

Editorial The Public Has Right To Know

Littlefield's school board, in holding two private sessions last week, moved into the field of denial of the right to know about matters discussed and acted upon by public officials.

The board held two such meetings, giving neither the public nor the public advance notice of the sessions. The newspaper is opposed to such meetings by any means which is elected by the people and placed in pending tax money.

It is obvious that private or executive sessions deny the public not only its right to know but also its right to be taken by a public board, but it also is to know the "why" behind the action.

By explaining our views on private sessions by the board, several things should be made clear at the time.

First of all, we have no axe to grind, other than our desire to see executive sessions are not in the true interest of the community.

Secondly, we have no quarrel with the program which the board approved after the private meetings. The board has come to agreement on what it believes is the best way to operate next year.

Thirdly, we have shown our support in past years that we favor improvement of the schools. Anyone is free to file on that or any other matter.

Nothing should be understood. We are not against anyone. No personalities are involved, and no personal points.

When serving on the board, we believe, are trying to do the good of the school district. They pay for this work and, on occasion, less than the public.

The fact remains that the seven men on the board are public servants. They have the responsibility of spending the public's money in the best interests of the community.

The public has a right to know not only what the board does on school matters, but also what it thinks, and individually.

Fourthly, if the people do not know how a public official feels how are they to know whether he is doing his job?

Private sessions, we might point out, are not illegal. Trustees violated no law when they met in private. The board has, in its policy rules, a paragraph which says it may go into executive session by a majority vote.

The fact that the board has such a policy does not make it right.

The fact that the board took no "official" action at its meetings also makes little difference, because the board did come to an agreement, in their own minds.

The agreement was in the form of a statement which was approved at its regular meeting Monday of last week.

President Byron Douglass says the board discussed at the time of the private meetings the press or public should be invited.

As an impromptu meeting, called to get the board's opinion on what we would have to have to have schools accredited.

The board met Monday and Thursday of last week, and meetings called at 5 p.m. when board members leave their businesses. Both meetings were held at the school tax office with six board members and one of them and seven at the other. Also attended Dr. Ralph Schilling, superintendent, and school business manager.

It appears the board neglected to notify the press and the public. Or perhaps the board did not place the importance the press places on being in attendance at meetings of public officials.

It was merely an oversight. The newspaper has an obligation to inform its readers what public officials are doing and why they are doing it.

When a public board holds a private session and issues its "news" after that session, then the effect, is editing the newspaper.

The board, in such a case, is letting the reader know that it thinks the reader should know.

It is not the board's responsibility. It is the newspaper's obligation to determine what is news and what is not.

When a newspaper cannot sit by and say nothing about these private sessions, it is not its obligation to do so. To do so would give the green light, in other words, more of the same. This we certainly do not want.

These meetings would bring more and more to the public and its right to know. These meetings also endanger the press and its ability to do its job. And a responsible newspaper must fight any such thing in that direction.

The newspaper, in this case, is sort of like a person who has just learned he has cancer. He wants it cut out before it spreads.

SIGNS ON TRASH CANS saying "Help Keep your city clean" were of no use here Tuesday as high winds packing dense dust swept the area. The duster, first of the season, cut and tree limbs and sprayed garbage cans around neighborhoods. But no major damage was reported in the city, despite winds which topped 50 miles-per-hour. This photo was snapped at mid-day Tuesday, when dust was so thick the city hall, only a block away, could barely be seen.

Ex-Oklahoma Governor To Talk At C-C Event

By WENDELL TOOLEY

Johnston Murray, a former governor of Oklahoma, will be the speaker for the annual Littlefield Chamber of Commerce banquet tonight at 7:30 in the high school cafeteria at 7:30.

Murray is now practicing law with partner Whit Pate in Oklahoma City, Okla.

A former Texan and son of the late William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, Johnston Murray is known for his leadership in Oklahoma from 1951-55. Pate also will attend and will introduce Murray.

It was previously announced that other Oklahoma government officials would be in attendance, but due to flu, they were unable to attend.

Local school principal Glenn Reeves will serve as master of ceremonies for the occasion and the Rev. Robert Longshore will give the invocation.

Past president Howard Horne will introduce the guests and retiring board members.

An "outstanding farmer" award will be made by Horne.

The "woman of the year" award will be presented by a representative of the Women's Club.

