Yuletide Season Settles On City

CHRISTMAS IS FOR THE KIDS—Although the Christmas season holds special treasures for all ages, the holiday belongs particularly to the younger folks. While the older folks enjoy the monotony of everyday life, youthful faces beam with joy, as do these belonging to Joe Hilbun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hilbun, and Beth Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Roberts of Houston, formerly of Littlefield. The picture was snapped at a Christmas Party at the Country Club for 4th, 5th and 6th grade students.

Aid Given To Needy In Area

It's the day before Christmas and all through the town, the children are waiting for St. Nick to come down. Tomorrow will bring the long awaited holiday, one which has kept Littlefield and its area busy in preparation for it. Chances are slim for a White Christmas here, but that is not expected to put a damper on the holiday. Residents in every walk of life have been pointing to a happy holiday. Churches the past week have been filled with song and word in telling the Christmas story. Shoppers have thronged stores, making ready for Christmas morning and the opening of gifts under the tree. Many residents will leave town today to be with relatives over the holiday. Travelers are being warned by law enforcement officers to take care on the highways. In Littlefield and the area, individuals, organizations and churches are seeing to it that the needy will have a Merry Christmas. The Red Cross, which has coordinated the campaign for the needy, announced Wednesday that 117 needy families in the county—including 84 in Littlefield and the surrounding area—will be provided with a happy holiday. Twenty-four families will be cared for in Olton by individuals and organizations. Churches are directing the job of helping 11 needy families in Amherst and 12 in Sudan. The Earth Lions Club will provide for six needy families in that area. Thirty-four families in Littlefield have been "adopted" by the churches, individuals and civic groups. A list of 50 other needy families in Littlefield and its area was divided between the Salvation Army and Littlefield Jaycees. At least two local churches will hold Christmas Day services. Emmanuel Lutheran has a service scheduled at 10:30 a.m. and St. Martin's Lutheran has one at 10 a.m. Emmanuel and St. Martin will hold their annual Christmas Eve programs tonight. Sacred Heart Catholics will have a mass at 8 o'clock tonight. A film on the Christmas story will feature the St. Martin program, with young people of the area.

THIS NATIVITY SCENE captured first place in the Chamber of Commerce's Christmas Home Decorations Contest, which was judged Monday night. It was the entry of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Massengale, who live on Clovis Highway.

Massengale Entry Nativity Scene Tops In Contest

A YULETIDE DOOR, decorated by Mrs. Carl Keeling, 129 E. 13th, was awarded third place in the C.C. contest.

A scene depicting the true meaning of Christmas—the birth of the Christ Child—captured the hearts of judges in the Chamber of Commerce Christmas Home Decorations Contest here Monday night. Winning entry was that of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Massengale, whose decorations capture glances from motorists who pass the Massengale home on the Clovis Highway. A lone star looks down upon the scene at the Massengale home. Lighting at the home puts emphasis on the Nativity scene and the words: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." Second place in the contest went to an entry by Alan and Kay Armistead, children of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Armistead, 716 E. 11th. The Armistead entry featured lighting of the home and a tree in the front yard. Third place went to Mrs. Carl Keeling, 129 E. 13th, who entered a door featuring a Christmas bell. First prize in the C-C contest is $50, plus the right to enter the home in a nationwide contest. Second prize is $35, with $15 for third. Prize money was donated by Southwestern Public Service, $50; Ware's, $25; and Littlefield Press, $25. Chamber of Commerce Manager Don Page expressed the hope that the contest will be expanded in 1960. Fourteen homes were entered this year. The C-C manager said the contest probably will have separate divisions for homes, windows and doors next year.

INSIDE THE LEADER

The time of Christmas brings many things, but one of the most prominent is the cheery greeting of "Merry Christmas." That greeting may be found many times inside today's Christmas issue of the Leader. Merchants throughout Littlefield have joined in wishing residents a happy holiday. Also inside the Leader, you'll want to read many stories which set the scene for Christmas, 1959. For instance: The Story Of The Carols—The air is filled with music this yule season, just as it was the first Christmas morning more than 1900 years ago. To get the inspiring story of how this music came to be written, you'll want to read the warmly told and beautifully-illustrated "Story of the Carols," a three-part series in section two. Santa And The Ice King—In section three, the last two installments of "Santa and the Ice King," a favorite story with the youngsters, are presented. If you've been looking forward to a happy ending, you'll find it on page two of section three. Also in section three, you'll find a wrapup of the year's most important news stories over the world. Christmas Spirit The Year Round—After his visit by the three ghosts, the regenerate Scrooge promised to keep Christmas in his heart all the year long. Many Americans have made a lifetime habit of doing just that. They tend the sick, help the needy, guide the young, befriend the aged and in a thousand different ways give themselves to others. "The Unselfish Americans" gives an inspiring account of the generous side of the American character, the side the world seldom gets to see. It appears in section four.

Last Minute Rush... To The Hospital

Mrs. J. C. Bales thought the time finally had come when she could go home and get to work Tuesday morning on the last minute details for Christmas. She checked her son, Jimmy Ray, out of the Littlefield Hospital. Mrs. Bales then went down town to finish up her Christmas shopping. An hour later, Mrs. Bales was back at Littlefield Hospital. She was admitted after she fell while shopping and broke her arm.

Johnnie Ussery New Mexico's Top Coach Again

Johnnie Ussery, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ussery of Littlefield has been named "Coach of the Year" for the second straight year in New Mexico. This was Ussery's second year as coach of the Hot Springs High School football team in Truth or Consequences, N.M. His team had a record of nine wins and one tie this year in Class A play. Ussery also had seven players on the All-Southern New Mexico team and three of his gridders will play on the All-Star team next fall.

Blackwell, Powell, Priest Make All-Plains Grid Team

Guard James Blackwell of Littlefield, Center Ronald Powell of Sudan, and End Robert Priest of Olton were named to the All-South Plains "dream" football team Tuesday. Blackwell and Powell made the offensive team and Priest was named to the first defensive unit. Two other Littlefield gridders, End Nathan Hutson and Guard End Roberts, made the second offensive team. They were joined by Tackle Joe Willard of Amherst and Guard Tommy Wilson of Olton. End Oren McGrew of Anton was named to the second defensive unit. All of the Littlefield area boys are seniors except Priest, a junior. Selection of the area "dream team" is made annually by the Lubbock Avalanche - Journal. Area gridders named to the honorable mention list were end Tom Messer of Springlake; tackle Ronnie McWilliams of Littlefield and Carl Taylor of Anton; centers Jerry Brantley of Littlefield and Phil Neimast of Olton; and Phil Neimast of Olton. THE FATEFUL FIFTIES

Ten years for a world in ferment are drawing to a close. Which of the millions of events that make up the history of the decade of the Fifties were important? Which merely a footnote? Was the end product profit or loss for America? A distinguished reporter reviews the 10 years past in a major story which will appear next Sunday. Relman Morin of The Associated Press, two times a Pulitzer Prize winner, writes from his rare position of close observation on "The Fateful Fifties." Watch for the story Sunday in the County Wide News.

Luther Caraways Feted On 25th Anniversary

AMHERST — Mr. and Mrs. Luther Caraway were honored with a tea on their 25th wedding anniversary Thursday night. Their daughter, Mrs. Wendell Clayton and Mr. Clayton of Earth were hosts for the occasion, at the Caraway home on Washington St. Calling hours were between 7 and 9 p.m.

The tea table was laid with a white linen cloth and had a "satterlite" Christmas tree for decoration. Naomi and Luther were lettered in silver on satin streamers. Mrs. David Johnson of Earth presided at the silver service and served nine squares with coffee or tea.

The honorees received many anniversary gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Perry Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Stone of Earth attended.

The Caraways were married Dec. 17, 1935 in Frederick, Okla. and have lived in the Amherst area since. They have two granddaughters.

Christmas Party Held Thursday In Baxter Home

The Forum hold its annual Christmas party Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Baxter.

Decorations of pink and silver were used throughout the house. Mrs. Dick Carl and Mrs. E. E. Carter were in charge of the program which consisted of Christmas stories and poems. Christmas carols by Charles Dickens were presented by record.

The gifts were presented by a poem which was composed by the committee. Mesdames Edward Jett, Dick Carl and E. E. Carter. Plates of creamed turkey, pink vinaigrette salad, fruit cake and shipped cream were served to the guests.

Decorations were snowmen made with decorated toothpicks and small pickled onions.

Good Earth Garden Club Meets Tuesday

EARTH — The Good Earth Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Bruce Higgins Tuesday night at 7:30 for its annual Christmas party. The serving table was laid with a red cloth and centered with a Christmas arrangement created by Mrs. L. T. Smith.

Secret pals were revealed and gifts were exchanged.

For the program, Linda Lawrence gave a reading, "The Small One". Marion Hodge gave a chalk reading and Anette Hodge sang several Christmas songs. A trio composed of Linda Lawrence, Camilla Wheatley and Sharon Wheatley also presented several numbers.

Bruce Higgins was Santa Claus, assisted by Tresa and Hoyt Glasscock.

Guests present were Mesdames Juanice Glasscock, Bill Mann, J. Lawrence, C. R. Stockstill and H. S. Hickman.

Refreshments included cheese sandwiches, olives, fruit cake with whipped cream, coffee and tea.

Sudan Negro Woman Jailed On Liquor Law

A 31-year-old Sudan Negro woman was jailed here Sunday on a charge of violation of the liquor law.

The woman, Jessie Mae Gilyard Collins, pleaded not guilty to the charge and went free Tuesday on $1,000 bond posted by Ray Wood and J. T. Henderson.

Officers arrested the woman about 11:45 a.m. Sunday at her home in the Negro section of Sudan. They said they found, stored under the floor of a kitchen cabinet, 28 3-ounce bottles of beer, 12 half-pints of vodka, 47 half-pints of whiskey and two four-fifths pints of wine. The woman was charged with possession for purpose of sale.

While in jail, the Collins woman pleaded guilty to an old liquor law case against her. She was fined $150 and costs.

Her husband, Doyle Collins, is now in jail, serving a 30-day term for violation of the liquor law. He was jailed Nov. 27.

Three Implicated In Olton Break-In

Three Lubbock Negroes charged in the shooting of Lorenzo Marshall J. T. (Slime) Herrington have been implicated in the Nov. 30 burglary of Edwards Machine Shop at Olton, Lamb County Sheriff Dick Dyer said Tuesday.

The three men are Jesse James Sopher, 31, Alvin Woods Jr., 21 and James Arthur Columbus, 25. They are charged with assault with intent to murder in the Lorenzo shooting early Sunday morning.

Sheriff Dyer said warrants were issued for the three men Tuesday afternoon. The men were arrested in Crosbyton early Sunday following a high-speed chase. They were being held at Lubbock Tuesday for questioning by Texas Ranger Razz Renfro and other officers.

Taken in the burglary of the Olton machine shop last month were a small safe and a tachometer. The safe, which contained no money, was recovered by county officers earlier. The tachometer was found Tuesday in the same field where the safe had been found.

Patsy Street - Joe Hoover Wed In Ceremony Sunday

MRS. JOE LEON HOOVER
Formerly Patsy Bee Street

The First Methodist Church, Littlefield, was the scene of a twin ring ceremony Sunday at 3:30 p.m. uniting Miss Patsy Bee Street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bee Street, and Joe Leon Hoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Huston Hoover.

The Rev. Alby Cockrell performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with white bouquets of mums atop white pedestals.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of bridal taffeta combined with alencon lace. The scooped portrait neckline of re-embroidered alencon lace was encrusted with seed pearls. Long sleeves tapered to petal points. A billowing skirt, front was embellished with scattered motifs of alencon lace and enhanced at back by panel puffs and flowed to a chapel sweep.

Her tiered veil of silk illusion flowed from a Juliet taffeta hat. She carried a lined bouquet of small white orchids and English ivy.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Clifton Cutshall and maid of honor was Miss Teddy Jo Bitner. Misses Roxene Bingham and Joy Windwehen served as bridesmaids.

