EARTH-SPRINGLAKE DISTRICT

Detailed Reply Filed To Hospital Petition

Preliminary Hearing Set

In the suit of Robert Akin, et al, contestants, Vs. O. J. Mangum, et al, contestees, a Contestee's First Amended Reply To Notice Of Contest was filed here this week and preliminary hearing set Aug. 3 for complaints against temporary injunctions, with District Judge Pat Boone Jr. presiding.

The detailed 11-part reply was filed through the attorneys of County Attorney C. R. Wilkinson and County Judge Mangum.

Part I refers to paragraph VI in the petition filed June 30 by 22 voters in the Earth-

Springlake district protesting the May 27 election which created Earth-Springlake Hospital District.

It contends, "Contestants fail to allege specifically what grave irregularities make it impossible to ascertain the true results of the election, fail to allege specifically what improper conduct prevented qualified electors from voting, and fail to allege the names of voters who were denied the privilege of voting and the reasons for such denial and how the same would have materially changed the results of the election."

Part 2 points out that in the petition "there are no allegations of fraud or misconduct on the part of the tax collector in failing to provide a certified list of the owners and taxable property in the hospital district . . . no allegation that such failure . . . materially changed the result of the election; . . . the same purports to allege that at least 60 persons were permitted to vote who were not qualified . . . but Contestants fail to allege the identification of such alleged 60 voters and how they voted . . ."

Part 3 states that paragraph VIII of the petition fails "to allege the identity of voters who failed to vote for the reasons set forth . . . the exact reasons for each such failure, and how they would have voted; . . . the same does not allege a valid reason why any of such voters failed to vote at the election box provided by the election order . . ."

Exception is taken to paragraph IX by the contestees, in Part 4, "in that the same complains of activities of parties not

KENNETH EVINS

ROAD DEAD-ENDS IN BAGDAD

Kenneth Evins Pastors Church In 'Believe-It-Or-Not Town'

This is a believe-it-or-not town.

Believe it or not, there is a town in these pace-maddened United States where life is comforted slow, where pleasure balances work and where the outside world can't bother you because it simply would be too much trouble.

There is a prosperous town nestled in the haven of rock-crusted mountains, where the carefree ghosts of old prospectors hover in the hollows, near which a cool stream ripples along its way shaded by giant cottonwoods and bordered by the invisible campfires of spirit Indians.

There is horseback riding, fishing and hunting -- in fact, school is closed the first day of the hunting season.

And Rev. Kenneth Evins, former Littlefield resident now pastor of First Baptist Church at Bagdad, Ariz., our unbelievable town, says, "they might as well close up church when hunting begins -- because there sure aren't any men present."

No, Bagdad is not an exclusive resort town. It's exclusive all right, but for different reasons. It is a town of 2,000 souls centered around the open pit mine of Bagdad Copper Corp.

And -- a fact hard for us Texans to grasp -- in Arizona Bagdad is known as a typical town, in its mining areas of course.

To reach Bagdad you need a copy of an old miner's carefully hoarded map. Roughly, it's 132 miles northwest of Phoenix.

Rev. Evins, with a chuckle, explained the route, "You go through Wickenburg on Highway 89. Between Wickenburg and Kingman you come to a State dirt road which is Highway 96. This takes you to Highway 97 -- an 'improved' road but mountainous and dangerous. That highway ENDS right in the center of our open pit mine." No one ever goes there except "on purpose," he said.

Evins said this "improved" road is terrifying to most Texans.

And here comes a surprise, Bagdad has ultra-modern school facilities and a new up-to-date hospital. It may be "somewhat" in them-thar hills, but it's far from backwoods.

Another point -- nobody owns any property there unless it's a trailer house "or something of that sort," Evins said, (Egad -- no taxes!) ALL land is leased from the government and houses and stores are owned by the mining company.

We hate to torture Littlefield merchants with this next mouth-watering truth but we must tell all. There is only ONE of each type store. There is no competition.

Law is upheld by a deputy sheriff -- but judging from Evins' description of the town as "like one big family" -- it is doubtful his duties consist of much more than gathering up hooky players in hunting season.

He described the countryside as mountainous with flat mesas, covered with mesquites and greasewood trees and "very rocky. Elevation is higher than here -- heat never bothers us. We have a very minimum rainfall."

He said the town has a close-knit community life, with sports programs for children and adults alike. "Everyone has a horse. The mine provides the stables and all we have to do is see to the upkeep of the horse."

Kenneth Evins was born in Littlefield and graduated from high school here in 1949.

He is associated with the Conservative Baptist Movement and through this secured his pastorate at Bagdad. He and his family have been visiting his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Evins of 411 E. 13th, and returned to a Arizona Tuesday.

Kenneth and his wife have five children, Connie 11, Randy 8, Kathy 7, Craig 4 and Sonya, 2.

Man Jailed For Burglary

Napoleon Fields, about 37, was held in custody here at press time Wednesday after being charged with burglary and placed under $2,000 bond, according to Judge James E. Bowen.

Fields was arrested Sunday by Deputy E. D. McNeese and charged with burglary of a safe in the Negro district Saturday night.

Judge Bowen said damage to juke boxes and cigarette machines was extensive. Cigarettes and "some cash" were taken, Bowen said.

NOT CHOOSY is Sammy, the 22-pound alligator snapping turtle who snaps indiscriminately at anything that makes the mistake of getting within reaching distance. Sammy's mouth, when open is larger than a man's hand -- and he's capable of tearing two feet off a man's height in a hurry. For more details, see feature inside this edition.

Lost Boy Just Went For Ride

Nowadays a guy can't even take a friendly little cruise around town without running smack into trouble.

Sunday afternoon, seven-year-old Jody Conner, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Conner of Springlake who were visiting relatives here, was the subject of a three-hour search when he disappeared from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Dukes about 5 p.m.

Only Jody wasn't lost. He merely took a Sunday afternoon ride, stopping here and there to visit, like all neighborhood people do.

One difference -- Jody traveled via bicycle, complete with training wheels.

Littlefield Fire Dept. was called in on the search and news of the missing boy was spread by radio.

About 8 p.m., Billy Bazz of 127 E. 14th, having heard the radio report, spotted the boy pedaling nonchalantly down 14th St. He got the boy and notified officials.

James Grimes, whose wife is Mrs. Conner's and Mrs. Dukes' sister, said Wednesday the child was "completely unconcerned when found. He wasn't lost -- he had just gone for a ride."

Grimes added, "he wasn't a bit frightened until he found out we were looking for him. Then he was scared to death."

5-YEAR SEARCH NEARS END

Littlefield Offers Key To Long-Sought Family

A key to the end of a man's five-year search was found here this week.

He was looking for his real parents.

The man -- though he was from Fort Worth his name shall remain anonymous -- came to Littlefield Monday. He had a lead from talking with persons over the state that his father had once lived here.

Through years of thorough research, which was almost to a stage of obsession, the man had learned the names of his real parents and pretty well where they had lived. Ironically, they were the same names and similar backgrounds of two persons living here.

But we're ahead of our story. Born out of wedlock 35 years ago, a baby was put up for adoption in Fort Worth. A couple took him in, and he eventually was told while still at a very early age that he was adopted and the names of his real parents. But the names were almost forgotten, even when told again just before the parents died some five years ago.

