Heavy Rains Fall Over Area to Greatly Boost Crop Prospects

Breaking the drought of many weeks and boosting crop prospects tremendously, precipitation ranging from showers to heavy rain fell over the South Plains late Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

Rain, which began falling here about midnight, and continuing until about 8:30 A.M. Wednesday brought a total moisture to Littlefield of 1.12 inches.

The largest amount of moisture was reported at Whiteface where 3.50 inches fell.

The rain came in the "nick of time" for many dry land farmers, giving cotton a chance to bloom before Sept. 1, and to produce an open boll of cotton before the first frost.

The rainfall reported in this area is: Anton 2.23 inches; Morton 1 inch; Plainview .78; Hale Center 2.50; Sudan 1.25; Amherst 1 inch and Levelland 1.75.

In the Olton-Sprinklake area .75 inch fell during Tuesday night. Louis Hair, cashier of the Olton State Bank, reported. He estimated most of the cotton in Lamb County would make about a bale per acre. Feed has been planted in the areas where cotton was destroyed by hail earlier in the year and this crop is coming along fine.

The low and high temperatures for the past week were: 103 degrees Friday as the high and 66 (Continued on Page Five)

CITY WATER RATES ARE RAISED; FIRST INCREASE SINCE 1935

A slight increase in water rates as reported by the City as follows:

Irrigation Rates
First 15,000 gallons per month, $4.50 minimum; all excess over 15,000, .20 per 1,000.

This is an increase of $1.00 on the minimum bill, as heretofore the cost has been $3.50 for 15,000 gallons. Excess over 15,000 gallons remains at .20 per 1,000, the same as heretofore.

Regular Rates
First 3,000 gallons, $2.80 minimum; next 2,000 gallons, .30 per 1,000; next 5,000 gallons, .25 per 1,000; all excess over 10,000 gallons, .20 per 1,000.

Regular rates that have been in effect in the past are as follows:
First 1,000 gallons, $2.25 minimum; next 1,000 gallons, .50; Next 1,000 gallons, .30; all excess over 3,000 gallons, .20.

From this it will be noted that there is an increase of only 55c in the minimum bill, an increase of 2,000 gallons in the water allowable for this minimum price.

The present water rates have been in effect since about 1935 and although the cost of operating the City, as well as all other lines (Continued on Page Five)

Fire Department Is Called To City Bakery

The Fire Department was called to the City Bakery shortly after midnight Monday, when smoke was gushing out of the building only to find that the Frylator (grill) for cooking doughnuts got too hot and was smoking badly, on account of the thermostat not cutting off.

A passerby called the Fireboys to the scene, and they in turn notified Jack Weaver, one of the owners of the City Bakery. Only slight damage by smoke was reported.

Certain experimental work is being done in the City park in connection with an effort to drain the park of standing water following rains.

At the present time a well is being drilled, which is now down 96 feet, and after cleaning it out, experimental work will be done to see just what success it will be.

OPS METING WILL BE HELD HERE MONDAY NIGHT, AUGUST 27

All business men in Bailey, Lamb Cochran and Hockley counties whose firms are covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 34—consumer services—are invited to hear a discussion of the regulation at a meeting in Hay's Coffee Shop in Littlefield at 8 o'clock Monday night, August 27, 1951.

L. R. Shaddix, an OPS representative in the services field, will conduct the four-county meeting.

It will be of particular interest to operators of laundries, dry cleaning establishments, service stations and garages, building contractors, electricians, plumbers, appliance repair shops, interior decorators, shoe repair shops, watch and clock repair shops and all other type repair businesses.

"The purpose of the meeting," according to William A. Robertson, Chief of the Consumer Durables Branch of the district Office of Price Stabilization, "is to help merchants price under the regulation since they have met the filing requirements, and to help those who have not filed to do so immediately."

Many of the questions which regulation by individual businessmen will be discussed in full by L. R. Shaddix.

Specific subjects to be covered will be discussions on the general pricing provisions of the regulation, pricing for new services and new sellers of the services; and services which cannot be priced under other sections. Other topics will include "special pricing provisions for long term contracts and cost plus contracts;" "transfer of business or moving of business;" "taxes;" "additional charges;" "the handling of records, sales slips, receipts, filing of statements with the OPS;" "posting requirements;" and adjustable pricing."

Questions from the floor will be welcomed and answers will be provided.

The services regulation required a filing of ceiling prices with the district OPS office and posting of prices for the public to see by the middle of June. Those firms which have not complied with this requirement, are urged to do so immediately to avoid further violation of the provision of the Ceiling Price Regulation, Robertson said. Assistance will be given those asking for it in preparation of statements.