The feminine attendants were attired in deep green taffeta dresses fashioned with full skirts, boat necklines in front and plunging to a V in back. They wore white feather hats, white kid gloves and carried tapered bouquets of white pom-pom mums. They wore dark green satin pumps.

Bob Hoover, brother of the groom, served as best man and Andy Parker, Buddy Jones and Roger Lowe served as groomsmen.

Bill Wade, Michael Greer and Mickey Ratliff assumed the ushering duties.

Miss Johnita Gallini sang "Give Me Your Hand" and "I Pledge My Love" after the candles were lighted and Miss Teddy Jo Bitner, maid of honor, sang "The Wedding Prayer" as final prayer.

The bride's mother chose a beige lace dress with bronze and beige accessories and the groom's mother was attired in a brown brocade Peau de soie with brown and gold accessories. Both wore corsages of bronze mums.

A reception followed in the parlor of the church.

The bride's table was laid with a white cloth, centered with a three tiered wedding cake. The attendants bouquets decorated the table.

Green punch was served from crystal appointments and coffee was served from a silver service with nuts and mints.

Mrs. Fred Schkade, Mrs. Cordell Brown, Mrs. Dick McDaniel and Miss Betty Wyatt assisted at the table.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Charles Schroeder, Mrs. Douglas Walden and Mrs. Charles Richardson, Mrs. Jess Rountree, Mrs. R. A. Brotherton, Mrs. Frank Allison, Mrs. J. W. Bitner, Mrs. Van Clark and Mrs. John Clayton III.

The couple will be at home in Littlefield after a wedding trip to Dallas and other points.

The bride is a graduate of Littlefield High School and attended Texas Tech.

The groom is a graduate of Littlefield High School and attended Texas Western College at El Paso and is now a junior at Texas Tech.

Out-of-town visitors were O. D. Thomson of Stamford, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Street, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Street, Jimmie Street and Miss Betty Hulse all of Brownfield; Wayne Ogle of Ralls; Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Street and Mrs. Josie Street, paternal

Mrs. Bennie Shipley read the poem, "Christmas is Love." To close the program the trio sang "Silent Night" and Mrs. J. P. Brantley prayed.

The serving table was covered taffeta, each corner of which was appliqued with red felt bells outlined with sequins and gold rick-rack braid. The center decoration was a large white ceramic Madonna on a base of white styrofoam, surrounded by frosted cedar branches and red Christmas balls. Three tall lighted tapers completed the arrangement.

Appointments were in silver and crystal as fruit cake, topped with shipped cream, Christmas tree and star shaped open face sandwiches, stuffed dates and red spiced tea were served to Mmes. Zane Bartel of Sudan, J. D. Bench, Paul D. Bennett, Bill Bradley, J. P. Brantley, Maurice Brantley, R. C. Davis, J. L. Harris, James Holland, Cleon Johnson, Charles Jones, Norman Lockett, Laverne Bryant, Bob Clayton, Charles Daniel, Bennie Shipley, Kenneth Noles and Reynolds.

A gift exchange was held from the lighted tree.

State Agency Sets Road Work In Lamb County

The Texas Highway Department will spend $12,500.00 for U.S. and State Highway betterment in Lamb County during 1960. D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, has announced.

Work scheduled for the county includes: Highway 70, from Bailey County line to Earth, 11.5 miles of seal coat.

At the December meeting of the Texas Highway Commission, funds were appropriated for improvements of U.S. and State Highways over the State. Not only surface base strengthening but also shoulder improvement is included in the work which specific U.S. and State Highways are scheduled to receive, Greer stated. This is in addition to the regular construction and maintenance program already programmed for the counties concerned, the state highway engineer said.

Too Good To Be True

The US has probably never had a more interesting or reasonable-sounding visitor than Professor Vasily S. Yemelyanov, head of the atomic program of the USSR, who, with nine other Soviet atom wizards has just completed a 15-day tour of our biggest atomic research centers.

Prof. Yemelyanov is urging us to join with the Reds in the development of atoms-for-peace so that instead of making nuclear research a "race" or a "football game", the two countries share the costs and avoid the extravagance of competition with each other.

Nothing would seem to make more sense—until we look back on the Reds' perfect score of broken pledges, including the $11 billion in war "loans" from the US, and until we consider the duplicity and the threats of the professor's boss. Only the day before Mr. Yemelyanov made his plea for nuclear collaboration, Nikita Khrushchev had bragged that a single factory in the USSR was turning out rockets with hydrogen warheads at the rate of 250 a year.

"If we were attacked," he told newsmen at a Kremlin reception, "we could wipe off the face of the earth all our potential enemies." In pressing his plan for disarmament, he also said, "We are ready to sink all this in the sea in the interests of insuring peace on earth." But he still doesn't want any "potential enemies" to attend the sinking.

And, in view of the fact that Russia's nuclear development is built on the secrets Red spies stole from the US, it would be safer to keep our powder dry and assume that we must still have some atomic secrets the Kremlin wants.

Unfortunately, this is the only safe attitude.

Littlefield Wildcat cagers are off for the rest of the holidays as a result of cancellation of their scheduled game at Lockney Tuesday night.

The Wildcats don't return to action until Jan. 5, when Lockney will come here for A and B games.

Over the weekend, the Cats wound up last in the Denver City tournament, losing the seventh-place game to O'Donnell, 61-54. The loss was the Cats' 10th in 11 games this year.

Bright spot for the Cats in the tourney was the play of Jerry Koller. Koller landed a spot on the all-tournament team.

De Pierce caught fire in the final game, leading the Cats with 18 points. Koller got 14 and Weidon Pace had 11.

$40, Four Guns
Loot Of Tuesday Night Break-Ins

Littlefield Police and County sheriff's deputies Wednesday morning were investigating two burglaries that occurred here Tuesday night.

Entered sometime Tuesday night were Ideal Cafe, on NIT Drive, and Harris' Second Hand Store in the 200 block of Phelps Avenue.

About $40 in change was taken at the cafe. The place was entered from the back door, which was kicked in. Change was taken from a cigarette machine and nickelodeon. An undetermined amount of cigarettes also was taken.

Police Chief F. A. Fitzgerald said that a 16-year-old suspect had been arrested in connection with the cafe break-in.

Four hand guns were missed at the second hand store. A south window was broken out for an entrance. The guns included a .45, .38, .25, and .22 calibres. About $15 dollars in the store cash register was passed over, and police thought that a light hanging directly over the cash box had made the culprit leery of the cash register.

Santa and the ICE KING

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Santa's attempt to make a match between the Sun Daughter and the Ice King failed miserably. In anger and shame, the Ice King is determined to go back to his castle to grind out more winter.

Chapter Fourteen
ONE MORE TRY

"WHAT will we do?" whispered Ononik as the sled flew away. "The Ice King will never stop making winter now."

"We'll make one more try," said Santa. "This one I think will do."

"Who is she?" asked Ononik. "The Ice Queen of the South," said Santa. "I didn't know there was such a one!" exclaimed Ononik. "Oh, yes," said Santa. "She lives at the South Pole where I have heard, it is colder by far than at our home in the North. The Ice King had buried his head in the polar bear's fur to hide his tears of shame and sorrow at being rejected by the Sun Daughter. As the reindeer sped towards the South Pole it grew colder and colder and the Ice King, thinking they were nearing home, raised his head and shouted gleefully, "I must have left my ice machine going full blast!"

The sled came down before a palace of ice. "What is this?" cried the King. "This isn't my home."

"It is the South Pole," replied Santa. "The Ice Queen lives here. I have brought you to ask for her hand."

"Never!" roared the king. "I would stop her work for it would be summer-time in her upside down world."

Santa had to holler to make himself heard over the noise. "I've brought you a suitor!" he bellowed.

The Ice Queen stopped pounding and pumping. She turned and stared at Santa. She was tall and regal looking and she too had icicles in her hair and frost on her eyebrows.

"A suitor?" she exclaimed blushing. "What nonsense! Who would ever want to marry me?"

"He's in my sled," said Santa. "Come and see."

PICKING up her icy skirts the Ice Queen rushed down the stairs and out to the sled. There was the Ice King sitting there with his back to her staring at his feet.

The Ice Queen walked in front of him and gazed at him worshipfully. "Oh, no!" she whispered. "He's too wonderful for me."

The Ice King raised his sullen eyes and when he saw her his heart turned over. He got out of the sled and took one step towards the Queen and then they both gulped and cried out, "Oh, would you marry me?"

They fell in each other's arms and Ononik jumped up and down with joy and Keotuk barked and

"Fly with me to the North," said the Ice King.

"Merry Christmas to all!" Ononik shouted from his kayak.

hunting grounds and I must be there to help them."

"Ha!" scoffed Tweedlelees while Santa disappeared into the toy shop. "How will you get home? The ice on the sea is broken up and your sled will do you no good."

Ononik had really thought Santa would take him home so now he was crestfallen and worried.

TWEEDLEKNEES slapped him on the back. "Cheer up!" he shouted gleefully. "I have made you a boat!"

Then he took Ononik to the water's edge and showed him a kayak—the strongest, tightest, most beautiful kayak any Eskimo ever had. It had two holes in its seat, a top. Ononik fitted himself into one hole and Keotuk fitted into the other.

"Don't forget the paddle," called Santa running down from the shop. "It's a very special paddle for a very special boy. Stroke but once and it will carry you across the widest sea."

Ononik reached up for the paddle and his whole face shone with astonished pleasure.

"Why it's—it's just like Christmas!" he exclaimed.

"And why not?" smiled Santa. "It's been a cold, cold summer!" Then he and Tweedlelees and Mrs. Claus and all the Santa folk cried "Merry Christmas!" Ononik shouted "Merry Christmas to all!" and gave one push with his paddle and sped home across the summer sea.

Hair Dryer Is Welcome Gift

A hair dryer is a gift appreciated by almost any woman. A new one on the market dries hair three ways:

- (1) Damp-dries by combing with a special comb attachment
- (2) circulates hair in hood attachment, giving hair a firm set
- (3) blows warm air direct from the dryer.

Three Bags Basic To Set Of Luggage

Buying luggage for that certain gal this Christmas? If you are starting her a set of matched luggage, you will buy pieces according to her travel habits.

But if you're in doubt, a basic group includes three cases: the weekend or overnight bag, and a train box or fitted case for cosmetics.

Exchanging Of Yule Gifts Started In Ancient Times

How exciting it is to see them gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh.

Many authorities see a similarity between our modern Christmas gift-giving and the various gift-giving holidays of Pagan times, some of which came at the time of the winter solstice, close to the twenty-fifth of December.

The Romans had a custom of giving gifts at the Calends of January (the Roman New Year). Yet, there is good reason to believe that Christmas has more significant pagan rites.