And, so, armed only with a couple of names and little else, he began looking for two people among the millions living in the big state of Texas. Because of restrictions and obligations, the adoption center would not and could not give him any help. The hospital where he was born no longer exists either.

But during his youth he recalled hearing the occupation of his father and this was the most significant clue.

He and his wife arrived in Littlefield Monday, and he immediately began talking with longtime residents. But in between his talks about town, he visited two homes. In desperation, evidently, he approached a man and a woman with the same greetings, "I think I'm your son, may I visit with you."

This reportedly, and understandably, unnerved the two households no end. He left after being assured at both locations he was in error.

Finally he was directed to Don Kirby at the Retail Merchants Association. Kirby, to be sure of the man's sincerity, called his employer in Fort Worth and verified his identity and cause.

Legal records were checked back as far as early 1930, and the father's name was found. From the files here and in other towns in this part of the state the name of his mother's sister was found.

A phone call Tuesday morning to Wolf City was made and the woman confirmed that she was his aunt, commenting she had wondered these 35 years what had happened to the boy.

The aunt said the man's mother had died several years ago and was buried there in Wolf City. And she also told him he had three half sisters who had been living within 40 miles of Fort Worth all these years, as his mother had married later and borne the girls.

The man and his wife, who both work as interior decorators and earn considerable incomes annually, made a hasty departure for Wolf City to visit his new-found relative.

The father? His presence is still not known. But it will be . . . some day . . . by the man who wanted to know his parents. His real parents.

Retail Council Meeting Slated

A Retail Council meeting is set Friday at 10 a.m. in the City Council Room.

Jim Kelly, executive vice-president of Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, said detailed plans will be made for "Fiesta Days" scheduled here in mid-September.

Art Festival Plans Progress

Plans are progressing for Littlefield Sidewalk Art Festival scheduled here Aug. 25, 5 to 8 p.m., by "We, The People" of the Chamber of Commerce.

A meeting Monday afternoon, a decision was reached to have the festival on Phelps St., "probably between 4th and 5th streets," said Lee Burnett, president, although the space will be extended if necessary. He stressed the festival is "just for paintings but also ceramics, stichery, sculpture, and all phases and media art."

Two categories for entries will be Adult Division, with a $25 cash prize, and a Junior Division, for young people from 12 to 18 years old, which offers a $25 Savings Bond to the winner.

All forms of art will be entered in these two divisions. No sub-categories are planned. Ballot slips will be provided and winners will be chosen by vote of the people viewing the work. Ribbons will be given for second and third place in each of the two divisions.

Ribbons also will be presented to children less than 12 years old who enter their work.

4 PER CENT

August Oil Allowable Hits All-Time High

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Assn.

Statewide oil allowable for August has been raised by the Road Commission to 54 per cent of potential.

This will permit an all-time-high 48 per cent of potential -- retroactive to July -- to meet demands created by the Middle East shoot-out.

The Texas Railroad Commission boosted the allowable to 50,560 barrels a day -- more than the previous record set on July 15 of this year.

When the crisis continues for several months, the added income will be a major factor in shaping special session tax needs next year.

Meanwhile, Chairman Jim G. Langdon emphasized the Commission is determined to avoid repetition of the Suez emergency when oil industry suffered two and a half years working off surplus stocks which piled up as a result of the big allowable boost a decade ago.

Since the percentage factor was first used in 1963, the 37.5 per cent-of-potential production was the highest adjustment used until the present Middle East crisis erupted.

In addition to the major effect on the state's general economy, a steadily climbing allowable appears likely to increase Texas' governmental tax income substantially. It has been estimated that the July 1 order would mean a $54,617 a day increase in state tax income -- or a total of $1,600,000 through this month. Obviously, the increase now will be greater.

When the crisis continues for several months, the added income will be a major factor in shaping special session tax needs next year.

Meanwhile, Chairman Jim G. Langdon emphasized the Commission is determined to avoid repetition of the Suez emergency when oil industry suffered two and a half years working off surplus stocks which piled up as a result of the big allowable boost a decade ago.

JUDY MCKINZIE

Engagement Announced

OLTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Wendell A. Green, 1118 Zephyr, Plainview, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of Mrs. Green's daughter Judy Ann McKinzie, to Glenn Ray Hunt of Galveston. Miss McKinzie also is the daughter of the late Gerald L. McKinzie and is the granddaughter of Mrs. A. C. McKinzie of Olton.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Floyd Teutsch of Dodson and the late Elba G. Hunt. He received the BS degree from Wayland Baptist College in 1966 and now is a student at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

Miss McKinzie attended public schools at Olton, Plainview High School, Oklahoma Christian University, and received her B. S. degree from Wayland Baptist College with a major in elementary education.

Winner Believes In Appreciation

John Breedlove of 307 E. 22nd, has been employed with the Dept. Store here the past 20 years and in the clothing department 20 years, was "pleased and surprised" upon being named Littlefield's "Friendliest Most Courteous" man employed by the people of this city.

He commented, "When you've worked in business as long as I have, you learn to appreciate your customers, to like them." Remarkably again on his surprise, he added, "It makes you feel real good."

When questioned concerning the background of his friendly, courteous personality, Breedlove answered, "Well -- being from a small town where everyone speaks and is friends with one another, when you move on somewhere else you just do the same thing."

He thought a minute, then continued, "After you've been in business a while -- any type business -- you learn the importance of showing appreciation to your customers."

Breedlove and his wife, Joye, moved here four years ago from Hollis, Okla., where she was born and he had lived most of his life, having moved there in infancy with his parents. Both were graduated from Hollis High School and worked at Hill's Dept. Store. "We have worked together 24 years," he commented.

Mrs. Breedlove also is employed with Ware's and was the first woman employee nominated in the recent contest.

Breedlove said his positions at Hill's and Ware's are the only two jobs "I have ever had." During World War II he entered the Service in 1943, serving with the Signal Corps three years, with 24 months spent in the China-Burma-India theater.

In other months while in the Service, he attended Michigan State College.

The Breedloves were married in 1944 at Hollis. They have one son, Richard Breedlove, now serving in Vietnam.

Richard is married to the former Diane Phillips of Littlefield who is a junior at Tech.

When asked what he thought of Littlefield, Breedlove commented on the town's friendliness and said, "I just don't see how they could be any nicer."

Mrs. Thomas Takes Tour

OLTON -- Mrs. Roscoe Thomas went with the Levee and Gem and Mineral Club on a rock hunting excursion near Lake Meredith where they remained until Sunday.

Among the twenty-one people going was Mrs. Nadine Thomas, former secretary of the Gem and Mineral Society. Members of the party found some flint which is used in making jewelry. Daily acquisition of this substance is limited to 35 pounds per person.

EARTH

MRS. BEULAH NEWTON 257-4341

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, former teachers of Springlake-Earth schools, were honored with a covered dish supper in the community building Monday evening. The Lawrences were in the community visiting friends.

A. M. Sanders is a patient in the Amherst hospital. He is reported to be doing better.

Sammy McGuire left Tuesday for Pasadena, Tex., where he will be employed. McGuire has been water superintendent of Earth for some time. His wife, Dorothy, is employed as bookkeeper at Brown & Jordan Imp. Co. She and the boys, Ray and Randy will move to Pasadena in a few weeks.

