Congress To Act Next Year On Proposals

WASHINGTON BY GEORGE BURNO

Drought—A wave of protest against further regimentation under AAA has followed in the wake of the drought.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, in the course of his swing through the afflicted areas, discovered that, as usual in time of great adversity, those suffering are prone to blame their plight on Washington.

Those following the situation closely anticipate that in the future crop control will be attempted only when the preceding year closed with a surplus—the control to be limited strictly to offsetting that particular surplus.

All chance of congressional enactment of the proposed strengthening amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act is gone. Leaders have shelved it definitely.

Senator Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia received literally thousands of congratulatory letters and telegrams following his denunciation of the amendments as characteristic in nature and leading straight toward dictatorship.

Failure of this strengthening legislation in itself will force Wallace, Tugwell, and Davis to revise present formulas. Pressed hard enough they would admit defeat as to the constitutionality of certain action already taken.

The millions that have been and will be poured into relief disrupt President Roosevelt's budget calculations on the one hand.

On the other the government is faced with the certainty that many millions of dollars of farm paper held by the Intermediate Credit Banks will have to be carried indefinitely—perhaps entirely written off eventually.

The Farm Credit Administration is checking carefully to ascertain how much private banks are carrying in the way of land, crop and cattle mortgages. Comparatively it is not expected to be much because most of these banks took their losses on such paper a couple of years ago.

It will be interesting to note whether or not R. F. C. investments in bank stocks take a sudden and appreciable jump. At the moment the R.F.C. holds an $11,000 million dollar investment in 7,100 banks.

Based on conditions before vast areas began to burn up, Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins had estimated privately he would have to take care of from $,000,000 to 11,000,000 industrial unemployed this coming winter.

The most serious maladjustment in the economic structure is contended to be the fact that between 1920 and 1930 employment in the basic industries—agriculture, fishing, forestry, mining and manufacturing—increased only 4 per cent, whereas that in the service industries—transportation, trade, clerical and public, professional, domestic and personal services—jumped 37 per cent.

Odessa Man Fatally Hurt In Fist Fight

ODESSA—Paul Critton, Penwell driller employed by Red Davidson, was released Thursday after making bond of $1,000 following an examining trial before Peace Justice A. W. Moore at Odessa on charges of assault with malice in connection with the death of Jos Williams Wednesday afternoon.

Williams died at 8 o'clock of injuries received when he struck his head against a concrete wall in downtown Odessa after an asserted blow from Critton terminated an altercation the two had the day before.

Three witnesses, M. R. Smith and Tom Roy, laborers, and John Fowler, attorney for Critton, told substantially the same story, given below in substance: Critton came out of the Wilson grocery store with his arms loaded with sacks. He was accosted by Williams another driller, who began abusing him, swinging at him with his fists and kicking at him.

Critton asked to be left alone, asserting he didn't want trouble. He tried to avoid Williams by walking away, but Williams struck him in the back of the head with his fist. Critton started to walk away again and as he straightened his hat which had been almost dislodged by bumping into an awning, Williams renewed the attack.

Critton stood there beside Williams a moment, then picked up his groceries and walked across the street to his automobile and drove away.

Three bystanders picked Williams up and carried him to a doctor's office for treatment. Later he was taken to his room at the Shaw hotel, where he died the next afternoon of a skull fracture.

Clubmen Jump Into 3rd Slot

Jungle Kings Tab 4-2 Win And 18-3 Victory In Night Cap

Lions Thursday swept both ends of a bargain bill with Settles Hotel and soared into third place in softball League No. 1 standings.

The Jungle Kings took the first encounter 4-2 and then scored out a 18-3 victory in the night cap.

Williamson, new addition to the Lions and who did yeoman service in the outfield, and Day got aboard and scored on a triple in the first but the lead was short lived for Settles came back to knot the score when Galbraith and Connor scored.

Hall scored for the Lions in fourth and Day tallied again in the sixth.