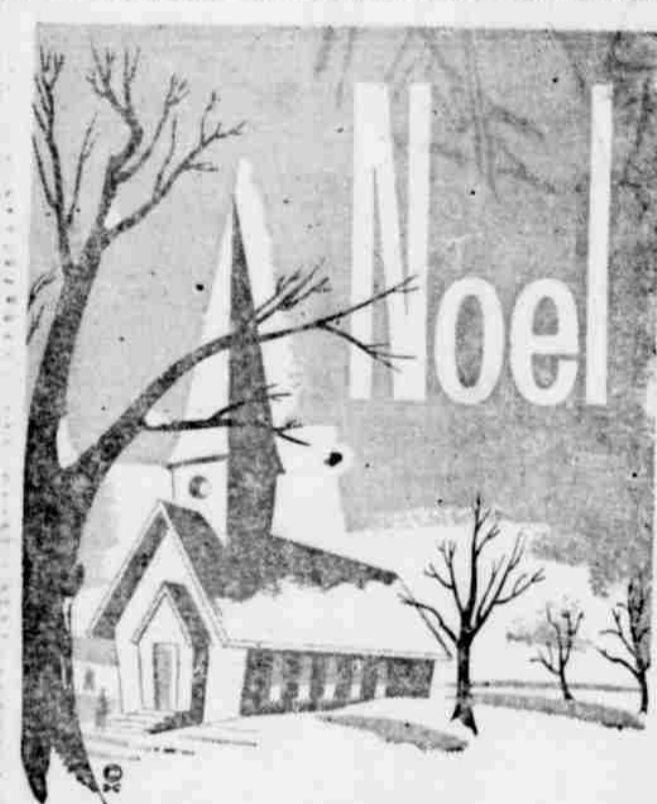

People gave gifts on days of Christmas. "Good King Wenceslaus" relates such an incident. And perhaps the greatest gift recorded in the world, that he gave to his son, John: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Season's Greetings

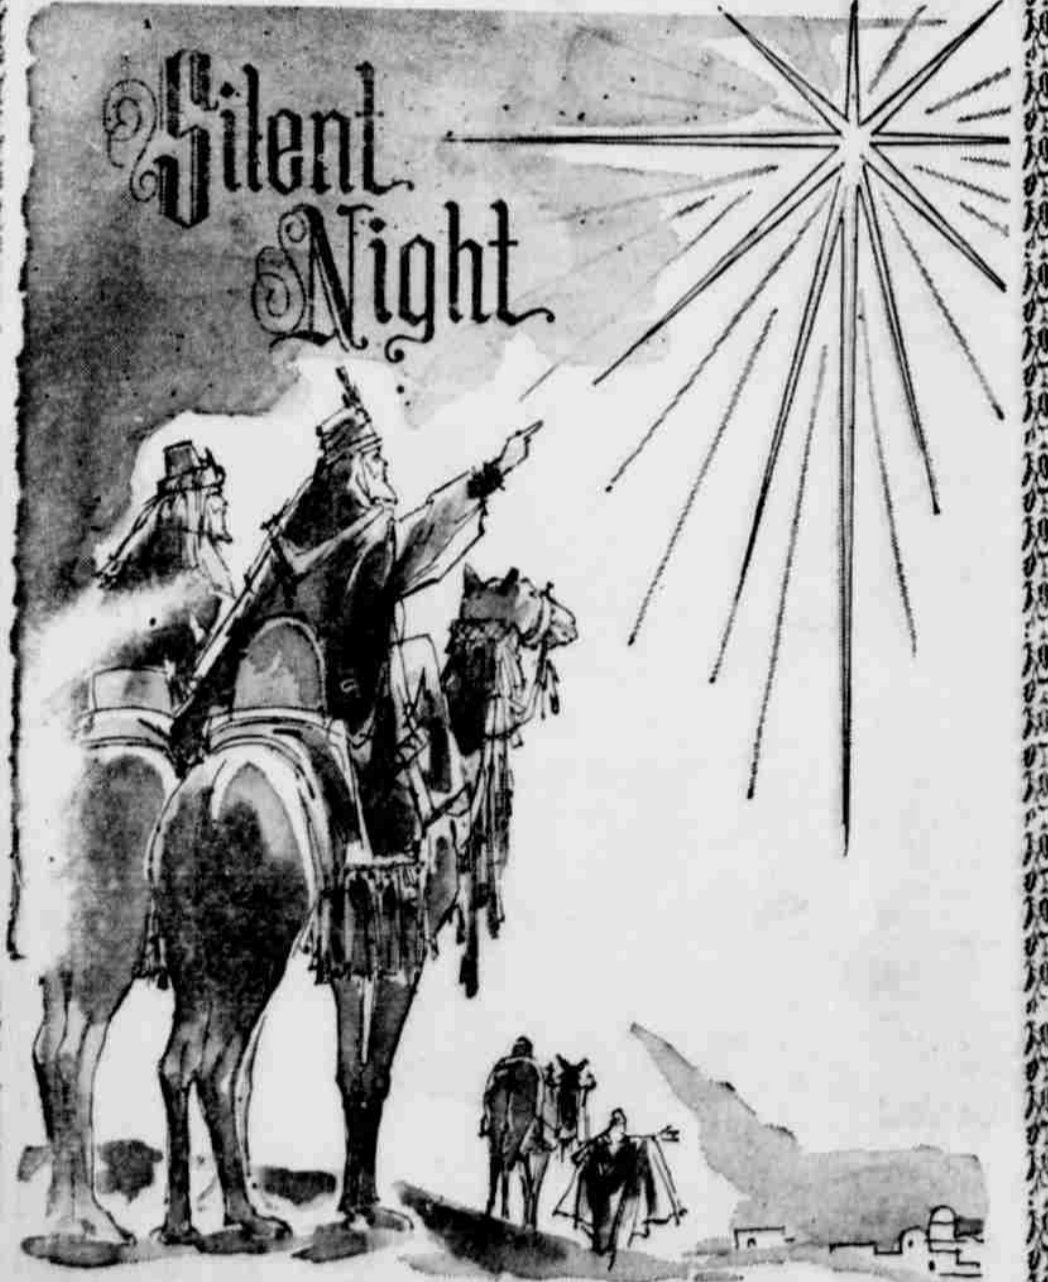

Our Holiday wish is as warm and bright as the glow of candlelight. May the blessings of Christmas be with you always.

ven the polar bear looked pleased. Then the Ice King said, "Fly with me now to my castle in the north."

But the Queen said, "I can't do that for it is wintertime at the South Pole and I must keep things cold."

The King looked crestfallen. "But I can't stay here," he mumbled unhappily. "I am needed at the North Pole."

Santa burst into laughter. He laughed until the tears rolled down his cheeks.

"What is so funny?" demanded the Ice King.

"You!" cried Santa. "You've forgotten—it's August! It should be summertime in the North and you're not needed or wanted there at all!"

Chapter Fifteen
A MERRY CHRISTMAS

THE Ice King looked sheepish. "You are right," he said. "I had forgotten it's August and supposed to be summertime in Northern lands. I'm not needed there at all."

"So," said Santa, "you and the Ice Queen can stay here and make winter for the South Pole lands. Then, in December, when it's summertime at the bottom of the world, you and the Queen can come North and make winter at the top of the world."

"How wonderful!" exclaimed the Queen. "That way we'll always be together!"

"And we'll be able to make winter all year 'round," said the King happily.

"And no one will hate you," said Santa, "because everyone will have warm weather for half the year."

Ononik could hold himself in no longer. He jumped up and down. "Every-thing is settled. Let's hurry home and tell my people the news. We will be starting for their summer

Santa Claus Statistics Spread Yuletide Giving

By NORMA GAUHN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
 The Santa Claus with the biggest pack on his back this Christmas works from the cold facts in a social worker's casebook.

At first glance it may seem alien to the joy of giving to organize it in platoons of statistics on just who needs what.

But in practice, it brings order out of the mighty seasonal confusion resulting from the burst of generosity that strikes people at yuletide.

This mammoth Santa is the Christmas Bureau of your local United Fund or Community Chest. It is set up long before Christmas to act as a confidential agent between people who want to give and people who need help.

Suppose Joe M. at the county home for old people needs a set of dentures. Someone tells the local Christmas Bureau. A community women's club turns in $150 as a gift for the needy and Joe gets his false teeth.

A probation officer told a Syracuse, N.Y., bureau about 15-year-old Jimmy, who was buying a second hand bike for his newspaper route. Then it was stolen when he still owed $20. A couple who annually give through the Christmas Bureau bought Jimmy the present he wanted most — a new bike.

Every year more employe groups give up office Christmas parties and exchanges of inter-office greeting cards. One such office collected $700 and turned it over to the Christmas Bureau which used the money for gifts, clothing and turkey dinners for eight large families. Individual wants were considered and agency volunteers delivered the gifts so the parents could act as Santa Claus.

There may be critics who complain of a cold heartedness in organized Christmas giving. But there are plenty examples of disorganized generosity.

The Milwaukee Christmas Bureau reported 743 potential gift duplications. Another said that without checking, two families would have had help from four different donors and 11 by three donors — while other needy cases were ignored.

Six different service clubs may descend on a single children's home with quantities of candy mittens and toys. Two blocks away a family can live in real want, unnoticed at holiday time.

Contributions to parties for needy children may make a merry few hours for all concerned. Contrast that, agency people say, with the lasting good of money to pay for braces for the crippled; picnic baskets, box cameras and folding chairs for a club of elderly persons; play equipment for the often forgotten youngsters in detention homes.

There is a wide range of ideas for gift giving where it counts. One group of school children turns in pennies to buy a food scale for a 12-year-old diabetic boy; a men's club reconditions TV sets at an orphanage; people give trading stamps to a Christmas Bureau to buy toys and clothing.

There are some 200 Christmas Bureaus throughout the nation, developing from a program started more than 40 years ago. They offer a giant pack for would-be Santas to fill.

Nimble Dolls Show Girls How To Live

Not only do the dolls of 1959 walk, talk and drink, they boast synthetic rooted hair more durable than the human variety and they have supple bodies that will perform ballet routines.

Miniature dolls now bend their knees, walk and turn their heads with an ease formerly limited to larger dolls. These little ones are 8 to 11 inches high and, like their bigger sisters have stylish hair-

Handy Candy

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Found: The perfect recipe for the chewy candy that teenagers enjoy making and eating.

Years ago when a friend of ours was at college, training to be a dietitian, one of her textbooks was the invaluable "How and Why of Cooking" by Evelyn G. Halliday and Isabel T. Noble (The University of Chicago Press). The girls in the dietetic class soon discovered that the book contained a mean recipe for caramels! Around holiday time, they cooked up the candy for gifts; other times of the year they made and sold batches of it for pin money.

Recently this caramel recipe, matched against another standard one, came out the winner. Here is our adaptation of the textbook rule. The main ingredients stay in their original proportions, but we've added vanilla because it gives these light bland caramels delicate flavor; and we've particularized the method so that young cooks who have not had the benefit of a home economics classroom will find it easy to follow.

When big sisters go into the kitchen to make something sweet to eat, little sisters are sure to follow. We find such moppets are perfectly happy marking off and cutting up the pieces of waxed paper needed for wrapping the candy. Then when the caramels are ready to be wrapped, they'll be ready to help do this work. But remember that small hands will "close" each candy wrapping most successfully by twirling its ends.

LIGHT NUT CARAMELS

Ingredients: 1 cup sugar, 1 cup light corn syrup, 1 cup light cream, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Place sugar, corn syrup, cream and butter in a large (about 3 quarts) heavy saucepan; mix well. Cook over moderate heat, stirring occasionally. When the mixture begins to "caramelize" lower the heat and cook, stirring constantly, to 244 degrees on a candy thermometer; or until a teaspoonful of the mixture, when dropped into a cup of very cold water, forms a firm ball that does not flatten when it is removed from the water. Stir in the nuts and vanilla. Pour into one corner of a lightly buttered cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches) allowing the mixture to flow and level of its own accord. Allow to stand until cold. Turn the block of candy onto a cutting board. Mark off into 1/2-inch squares; cut with a sharp knife. Wrap caramels individually in waxed paper. Makes about 1 1/4 pounds.

Chocolate Nut Caramels: Follow recipe for Light Nut Caramel; adding 1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate after mixture has reached boiling point.

Douglas Fir Favored

The favorite species of Christmas tree in the United States is the Douglas-fir. These make up an estimated 28 per cent of all trees sold for Christmas.

Balsam firs comprise 24 per cent of the total. Other favorites are Eastern red cedar 12 per cent, black spruce 11 per cent and Scotch pine 6 per cent. At least 18 other species make up the other 19 per cent.

Greetings

Good wishes and greetings go from us to you at Christmas time, with the hope that you and yours may enjoy all the happiness that goes with a real old-fashioned Yuletide.

dos that can be shampooed and set. Their wardrobes are high style.

With many of them, whatever their size, go complete clothes closets in which hang fashionable dresses, coats and suits, a full range of matching accessories including high heeled shoes, hat and belts. Also provided are "shortie" pajamas, charm bracelets, sunglasses, ice skates, sports wear and chignons.