Farmers and Businessmen Gather For Sumptuous Meal At Pep; Telephone Service Is Talked

By GEORGE HOFFMAN

The regular monthly farm dinner sponsored by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce was held at the Pep school in Pep Tuesday night.

At 8 o'clock dinner was served by 25 very attractive and pleasant farmers' wives.

The menu consisted of fried chicken and so many dishes and of such abundance, prepared and served by the best cooks around Pep, that we cannot possibly do justice to it by words.

Dinner was over at 8:30 o'clock and Judge E. A. Bills called the meeting to order. All stood and sang "America", after which prayer was offered by Father Kaminsky.

At this time Judge Bills asked each one from Littlefield to stand, give his name and business connection.

McQuatters Party Drive 8000 Miles On Trip To Alaska

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McQuatters of Spade, Miss Anna Neale, member of Spade Faculty, and Miss Fannie Pillow, member of Plainview school Faculty returned Wednesday of last week from a six weeks' vacation trip to Alaska.

They traveled over the Alcan (Alaska) highway which has recently been built. At Dawson Creek, B. C., they visited Mrs. Jean Bonter, who is a sister of Mrs. Morley B. Drake, and owns and operates a dry goods and ready to wear store there. Mrs. McQuatters stated she had a nice visit with Mrs. Bonter. This area has boomed on account of this new Alaska highway.

They visited Fairbanks and Anchorage, Alaska, and boarded a boat at Skagway, Alaska, and went to Vancouver, B.C., visited Victoria, Canada, Vancouver Island, and spent some time with a sister of Mrs. McQuatters in Portland, Ore., and visited Lake Louise in National Park.

Other places they visited included Jasper National Park in the Canadian Rockies, Edmonton, attended the Stampede at Calgary, Alberta.

In all, according to Mrs. McQuatters, they drove 8000 miles in the McQuatters Lincoln Cosmopolitan and only had tire trouble twice. On one occasion they had a flat, and on the other occasion they ruined a tire, cutting it on a rock.

While at Fairbanks, according to Mrs. McQuatters, there are so many soldiers stationed there with their families, that they had to stay in the University of Alaska Dormitory. In that city a few people have wells, but most people have to buy bottled drinking water because the ground is frozen from about three feet down. Here it never gets dark in the summer time, is as light at 3 o'clock in the morning as it is at noon. For about an hour and a half, according to the McQuatters party, it is sort of twilight, but never dark. The stores open at 9 o'clock and close at 5 o'clock.

Mrs. McQuatters reported many rivers in that area, stating the water was so clear one could see Mr. Salmon, weighing from 25 to 40 lbs. in the river.

They visited Matanuska Valley, a Government settlement north of Anchorage where many Norwegian and Swedish people live, and where they grow the best of vegetables. Another place of interest which they visited was Circle Hot Springs on the Yukon River, 165 miles northeast of Fairbanks. The Springs are 135 degrees hot, and this is a resort. They use hot water heating in the houses and heat the ground the same way for the growing of wonderful vegetables.

They also spent some time with a cousin of Miss Neale at Anchorage, and enjoyed moose steak and fresh blueberry pie.

All in all they report a most enjoyable trip.

Teen Talk

AP Newsfeatures

Lots of students get false notions when they see that piggy bank swell from summer job savings. Before you decide that the working world is easily conquered, and that you've no further need for education, give some thought to the experiences of others who have met the issue. Any high school graduate should regret not having given college a whirl, if she can afford it. And a girl who leaves high school to retain a summer job is making a serious mistake.

Here's some advice from Mary Linn Beller, 18, who recently signed for one of the leads in CBS-TV's comedy, "The First Hundred Years." Mary was faced with the problem of job versus career many times. Says Mary:

"Listen, kids, maybe I'm a fine one to talk. Maybe the example I set in leaving college to take a regular job in television makes me a poor witness. But please listen to what I've learned about the problem of education versus career. Believe me, I know."

"First, I know the glamor of the stage, the radio or TV studio, the models and modeling."

"I am one who succumbed to the lure."

"Sure, it's easy to get jobs in the summertime. Jobs that you've been dying to get. Jobs that you never dreamed you could get. If you fancy yourself an actress there are any number of summer theaters in the East, at any rate, that are open to you, if we've got talent. If modeling is your desire, it isn't too hard to walk into a big Park Avenue agency and come out with a job. If you want to be a secretary to a big shot that too is available. When the weather is warm, and vacation time is at hand, there are any number of swell jobs for attractive, ambitious girls and boys in many different fields. And such wonderfully dreamy jobs."