Mrs. W. H. Parish returned to her home last week. Mrs. Parish had been visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Phill Cannon in Mississippi.

L. W. Jaquess was buried at Earth Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Jaquess were residents of Earth and the Flag community for many years. They put the first laundry at Earth and started with 3 machines.

Then later when Mr. and Mrs. Jaquess were not physically able to keep the laundry, their son and wife, Travis and Verna Dean, took over. The laundry had then grown to 12 machines, extractor and dryers. Nine years ago Mr. and Mrs. Jaquess moved to Littlefield, where he passed away. He was 87 years old.

Herb Wendborn, Abe Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. Dicky Woodring attended funeral services for Homer Hensley, Altus, Okla., Thursday. Hensley was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Griffin and Mrs. Woodring.

AMY'S ADLIBS

The Advantages

By Amy Turner

MANY THANKS to the reader who sent me the clipping on "hippies" since I found it not only entertaining but informative.

It seems that my education was sadly lacking in certain areas. In fact, I'll have to admit that, before receiving this article, I didn't even know what a hippie was. Now, how square can you get?

I'm quite sure that The Publisher didn't know either, even though he would never admit it. But I notice he keeps referring to "those things, whatever they are, hippos or something."

At any rate, I not only enjoyed the article, but it served an even higher purpose by saving me the effort of having to write a column.

And I am all for anything that saves me any effort.

THE CLIPPING in question concerned a certain newspaper reporter who decided to go out and interview a genuine hippie.

He spotted what he described as a perfect specimen "wearing a stubble of beard, long sideburns, old tennis shoes, overalls and an ike jacket".

First, the reporter asked him how long ago he had dropped out of society and was told it was a very long time ago. He then mentioned the specimen's unusual clothing and asked why he chose to wear this costume. The answer was simple:

"These are the only clothes I have." The reporter went on to ask him if he liked to "get high" and believed in peace. The answer on both counts was yes.

He then asked about his living conditions, if they were "drab, barren and simple?". "Just a dirty, dump, old room is all," the answer came.

"Well, you are a real, genuine hippie, aren't you?"

"Hippie? No. I'm an old-fashioned skid row bum. I'm just standing here trying to mooch quarters for wine."

This confused the reporter somewhat since he thought the bum fitted the description of a hippie perfectly. The bum then explained: "Yes, people are always making that mistake because the two groups are so similar. But there are some very basic differences."

ONE DIFFERENCE, it seemed, amounted to the fact that the bums form a much older culture since they have been dropping out of society for centuries. This particular bum thought all the publicity the hippies are getting is very unfair because, as he put it, he was "just as useless and lazy as any hippie".

He also pointed out that bums are much more dedicated than hippies, who only stick with it for a few months or a year or two, while bums are with it for life.

The bum also resented hippies being treated nicer. He noted that if a hippie goes into a park and makes a lot of racket, it's called a "be-in" or a "love-in".

The poor bum just sits and is arrested for loitering.

"Why don't you become a hippie?" the reporter asked.

"I have my pride. And I prefer wine to marijuana or LSD. It tastes better."

THE BUM also pointed out that he did not have a college education or a comfortable family background, so he couldn't qualify socially as a hippie.

He added, though, that he had often thought about what it would be like today if his parents had had enough money to put him through college and give him a proper upbringing.

"I sure wouldn't be no dirty, unshaven bum standing mooching quarters for wine so I can get high."

"No sir. I'd be a dirty, unshaven hippie, cashing my allowance check from my dad so I can buy some pot and get high."

"Just shows what a difference the advantages can make."

No, I Don't Want To Say 'Ho, Ho, Ho' Anymore.

One For All

By PAUL HARVEY

ONCE UPON A TIME the Ute Indians ruled a Rocky Mountain empire. Then known as the Shoshones, they inherited a vastness which is now five states.

But as with most reservation areas, outsiders somehow seemed to move in and take over the lands of most mineral wealth and greatest agricultural potential.

Mexicans, following Cortez and de Vasco and Coronado, explored those beautiful mountains and valleys seeking gold and adventure and found both and sank roots and stayed.

And the Indians moved back.

THEN THE ANGLOS CAME, seeking gold and silver and fur and they learned to love the tall, wide country. They moved in, settled down, stayed.

And the Indians moved back; retreated further before the endless tide.

Then one day, their lands now checker-boarded with homesteaders, the Utes looked around at their once-grand hunting grounds--at the timber, farm and rangeland--and realized that they had but 300 thousand acres of it left -- way down in one corner of southwestern Colorado.

AGES OF BROKEN PROMISES and indignity and retreat might have left the remnant Shoshones bitter, even rebellious.

Instead, with limitless patience, they studied the avarice of their invading brothers and waited.

And it came to pass that the newcomers adapted. Living among the fragrant fir and tranquil waters, sleeping among the stars in incomparable solitude, the volatile Spanish invaders mellowed.

The restless, greedy Anglo traders, trappers and prospectors found that most elusive of all treasures -- a quiet heart.

Thus gradually evolved a splendid adventure in brotherhood.

RECENTLY I JOURNEYED to the village of Ignacio, throbbing heart of that tri-ethnic society, to see the Indians, the Spanish and the Anglos living separately but working together in mutual respect.

The Tribal Council and the City Council gradually overlapped, compatibly.

With an awakened interest in cooperation came a new civic interest in self improvement.

Now the valley people want to disassociate themselves from Government money which, they recognize, breeds lethargy and drunkenness.

They are seeking to build businesses of their own so that their children will have better schools and their men will have work to do.

They will.

THEY DON'T EXPECT it to be easy -- for them nothing ever has been easy -- so they will.

So most impressive to me than their conspicuous industriousness is the manner in which these comparatively simple people have sought and found a solution to a problem which presently bedevils our most brilliant leaders.

In a primitive corner of our nation there is presently being re-enacted the essence of the Americanism: Diverse peoples, retaining their own individuality, yet living together in harmony.

And if ever again I am tempted to believe it can't be done, I will remember a recent visit to the Valley of the Sun and the three who live as three yet work as one.

The Upper Room

"Jesus said to them, 'Why are you afraid? Have you no faith?'" (Mark 4:40, RSV)

A sudden squall on Lake Minnetonka, in Minnesota, made our outboard motor useless. We had to ride the waves to shore. Our situation reminded us of the disciples during the storm on the Sea of Galilee.

It seems the disciples felt that Jesus should suspend natural laws--for their safety. However, Jesus gave them a greater miracle than they expected. He did still the troubled waters, but He also gave peace and calmness to His fearful companions. He gave them the peace and faith which not only saw them through that storm on Galilee, but through numerous later storms as His apostles.

Christ still gives this kind of peace. Often we pray only to get through the immediate crisis. Our Lord strengthens us for the present. He will also give strength for the unknown crises in all our tomorrows.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, forgive our small faith by which we reduce Thee to our size. Forbid that waves of difficult circumstances should bind us to Thy presence with us. When we have done what we can, grant us the wisdom to leave the outcome in Thy hands. Through Christ, our Lord and Master, we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Whatever the storm, the peace Christ gives exceeds our expectations.

