTENDANCE.

Many Reasons Why Soil Conservation District Should Be Formed

There will be nothing compulsory for the farmers in this territory, if a three-county soil conservation district is organized, extension service officials stated.

Landowners and equity owners in the proposed district and their wives are eligible to vote.
A two-thirds majority will mean that the matter of establishing the district will be left to the state board, who will act upon the interest shown by the farmers in the district.
The work carried out by the soil conservation district will be very similar to that already in practice in Lamb county by the Soil Conservation service. The farmers will accept these services according to their own will,

the officials pointed out.

Farmers in this section are just beginning to realize the necessity of conserving the soil and water.

Almost three million acres of Texas farm and ranch land went under the soil and water conservation banner for the first time in 1939. That brings the figures for the 24-year old campaign to 16 million acres of crop land protected against loss of soil and rainfall.

Thus Texas is off to a good start in 1940, a year slated to see record breaking advances in conservation as all U. S.
Department of Agriculture unite with state and local organizations in a joint drive to protect soil and hold the rain where it falls.

Seven reasons why a soil conservation district should be created in this area are:

- 1.—To take advantage of the opportunity offered by the state and federal government for the protection of all lands against erosion losses.

- 2.—To insure maximum production from the hour's work invested in tilling the soils.
- 3.—To organize our efforts to establish better farming practices by a systematic planning of all farm operations through the assistance of trained farm management technicians.
- 4.—To insure the feeding of the citizenship of the proposed district without further exploitation of our natural resources.
- 5.—To maintain our soil fertility by systematic rotations and cropping plans.

- 6.—To save our land for posterity that it may enjoy the same benefits and privileges that we have today.
- 7.—To cooperate with each other on land utilization and erosion problems that can not be done by individual practices.

In July a petition was sent to the Texas soil conservation board, signed by 250 landowners in Lamb, Bailey, and Cochran counties, asking that an election be called that the farmers might vote on whether or not a district be formed here.

The election has been set for Saturday, March 9.

In the event a district is not formed, comprising these counties, the Civilian Conservation Corps, with the Soil Conservation Service, will probably be moved from Littlefield. Removal of these units would be a serious set back for Littlefield and the entire section.
It is something that warrants serious thought and immediate action on the part of landowners and business men.

Be sure to vote in the election Saturday.