Settles drew a few sour decisions in the first encounter but the Lions were out to Fowler's slow ball. He struck out seven Lion batters with his fast one but his lazy toss met with disaster.

He used it extensively in the last game and the Lions found it much to their liking. The Settles infield also went berserk and easy outs were juggled.

Fowler Fought For Hits
Lions jumped on to Fowler, et al for 8 runs in the first, 4 in the second, 1 in the third, and 7 in the sixth. Settles did not score until the fifth when Cantrell, running for Burke, tore all the way around the horn on a scratch single. A good peg to third had him out but the ball was fumbled, and the throw at home was good but the catcher muffed it. Goldsby romped in after him. In the next inning, Connor tallied.

Clarence Day, ace of the Lion twirling staff, kept the Settles hits well scattered in both games. He was given fine support to turn the iron man stunt. He also led in number of runs made, tallying 5 in both games.

The double header was occasioned by the throwing out of the first game played in the league.

Large Crowd Hears Morris In Sermon

Stamford Pastor Speaks Thursday Night At Fundamental Church

A large crowd heard Rev. Sam Morris, pastor of the Stamford Baptist church, at the Fundamental Baptist church in this city Thursday night. He spoke on Exodus 15: 22-25 and declared that often bitter experiences come from the Lord to us as a test to prove us and in such cases faith and fidelity will turn the bitter into sweet.

Rev. Morris expressed undivided support and confidence in Rev. George Burnside and the Fundamental Baptist church. He declared that when he comes to Big Spring he would preach at this church.

She will then visit her grand parents here.

Walter Woodward Talks To Thousands Of East Texans

Many thousands of East Texans have talked to Walter Woodward or have heard him speak this week. He made his headquarters at Tyler for the week, visiting each oil field community and talking to as many workers as possible.

Information is coming to the senator from Coleman, who is a candidate for attorney-general, to the effect that misinformation is being broadcast against him. The latest bit of propaganda sent out by his opponents concerns a bill clarifying the legal notice publication statutes.

The editor of a small newspaper in Dallas signed a letter apparently sent to every other editor in the state saying that Senator Woodward had passed a bill requiring all probate notices to be posted rather than published.

"As a matter of fact," Senator Woodward said, "the bill to which he refers was merely one to take out of the statutes a confusing provision which required both posting and publishing in certain probate cases. The act merely clarified, with the approval of both bench and bar in Texas, the procedure in probate cases; yet for a constructive piece of legislation the editor sees fit to misrepresent the effect of the bill, its purpose and intent."

Senator Woodward charged that out of state chain stores, hot oil operators and others who expect special favors from state officials are fighting him and supporting his opponents.

"If I am elected attorney-general of Texas," he said, "my whole energy will be used in enforcing the law. I will be free from these obnoxious influences and I know what to do about them. I intend to represent all of my people from the humblest to the highest, and do it fairly."

Personally Speaking

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Hart have as guests Mrs. Hart's brother, W. T. Haley, and Mrs. Haley of Baird. They are accompanied by their daughter, Miss Carmen Haley.

Announcement has been made here of the transfer of Monte Owen, well known insurance man, from the Abilene to the Fort Worth district. Mr. Owen has been a frequent visitor in Big Spring.

Wilford Penny, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Penny, has returned from Daniel Baker college in Brownwood where he has completed his freshman year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Coldiron and sons, John and Clarence, have just returned from a trip to Breckenridge, Eastland and Coleman where they visited relatives and went fishing.

JUST AN OLD NAVY CUSTOM

This may be one reason why graduates at the Naval Academy at Annapolis throw their caps in the air and shout when graduation exercises are ended. Custom dictates that sweethearts of the graduates give them a kiss immediately after the ceremonies. So Helen Fisher of Annapolis and W. F. Cassidy of Fort Worth, Tex., are shown obeying custom's decree. (Associated Press Photo)

10-pound ham, 3-quarts cold water.
Scrub ham, place in kettle, add water. Cover, simmer for 1 1/2 hours. Let ham cool in stock, remove and cut off rind. Fit ham, fat side up, in roaster. Add syrup mixture.