SHE is uneasy because many farmers are now seeking salaried jobs. Some are no longer young, but their love for their farms and their desire to stay on their land in these dark and troublesome times forces them into moonlighting. But their fields miss the constant touch of the master's hand.

SHE has learned that there are three things that all good farmers cannot abide, yea four; Russian thistles, careless weeds, Johnson grass, and their banker driving around their fields before they have had a chance to knife out all of the Russian thistles, careless weeds and Johnson grass.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

A Good Feeling

IN ORDER to make good use of life, be happy and find a satisfactory place for ourselves in society, we must have a good feeling about life.

We must honestly believe that it is worth living that we are fulfilling our mission; and that it is meaningful.

In order to establish and maintain these attitudes, we must avoid the extremes of ego-centricity and self-abandonment.

Of course, we know that a substantial life includes both a wholesome interest in self and a blending of selfish interests with certain more compelling and enduring demands. Failure to accomplish this balance probably accounts for much of the feeling of futility which so many people express in so many different ways.

It is generally agreed that none of us can be successful in anything we try to do when we feel that it is fruitless and useless. We cannot afford any such feeling about life.

MUCH of the unhappiness and ineffectiveness evident in the lives of people is traceable to their deep sense of the futility of life.

These folk are persistent in the question, "What's the use?" With this feeling, they are unable to summon the courage, energy and endurance essential to victorious living.

Looking back over the history of another generation, we find a first-class example of the emptiness of wasted living. "You have sown much, and bring in little; you eat, but you have not enough; you drink, but you are not filled with drink; you clothe yourselves, but there is none warm; and he who earns wages earns wages to put into a bag with holes."

This is a sobering description of a fruitless, meaningless and hopeless manner of life.

When we survey the history of these people, we find the reasons for the futility which characterized their existence.

They were indifferent toward God; and the predominant features in their behavior were ingratitude and rebellion.

A FEELING of futility about the experience of life is the natural and expected result of misplaced and misdirected faith.

We know that many people feel that all is "a striving after the wind". They know nothing but futility, frustration and failure; but they could be living a life of faith, fortitude and fruitfulness with a good feeling about life.

Every available source of wisdom pours forth the evidence that we cannot leave God out of our thoughts and our life and have any feeling except that of futility.

We must give intelligent and sincere recognition to the sovereignty, providence and expectations of God in order to live a worthwhile life.

This is far better than the alternative--a meaningless existence.

THE WEARINESS of futile living is a burden too heavy to bear, but we are happy that futility with the resulting weariness is not a necessary experience.

Mr. Clarendon has expressed this idea very well. "They who are most weary of life, and yet are most unwilling to die, are such who have lived to no purpose; who have rather breathed than lived."

Nothing less than a strong, knowledgeable and working faith in God can provide a good feeling about life, and this is the difference between living and existing.

Taylor Started Band

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The reference in this letter to a picture having been used in The Leader-News of A. B. Taylor relates to a photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor which appeared recently when they celebrated their golden anniversary in California.)

Dear Mr. Turner, As two old Littlefield Wildcat Band members, we took exception to the statement in the write-up recently about "Prof" Hayes. We hold "Prof" in the highest regard and we're proud of his bands, in fact, we both had children in his bands. However, he was NOT the founder of the Littlefield Wildcat band.

As a matter of fact, unbeknownst to you, you recently had a picture of our first band director and organizer in your paper -- A. B. Taylor, "Abe" Taylor not only started our school band, but wrote the words to our school song.

There were a NUMBER of band directors before Prof's time, a few, Morgan Layfield, Cora (Mrs. Davis) Armistead, Mr. Camp,

Mr. Williams and Allen Winston.

The statement concerning "Prof" may have been intended to imply that he had the first band to amount to anything award-wise but even this is not true. Check with some oldtime band members in town, such as B. D. Garland Jr., T. A. Henson and Kenneth Ware. There are many more around we are sure, who may respond to this letter. We hope so!

Please give credit where credit is due!

BITS AND PIECES

...A Time For Truth

A LOOK at national headlines these days -- with American cities inflamed from uprisings which no longer can be soft-pedaled as protests, demonstrations or even riots -- somehow leaves this writer not feeling like being very funny today.

I feel more like looking deep inside my mind and heart and seeing where I, as a typical American, have failed to do my part toward keeping my country free of strife and horror.

I feel like searching for answers -- and for comfort.

So -- I thought about the "sayings" my Mom collects. (In a recent column I gave her sort of a bad time about them.) But the truth is -- they're the truth.

I DID FIND IN THEM a couple of funnies, and I'll give you those before we dig a little deeper. Quote:

"Things are pretty well evened up in this world. Other people's troubles are not so bad as yours, but their children are a lot worse."

And: "Children are a great comfort in your old age -- and they help you reach it faster, too."

ALL RIGHT, we've had our little smile. Now here are a series of truths that are most applicable to the problems of Americans today:

"Economy makes happy homes and sound nations; instill it deep."

"The office of government is not to confer happiness, but to give men opportunity to work out happiness for themselves."

"If you would make a man happy, do not add to his possessions but subtract from the sum of his desires."

HERE'S ONE everyone of us should memorize and repeat to ourselves many times each day:

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Science Moving In

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses fishing this week, we suppose.)

Dear editor:

I was fishing the other afternoon and thought I'd hooked a good one, even when it broke the surface glinting in the sunshine. Looked like at least a three-pound gaspergou, but when I got it to the bank I discovered it was only a copy of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and I lost my bait besides. There are days like that.

I re-baited and let the paper dry out and looked it over and ran into an article that made me forget all about my cork.

According to it, science is moving in on fishing. It's working on a system where you ride along in a boat, locate a school of fish by radar, then pull them in with a vacuum-cleaner-type suction pipe. In thirty minutes a man can have a boat full and be back on the job on his tractor or in his office or wherever he works.

I estimate this will save 15 million man-hours of fishing a year, and it got me to thinking of other areas.

Take golf, as I understand it, from what I've seen on television when no western was on, the object of the game is to sink a ball in a minimum number of strokes, but like it is you drive the ball through the air and when it lands it bounces around no telling where. Why not connect the holes up with pipes on the ground and drive through them, making a hole-in-one at every green and thus saving maybe 50 million man-hours of golf a year?

Or dominoes. Why put dots on just one side? Put them on both and a game could be played in 30 seconds. The same could be done with bridge cards, although I haven't worked out anything yet with checkers. Baseball? Magnetize the ball and the outfielders' gloves and finish a game in 30 minutes with 27 flies caught by both sides. All games would end in a tie, the national standings would always be the same and the newspapers would never have to re-set any type.

By failing to utilize science in all games and sports, I figure the United States is wasting 14 billion man-hours a year, delaying the average man's entry into a rest home by 15 or 20 years. I turn the problem over to Congress.

After finishing reading the paper, I resumed fishing and about sundown pulled in four 2-pounders and came home. There's nothing better than a copy of the Avalanche-Journal to wrap fish in.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Parkview Baptist Church's minister, Rev. Bill Penland holds his two-year-old daughter Loretta Dawn, and seated beside him are Travis Edward 12, Ann, 14, and his wife Dorothy who holds their eight-month-old daughter, Melanie Charisse.

