OVERPAYMENT REFUNDS

The Bailey County ASCS office mailed letters to producers the past few weeks informing them that a portion of the deficiency payments made to them for 1988 and/or 1989 program years would need to be refunded.

These overpayments are a result of the disaster program in 1988 and/or 1989.

As you know, deficiency and disaster payments cannot be earned on the same pounds or bushels on the same acreage. As you can see, these overpayments are not the result of any mistake by yourself or this office (we hope).

MAINTENANCE OF ACR AND CRP

This office is beginning to receive several complaints about the maintenance on ACR, CU, and CRP land. There is a lot of set-aside land that needs plowing NOW. Spot checks are being made now, so don't jeopardize your farm program benefits and/or your CRP annnual rental payment by neglecting your layout land or CRP land. NO WEEDS!!

ACTUAL PRODUCTION Producers that have both, eligible acres for program benefits and ineligible acres (replacement acres), need to keep the actual production separate and apart for future loan programs, disaster benefits, and yield purposes.

NOTICE OF CALCULATION EFFECTIVE TAX RATE, ESTIMATED UNENCUMBERED FUND BALANCES, AND DEBT SCHEDULE

This notice presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate used to determine 1989 property taxes. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same amount of taxes on the same properties as last year. This year's rollback rate is the highest tax rate the taxing units may set before taxpayers can start rollback procedures. This notice contains a summary of the effective and rollback tax rate calculations. You can inspect the full calculations at Bailey County Appraisal District, 104 East Avenue C, Muleshoe, Texas.

August is a good time to divide and plant daylily crowns and iris rhizones. If you can spare some, share divisions with friends. True container-grown trees and shrubs transplant and grow very well here and you can set them out in mid-summer. Water them in well at planting and irrigate every week from then on through the fall and winter. Everyone admires red oaks and live oaks, but you might like to explore some excellent alternative shade trees such as Chinese pistachio, Chinese Elm. Zelkova, Bur oak and Goldenrain tree.

As we move into September, keep in mind it is your last chance to divide and replant cannas, daylilies and bearded iris. Plan purchase of spring bulbs by selecting your favorite colors now. Get those beds ready for spring rose planting.

Of the $49.9 million in state collections, counties received more than $6.2 million compared to $5.8 million received during the same three-month period of 1989. Cities received $5.8 million, up from the $5.4 million received last year during those months. The state's general revenue fund received the balance.

Bullock said $37.9 million was deposited into the state's general revenue fund from collections during April, May and June, compared to $35.5 million for the second quarter of 1989.

K31 Fescue will produce an attractive turn if planted thickly at ten pounds per thousand square feet and is somewhat less expensive than the newer varieties. To conserve water, more people are planning smaller grass areas and striving for quality turf in those areas. Water conserving ground covers some grass areas in landscapes. In early September sow leaf and butterhead lettuce, spinach, radish, turnip, and Bok Choy for fall an early winter greens. Adventurous gardeners will sow seed of cold tolerant Sweet Winter, Buffalo or Bison onions by mid-September for bulb harvest next June and July.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Happy Mule Days to everyone!! Eight Kiwanians, one honorary Kiwanian, Chad Johnsokn, and one guest, Gary Parker, met Friday morning at the La Placita Cafe. With so many on vacation, the crowd was small. All Kiwanians who are not on vacation -- get up and get out. We need you!!

President Jim Lutz, back from vacation, brought the meeting to order. Randy Lewis led the club in the pledge to the flag. The invocation was given by R. A. Bradley.

After much searching, Randy Lewis found the friendship coin and stated it was good to have Brad back and gave the friendship coin to Brad. Randy, it is good to be back. My kind are take. Randy, you have a friend. Thank you.

Larry Parker was in charge of the program Friday morning, and he bribed his brother, Gary Parker into coming to eat breakfast and bring us a video Happy Birthday. on Sky Diving.