"But, jeeppers, that's just the trouble. It's too easy in summer and too hard in winter. Take it from one who knows."

"For the past three or four summers, I have been playing in several of the best summer theaters in and around New England. It's plenty exciting playing on the same stage with such big Hollywood glams as Franchot Tone, Burgess Meredith, Eve Arden and loads of others. I fancied myself a well-qualified actress and figured I could zoom my way to success on Broadway in TV and radio if only I didn't have to go back to school. BUT Mother and Dad just couldn't see it that way. School came first."

"I grudgingly went back to school each fall dreaming of the wonderful parts I played during the summer."

"Discussing the problems with some of my gang who had rushed into modeling during the summer, I soon found that the same facts were true. They were busy during July and August and made more money than they had ever had before. When the fall rolled around—no jobs—no money. In the summer professional models took their vacations. When September rolled around they were back at work getting the only jobs that were available."

"The girls and boys who got jobs as secretaries were also reading

Lt. John L. Webb Visits Relatives Here And At Graham

Lt. John L. Webb, pilot in the Army Air Force, and stationed at Rhine, Maine, Germany, will leave Saturday to return to his duties after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Webb at Graham, Texas, and his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Matthews, and another sister, Miss Peggy Webb here. He was accompanied here from Graham by his mother and brother, Mrs. Edd Webb and Joe Edd and Miss Aileen Albright.

Lt. Webb had been in the service since 1948 and in Germany a year. He left Germany August 2 and arrived home August 6.

While here the group all went to Ruidoso, N.M. and spent two days there.

He wanted in the fall.

"I'm glad Mother and Daddy were so proud about me and my career. After my first brush with the straw hat circuit, I actually thought I was something on the stage that would make Katherine Cornell jealous. I was positive I could reach stardom without further education. School could just go hang, I was an actress, wasn't I?"

"I never knew how wrong I was until I discussed the problem with friends who had given up school to make the rounds of producers' offices. They just couldn't seem to find work anywhere; nor could my modeling friends; nor my secretary friends."

"Those of us who went back to high school dutifully have done all right. Of course, some have left the professions and settled down to good, steady jobs; thankful they don't have to rely on their parents for support. However, the odds aren't good. In my case, I studied hard each winter, and got marks that enabled me to accept a scholarship to Bennington."

"Each day I realize how much my schooling has meant to me. It has given me the proper understanding of life and the roles I have been called upon to interpret. I found it helped my acting enormously. I understood what I was doing, not merely repeating words like a parrot. I knew what the words meant. I was able to think like an actor and not like a stage-struck goop."

"Although I left Bennington after only two terms, to join 'The First Hundred Years.' I knew that to continue to improve as an actress I must continue my education. That's why I study nights at one of New York's best evening colleges."

McDougal Gets Yank Raves

KRONISH
Sports Writer
Completely unheralded, McDougal has won himself a place in the lineup of the Yankees.

as Joe DiMaggio, Tony Lazzeri and Frankie Crosetti cut their eye teeth.

San Francisco is also the place where McDougal picked up his unorthodox batting stance.

He stands far from the plate, with his feet wide apart. His left foot points toward left field. His right leg is pulled way back—almost out of the batter's box. And he holds the fat end of the bat with his right hand until the pitcher is ready to release the ball. Then he slides his hand down to the knob end of the bat to meet his left and pulls the bat back quickly.

The six-foot, 175-pound youngster feels natural swinging that way.

While playing semi-pro ball in San Francisco after being graduated from high school, Gil was signed to a contract by Yankee scout Joe Devine.

McDougal since has batted well over .300 in every league in which he played.

Never Under .300

His first year in organized ball, 1948, he batted .340 for Twins Falls in the Class C Pioneer League. In 1949 he hit .344 for Victoria in the Class B Western International League. Last year he swatted .336 for Beaumont and led the Class AA Texas League in base hits.

Asked if playing intermittently at second and third base hindered his play at either post, Gil smiles and says:

"As long as I play every day—that's what counts. Playing every day helps my batting and gives me more confidence."

His greatest thrill? Playing in Allie Reynolds' no-hit game against the Cleveland Indians.

"That was the first no-hitter I played on the winning side," says the quiet, slim youngster.

Likeable Gil is a serious family man, despite his youth. He is married to a San Francisco girl and is the father of three children. Christine is 2½, Gil, Jr., is 20 months and baby Todd is 8 months.