In addition to these aids designed to make good grooming and health practices attractive, to their young mistresses, are miniature cosmetic and toilet kits containing national brands that promote cleanliness and sparkling teeth and flattering make up.

In a similar trend, baby dolls are provided with kits of basic feeding and skin care preparations, and with detailed instruction on their use.

Separate fingers and toes give extra interest to a new, soft vinyl doll voted an outstanding example of American toy production in 1956 by the Toy Guidance Council. This newcomer has jointed arms and legs and a swivel head.

Dolls and candy are two of the more important aspects of Christmas to most little girls so this year the toy designers thought up the special "double" present of a doll with candy-colored hair packed with matching candy.

Another line of glamor dolls turns back the clock. They are dressed like the Mardi Gras belles of a century ago, with lace and velvet ball gowns propped up by billowing crinolines.

For those youngsters who find watching Mother in the kitchen a fascinating pastime, there is an scale kitchen equipment. Dressed for the part in a chef's uniform the Junior cook can produce a doll sized meal with toy bowls, utensils, electric heaters and mixers — tested for safety — and with provisions including replicas of branded food.

Creating new jewelry designs is made easy for the young hobbyist with a handcraft kit that includes materials and instructions for making personal ornaments and decorating household articles: The set contains rhinestones, colorful carved flowers, fruits and vegetables, pearl motifs, seashells, simulated jewels, seed beads, and jewelry cement.

The stuffed animal kingdom, is on a very different tack from the rest of toyland. It is tending toward the surrealistic. Many cuddly animals have almost human faces and colors run riot in purple octopuses, pink rabbits, green, red and black checked horses; blue cats and orange dogs.

Christmas is an annual occasion for giving and helping on a grand scale. Local welfare agencies, churches, the Red Cross, Salvation Army, service clubs, Tuberculosis Assn., American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Newspapers and many other organizations collect funds for charity in advance of Christmas.

Greetings of the Season

THE BEST CHRISTMAS OF ALL

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mommy said that this year I could help trim the tree, if I'd be very careful. The ornaments are so shiny and bright, and it's such fun to decide where to put them.

Mommy let me help fix our little crèche, too. I put in the figure of the Christ Child and He looked so pretty . . . all sort of pink and gold.

We fixed the crèche first because Mommy said that we must always remember that Christmas is, first of all, the Christ Child's birthday. When we finish trimming the tree, Mommy is going to read us the story about the first Christmas . . . about the shepherds and the angels . . . about the Wise Men and their star . . . about the little Jesus, born in Bethlehem, in a manger.

Mommy's told me the story before but she says that this year I'm big enough to stay up with the rest and hear her read it. And, of course, we'll go to Church, and Mommy says I can carry my fur muff.

I think this is going to be the best Christmas I've ever had!

as DPS Readies Force Yule Traffic Rush

It is expected to be the most deadly of the year's holidays trafficwise, the Texas Highway Patrol has readied its forces for the busy season. The DPS traffic law enforcement plans announced by Garrison include the transferring of License and Weight Patrolmen and Motor Vehicle Inspection Patrolmen to highway patrol duties for the holiday period to bolster the force of the Texas Highway Patrol. The men have been assigned certain segments of highways to patrol with instructions to aid motorists in distress, to help tourists, and above all to take necessary action against all drivers who speed, commit right-of-way violations, drive while drinking, or violate the laws of safe driving in any other way.

First Methodist Bond Sales Total $20,000

A total of $20,000 worth of building bonds have been sold on the First Methodist Church's new building, according to drive chairman Jack Wattenbarger. With only 10 per cent of the membership contacted to date, the drive is going well, according to Wattenbarger. He stated that many of the salesmen had been busy with the Christmas rush and possibly would not be able to see their prospects until later.

Teddy Barred Tree From White House

President Theodore Roosevelt, an avid conservationist, thought the cutting of evergreens for Christmas was a wasteful practice and forbade their use in the White House. He later relented after Gifford Pinchot, his advisor on conservation matters, assured him that the supervised and proper harvesting of Christmas trees was good for the forests.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

This week writes the climax to the "Story of Christmas 1959." It is a week of fulfillment. Loved ones are home for a few crowded but glorious days. Toys, baby food, extra luggage, improvised beds - these are the trademarks of happy confusion. Young mothers, away from the household chores and the girls in the club, look once more at spouse and offspring as though they were people. Young dads stroll in the sun - or track through the snow - with the kids, to get them out of grandmother's hair.

Within these few days the last gift will have been selected, wrapped and delivered; the last greeting card written, and all but the stragglers received. By Friday, the mystery of odd-shaped and gaily wrapped packages will be solved once and for all. Mom will be happy with her lounging robe. Dad with his smoking jacket, and Sis with her blouses and perfume.

Long - distance calls from the loved ones who don't come home become bright jewels of happiness on Christmas day. Homes opened to old-time friends warm the cockles of our hearts, and we relive dead yesterdays with pleasure but without regret.

Come the weekend, we have time to sit and enjoy symbols of the season: the echo of notes from Christmas carols and the "Messiah"; the unexpected messages from old, old friends; the tree so lovingly trimmed, the gay front door, the table centerpiece.

Soon the guests will be gone, the fixin's put away, and the house quiet once more. But the happiness around the heart - that stays!

Khrushchev's Tour Of U. S. Top 1959 News Story

TOURIST KHRUSHCHEV—Nikita Khrushchev, foreground and President Eisenhower stand bareheaded at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington at the start of the Soviet premier's historic U. S. tour.

Reds' Moon Hit Rated No. Two

By TOM HESSHAW
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's September tour of the United States has been chosen the biggest story of 1959 by news editors in the annual poll of The Associated Press members.

Second was the spectacular Russian moon probes - they hit it with a rocket Sept. 14, the day before Khrushchev's arrival in the U.S., and later succeeded in taking the first picture of the lunar backside.

Both events had sobering aspects for the Western world. The Khrushchev tour gave the American people their first closeup look at their arch-enemy in the Cold War as he moved from coast-to-coast, now affable, now ominous, never indifferent.

Multi-Personality
He showed himself to be a man who could be charming, crude, witty, dour, threatening - and most important, dangerously quick-tempered for the leader of one of the world's greatest powers.

The visit enabled Americans to make a new assessment of Khrushchev and he emerged as a tough, highly competent and dangerous antagonist, far from the buffoon he has been pictured in the past.

The Russian moon probes indicated that the Russians are considerably ahead of the United States in rocketry.

The Sept. 14 rocket was the MOON HIT: The circle outlines the area in which the Russians said their rocket hit the moon. A later Soviet rocket circled the moon and sent back to earth the first picture of the moon's hidden side.

THE TEN TOP 1959 STORIES

1. Khrushchev's visit to U. S.
2. Russian moon probes.
3. Castro gains power in Cuba; troubles mount.
4. Strike closes steel mills.
5. TV quiz scandals.
6. Eisenhower's increased role in nation's foreign affairs.
7. Death of Dulles; Herter appointed Secy. of State.
8. Nixon's tour of Russia.
9. Formal statehood for Alaska, Hawaii.
10. Congress passes new labor relations law.

first man-made object to land on the moon and the probe of Oct. 5, equipped with a camera, was the first to orbit the moon, transmitting its picture by radio.

Castro's Troubles
Dr. Fidel Castro's ouster of the Batista regime in Cuba on Jan. 1 and his troubles during the year was the editors' choice as the third top story of the year.

Castro, whose long, seemingly hopeless revolt against strongman Batista gained him world sympathy, turned admiration into disillusionment in a welter of summary executions and angry taunts at the United States.

The editors' top choices in domestic stories, Nos. 4 and 5 in the poll, had a negative quality.

The first was the steel strike, the longest (116 days) steel shutdown in history, which slowed the American economy before a government injunction sent the workers back to the mills. The strike may resume when the injunction expires in January.

Next came the TV quiz show scandals, which actually began a year early but reached a climax in 1959 when Charles Van Doren, once the nation's intellectual hero, admitted having been given the answers.

Similar Subject
Like the top two, the sixth and seventh stories on the editors' poll were closely allied.

President Eisenhower's growing direction of the country's foreign affairs, illustrated by his personal diplomacy jaunts through Europe, Asia and Africa, was No. 6.

But had it not been for the death of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Ike probably would not have stepped into the breach. Dulles' death and the appointment of Christian Herter as his successor was No. 7.

Other choices in the editors' top ten:

8. Vice President Nixon's tour of Russia, during which he opened the American fair in the Soviet capital and engaged in a public verbal joust with Khrushchev.

9. Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, which formally became the 49th and 50th states of the union when Eisenhower signed their statehood bills. They were the first new states in 47 years.

10. The new labor relations law, first passed by Congress since Taft-Hartley in 1947. Passed their leaders.

after mounting indications of corruption among organized labor's leadership, it placed added restraints on unions, particularly Taft-Hartley in 1947. Passed their leaders.

—For millions of people, the Christmas season will seem so busy and so full of excitement that they will not look the crucial day of peace and good will. The day of peace and good will is frequently the worst for highway killing.

Over the years, December has been the deadliest month, traffic-wise. Ironically, Christmas Day is frequently the worst for highway killing.

If this year's estimate of 111 fatalities comes true, the 1959 holiday season will be one of the deadliest in recent years. But Governor Daniel believes the estimate can be cut. He cites last year's statistics to show that the estimated toll was 30,000 deaths.

Law enforcement officers, the governor reminded, put in many extra hours during the holidays, "helping motorists in trouble, news media and removing from the highway."

ways, those speeding, drinking, careless, reckless and law-breaking drivers who threaten the safety of others."

Governor Daniel directed a special plea to high school and college students who make up a big part of the swollen stream of holiday travel. Past figures show the odds are heavier against these young drivers. Those from 15 to 24 years old have 18 per cent of the drivers' licenses, 29 per cent of the accidents. A disproportionate one out of every four of last year's holiday accident victims was in this age bracket.

With each of these deaths, said the governor, we lost "a promising young Texan" and part of our hopes for the future.

PEAVY ELECTED — State Board of Health has named Dr. J. E. Peavy as State Commissioner of Health.

Dr. Peavy moves to the department's top post after having served as director of the communicable diseases division and prior to that as a local director and a medical field consultant. He is a native of Lufkin.

State Health Board also elected Dr. J. B. Copeland of San Antonio as its chairman; Dr. Hampton C. Robinson of Houston, vice chairman; and Joe B. Winston of Mercedes, secretary.

HAPPY HOSPITAL CHRISTMAS — A state hospital for the mentally ill must have been a pretty grim place on Christmas Day, called them "insane asylums."

Few would know, because not many went around an "insane asylum" if they could help it.

Today, happily, it is different. This year every one of the more than 25,000 patients in the state hospital system will receive a Christmas present, and many special parties and festivities will be held.

Volunteer Services Council for the Hospital System spearheads this monumental work performed by more than 32,000 persons at no cost to the state.

Change began some 10 years ago when church, civic and social club members began collecting items the patients needed, visiting them, and holding parties and classes. Many church circles and clubs "adopt" a ward each year, give a party a month, and get each patient what he especially wants at Christmas.

As the volunteers became more at ease in their work, their revised attitudes and terminology became more general. "Asylum" was replaced by hospital or school and "inmate" by "patient" and sometimes "friend." Some Austin churches proudly number in their membership, patients who have recovered and resumed normal community life.

ACCENTUATE POSITIVE — Texas' safe drivers will be rewarded to the tune of a $20,000,000 saving in auto insurance rates next year, says the State Board of Insurance.

State insurance officials are accentuating the positive in talks on the new merit system insurance plan to go into effect Jan. 1.

As expected, there have been some protests about penalty features of the plan.

Insurance Board statistics show a majority of drivers will benefit from lower rates. Additionally the Board feels the insurance reward will be an incentive to reducing the accident toll.

Of 23 family car owners, says Board Member Robert Strain, 17 qualify for a 25 per cent discount and four will pay the same rate.

Most criticism centers on the whipping increases assessed drivers with blots on their record. Each accident or violation counts against the driver for a period of three years.