MEET THE MINISTER

Parkview Baptist Church Pastor Been Ministering Ten Years

One of the city's busiest men, Rev. Bill Penland, is pastor of Parkview Baptist Church, located at W. 5th and Wicker. Besides his duties as pastor, Rev. Penland is vice-president of Littlefield's Ministerial Alliance, is pastor-Brotherhood advisor for Llanos Altos Baptist Association, the Association of Sunday School superintendents, clerk for Llanos Altos Baptist Association Board and director for the area's Baptist Camp at Floydada.

Next year's additional duties will include the Budget Committee for the Llanos Altos Association.

Mrs. Penland, Dorothy, says jokingly, "We hardly get to see him, he's so busy." And in return, the pastor says "Yes, I think Dorothy has to make appointments to see me." After Penland was graduated from high school at Frisco, he entered the Army and was stationed in Germany. Two years before he was released from the Army, he and Dorothy were married and she got to see much of Europe, including London, England; Holland and Germany. They crossed the English Channel on a ferry with their eldest daughter, Ann. Penland's tour of duty took him to Japan, Hawaii, Fiji Islands, Korea, England, and of course Germany.

Following his stint in the service, he entered North Texas State University at Denton and earned his BS degree in construction engineering. He took a job in Dallas with the General Housing Company of Texas as job superintendent for the Dallas area, and while working there he surrendered to preach. The family moved to Stephenville where he pastored two churches and entered Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. On first and third Sundays, he preached for Buryan Baptist Church at Dublin and on second and fourth Sundays, he preached at Victor Baptist Church, Stephenville.

The Penlands moved to Eastland before completing Seminary and pastored there until he earned his B.D. degree, then moved to Skellytown to a pastorate. The family came to Littlefield from Skellytown's First Baptist Church and have been here two years.

Both Rev. Bill and Dorothy are concerned over current events in the U.S. and the seemingly lack of interest expressed by most people.

Pastor Penland says "the highlights of my ministry are to win folks to Christ, and preaching. . . Most of my time is spent in sermon preparation and visitation."

His favorite hobby is reading good books. He now is writing an expository book on the Book of Hebrews and feels he is three-fourths through it. He doesn't know when he will have it published.

He also likes to fish and hunt whenever limited time allows. Since coming to Littlefield Rev. Penland was one of 104 preachers throughout the Southern Baptist Convention invited to participate in the Trans-Pacific Crusade in September, 1965.

Rev. Penland went to New Zealand and was with the Howick Baptist Church in a suburb of Auckland, New Zealand. Here he preached as many as five times a day and usually not less than three times a day for three full weeks.

His speaking engagements included Rotary Clubs, Veterans clubs, gatherings in homes, churches, all under the direction of the Howick Baptist Church.

Dorothy's hobbies are cooking and keeping house for her family. She says she likes to sew, but doesn't have much time with young children to see after. She teaches an intermediate girls' Sunday School class and Rev. Penland says "she has been a great source of strength in my ministry."

Anton Twirlers Attend School

ANTON--Anton High School band's four majorettes spent last week at Bennie Dunn Evans' Lakeview Twirling Camp on Lake Brownwood. The four were Misses Phyllis Boothe, Gayle Kesey, Debye Markham and Malva Teague.

They were taught by nationally known instructors such as Carl (Possum) Dunn, Louisiana; Griff O'Neil, Texas; Nancy Mitchell, Tennessee; Teresa Lowrance and Kay Evans, Texas.

Phyllis and Malva received medals in the camp's daily contests.

Besides twirling the girls had time for swimming and other recreational activities.

Areas of twirling instruction offered were solo baton for beginners, intermediate and advanced twirlers; dance twirling, military marching and fancy strutting routines, show and novelty twirls, two baton, flag, hoop, fire, duet and ensemble routines, grooming, showmanship and grace.

The sixty five students ranged from ages three to seventeen.

After five days of concentrated effort the girls are on their way to a great year with the 1967-68 Bulldog Band.

CHECK THE SAFETY OF YOUR FARM THIS WEEK

ONE THING A FARMER DOES NOT WANT TO CULTIVATE IS AN ACCIDENT

- MACHINERY and equipment should always be kept in good repair, and used with guards and safety devices in position.
- BUILDINGS and your home should be kept in good repair at all times, with all safety hazards carefully eliminated.
- CLOTHING that is loose-fitting or torn should never be worn around moving machinery.
- FIRE HAZARDS are everywhere. . . be careful with matches . . . don't smoke around the barn!
- GUNS should always be stored unloaded, and put where children can't get at them.
- ANIMALS may bolt if startled; warn them of your presence by speaking before approaching.
- WATER HOLES on your property are a potential danger to children . . . they should be fenced off to prevent mishaps.
- INSURANCE keeps your family and farm safe from the hazard of financial disaster. Be sure you're fully covered.

PAT GOODWIN

Pat Goodwin

Pat Goodwin, 55, Littlefield High School chemistry and biology instructor for 16 years, died Saturday in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo after a short illness.

Mr. Goodwin retired three months ago and went back to Amarillo where he was born Feb. 24, 1912. He was a graduate of Amarillo High School and West Texas State University.

Services were held Monday afternoon at Griggs Pioneer Chapel in Amarillo with Rev. Robert Ewing, pastor of Littlefield's First Christian Church officiating. Music was presented by J. N. Sutton, soloist, who was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Leonard Kline Jr.

Burial was in Llano Cemetery at Amarillo.

Mr. Goodwin was a member of Littlefield's First Christian Church, was Sunday School superintendent and an elder of the church.

The family had requested that all memorials be given as donations to the Heart Fund.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Marie Miller of Amarillo and a niece, Mrs. Patricia Hise of Amarillo.

Attending the funeral from Littlefield were Mr. and Mrs. Rex Gilstrap, Nelson Naylor, Garland Kooz, Mrs. N. T. Dalton, Frances Farquhar, Blanche Dodgen, Ruby Reid and Mary Davis.

Mrs. Josephine Joiner

Services for Mrs. Josephine Joiner, 50, will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 at St. John's Baptist Church with Rev. Polard, pastor of the church and R. H. Davis of Levelland officiating.

Josephine Fields was born Sept. 11, 1917 and was married to Connie Joiner Aug. 14, 1938. She attended schools at Bartlett and moved to Littlefield in 1941. She worked for Dr. Showell since 1955.

Mrs. Joiner died Tuesday in Medical Arts Hospital. Interment will be in Littlefield Memorial Park under direction of McCarty Funeral Home.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Fields of Littlefield, one daughter, Doris Seett of Lubbock, five uncles, two aunts, and two grandchildren.

Charles F. Stark

SUDAN -- Services were held at First Baptist Church Monday morning for Charles Franklin Stark Sr., 41, who moved to Lubbock several months ago from Sudan.

Stark was born in Oklaunion, April 13, 1926. He graduated from Sudan High School in 1946.

Stark, who was employed as a butcher by a Figgly-Wiggly Store in Lubbock, was stricken at his home at 2906 21st St. in Lubbock and was dead on arrival at Methodist Hospital at 9:50 p.m. Friday. He suffered an apparent heart attack.

