Driscoll Irvin, 15 Others Are Convicted And Sentenced

Sheriff Len Irvin of Lamb county must serve two years in the federal penitentiary at El Reno, Okla., and 15 other persons, also convicted of conspiracy to evade payment of federal liquor taxes must serve terms in the Oklahoma prison and Lubbock county jail, was the pronouncement late Tuesday of Judge James C. Wilson of the United States district court.

The jury received the case at 12:25 and was out only 13 minutes. The prosecution won convictions on all charges submitted. Sentences imposed were as follows:

Len Irvin, two years imprisonment at El Reno, Okla., and a two-year term suspended for three years after his discharge from prison.

Driscoll Irvin, 24-year-old son of the sheriff; six months in Lubbock county jail one year and one day sentence, suspended three years, at El Reno.

George Carpenter, Jim Etter, Star Haile and others who pleaded not guilty, 90 days in jail each, and one year and one day, suspended three years, at El Reno.

Jerry Feliz, and George Silhan, Leonard Terry, Vernon Herman, N. O. Roper, John Purdy, Henry Fulcher, M. L. (Auctioneer) Lynn, Guy Foster, and Virgil Dudgeon, who pleaded guilty, 18 months at El Reno, suspended three years on good behavior. For Foster and Dudgeon, who now are federal convicts, period of suspension begins after their release.

Imposition of any punishment for three years pending good behavior was suspended for Mrs. Rebecca Carr, Mrs. Bill Herman and Mrs. Leonard Terry. They were convicted by the jury.

Judge Wilson had instructed the jury to find guilty the 14 persons who admitted participation in a "protected" Lamb county liquor ring. They were the three Silhan brothers, Roper, Fulcher, Mrs. Carr, Herman, Ms. Herman, Foster, Lynn, Terry, Mrs. Terry, Dudgeon and Purdy.

Immediately after he was convicted, Irvin wrote his resignation as sheriff of Lamb county. "Forget it, forget it, it's life," the sheriff, misty-eyed, consoled members of his family present following pronouncement of sentence.

"I appreciate your fairness," Irvin said to Judge Wilson. "I've been found guilty by the jury. I want to ask the lightest sentence you can give."

AMHERST MAN IS CHOSEN TO FINISH LEN IRVIN'S TERM

"I'll Try To Make a Good Sheriff," Says Relief Administrator

F. A. Loyd, 47-year-old Lamb county relief administrator, was notified Wednesday afternoon of his appointment by county commissioners as sheriff to fill out the term of Len Irvin. Irvin's term would have expired Jan. 1, 1937.

Loyd, who has been both mayor and special deputy at Lake View, in Hall County, will resign his relief office today by wire to Adam R. Johnson, state relief administrator, he said late yesterday.

"I'll try my best to make a good sheriff," was Loyd's laconic statement to the Leader by telephone last night. He had not decided upon his choice of deputies, he said.

Appointment of the Amherst man, who has lived in Lamb county six years, become effective immediately. He is a brother of Mrs. J. M. Stokes and Miss Stella Loyd, both of Littlefield.

CERTIFICATES AND CHECKS TO ARRIVE SOON

Predict Big Demand For Early Pooled Certificates

Farmers who surrendered Cotton Tax-Exemption Certificates, to the National Pool last fall will be receiving their portions of the unsold certificates along with the final check from Washington within the next few weeks states D. A. Adam. These returned certificates can either be turned in to the special pool, or they can be used on this year's cotton crop. The Washington office predicts that there will be a big demand for these early pooled certificates since they will be available for sale at the beginning of the ginning season. The sale of surplus cotton tax-exemption certificates has proven a great form of crop insurance for farmers, since producers will be given an opportunity to buy back their certificates from the pool should their cotton crop be greater than anticipated. The National Pool last year was operated at a cost of around 20 cents per bale.

LOCAL PEOPLE ATTEND YOUNG DEMO GATHERING

Featured by an embroilment involving two governors and a son of the President of the United States, the third annual convention of Young Democratic clubs of Texas closed a hectic two-day session at Amarillo Saturday night.

Probably the most turbulent session of the West Texas meeting occurred shortly after Chairman W. Richard Cavett, Littlefield, of the rules committee, submitted rules drawn up by himself and six other Texans. Ignoring Co-Chairman Bill Mayfield's motion that the rules be accepted as they were, representation from Texas University and Coleman county clubs termed "undemocratic" a rule they claimed exempted them from representation. Lamb county had 4 votes at the convention.

We Do Our Part

FATHER'S DAY

"Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

Father's Day . . . a worthy companion of Mother's Day . . . will be observed throughout the land next Sunday. While Mother's Day, and properly so, has always registered stronger in the hearts and actions of the millions who annually observe that day, we should not lightly pass over Father's Day. Volumes and volumes could be written on the subject of mothers and fathers in relation to the observance of Mother's Day and Father's Day, but after the last sentence had been written only one thought will be uppermost: they gave us life and having given us life they set aside all thoughts of self, they lived their lives to sweeten our lives.

Is there a just reason for honoring our mothers and our fathers? In a lifetime of search we do not believe that we could find a man or a woman fallen so low as to not in their hearts possess at least a few sparks of love for those who gave us life.

LITTLEFIELD'S CCC CAMP

Littlefield is to have a CCC camp, according to all available information.

What is our responsibility as citizens of Littlefield and Lamb county toward that camp?

There will be the administrative personnel and probably 200 boys. We should first make all who are members of the camp in any way feel that they are among friends . . . that we, as citizens of Littlefield and Lamb county, are interested in their projects . . . their welfare . . . and their pleasure.

Littlefield and Lamb county should plan now many things in the interest of the camp and for the pleasure of those who are in any way connected with the project.

TEXAS RURAL COMMITTEES TO BUILD HOME FOR 66 HOMESTEADERS

Austin, June 12—On the site of the Ropesville rural community in the eastern part of Hockley county, where Texas Rural Communities is preparing to build homes for 66 homesteaders, is the longest farm terrace in the world.

It measures 10 3/4 miles in length and it requires 10 1/2 hours for men operating construction machinery to complete one round in building it.

"It is the longest terrace I ever heard of," said W. B. Orr, assistant general manager of Texas Rural Communities, who has charge of all the corporation's collective rehabilitation projects, "and its construction cost of $12 per mile makes it also the most economical job with which I am acquainted."

When the job has been completed, homesteaders will move onto a tract of 4,000 acres of land on which approximately 165 miles of terraces have been built to hold water on the land.