Usual fine for stop sign running could be upped as much as 60 per cent by the time extra insurance exists were added on. For example, an inadvertent or relatively minor traffic error is expected to kick up the dust when faced with the pay-through-the-nose penalties of the new insurance rates.

Insurance company officials, however, back up the board in paying the plan is statistically sound. One company executive called it a timely reminder that "the majority has been paying the costs for the recklessness and negligence of only a comparative handful of motorists."

How well the public will adjust to the change will be known only after it has been in effect a few months.

State Health Board also elected Dr. J. B. Copeland of San Antonio as its chairman; Dr. Hampton C. Robinson of Houston, vice chairman; and Joe B. Winston of Mercedes, secretary.

YOUTH RECOMMENDATIONS — A host of suggestions aimed at lowering juvenile delinquency and improving health, welfare and education of Texas children has been released by the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth.

Making kindergartens a part of the public school system and making the child labor law apply to these 11 and under were primary recommendations.

Here's Way To Brighten Day

Many a Daddy has said after the poor man has assembled Christmas eve, "Why do we have to wrap it up," referring to one of Junior's big bulky toys that would better be displayed in all its massiveness. But, no, after the poor man has assembled the great puzzling toy, then Mom expects further miracles: she's determined that the tree shall look chic with some handsomely wrapped packages under it, including that big one.

One way to solve that problem is to put the toys out to be displayed, wrapping only the smooth, smaller boxes, and then wrapping some EMPTY boxes.

A jolly Santa, for instance, may be made by wrapping four square boxes and sticking them one upon the other. This gives you that one side to separate the legs.

Christmas-box-look under the tree without straining yourself to wrap impossible packages.

Santa's head is the top box covered with pink paper. Cut features from colored paper and hold in place with double-faced tape. His beard is an oval shaped piece of white paper with one edge cut into fringe and taped just under his mouth. His hat is a tall green paper cone shape striped with red gift wrap tape. Santa when finished will stand about three feet high, a gay host under the tree, and fun for a child's room decoration later.

The second and third boxes are covered with red paper and a strip of black plastic around the bottom edge forms the belt. To make his boots cover a strip of gold tape down the center of the other. This gives you that one side to separate the legs.

Greetings

The spirit of the holiday season brings to us a fuller appreciation of the true value of old acquaintances and loyal friendships. So it is only natural at Christmastime for us to feel grateful for the fine relationships that we have enjoyed over the past years with so many of our faithful patrons and friends. At the same time that we express our gratitude, we would like to extend our sincerest wishes for a joyful, healthful and bountiful Yuletide to all.

On the farm and in town, it has been a good year.

Christmas time is a happy time... and also a good time to be thankful for the bountiful crops that were produced in this area in 1959.

May we express our thanks for the loyal patronage of all our customers and friends.

We hope this Christmas Season and the New Year bring happiness and joy, peace and contentment to all.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

Whether it's the nomination of a presidential candidate at one of the national political conventions, or the monthly meeting of your neighborhood PTA, a set of procedural rules compiled 80 years ago by an almost-forgotten Army General usually has much to do with the way the business is conducted.

You have probably heard of "Robert's Rules of Order" which was published in 1876. General Henry M. Robert ordered only 4,000 of his original edition, but since that time almost 1,500,000 copies have been printed. The rules have been modernized from time to time, but the revisions have been slight.

Actually the rules for conducting a meeting go back to the early days of the English Parliament, although General Robert based his upon the rules and practice of the U. S. Congress. Robert's Rules come close to being "law of the land". They are given added legal status by the fact that the charter, constitution, or by-laws of almost every organization you can name - your wife's literary society, your labor union, or the corporation you work for (large or small) - ordinarily state somewhere that all meetings will be conducted in accordance with Robert's Rules of Order. Special rules may be made by any organization contrary to Robert, but if such provisions are not in the by-laws his title book - where incorporated in such by-laws - remains (1)

"bible" to be followed strictly. All this means, in effect, that if a serious question arises over the legality of action taken by an organization, a court might have to consider General Robert's rules with the same care as it does the law to determine whether the action in question was proper. If you take an active part in church, school, civic or fraternal organizations, some knowledge of Robert's Rules is important. At your lodge meeting, for example, things go much smoother if both the chairman and the members on the floor follow Robert and stick to the business at hand. That way you'll get home before the wee small hours, and still have some far some relaxation after the business session. There are many simple guides to Robert that will help, and unless you are chairman of a large or important meeting it probably isn't necessary to know all the details in the whole book. Now we move to adjourn until next week - a motion which General Robert says take precedence over everything else. (This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform - not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Good Will Ambassador
President Eisenhower returns his week from a good will visit to nine countries in Europe, Asia and Africa. He has been acclaimed on all of the three continents as an ambassador of peace. He told the people in France, Italy, Turkey, Pakistan, Afghanistan, India, Greece and Morocco that the great strength of the United States is dedicated to the establishment of permanent peace. There can be no doubt but that President Eisenhower's visits have furthered the cause of peace, as that they have countered Communist propaganda that the people of the United States want war. The President is a deeply religious man. As a military man war taught him to abhor its destructiveness. He is a man of peace as well as a leader of the Christian world.

The Christian Challenge
Many of the non-Christian nations are ruled by leaders who place a low valuation on life. Freedom exists only in the nation which follow the teachings of Christ. Christ said He came that we might have life and have it abundantly (James 10:10). He lived and taught the dignity of life, its purpose and rewards on Earth as well as after death. He gave meaning to life and the brotherhood of man.

We should remember, at this season of Christmas giving, that Christ said "it is more blessed to give than to receive." He said, too, that "there is no one who has given for His sake who shall not receive a hundredfold."

In the years since the end of World War II we have given generously to the world both the material and spiritual leadership that has built the foundation of a lasting peace. President Eisenhower's visits just before Christmas have been intended to preserve that peace.

His visits have come at a critical time in world history when the world more than ever depends on the willingness of free peoples to make sacrifices in order that Christianity and peace shall prevail.

THIS WEEK
In Washington
with CLINTON DAVIDSON

This week there are prayers throughout the Christian world for the enduring peace on earth and good will among men. That too is our prayer this Holy Week. Christ lived in a time of strife and bitterness; in a time of war, poverty and suffering. He devoted his life to the teaching of the brotherhood of all men, of all nations. The Christian religion which He gave to the world has endured and grown throughout almost twenty centuries, and has survived all efforts to suppress it. It is the foundation of our civilization and the hope of our future. The world looks to the Christian nations for the leadership that will continue to work unceasingly to-

About Your Health

Mistletoe is fine when cast in a traditional Christmas time role, but brewing a tea of mistletoe berries is not - repeat, is not - part of that role.

The National Clearinghouse for Poison Control Centers has a record of death following the drinking of mistletoe berry tea. It came 10 hours after the victim drank the brew.

There are more than the usual hazards to life and health around the American home during the Christmas season, all capable of putting a damper on festivities. Some kill, some seriously sicken the unwary.

Holly, for example, is widely used as a Christmas decoration. Its berries are reportedly toxic to the heart and central nervous system in excessive quantities.

Christmas tree bubbling fluid, made of methylene chloride, is lethal in certain dosages. Cases have occurred where very young children have swallowed or inhaled the fluid.

Fireplace colors are made of metallic salts. When thrown into a blazing fire they create multi-colored flames. Youngsters have become severely ill after accidentally eating the salts.

It isn't the snow but the gas propellant which makes snow sprays dangerous. The snow is made of harmless plastic and fatty acids, but pressurizing gases can be toxic when inhaled in sufficient doses. Fortunately the gas evaporates after the snow is sprayed, so there is no residual effect.

Don't be too concerned if the kids eat a few icicles off the tree. In their metallic form they're practically insoluble and therefore poorly absorbed.

Those smoke pellets for toy trains, while not recommended as a steady diet, probably are not dangerous either. They do contain potentially toxic ingredients, but it is unlikely a youngster could eat enough of them to be poisoned.

But that isn't true of the cleaning fluid for train tracks now on the market. It contains a deodorized kerosene which is dangerous if swallowed.

Perhaps you've heard about how children can be amused with "dancing moth-balls" made by putting mothballs in colored water with vinegar and sodium bicarbonate.

They're billed as a harmless diversion for children, but they are not. Moth-balls are poisonous in or out of soda water. (A weekly feature of the Health Educator Division, State Department of Health.)

With the hope that the season will bring you abiding happiness.

The Angels Sing:

Angels' Voices Swell Through The Centuries

EDITORS NOTE: The Gloria chorus sung by the angels the first Christmas has inspired men of many nations to herald the birth of Christ in song.

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer "And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of heavenly hosts, praising God and saying: Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will to men."

LUKE II, 13-14

On the plains above Bethlehem the shepherds listened in wonder and delight to the singing of the world's first Christmas carol. The great Gloria chorus, proclaiming the birth of the Savior, rang out over the frost-jeweled valleys and caught a never ending echo in the ancient Judean hills.

The hills echoed it to the mountains, and the mountains sang it variations. The hills echoed it to the mountains and the mountains sang it variations. Handel's 'Messiah' George Frederick Handel, a bankrupt, broken in health and spirit, he locked himself indoors with his dream for 22 days, seldom eating or sleeping, and emerged with his greatest oratorio, "I did think I did see all "The Messiah," clutched in his paralyzed left hand. Wesley's Inspiration Charles Wesley, the poet laureate of Methodism, heard it on his way to church on Christmas morning, 1739. The joyful clanging of the bells seemed to him like silver tongues of angels singing a welcome to the Christ child. His "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" written almost on the spot, remains to this day one of the most popular of all Christmas hymns.

Birth of 'Silent Night'

The Rev. Joseph Mohr heard it one Christmas Eve in the Austrian Tyrol while returning from a sick call. He was a newly ordained priest assigned to St. Nicholas Church, Oberndorf, a parish so poor that the church mice could find nothing better to eat than the bellows of the organ. Their choice of fare saddened the young priest, because it meant there would be no Christmas music.

Pausing to rest on his way down a mountain, Father Mohr was struck by the beauty of the snow covered peaks, soft blue in the star light but glowing here and there with the torches carried by his parishioners on the way to Midnight Mass.

"Silent night, holy night All is dark, save the light. . . The words rushed to his mind. Hurrying to the home of his friend, Franz Gruber, the local schoolmaster and church organist, the priest begged a melody to fit his simple words. In less than an hour, Gruber scored the exquisite poem for guitar and two voices.

"We will die, you and I," Gruber told his wife, "but this song will never die." That Christmas morning in 1818, with Father Mohr playing the Italian guitar and singing tenor to Franz Gruber's rich bass, "Silent Night" first burst forth upon the world.

Voices of Angels From the dawn of Christianity, men have borrowed tongues of angels to serenade the newborn Savior.

Pope Telesphorus in 129 A. D. exhorted his flock to sing together the "Gloria in Excelsis Deo," the

Twig Wreath Is Different

Would you like a Christmas wreath that is entirely different? First, take a wire coat hanger and bend it into a round shape. Next take twigs from any kind of a tree and dip them in a flour and water paste stiff enough to stick readily to the twigs. Before the paste has dried sprinkle the twigs with artificial snow. Tie the twigs with white thread to your wreath wire.

Tie a blue ribbon bow on the hook of the hanger which is at the top of the wreath. Then tie another blue bow at the bottom of the wreath, with ribbon streamers hanging down. At the end of each streamer attach a silver Christmas ball.

If you do not want a white wreath, add red food coloring to the paste mixture and use green ribbons and red Christmas balls. Or perhaps you would like to work out your own colors.

Magic Lantern Goes Modern

The old magic lantern has a modern successor.

The new product is called the Magnajector, and unlike the old magic lantern it requires no slides. In black-and-white or color, it reflects on a wall or screen a magnified image of anything placed in the aperture of the projector—snapshots, drawings, maps, stamps, illustrations, textiles and the like.