Horne will introduce new CC president Arnold Neumann, who in turn will introduce new board members and briefly outline the program of work for the new year.

Musical entertainment will be furnished by the Rodgers Music Company of Lubbock.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Don Page reminds everyone that tickets will be on sale at the door for the convenience of persons who were not able to get them before hand. Another change in this year's banquet will be the method of serving. Everyone will be asked to wait in the hall of the high school until all places are served, then everyone will be seated and dine at the same time.

Horne reports that Pate is an entertaining speaker and he will probably make a short talk before introducing Murray.

Pate is also a "Texan in Oklahoma" who was reared on a Texas cotton farm and became a lawyer who helped engineer a political revolution by sheep raising in Oklahoma and was elected out of it with just as much (Continued On Page Six)

Financial Reasons

Community Center Board Votes To Give City Control Of Building

The Community Center Board Monday night voted to turn over the "direction, management and control" of the building to the City of Littlefield.

Reason for the action, according to board members, was the feeling that the building has fallen into a "sad state of repair," with no hope for improvement under present financial conditions.

Board members added, however, that they wanted it understood they are not ducking out of a job.

Gene Pratt, upon whose motion the board acted, said the directors would continue to serve as a citizens' board, if the city wanted it that way.

City Manager J. W. Harrison, meeting with the board at a regular meeting, said he would take the board's action before the City Council at its meeting on Feb. 18.

The Community Center's charter says that all assets of the Community Center will go to the city at any time the corporation under which the Center operates is dissolved.

City Manager Harrison asked that as many members of the board as possible meet with the city council when it considers the change.

Prior to the board's vote, the directors considered a financial statement which showed the Center took in $1,242 last year and had operating expenses of $1,219, leaving a net of $23.48 to make improvements. The Feb. 1 bank balance of the Center was $151.

The board felt it had three choices: 1. To raise dues of those now using the Center; 2. To put on a special drive for donations; or 3. To get help from the city.

It ruled out the first choice on the basis that higher dues could not be justified with the present condition of the building. Rather than put on a special drive, the board decided to place the matter in the hands of the city.

The Center was built in the late 1940's with funds donated from residents all over the county. In the early years, it operated as a youth center with a paid director. That set-up failed and the building became known as the Lamb County Community Center.

Toward the end of the meeting, the board elected new officers, with Pratt replacing Mrs. Bonnie Pressley as president. Kenneth Ware was elected vice-president and Mrs. Bob Pell was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

It was uncertain how long these officers will serve, with that depending on what the city council decides to do with the matter.

Attending the Tuesday night meeting were Pratt, Ware, Mrs. Pell, Harrison, Mrs. Pressley, Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Burns, Mrs. Doris Eaton, Herb Heblich, Jim Baxter, Edgar McCallister, Bob Rogers, Mrs. W. W. Hall, Mrs. Thomas Harris, Mrs. J. S. Abernathy and Bill Turner.

School Request At Rock Bottom

Private Sessions Defended

Two Littlefield school officials defended the school board's right to hold private sessions after hearing a protest Tuesday from Littlefield Press Editor Bill Turner.

Turner talked to both Dr. Ralph Schilling, superintendent, and Byron Douglass, board president, to express the newspaper's views on private meetings of public boards who are charged with the responsibility of managing tax money.

Dr. Schilling said that the school board has in its policies booklet one rule which allows the board to call an executive session by a majority vote of board members.

The two meetings were held Monday, Feb. 1, and Thursday, Feb. 4, in the school tax office, with six members of the board present at one and all seven present at the other. Also attending were Dr. Schilling and Sid Hopping, business manager.

The newspaper did not learn of the special meetings until Monday night, when the two sessions were mentioned in discussion by the board.

The press has been invited to all other board meetings in recent years, as far as is known. (Continued On Page Six)

Text Of School Board Statement Published

School board members issued a statement Monday night explaining what items they feel are necessary to operate schools here next year.

Four items totaling $30,000 are listed as absolute needs for next year, including a new boiler for the junior high school and a general overhaul of the heating system, two additional teachers, money for the athletic fund and more for an expected decrease in state funds.

The board was told several months ago that its junior high boiler is on its last legs.

Two additional teachers must be hired to meet accreditation standards, the board says. The standards are not being met in the first and sixth grades.