Ropesville is situated in eastern Hockley county on the Santa Fe railroad, 20 miles southwest of Lubbock on the South Plains, which in recent years became one of the leading cotton producing regions of the state.

Texas Rural Communities paid $25 per acre for 4,000 acres of virgin land and immediately began the work of clearing it of catclaw and other shrubbery native to the section. Contracts then were awarded to farmers in the vicinity with tractors to flat break and harrow the land. This cost the corporation 75 cents per acre.

Texas Relief Commission engineers and soil conservationists ran terrace lines and Lubbock and Hockley counties furnished road machinery for doing the work, which is almost completed. This road machinery will begin the construction of lateral roads through the community leading to main county and state highways.

"With this preliminary and fundamental work done," said Orr, "we intend to list the entire 4,000 acres and plant it in grain sorghums. Since there are no fence lines yet constructed to interfere with large-scale tractor farming, we hope under normal conditions to make a profit from our grain crop this year."

"Farming operations, however, will not interfere with construction of homes for the settlers, and this part of the program will be started in the next few weeks. Plans, which already been approved by federal authorities, call for five-room homes, a barn, a chicken house, individual wells, water system and the necessary fencing.

"Houses will vary slightly in design to avoid a stereotyped appearance, and scientifically planned to provide the utmost utility. Our application for $228,000 with which to build permanent improvements has been approved by Washington and we will begin construction as soon as the money is received.

"The families selected for the Ropesville community will pay on an average $3,600 for their land and improvements, payments to be amortized over a period of 35 years. Originally it was planned to allow each homesteader to buy 40 acres, but we have since become convinced that it will take 60 acres in that section of Texas to enable a farmer to meet his obligations."

Although the entire acreage is being planted to grain crops this year, the land by the next farming season will be fenced into 60-acre plots and individual farmers will operate them independently of their neighbors; however, the corporation will finance farming operations, as well as the storing, handling and processing of the products from the individual farms.

This method differs from that employed at Woodlake, East Texas rural community where the individual farmer depends for subsistence upon a three acre tract adjacent to him home, and owns an equal share in the produce from the 1200-acre community farm on which all farmers in the community work.

The new community also will differ from Woodlake in that no separate school or church will be erected. Rather, the new homesteaders will be expected to attend the schools and churches now being used by citizens of the little town of Ropesville.

It will be similar to Woodlake, however, in that work shops will be constructed as needed for the benefit of the entire community. These shops are expected to provide a great many of the needs of the settlers and other citizens of the neighborhood.

This rural community will be directed by a community manager, who will supervise plowing, planting, cultivation, harvesting and marketing of products from the individual farms. He also will supervide the cooperative purchasing of certain farm supplies.

"We will go ahead with this project at a fast pace as soon as the money for construction is available and we hope to have many of the families settled in homes by the latter part of the summer," Mr. Orr said.

Crop Program Mapped

County agents have submitted a crop program worked out on the basis of 40 acres to each unit, with 15 acres intensively irrigated and 25 acres winter irrigated for sub-soil moisture and dry farming during the growing season.

County agents are unanimous in the opinion that a farmer can not only make a living, but can repay the government for the land, where the payments are distributed over a reasonable period of time.

The land in this community is of the red sandy loam variety with a top soil of 8 inches to 12 inches and the sandy loam, grading into clay, subsoil ranging in depth from 30 inches to 40 inches, and it is some of the best soil in this region. Water ranges in depth from 30 feet to 100 feet, with a pump lift from 20 to 70 feet.

Good Water Supply

There are two large irrigation wells in this tract at this time, one near the south side of the tract, and the other near the north end, which evidence the abundant water supply.

. . . an extra measure of protection

The management of this Bank always has taken every possible precaution to safeguard the funds of its depositors. In keeping with this traditionally conservative policy, deposits made here are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

The insurance thus provided applies to both checking and savings deposits.

At the present time, the maximum amount insured for each depositor is $5,000. This does not mean that a depositor with an account of, say $500, is guaranteed $5,000, but it does mean that his $500 is fully insured. Deposit insurance is for your protection. We will be pleased to furnish you with any additional information you may desire.

Rosa Fisher, who has been confined at home for quite awhile with rheumatism was able to go to town Saturday, but his doctor told him to stay in bed, for at least two more months, that's quite a time for a youngster in his teens to keep quiet, but the doctor "knows his rheumatism" and so take his advice Rosa.

W. H. Reddell and family were dinner guests in the L. C. Brihscow home Sunday.

Oleta Smith, Ruby Cowan, Nellie Ruth Roger, Josephine and Evelyn Murrell, Estelle Craig and Helen Weaver, Carl Cowan and Andrew Dunlap had to try to "stand a hack" with all that bunch of girls. We think they were "led a cat's life."

Mrs. Horrace Fisher attended the funeral of her cousin Mr. Brock at Earth last week.

Optimist wants people to know when he reports someone having dinner in a country home he refers to that meal of the noon hour, people of the city have lunch but we of the country have an honest-to-goodness dinner with all the trimmings, if you don't believe it just come out and try some of our good wives' fixins. (This is to the editor).

Everybody is most through planting and have crops well started, we did not get any of the hard water that fell to the south of us last week, and a good rain now would be appreciated.

CHURCHES

METHODIST CHURCH J. W. Hendrix, Pastor

To be sure we had a big day last Sunday. The attendance was excellent and all greatly enjoyed having one of the old home town boys with us. Luther Kirk, now a ministerial student in McMurry, one of the most worthy men of the institution, preached both periods of worship.

Plans promise another fine day next Sunday. The choirs are holding together, both senior and Choral club. The music continues good. The young people had an unusually fine program last Sunday and promise to have another this coming Sunday—7:45 p. m.

At the morning hour the subject of the sermon will be, "The Technique of Living." Technique is a great word with us. It wouldn't be bad to have a little of it applied to living. We have a lot of that sort of philosophy which says, "Any old thing goes." "It matters not so you are sincere." At the evening hour the pastor will have something to say in the subject.

"Where The Church Hitches." This will discuss some recent and vital matters. At each of these services the choirs will sing. The young people will meet at 7:45 p. m. The third quarterly conference will meet Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. We want all reports in and all reporters present. Bro. Tittle will be with us.

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH Jno. R. Denning, Pastor

We do invite one and all to attend our services next Sunday. We have no outstanding attraction to offer in the way of entertainment, as our main objective is merely the simple teaching and preaching of the Word of God, and we depend solely upon Jesus Christ, and His wonderful love for the Children of Men as the drawing power. But we do believe our methods of teaching and preaching will both please and satisfy all those seeking the truth.