The aperture limits the size of the item to be projected to about 12 square inches. But the projector enlarges about 150 times. Constructed of black plastic, it weighs only 28 ounces.

carol of Swedish or German origin, chronicles the devout doing of a 10th Century Duke of Bohemia who was known for his generosity on St. Stephen's Day, the day after Christmas.

"God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen," traditionally the first carol heard in London on Christmas mornings, is believed to be of Welsh origin. Mozart borrowed the melody for a duet for violin and piano. Charles Dickens's Ebenezer Scrooge had a different reaction. When the carolers bent down at his keyhole to regale him with this cherished favorite, he grabbed his ruler and drove hem off.

The last mentioned, although a comedian by trade, composed the beautiful music for "Guardian Angels," a carol popularized by the late Mario Lanza and now sung in many churches. Page 4: "Joy To The World."

In the "Jesuit Relations," missionary reports sent back to the superiors in Paris, another Jesuit, Father Barthelemy
Vimont, tells how the Hurons celebrated Christmas in 1645:

Customs Of Christmas

In the pagan world of the 4th Century, December 25 was already a sacred day throughout the Roman Empire. It was Dies Natalis Invicti Solis, the Birthday of the Unconquered Sun.
No one knows for certain on what day Christ was born, but a very early Christian tradition said it was December 25. After a careful inquiry into available evidence, Pope Julius I (337-352) decided the traditional date was probably the true one.

Many Christmas Customs have roots in pagan celebrations.
Christmas celebrations became so irreligious during the Middle Ages that when the Puritans came to power in England they forbade all celebrations, both religious and secular.

In New England, settled by the Puritans, Christmas celebrations were forbidden by law from 1659 until 1681.

Alabama in 1836 was the first state to make Christmas a legal holiday.

Decorating homes and business with evergreens at Christmas comes down from the ancient midwinter festivals. The evergreens, which flourish when all else is brown and dead, are a symbol of enduring life.

Kissing under the mistletoe is apparently an English custom. It is never found in other countries unless Englishmen have settled there.

The custom of decorating trees at Christmas came originally from Germany.

The first English Christmas tree was used in 1521 at a children's party given by a member of Queen Caroline's court.

The community Christmas tree in modern American custom. The first was erected on Mount Wilson in 1909 by the people of Pasadena, Calif.

The true Christmas candle, rarely seen now, was very large and burned throughout Christmas Day.
If it went out or was accidentally blown out before the day's end, it was thought to be an omen of bad luck.

"Angels We Have Heard on High" is a French carol with a Latin chorus and an English name. It is often called the Westminster carol because it traditionally highlighted the Christmas program at Westminster Cathedral. Actually, it originated in Quebec.

Williamsport, Pa., is the birthplace of the carol "We Three Kings of Orient Are," written

Richard S. Willis of Detroit, supplied the music after seeing the poem in a newspaper. The two

Let Givers Know What Children Will Be Needing

Nearly a third of the gifts your children receive this Christmas will come from relatives and friends who seldom see the youngsters.

It is foolish to be bashful about writing informative letters concerning the children's ages and play interests to persons you know will be sending gifts, advises Dr.
Mary Moffitt, child development professor at Queens College and educational advisor to Toy Guide-ance Council.

If the parents don't write these letters, says Dr. Moffitt, it is a good idea for the givers to check on such essential facts as age.
It is difficult to adjust your mental picture of a youngster you haven't seen for a long time.

Obviously, playthings will bring much greater pleasure on Christmas if they are chosen to fit the youngsters' stage of development.

Dr. Moffitt also warns that children's interests change from year to year. The toy intensely wanted last year may no longer be of interest.

If only the age of the child is known, it is possible for the giver to get helpful information from good toy stores about toys which are likely to have appeal. Many manufacturers put age tags on their products.

'Time Certificate' Makes Unique Gift

The boy or girl who would like to give a little something extra for Christmas might consider
"time certificates."

To an invalid neighbor, they can give a certificate stating that they will sit with him one hour each month during the coming year to read to him or write letters or just talk. Or the certificate could offer one errand monthly for 1960.

A busy mother would be happy to receive a certificate entitling her to an hour of free baby-sitting each month during the year.

Joy To The World:

Joyous Carols Come From Many Pens

EDITORS NOTE: The words to "Joy to the World" were written by Isaac Watts in 1719. A century and a half later the music was added by a Massachusetts man. The intervening period was one of the most fruitful for carol writers. This is the second of three articles on how our Christmas carols were born.

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Isaac Watts, often called the "Father of Hymnody," came into the world when Christmas carol singing was regarded as "ye work of ye devil."

It was the latter half of the 17th Century, a time of great religious upheaval in Europe. Calvin's insistence that "the Bible alone" be used in public worship had driven popular hymns out of many churches, particularly in England among the strict Puritan sects.

Instead of hymns, the congregation chanted selected passages from the Scriptures, usually the Psalms. The clerk intoned the first line in a monotone and the people, as Watts once complained, responded with "dull indifference."

Watts, one of nine children, was the son of a boarding house keeper and deacon of the Independent church who had twice gone to prison for his religious beliefs.

As a boy, Isaac had stood with his mother outside the prison gates to sing hymns to his father and the other inmates. His parents managed somehow to scrape together enough money to encourage his love of music with piano lessons.

Challenged by Father

His career as a hymn writer began when he complained one day about the uninspired songs heard in the church the family attended at Southampton.

"Then make some better ones," challenged his father.

Watts, although in poor health most of his life, responded by writing more than 600. At first they were called "Watts' Whims," but their popularity grew rapidly.

When Benjamin Franklin set up his printing press at Philadelphia in 1741, the first book issued was "Watts Psalms and Hymns."

In all, Watts filled 52 volumes with his hymns. Most of them, like "Let Dogs Delight to Bark and Bite," are long forgotten, but his "How Doth the Lively Busy Bee" remains a children's favorite and his "Joy to the World" has become a cherished Christmas classic.

Watts wrote "Joy to the World" in 1719 while staying as a house guest at the estate of Sir Thomas and Lady Abney outside London.

In that visit he undoubtedly set the all time guest record. He came for two weeks and stayed for 36 years. His gracious hosts complained that it didn't seem long enough.

Music Added Later

The music we hear today to "Joy to the World" was added more than 150 years after Watts wrote the words. It was composed in about 1870 by Lowell Mason of Medfield, Mass., and based somewhat loosely on themes found in Handel's "Messiah."

When Watts died in 1748, his place in the world of religious music had already been pre-empted by Charles Wesley, brother of John Wesley, the founder of Methodism. The brothers went to America in 1735 as missionaries to the new colony at Georgia, where Charles was to be secretary to Gen. James Oglethorpe. Ill health forced him to return less than a year later, but he never forgot the marvelous singing of the German Moravian colonists. The Moravians, a devout sect who later moved to Pennsylvania, gave Charles Wesley the inspiration for his life work. He published his first hymns at Charleston, S.C., and was brought before the grand jury in Savannah for introducing "Unauthorized Hymns into the Worship."

As the "Poet Laureate of Methodism," he wrote more than 6,000 hymns, finding inspiration almost anywhere and writing with ease under the most difficult conditions. Once he fell off his horse while accompanying brother John on an evangelical mission and complained that the resulting injury "spoiled all my hymn writing for that day."

He dashed off "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" while walking to church on Christmas day and thrilling to the tumult of London's church bells. The first two lines, as originally written in 1739, were "Hark! how all the welkin rings Glory to the King of Kings."

A friend, the Rev. Martin Madan, altered the opening stanza in 1760 to the version we now know. For 100 years the carol was sung to the same tune as Wesley's Easter hymn, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," but in 1856 Dr. W. H. Cummings, organist at Waltham Abbey, fitted it to the music of Mendelssohn's "Festgesang."

Mendelssohn would have been as surprised as Wesley. He wrote the music to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the invention of printing and insisted it "never would do to sacred words."

Luther Wrote Carols

Martin Luther, the great German reformer, was also a prodigious author of Christmas carols, but it is doubted if he wrote "Away in a Manger," sometimes known as "Luther's Cradle Hymn." The carol, in the opinion of most authorities, originated among German Lutherans in Pennsylvania and was taken back to Germany in the 1840's.

But Luther, as poet Coleridge said, "did as much for the Reformation by his hymns as by his translation of the Bible." In addition to writing dozens of Christmas carols, Luther arranged and published "Good King Wenceslaus," and popularized "O Tannenbaum," the Christmas tree carol.

According to legend, Luther was fascinated with the way the stars seemed to glisten in the tips of the pine trees while walking in the woods one Christmas Eve. He cut a small fir tree and set out candles for stars to recreate the scene for his small children.

He wrote "From Heaven Above to Earth I Come," his most famous carol, as a Christmas cradle song for his son Paul. Bach harmonized this song for his Christmas oratorio. German soldiers sang it in the trenches during a Christmas lull in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870. French soldiers responded with Adolphe Adam's "Canticle of Christmas," better known as "O Holy Night." Adam, composer of the ballet "Giselle" and several operas, deserves a distinguished place among the makers of Christmas music. His "O Holy Night" with its magnificent "O Night Divine" refrain is by far the best loved of all Christmas carols among professional musicians and has been sung by most of the world's great concert and opera stars.

Apples Make Yule Tree

Have you ever thought of making a Christmas apple tree? That's only one of many ways in which shiny red apples can provide a cheerful, colorful note for the holiday season.

To make an apple tree, you shape a pile of the fruit in the form of a pyramid, holding it together with toothpicks. Before starting that job, however, you gouge a hole in the stem of each apple and set in it a white birthday candle. Placed on an evergreen bed, the apple tree makes a striking table decoration. And for each place setting, you can use an apple with candle.

A clove apple makes a fragrant gift. Stick the stems of cloves into a small, firm, red apple until its surface is covered with the flowers of this spice. Tie a narrow red ribbon bow to the stem and it is ready for hanging in someone's closet. It will provide fragrance for weeks to come.

A large crystal fruit bowl piled high with polished apples is a cheerful and traditional mantel or table piece for a holiday home.

Unusual Decoration Utilizes Moth Balls

To make a fascinating Christmas decoration, anchor with modeling clay a tall red or green candle in the bottom of a tall apothecary jar. Put in a handful of moth balls and then a quarter of a cup of vinegar plus a teaspoon of soda for every glass of water needed to fill the jar. The moth balls will dance merrily around the candle for an hour or so. When they stop another dash of soda and vinegar will start them dancing again.

Children will love this unique decoration at Christmas time.

DAVIS "66" SERVICE STATION

Motorized Bed Moves Paralyzed Man Around

HOUSTON, Tex. - Neighborhood residents stared at a strange contraption sputtering up and down their sidewalks.

It looked like a bed with a motor on it. That's what it was. On the motorized mattress was Oliver Gann, beaming broadly after confinement for nearly six years.

On Oct. 28, 1933, Gann was a carpenter for a construction firm. He had a wife and three children.

That day Gann, then 24, tumbled 30 feet from the roof of a warehouse. The fall left him with a broken neck and paralyzed except for limited use of his arms.

Three months later he left the hospital and moved to Canton to live with his mother, Mrs. Zada Gann, 62.

But a year later tragedy struck again. His wife died. Since then his mother has cared for him and his children, Wanda, 10, Johnny, 9, and Larry, 7.

Occasionally, his brother, Johnny Gann, came visiting. Johnny, also a carpenter, had an idea.

Lengths of tubular steel were moulded into a framework, wheels were attached and a lawn mower engine installed. Result was a odd looking contraption that takes Oliver where he chooses.

It steers like an auto. A simple gear mechanism propels it forward or backward at speeds up to 20 miles per hour.

"Best of all," Oliver says, "I can get out to the park and watch my boys play baseball."

Ted Williams hit 31 homers in 1939, his first season in the American League.

willingly giving of their time, talent and efforts to help others.

One Week's Record
To get some idea of the scope and variety of the unsung un-materialistic side of the American character, Associated Press bureaus across the country concentrated attention for one week on the good things that people do for others, the things that don't ordinarily make news.