Syrup Mixture
2 cups dark brown sugar, 25 whole cloves, 1/2 cup vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon powdered cloves, 1 cup pineapple juice, 1 cup water.

Score the fat side of the ham with back of knife to shape into one inch diamonds. Stick cloves in centers of diamonds. This gives an ornamental top. Press half the sugar over top of ham, add half the pineapple juice and water. Cover. Bake slowly one hour. Baste frequently. Add rest of ingredients and bake 1 1/2 hours or until ham is very tender.

Browned Pineapple Rings
6 slices canned pineapple, 3 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup pineapple juice, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/8 teaspoon salt. Heat butter in frying pan, add and brown pineapple. Add rest of ingredients. Simmer for 25 minutes or until pineapple is very tender and well glazed. Turn frequently to allow even cooking.

Spring Cakes
1/3 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/4 teaspoon almond extract, 1/4 teaspoon lemon extract, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 2 cups pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 3 eggs whites, beaten.
Cream butter and sugar. Add milk, extracts, salt, flour, baking powder. Beat 2 minutes. Fold in whites. Half fill greased muffin pans and bake 15 minutes in moderate oven. Cool.

Berry Mixture
3 cups berries, 1/2 cup sugar.
Wash and hull berries. Add sugar, mixing with fork. Serve. Chill berries before adding sugar.

"Delay" is Dangerous When CONSTIPATED
End stuffy, clogged-up feeling, splitting headache, and other constipation ills with this more complete, more thorough action. Chew delicious Feen-a-mint, the chewing gum laxative. Feen-a-mint acts more thoroughly, because chewing distributes the laxative ingredient uniformly throughout the intestines to give a "full" more natural action. Feen-a-mint never shocks the system nor abuses the bowels. It is gentle safe. Promptly and thoroughly it causes the bowels to empty their waste and poisons. It helps rid you of logginess and helps make you feel more energetic and fresh. Delicious Feen-a-mint contains a laxative ingredient regularly prescribed by physicians. "Delay" is dangerous—chew Feen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 25c at druggists everywhere.

PAPER'S QUALITY BOTHERS BLIND
WASHINGTON, (UP)—A poor quality of paper can be just as troublesome to blind readers as it sometimes is to visual readers, the Bureau of Standards reports. As a result, the bureau has determined on uniformly high quality Braille process books for the blind. The sensitive fingers of blind readers, the bureau reported, are as irritated by poor quality of the raised dots forming the symbols read by the finger tips, as the eyes of visual readers are fatigued by glare from excessive paper gloss. The bureau found some of the papers too hard and the raised dots had harsh cracked surfaces. Other papers were too soft and the indentations collapsed under the reader's fingers.

WAR COST U. S. $40,000,000,000
WASHINGTON, (UP)—It has cost the United States $40,553,000,000 to date to win the World War not including nearly $12,000,000,000 advanced in war loans, according to figures compiled by the United States treasury. The cost is believed to be increasing at least a billion dollars additional yearly with veterans' benefits, non-payment of interest by war debtors and the heavy interest loan on the United States government on money borrowed in waging the war.

TOOK PILLS FOR 30 YEARS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF
Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter:
"After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe, Box 219, Youngstown, N. Y.

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.
The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.
Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using patent medicines—so often habit-forming?
Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Wash 3 or 4 boxes of blackberries until no seed or grit is left in bottom of pan. Transfer to spreading kettle and place over a slow flame. Add just enough water to keep the berries from scorching. Then mash with a potato masher and slowly heat to boiling. Remove from fire and press through a coarse sieve to remove seeds. Measure, and allow 3 parts of Imperial Pure Cane sugar to 4 parts of juice and pulp. Return this to fire and cook rapidly, stirring frequently until mixture takes off side of spoon instead of coming off in drops. MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

Chapter 25
OUTBURST

Harper's reply was as bland as any Oriental's evasion. "We're not quite ready for that, Mr. Dufresne. The dead man has not yet been identified, for one thing. There are some points to be cleared up—"

The detective left it thus vaguely, pointing to be cleared up—Lafferty, lurking in the background, grinned to himself at the phrase.