We give you our service outline for the remainder of the month:

Sunday, June 16th, Bible School, 9:45 a. m., Study, Hebrews 12. Morning sermon, "Jesus Christ, King of the Jews." Evening sermon, "Bible Baptism—What Is It?" The evening service will be followed by a Baptismal service.

Saturday night, June 22nd, there will be an old-fashioned covenant meeting of the church, the sermon subject being "Standing to the Covenant."

Sunday, June 23rd, Morning subject, "The Blood Spots on the Door." Observance of the Lord's Supper at this hour. Evening subject "Spiritual Stowaways — or Stealing a Ride to Heaven."

Sunday June 30th, Morning subject, "Jesus Christ, the Servant." Evening Subject "From Genesis to Revelation on the Second Coming of Jesus Christ."

Grocer Is Improved After Ammonia Gas Injures Right Hand

W. J. Aldridge, grocer, is improved following treatment early this week for a painfully injured right hand.

While tightening a blow-out valve on an ammonia tank in the rear of his meat market, early Saturday, the gas poured over Mr. Aldridge's hand, instantly freezing it. Injuries were more painful than serious.

Ruth Takes The Air

Finds Sleeve Board Valuable

"I wouldn't take a brass monkey for my sleeve board", says Mrs. V. H. Jennings, 1st year wardrobe demonstrator of the Blue Bonnet Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Jennings' sleeve board is not attached to her ironing board but sits on the top and makes the ironing of sleeves, shoulders of blouses, shirts, and coats, and small children's clothes much easier.

I drafted me a slip pattern by my foundation dress pattern and it fits better than any slip that I have ever had", says Mrs. I. V. Fent, wardrobe cooperater of the Sandhill Home demonstration Club.

To draft a princess slip pattern by a fitting dress pattern, the fullness at waist is darted and the top is shaped as desired.

"We laid 350 ft. of garden tile but that is not nearly as much as I want!" stated Mrs. Bob Ivey, farm food supply cooperater of the Amherst Club.

"We laid tile in our garden hoping that the mineral in the water would not damage the soil as it dose in surface irrigation", said Mrs. A. F. Wedel, farm food supply demonstrator of the Yellow House Club.

It has been found that land that will no longer produce when surface irrigated will produce when sub-irrigated.

"The tomatoes that I put out from my hot bed are doing much better than the plants that I got in town", said Minnie Rae Logan, garden demonstrator of the Amherst 4-H Club. Minnie Rae contributes these results to the fact that the plants from her hot bed were fresh and the other had been out of the soil several days when they were transplanted. She thinks it wise to raise your own plants.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, June 12—Whatever the outcome of the efforts of Congress and the Administration...

The issue will be whether the United States Government is to be further centralized in Washington...

The Supreme Court made it clear that under the Constitution as it stands there can be no such centralization of power as Mr. Roosevelt and his advisors...

Not only are they trying to work out a substitute for the National Industrial Recovery Act which will meet the Constitutional objections...

Hard Summer Ahead It is not only pretty tough on the Senators and Representatives to have to do so much work over again...

Literally, there has never been such a state of confusion in Washington within the memory of anyone who is now active in public affairs...

Some Election Ifs An extremely interesting analysis of the votes in the Congressional elections last Fall is giving a good many Congressmen something to worry about...

The boys from those 111 districts, which might have gone the other way, are wondering now how...

far their voters will follow them in any scheme to revive NRA or to change the Constitution...

Searching for Control Among the interesting suggestions that have been revived as a result of the Supreme Court decision...

Those are just a few of the numerous ideas which are being discussed, none of which has crystallized...

Getting back to politics, which Washington always gets back to, the suggestion of a coalition party to oppose Mr. Roosevelt next year...

"50% of all motor wear occurs during the starting period"

... say automotive engineers

Measuring cylinder wear with a precision gauge—accurate to a hundred-thousandth of an inch!

Only the oil with the "Hidden Quart" will stay up in your motor and cut down this starting wear!

Here are the facts: Oils not Germ Processed drain back into the crankcase when your motor is idle. Bearings, pistons and cylinders are dry when you start. Even in warm weather your motor makes at least a thousand revolutions before the quickest flowing oil can reach all parts. Bare metal grinds against bare metal—destructive wear occurs.

Conoco Germ Processed Oil cuts down this costly starting wear! The patented Germ Process—adding concentrated oily essence to highly refined oil—makes it penetrate and combine with metal surfaces. That penetrative film, forming the "Hidden Quart", becomes part of the metal itself and never drains away.

Hundreds of dry-crankcase runs have proved the "Hidden Quart" lubricating value. Cars using Germ Processed Oil were driven 15 to 75 miles with the crankcase empty but without motor damage!

Germ Processed Oil protects your motor another way. All cars built since 1931 have greatly increased pressures and must have oil of extra high film strength for safe lubrication. Straight mineral oils have no more film strength than they had 10 years ago—some have less!*

Only Conoco Germ Processed Oil gives full motor protection—when you start, while you drive. You will cut motor wear if you use it!

INTEREST RATES ON FEDERAL LAND BANK LOANS IS CUT, J. S. HILLIARD REPORTS

The interest rate on all Federal Land Bank loans made through National farm loan associations will be reduced to 3 1-2 per cent for all interest payable in the one-year period commencing July 1, 1935 and to 4 per cent for all interest payable in the two-year period commencing July 1, 1936, according to J. S. Hilliard, secretary-treasurer of the Littlefield National Farm Loan Association.

This announcement was made June 8, when Mr. Hilliard was notified of the new loan rate by A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston and General Agent of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston.

This temporary reduction of interest on Federal Land Bank Loans having installments due prior to July 1, 1935, is the result of new legislation, the Farm Credit Act of 1935, which was signed by President Roosevelt June 3. Interest payable on installment dates occurring after July 30, 1935, will be at the original contract rate, which is 4 1-2 per cent on loans now being made through National farm loan associations and varies from 5 to 6 per cent on loans made prior to April 1, 1935.