The week chosen was Oct. 25-31. As it turned out, it was a week of some soul searching in America. It was a week when Americans waited for Charles Van Doren to make his appearance before a congressional committee investigating rigged quiz shows. It was a week when a leazy side of the American character was gradually unfolding.

On the face of it, hardly a week for the do-gooders.

Yet, at almost the same hour that quiz whiz Van Doren was in a court conference with the district attorney of Manhattan, changing his grand jury testimony, Dr. Milo Fritz was bringing the miracle of sight to an Indian woman in an Anchorage, Alaska, hospital.

It was more than a miracle of modern medicine. It was a miracle of giving that stretched across the continent. Totally blind in both eyes, Mrs. Daria Nell Alex, a 51-year-old mother of five children, underwent a cornea transplant.

No One Made Money
The cornea came from the Eye Bank for Sight Restoration, a non-profit organization in New York City. The person who will give his eyes to the bank - such operations must be performed within a few hours after death - never knew who the beneficiary would be. An airline flew the eye in a nine-pound box free of charge from New York to Alaska. Through arrangements made by the local Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat in Anchorage, where the transplant was made without fee by Dr. Fritz.

In the big state of Alaska, where big things are constantly happening for the little people, the incident was barely out of the ordinary. It was all in a day's duty for Dr. Fritz, a former Air Corps surgeon who has a private practice in Anchorage but spends his weekends visiting remote Eskimo and Indian villages. Flying his own plane, the 50-year-old doctor brings medical care to isolated settlements.

On a recent trip to the village of Cheneliak, Dr. Fritz piled 600 pounds of equipment, a male nurse and assorted medical supplies into his plane for a week-end of free clinic work. He examined 87 villagers, found 31 in need of various types of surgery, and 24 who needed glasses.

Each in his own way, each according to his time and talents, the barber in Virginia and the eye specialist in Alaska were practicing a flourishing American art form - the art of giving. And that same week, as in 51 other weeks of the year, they were joined by thousands of others throughout the land.

Fine Art of Giving

Folks in Billings, Mont., this same week, were signing up for a new eye bank begun by the Altruism Club to serve a five-state area. Members received a small identification card for their wallets so that, in event of death, the Highway Patrol could rush them to St. Vincent's Hospital to have their eyes removed. little boys, victims of hemophilia. Most of them didn't even know the family involved. One man, an aircraft worker hurrying home to supper, heard the appeal on his car radio, left the highway at the next exit and drove to the church.

"I'm gonna get hell when I go home," he told the others in line.

In this same week, the blood Swedish Covenant Hospital broadcast an urgent appeal for donors with a rare blood type to aid 12-year-old Mary Leventis, brought over from Athens, Greece, last July for a delicate heart operation.

The operation would close a hole in the upper chamber of her heart and prolong her life beyond the normal 20-year expectancy for such conditions. Three times surgery was postponed because of a shortage of type B positive blood with a factor P-negative. Finally, as often happens with rare blood types, nameless people many miles away heard of the need and responded.

The donors, 15 men and 9 women, included an accountant, a clerk, a housewife, a chemist, a building materials executive, a receptionist, a high school teacher.

One of the donors, Joseph Baumstark, a 40-year-old brick worker, has donated his blood 25 times in the last 10 years. This was his seventh time this year.

Why does he do it?

Faithful to Pledge
Because 10 years ago his brother died in a hospital with a heart condition and kidney illness. "He needed blood, too," said Baumstark. "There were so few donors. I made a pledge to him that I would give mine whenever I had the opportunity."

On Wednesday, in this week of quiet wonders, the Galloneer Club of Great Falls (pop. 39,214), Mont., bringing to 541 the number of residents who have given a gallon or more of blood to the Red what a growing menace they are, club obtained the addresses of local crippled children, began dropping by their homes on Saturday afternoons to chat, play games, spin records. Now there are branches throughout the city.

Some people are more critical of cars than others, and they are the ones we want specially to drive the solid new Plymouth

This car is built a new solid way by Chrysler Corporation engineers. It simply doesn't have many parts that work loose and need fixing in some cars. We'd like to answer some questions about this car now:

- Q. What is this new way of building?
A. Chrysler Corporation's virtually trouble-free version of unit construction. Body and undersills are joined in a single unit of enormous strength, locked by close to 5400 welds. In Dura-Quiet Unibody, there is no frame and no conventional body bolts, struts, braces, etc., to loosen and rattle.
- Q. What about power and performance?
A. There's the new 30-D Economy Six, a new "inclined" six that delivers outstanding economy in normal driving. The standard V-8 is the Fury V-800 which three times in a row topped its class in the Mobilgas Economy Run. Or you may choose the extra-cost SonoRamic Commando V-8.

The Unselfish

injured in a truck accident at Farmington, N.M. Flat on his back in a strange town, Moyer was alone in the world with his broken body and broken dreams. Both his parents were dead. His friends miles away.

Then the kids from Farmington High began dropping in. Just a few at a time. Kind of informal, disorganized, the way teenagers do things. But they never let a day go by without having some one stop in. The kids brought him mail, newspapers, books and lots of cheerful small talk. They even arranged for him to sit on the sidelines in a wheel chair at the Farmington - Durango game.

Moyer doesn't know if he'll ever play football again or ever get an High began dropping in. Just does know that whatever the future holds, he's coming back to Farmington to settle down.

Neighborhood Spirit Not Dead
Newspaper editors never cease to be amazed at the way the public responds to a local tragedy.

In New Britain, Conn., $20,000 was raised in less than two weeks for a family partially wiped out in a fire. In Vancouver, B. C., people began dropping presents off on the porch of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Fistravee after reading how thieves stole the gifts they had bought for a daughter expected home from Yugoslavia after an absence of six years. In Lincoln, Neb., high school students went door to door virtually all their possessions in an apartment fire.

In Springfield, Vt., 20 men showed up at Henry Ferguson's farm to haul wood, harvest corn, finish putting the roof on his new silo. Ferguson, father of four children, lost both his legs in the whirling blades of a corn blower last year. Cattle sales and tag days raised $4,000 to fit him with artificial legs. "Not as a charity," explained Ralph Lashua, chairman of the drive, "but to help rehabilitate a useful citizen."

Unorganized but Impressive
America's organized charities and service organizations are without parallel in the world: Kiwanis, Lions, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, YMCA, Heart Fund, Cancer Society, the various church, civic and veterans' groups that number into the thousands. But the nation's unorganized charities are as varied and numberless as the people who perform them.

Former Navy football coach Eddy Erdelatz teaches crippled kids to swim in San Carlos, Calif. Ex-cop Al Gittrich studies law six days a week at Tulsa University, holds down a full time job with a printing firm and still finds time to help kids as a volunteer investigator for the Tulsa juvenile court. A Des Moines dentist, Dr. Bernard Hermann, opens his office a few hours earlier every Thursday to treat kids from the YMCA Boys Home.

Charles Spector, a retired postman in Wethersfield, Conn., tours hospital wards with a tape recorder taking messages from patients, which he cuts onto a record and mails to their loved ones. Mrs. Harold Linsley, who has been in show business all her life, puts on a marionette show every week for retarded children in Dallas, Tex.; frequently gets a response that seems worth months of treatment. Service station operator Frank Rowland runs a free ambulance service in Kenmore, N. Y., with an ambulance he rescued from a junk heap and outfitted at his own expense.

One Quiz Above Suspicion
In the week of the quiz show scandals, Mrs. Roy Shoultz drove 83 miles from her home in Millersburg, Mo., to the Veterans Hospital at Poplar Bluff to conduct one quiz show that wasn't fixed. The show, carried over the hospital's closed circuit radio, offers 50-cent prizes for correct answers to the questions Mrs. Shoultz writes and announces. Since 1953,

AID FOR HANDICAPPED: Patty Jacobson of LaCrosse, Wis., watches with a big smile as her grandfather operates a special lift to transfer her from wheelchair to car. An AFL-CIO civic projects committee supplied the lift free of charge.

HIS BROTHER'S KEEPER: Eddie Erdelatz, former Navy football coach, is a volunteer swimming teacher for crippled kids in San Carlos, Calif. He's carrying a boy out of the pool.

ers left over from the coffee hour. Monday she baked cookies for the neighborhood kids. Tuesday she attended a meeting of the Golden Youth Club, a social group for elderly persons, but not before she had whipped up a cake for the occasion. Wednesday evening she went to choir practice, not to sing but to babysit in the church basement with 15 children of the choir members. Again, a batch of cookies was called for. And so the week went, a day-by-day chronicle of small favors from a large heart.

Unseasonal Goodness
Christmas was still two months away in the week that AP reporters kept check on America's spontaneous benevolence, but the spirit of giving was everywhere in evidence.

In Boston a Catholic priest and a Protestant public relations man took turns at the telephone waiting for suicides to call. Their Rescue, Inc., organization has talked numerous despondent people out of ending their lives.

In Boise, Idaho, Mrs. James Henry offered to loan her wheelchair to others in her predicament who might want to tour the new two-million-dollar First Methodist Church now under construction.

In Tallahassee, Fla., an elderly Negro couple opened their home and hearts to seven foster children, aged 10 months to 8 years. In the past 16 years, the Rev. J. J. Sanders and his wife have helped rear 23 dependent children referred to them by the Leon County Juvenile Court.

In Austin, Minn., Mrs. Albert Horwitz sat down at an odd shaped machine to help a blind girl in California through four years of music school. For 25 years, Mrs. Horwitz has volunteered her time to the Braille Institute of America, translating books and musical pieces into the touch language of the blind. She has never met any of those who benefit from her service.

In Atlanta that week Mrs. Malcolm Bryan received the papal cross, a citation from Pope John XXIII for selfless years of opening her home to unwed mothers, teen-agers in trouble and other daily acts of charity. "You see," she explained, "I have a big house. There is plenty of room."

57 Per Cent Of Autos To Get Insurance Cut

Approximately 73 per cent of Texas motorists have had spotless driving records for the past three years. When this is related to insured automobiles, 57 per cent of the insured automobiles will qualify for a 20 per cent reduction on their automobile insurance when the Texas Safe Driving Insurance Plan becomes effective Jan. 1, according to a statement issued by the State Board of Insurance.

An analysis of the records of 10,365 Texas drivers showed that 88 per cent of the drivers had driven the past three years without an accident and that 79 per cent of the drivers were not convicted of moving traffic violation offenses during the same period. The study also disclosed that 72 per cent of all drivers had neither motor vehicle offenses nor accidents in their records.

"The majority of Texas drivers will be looking forward with enthusiasm to this new plan, which puts the burden of insurance costs on the careless driver, while giving a just and fair reward to those who have not had accidents or convictions. The Texas Safe Driving Insurance Plan was adopted after repeated requests from State motorists who felt that their safe driving records, and the safe driving records of the other members of their family, entitled them to a reduction in their insurance rates," Penn Jackson, chairman of the State board, said.

The Safe Driving Insurance Plan applies to all automobiles eligible for insurance under the Family Automobile Policy and provides for a 20 per cent discount from the regular insurance rates when each member of the household has driven without an accident or a conviction for a moving traffic violation for the past three years.

An estimated 57 per cent of all automobiles, now insured under the Family Automobile Policy, will become eligible for a 20 per cent discount after January 1. Approximately 16 per cent of the automobiles will continue to be insured at present rates, as some member of the household will have received one point under the Plan.

"A study of Texas accident records has demonstrated that a relationship exists between highway accidents and convictions for moving traffic violations. A driver who runs up a record of convictions has a much greater chance of being involved in a serious accident than the motorist who drives his car in a lawful manner. The group of drivers with three motor vehicle offenses in their record had six times as many accidents as drivers with no traffic violations. Drivers whose record contain six or more motor vehicle offenses had nine times as many accidents as those drivers without any moving traffic violations," Jackson said.

Under the Texas Safe Driving Insurance Plan four points are assigned for convictions of any of the following moving traffic law violations:

1. Driving while intoxicated;
2. Hit-and-run;
3. Negligent homicide involving a motor vehicle.

One point is assigned for other moving traffic violations, but no points are assigned for defective lights, defective mufflers, parking violations and other relatively minor offenses.

