APPLICATION SPECIFIES OFF-PREMISES CONSUMPTION

Petitions Seek Liquor Election

Signers Must Be Qualified Voters

More than 50 petitions have been in circulation this week asking for an election to be called to decide whether the city of Littlefield will remain "dry" or allow the legal sale of "all alcoholic beverages for off-premises consumption only."

Or, stated more simply, whether or not to legalize the sale of all alcoholic beverages in package stores only -- but not for consumption in places of business.

An "Application for Local Option Election," bearing 15 signatures, was filed in the county clerk's office late Friday, Oct. 20. When such an application is filed, and bears as many as 10 signatures of qualified voters, the county clerk then must issue a petition.

According to Article 666-32, Vernon's Penal Code of the State of Texas, "Upon the written application of any ten (10) or more qualified voters of any County, Justice's Precinct, or Incorporated city or town, the County Clerk of such county shall issue to the applicants a petition to be circulated among the qualified voters thereof."

The number of qualified signatures required is determined by the number of qualified voters in the designated area who voted for governor during the last presidential election, which was November of 1964.

The code reads, "taking the votes for Governor at the last preceding General Election at which presidential electors were elected as the basis..." Signatures of 25 per cent the amount of such described voters are required on the petition to call an election.

In short, 25 per cent of the number of qualified voters who voted for governor in the presidential election of November, 1964, must sign the petitions to bring about the proposed election.

As the election would pertain only to residents within the city of Littlefield, the exact number of qualified petition signers has not been determined, but spokesmen said they have arrived at an estimated number of 712 as a "safe" maximum figure.

Involved in the election would be Precincts 12 and 16, both of which extend beyond the city limits of Littlefield. The only voters concerned in the election city limits, therefore a count of voters, according to requirements as stipulated above, in the two precincts would not provide the exact number of voters in-

Clocks Change Again Sunday

That much discussed -- and often defiled -- condition called "Daylight Savings Time" will make its exit Sunday at 2 a. m. Whether or not it departs gracefully depends on how many people forget to move the hands of their clocks back one hour Saturday night.

They could arrive an hour early for church.

Land Mine Wounds Littlefield Marine

Word was received here Sunday that Lance Cpl. Billy Joe Thomas, 21, received multiple wounds when he stepped on a land mine Oct. 18 while on duty in Vietnam.

His mother, Mrs. Willie Mae Thomas, 1300 Blk. of E. 11th, said she was notified by the Air Force Base Sunday that the telegram came Friday. According to the telegram, the Marine's left leg, right shoulder and hand were injured from the explosion but his condition was considered serious, who has been in the hospital about two years, left Littlefield at the close of a two-month tour of duty with the Second Marine Division in Vietnam.

At that time he was a 20-year-old veteran with the Marine Corps and previously was assigned to Camp Lejeune, N.C., where his assignment included a six-month Mediterranean tour before going to Vietnam,

Mishap Injures Teenage Sisters

WHITHARRAL -- Sharon Whitharral, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Whitharral of Rt. 2, Whitharral, remained in critical condition at Lubbock's Methodist Hospital today from injuries received in a two-vehicle collision about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Her sister, Shair, age 16, was injured, was reported by a physician as in good condition at Littlefield Hospital. Shair first was taken to Whitharral Hospital then transferred to the intensive care unit Methodist Hospital. Friends said she sustained head injuries but attendants at the Lubbock hospital were unable to give details of her injuries.

The mishap occurred at the intersection of a dirt road and a paved farm-to-market roadway and one-half miles east of Whitharral.

A grain truck, driven by Sealy Harrell, 56, of Levelland, was going west and was in the intersection when a collision occurred between the truck and the Whitharral car, according to Highway Patrolman Don Kuykendall.

Harrell was treated and released at Levelland Hospital. He had been helping with the grain harvest of E. L. Bryant of Whitharral, his brother-in-law, who is owner of the truck.

Mrs. Bryant said the truck was not loaded at the time of the accident. She said Harrell apparently suffered a broken collar bone and other injuries but refused to be hospitalized "because he was so worried about the girls."

Rough Week For Guessers In Contest

It was one of those weeks of upsets for the Leader-News football contest entrants, and some shake-ups for the overall standings resulted.

And, as has happened before, all three money winners were from out of town.

Jim Arney of Hereford came closest on his tie breakers to be named first place winner for the week. He narrowly nudged out A. A. Smith of Olton after both were tied with three missed games each.

Lamar Pollard of Sudan was the third place money winner. He had some real close competition with E. L. Latimer, Johnnie Blair, Gaylen Long, and Mrs. Eugene Gerik of Littlefield and Sam Volpe of Midland, all of whom missed four games.

Joe Bellar of Sudan and Charles Didway of Post were tied last week for the overall standings, and both had rough times of it. But Bellar's five misses held him at the top and Didway slipped back into second place when he missed six guesses.

Bellar now has 91 correct guesses toward the grand prize of Cotton Bowl tickets.

Standing in third place with 89 are James Walker, Blair and Pollard. Others following closely are Paul Yarborough, 88; Smith and Don Hevern, 87; Jerry Trees, 86; H.A. Mitchell and Mary Jane Bartlett, 85; Floyce Pierce and Jerry Williams, 84; Mozelle Hutson, Steve Owens and Monty Rodgers, 83; Arthur Duggan, 82; and Volpe and James Adair with 81.

This was Arney's first time to win weekly money, though he was tied for a chance in the fifth week. He lost that time on the tie breakers. Smith placed third in the fourth week and Pollard was third the fifth week.