New Farm Financing Program
The Farm Credit Act of 1935 also provides for another important innovation. Under its terms, the Land Bank Commissioner now may make loans to finance the purchase of farms by deserving tenant farmers. Formerly, Commissioner loans could be made only for the purpose of refinancing debts, for repurchasing farms lost through foreclosure and for working capital. The Act extends to January 1, 1940, the time in which the Land Bank Commissioner may make direct loans to farmers on first and second mortgages. The Commissioner loans plus any prior encumbrances on the property may not exceed 75 per cent of the appraised normal value. Commenting on the new provisions Mr. Hilliard said: "The new provision enabling the Land Bank Commissioner to make loans for the purpose of purchasing farms provides a new opportunity for young farmers and deserving tenants to become farm owners and home owners in their own right. We shall be glad to talk things over with worthy tenants who wish to buy farms of their own."

Since May 12, 1933, when the Farm Credit Administration was established, the Federal Land Bank of Houston, acting for itself and as agent for the Land Bank Commissioner has made 42,738 loans aggregating $129,192,350.00. This is almost as large as the amount of business carried on the books of the bank on May 1, 1935, after 17 years of operation. The interest rate reduction provided by the Act will affect only Federal land bank loans, all of which are first mortgage loans. The interest rate on Land Bank Commissioner loans, which are made on either first or second mortgages on farm property, will remain unchanged at 5 per cent.

Reduced Freight Rates Continue In Drought Section

The Commodities Purchase Section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has informed Congressman George Mahon that an agreement has been reached with railroad officials and approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission which will make possible continuation of the reduced rates on shipments of livestock feed for the drought area. The agreement which made possible these reduced rates during the last few months expired May 31, and Mr. Mahon had been working with this section and with the Interstate Commerce Commission on this proposition for several weeks. The new agreement provides a basis of two-thirds of the regular rate to apply on hay and fifty per cent of the hay rates to apply on other feed shipments. The agreement took effect June 5, and will continue until August 31. The destination territory of the reduced rates apply to 131 counties in 5 states, 60 of these counties in West Texas. Once you subscribe you will be without your home page Lamb County Leader.

SLUMBERING GOLD

by Aubrey Boyd AUTOCASTER SERV.

SEVENTH INSTALLMENT

Young Ed Maitland, of a New England seafaring family, and the hardened gambler Malone, met on a trip to the gold fields in '97, when of the rich ores there first down the Pacific coast. Maitland was determined to win back fortune before he returned. The two men became partners, Speed promising not to get ed with the law if he could it, and to clear out from the ship if he did. Frenchy the man whose smack took the men north; Lucky Rose, the girl who had given a ring Maitland as a keepsake; Fallon, leader, resentful of Rose's at- to Maitland; Steiner, the y lender; young Pete and his ten partner Bill Owen; Brent, me prospector; Garnet, well- traveller who hired Maitland Speed to take his things over mountains—these are the prin-edge of the gaming table, where a man who had drawn at the same time as Fallon, dropped his gun from a nerveless hand, his wrist streaming blood.

Speed backed away, eyes raking the crowd, guns held close and ready.

"I told you I wasn't patient, and I ain't," he said, in a voice Maitland never had heard. "But bein' elected camp boss on a platform of cussedness, I accept accordin'. Nothin' on legs will cross Porcupine Bridge till the trail from here to there is in shape, and in good shape. The trail is barred for four days work. If anyone doubts about my havin' the guts to make that good, they can signify their views here an now by sayin' liar and coyote."

It was the third evening after the barring of the trail. Maitland hung for it. Tell them—to pick up their tools, leave her open and stand clear."

"I've got an old deer gun back to camp," Brent shifted the quid slowly in his cheek. "She ain't seed no real action sence she fit a string of hide thieves from a buffalo waller away back in '71. I'd ruther shoot her out than see you called that way."

There was acknowledgement in Speed's smile, but he declined the proposal, and the old-timer gloomily withdrew to carry his decision to the few men who were still waiting for it.

"Better trail with him, Bud," Speed said to his partner, "and look up Garnet. We ain't seem him for two days."

"What are you going to do?" Maitland asked, with a foreboding that Speed had not disclosed his real intention.

"We agreed once," said the outlaw, after a pause, "that I'd warn you and we'd split partners if I ever went up against the Law. Seems like I've reached that junction, Bud. I'm into this play neck deep and I can't quit."

Maitland gave a sober nod of half-comprehension.

"It's only my hand Fallon's callin'," Speed explained earnestly and with more emphasis. "He'll head through here, first with his shebang, and either he don't cross this bridge, or I don't live to see it. But he has the backin' of the miners' law or will have, by sun-up—"

"Mob Law," Maitland amended. "If you don't see your way to quit, Speed, you can't count me out. On principle, I'd—"

The Westerner groaned. "You ornery down-East Yanks, with your principles and proverbs—Listen, Bud. Whether I ever reach Dawson or not don't matter a whole lot; with you it's different. It's what you came for, I've figured Garnet as your chance of gettin' there."

But there is no law, East or West, and no tie as strong as that which binds a man to a partner against fighting odds, and with Maitland the bond has been steel-woven by the memory of a bleak day in the Sound. Speed here found himself opposing something as elemental as his own refusal to yield.

The creek had a glacial canyon, with smooth rock faces in the bed, and a timber growth that started well up on the steep banks. Above a defile connecting with the bridge, there was a rocky bluff which commanded a long view of the canyon and of the trail along the rim. Its weakness lay in a broken gulch that fell from it into the creek on the north side, and its possible exposure to gunfire from the hills on the other bank. It would be difficult to take, however, on the side facing the trail.

Here, within a rock corral, some goods lay stacked; provisions, a water canteen, several boxes of shells and a forty-four Winchester carbine. The outlaw had evidently foreseen what was coming.

During supper he was broodingly quiet. A blood-red moon was rising through the timber. It lighted the mountain headlands, and left vasty deep shadows, made more tenebrous by the occasional howl of a timber wolf, a lynx's shrill bark, or the hoot of an owl. He picked up the carbine, his eyes on something invisible to Maitland, far up the trail. But presently he set the gun down. "That's Pete's mare," he said.

A blurred shape moved in the distant timber shadows. When it crossed a lane of moonlight, Maitland recognized the mare and the boy. Guided by a sight as keen as Speed's, Pete came toward them as they descended the bluff. There was something gallant and fine, Maitland thought, about that slight, boyish figure.

On meeting them, Pete gave him a reserved nod; glanced from the bluff to the hills across the canyon, and spoke to Speed. "Need an exter gun hand?"

"I got one too many now," Speed muttered.

"Then, will you let me go through? I could ford the creek," Pete pleaded simply. "That wouldn't be e'crossin' it on legs."