As many of you know, Gary likes to jump out of airplanes. Gary stated that he had been Sky Diving for about 11 years. The video showed divers, jumping and making all kinds of formations, etc.

Seems the most sky divers to join up on one jump is 150. The video ended with the statement, "Happy are those who dream dreams and are willing to pay the price to see them come true." Gary there are different dreams and then some are nightmares.

Larry introduced Gary and said that this is the other reason his mother has gray hair. Doris, I have known you for years and often wondered, but with one sky diver and one rattlesnake hunter, now I appreciate you the wrong kind of vacations to more. It's a miracle you even have hair.

Gary, it was a good program. Larry, thanks for talking Gary into getting up early and bringing this enjoyable program. Thanks again, Larry and oh yes,

Texas Population Growth Department's Parks Division. But we have a long-term Expected To Decrease

Texas population growth in the 1900s not only will be slower but may be only half the 1980's rate.

"All indications point to a slowing growth rate, both for Texas and the nation," said Steve H. Murdock, a demographer with the Real Estate

"Even if the highest predicted Texas growth rates are achieved," said Murdock, "the state's rate of population growth will only equal that of the 1980s."

If the Texas population grows from the current 17.1 million to 20.7 million by 2000, the growth rate will be 1.98 percent per year--about the same growth rate as that for the 1980s.

Murdock sees significant changes in the characteristics of the population as well.

"Everyone talks about the aging of the population," he said. "But while the population will grow older, it will not become old. The decade of the 1990s should be characterized as the era of the middle-aged."

The age group from 35 to 59 years old will grow the fastest of all U.S. age groups in the 1990s--27.8 percent. No other age group will be close.

Those less than 24 years old will increase only .9 percent. The 25-to34-year-old group will decrease more than 15 percent. The 60-years-of-age and older group will gain 7.8 percent.

"Because the 35-to59-year-old group is in its peak income years," said Murdock, "its potential spending power will be impressive."

Minorities will continue to increase their proportions of the total population during the 1990s.

The Texas population could be 41 percent minorities by 2000 compared to 38 percent in 1990," said Murdock. About 26 percent of the U.S. population could be minorities by 2000 compared to 23 percent today."

Trends toward smaller households will continue in the 1990s. Fewer will be the traditional composition. Family households that account for 71 percent of all U.S. households today will decrease to only 68 percent by Murdock predicts the average size Texas household will shrink from its current 2.7 persons to 2.64 by the turn of the century.

"For real estate, the key market segment of the 1990s will be the middle-aged," said Murdock. "As young adults, they fueled a boom in starter homes. In the 1990s, they will comprise the move-up market. Middle-aged homeowners seeking to improve their housing will find home sales more difficult as the potential supply of would-be buyers shrinks. First time buyers, on the other hand, should find a generous supply of existing homes from which to choose.'

The Real Estate Center was created in 1971 by the Texas Legislature to meet the needs of many audiences, including the real estate industry, instructors, researchers and the general public. The Center's comprehensive program of research and education yields publications and computer software distributed widely under the slogan "Solutions Through Research."

Rev. and Mrs. Donnie Howell attended the memorial services of Mrs. Evelyn Fry in Littlefield on Thursday.

Myrna Turney has been staying with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Drennan to help out since Amy had surgery and is home.

Battleship Texas To Open In September

Officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and the Battleship Texas Advisory board announced today that the Battleship Texas will be open to the public once again on September 8.

We are planning a grand re-opening on Saturday, September 8, to celebrate the ship's return to San Jacinto and a new era of public service," said Battleship Texas Advisory board chairman Robert D. Miller. "The pomp and circumstance appropriate to such a memorable occasion will be observed in a special ceremony highlighting the patriotic career of the ship and those who have contributed to her restoration," said Chuck Nash, Chariman, Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

Work is now underway to open new areas of the ship as well as those special areas like the wardroom and the engine room that are old favorites. "Compartment restoration is costly and time-consuming," said Wilson E. Dolman, Director of Texas Parks and Wildlife But we have a long-term commitment to restoring working and berthing areas throughout the ship. Over the next several years our visitors will see many changes as we open up new areas and give others a much-needed re-do.