Dufresne rose, frowning, and crossed to the hearth. He dropped his cigarette, turned the stove. "It seems to pretty clear case to me," he grumbled, then added, with a sudden ferocity that was startling. "First fellow, whoever he is, investigations turned on and off like a water spout, no matter how much inconvenience may be involved."

"Now, now, Harper, don't nourish any antagonistic feelings. I mean no personal disparagement, but what more is there to investigate?"

"There are quite a few unanswered questions," the detective reported.

Dufresne smiled in a superior way. "Yes, and so far as I can see they are likely to remain unanswered. The man is dead, his name is ended. I am completely satisfied. All I ask now is that peace and quiet be restored to my home so that Mrs. Dufresne may recover

Named Admiral

Andrews fellow listening at a keyhole or have a good run-in with Donaghy. What's next on the cards?

Harper consulted his list of memoranda. "Call up Headquarters and tell them to send up a plainclothesman. We'll send him off on a round of the theatrical out-fitters and costumers to see if he can find where that disguise was bought."

"Then get hold of the reporters and announce that we want the cooperation of all garages in finding the car which our man must have used. If they run that in connection with the dead man's picture it might lead to something. Now I'm going upstairs to have a little visit with Mrs. Dufresne."

The detective went up to the second floor and knocked quietly on the bedroom door. There was an answering rustle from within, then the door opened a few inches and a woman in a starched white dress and nurse's cap looked out. Her plain, severe features, innocent of all cosmetics, expressed annoyance.

"I'm Sergeant Harper," the detective announced. "I came up to see how Mrs. Dufresne is progressing."

"She is asleep just now," the nurse answered in low, precise tones.

"You are the nurse Dr. Ulrich sent for last night?"

"Yes. My name is Burkett."

Harper smiled and bowed slightly. "I suppose Mrs. Dufresne is not allowed out of bed?"

"No, indeed."

Harper noticed Miss Burkett's weary eyes and tired look. "I guess you could do with some sleep yourself," he said, kindly. "You've been on the job nearly twelve hours, haven't you?"

"The relief nurse will be here at noon," Miss Burkett answered shortly and turned back into the room, closing the door quietly but firmly.

They certainly have a cordial and unanimous dislike for us in this house, mused Harper, eyeing the closed door. I suppose the great Ulrich has been telling her what to

Chevrolet Offers Price Reductions

DETROIT—Substantial price reductions, effective June 2, on all Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks were announced by W. E. Holler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company. Chevrolet now offers its lowest priced six at $485. The sweeping reduction is as much as $50 on some models. The effective price reductions on all models were made at this time in an effort to maintain, during the rest of the year, the employment figures so necessary to the general program of national recovery.

Reduction on the knee-action master models was as high as $35 on the popular types. The sedan was reduced to $550, coach to $595, the coupe to $560, and the town sedan to $615. Prices on the newly announced Standard models placed the roadster at $465, the coupe at $485, and the coach and phaeton at $495. Reductions on truck models were equally impressive, running as high as $50.

got just what he deserved. Why should any fuss be made over it? If his body were thrown into the bay and left to float out to sea with the rest of the harbor scum, it would be burial enough."

Harper listened to this bitter outpouring with lifted brows. "Perhaps," he said quietly. "We are not concerned with him alone. One of our own men lost his life through this business. That certainly gives us a direct and personal stake."

"I've sent for Director Connors," Dufresne announced, abruptly. "He promised to come up here some time this morning and I shall certainly place my views before him. It's too much. After all, the thing is done, the evidence is very plain."