Speed's eyes rested on the mare's light saddle pack, and then on the boy's face, which looked pale in the half-darkness. "Headin' for Bonnett alone?" he asked. Pete nodded. "My partner—Bill's dead."

The words gave Maitland a peculiar shock. "How?" Speed asked softly.

"He was in a game—in Skagway—with some of Fallon's men. Lost his outfit. He'd been drinkin.' They found him on the beach,—afterwards—drowned."

Speed did not speak for a moment. Then he said, "How do you aim to make out, kid?"

"There's a man in the Yukin Bill was to meet on the lakes," Pete said hesitantly. "I'm goin' up to find him. If I don't see you boys again—" the formal tone broke slightly—"I'm wishin' you luck . . ."

He was in the saddle and away. The mare shot down the defile at a headlong gallop, took the full span of the bridge in a beautiful leap, and flashed up the hill on the other side into timber.

A half mile to the south the trail came in view over a timbered mountain shoulder. In the rising sun, the trees cast long shadows across it, and it was a flickering in the rosy aisles between them that gave the signal.

A team of gray mules topped the rise, shielding the men behind. Other pack animals followed, and their drivers gathered on the vantage ground, peering down the long vista toward the creek crossing. There was a puff of smoke; a bullet screamed over the bluff through the morning silence; then came the sharp rifle crack. Out of the blue canyon mist, a great-winged golden eagle rose and soared away.

"We're jake so long as they keep in the creek," said Speed. "She flattens out short of the bridge . . . Unless they can dig past under the near bank, Watch that gully, Bud." He drew the six-shooters from his belt and inspected them; then raised his head carefully above the rim of the rock corral to get a steeper view.

His eye raked the canyon below for a glimpse of Fallon. Suddenly a bullet went "spang" over the rampart, and he slid back with a grunt, shaking away the blood that oozed from a raw seam above his temple. Smoke was swirling out of some brush a few yards below the point where the trail reached the creek bottom.

"Nobody lied," said Speed, as he took a handkerchief and tied it round the wound, "when they said this man Fallon could shoot. But I got him placed now."

Changing his position, he edged along the boulders till he touched the outer rim. A bullet hissed between his neck and the rock, with a glancing spark. Speed wheeled out and fired in the same instant.

"Nicked his gun arm," he said, as he whipped back into shelter. "Fallon shoots best left-handed. Watch your gulch, Bud."

Wispas of smoke eddied out from various points high in the timber. The men who had started the ascent, paused irresolutely. These shots from above came as a surprise, throwing a new and disturbing factor into their plan. They suspected that Speed had planted a guard on the hill to protect the bluff, and they had no way of guessing its strength. Finally they dropped back into the canyon, to consult, it seemed, with their leader.

"You haven't any men up on that hill?" Maitland asked Speed. Speed's grin was mysterious. "Ain't I, though. I got one, and he's as good as a gang. The little devil had it all figured when he crossed the bridge."

"Pete?" Maitland exclaimed. But their attention was now summoned back to the posse. They caught a glimpse of Fallon with his arm in a bandage, giving orders.

Until now Speed had contented himself mainly with making the trail impassable. Now he shot with a searching intent to kill, hoping the while that Pete would vacate his position. But the gun kept speaking on the hill the boy was standing his ground. After the first few yards of ascent, the timber on the near bank offered the attackers a helpful screen. Speed's eye came back to the boulders on the other side of the creek. If he could reach these, he could sweep a wider arc of hill, with no impeding trees.

He was gathering up the ammunition to make this desperate move when a sudden din from below stopped him. Maitland, from his lookout, shouted above the roar, "Look!"

The deep voice of a heavy-calibered gun was booming and reverberating through the canyon. It had halted the men on the hill, who now answered it by pouring a hot fire into the creek. Bullets were splashing like rain around a wiry, gray-headed figure who was fording the creek through a blue smoke haze, toward the boulders Speed had had in view. Coolly munching a large tobacco wad, he returned the broadside as he went, without haste, but with terrible effect.

"By Ginger!" cried Speed. "It's Brent's deer gun. And ain't she a talkin'!"

At this point there was a waver-ing in the rear of the crowd. A hum ran electrically down the pack train, and Fallon summoned back his men with an exultant shout. The crowd spread out to give way to a cavalcade coming down the trail. "Soldiers?" Maitland asked in wonder.

"The Unwelcome Stranger" To Be Featured at Palace

From a political boss in "I'll Fix It" to a millionaire sportsman and horse-lover in "The Unwelcome Stranger," the Columbia comedy-drama, coming to the Palace Theatre Saturday, Sunday and Monday is the latest screen transition of Jack Holt, stalwart, broad-shouldered screen star.

Since he made his motion picture debut as a stunt-ride in 1915,

HE WAS TOUGH . . .
HARD-BOILED . . .
SCARED OF NOTHING...

until a stranger ruined his luck...and shattered his romance

Holt has been considered among the most versatile and sure-fire of actors.

Versatility has always characterized Holt's portrayals. Formerly a western actor, he has been starred by Columbia for the past seven years in dramatic productions laid in metropolitan and foreign locales. "The Unwelcome Stranger" is the first picture in several years to show him astride a horse, and he is cast, not as a cowboy or rancher, but as the owner and racer of fine thoroughbred horses.

can give. I'll give nobody any trouble, and I'll do my best to be a man and make a hand."

"I aim to do my time, and when I get out, make a citizen," Driscol Irvin told the court.

Judge Wilson declared that "Lamb county is to be congratulated for the reason that this case and its prosecution would not have been possible but for the moral backing of a whole lot of people in Lamb county."

Len and Driscol Irvin were granted a week in which to arrange their business, and Haile, Etter, and Carpenter three days.

Although E. E. (Jack) Page, Mrs. Star Haile and Mrs. N. T. Dalton were acquitted on the court's instruction, all three were re-arrested as they left the court room Tuesday afternoon. They had been charged, in complaints signed by R. C. McCall, revenue agent, with being liquor dealers without paying a tax. Mrs. Haile posted $1,000 bond, and Page and Mrs. Dalton $750 bond each.

Twenty seven of 29 defendants were present when the case was opened a week ago Monday. Fourteen pleaded guilty. Case against constable Sam Hutson was dismissed immediately by the government. Later, the government moved for dismissal of cases against J. J. Little and Roy Campbell. Judge Wilson instructed acquittal of Deputy sheriff J. L. Walraven and Buddy Johnson.