In 1983 the Texas Parks and Wildlife was assigned responsibility for the Battleship Texas and began a detailed study and analysis of the ship Texas and began a detailed study and analysis of the ship's condition: A long-term plan was developed to make necessary repairs to her hull, deck and super-structure and to restore the ship to her appearance in 1945, when she supported the American landings on Iwo Jima and Okinawa in the Pacific.

The Battleship Texas Advisory Board, appointed by the Governor in 1983 to raise funds for the ship, has raised more than $6 million to support the restoration and repair effort. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has provided the remainder of the approximately $12 million necessary to restore and watertight integrity of the ship and begin the long-term restoration effort.

COMMISSION ON THE BICENTENNIAL OF THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION 808 Seventeenth Street, N.W. Washington, D.C. 20006

Each year, the week of September 17 through 23 is set aside as CONSTITUTION WEEK. In years past, little notice has been given to this commemoration of the drafting, signing, ratification and perfecting of our Constitution-our form of government. A major goal of the Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution is to instill in all Americans the desire to seek more knowledge about this remarkable document, which stands today as the oldest written instrument of national government in the world. As we observe Constitution Week. 1990, the Commission urges special focus on the Bicentennial of the Judicial Branch of government--created 201 years ago this week when President Washington signed the Judiciary Act of 1789--but actually formed in 1790. The attached article by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger [1969-1986]. Chairman of the Commission is submitted for your use in calling your leaders' attention to the creation and evolution of the Judicial Branch.]

THE BICENTENNIAL OF THE FEDERAL JUDICIAL - SYSTEM

By Chief Justice Warren E. Burger [1969-1986] Chariman, commission on the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution

When the funding fathers wrote the Constitution during the summer of 1787, creating the structure of a "national judiciary" was easy-they left it up to The First Congress. In a summer of dispute and compromise, this compromise by procrastination did nothing more than turn over to The First Congress the potentially volatile problem of establishing a federal judiciary.

Article III of the Constitution merely provided for a "supreme Court, and...such inferior Courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish," as well as establishing tenure (during good behavior) and pay (cannot be diminished while in office) for Supreme Court Justices. It also lists the types of disputes that may be taken to a federal court, including the Supreme Court, and guarantees trial by jury. Article III concludes with a description of the crime of treason, the only crime spelled out in the Constitution.

The First Congress completed action on the nation's first judicial legislation on September 21, and on September 24, 1789, President George Washington signed the Judiciary Act of 1789, creating the office of Attorney General, 13 federal districts and 13 district judgeships and a means to review their decisions. The Judiciary Act put the District Courts at the base of a pyramid. The next level was the Federal Circuit Courts and the apex was the Supreme Court. Originally three judgeships for circuit courts were provided; a circuit court was made up of two Supreme Court Justices and one District Court Judge.

To sit on the first Supreme Court, President George Washington sought men he had worked with in the past and. who shared his philosophy of a strong central government. Three of his nominees, John Rutledge of South Carolina, James Wilson of Pennsylvania, and John Blair of Virginia, served in the Constitutional Convention and had signed the document. William Cushing of Massachusetts and James Iredell of North Carolina had carried the Federalist banner in their state ratifying conventions.

For the First Chief Justice of the United States, Washington again turned to a staunch Federalist, John Jay of New York. Jay was one of the leaders in New York's ratification battle, joining with James Madison and Alexander Hamilton to author The Federalist Papers in support of ratifying the Constitution. The first session of the Supreme Court was scheduled to meet in New York City on February 1, 1790, but only Chief Justice Jay and Associate Justice James Wilson had taken the Judicial Oath. The next day, John Rutledge and John Blair took their oaths, and the court had an official quorum and convened for the first time.