"Mr. Dufresne, this is a murder case and I warn you that it is not possible to have the necessary in-from her shock and injury. I am sorry about the policeman, Hanfill. If he leaves a family in need, I'll be glad to do what I can for them."

Harper stood up straight. "We have no latitude in such matters, Mr. Dufresne. The investigation must be carried out in the prescribed manner. Director Connors could order my removal from the case but the work would go on under other hands. I can assure you of that."

Dufresne looked at him, much annoyed, then nodded curtly and stalked out of the room.

"Nasty little bantam when the game doesn't go entirely his way," Lafferty commented. "But we can change his tune quick enough. Next thing he'll be trying to buy us off."

"Bribery is not in his line but he'll bring pressure to bear and he won't let any grass grow under his feet. He doesn't know how much we've turned up, so he'll use his influence with Connors to force our hands. We'll have to go to bat with our discoveries but I'll hold back as much as I can."

"I'm curious to hear how he's going to wiggle out of that denial about the revolver."

"I was surprised," Harper admitted. "His best move would have been to acknowledge ownership of the gun and then act surprised when it is found to be missing."

Lafferty yawned. "I'd like a little more action. This house is as quiet as a museum. I'd like to catch that Local members of the FTDA, which has as its slogan, "Flowers by Wire" will obtain lists of shut-ins and direct the work of the messengers. All members of the floral industry are cooperating in supplying the flowers.

TODAY and TOMORROW
By WALTER LIPPMANN

II. Labor Policy

Yesterday, in discussing the labor problem, it was suggested here that experience shows that unrest tends to become acute at the end of a depression and in the beginning of recovery. I then argued first, that the unrest signifies the attempt of labor to participate in the recovery; second, that the amount of unrest will depend on whether employers are willing, and are able to demonstrate that they are willing, to have labor participate in recovery promptly and substantially; third, that the settlement of labor troubles does not involve great principles, because there are as yet no great principles in this field, but that it calls for what is essentially diplomacy, that is, the attempt to make workable adjustments by compromise.

We can proceed, I think, to a fourth point, which is that recovery itself is the immediately effective remedy for labor disputes of the kind now prevailing. It is true, of course, that unrest itself hampers and retards recovery. But that means simply that while pursuing a policy of diplomatic compromise, it is necessary to step up the positive forces which produce an expansion of production, employment, profits, and wages. The matter can be put in another way by saying that labor cannot obtain satisfaction, through strikes, resistance to strikes, or conciliation alone. The essential thing is better business carrying with it more work at higher wages. On a low level of economic activity, above all the reach the standard of life it has learned to expect and unrest is cumulative and inconclusive.

Thus it is in the recovery program itself—particularly the part of it which stimulates activity—that the real remedy is to be found. The monetary reflation, which is well under way, the public expenditure, which provides the revival of private investment, the opening of foreign markets through a rise in world prices and the reduction of trade barriers—these are the activities which have to be depended upon chiefly to overcome labor troubles. In so far as their effects are delayed or are inadequate, there will be unrest for which there is no solution except to ally it as much as possible by reasonable compromise.

All of this, however, leaves out one thing which is of the highest importance. It does not take account of labor's deepest grievances, which is that the modern wage-earner is insecure. Underneath all the arguments about unionism, about collective bargaining, about Section 7-A, and the rest, there is the profound realization of wage-earners that they are the most exposed, the most vulnerable, the most insecure group in the nation. Who can deny it? Who can fail to recognize that for their sakes, as a matter of social justice and social decency, for the sake of the nation as a whole, the modern state must assume the obligation to overcome this insecurity?

For that reason this is the proper time to take a national commitment to establish protection against the hazards of unemployment, of sickness, old age, of technological displacement, of sweating and exploitation. No doubt it is true that at the moment not able to meet the cost of such protection. But to permit that is merely to say that the operation of a system of protection should be delayed until recovery is greater. However, since it will take a long time to work out such a system, it is not one minute too early to begin laying out the plans for it.