E. A. Bills, Littlefield, was counsel for Little, while T. Wade Potter represented Hutson and Campbell.

Judge Wilson declared void all charges except the conspiracy charge formed in the three-year period just before returning of the indictment April 20, this year. Under this ruling, testimony of Mrs. Bill Herman and Vernon Herman with reference to an alleged agreement between Herman and the sheriff in years 1925 to 1930 inclusive was voided. Similarly, alleged agreement in 1928 between H. C. "Red" Foster and Irvin to send a man to Lamb county to sell whiskey, was declared to be merely historical.

through the Government's program, which was purely based on production the previous years, showing this country to be a highly producing area, and mentioned the many accomplishments of Littlefield during the past year.

Assistant County Agent Donald Turner spoke on the accomplishments of the county agent's office and the farm administration during the past year; the great increase in price of cotton since 1932-33; the large increase in value of farm products during this period, and gave an outline of the activities of the 4-H Club boys.

Miss Bernice Westbrook spoke on the home demonstration program for the year, including the activities of the 4-H Club girls; and introduced Pauline Nix of Sod House Community, member of Amherst 4-H Club, and bedroom demonstrator, who explained improving her room, stating that 102 people had called to view her bedroom.

Mr. Hilliard announced the following elected officers of the Booster group for the following year: Pat Boone, President; W. D. T. Storey, vice-president; and Clyde Hilburn, Treasurer; and as directors; W. H. Cunningham, H. S. Crews, and J. S. Hilliard to serve with those already in office, Dr. Thos. B. Duke, W. J. Chesher, R. T. Badger, Dr. Ira E. Woods, C. O. Stone and W. H. Madden.

Mr. Hilliard announced that the Western Railroads were observing "Railroad Week" and spoke of the railroads as "Pioneers of the country," and mentioned the advantages to this section. He called on the local Santa Fe Agent, H. C. (Clay) Pumphrey, who has served the railroad since a boy, coming to Littlefield when the town was young. Mr. Pumphrey related the organizing of the first Chamber of Commerce here, which was called the Booster Club.

Mr. Pumphrey also outlined the improvements which the railroads are making in their equipment and service.

He introduced E. Kancher, division passenger, Santa Fe Agent, Lubbock, who outlined the many advantages the railroads were now offering in improved equipment and service, mentioning the increased mileage offered in the faster passenger and freight trains now in service.

S. A. Baker, Trainmaster of Station, who spoke on rail transportation, pointing out the large expenditure of the Western Railroads of $19,000,000 in the improvement of their equipment and service.

F. O. Boles, County School Superintendent, and Chairman of the Program Committee, introduced the chief speaker for the evening, Dean J. M. Gordon, of Texas Tech College, Lubbock, who gave a splendid address taking as his subject "How Goes My Town," pointing out several of the outstanding requirements of a good town.

Other out of town visitors were: J. Sam Lewis, of the Avalanche-Journal; Garnet Reeves, publicity manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; B. L. Brown, Santa Fe Agent of Sudan; I. M. Robinson, Travelling Passenger Agent for Santa Fe, of Lubbock; H. R. Smith, Travelling Freight and Passenger Agent, Missouri Pacific Lines, Fort Worth; Durwood H. Bradley, Attorney, and J. L. Ryan and Stony Wall of the West Texas Gas Company, all of Lubbock.

We don't know whether the editor of the Texas Weekly is right or wrong. WE AGREE WITH THE ACTION OF THE YOUNG DEMOCRATS—

We feel that the Young Democrats, meeting at Amarillo, were right when they did not sanction amending the Constitution. Working over the Constitution is a dangerous step now and at any time. Surely the economic welfare of our country can be worked out without such action.

Friday night saw young Elliot Roosevelt of Fort Worth, a vice-president of the state club and a son of the President, arose to say of Governor James V. Allred, in regard to an attack against New Dealers under the administration:

"The governor is getting hot under the collar about something he doesn't have to be worried about."

Previously, Governor Allred had sounded a powerful pledge for preservation of the national constitution against possible change without due consideration.

Said young Roosevelt in reply: All I know is that my father accepted his office to serve the people of this country as he knew best."

Thursday West Texas region conventioners selected Pampa as site of the 1936 convention and elected Bill Futral, Amarillo, as president. Lubbock quietly withdrew her bid and, it is understood, secured in exchange a first vice-president and guaranteed support for the 1937 convention from Pampa.

REGION SEEKING FUNDS TO BUILD TEXAS MUSEUM

AT NEED OF STRUCTURE IS BEING PRESENTED

Antiques Are Selling Centennial Half Dollars

Tex., June 12—(UP)—Antiques rich in museum material are being rapidly depleted of historical articles, according to Garland Adair, chairman of the American Legion Texas Centennial Committee.

Reason for this, according to Adair, is that Texas has no adequate museum in which to store its objects.

Great museums in the States are exclusively in the East," he said. "Expeditions to these museums are costing the state to dig and carry away interesting mummies."

The American Legion, through its Centennial half dollars, is endeavoring to raise funds for the erection of a museum to house historical objects.

Adair planned that the museum be completed in time for the Centennial celebration.

Centennial Parks Be Opened Near State Highway 66

Tex., June 12—(UP)—Centennial highway No. 66, running north and south across Texas from the river near Ryers in Clay county to the international bridge at Laredo, Mexico, has been named the American Legion Memorial highway, according to a proclamation issued by M. L. Wiginton, governor of the State Highway Commission.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

BY GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent

United Press Staff Correspondent Austin, June 12. (UP)—It was just 12 years ago that oil was discovered on land belonging to the University of Texas. In that 12 years it has greased the way for a rapid advance from a small campus, dotted with wooden shacks, to one of the best equipped college plants in existence.

"The benefits of education—are essential to the preservation of a free government," wrote Gen. Sam Houston when Texas set up its free government 99 years ago.

So the great expanse of land that came to Texas with its independence was apportioned largely to public schools and to the University of Texas. Income from such lands cannot be spent directly. It goes into permanent funds. The permanent funds are invested and the income from the investments, alone, is available for current use.

When oil was struck on land leased by the University, the land income grew to such size that regents visioned a comprehensive building plan. Despite all the wealth piling up, only a small annual income upon it was immediately available. The late R. L. Batts, Austin, who obtained his education in the University of Texas, devised the plan that made an early building campaign possible. The annual campaign income was pledged for 15 years. The campus was enlarged. New buildings started. The last now is under construction.

Many give the "doodle bug" or divining rod credit for discovery of the great East Texas oil field after geologists had pronounced the territory dry. There is an equally amazing story of the way the University discovered its latent wealth in oil.