In the athletic fund, an additional $3,000 is sought. Football has paid the way of the fund.

Second Session On Citizenship Slated Friday

The second in a series of six Citizenship Training programs will be held here Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

More than 400 persons — including 179 students — attended last week's session. Instructor is Dr. Jack Bates, academic dean of Lubbock Christian College.

The series is sponsored jointly by the Littlefield Rotary Club and the high school Student Council.

Aim of the course is to "present factual material concerning Socialism and Communism and to arouse citizens to the methods and techniques used to gain leftist objectives."

There is no admission charge.

Board Seeks Public Opinion

Littlefield school board members Monday night revealed a "rock bottom" estimate of school needs here and issued a plea for citizens to contact board members on their opinions as to how the money should be raised.

Trustees listed two choices:

1. An across-the-board raise of 20 per cent in tax valuations, without an election, or
2. A vote on Senate Bill 116, which would authorize the district a maximum maintenance rate of $1.50, plus the 35 cents now set aside for debt service.

The board listed its program in a statement which was approved Monday night following agreement in principle by board members at two private, special meetings last week.

Cost of the program now being sought is $45,000. A citizens' advisory committee had recommended earlier that $68,000 should be spent to meet needs of the school system.

A total of $30,000 is necessary, board members said, for the schools to operate next year. This money would be for a new boiler for the junior high and heating system repairs, two teachers for the first and sixth grades, additional money for the athletic fund and additional funds to offset an expected decrease in state funds.

Another $7,000 is asked to provide two additional teachers to further reduce the teacher-pupil load. A total of $8,000 is sought to provide teachers with a raise of $12 per year. These items added to the $30,000 total $45,000. A list of all items in the school program is carried in detail in a story on the board's statement, also on this page.

At least $30,000 of the $45,000 must be provided for the schools to meet accreditation standards next year, the board statement says.

The board issued the call for public opinion on how to raise the additional money after talking with two members of the finance sub-committee of the citizens' advisory committee.

The two, Don Bell and John D. Smith, said they feel an election is unnecessary now that the board has cut its program to the bare minimum.

"We are with you 100 per cent." (Continued On Page Six)

"The School Board feels that an additional expenditure for the following items is a necessity for the continued operation of our schools:

1. A new boiler for the Junior High School and a general overhaul of the heating systems in both the Junior High and Primary buildings. (Estimated cost $15,000.)

2. Four additional teachers to help reduce the excessive teacher-pupil load. (Estimated cost $14,000.) Other teachers would be added in future years as the money became available, such as the $15,000 for the heating systems.

3. Additional money for the Athletic Fund. At the present time the Fund is in debt. The net income for football was $1,051.44 (Continued On Page Six)

Hometown Talent To Star In Show Here Feb. 18-19

A hometown spectacular — featuring the acting talent of local folks — will be presented here Feb. 18-19 at the high school auditorium for the benefit of Littlefield Volunteer Firemen.

Miss Charlie Mae Fines, director of the show, arrived here this week to start work on the play, "Running Wild."

Miss Fines has been interested in Little Theatre work, radio, TV and publicity and promotion of entertainments.

She has had special training on this particular production and will work with local acts who will take part in an amateur contest, one feature of the show.

"I'm enthusiastic over this production and the possibilities for an outstanding show here in Littlefield," said Miss Fines. "Everyone has been friendly and cooperative."

Volunteer firemen will meet to make arrangements for the show and choose talent.

"Running Wild" uses the mistaken identity format popularized by the famous "Charlie's Aunt". After deciding to battle the underworld elements in a small town by running a woman for mayor, the People's Party is faced with a crisis when their candidate is unable to be present for the campaign. A bombastic banker, a lovable old doctor and a television disc jockey collaborate to solve the problem in a dubious but hilarious fashion.

Twenty-four teenagers will

be selected to appear as chorus girls and a number of outstanding acts of local amateur talent will be chosen by the director.

Any one in Littlefield and surrounding community is eligible, and there is no age limit, and those who participate do not have to be members of the sponsoring organization. Anyone who is interested in taking part should contact Fire Chief Mo Dunagin at the City Hall.

Joe C. Moore, brother of the groom, served as best man.

A reception followed in the home. The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth and centering the table was a two-tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional bride and groom. Mrs. Archie Hargrove presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Royce Hargrove of Lubbock registered guests.