OCTOBER SNOW IN LAMB COUNTY comes from the ground -- not the sky -- and it looks like money in the bank. All over the county, many cotton fields like this are ripe and ready for defoliation and harvest. Dry weather in recent weeks has been a welcomed proponent for "this kind of snow" and has sent crop-yield hopes spiraling.

'Clean-Up' Discussion Set Tonight

A meeting of representatives from all civic and social organizations is scheduled in the City Council Room at 7:30 p. m. today to discuss plans for a citywide clean-up program, according to Lee Burnett, president of "We, The Women."

After an earlier announcement that such a meeting was planned, numerous phone calls have been received boosting the clean-up, she said, and several persons have offered pickups and equipment to aid in the project.

She stated such equipment "is greatly needed and appreciated."

All interested persons are invited to the meeting and urged to attend. Leaders of civic and social groups have been contacted and asked to be present.

Mayor J. E. Chisholm has expressed hope that an overflow crowd will attend.

Open Letter To Lamb County From Farm Bureau Directors

(Editor's Note: The following letter was composed by directors of Lamb County Farm Bureau after a discussion session at a regular meeting here Tuesday night.)

LAMB COUNTY FARM BUREAU Littlefield, Texas

CONGRESSMAN AND SENATORS do not make the laws of our Country. We the voting populace set the pattern. Our National Legislators are in office as a result of votes of confidence from their constituents. All of their decisions on pending legislation are supported or not supported to maintain that confidence.

Fiscally speaking our Federal Government has operated with an annual increase in deficit spending for many years. This practice continues only because of the apathetic attitude of the voting and tax paying public. How long will we maintain this permissive posture?

There is at the present time an all-out push to enact legislation imposing a surcharge on the Federal Income Tax to raise more revenue.

WE THE LAMB COUNTY FARM BUREAU OPPOSE AN INCREASE IN THE INCOME TAX WE ARE NOW PAYING. We oppose any increase in Federal taxes that is not matched by a prior and equivalent reduction in Government expenditures. We do not believe that it would be sound fiscal policy to increase taxes to sustain or expand the present excessive level of Federal spending.

We cannot in good conscience associate ourselves with those who would support a tax increase in the name of fiscal responsibility while at the same time promoting programs which, if adopted, would result in a budget deficit even worse than the one now in prospect.

WE INVITE AND URGE OTHERS interested in good Government to join with us and stand up and be counted -- as a responsible tax paying - voting American. Write the following:

Congressman Joe Pool House Office Building Washington, D. C.

Congressman Bob Price House Office Building Washington, D. C.

Congressman George Mahon House Office Building Washington, D. C.

Signed: Directors of Lamb County Farm Bureau

By Amy Turner

HOW QUICKLY our memories fade! Only one short year ago, I sat at a typewriter behind a desk pecking out my daily quota of copy as a news editor.

It was a job I knew well, the good and the bad, from the simple fact that I had done it long.

Then I retired. Over the past year, I seem to have adjusted rapidly to a somewhat more leisurely pace.

I didn't know just how well I had adjusted until last week. I was informed that they were short a news editor over at The Olton Enterprise, now under the able management of Sue Cannon. Sue needed some help and here I was, not so talented, but more like available.

I took off like an old race horse who has been put out to pasture and suddenly had another chance at the starting gate. There was nothing particularly difficult about it. I suppose there were too many reflexes built in over the years.

Gaily, I made dozens of telephone calls, compiled stacks of notes, tore into the typewriter in a fury and, generally, had a ball.

That was the first day. That night, as I left the excitement of the desk and headed for the disorder left at home, it suddenly hit me that I was a bit weary.

I felt rather like the party was over now and I would just as soon forget the whole thing. Unfortunately, there was the next day.

A NUMBER of forgotten things came back to me then.

Like two telephones ringing simultaneously and constantly. And the questions! Good heavens, were there always so many questions?

Do you want this picture two columns or three columns? There are too many pictures and who are you going to leave out? Is there too much copy back there? Or, horror of horror, is there too LITTLE copy back there? What time is it? No, it can't be THAT close to deadline! Catch the telephone. This man wants to know why his picture wasn't in last week. Time, Time, I need more time. Why can't I get hold of this man. Doesn't the nut know I have a deadline? Watch the clock. Hurry, Hurry. Type faster . . . . .

And then, just as your nerves are ripping a ragged edge, your hands are shaking like a wet dog, your eyes strongly resemble road maps . . . then, it happens.

Once again, you have done the impossible. You have made your deadline.

IT DOESN'T end there, however. Then, you go home bone-tired, drop heavily into bed and stare wide-eyed at the ceiling wondering what catastrophic mistake you have made this time.

It doesn't help any that you will know about it soon enough. When they come in screaming that you have no conscience and no sense of responsibility for the power you hold, you hide your shaking hands under the desk and put on your iron mask, telling yourself:

Don't hate 'em. Look at it from their side. You are a news editor. You are allowed no personal emotions or feelings. Be objective. They don't know any better.

And they go away, shaking their heads and wondering why news editors are so cold, so unfeeling and so cynical.

In times past, people also used to ponder why news editors were so frequently alcoholics. Happily, this is no longer true. Today, they take tranquilizers.

NO DOUBT, in a week or two, I will be the first to scream when my child's name is misspelled.

I will yell long and loud when a story about my favorite organization is left out. I will yell even louder if I don't happen to agree with something.

I will forget again.

But, before that happens and while the memory is still fresh, may I say: God bless news editors everywhere. Nobody else does.