Basically, two points are assigned for each accident involving $25 damage to property or the injury of a person. No points are assessed for accidents involving:

1. Medical payments coverage only.
2. Damage to your vehicle while you are legally parked.
3. Accidents for which you have been reimbursed by or on behalf of a person responsible for accident.
4. Accident in which only the other party has been convicted of a moving traffic violation.
5. Rear-end collision in which you have been struck in rear by another vehicle and in which you have NOT been convicted of moving traffic violation.
6. Hit-and-run accident in which your car is damaged by "hit-and-run" operator IF you report the accident to proper authorities within 24 hours.

All companies writing automobile insurance at rates prescribed by the Texas State Board of Insurance must use the Texas Safe Driving Plan when insuring automobiles eligible for the Family Automobile Policy.

Letters To Santa

December 18, 1959
 Dear Santa,
 We have tried very hard to be good. We have taken good care of the toys you gave us last year. We are going to give away our old toys to some other boys and girls and we would like to have some new ones.
 Diane is 3, she wants a record player, a doll, and a sewing machine.
 David is 2, he wants an electric train, a road grader and a truck.
 Dennis is 1, and he wants a drum and a pull toy.
 There will be some cake and milk for you and we will be asleep.
 Love,
 Diane, David and Dennis Bell 1324 Dillon St.

Dear Santa Claus,
 I have tried to be a good girl. I have bring me a doll with clothes, a car-seat for my doll, and a big tricycle.
 I will leave you a coke and a some cake by the tree.
 Love
 Vickie Sue Price

Dear Santa Claus,
 I have tried to be a good boy this year. I am three years old. I would like for you to bring me two guns, a black-board, and a big tricycle.
 Love
 Stevie Price

Dear Santa Claus
 I want some shirts for Christmas please and a science set for Christmas please and my little brother wants some guns and holster and bullets for Christmas please and my big sister wants overnight case for Christmas please
 Brenda Leonard
 Route 1, Littlefield Texas

Dear Santa,
 Our names are Charles and Sandra Carter. We are in the second and first grades. We have tried to be good this year. Charles would like to have a football helmet and football suit.
 Sandra wants a baby doll with announcements to send to her friends. We would also like to have a bowling set for both of us.
 Our baby sister Karen is thirteen months old. Please bring her a Teddy Bear and a little book.
 We love you Santa. We live at 818 W. 19th St. in Littlefield. We will leave you a glass of milk and some chocolate cake like we did last year. Be sure and don't get cake crumbs on your nice white beard.
 Charles Carter
 Sandra Carter

Dear Santa,
 Please bring me a Tiny Tears doll. I am 4 years old. Don't forget my brother Mark who is 8 years old. My mother and my uncle Wayne (11) wants a watch. Remember my cousins and my friend Debbie. Don't forget the orphans, needy children and the orphans.
 With love and kisses,
 Thank you,
 Patti Muller
 P.S. Please forgive us the times we were naughty.

Plains Cotton Growers OK 8-Point Legislative Plan

Directors of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. adopted an eight-point set of objectives to apply to future farm legislative proposals in the last official meeting of 1959, held Dec. 17 in Lubbock.

The group did not adopt a specific proposal for an overall farm program, but agreed on eight objectives as "broad principles" upon which the organization can stand until a farm bill is proposed.

The objectives call for a program "to protect farm income" and permit farmers to use land and equipment more effectively and efficiently. A one-price system for cotton to both domestic and foreign mills also was advocated. The group also agreed that a program is needed to reduce the surplus and prevent accumulation of new surpluses beyond that necessary for market stability, national defense or emergency. It should also provide means for orderly marketing and stability in price.

Another objective called for a program to increase consumption of cotton and expand production as needed. Cotton also should be made competitive in price and quality to synthetic fibers and foreign production.

The final two objectives called for a program to return cotton marketing to its normal channels of trade and to provide a public relations program designed to give the American public a true picture of agriculture.

FCG directors also toured the pilot spinning plant at Texas Tech and discussed cotton trailer licensing, farm labor issues, the vegetable oil situation and proposals by the American Cotton Pro-

Bowie, Castro Boys Win State's Corn Production

Hugh Brower, Bowie County farmer from Avery, has been declared winner in the annual Texas Hybrid Corn Program. He harvested 141.8 bushels from an acre of Texas 33 to lead all participants in the 1959 statewide program. His outstanding yield was made under dryland conditions using 400 pounds of 7-14-7 before planting and 100 pounds of anydrus ammonia as a side-dressing. He used a 12-inch spacing in the row.

In addition to the area award of $50, Brower will receive a plaque and another $50 for making the state's best record. The Texas Certified Seed Producers, Inc., in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, sponsors the program. Ben Spears, extension agronomist, released the list of winners and reported that 39 records were submitted from all sections of the state.

Johnny Collins, a 4-H boy from Castro County, was named state winner in the irrigated division with a yield of 127.2 bushels per acre from his Texas 30. He was also winner for the Parhandle area and will receive a plaque for his state placing. Collins lives north of Earth.

No. 3-A Harrel Staked By Hewitt

The No. 3A Harrel Estate has been staked by Littlefield oil operator Les Hewitt one location and one-quarter mile east of Littlefield San Andres production.

The project is two miles northeast of Littlefield. It will test the San Andres pay.
 The 4,600-foot project is 330 feet from the south and 1,200 feet from the west lines of Labor, League 25, Abner Taylor Survey on a 202.53 - acre lease.

Results Of Fertilizer Tests On Cotton Announced

Data important for farmers in the use of fertilizer in Lamb County is being made available this year with 1959 fertilizer tests adding to information already available. Three tests on cotton are reported in the article which follows. Editor.

Three Lamb County farmers, Doyle Turner of Earth, Bud Vann of Spade and Billy Clayton of Springlake, kept production records on fertilizer results during 1959 and will have a guide next year about how much fertilizer they can use and get an economic return.

Vann used five different amounts of nitrogen and planted check plots adjoining the five fertilized plots.

He planted cotton on 16 fertilized rows and then skipped four rows between each plot. Planting on May 11 at a rate of 24 pounds of seed per acre, he pre-irrigated and irrigated in July and August.

He harvested 544 lbs. of lint from land fertilized with 20 lbs.
of nitrogen, an increase of 85 lbs.
over the check plot. Use of 30 lbs.
of nitrogen produced 901 pounds per acre, an increase of 221 lbs.
over the check plot. Forty pounds of nitrogen yielded 867 lbs., an increase of 459 pounds per acre.

His highest return was from 50 pounds of nitrogen, which produced the yield to 1,133 lbs. of lint.
Check plot produced 680 pounds.

Nearly doubling the yield, the use of 50 pounds produced the only two-hale cotton in his test plots.
When he used 60 pounds of nitrogen, the yield was increased to 799 pounds per acre from 480 lbs.
Turner used 14 fertilizer formulas, including the following:
40-0-0, 40-40-0, 80-0-0, 80-Sul-Po-Mag, and 4-60-0 plus 100 pounds of 0-30-15.

Four separate locations were fertilized with each of the above fertilizer formulas and the yield results averaged. Turner's best report was from the 40-60-0 plus 200 pounds of Sul-Po-Mag treatment plot, which produced 459 lbs.
of lint. The average from his check produced 285 lbs. per acre, from two check plots which produced 380 lbs. and 411 lbs. Another test which 40-60-0 was used with 100 pounds of 0-30-15 produced 395 pounds of cotton, no increase over the check plots averaged.

Turner did not, however, use the Sul-Po-Mag treatment separate to the three basic elements and no infallible statement that the trace element treatment was the factor raising the yield.
However there is some significance in the use of trace elements, if the figures are not unbalanced by other factors such as stand, moisture availability, and previous land treatment.

According to the average of the replicas, Turner lost production by adding 40-0-0 alone, with this plot yielding only 374 pounds per acre. However, two of the replicas of 40-0-0 did increase the yield over the check plots, while two of the plots dropped in production by 45 lbs. and 34 lbs. per acre.

Use of 40-40-0 increased his yield 41 pounds per acre, which in comparison with other plots, shows that the use of phosphate in the formula exerted the most influence on Turner's farm.

The designation (a) indicates the use of anhydrous ammonia as a source of nitrogen and phosphoric acid as the phosphorus source. In (b) the potash was supplied with Sul-Po-Mag. In (c) 50 pounds of trace elements were added.

All other formulas used Ammonium sulfate for nitrogen, 40 pounds of potash.
According to the yield figures, the anhydrous ammonia is the better source of nitrogen, and phosphoric acid the better source of phosphorus, when used in combination.

Clayton's test on trace elements showed no response when the 50 pounds were added to the 80-80-0.

It should be pointed out that the figures contained in the test

590 reports do not touch on factors that also exert tremendous effect on the yield of crops in Lamb County.

Therefore, no hard and fast rule can be established, other than the fact that fertilizer must be used properly if the top dollar return is to be gained.

Farmers Could Beat Reds In Rocket Field, He Says

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm probably is talking through his hat this week, but it's his hat.

Dear editor:
Everybody talks about the lag in missiles and rockets the United States is embarrassed about, but nobody seems to know what to do, outside of wringing our hands.
As I understand the situation,
Russia is several years ahead of us, and we're not catching up.
Russia can send up a rocket with three or four thousand pounds of payload, while the best we have been able to do is a few hundred pounds, and what this means is that she can send that much straight up, she could send it likewise parallel, with someplace like New York or Chicago or Detroit or Littlefield or my farm out here as the target.
One of my neighbors was talking about this the other day and he said he had the solution. According to an article he had clipped out of a newspaper and was carrying around in his billfold, the United States is as far ahead of Russia in agriculture as it is behind in rockets.
"The thing to do," he said, "is to turn the rocket program over to farmers. If we can beat them Russians farming, we can beat them producing rockets. It's plain to see, the real brains of this country are owned by us farmers."
I wouldn't argue with him about the brains, but I wish to say I wouldn't be interested in taking on any rocket production.
Oh, us farmers could maybe do it all right, but it's all we can do now to keep the government paying us for our surplus farm products, without having to worry about parity payments for surplus rockets. You let us get into the rocket business and flood the warehouses with guided missiles and four-ton satellites, and the city people would raise so much sand over the government handouts us farmers were growing fat on we'd never keep the agricultural part of our payments flourishing.
If the farmers of this country have any sense, they'll stick to farming and let the nuclear scientists worry about their own short-comings in the missile business.
By the way, I just looked up and noticed the calendar. Christmas is almost here. I don't know how it got here, but Season's Greetings,

J. A.

Jack Christian Consignee, Texaco, Inc.

SEASON'S GREETINGS
Here's a holiday tradition
we really cherish...time out to tell you how much your loyal friendship and patronage mean to us and to wish you and your family a very healthy, happy and cheerful festive season!
HAVE YOU LOOKED IN THE MIRROR LATELY?
Have you kept your sweetheart look in 1959?
Make no mistake, madam, men admire dainty women.
Your husband may appreciate the hard struggle you put up each week doing the family washing, but he won't admire that wan look or worn-out expression that comes at the end of a not so perfect day.
You cannot compromise with nature. You either look fresh and rested because you are fresh and rested, or you look droopy because you are plain tired out.
There is a way to get the family washing done and still retain that sweetheart look. Just pack up your washday troubles in a laundry bag and call your neighborhood laundry. You gain a whole day that way—a day in which to enjoy life. No muss, no fuss, no cuss—but a neat bundle of professionally laundered linen ready to wear or put away on the shelf.
Even if you are the rugged type that can come up smiling after a hard day with the family washing and ironing, remember it's the glamour girls that get the glances. No home washing gadget was ever made to enhance a woman's charm.
The safe way—the modern way, is to let the laundry give your laundry bundle the beauty treatment and look your best on washday.

we hope to earn, we extend the Greetings of the Season.
Thanks for making this a good year with