For travel the bride chose a suit of blue wool with black and white accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Moore graduated from Anton High School in 1957 and was employed as a dental assistant before her marriage. Her husband graduated from Levellarns atop a white Bible.

TFWC District Convention To Be Held In Lubbock

Club women of the large forty-nine county 7th District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs will meet together for the last time when the Club Women of Lubbock entertain the District Convention March 22 - 23. On April 12 the State will be divided for the first time since 1924 and 7th District will be divided between three new districts. Club presidents will be honored at this last Convention of the old district. All presidents are urged to make an especial effort to present a complete record of outstanding achievements of the last year - as requested by Mrs. A. T. Cocanougher, District President. In addition to the written reports which must be sent to Mrs. George Poulson, Lorenzo, by Feb. 10, each president will be expected to give a three-minute oral report at the Convention. Additional and detailed reports on achievements in special departments of the over all program should be sent to the respective departmental and division chairmen.

Yearbooks to be judged for the awards to be presented at the District Convention must be sent to Mrs. Dan Ehrbridge at Friona. Press Books should be mailed to Mrs. John Cadenhead, Box 256, Meadow by March 10.

The program for the two-day convention is now being prepared by Mrs. Cocanougher, and the District Program Committee - Mrs. T. L. Dunlap of Littlefield, Mrs. Clark Estes and Mrs. Nell Odum. Some highlights of the program will be a luncheon style show on "Tuesday, followed by a review of "Green Grows the Ivy" a biography of Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, U. S. Treasurer who will be the principal speaker for the banquet session Tuesday evening. Club reports will be given Tuesday afternoon. Individual club awards will be given Wednesday morning following departmental reports.

Clubs are urged to send contributions for the Coronado Markers projects to Mrs. Roy McQuatters, Littlefield, before the Convention dates. An estimated $250.00 will be needed to purchase each marker. The Highway Department has agreed to set up these markers, providing for small roadside parks, when the money is provided by the Clubs. The procuring of the markers is to be the last big project of Seventh District.

The Fort Wallace Memorial Museum in Kansas contains relics of Wild Bill Hickok, Gen. George Custer and other historical figures of the Old West.

 In closing, may we invite all constructive criticism and suggestions. We appreciate them and they certainly help us in performing a better local service. We shall appreciate the Lamb County Leader printing this letter, since it would seem the person who wrote it is not a regular listener to our station or he would realize that the local news pattern of the past twelve years has not been disturbed. Board Seeks

The board said about $45,000 could be raised by increasing tax valuations by 20 per cent...

If a Senate Bill 116 election were called and approved by voters...

In either case, taxes would be raised only enough to satisfy the needs listed in their statement...

"I wish the people would contact us individually," said board member Jacke Armstrong...

Other board members agreed, setting the stage for the valuation hike - tax vote choices to be discussed fully.

Several board members said they wanted to clear up a misunderstanding about the figure of $88,000 which has been discussed...

"We never have said that all of the $88,000 would be spent, but some people have gotten that idea and have criticized the program," board member Albert Perkins said.

Other board members said they felt it should be made clear that $45,000 is the objective. They called that figure the "bare minimum."

In other action at the regular meeting, the board tabled a proposal by Mangum - Hilburn Agency on boiler insurance...

Filing deadline in the trustee election is March 2. Election judges appointed were Arthur Jones, Mrs. Herman Barnett and Mrs. Oscar Wilemon.

dan's Masten Buys g Panhandle Ranch

One-Time Field Hand Ups Holdings To 125,000 Acres

WELLINGTON — F. O. Masten, who last week purchased the Trujillo ranch of the old Matador spread for $2,000,000, is the colorful owner of a colorful piece of property.

Indians once settled on the 111-section tract and irrigated it from the Canadian River, which traverses the ranchland.

Born and reared at Illinois Bend in Montague County, Masten came to Collingsworth County with his wife in 1918 and purchased his first farm. In 1928 he was chosen as Master Farmer of Texas. Later he branched out and now has farm holdings in several South Plains counties, including Lamb County.

Although he owns approximately 125,000 acres, all but about 100,000 acres of it ranchland, he is still proud of the title of "dirt farmer" bestowed on him 34 years ago by Deskin Wells, editor of the Wellington Leader.