OWNER'S REPORT

By Bill Turner

WILLIAM IRVINE, assistant staff director of the House Civil Service Committee, and obviously a man with a sense of humor, recently put tongue in cheek and issued the following list of rules for the writing of committee reports:

- 1. Don't use no double negatives.
2. Make each pronoun agree with their antecedent.
3. Join clauses good, like a conjunction should.
4. About them sentence fragments.
5. When dangling, watch those participles.
6. Verbs has to agree with their subject.
7. Just between you and I, case is important, too.
8. Don't write run-on sentences they are hard to read.
9. Don't use commas, which are not necessary.
10. Try to not ever split infinitives.
11. Its important to use your apostrophe's correctly.
12. Proofread your writing to see if you any words out.
13. Correct spelling is essential.

I'D LIKE TO BET that the majority of the recipients of Irvine's admonition had been violating at least a few of his precepts, because good grammar is becoming a rarity these days.

It seems to be giving way to a new-comer called "good usage." A better term for it would be common usage. Just as "ain't" crept into The Random House Dictionary of the English Language with the notation "non-standard in U. S.; informal in Brit.," other lapses are creeping in. One is forced to ask: if it's "nonstandard," why is it in there at all?

There's something nostalgic in the fact that to those of a certain age the first-to-eighth grade schools are still called "grammar schools." Hardly ever by educators, though, I notice. Is grammar still taught in them?

At some 25 years removed from those precincts, I'll admit I don't know. What do know is that from the evidence I see around me, if grammar is taught, its penetration is something less than complete.

From some of the school-age writing that I see, I'm continually amazed that some high school students successfully pass written College Board examinations. I'm so amazed that I suspect the criterions of the examiners.

CHALK IT UP to grouchiness if you will, but good grammar should be almost as effective in making one's way in the world as good manners.

Come to think of it, what ever happened to those?

PAUL HARVEY

First Air For Home-Front

A LARGE CHARITY JOB needs to be done in two Mississippi counties. What will it cost?

Some poor people there who are not otherwise provided for need 737 orders of food and the payment of 195 utilities bills. And 128 of these families need help with their rent.

There is urgent need for more than 1,000 items of essential clothing and 260 sick people need money to have prescriptions filled.

When you have helped to heal those home folks' hurts and thus have alleviated much sorrow, sickness and distress, there are transients in town needing 4,000 places to sleep, 15,000 meals and more than 100 will need assistance with cash.

Among those transients 296 must have transportation, 900 need clothing, 300 are women and children who must have other aid.

Obviously, all this is going to cost a bundle, but what I'm asking is, how much?

IN ADDITION, personnel must be provided to make 1,895 personal visits to shut-ins and lonely persons in jails, rest homes, Veterans' Administration hospitals.

For 800 less fortunate persons in these two counties let's provide a Christmas dinner. For the 1,409 children in those households let's supply toys.

You'll have 2,500 applicants wanting some of this Christmas aid, so you'll have to supply the personnel to sort them and such chores are tedious and expensive.

Indeed, this is a disaster of such proportions that we might have to call in the Army.

MATTER OF FACT, that is the only way

I know it can be done--by the Salvation Army.

And all the chores, help and handouts which I have described were administered last year by the Salvation Army in Hinds and Jackson counties in Mississippi on a total budget from the United Givers' Fund of $55,807.

Because the Salvation Army got some other money from some other sources, I am not listing many other services performed and not mentioning the compassionate care and the kindly interest and the Christ-oriented ministry which it provided to countless thousands.

The Salvation Army tended to all acute needs--all those groceries, rents, meals, garments, gifts, prescriptions, transportation--at an average cost of less than $3 per person.

The Salvation Army thus tended to the most urgent needs of two counties with a population of 243,000 on a budget of $55,807.

LEAVE THIS MUCH welfare to government to administer and look out!

Federal government poverty experts allotted $82,874 to help Beverly Hills, Calif., where there were only six needs families.

The federal Office of Economic Opportunity is spending $208,741 just to teach 43 Zuni Indians to make jewelry.

Seventy per cent of the poverty program budget in Hartford, Conn., is spent on salaries.

Charity which begins and ends at home still costs money, but when government does the same job on a cost-plus basis, the overhead is astronomical and the impersonal results are comparatively negligible.

BITS AND PIECES

Don't Be A Pigtail

TONIGHT a meeting is planned, involving numerous civic groups and leaders, to work out details for a quick citywide "clean-up" program.

However, Mayor J. E. Chisholm repeatedly has stated in recent weeks that the people need not wait for a designated "Clean-Up Week" which probably will be set for Nov. 6. He has said city trucks will pick up debris and weeds placed in alleyways right now.

THE WAY I FIGURE IT, he might as well have saved his breath.

Because most of us are going to sit on our lethargic haunches and wait until the finger is definitely pointed at our part of town -- meaning "You" and "Now."

You know why? Because we're "pig-tails."

Remember when you were a kid and the last youngster in a race was the "pigtail?" Back in those days we would run like crazy, trying to keep from being the pigtail. It was humiliating, that's what it was.

BUT SOMEWHERE, through the years, most of us forgot about that game. No, it wasn't a game -- it was a principle.

Now, to all appearances, we struggle just as hard to be the pigtail.

Except most of us don't even deserve the rank of "pigtail" because at least that last little fellow was trying. Nowadays somebody has to drop back and stick a pin into us before we even wake up enough to notice the race is on.

So that makes us fill an even more humiliating rank -- that not even kids can think of a name for.

WONDER what would happen if, for once, we got back into the race and tried like the dickens not to be the pigtail -- like when we were kids?

Tell you what let's do. Let's stop and think a minute -- about all the other worthwhile but tedious projects these same civic leaders are caught up in -- and, for once, let's make their work a little bit easier.