Rev. Willie Hazel, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiated for the Sudan services. Masonic graveside rites were conducted afterward in East View Cemetery in Vernon, directed by Payne Funeral Home of Amherst.

Surviving are his wife; a son, C. F. Stark Jr. of Weatherford; a daughter, Mrs. Charla Bratton of Houston; and his mother, Mrs. Bessie Stark of Sudan.

Don't Kill Snakes -- Just Call An Expert

Oblivious to heat and rough terrain -- and to possible dangers that might be lurking nearby -- eight-year-old Roger Simpson ran a zigzag course, his eyes never leaving a quivering lizard streaking erratically away from its pursuer. Suddenly the lizard lurched to the right and disappeared in a thick growth of sagebrush. Roger pondered the situation a moment then picked up a weather-beaten stick. Using the stick, he began poking and prodding the bush, watching eagle-eyed for signs of the lizard.

AND THEN there was a chilling whirr -- a hollow rattling even an eight-year-old boy could identify. A mottled coil, like a dirty rope, became visible. And then an ugly, hissing head appeared -- a disturbed and very unhappy prairie rattler.

Instantly the boy backed away. He stood there quietly, studying the noisy adversary. Suddenly the creature didn't look vicious at all. Just a frightened reptile ready to fight for its life.

Slowly Roger approached the hissing snake, noting the black silver of a tongue that danced from its mouth. He stopped just beyond the snake's reach. In a moment the stick flashed out and the snake, unharmed, was dangling balanced across it.

IT WASN'T HARD at all, Roger looked at the rattler and a glimmer came through that this was a living thing that understood fear, hunger, heat and cold -- just like any other creature.

He would keep the snake, he decided. And one day he would have a lot of them.

A FEW MONTHS later, another eight-year-old boy, Hal Newsom, was riding a bulldozer with his father who was a dirt contractor. Suddenly he spotted a small snake, a racer, and a strange excitement seized him.

Grabbing his B-B gun, Hal aimed at the snake and fired. The small pellets succeeded in stunning the snake and nothing more.

Hal secured his prize, took it home and placed it in a cage. After that, somehow he just accumulated more and more.

Two years later, the two Muleshoe boys discovered their mutual interest in snakes and reptiles and so began an association that has resulted in an extensive and top rate reptile collection -- and is the basis of planned lifetime careers.

ROGER, president of Muleshoe Rattlesnake Club, says he plans one day to build an institute for scientific work with venom. Already science knows snake venom can be used in many ways other than as treatment for snake bite, and Roger believes many other uses yet are to be discovered.

Hal, secretary-treasurer of the club, shares the same plans and ambitions.

THE TWO YOUTHS will explain at length the uses of snakes and other reptiles, their habits and haunts, how to capture and tend them, how to milk for venom, what to do in case of snake bite and precautions to take to avoid being bitten -- plus giving details of various interesting aspects -- in a show, lecture and demonstration set at the sports Arena Saturday at 3-5 p.m.

Admission to the educational, informative and entertaining presentation will be 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults.

ANGRY diamondback rattler writhes and wriggles trying to maneuver into position to bite the hand that feeds him. Snake is held by Roger Simpson who tends to its needs.

Purpose of the show is to raise funds for the club to camp out in the Florida Everglades and collect reptiles. For the trip, the boys said they are in dire need of a 4x6 or 8x10 trailer to bring back their catch.

Later they hope to hunt gila monsters in Mexico.

And don't let the "Muleshoe" in the club's name fool you. It is open to members anywhere.

Organized by Roger in 1960, the club now has 46 members which include enthusiasts in Oklahoma, Nebraska and other states -- and even one member in Canada.

AS TO THE WAY these youths fell about snakes, Roger phrased it most aptly: "We hope to reach the world, the U.S., the people around us -- however many we can reach -- that snakes and reptiles are not something to kill every time you see them. They have a purpose in the world and should be allowed to fulfill it. I wish it were against the law to kill a snake. Many harmless snakes are killed daily that are of service to mankind."

In their lecture, the boys plan to explain these uses. Roger continues, "If you see a snake, even a poisonous one, it doesn't mean you have to kill it. You can call a club like us and we will give it a home -- a place where it can be studied and contribute to knowledge." He stressed, "We are available and of service to the community day and night."

ROGER POINTED OUT that to kill a rattlesnake and walk off and leave it is an expensive action detracting from the economy of the community.

"A rattlesnake skin can be worth $20," he said. Pointing to a rattlesnake belt around his waist, he commented, "You couldn't buy this in a store for less than $10."

He explained, "The venom is valuable, the meat is valuable, the intestines are ground into fertilizer so they are valuable, the backbone is used for necklaces and rattles for trinkets, when you add it all together, you've killed and abandoned a pretty good chunk of money."

REGARDING non-poisonous snakes, Roger asked with emphasis, "Why kill a snake if it isn't poisonous? Because it scares you? Just get away from him!"

The fact that these youths and their fellow members don't fear reptiles does not mean they don't recognize danger in carelessness and take every known precaution. They never open a cage with their hands -- always using a stick. They wear 14-inch tough bullhide boots, with nylon netting inside, whenever hunting or working with snakes. Roger said a diamondback can bite through -- and sometimes above -- the boots. For this reason, when working in country known for diamondbacks, the boys wear extra leather leggings wrapped around the boots up to 22 inches high.

HAL AND ROGER said mer-

EASY DOES IT, but not really, when Roger Simpson, 19, rebellious and frightened diamondback in hand, Roger, with leather gloves, used utmost -- and expert -- care in training snake from hooked stick to his hands. The Rattlesnake Club, of which Roger is president, has about 300 snakes and reptiles at present, including rattlers, copperheads, a spruce adder and others.

ABOUT AS MEAN as they come is "Sammy," 22-pound alligator snapper caught by Hal Newsom, 17, pictured, in the lake swamps. Still considered a "baby," Sammy probably is 100 years old, Hal said, and can live 200 or 300 years and weigh a weight of 200 pounds. Sammy may be violently irate about captivity, but one thing sure -- he'll never have to worry about the turtle soup pot.

CLUB PET -- if you don't mind how you classify pets -- is this handsome badger given to the club about a week ago. But make the mistake of trying to "pet" him -- if you want to all your fingers.

JUST ABOUT CLEAN is this car youth of First Methodist's Junior High MYF washed in their car washing project Monday at Perry's Car Wash. This early-morning shot preceded a hard day's work in which 36 cars were cleaned up by 21 youth of the church. Shown here with sponges are Deana Sterling, Mary Shottwell, Kathy Pirkey, Shirley Priboth, Charlotte Hines, Noel Grizzle, and Sponsor Buster Owens with the nozzle. Proceeds will go for purchasing new "Methodist Hymnals" for the sanctuary.

Rotarian Governor To Speak

Rotarians of this community will welcome on Aug. 3, the governor of this Rotary District, R. G. Mills of Amarillo.

He will address the Littlefield Rotary Club, one of 48 in his district, and will confer with Jim Holt, president of the local Rotary club, and other club officers to obtain information on the club's plans for its service activities and to offer suggestions on Rotary administrative matters.