Apparently this is what the president has in mind. If it is, it is one of his wisest and most far-sighted decisions of policy. Nothing could be more desirable than to initiate the movements now, to let the people pass on it in the autumn elections, and to begin setting up the machinery during the winter of 1935. It is not a matter of diverting attention from more or less insoluble disputes at the factory gates. It is a matter of diverting energies to things that can be accomplished to make the position of labor more secure instead of letting all our energies be distracted and frittered away in bitter and inconclusive quarrels.

If the country has to face, as it probably does, a summer of strikes and a fall of strikes, what better policy is there than to say for the immediate disunity, diplomacy and

LAKE SWEETWATER PARK TO OPEN FORMALLY JUNE 14-16

After months of preparation, Sweetwater's efforts rapidly are reaching a climax for dedication and formal opening of Lake Sweetwater Park, June 14-16—all West Texas being invited to take part in a festive program.

Formal dedication of the park is planned at 11 a. m. Thursday, following a gigantic historical parade, in which 150 automobiles are expected to be entered, depicting growth of Sweetwater by years.

Participating in dedication ceremonies are to be members of the Texas Relief Commission, as well as park experts and engineers from its staff. State officials and others seeking high offices have been extended invitations to be present. A large majority of those invited have indicated they will be here, including the entire railroad commission.

Outstanding among the organizing delegations planning to come here for the event is a Fort Worth motorcycle, sponsored by civic clubs.

Approximately 50 lodges and cottages grace the waterfront around the 35 mile shoreline of the lake and owners of each place have extended special invitations to outside friends to be their guests during the lake fete. "Open house" is to be observed at each of the cottages during the evenings, entertainment being planned to honor the visitors.

West Texans are to get a thrill seldom enjoyed in this section when motor boat races are staged in front of the huge dam. A half dozen speedy craft are to vie for prizes. A colorful ceremony is planned during the water festival, all motor boats accompanying the big Sea Scout sail boat to a point opposite the club house for its christening. Miss Evangelina Sheridan recently was chosen as sponsor for the sail boat which carries 327 square feet of sail.

West Texas cities are sending sponsors for the bathing girl review, at which "Miss W. T. Texas" is to be chosen. Sweetwater is to be represented by Miss Johnny Watson.

The new nine-hole grass greens golf course is to be open to visitors, while those who care for the national pastime can find a baseball game in progress nearly every minute of the day.

One of the big entertainment features is to be the barbecue on Friday, to be given in the shaded park area. A fireworks display Thursday night is expected to attract many. Band concerts and other such attractions are scheduled throughout the entire two-day program.

DOUKHOBOR MAY LOSE VOTE
OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—All members of the Doukhobor sect in Canada will be deprived of the franchise under a new Election Act drafted by the Federal government. The Doukhobors have given authorities in Western Canada considerable trouble by their persistence in staging nude parades and their refusal to pay taxes and obey laws. Many of them were exiled to an island in the Pacific Ocean after a series of clashes with police.

OLDEST STREET IN U.S. IS IN PLYMOUTH, MASS.

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UP)—Perhaps the oldest street in America is Leyden Street in this ancient town where the Pilgrims landed. Laid out in 1621, it runs from Town Square to the reservation that surrounds Plymouth Rock. It was first called merely "The Street," for there was no other with which to confuse it. Later it was named First Street, then Great Street, then Broad Street. Since 1823 it has been known as Leyden street.

During their first year in the new land, 50 Pilgrims from the Mayflower lived in seven crude houses along the street.

NERVE-WORN FRENCH KING WROTE IMPRESSIVE PROSE

PARIS, (AP)—Evidence that Louis XIII suffered from a grave form of neurasthenia is contained in letters from him to Cardinal Richelieu, recently discovered in the dusty archives of the French foreign office.

The correspondence was produced at a meeting of the French Academy of Moral and Political Sciences. It made melancholy reading, but the academicians were deeply impressed by the purity of the king's prose.