He says, in fact, "any success I may have enjoyed, I attribute to enriching the soil. My belief is that no farmer or nation is better than his or its soil."

Nevertheless, Masten is in the cattle business and although about 9,000 acres of the 71,040 he has just acquired is sub-irrigated, his concern on the Trujillo Ranch, which he will call the Masten-Matador, will be with the progeny of a herd of 2,000 Black Angus mother cows.

The Masten-Matador brand will be 7-4 — a "lucky" number he picked up from Negro trapshooters who worked as pickers on his cotton farms. Roy H. Brown of Vega, old-time cowboy, and a county commissioner in Oldham County, will be his ranch manager.

The Trujillo Ranch is in Oldham County, about 60 miles west of Amarillo. Its shape is irregular, being about 15 miles wide from east to west and 12 miles across from north to south.

It is named for a town established by roving Spanish gold-seekers back in Coronado's day. It was part of the land patented to Abner Taylor for construction of the Texas capitol and later figured in a famous lawsuit brought by the state because it felt Taylor had been overpaid. The state failed to recover any of the Trujillo land, which was acquired by the Matador Land and Cattle Company in 1902.

The Matador company, organized in 1883 under the laws of Great Britain and with headquarters in Dundee, Scotland, operated the ranch until 1951, when it was decided to liquidate the Matador holdings. It was thereafter acquired by the Trujillo Cattle Corporation.

When he was 19, Masten put all his possessions in a flour sack and left Illinois Bend to seek his fortune. He had $5.35 in his pocket.

Masten landed in Quanah and started picking cotton. At the end of that harvest he deposited $175 in the Security National Bank of Quanah.

For two more years he worked as a hired hand at $20 a month and board and saved enough money to buy a team of mules. He rented a farm near Chillicothe.

Since then he's been a farmer. In 1924 he was the district winner in a "More Cotton on Fewer Acres" contest and he was the state winner in 1925 of a contest entitled "More Cotton With the Highest Grade."

In 1937 he bought his first land on the South Plains, a 370-acre farm near Morton. Later he acquired land in Castro, Lamb, Bailey, Cochran and Harris Counties.

His Cochran County holdings consist of about 30,000 acres of grazing land.

Some years ago Masten lost 6,400 acres in cotton to hail, after it was too late for re-planting. He put the entire acreage into sudan grass and received nationwide publicity as having the largest sudan field in the world.

Men from many nations have come to Texas to study his farming methods.

Masten said he started soil saving by spreading cotton burs and gin trash on his Collingsworth County land.

To the farmers around here he always will be regarded as a farmer's farmer. Most of his operations nowadays depend on irrigation. He has 72 wells. This year he harvested 2,148 bales of cotton and his milo crop filled 100 railroad freight cars — enough for a mile-long train.

Scout Exposition Set March 12 In Lubbock

Boy Scouts throughout the county South Plains Council are preparing for scouting's biggest event of the year — the Golden Jubilee Exposition, set at Lubbock March 12 in Municipal Coliseum.

Participating in the exposition will be more than 12,000 Boy Scout and leaders, said J. W. Smith, chairman of the exposition.

"Scouts of the area will devote special attention to the exposition during this week, Boy Scout Week, to plan booth demonstrations highlighting every scouting skill," Smith added.

The exposition is the alternate year counterpart of the Boy Scout circus, which last year attracted capacity crowds to Municipal Coliseum.

The exposition is designed to show the public how Scouts operate their advancement program and special skills training. In special demonstration booths, thousands of Scouts will stage live demonstrations and present special stage shows.

Instruction kits showing plans and policies of this year's exposition have been mailed out to all

Scout units, Smith said. "We are urging all scouting groups to select subjects and sign up for exposition booth space as soon as possible."

Each Scout unit to sign up will then appoint a booth advisor, get help and advice from other community groups in preparation of material and training, and complete plans for participation in the exposition.

Theme this year is "golden jubilee" to help celebrate "50 years of service to the country by Boy Scouts," Smith said.

Booths provided by the exposition committee will be about 8 by 12 feet in size. Each booth must be the result of "boy action" emphasized.

Attendance will be encouraged through special sale of admission tickets by all units in the South Plains Council. A meeting of the ticket sales committee has been set for Feb. 18.

The exposition will be presented in two performances, at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m., March 12.