Let's give them the shock of their lives and start NOW cleaning up premises, including any vacant lots we might own. Let's get those weeds cut and raked out into the alley. Let's get any junk or eyesores in our yards or vacant lots removed and piled up in the alleys so city trucks can pick them up.

THINK of all the fun we could have, standing there grinning at the amazed looks on civic workers' faces when "Clean-Up Week" comes around!

And we could have the fun of being kids again and shouting at our neighbors, "Pigtail! Pigtail!"

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Give Recognition

BY BOB WEAR

THERE IS within each of us a natural desire for recognition.

It doesn't have to be something special, but just ordinary notice and appreciation is enough for most people.

Of course, there are some persons with faulty personalities who have an insatiable appetite for and who make unreasonable demands for recognition.

The important point is that all of us should be generous in giving recognition.

This is in keeping with the dignity of human personality, and is in accord with the basic principle of encouraging and building up one another.

This is of special significance in all areas of close and continuous human associations, such as in the family.

IN OUR TIME, when individualism and personal identity are becoming more and more difficult to preserve, there is even more need for giving recognition to each other whenever we can.

This recognition may be in the form of general friendliness, it may be commendation when such is appropriate, it may be an expression of wholesome concern when there is need for assistance, or it may be expressions of sincere appreciations.

In fact, there are many ways for giving the recognition that can mean so much that is good for all persons involved.

WITHOUT QUESTION, we agree that everybody is somebody, and wants to be recognized as such.

We are reasonably sure that much of the behavior and much of the misbehavior of human beings are motivated by this desire.

Often times, when people are unable to obtain recognition in the generally approved ways, and within the framework of the usual patterns of living, they will try other methods.

Frequently these other methods are harmful to all persons concerned, and this is unfortunate.

This seemingly basic desire must not be permitted to become excessively demanding, because, if it does, it becomes destructive and dangerous.

On the other hand, when it is kept in balance with our other needs, it remains wholesome and useful as a force in our lives.

There is need for recognition, and its manifestations begin very early in the life of each person. This knowledge held us chart our course in the realm of satisfactory human relationships.

IN OUR ASSOCIATION with others, there is nothing better we can do than learn to appreciate their worth and their accomplishments.

Of course, this must be an expressed appreciation which is what we mean by recognition to others, we help them and we help ourselves.

"The things we send into the lives of others come back into our own." H. W. Beecher said, "There is not a person we employ who does not, like ourselves, desire recognition, praise, gentleness, forbearance and patience."

GIVING RECOGNITION to others is no less to us, but, in a very real sense, we gain. The action has great subjective value; it is enriching and ennobling.

As we give recognition to others, we are growing and improving; and making ourselves more desirable people. We are also building up our own self-concept, and this is very important.

When we are giving recognition to others, we are also partially satisfying our own desire for recognition.

THE FARMER'S WIFE

Back To The Farm

BY LIBBY MUGGETT

LATEST TALK with best friend Grassie Roots:

"Grassie, did you read where Vice President Hubert Humphrey is doing the same thing that Lady Bird is?"

"Planting rose bushes?"

"No. He's trying to work out some kind of program to reverse the trend of rural people moving to the cities."

"You mean he's trying to keep 'em down on the farm?"

"He doesn't like that phrase because it's corny and not really true. There's not really many people actually left on the farm anymore. He prefers to call it 'reversing the trend of non-metropolitan area residents moving to the metropolitan areas.'"

"HE THINKS that is part of the trouble with the ghettos?"

"Yes. Country people see things on their T. V. every night that makes them think that life is passing them by, especially the young people. So they go to the cities and guess what."

"They can't get rid of their country ways."

"Well, sort of that, I guess. They miss their family ties, space and fresh air."

"I know I would. I couldn't stand not being able to visit with everyone in the grocery store and on the sidewalks, either."

"They miss that most of all--their sense of identity. He says to him one of the greatest tragedies of modern congested city living is the fact that a man can be born, grow to adulthood, get married, rear a family, die and never once have his name mentioned in a newspaper."

"GOSH, THAT'S AWFUL, isn't it? Don't city reporters ever call the hospitals for births and deaths and illnesses?"

"They couldn't afford to, Grassie. There's just too many of 'em."

"The poor things. They should move here. It's practically impossible NOT to get your name in a home town paper. All you have to do is live a little."

"Imagine having one of your children make the honor roll and not being able to read about it."

"Or having a son make a touchdown."

"Or a daughter make a basket."

"Or having a child get married and not even have their picture in the paper, much less a write-up about who all was wearing what."

"Grassie, we just haven't appreciated local newspapers enough."

"OR SMALL TOWNS, either. Gee, all we have to do to get a housewarming is enclose a screened-in porch and that even gets in the papers."

"You can go to any kind of club meeting, too, and sure enough your name will be listed as among those attending."

"Sometimes we can read who all went to the nearest city shopping."

"Or who ate out for what occasion?"

"Yeah. It even makes having out of town company bearable, knowing that it will be written up in the next edition of ye old hometown news."

"ANYWAY, what Humphrey is trying to do is to persuade rural areas to get more industry or something to entice city people back to the wide open spaces."

"Well, that'll be just fine if we don't get so big and impersonal that our newspapers can't even print what babies were born that week and who all died."

"You know what? I bet big city people don't even take food into homes where there has been a death!"

"You really reckon not?"

"WELL, if a death doesn't even warrant getting written up in the paper, who would know? I mean if all of life's moments are that overlooked."

"Maybe they don't even give wedding showers, much less write them up for the papers."

"Baby showers, either."

"Let's get ready and go to the Ladies Aid Society."