An oil prospector with a lease that was about to expire started to haul an oil rig to the leased land from the nearest railroad switch. The heavy timbers broke down the wagon. There was not sufficient time to get new hauling equipment to reach the place he had chosen as most favorable. The rig was set up where the wagon had collapsed. He drilled there and struck oil.

State Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist could make a neat living in Tin Pan Alley if he were to forsake road building as a vocation. A Texas song with both words and music by Gilchrist has a lilt and a patriotic appeal that is apt to bring forth a Rebel yell from any audience that includes a native Texan.

The song had its "premiere" at Wichita Falls when a banquet was

Students Have 'Gone Soft,' Declares T. C. U. Professor

Promotes Parachute Jumping For All

TRENTON, N. J. . . . The average American may not think he is going in for parachute jumping . . . but it is the latest "thriller" now making a bid for favor. It is a "captive parachute" which is hoisted to the top of a 125 foot tower and there released to bring the passenger daintily down to the ground. Amelia Earhart is shown going up for "a jump."

Fort Worth, Tex., June 12—(UP)—Students of today have "gone soft" according to Prof. Will M. Winton, head of the geology department of Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

"I used to take my students on field trips to points from five to eight miles away from Fort Worth," Prof. Winton said.

"Now the students are nearly exhausted after they ride in automobiles out and back.

"There were no automobiles or radios on the campus in 1913 when I came to Fort Worth to teach at T. C. U.," Winton said. "Movies were just beginning to be popular. "Many students had made the longest trips of their lives when they came to Fort Worth to go to school and a number of them had never seen a street car.

"Today, the students are more sophisticated. The freshman of two decades ago could be herded into almost anything. The sophomores sold them shower bath tickets, catalogues, and even induced some of them to pay for chapel seats."

given for Harry Hines, new chairman of the State highway commission. "Singing Mayor" Sheppard of Wichita Falls chose it for his opening number.

Gov. Alfred vetoed a San Jacinto river reclamation district bill because it permitted a tax levy without a vote and because it let directors fix salaries for themselves. He had another personal reason not to like the bill. It began its legislative journey with provision that the governor should name directors. When it emerged from the Senate, this had

Three-up-and-three-down fielding made it anybody's game until the 4th when Hammons hits safely, Robbins fanned and catcher Johnson hit for 4 bases, scoring Hammons. SPORT WORLD

By BILL NORRIS

The baseball world
Received a jolt
Destructive as
A thunderbolt
When good old Babe
Got on a peeve
And from the Braves
Took sadened leave.
Babe thought it could
Not be a sin
To watch a big French ship come in;
The Braves said no
And so the Bam
Packed up and took
It on the lam;
Now that they've lost
The Prince of Poke,
They'll have to find
Another bloke
Who'll slap the pill
A healthy cut
And lift the Chiefs
Out of the rut;
For tho the Babe
Was on the skids,
He still was tops
With all the kids;
Too bad . . . 'twill never
Be the same
Since George H. Ruth
Has quit the game.

Littlefield's other prospective entry to New Mexico Military Institute, James "Red" Norman, left early this week for Ada, Oklahoma, where he will be employed in a dry ice plant through the summer.

Red, along with Guy Aldridge who is now at work in an oil refinery at El Dorado, Ark., will enter the New Mexico school under an arrangement made by officials of the institute. Both boys are good athletic prospects, and it looks like two more names may be added to the roster of local boys who have left the home fires and carved a niche or two on totem poles of the outside athletic world. You'll probably hear more about this later.

City Leaguers, taking advantage of the advent of the city's newly-transferred Class A field, will buzz late this week . . . Making up back games will be the order for the rest of the month . . . And the lot, by the way, can now be rightly classed on a par with any field in West Texas . . . The new arrangement of poles, and the resulting concentration of beams, is the reason, say the gentlemen in the know. A couple of huzzas, or something.