Roger Hornsby's old .336 and Valuable Player award was a year away. Well, he would play in Yankee farm in association.

BROOKLYN — (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers hope they have a future hurling star in pitcher Danny Hayling now doing his mound chores for Hazard in the Class D Mountain States League.

Hayling, a righthander from Costa Rica, won 18 games in a row to start the season. After dropping one, he triumphed in his next three starts. At the end of July he had a neat 21-1 record.

Hunch Player's Paradise
Gulfstream Park race track has proven itself a hunch player's paradise. Several years ago Santa Claus came from behind to win the Santa Claus Handicap on Christmas Day. On another racing date Black Pepper triumphed in the Senator Claude Pepper Handicap. And once Irish Sun won the St. Patrick's Day race.

Press Photographers 'Shoot' Parade and Join It, Too

The old days when press photographers clung to telephone poles in order to "shoot" a parade are over—at least, in Detroit. When local and out-of-town lensmen gathered to take pictures of Detroit's big parade, climaxing the city's 250th Anniversary celebration, they were pleasantly surprised by two, gaily-decorated tractor-trailer units, with platforms erected for their convenience. The two units, one of which is shown above, attracted as much attention from the crowd of 1,000,000 as did the regular floats in the parade. It was the idea of the Detroit Press Photographers Association.

August 19-25 REA Week in Texas

This week August 19 through 25 has been set aside by Gov. Allan Shivers as Rural Electrification week in Texas. Joining with the 76 other rural electrification cooperatives all over Texas is Lamb County Electric Cooperative.

The Rural Electrification administration was set up as an agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It was established on May 11, 1935, by administrative order of President Roosevelt and was authorized to make loans at two per cent interest over a 25 year period. The order provides loans could be made to public utilities, membership cooperatives, or municipal power groups.

Facilities today include more than 1,100,000 miles of line serving about 3,500,000 farms and other rural consumers.

By May 1, 1951, FEA had advanced $1,784,478,022 in loans, and by April 1, of this year, $282,196,238 in principal and interest payments had been returned. This included $30,239,015 in payments on principal ahead of schedule. Less than $750,000 was reported more than 30 days overdue.

The Lamb County Electric Cooperative is one of 77 electric co-ops which have brought about 100 per cent electrification of Texas.

Water Election To Be Held In Late September

The fate of the 21-county underground water conservation district will be decided by Panhandle-Plains voters in an election tentatively set for late September.

Plans to hold the water district election are being made by five directors who head the temporary district created August 9 by the State Board of Water Engineers following a hearing in Plainview.

The election date will be announced by the directors, E. C. Hatton of Lubbock, A. C. Chesher of Littlefield, Jess Osborne of Muleshoe, Tom McFarland of Hereford, and Tom Bostic of Plainview. Duties of these temporary directors are confined solely to holding the election, at which West Texas citizens may approve or reject the district proposal.

Morton Child Is Burned to Death

Morton was the scene of a tragic fire Monday night when a three-year-old Mexican child, Elisa Arido, was burned to death in a locked building there.

Morton volunteer firemen had to break into the building. They found the child's charred body on the floor under a bed.

Justice of the Peace Alvin O'Pry ruled death by third degree burns over 100 per cent of the child's body at an inquest.

Whereabouts of the mother at the time of the fire was not known. The father was reported employed in a beer parlor in Odessa. The mother and child were said to have come to Morton about a week ago from Lubbock.

Pep Dinner

action, after which each farmer stood and gave his name.

David Keithley, president of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, was now asked to speak.

Mr. Keithley extended a warm greeting to every farmer there and assured them of the friendship and cooperation of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

At the conclusion of Mr. Keithley's talk, Judge Bills stated that he had been thinking of the dinner and had come to the conclusion that it "was the best he had ever had since he was weaned."

A. C. Chesher, mayor of Littlefield, was now given the floor.

Mr. Chesher opened the doors of our city wide to all farmers, our good neighbors. He offered apologies for our parking meters and said he was sorry, but he could make no discount to offenders. His entire talk was of good fellowship and understanding.

About this time a voice was heard from the audience: "Let's hear the Postmaster General of Littlefield." Of course, all eyes were focused on the distinguished Mr. Storey, but he silently declined to make an address by remaining in his seat.

Master of Ceremonies Judge Bills now introduced County Judge Otha Dent. The judge very briefly spoke of the importance and fine results of such gatherings as this, then he entertained for 30 minutes with his unique tongue-tied talking, keeping the entire assembly in an uproar.

In conclusion Judge Dent said: "All that Lamb county needs is more PEP."