"Grassie, you're not just wanting to get your name in the paper, are you?"

"Whatever made you think that? I'll bet you'll be looking to see if yours is in there, too!"

LITTLEFIELD HIGH SCHOOL, LITTLEFIELD, TEXAS

Band In Final Contest Practice

LHS Musicians Strive For High Rating

The Wildcat Band began strenuous practice in preparation for marching contest on October 31.

A side entrance followed by the fanfare begins the show as the band steps off in a diamond drill to the music of "Acres of the Air". The audience is then treated to a galaxy of pin wheels as the music of "Gallant Men" fills the air. The final drill is composed of a counter march and a Texas turn into an exit while playing "March of the Olympians".

West Texas State University Stadium will serve as the setting for all the bands from the various regions as each marching group strives for a Division 1. Uniformity of step and overall appearance as well as playing and marching precision are major factors in determining the rating. The judges for the contest are Dan Gibbs from Monahan High School; Gene Griffen from Enid High School; Harold Hillier from U.T. at El Paso.

The Littlefield bandmen will step onto the field at 10:30 A.M. Each person will be doing his best to make a good showing at contest so the Wildcat Band can bring back a Division 1.

Library Obtains New Collection

At the beginning of school, the library received 36 new books, most of which are biographies. Some of these are: J. EDGAR HOOVER, by Comfort; FRANK C. LAUBACH, by Mason; BOB MATHIS, by Scott; and NORMAN VINCENT PEALE, by Westphal.

A well-known book, added to the collection of biographies, is CENTER OF THE STORM, by Scopes and Presley, his close friend. This tells of Scopes' memories of the famous "Monkey Trial" of 1925. In the book, Scopes regards himself as the instrument -- still center of the storm -- rather than as a shaper of history. Scopes stands out as a symbol of the American citizen at his best.

Mrs. Flora Burks, librarian is expecting another shipment of books about November 1, which will be a variety.

From The Council

BY SHANNON TRAUOGOTT

Last week the Student Council set several dates for the coming month. The Council adopted the Levelland game on November 10 for the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. Girls vying for the title must be seniors and all petitions, having the signatures of 25 students, are to be turned in by 4:00, November 1. With students voting for only three candidates, the primary elections are to be held November 3. The naming of the queen will be on November 6 or 7.

Airline Hostess And Coach Add New Zest To LHS System

He's five feet nine and weighs one fifty-five, and for a good football team he does strive. His hair is light brown, his eyes are blue. He prefers steak and chicken too. He teaches seventh, eighth, and ninth grade P. E., and also Texas Geography. He teaches over in junior high. This name should now be very high.

Coach Jerry Trees was born in Crystal City, Texas. He attended Grandfalls Royalty High School at Grandfalls, Texas, where he graduated. He spent his college years at Texas Tech where he was a member of Psi Epsilon Kappa and held the office of historian. He was also active in intramurals (sports).

His favorite color is blue and he enjoys keeping up with sports. His pet peeve is students who talk back and the first thing he notices in a person is their eyes.

Littlefield Junior High is his first school to teach and coach. He is head coach of the eighth grade football team and assistant coach of the ninth grade team.

He likes Littlefield and stated that the people here are very friendly. When asked about the student body, he said that he had never seen a school with so much spirit.

Five feet seven, hair light blonde. Of steak and potatoes she's very fond. She teaches sophomores, juniors, and seniors, and helps them progress in the coordination of their fingers. She teaches shorthand and typing too; in Littlefield High School, she's fairly new. She created the words to Victory, her name should not be hard to see.

Mrs. Janell Trees was born in San Antonio, Texas, where she graduated from Jefferson High School. She attended San Antonio College for two years and then attended Texas Tech from which she graduated. Before coming to teach in Littlefield, she taught the second grade in Ralls, Texas.

She went to airline training school in Miami, Florida for five weeks and was then based in Atlanta, Georgia.

This young, blue-eyed teacher prefers the color blue and enjoys sewing, art work, and spectator sports. The first thing she notices in people is their shoes. She likes Littlefield quite well and thinks that the student body here is excellent.

FROM FLYING TO TEACHING... instead of assisting passengers on an airplane, Mrs. Janell Trees is now assisting high school students in typing and shorthand. Mrs. Trees was an airline hostess for Eastern Airlines for a year before coming to teach in Littlefield. Coach Trees, also new to the system, teaches P. E. and Texas Geography in junior high.

In Harms Manner

By LEONA HARMS

I have just discovered that I write my columns the best when I'm tired. Right now it is 3 AM, and the distant whistling of a train can be heard in the crisp, tingling morning air, saturated with the smell of autumn. No, I was just kidding, but that does bring up the subject of sleep (yawn). Everyone should have at least eight to ten hours of sleep; but some can get along on less and others need more. But don't think that you can go to bed late every night and not pay for it. Your resistance to disease will be lowered and your disposition will change for the worse. Your head, which was propped on your arm in class, will suddenly nod and you will awake only to discover that you have just missed a class and are now hastily wondering what to say to your teacher who was feeling too sorry for you to wake you up. Oh well, it's nice to have understanding teachers anyway.

Seniors obtained those long awaited for senior pictures Saturday from Nail's Studio. They sure do look like a good looking bunch of seniors, but then I am prejudiced.

There are just 49 more shopping days until Christmas. Isn't that something! For me, Christmas is already here because I have been wrapping considerable amounts of Christmas gifts at my place of employment.

Daylight Savings Time goes out of effect Sunday morning. Now maybe I can feel like I'm going to school at 7:30 instead of 6:30.

Still hoping for a first district win, the Wildcats will tackle Snyder on home ground at 7:30 tomorrow. Good luck and let's go get 'em Cats!