Mills is one of 283 Rotary governors in all parts of the world who are serving as the sole representative of Rotary International in districts comprised of member clubs. Each district leader is responsible for supervising the clubs in his area. More than 12,800 Rotary clubs in 134 countries are supervised by Rotary governors.

A member and past president of the Rotary Club of Amarillo, Mills is vice-president of Clowe & Cowan, Inc. He was elected to office at the Rotary convention in Nice, France, last May, and will serve until next June 30.

"While in Littlefield," according to Jim Holt, local Rotary club President, "the governor of our district will talk with us about possible growth of membership, the organization of an Interact Club for high school boys, and the Rotary Foundation fellowships and scholarships."

His visit also will give a broader understanding of the world-wide Rotary organization that today embraces more than 613,500 men of most nationalities and political and religious beliefs.

Though a seasoned Rotarian before his election to the office of Rotary governor, Mills attended an 8-day meeting last May in New York State at which all Rotary governors for 1967-68 received intensive training for their jobs.

One of his biggest jobs will be to hold a district conference of all Rotary clubs in this area. The conference will be in Amarillo, April 18-19-20, 1968.

fails to state any sufficient reason why the ballot boxes should be impounded, opened and examined; and further, . . . the alternative allegation of irregularities and violations of law that were supposed to have disenfranchised a substantial number of voters is too vague and general to be considered by the Court. . . .

Part 9 takes exception to the petition as a whole in that "(1) it states no legal ground why the election should be voided, and (2) states no ground upon which the court can grant any injunction relief."

In Part 10, contestees "deny all and singular the material allegations of fact set forth in Contestants' petition, and demand strict proof of same."

In final reply, Part 11, "Contestees, in further reply, say that the said election was ordered in exact conformity with the statute authorizing the calling of the election, that the same was fairly conducted, and that the results thereof were properly canvassed and established."

Concluding statement reads, "Contestees pray that Contestants take nothing by their suit, and that Contestees go hence with their costs."

Nelson Appointed To County FHA

James K. Nelson of Spade has been appointed to the three-man Lamb County Farmers Home Administration Committee, according to announcement by Truman J. Jones, county supervisor. The appointment is for a three-year term beginning July 1, 1967.

Nelson succeeds J. W. Gosdin and will join the other two members of the committee who are Roy Allen Huston of Littlefield and Kenneth L. Burgess of Sudan.

The committee serves in an advisory capacity to the county supervisor and makes determinations as to eligibility for loan advances for the Agency. They also are frequently called upon by the county supervisor to render assistance in the servicing of loans and the development of other community services.

Farmers Home Administration does not compete with private lenders in the field of agricultural credit; however, they supplement such sources of credit and make loans on a long-range basis for the development of farms and ranches as well as improvement of community facilities, and provide housing for the rural residents. One of the most important Programs is the family-type loan to young farmers in ever-increasing numbers throughout the State, officials state.

Recent authorizations have been given the Agency by Congress to make loans for recreation facilities for rural residents as well as financing multiple housing for senior citizens and labor housing association.

Another of the more extensive loan programs includes that of making loans for small towns and communities for the establishment or improvement of water and waste disposal systems.

Lamb County is serviced by the Farmers Home Administration office located in the Post Office Building at Littlefield. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday except on legal holidays.

Olton Firemen Attend School

OLTON -- David Maxey, Leonard Sanders, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jordan were in Bryan last week attending the Texas Firemen's Training School which was held on the campus of A and M University. This school, which is recognized as being among the best in the world, is taught by members of fire department from all over Texas who donate their services to the event.

Observers were there from New York, Louisiana, Illinois, Colorado, New Mexico and Old Mexico. Fires were originated from different causes and instruction was given on extinguishing them.

David Maxey, Olton fire marshal, studied the why, where and how of origin of fires and the prevention of fire.

Harold Jordan, assistant fire chief, studied pump maintenance in order that he could repair local equipment.

Leonard Sanders, Jr. studied fire fighting, small tools for forcible entry, maintenance and best use of ladders, maintenance of hose and loading of trucks, protective equipment for firemen and the operation and refueling of fire extinguishers.

Those attending this school will present their knowledge to the other firemen in the next series of meetings.

Sanders stated that firemen must know more than mothers who often call firemen for assistance in household problems other than fires.

IRRIGATION WELL PROBLEMS?

Give us a chance to increase your water production by the latest methods of chemical analysis on your individual well. We believe we may be able to help you, regardless of whether your well is choked down with algae, clay, rust, calcium deposits or other clogging material. It is quite possible that your well does not need an acid treatment, but needs a newer and more modern treatment formulated by our company chemist for your special problems. The old fashioned method of giving a well a "shot of acid" can often be detrimental to your well and pumping equipment. Let our chemist check your well in a scientific manner and dispense with guess work.

Marker Series Honor Women

AUSTIN -- The Texas State Historical Survey Committee and its private affiliate, the Texas Historical Foundation, working in cooperation with the Texas Federated Women's Clubs have initiated a new official state marker series to commemorate the "Outstanding Women of Texas." The announcement was made by Charles R. Woodburn, president of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

Woodburn pointed out, "There isn't an organization in the state of Texas better qualified than the Texas Federated Women's Clubs to spearhead the program needed to bring recognition, long past due, to the women who made Texas great."

The goal of the program by the three agencies is to mark, preserve and restore the birthplaces, homes and scenes of accomplishments of Texas women who have contributed to the economic, cultural, political and social life of their community, area and state.

Mrs. B. F. Seay of Andrews, president of the Texas Federated Women's Clubs of Texas said, "We are deeply gratified to have this opportunity to work with the Survey Committee on this important project and are pleased that the Committee sees fit to so honor Texas women."

LITTLEFIELD FACES CASTRO

Borger's The Bugaboo In All-Star Tourney

Borger is holding first-place a 2-0 standing in the 1967 Section 3 Pony League All-Star Tournament which is underway here Monday night. In the games that already have been played, Borger has strong signs of being the winner. Borger holds the crown of the tournament not only because it won two straight games and more, but the team also has strong enough to keep opponents from crossing the plate for a run. Nobody scored on Borger yet. Monday night's action, Borger defeated Anton 12-0, so on Monday night the fans passed a thriller as Castro County nipped our own Littlefield All-stars 7-6. Tuesday night Littlefield edged in the race by edging 11-10. This was Anton's straight loss and knocked them out of the tournament. After that close game Tuesday night, the audience watched some between Borger and Castro County they won't soon see. Borger clobbered Castro County 21-0. Castro County runs and no hits. Borger make an error. Game No. 5 will be played with competition between Littlefield All-Stars and Castro County. This is the loser eliminated from tournament. Castro County Littlefield Monday night the Littlefield All-Stars will be at for revenge and to stay in tournament. Winner of the game tonight face Borger Friday night 30. Both teams have vengeance in their hearts and a desire to win. The winner of tonight's game will beat Borger Friday night, which will give both teams standing, an extra game will be played Saturday to determine the winner. Borger by the power Borger has in past games, the tournament could end Friday night.

COACHING BOX along third base line is a busy place when Arthur Hedges, coach of the Littlefield Pony League All-Star team steps in. He's in a constant movement, giving the batter signals, shouting encouragement to the team and instructing base runners. In the top left he gives a signal to the batter. Next he watches to see the results. Lower left, he gives the word to a runner, Rodger Bellar, on second, and then he tells him under what circumstances he wants him to run. Bellar scored.