This Is RAILROAD WEEK

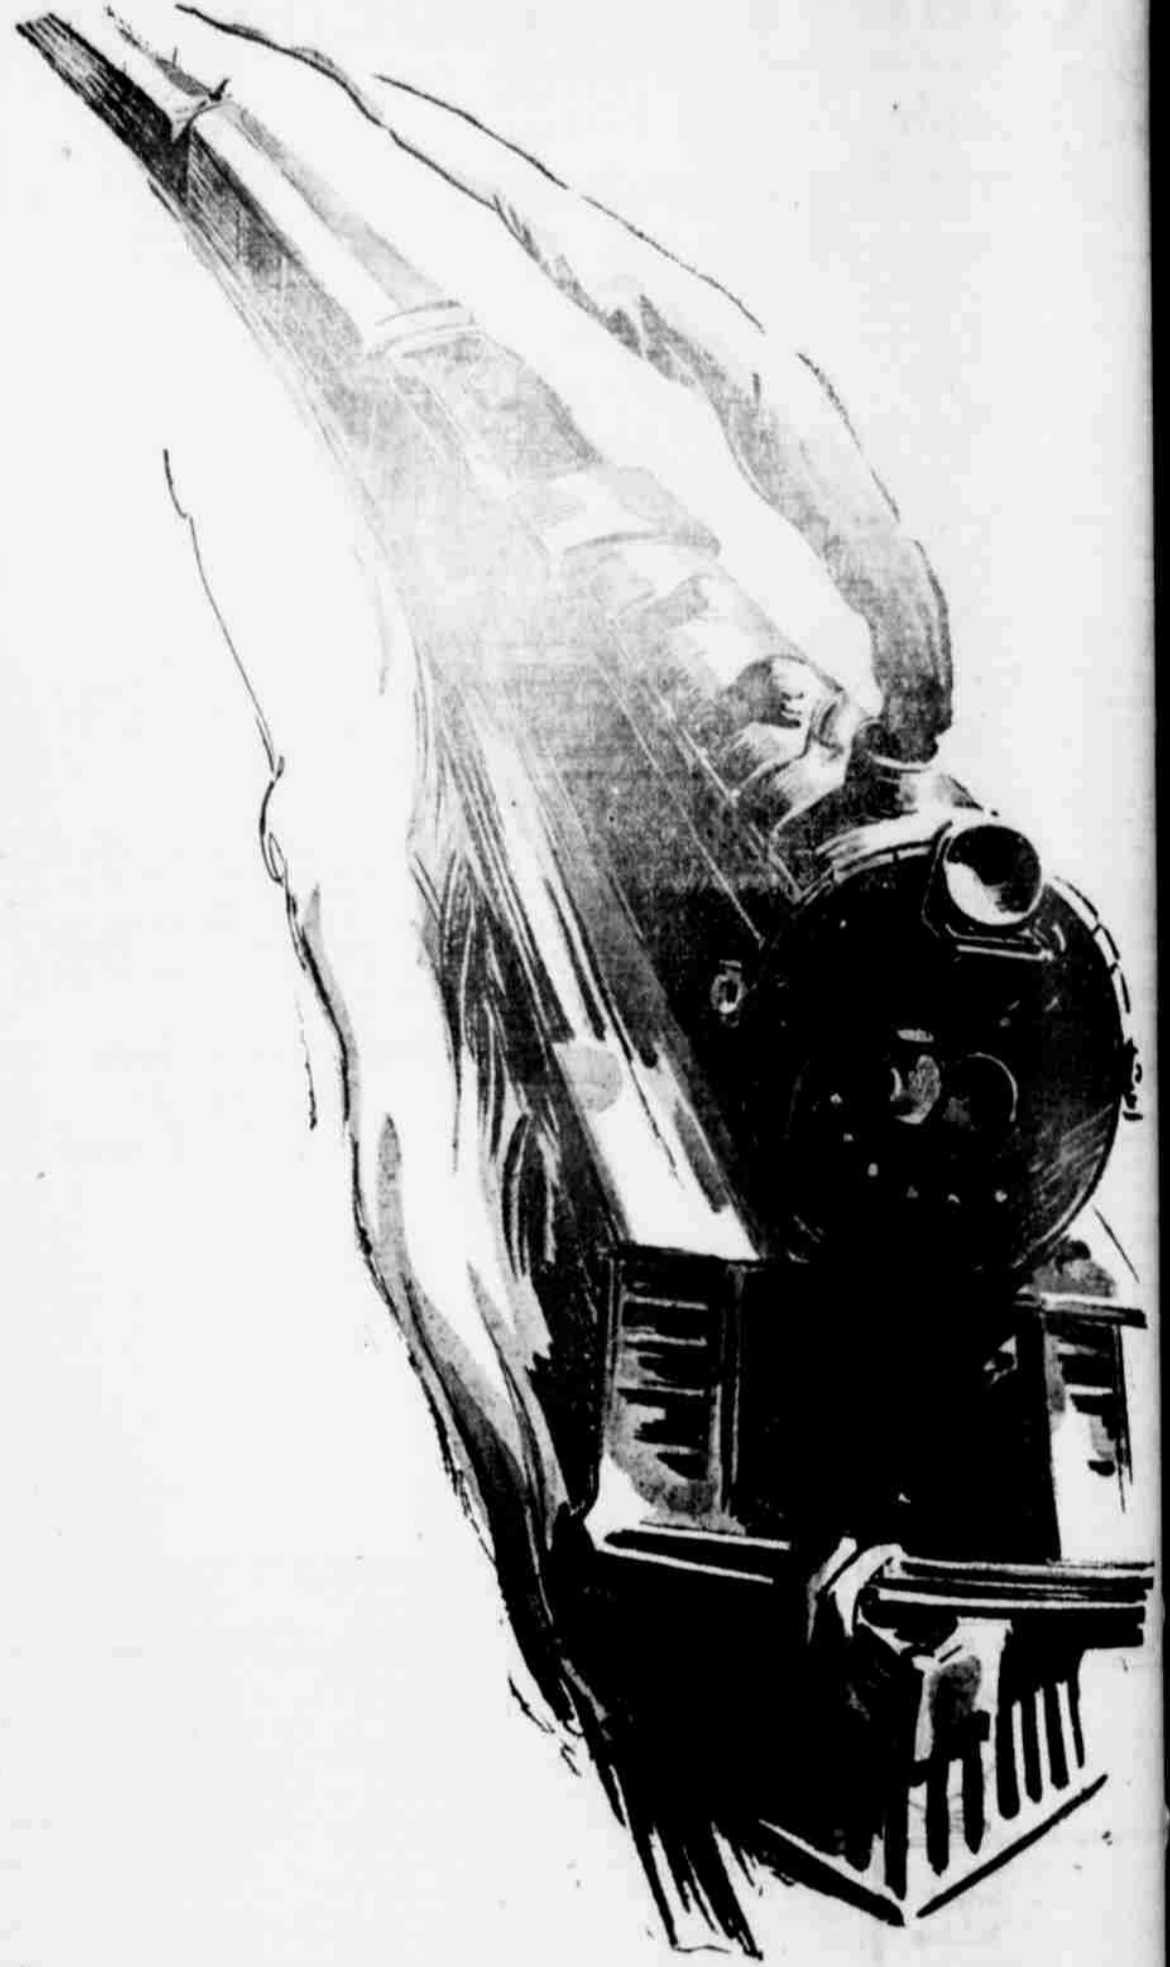

Support Our Railroads

The historic background, involving the "winning of the West," largely through the help of the iron horse, and the epic drama of the West's elevation from wilderness to the highest civilized plane in the world within a few decades, is an important feature in the celebration of Railroad Week, June 10th to 15th. The purpose of the celebration is to concentrate public interest on the tremendous improvements in rail service which have been made on the Western Lines.

This year railroads propose to start a new upswing. They have modernized their merchandise. This is what they offer today: Air conditioning on principal trains, low rates and sleeping chair charges, time saving by train, greater comfort and dependability of schedules.

Lamb county is proud to be served by the SANTA FE—a great and progressive railroad.

The local employees of the Santa Fe take this method of expressing their thanks and appreciation to co-operating merchants and firms who are assisting them in celebrating Railroad Week.

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS this city has been served for many years by the Santa Fe Railway, and
 WHEREAS this railroad has long played a vital part in the lives of our people, and
 WHEREAS this railroad has paid, and continues to pay, large amounts in taxes, and
 WHEREAS this railroad has furnished employment for many, and
 WHEREAS this railroad has joined with other Western Railroads in, first, reducing basic fares and sleeping car charges, and, second, in air-conditioning all principal passenger trains, and
 WHEREAS this has meant lowered cost and improved travel service to the traveling public, and
 WHEREAS the Governors of Western States have asked that the public pay honor to Western Railroads for their continued pioneering,
 NOW, THEREFORE, I, L. R. Crockett, Mayor of the City of Littlefield ask our citizens to join in the observance of "Railroad Week" from Monday, June 10 to Saturday, June 15.