I see my pen is just about dry and so is my thinking power. Until next week, ponder over this quote by La Fontaine, "A fly sat on the chariot wheel and said "What a dust I raise!"

Behind The Line

By KENNETH HORN

The fighting Wildcats proved their desire to win last Friday night, but failed in their effort as the Sweetwater Mustangs played an explosive first half to beat the Wildcats 33-21.

All of Sweetwater's points came in the first half of play and all 21 points for Littlefield came in the last half of play.

The first Wildcat TD was made when left defensive half-back, Donnie Heard, picked off a Mustang pass and scored untouched. With only little time remaining in the third quarter, Roy Burk connected with Kevin Hutson for the second tally of the night. The final touchdown came with Roy Burk running around the right end to score again. Burk also accounted for both points thereafter.

Injuries still prevailed as two Wildcats were down by knock outs. Windell Ashley was out first, but soon regained his senses, but did not return to the game. Donnie Heard was also out and was still in a daze as the game came to a close. He then regained his senses while on the route home.

Littlefield will host the Snyder Tigers tomorrow night in Wildcat Stadium at 7:30.

The Tigers played an impressive game last week, and by doing so beat Lakeview of San Angelo.

Snyder was marked as having impressive speed with a tough line. They have an exceptional fine running game and can go to the air if the need arises. The Littlefield scouts were also impressed with their hustle throughout last week's game.

The Littlefield B team lost a close game to the B team of Dimmitt last week by the score of 40-30. It was clearly an offensive battle as Kenneth Twitty scored a total of four touchdowns for the night. Eddie Hickman scored the other TD.

Although losing this game, the B team still possesses a winning season thus far and is expected to do better in the remaining games.

The B team will travel to Hereford tonight to clash with the B team there. If at all possible make the trip tonight and support the future Wildcats.

District 3-AAA was enlarged from the previous eight teams to eleven teams last week by the Texas Interscholastic League.

Entering as new teams to this district will be Colorado City, Slaton, and Lubbock Estacado.

It is undecided at this time on how the games will be played next year. There is the possibility that each district team will play a total of ten district games or that the district will be divided into a north zone and a south zone with Littlefield, Levelland, Slaton, Brownfield, and both Lubbock teams in the north zone. The south zone would then consist of Lamesa, Snyder, Sweetwater, Lakeview, and Colorado City.

LOOKING OVER Halloween costumes, masks, and ornaments, Johnita Crawley, left, and Darlene Walker, right, get into the spirit of things. Even though the girls will pass up trick-or-treating this year, they are looking forward to the night when witches, goblins, and demons all walking down the street are a common sight. They do have long to wait because Halloween is Tuesday night, October 31.

Spooks 'n Goblins To Prowl

By CHERLYN REAST

Every year about this time, strange and grotesque creatures can be seen wandering around from door to door. The Halloween season has arrived.

The word Halloween comes from Allhallow's Eve, the name for the last day of October preceding All Saints' Day in the Christian Church. Centuries ago in pagan festivities, many of the practices used on Halloween came into being. People considered it the time of the year in which both good and evil spirits roamed the earth. It was a night of ghosts and fairies in which bonfires were built and fetures were foretold and witches rode the sky on brooms.

The Druids, medicine men of the Celtic priesthood, celebrated a harvest festival at this time in dedication of the winter fund of fruits. This was the origin of Nutcracking Night and the originally superstitious game of bobbing for apples. The customary bonfires and fortunetelling are probably an outgrowth of some ancient cults pertaining to the sun and the dead.

Today we celebrate Halloween with masquerading, masking, and the lighting of pumpkin lanterns all relating back to these early beliefs. Fortunetelling, whether by cards or gypsies, gains much attention at Halloween parties. Various gruesome get-ups and devices are used to enhance a feeling of mystery and fear as children dressed in numerous garbs parade from house to house seeking treats.

Halloween can be a time of fun and enjoyment for everyone who retreats into the world of ghosts and goblins for one eve.

Bones Given Monicker

Rajah Mahatma gazes sightlessly at Mrs. Charlene Reast's biology and general science classes. Wonder why? It's a skeleton and it's dead. But if it's a skeleton I guess it would have to be dead, wouldn't it?

Melody Murphey's name, Rajah Mahatma, was chosen out of almost 100 entries in the contest to name this bunch-o-bones. Rajah Mahatma means "prince with a great soul." He has been nameless since Christmas but now he has been christened.

He was purchased by the science department from the Welch Manufacturing Company. From what information is known or can be guessed, he is an Indian of about 35 years of age, of a slight build and almost five feet six inches tall.

He is remarkable in the fact that all his joints and bones move freely. There are many ideas and theories of who he was and just how he came to be hanging in the biology room. Perhaps that would make another good contest, at least for Halloween.

VICA Delegates To Levelland Meet

The local chapter of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, under the direction of Mr. Sidney Landers, will go to Levelland October 28 for the District Convention. The purpose of the convention is to give the officers some instruction in the office they have been selected to for the 67-68 year. The students attending are: Eugene Benson, president; David Sevier, vice-president; Lewis Ivey, secretary; Henry Thompson, treasurer; bob Colberg, porter; Rufus Ramirez, parliamentarian; and James Crisler, sergeant-at-arms.

Rufus Ramirez is scheduled to give a demonstration the subject "Preparation Leadership in the World Work".

Koleta Giles, chapter heart, will be competing approximately 25 other girls for the title of district heart.

Talk On Bermuda Highlights Meeting

Mr. Jim Trauogott, primary school principal, enticed the Littlefield FTA chapter with his slides of Bermuda at the October 16 meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Trauogott toured the islands during the Christmas holidays last year.