He received tremendous applause as he concluded his talk with those words.

Not wishing to fall in asking many to speak, at this point asked another gentleman to speak.

Not raising from his chair, the man replied:

"I am too damned full of chicken."

Up to this time a farmer had not been heard from.

Judge Bills called upon H. J. Greener of Pep to speak in behalf of the farmers.

Mr. Greener expressed the deepest appreciation to the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce and others who were helping to make these gatherings possible. At times he mixed humor with seriousness in his talk and held the close attention of 123 listeners.

As soon as Mr. Greener had taken his seat a very, very pretty young lady stepped forward to the speaker's stand with a sack and handed it to Judge Bills. It contained three loaves of bread, and a loud voice from some one was heard: "Pay her Judge; they are $1 a loaf."

A very important question confronts the citizens of Pep, Bula and surrounding territory. They have asked the Southwestern Associated Telephone Co. for service in those areas.

G. D. Shelley, district superintendent of Lubbock, was in attendance at this dinner and made a short talk. Mr. Shelley stated that the cost was too great to run the lines from Littlefield, therefore, a separate system would have to be installed. In this case it would be a dial system. At present two surveys have been made and within the next 30 days complete information should be at hand. Mr. Shelley said that the prospects were very favorable.

Judge Bills asked all to stand and sing "America." Father Kaminsky offered a closing prayer, and the meeting was adjourned.

It was a wonderful evening for everyone — just friends among friends.

TESTING RABIES SERUM—Dr. Herbert E. Hipps of Waco is testing his theory that rabies shots might help prevent polio by giving five vaccinations to 265 volunteers in Frost, Texas. Dr. Will Miller, acting director of the Corsicana-Navarro county

These, it is believed, will fill a great need in the local schools.

Art and some craft through the sixth grade have been taught at the local schools for the past few years. This has been done on the Home Room teacher under the newly organized Arts and Crafts program.

To Teach Children Crafts

Children will be taught Arts and Crafts with more emphasis on the crafts than in the past.

This will continue to be taught by the Home Room teacher, but coordinated with the special teachers in Junior and Senior High Schools.

The program will have an overall plan which will be continuous from Grade 1 through 14.

Special Instructors

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith of Canyon, Texas, will be special instructors in Arts, Crafts and Woodwork. They are graduate of W.T. S.C. with majors in the above field.

At the time these rates were placed in effect the City had about six employees and now has thirty-two on the pay roll. Both the irrigation and regular rates include garbage service.

This schedule of water rates was worked out and suggested by a committee of business men who have no connection with the City except as citizens and water consumers.

ECONOMY CUTS COMPLAINTS

All too often parents make the mistake of assigning set chores to each child.

According to the National Kindergarten Association, chores should be alternated so that regardless of age, each child would take his turn at hard and easy ones.

The association's Hilda Richmond cites the Croft family as a case in point.

Mrs. Croft had sent her youngest child James to the store for something. He brought it home minus string and plus some dust, showing that the little boy had dropped it.

Protested Mr. Croft, "Why in the world send James to the grocery when Herbert could do the errand so much better and get home sooner?"

"Then James would never learn to do errands properly," answered Mrs. Croft. "I change the duties about so all may be taught to accomplish each task well and so as to be fair, too. James might feed the cat and weed the onions better than Herbert in fact I know he would—but he must learn to carry things carefully, also, and to bring home the right article and the right change."

Mr. Croft had occasion to recall it some time later when, while cutting the grass in his back yard, he overheard his neighbor's two children grumbling and wrangling over some trivial assignment. "I never get a chance to go to the store," whined Richard.

"Of course not," retorted Fred. "Mother likes her meat and cheese to be still covered with paper when she receives them. But you needn't complain, for you always get the job of sprinkling the flowers."

"That's because you don't do it right," explained Richard. "Just the same, I don't think it is fair for you to get all the errands."

"Easy!" said Fred. "Going through the rain isn't easy."

The boys' father quiet them and then the fence to chat with. Naturally, the talk was to the children and praised the Croft child.

"Your three boys don't argue much. How do you do it?"

"I can't claim any credit," answered Mr. Croft. "I used to think my wife made a mistake with her book stem of alternating the each boy would take hard and easy ones, but to work out well."

"Is that the way you claimed the neighbor's reasonable."

"Hey, Richard!" blank. "Mother wants wheat bread for lunch to the store for a loaf to rake the grass."

The look of gratitude of his little boy, as he eyed and skipped, joyfully touched touched Mr. Croft.

"I've been a dumbbell!"