Other committee leaders engaged in the exposition, besides

Smith, are Bob Hilliard, arrangements chairman; Dr. H. E. Cone and Mike Simpson, in charge of health and safety; J. T. Jones, Jr., ticket sales chairman; Don Austin, participation chairman; Ben Low, public relations chairman; and Orice Green, in charge of publicity.

Counties participating in the South Plains Council of Boy Scouts are Lubbock, Castro, Swisher, Bristow, Bailey, Lamb, Hockley, Crosby, Dickens, Youkum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Gaines and Dawson.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

Some people find confusing our different state and national laws dealing with the same things. Income tax laws for an example. Surely, they say, you can have no real justice, unless there is some "one best way" to do each thing - to hold property, to manage traffic, to pay taxes, or to enforce contracts. So it bothers them. Why should Englishmen drive on the left side of the street? Why should married couples hold title under community property laws in some states and not in others? Is law merely a man-made contraption? Is it true that like good manners much law is man-made, growing out of custom or local problems? In card games you can play many different games with one deck. You merely change the rules. But as with cards and all games, the law goes deeper than convention into man's basic needs for order, for a grasp of the part he is to play, and for a way to settle disagreements. Law provides an orderly way to do things so that people can make long-range plans and work together. Its rules help you to find out where you stand in your rights and duties. And last, law has binding ways of settling disputes if need be, first to keep the peace, and then win people over by dealing with them in ways that satisfy their sense of over Rice, Texas Christian, and Arkansas. You can find these traits of law in most groups from the most primitive to the civilized. As man finds out more and more about himself and his world, as his experience and wisdom grow, the law may get better. For example, as the psychological laboratories find out more about man's reaction times, his fears and faults, our laws about driving, for instance, may improve. And here is another purpose the different kinds of laws may serve. You may look upon each as a sort of experiment. Some turn out badly, and some well. But in the give and take of public discussion, these efforts may yet bring us more nearly to the "one best way" - if any such thing exists. (This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform - not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

LIPSTICK LOGIC

Valentine's Day in America used to be a lace - paper - and - ribbon occasion. Even a generation ago small - town drug stores displayed satin-lined boxes of cosmetics and heart-shaped candy boxes as the most appropriate Valentine's gifts. Today's suggestions, though often more practical - or expensive - still include candy and perfume as standard. Forty years ago a valentine box toward the end of the school day on February 14th was quite an event. The valentines, made by the youngsters, carried a rose-arc-red type of greeting and were decorated with crudely hand-colored hearts and flowers. The sixth grade beau who bought a "real" printed and decorated valentine for his blushing lady-fair-in-pigtails was in for some pretty serious kidding. Twenty years later, even the two-for-five valentines were still sweetly sentimental in looks and message.

The appearance of the first "comic" valentines in variety stores was a most unsettling novelty. Usually the anonymous senders of these cruel poems and caricatures were bent on meanness and not romance. When the valentines were delivered they often left a group of small boys tittering and some little girl in tears. Today's "sick" valentines are a step kinder but just about as pointless as the so-called comics. While they have not entirely displaced the romantic ones, many youngsters and some oldsters apparently consider them hilarious. Personally, we plan to leave these to the sophisticates. Either we'll ignore the anniversary altogether or else recognize it in the tradition of love and remembrance.

Diligently Pray For The Work of Your Church

This Series is Sponsored By the Business Firms and Individuals Listed On This Page. These Firms Along With the Ministers of Littlefield Hope That Each Weekly Message Will Be An Inspiration To Everyone.

TEACHER, I KNOW!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Proverbs	8	9-11
Monday	Job	8	10-11
Tuesday	Ephesians	4	14-15
Wednesday	I Corinthians	3	9-11
Thursday	I Thessalonians	3	9-10
Friday	Hebrews	10	35-37
Saturday	Matthew	25	45-46

You can almost hear their voices, and see their eyes sparkle. They have confidence because they have studied their lessons. Questions do not worry them—they know!

Will they be as confident when it comes to the more serious questions of adult life? Those who grow up in the Church and give God His rightful place are building on a firm foundation. In His House they "increase in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man." There is no substitute for the Christian precepts and ideals taught by your church.

But what about those who lack this training? Will life seem difficult to them because they lack the confidence which comes from a knowledge of God and His teachings?

Do your children have the advantage of this confidence?