A glamorous angle on a teaching career was shown by Mr. Trauogott. Teachers can go to colorful locales, such as Bermuda, to teach in the United States Armed Forces schools.

The FTA membership drive has come to a close with the last meeting; however, any persons interested in joining are still welcome. Fifteen new members have joined the chapter; there are now 37 enrolled in the organization.

Members are reminded to sign a list before the November 10 deadline if they desire to attend the district convention at Monterey High School.

Those entering the Mr. FTA contests turned their applications to Lenton Smith on October 16. The subject for the year will be "Invest and Improve". Littlefield Miss and Mrs. will compete before a panel of judges at the district convention to determine district winners which will be held in Monterey HS in back.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: A wise man knows every shrewd one every body.

If a man is worth knowing, all, he is worth knowing.

Worry is another name for Fear not.

COME NOW, don't you think this is carrying the Halloween spirit a bit too far? Melody Murphey doesn't look very happy about getting to hold Rajah Mahatma's hand. Melody was in the contest to find the best and most fitting name for the Bones. The name Rajah Mahatma means "prince with a great soul". But if he was a true prince or a beggar isn't it a bit doubtful if the honest facts will ever be uncovered. But one fact is known that he is a real skeleton. Let's hope that his great soul rests easy on Halloween.

treasurer; Terry Hobbs, Sergeant at Arms; and Vicki Mc Kinnon, vice president and DE Sweetheart. The bake sale will be held on Saturday, October 28 at Anthony's, Furr's and Piggy Wiggly's.

Wildcats Play Hosts To Fast-Improving Tigers

Snyder Coach Wayne Tyrone is quoted in a pre-season interview as saying his line was very good, his backs were "..." but they'll do all right, I guess."

He made a pretty good prediction, as indicated by the 3-0 District 3-AAA standing his team now hold.

The Tigers must challenge hungry and potential Littlefield here Friday evening at Wildcat Stadium. Kickoff time will be 7:30 p.m.

It took some time for the Tigers to find themselves this season, after losing 17 lettermen from the 1966 club that posted a 3-7 record. They lost to Andrews 28-0 and then open date they scared Big Spring before settling for a 7-3 loss.

That week off seemed to do things for Snyder. The Tigers started out October play with a 9-0 smothering of Lamesa, followed with a 34-19 trouncing of Levelland, and then last week posted a 33-14 victory over Lake View.

Though the Tiger defense allowed Lake View to score 14 points, which matched their offensive showing against their first two district foes, Snyder also outscored those same two Lake View challengers of this loop. They scored 33 points of the 58 Lake View was allowed in three 3-AAA meetings.

Wildcat Coach Raymond Birchfield classes senior fullback Ronnie Shields as the best fullback Littlefield has seen this year. The 170-pounder is converted from a guard position, where he lettered last season.

Littlefield area football fans are blessed with better-than-average teams this season, on the overall, as four clubs are ranked in the Top Ten of their respective classes.

That only leaves four not ranked, which includes two clubs for which there is no rankings. The eight man teams are not ranked in the area by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, leaving out Whitharral and Bula.

Littlefield and Springlake-Earth are the two clubs which have not earned area Top Ten rankings.

Olton's Mighty Mustangs are the top listed of the area. Though still undefeated and untied, they were dropped to second place in the area this week after their 76 squeezer with Memphis last Friday. Denver City (6-1) replaced them in first place.

But this could cause things to go badly tomorrow night for the Lockney Longhorns, who host the Mustangs in a conference game. The Mustangs will be out to prove they are the best in their class. Olton holds a 4-0 conference standing. That game starts at 7:30.

Amherst, 4-2 for the season and 2-1 for the conference, is tied for the loop lead and holds the number three position in the A-J poll. The Bulldogs will host unranked Whiteface Friday at 7:30 after a week's rest on an open date.

After upsetting undefeated Wilson 26-21 Friday night, the Bulldogs of Anton were zoomed from an unranked position among Class B teams of the South Plains into the fifth spot. The Anton crew travels to Ropesville for a 7:30 kickoff Friday. The Bulldogs are now 3-3 for the season and 3-1 for District 2-B play.

A long-time rivalry is renewed Friday night when the Hornets of Sudan and Wolverines of Springlake-Earth clash on the latter's home turf. Sudan is sixth-ranked among South Plains teams with a 5-2 and 1-0 record.

The Hornets shut out O'Donnell last week 35-0 in a non-conference meeting while Springlake-Earth was winning its second game of the season. The Wolverines topped Bovina 20-13 in a District 3-A get-together, giving them a 1-1 loop slate.

Whitharral's Panthers stayed undefeated in District 2-B eight man play by dumping Bula 44-6. They hold a 5-2 season record and haven't been beaten in conference play. The Panthers put their vaulted position on the line at 7:30 Friday evening when they travel to Cotton Center.

Traveling to Snyder Friday will be Bula's hungry Bulldogs, who are looking for their second victory of the season. They now stand 1-4 for the year's schedule and are 0-1 for loop standing.

Littlefield, in about the same position as Bula, hosts Snyder. The Wildcats have won one game of the six played this year, and are 0-3 for District 3-AAA play. Snyder is 3-3 and 3-0.

Birchfield says he is outstanding.

Snyder is primarily a running team, but considered one of the better in the district.

The Wildcats are little better, health-wise, than they've been in the past few games. Their mentor said Tuesday night at the Quarterback Club meeting starting end and defensive safety Donny Heard would not play. He's a new one on the list, placed there after being knocked out at Sweetwater last week and still complaining of a headache.