For the first decade, the Supreme Court decided few cases. The Justices spent the majority of their time "riding the circuit," serving the three circuits created by the Judiciary Act of 1789. The Eastern Circuit included New Hampshire, Massachusetts (including (Maine), Connecticut, and New York. Rhode Island was added after it ratified the Constitution on May 29, 1790. The Middle Circuit consisted of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia. The Southern Circuit was made up of South Carolina and Georgia with North Carolina added when it joined the Union on November 21, 1789.

When one considers that the most common means of travel was horseback or carriage, and the condition of most of the roads during this period of time, the burden and danger of "riding the circuit" comes into prespective. The days spent on the road, traveling from court tocourt, were extremely taxing. Justice Iredell was especially vocal in his antipathy for the circuit rider system. He complained of "leading the life of a Postboy," and asked Congress for some relief. As new states were added--Vermont joined the Union on March 7, 1791, followed by Kentucky in 1792 and Tennessee in 1796--the burden of "riding the circuit" increased also.

In the beginning, the Court was not held in high esteem. John Harrison of Maryland refused President Washington's nomination to be an Associate Justice to take the position of Chancellor of Maryland. John Jay was elected Governor of New York while holding the position of Chief Justice. It was John Marshall, the fourth Chief Justice of the United States, who set the Court on the path that would eventually gain for it a co-equal status with the Legislative and Executive branches.

Although Marshall had previously declined an appointment to the Court, he did accept appointment as Chief Justice in 1800, and the year 1801 began a great epoch in the history of this Court and of this country.

South Plains Fair Entry Date Nears

More than $7,400 has been earmarked as prize money for the open barrow show at the 73rd annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here Sept. 22-29, according to Steve Lewis, general manager, who also noted that the show is limited to 600 barrows.

Exhibitors may enter as many as three barrows each and the entry deadline is Aug. 29. A non-returnable entry fee of $10 must be paid for each animal

It is a "terminal" show and Lewis said there will be no 'take home' barrows.

Hogs will be divided into lightweight, mediumwedium and heavyweight classes in each of the four divisions (Duroc, Hampshire, purebred and crossbred).

Judge Ray Dean Sites of Mountain View, Okla., will name champions and reserve champions in each division before selecting a grand champion and a reserve grand champion for the show.

The show's grand champion will take home $1,250 and a trophy while the reserve grand champion will earn $1,000 and a trophy. Division champions and reserve champions will pocket $150 and $100 respectively, both will also receive a banner.

Joining Sites as show officials are David Kight, superintendent, Gary Patterson, assistant and Seth Ralston, assistant.

Last year's grand champion barrow was exhibited by Brady Graf of Vernon. Clark Straka of Newcastle, Okla., won the reserve grand champion title.

A powerhouse lineup of country stars will perform at Fair Park Colesium during the fair's eight-day run, according to Lewis, who has confirmed shows by Rodney Crowell (Sept. 22), Clint Black (Sept. 22) and The Charlie Daniels Band (Sept. 29). All performers are to give shows at 7 and 9 p.m.

Reserved-seat tickets, priced at $10, can be ordered by sending a stamped, self-addresses envelope to Show Tickets P.O. Box 208, Lubbock, Tx

If you know someone who is 65 or older, or blind or disabled, someone who needs more income to meet his or her basic living expenses, here's some good news. Supplemental Security Income (SSI) may help. SSI makes regular monthly cash payments to people with little or no income and only a few resources. You can own a house, a car, and even receive a small pension check and still be eligible for SSI. And if you receive SSI payments you may receive food stamps and Medicaid too. It all adds up to make life better. But many people who are eligible for SSI haven't applied. That's why it's important for you to tell a friend or relative who may be eligible for SSI, to visit their local Social Security office.

If you're nearing 65, don't forget to call or stop by your local Social Security office. Even if you don't plan to retire just yet, you'll need to sign up for Medicare. Medicare helps you pay for the cost of hospital and doctor bills even if you continue to work. For more information about Medicare, or to sign up for this important protection, contact your local Social Security office. Someone there will be glad to help.