Magazine Tags Littlefield For Conference Fifth Place

Littlefield is given no better chance than to finish in fifth place of their new conference, District 3-AAA, according to Texas Football, a statewide magazine which covers all college and high school football teams in a pre-season outlook. But this is nothing new. They were ranked sixth in the league last year. The magazine, which hit the news stands this week, picks Sweetwater to advance into the playoffs as conference champs. In second among the selections is Brownfield, followed by Lakeview and Snyder. The Wildcats are given the nod to place just above Lubbock Dunbar, former all-Negro high school which moves this year into the Texas Interscholastic League, Levelland and Lamesa. Says the article: "Littlefield started from darkhorse status to a 9-2 and its first playoff berth in a decade. New coach Raymond Birchfield surveys nine lettermen (three offensive, three defensive regulars), counts attitude as the critical factor. Experience may be at a premium but Littlefield has two of the finest individuals anywhere in end-linebacker Kevin Hutson (6-3, 200) and halfback Mike Grissom, a two-year regular. Fullback Dan Bryson paces the offense while tackles Larry Durham and Jerry Fudge are promising defensive hands. Center Mike Stafford, and Joe Ross and guard Stan Hartell will contribute strongly." Lamar Consolidated is the pre-season pick as state AAA champion, followed by long-time Wildcat foe Dumas, Emis, Raymondville, Rockdale, Silsbee, Hirschi, Gainesville, Brownwood and Clear Creek. In District 3-A, which catches the two Lamb County teams of Sudan and Springlake-Earth, Kress is chosen to repeat as kingpin of the league. The Hornets of Sudan are given the roll of first runners up on the basis of returning nine lettermen from their 9-1 club of last year. That lone loss was to Kress. Springlake-Earth's Wolverines, however, must assume the roll of darkhorse. The magazine places them in fourth behind Bovina, and a hair above Farwell. The Wolverines have returning nine lettermen from a 5-5 club.

OLTON Little League All-Stars who won over Littlefield in the first round of the tournament at Olton last week, but were dropped the following night, are shown above.

Lambeth Working Hard For Greenbelt Bowl

By BOB HAMILTON
Littlefield's bruising fullback Danny Lambert is working hard preparation for the 18th annual Greenbelt Bowl High School football game, to be held at Childress Aug. 12. The 18-year-old son of Mr. Mrs. Oris Lambert, has been working so hard that he's shed down his powerful frame to 205 pounds. That's 10 pounds less his six-foot legs will have to carry through two-a-day workouts begin in the host town Aug. 7. And he's picked up some speed, too.

waiting for Danny and 21 other schoolboy stars who will make up the West team when they report at 9:30 a.m. on the 7th. Coach of the East squad will be Buddy Fornes of McMurry. Leo Brock of Stephenville is the other fullback who will be bidding for the starting position for the West lineup. Others from the area who will be playing with the local gridiron on the West will be tackle Tommy Curry of Kress, guard Mike Wooley of Friona, Dale Layne of Idalou, Eddie Hunter of Amarillo, Jim Huckabee of Olton and Springlake-Earth quarterback Doug Messer. East team members from this section include end Bob Murray of Floydada, and guards John Thomas of Matador and Mike Bruegel of Dimmitt. One of the highlights to take place at halftime of the football game will be the presentation of queen candidates and the coronation. Each player is represented by the candidate of his choice. Danny chose pretty Jenny Turner, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Turner of Littlefield. She has served as cheerleader through junior and senior high and last year was selected as LHS Homecoming Queen.

There were two more weeks remaining in his senior year at Littlefield High when Danny was named he had been selected to play in the bowl game. "I wondered what they were picking me on an all-star team," he said when asked about his reaction.

Danny's not taking the game lightly. He began working out daily the first of July. His schedule, which includes working with the weights, sprints, agility drills and running up and down bleachers, takes about two and a half hours. Anton's star sprinter Tom Landers is working with him for his own conditioning.

VARIETY in size faces opponents of Littlefield's Pony Star team playing in the tournament here this week. Compared to the team is fielder Roger Boyles, at 98 pounds, compared to the 225 pounds toted by first sacker Danny Lambert. Both are 13-year-olds.

LOOKING FORWARD to the August 12 Green Belt High School All-Star football games at Childress are Littlefield's two contributions, fullback Danny Lambert and queen candidate Genny Turner.

CHARLES JOPLIN

Charles Joplin To Roswell Bank

Charles A. Joplin Jr., son of Mrs. Gladys Joplin, 1323 Park, and the late C. A. Joplin, former Littlefield postmaster, will become executive vice president of the First National Bank of Roswell Aug. 1.

He has been vice president of the Citizens National Bank in Lubbock since 1963.

Joplin's appointment was announced by Clarence E. Hinkle, board chairman, and J. C. Powell Jr., president of the Roswell bank.

A native of Littlefield, a graduate of Littlefield High School and a graduate of Texas Tech, Joplin 35, was assistant cashier of the Republic National Bank of Dallas before returning to Lubbock. He is a member of the First Methodist Church, the Lubbock Country Club and the Lubbock Club and is chairman of the South Plains Maid of Cotton contest.

Joplin also has served as a director of the City-County Library, the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra, the Cancer Foundation and the Lubbock Theatre Centre.

His wife, Mary, has taught music at Texas Tech, is a member of the Junior League and a Great Books Study Club.

Following graduation from Tech in 1953, Joplin was assistant cashier of First National Bank of Lubbock before going to the Southern Methodist University law school, where he was graduated in 1961.

Bernice Reeves 'Likes People'

It only takes one brief visit with Mrs. Bernice Reeves of 812 W. 7th, bookkeeper for B&C Pump & Machine Works, to discover why she qualified as Littlefield's "Friendliest, Most Courteous" woman employee by popular vote of the people. Mrs. Reeves likes people -- so naturally they like her.

Whenever friendly warmth radiates from a person toward his -- or her -- fellowman, the response is going to be friendship and affection.

And whenever Mrs. Reeves smiles at a customer -- or visitor -- entering her office, there is no doubt of her sincere pleasure at the person's presence.

An amusing twist in the story of her "election" is the fact that, although the winners were announced in Thursday's Leader-News, Mrs. Reeves knew nothing about it until Friday morning.

She was out of town. When she entered her office Friday, fellow employees began congratulating and "teasing" her and she thought they were playing a joke on her. She did not believe she had won the honor until she read the newspaper and saw for herself.

"It came as a complete surprise," she exclaimed, "but it is so wonderful!"

A remark typical of her personality was, "One reason I was so surprised is that we have such wonderful employees downtown in the stores, banks and other places. There are such nice people waiting to serve the public -- Littlefield has such lovely people."

Continuing, she commented, "I think this contest was really a good thing, because sometimes we don't think how much a smile can help a customer. Perhaps he is having trouble with his purchases and a smile can mean so much. And when you go downtown and you get a smile and a 'Good morning' it is such a good way to start the day!"

She credits the atmosphere in which she works as playing a large part in securing the honor. "I work with such wonderful people, both the employees and the bosses. It is an atmosphere which produces a