Kenny Horn, defensive safety specialist, tackle Stan Harrell and fullback T.J. Morgan will also miss this week.

Whether the leading Wildcat runner Mike Grissom will be able to play was still a question mark early this week. He played well with an injured knee at Sweetwater, but it is giving him trouble again.

The Wildcats are hungry for a victory. It's been a long drought since their 28-12 win over Muleshoe, which was the second game of the season. Littlefield has yet to take a conference victory, and has only Snyder, Lamesa, Levelland and Lake View yet to play.

The Wildcats defeated Snyder last season 27-6.

ONCE UPON A TIME ...

Schools Used To Play Non-Conference Games

By BOB HAMILTON

Once upon a time there were football games classed as non-conference.

These games were scheduled by coaches, that a team could play as many games in a season as were allowed, because conferences were not very large. Boys like to play football, so the games were matched with other boys who liked to play football.

One of the reasons the players and fans liked non-conference games was that the teams played other teams in their area they'd been playing for years and years. This was fun. It was called an established rivalry.

The coaches, who teach fundamentals and techniques of football to their players, liked non-conference games. They used these games to experiment, sometimes, to see how well some players did at different positions. They wanted to win the non-conference games. But they considered the non-conference games as "tune-ups" and "not-so-important-as-conference" games.

Littlefield High School used to be in a conference that had non-conference games on everybody's schedule. All the district teams had fun practicing with teams from other conferences before they started playing each other.

Non-conference schedules are no more for members of District 3-AAA, 4-AAA, and several other districts of the same classification over the state, as result of the Texas Interscholastic League meeting last week. Districts 3 and 4 now have 11 members each, which has created full-season conference schedules.

At a meeting held Monday in Snyder by representatives of this District 3, it was voted 6-5 that 10 conference games be played in 1968. The five defeated votes were for zoning the district.

Voting for zoning were Littlefield, Brownfield, Levelland, Lamesa and Lake View.

Two principal reasons were given by the six schools wanting the 10-game conference schedule were gate receipts and scheduling.

The faction argued that only two teams, if the district were zoned into two groups, could play a full 10 games. This is because a playoff game would be required to determine the district representative in the state playoffs. Loss of that 10th game gate receipts would be loss of needed income, they argued.

Also, scheduling non-conference games is becoming more and more difficult with more crowded districts and longer distances required for travel to school of comparable size.

Attending the meeting, which was originally scheduled for Wednesday but set up to Monday that some could leave early for this weekend's Texas State Teachers Association meeting, for Littlefield were Superintendent Paul I. Jones, district chairman, Principal Beryl Harris and Head Coach Raymond Birchfield.

District 3-AAA was enlarged last week when it was announced new members for 1968-69 would be Lubbock Estacado, Colorado City and Slaton.

A tentative schedule was drawn up for next season. Dates, numbers for schools and places were listed, and then the schools drew for their numbers. Several games, as a result, will be played here and away which repeats this year's schedule.

Five games on the Wildcat schedule are location repeats of this year. They host Brownfield and Snyder, and travel to Lamesa, Dunbar and Lake View.

Littlefield drew an open date on the opening week of play, Sept. 13. Then the Wildcats meet new-comer Estacado at Lubbock the following weekend. And the final game is at Lake View.

Supt. Jones clarified the schedule as being tentative, explaining it could still be changed if sufficient district members change their minds by next month's meeting.

The 1968 schedule now is: Sept. 13, Open Sept. 20, Estacado, H Sept. 27, Levelland, T Oct. 4, Brownfield, H Oct. 11, Colorado City, T Oct. 18, Lamesa, T Oct. 25, Snyder, H Nov. 1, Dunbar, T Nov. 8, Sweetwater, H Nov. 15, Slaton, H Nov. 22, Lake View, T involved, as many live outside the city limits.

Also, absentee voters must be included and the number of absentee voters on record includes all qualified persons who voted in Lamb County. Records show 363 absentee voters in the November, 1964 election for all of Lamb County, and the figure is not broken down into precincts or towns.

However, spokesmen say they arrived at the "712" figure by using the entire count for Precincts 12 and 16 plus the entire absentee count, then dividing by four to determine the 25 per cent. "This is the only way we can be on the safe side," a spokesman said.

Precinct 12 shows a vote count of 2,132; Precinct 16 shows 353, totaling 2,485. By adding the 363 absentee ballots, the grand total becomes 2,848, of which 712 is the required 25 per cent.

Spokesmen said although probably enough signatures already have been acquired to fulfill 25 per cent of a count within the corporate city, they had not at press time gathered the 712 based on full precinct and absentee count. As no count exists within the city limits, petitioning is planned to continue toward the 712.

The Code states, "When any such petition so issued shall within (30) days after the date of issue be filed with the clerk of the Commissioners Court bearing the actual signatures . . . together with a notation showing the residence address of each of the said signers, together with the number that appears on his poll-tax receipt or exemption certificate, or a sworn statement that the signer is entitled to vote without holding either a poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate. . . it is hereby required that the Commissioners Court at its next regular session shall order a local option election to be held upon the issue set out in such petition."

Proponents of the election have 30 days after Oct. 20 to secure the required amount of qualified voters' signatures and to file the petition. According to the Code, it becomes the duty of the county clerk to check the names of the signers. . . "to determine whether or not the signers are in fact qualified voters."

The petition then is presented to the Commissioner's Court at its next regular meeting and, if the required 25 per cent is obtained and all is in order, the Code states it is then required that at that session the Commissioners Court order a local option election.

Commissioners Court regular sessions are scheduled each second Monday of the month.
